The Bible is a grand mansion with many varied rooms: on one floor is the Old Testament; on the next, the New Testament. Their books are the interconnected rooms into which pilgrims—the Christian faithful—have come and gone for nearly two millennia. Those rooms have become exceedingly familiar to many by means of standard translations such as the King James Version and the Revised English Bible.
Others have made their way into the Scriptures via more recent translations. Read but a few of these recent versions and you will be struck by the distinct stylistic differences, including variations in word choices and phrasings, from one translation to the next.

English translators of the Bible have had the daunting task of coping with the very different languages and cultures that Hebrew and Greek were two or more millennia ago. They could not hope to reproduce the very style, cadence and sonority of the original Hebrew or Greek in that markedly different language called English. However, in 1525 AD, William Tyndale—in defiance of the Orthodox Christian establishment—was moved of God to successfully translate and print the Scriptures in English from the original Hebrew and Greek. Tyndale’s translation set the standard for all subsequent English translations. Following in Tyndale’s footsteps and on the success of the Geneva Bible, the King James translators retained 95% of Tyndale’s grand style that magnified the message and meaning of the original books of the two Testaments. Succeeding translations have either kept close to the KJV in style, borrowing from its splendor, or have abandoned its style, sacrificing it for a more modern vernacular that gains in ease of comprehension for what it loses in grandeur of expression.

What has long been needed is a restoration of balance between the two extremes. With this in mind, Fred R. Coulter has set out to fill the gap: to produce a fresh, easy-to-read translation that retains the grace and grandeur of the KJV—and present the biblical books in their original, inspired manuscript order. To this end, Coulter has studied the early translators who pioneered English translations of the Bible, such as Tyndale, as well as the scholarly corpus of material on the scriptural texts and on Judaic culture which has substantially enriched our comprehension of culture, language and thereby Scripture.
Utilizing the fruits of such scholarship has helped to enhance the clarity of this translation.

My charge here has been to be a footnote to that grand endeavor, namely to edit the text produced as well as the commentary and appendices on the Scriptures. My focus has been a nearsighted one if you will: to closely scrutinize those refurbished rooms—the various books of the two Testaments—and inspect them to determine if any of the furniture on display needs further polishing.

This polishing concerned matters of expression and convention. With regard to expression, the key concern as editor was the question of clarity in diction and phrasing: Is a given word problematic in terms of being archaic or ambiguous? Does a phrasing’s length, complexity or inverted syntax impede comprehension? Is the style—for example, within individual books—sustained and consistent? As for convention, my concern was primarily with grammar and punctuation. Are the grammar, punctuation and usage standard? If not, are the deviations permissible? Are such deviations, if allowed, distracting?

As technical editor for this edition of the Bible, I have followed Fred Coulter from one refurbished room to the next and rigorously applied the above questions. My fervent hope is that this translation sacrifices neither style nor clarity, and thereby provides a more translucent window through which to view the beauties, marvels and profundities of the Bible.

About This Second Edition

This Second Edition of The Holy Bible In Its Original Order includes a vital 32-page addition to the appendices—“Understanding Paul’s Difficult Scriptures Concerning the Law and Commandments of God” (Appendix Z). While some of Paul’s writings are admittedly difficult, widespread misinterpretations of his writings by theologians and teachers have spawned centuries of confusion—especially in Protestantism. Indeed, numerous misplaced assumptions have unfortunately led to a greatly distorted view of God’s Law. Such critical New Testament passages are systematically examined in Appendix Z, showing their correct meaning as originally intended by Paul.

As with all first editions of publications, there are inadvertent errors. In this Second Edition, the unintentional miscues and typographical errors have been corrected. In addition, approximately 1200 Old Testament passages have been brought into sharper focus, giving some a more literal reading. (While that may seem like a great number, it is less than half of one percent of all the verses in the Old Testament.) In the First Edition, for example, Psalm 12:8 reads, “The wicked walk on every side when the vilest of them is exalted among the sons of men.” In the Second Edition, the verse has been modified to read, “The wicked walk on every side when vileness is exalted among the sons of men.” In all of the passages that have been clarified, their essential meaning remains virtually the same as in the First Edition.

In Genesis chapter one, a slight alteration has been made to give a more literal rendering to how the days of creation are designated. In the First Edition, verse five reads, “And the evening and the morning were the first day.” More literal, it now reads, “And the evening and the morning were day one.” The first five days of creation are re-designated in this manner. However, the sixth day—as it is specifically the day of preparation—was left to read, “the sixth day.” Since the seventh day is the holy Sabbath of God, we also retained the reading, “the seventh day.”

The additional appendix and the adjustments to the scriptural texts warrant calling this printing a “Second Edition.” In all other aspects, this Second Edition of The Holy Bible In Its Original Order is identical to the First Edition published in 2008.

About the Author

Fred R. Coulter attended the University of San Francisco and graduated from San Mateo State College before graduating from Ambassador University (Ambassador College), Pasadena, California, with a BA in Theology in 1964. He was ordained a minister of Jesus Christ in 1965 and pastored churches of God in the Pacific Northwest, the Mountain States, the greater Los Angeles area and Monterey, including the central coast area of California. Coulter completed advanced biblical and ministerial studies from 1972 to 1975 under the Ambassador University Master’s Program. While completing these studies, Coulter was encouraged by his professor of Koiné Greek to consider translating the books of the New Testament.

After completing his formal instruction in Koiné Greek, Coulter continued to expand his knowledge of Greek for the next thirty years by undertaking a verse-by-verse study of the books of the New Testament using the Byzantine Text. In the course of his study, he was moved to translate the Gospel accounts into clear, easy-to-read English for contemporary readers—resulting in A Harmony of the Gospels in Modern English, now in its third edition. Ultimately, Coulter was inspired to translate the entire New Testament. After twelve years of diligent translating, The New Testament In Its Original Order—A Faithful Version with Commentary was completed and published in 2004.

Coulter has dedicated his life and talents to proclaiming Jesus Christ as personal Savior for all. Since 1983, he has had an active ministry as president and pastor of the Christian Biblical Church of God, Hollister, California. The CBCG has offices in the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Africa, South Africa and the United Kingdom serving thousands of people.

Each year, nearly 400,000 people from around the world actively utilize the CBCG’s Web sites—where they find timely, inspiring audio sermons and in-depth biblical study materials covering virtually every topic in Scripture.

With his ministry now spanning 45 years, Fred R. Coulter has again been inspired to undertake the publication of this present work. Following the standard set by his earlier New Testament translation,
The Holy Bible In Its Original Order endeavors to set forth the Scriptures, both Old and New Testaments, in plain, easy-to-read English—all in the original, inspired order.

Other Works by Fred R. Coulter

The New Testament In Its Original Order—A Faithful Version with Commentary is the only English New Testament in which the books are arranged in their correct, original order. It retains the grace and grandeur of the King James Version while clarifying many of its problematic passages. Included are commentaries that answer such questions as: What is the New Testament? Who wrote it? When was it written? Who canonized it? Other commentaries thoroughly explain the history and preservation of the Bible. Various appendices cover numerous controversial New Testament teachings in detail. It is no longer in print. The New Testament Text, Commentaries and Appendices have now been incorporated in The Holy Bible In Its Original Order.

A Harmony of the Gospels in Modern English brings to life the message and purpose of the true Jesus, portraying His life and ministry in their true historical setting. This easy-to-understand, step-by-step account of the life of Jesus Christ is an indispensable study aid for every serious Bible student.

The Christian Passover details the scriptural and historical truths of the Passover in both the Old and New Testaments, leading the reader step-by-step through every aspect of one of the most vital and fundamental teachings revealed in the Bible. With over 500 pages, the book fully explains the meaning of the Christian Passover—a remembrance of the sacrifice of Jesus Christ, the Passover Lamb of God—in a most compelling and inspiring manner. The full meaning of the body and blood of Jesus Christ is revealed, showing the magnitude of God’s love for every person.

The Day Jesus the Christ Died—the Biblical Truth About His Passion, Crucifixion and Resurrection is the ONLY book to present “the rest of the story”—left out by Mel Gibson in his epic movie The Passion of the Christ. Without the true historical and biblical facts, one cannot fully understand the meaning of Jesus Christ’s horrific, humiliating and gruesome death by beating, scourging and crucifixion. The author presents the full biblical account in a most compelling way.

The Seven General Epistles is designed for an in-depth verse-by-verse study of the Epistles of James; I and II Peter; I, II and III John and Jude.

Lord, What Should I Do? Christians today are faced with a confusing world of compromised “Christianity”—in which false doctrinal teachings undermine the true faith of the Bible. This book clarifies the problem and shows what God requires a person to do if they are to find the true faith of Jesus Christ.

Occult Holidays or God’s Holy Days—Which? For centuries the leaders of Orthodox Christendom have sold popular holidays—Halloween, Christmas, New Years, Easter, etc.—to the masses as though they had “Christian” meaning. This book effectively demonstrates that these celebrated holidays are not of God—but originated from ancient, pagan religions rooted in satanic occultism. Contrary to the false ideas of men, the true biblical holy days and feasts of God have deep spiritual meaning and outline God’s fantastic plan of salvation for all mankind—past, present and future.

God’s Plan for Mankind Revealed by His Sabbath and Holy Days This first-of-its-kind, 598-page work provides a comprehensive look at God’s amazing Master Plan for the human family—precisely as it is outlined by the biblical seventh-day Sabbath and annual holy days. Each chapter is a transcript of an in-depth sermon or Bible study revealing God’s purpose from Genesis to Revelation. Actual sermons are included on an accompanying set of four CDs.

Acknowledgments

First and foremost, all honor and glory go to God the Father and His Son Jesus Christ for making this Bible project a reality. We readily acknowledge that all we have received is because of the love and goodness of God (James 1:17). Analogous to the disciples and apostles, this ministry is built on the strong foundation of all those who have labored and diligently served God before us. Indeed, Jesus’ words to His disciples are quite applicable today: “For in this the saying is true, that one sows and another reaps. I sent you to reap that in which you have not labored; others have labored [before you], and you have entered into their labor” (John 4:37-38).

Any contemporary translator enters into the work of thousands of faithful men who throughout the ages have fearlessly championed the Word of God—many giving their lives in martyrdom with unwavering faith, as did the prophets of old, the original apostles of Jesus Christ and countless believers. Grateful acknowledgment goes to all those faithful, honest scholars and ministers of the Word, who down through the centuries have meticulously toiled to publish lexicons, dictionaries, commentaries, and histories of the preservation of the Bible—without which this Bible would not be possible.

In countless ways, this effort is the end product of over forty-seven years of studying God’s Word and teaching God’s people—including over thirty-four years of studying New Testament Greek, which resulted in publishing The New Testament In Its Original Order, now in its third printing. An undertaking such as this has obviously required the work of many. Everyone who has shouldered this enormous project “side-by-side” gives special thanks to the brethren of God—a small, dedicated “army of defenders” of the true faith of God the Father and Jesus Christ—because their love, loyalty, prayers and financial support have made this publication, with God’s blessing, an actuality.

I give my heartfelt gratitude and appreciation to my lovely, dear wife, Dolores, for her steadfast and devoted love, patience and personal encouragement in my life, ministry and family—which have helped make this Bible, as well as other publications, possible. Obviously, being the wife of a minister, writer and publisher is no easy task.

Personal acknowledgment goes to E. Michael Heiss, Old Testament Hebrew consultant. He is to be highly commended for his knowledge of Hebrew in helping to develop this new English rendering of the Old Testament from the biblical Hebrew in a manner that is clear and easy to understand. Deep appreciation also goes to William M. Tomory, Ph.D., Professor of English, Southwest Michigan College, for his professional expertise in evaluating the expression and mechanics of the English and for his editing of this new translation. Special thanks go to our editor Philip Neal for his diligent editing of all the Scriptures, commentaries and appendices. Also, thanks go to Carl and Jeannine Franklin who were instrumental in editing The New Testament In Its Original Order for its initial publication in 2004. We also gratefully acknowledge the contributions of others in the areas of research and writing. We are highly appreciative of Helen Manzo for her expertise in refining the structure and syntax of the English in the commentaries and appendices.

John and Hiedi Vogele are to be highly commended for their tireless labor and diligence in the final formatting and proofreading of the entire text. Other proofreaders are: Margie Jacques, Judd and Jeanne Patton, Wayne Stenhouse, Phyllis Daniel, Jim Alexander and Kip Johnson. Additionally, Carl Franklin, Robert Martin, Mike Joseph and Ron Cary have assisted in providing material for chronologies, appendices and maps. The beautiful original artwork for the presentation box and the soft cover edition was designed and produced by Cindy Curley—Curley Creative.

Again, we all give thanks to God the Father and His Son Jesus Christ for the blessing of being able to work in this project in the Word of God. We have labored to the end that the reader may find this translation of the Word of God faithful to the original Hebrew and Greek—one that truly reflects the meaning and divine authorship of the original texts. We pray that The Holy Bible In Its Original Order—with its accompanying commentaries and appendices—may guide the reader to a better understanding of the original teachings and prophecies of the Old Testament and the New Testament teachings and prophecies of Jesus Christ and His apostles—the complete revealed Word of God to mankind.

A Faithful Translation

The true foundation of all Bible translations is that the meaning of the text should be conveyed in as clear and accurate a manner as possible in one’s own language. But above all, a translation must be honest to the original Hebrew and Greek texts.

What greater responsibility could there be than to translate the Word of God in a precise, authentic and faithful manner—neither adding to nor taking away from the words of God! (Rev. 22:18-19). Faithfulness in translating requires fidelity to God and the love of the truth in order to correctly communicate the meaning of the words and phrases of the language being translated.

About This New Translation

The basis for this new translation is the inspired Word of God, originally written and canonized by God’s chosen servants in the Hebrew and Greek languages. God the Father and Jesus Christ have jealously guarded the Word of God so it would never be lost or destroyed. Jesus promised He would uphold His words: “The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but My words shall never pass away” (Matt. 24:35).

In spite of the attempts of men whose goal is to modify or corrupt the Word of God, the promise of God stands sure. Down through the centuries, God has guided faithful men to reproduce accurate copies of the original God-breathed Hebrew and Greek texts. God has seen to it that authentic copies of the canonized Hebrew texts were maintained by Levitical priests and scribes (Rom. 3:2). With consistency, from the time of Ezra in the 5th century BC, faithful priests and Levites have accurately copied the Hebrew Old Testament. Likewise, from the days of the apostles, faithful scribes have made authentic copies of the Greek New Testament. Today, the Holy Scriptures are faithfully preserved as the Old Testament Masoretic Hebrew Text and the New Testament Received (Greek) Text (Textus Receptus).

The Old Testament portion of this new translation is based on the Ben Asher Masoretic Hebrew Text. Fred Coulter collaborated directly with Old Testament Hebrew Consultant, E. Michael Heiss, to develop this faithful version. Together they have copiously combed through each and every word and phrase, producing a version that is faithful to the original Masoretic texts, while retaining much of the grace of the King James Version.

The New Testament version is from Coulter’s own 2004 translation—The New Testament In Its Original Order—translated directly from the Stephens Greek Text of 1550. In translating, Coulter has striven to accurately and clearly convey the meaning of the Greek text as defined by the rules of Greek grammar and syntax—guided by an absolute conviction that each word in the New Testament is authentic and essential for a full understanding of the whole of Scripture. In addition, Coulter consulted with experts in Koiné Greek when a term or phrase in the Greek was ambiguous or open to question. This combination of diligent effort and faith in the inspiration of the Holy Spirit has led to a translation that accurately and faithfully sets forth the true meaning of the text of the New Testament.

Criteria for Excellence in Translation

In his book, The Word of God in English, Leland Ryken explains that being truthful and faithful to the original texts is the key to excellence in an English translation. “The only legitimate appeal to readability comes within the confines of a translation’s having been truthful to the language of the original. Faithfulness to what the Bible actually says is like a qualifying exam. If a translation does not give us that, it has failed the test, and we can be excused from inquiring into its readability. Within the confines of accuracy to the original text, a translation should strive to achieve maximum readability by avoiding obsolete words and demonstrably archaic language…” (p. 92, bold emphasis added).

He adds, “We need a Bible based on certainty. What is certain is what the biblical writers did actually say and write” (Ibid., p. 98, bold emphasis added).

Ryken notes that the best Bible translations follow these criteria: accuracy and fidelity to the original texts; effective use of diction; preservation of multiple meanings; conveyance of the full exegetical potential of the original text; respect for the principles of poetry and rhythm; and maintenance of the dignity and beauty of the original texts (Ibid., pp. 289-293).

In summary, faithfulness in translation involves the following key areas:

1) Accurately conveying the meaning of the words of the original text;
2) Phrasing that accurately expresses the thoughts of the original writers;
3) An understanding of Hebrew and Greek idioms—which cannot be translated literally, but must be translated according to their cultural and historical usage;
4) Punctuation that is honest to the original meaning; and,
5) The careful insertion of words (in italics) to clarify the meaning.

In every respect, this translation has been an endeavor to uphold the true teachings of the Word of God—and to present the Holy Scriptures in their original, God-inspired order. While no translation is flawless, this translation far surpasses the standards of many recent English translations and has indeed fulfilled the requirements for a faithful translation.

Author’s Preface
Why This New Translation?

In modern Western civilization, references to God and the Holy Bible have been largely removed from the public arena. Aside from profanity or cynical ridicule, God is rarely mentioned in the media or popular entertainment. A secular humanist worldview has emerged over the past fifty years, gradually eroding the knowledge of the true God. As a result, a form of “Christianity without God” has developed.

Lloyd Geering—an outspoken advocate of humanistic religion—writes that we in the Western world have been “steadily emancipating ourselves from obedience to a supposed supernatural heavenly Father…” (Geering, Christianity Without God, p. 136).

Unfortunately, Geering is correct. For the past 150 years this secularization of Christianity has occurred via a slow, steady incremental erosion of faith and trust in God and His Word, resulting in a destruction of the true knowledge of the Creator God. Geering writes that God has all but vanished from public consciousness: “All public bodies, national and international, are now fully aware that humans themselves must solve the problems of our time and that there is no ‘God’ out there who can be appealed to when all else fails. The once public ‘face of God’ has been forced to retreat to the subjective consciousness of devout individuals and traditional church gatherings” (Ibid., p. 143).

Relative to the removal of God from the public conscience is the progressive move toward “political correctness.” The “politically correct” public-speak language espoused today by government, liberal educrats and the media promotes tolerance toward all political, religious and ethnic groups, is gender-neutral and champions homosexuality. As a result, the emphasis of language has shifted to project the paradigm of a “politically correct” atheistic humanism which exalts man while debasing God and His Word.

As a result secularism has grown by leaps and bounds. The release of several best-selling books—such as Richard Dawkins’ The God Delusion (2006)—has put atheism on the front lines of current cultural conversation. Dawkins, an outspoken militant atheist with little tolerance for faith and Christianity, said in an interview with Wired magazine: “I think we’re in the same position the gay movement was in a few decades ago. There was a need for people to come out. The more people who came out, the more people who had the courage to come out. I think that’s the case with atheists. They’re more numerous than anybody realizes” (Wired, “The New Atheism” by Gary Wolf, Nov. 2006). Of Dawkins and others like him, Wolf commented: “The new atheists … condemn not just belief in God but respect for belief in God. Religion [to them] is not only wrong; it’s evil.”

Indeed, thousands of years ago, King David wrote of such pseudo-scholars: “Why do the nations rage and the people plot in vain” (Psa. 2:1)—and, “The fool has said in his heart, ‘There is no God!’ ” (Psa. 14:1).

Central to this removal of God from the public conscience is the destruction of the Bible itself. Indeed, the foundation of Christianity is being subverted and corrupted with new “easy-to-read” translations that alter the Word of God so dramatically that the true message of God has become lost—unrecognizable to the reader. Numerous “contemporary” translations omit or add words—even whole verses. Some “translators” have boldly added entire books that were never part of the original, authentic canon. And today’s “higher criticism” has purported to expose so-called “weaknesses” and “discrepancies” in the authentic texts, undermining the faith of many.

In fact, this assault on the Word of God appears set on the elimination of God from the Bible itself! By changing and corrupting the Scriptures with new versions that use common street language and “politically correct” gender-neutral language, the Scriptures become secularized and profaned!

How Did This Happen?

Today, we are witness to a godless society suffering from the consequences of rejecting the Word of the Lord. God has, however, revealed His will and purpose for mankind in His Word, the Holy Bible—without which men cannot possibly discern the purpose of life.
Why This New Translation?

The prophet Hosea pulls no punches when he declares that people suffer when there is “no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land” (Hosea 4:1). God says: “My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Because you have rejected [true] knowledge, I will also reject you from being as a priest to Me. Since you have forgotten the law of your God, I will also forget your children” (verse 6).

How did such designs against the Word of God take root in Western civilization—the bastion of Christianity that has published and distributed the majority of the billions of Bibles in the world today? Why do we see a world so deluded, deceived, degenerate and immoral that it is readily embracing a “Christianity without God” and accepting debased, corrupted, blasphemous, “politically correct” Bibles with hardly a whimper of resistance?

We must not overlook the obvious: Central to this issue is the fact that since the 1611 King James Version numerous English Bible translations have been produced which tell the story of an insidious pattern of corruption of the Word of God. After the publication of the King James Version, virtually nothing was done to change the English Bible. Beginning in 1871, however, Westcott and Hort, with a committee of revisers, began to change the printed Greek text of the Byzantine family, commonly known as the Textus Receptus or the Received Text. They produced a revised New Testament Greek text to conform to the inferior Sinaiticus and Vaticanus Greek texts from which came the English Revised New Testament in 1881, followed by the complete Bible in 1885, known as the English Revised Version. Thus began the slow, steady step-by-step, systematic corruption of the Word of God.

Most alarming is the recent trend toward “contemporary” versions of the Bible, in which the emphasis on an accurate translation of the Hebrew and Greek texts has been abandoned in favor of a liberal paraphrase. One of the newest versions—The Message: The Bible in Contemporary Language by Eugene Peterson, 2002—is a freewheeling personal interpretation of the Scriptures that destroys the true meaning of the Word of God with its street-language English. Quite popular with younger people, such irreverent and inaccurate translations dangerously corrupt the inspired doctrinal teachings of the Bible. Yet, when the apostle Paul wrote to the Romans, for example, he used very precise Greek in order to fully explain the teachings and doctrines of Jesus Christ.

Other “contemporary” versions include John Henson’s Good As New: A Radical Retelling of the Scriptures—a perverse interpretation of the New Testament that literally destroys the sacred beauty and grace of the Word of God—and Today’s New International Version (2005), a “politically correct” gender-neutral version so radical that it is tantamount to having a “Bible without God.”

Such “pseudo-scholars” have rewritten and reinterpreted the Scriptures to fit a modern, post-Christian paradigm. Rather than teaching that people should be subject to the Word of God, they teach that the Word of God should be subject to the people. But believers do not frame the Scriptures; rather, the Scriptures frame the believers. We are to live by every Word of God—which must first be faithfully translated to reflect the inspiration of God the Father and Jesus Christ.

Over twenty years ago, Edward F. Hills, author of The King James Version Defended, wrote a sober warning about the growing laxity of professing Christians. In his 1979 edition, Hills sounded the alarm that unless America returned to its heritage of faith in God the Father and Jesus Christ—diligently using the Bible as the standard for behavior—America’s fall would surely come.

Hills wrote: “As spiritually minded Christians we must work for the [spiritual] re-arming of our country and do everything we can to roll back the tide of atheism and communism which is now engulfing the world. But in order to accomplish this we must first arm ourselves with the sword of the Spirit (Eph. 6:17), namely, the true Word of God, which is found in the printed Masoretic text, the Textus Receptus, and the King James Version and other faithful translations” (Hills, The King James Version Defended, 2000, p. 242; bold emphasis added).

The Reasons for This New Translation

The onslaught of vicious attacks from every side against Christianity, God the Father, Jesus Christ and the Word of God have been so overwhelming that the true Word of God and true Christianity are in a desperate battle of epic proportions. Satan the devil and the political, secular, atheistic, sexist and religious establishments of this world have united in their efforts to destroy true Christianity and the truth of the Word of God.
Why This New Translation?

It is time for everyone who loves God the Father and Jesus Christ to realistically confront these assaults and have the courage to make a stand for God and His Word—for “if the foundations are destroyed, what can the righteous do?” (Psa. 11:3). Indeed, God holds each of us accountable—not only to live by every Word of God, but also to stand for the Word of God and defend it.

Christendom has “grown rich and increased with goods and has need of nothing” (see Rev.
3:17). Its faith is so transparently weak that it is on the verge of destruction—ready to implode upon itself because it has grossly compromised with God’s laws and commandments and accepted the world’s philosophy of religious lawlessness. The truth of God’s Word has been replaced with an ungodly, emotional, feel-good religion—an insipid counterfeit Christianity. As a result, the bulk of Christendom is blind and ignorant—asleep, while the forces of evil have marshaled their armies to try to destroy the Word of God by corrupting it and replacing it with falsehoods!

However, in spite of the efforts of ungodly men to destroy and corrupt the Word of God with a flood of translations that range from inadequate to blasphemous, Jesus Christ promised, “The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but My words shall never pass away” (Matt. 24:35).

It is in response to this ongoing attack against the Scriptures that this new translation, The Holy Bible In Its Original Order—A Faithful Version with Commentary, has been produced—in a sincere effort to preserve the truth of the Word of God in an understandable, easy-to-read manner—free from “scholarly” corruption, political “correctness” and crude vernacular language.

The Proper Approach to Translation

This translation is not the work of any committee. Typically, translation committees have demonstrated that they are more interested in carnal-minded, special interest groups—who desire to make the Bible conform to a particular political, sexist or ecumenical religious agenda—than in accurately translating the Word of God. Moreover, they frequently corrupt the Word of God by using common street language and superimposing a gender-neutral language on the Scriptures in an effort to please radical feminists and homosexuals. In summary, they have allowed societal mores to determine how they should present their translations; in effect, they have allowed the community to “frame” the Word of God.

The obligation of any translator of the Scriptures is to present to the reader a faithful translation of the God-breathed words—precisely as God moved His faithful servants to write and canonize them.
Thus, the philosophy underlying this translation—The Holy Bible In Its Original Order—is a return to translating the Word of God faithfully from the Hebrew and Greek into English. The goal of this version is: 1) To seek the truth and best represent the original texts’ meaning in English; 2) To convey the Word of God as accurately as possible with the same divine character that is conveyed in the original; 3) To recapture the original teachings of the Old Testament writers and the doctrines of Jesus Christ that the apostles taught the primitive Church as recorded in the New Testament; and 4) To cherish and uphold every “jot and tittle” of the Old Testament writers and of the apostles of Jesus Christ so that, today, true believers may know how to live by every Word of God in a personal, intimate relationship with God the Father and Jesus Christ.

Ultimately, the Word of God is a call to repentance—a call to return to the true faith of Jesus Christ as taught by the original apostles and written in the original God-breathed Scriptures. In his short Epistle to the followers of Jesus Christ, the apostle Jude wrote a most impassioned plea for true believers to return to the faith once delivered. When Jude wrote his urgent message, the apostolic age was coming to a close, a great apostasy was gaining momentum, and false apostles and ministers were leading Christians astray. Likewise, in our day, false teachers and pseudo-scholars are again busily seeking to undermine the Word of God and destroy the faith of true Christians. Jude wrote: “I was compelled to write to you, exhorting you to fervently fight for the faith, which once for all time has been delivered to the saints” (Jude 3-4).

May God the Father and Jesus Christ bless you with a humble heart, a contrite spirit, and a deep hunger and thirst for righteousness and eternal salvation.

Why Are There So Many Bibles in the World?

In 1456, at Mainz, Germany, Johannes Gutenberg printed the first Bible using movable type. It was a beautiful, artistic folio-size Latin Vulgate. Since that time, various individuals and agencies have translated, produced and distributed the Bible around the world. From Gutenberg to the early nineteenth century, the number of Bibles printed and distributed is not known, as records were not kept. Fairly accurate estimates are available, however, beginning with the early 1800s.

The Bible Society of the United Kingdom calculates that the number of Bibles printed between 1816 and 1975 was 2,458,000,000. By 1992 the estimated number rose to nearly six billion. Furthermore, worldwide sales of the Bible number more than a staggering 100 million each year, far outpacing any other book in history. Without a doubt, the Bible is the best selling book of all time.

This means that as of the year 2007, approximately 7.5 billion Bibles have been distributed throughout the world—with the vast majority still available for use! And these figures do not include the various digital versions of the Bible being used today by millions on computers, Blackberries—and now iPhones.

Currently, the complete Bible has been published in over 450 languages. The New Testament alone has been published in nearly 1,400 languages, with the Gospel of Mark in over 2,370 languages. Although these figures represent less than half of the languages and dialects presently in use in the world, they nonetheless “include the primary vehicles of communication of well over 90% of the world’s population” (http://www.worldscriptures.org/thestory/storysofar.html).

Consider what this means. With the world’s population approaching six billion, there is approximately one Bible for every living person on earth! There is, however, an uneven distribution of Bibles among the nations of the world. Some countries have very few Bibles compared to their overall populations, such as the Asian nations, the Middle East and the countries of the former Soviet Union where religious freedom—specifically “Christianity”—is not tolerated or, at best, is greatly restricted. On the other hand, countries in the Western World may have more Bibles than people, such as in the United States. The Harper San Francisco Book Catalog recently published some interesting statistics. It states that the annual expenditure for Bibles in America is currently $425 million and that the average American household contains four Bibles (Harper San Francisco Book Catalog, May-August, 2007, p. 15).

These statistics reflect the fact that the United States, since its inception, has been a Bible-reading and Bible-believing nation. This is evident in such founding documents as the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Also, the preamble of nearly every state constitution invokes the name “Almighty God.” Until recent times, the Bible traditionally was used for teaching the basic standards of private and public moral conduct. It has been the “foundation” of our laws and judicial system, as well as the moral standard for federal and state governments.

Because of our adherence to the Bible and its principles, the United States has been blessed beyond measure—making it the wealthiest and most generous nation in the world. Principally, the people of America contribute billions of dollars annually to churches and private charities. As well, the U.S. government contributes billions of taxpayer dollars in assistance to many of the downtrodden nations of the world.

In the twentieth century, America has been on the “forefront” when it comes to fighting wars in the name of God to rid the world of evil despotism. Furthermore, for over one hundred years, all denominations of Christian churches in the United States have been the primary leaders in preaching the Gospel to the world. Finally, the Bible Societies of America and Britain are responsible for translating and printing the Bible in hundreds of languages—and distributing them around the globe in a combined effort to bring the Gospel to as many people as possible.

Yet, these stark facts and figures chronicle a story far greater than numbers alone suggest. In reality, they document the awesome fulfillment of Jesus Christ’s prophecy that “assuredly” in the end times the Gospel—which is contained in the whole Bible—would be preached and published throughout the entire world before the end! “And this gospel of the kingdom shall be proclaimed in all the world for a witness to all nations; and then shall the end come…. And [before the end comes] the gospel must first be published among all nations” (Matt. 24:14; Mark 13:10). Moreover, Jesus said, “The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but My words shall never pass away” (Mark 13:31).

In addition to any direct preaching or proclaiming of the Gospel, it is evident that God has caused to be published and distributed into all the world more than 7.5 billion printed and digital “witnesses” in the form of the Holy Bible—a personal written message from God, readily available to 90% of the world’s population. And there is no plausible justification for not reading the Bible. For those who have a Bible but fail to read it, those individuals have still received a written testimony from God! God has accomplished His part by causing it to be easily accessible, just as Jesus Christ prophesied.

Since the end of this age and the return of Jesus Christ appear to be in the not-too-distant future, we need to ask some pertinent questions concerning the Word of God: How many more Bibles will be published between now and Christ’s return? Will a “saturation point” be reached, with 100% of the nations having access to the Word of God before the end comes? Time will tell. But, truly, we can expect Jesus’ prophecies to be fulfilled exactly as He said.

This is why there are so many Bibles in the world today. All those who love God the Father and believe in Jesus Christ as personal Savior should read and study the Word of God daily. It is God’s personal instruction book for you, so that in steadfast certainty you can live in this present age with godly faith, hope and love—all in preparation for eternal life and the triumphant return of Jesus Christ to rule this world as King of kings and Lord of lords.

About This Bible

You are holding in your hands a unique Bible. The Holy Bible In Its Original Order—A Faithful Version with Commentary is the first complete Bible ever published in a single volume to present all the books in their original manuscript order! Of all the billions of Bibles that have been translated, printed and distributed around the world, there has never been a complete Bible—both Old and New Testaments—with the books arranged according to the originally inspired manuscript order.

Prior to his death in January 2002, Ernest L. Martin, Ph.D.—eminent biblical scholar and historian—was for decades the lone “voice in the wilderness” advocating that a complete Bible in its original manuscript order be published. In his 1994 third edition of Restoring the Original Bible, he wrote: “The world has never had a complete Bible of the Old and New Testaments in the original manuscript order of the biblical books. This is a fact! It is almost unbelievable that such a non-manuscript arrangement of the books of the Bible could exist, but all modern translations of the Holy Scriptures do not follow the early manuscripts. Publishers in their quest to print numerous versions of the Bible have been led to avoid the manuscript positioning of the biblical books in favor of an ecclesiastical order which has no justification from the early Hebrew and Greek manuscripts of the Bible…. [They] have assiduously neglected to produce a complete Bible which positions the books in the correct manuscript order. The outcome has been a mass of Bible translations and versions which are literally topsy-turvy in their design and arrangement” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 7, 1; bold emphasis added).

A few have come close, however, such as David Stern’s 2002 Complete Jewish Bible. Stern retained the original order of the books of the Old Testament, yet arranged the New Testament in the traditional Catholic/Protestant order. Three published New Testaments follow the original order: Ivan Panin’s Greek Numeric New Testament, 1914; The New Testament In Its Original Order by Fred R. Coulter, 2004; and, with the Greek text only, The New Testament In The Original Greek—Byzantine Textform, by Robinson and Pierpoint, 2005.

Origin of the Incorrect Order of the Books of the Bible

The Old Testament: In all translations of the “Protestant Bible”—such as the Geneva Version, the King James Version and other versions without the Apocrypha—the first five books of the Old Testament are in the proper manuscript order. However, the remainder of the Old Testament books are arranged in an ecclesiastical order devised by Jerome in the fourth century AD when he translated the Bible into Latin, a version known as the Latin Vulgate.

Jerome freely acknowledged that the original manuscript order of the Aaronic/Levitical Old Testament was composed of 22 Hebrew books written on scrolls. (There are 22 books because there are 22 letters in the Hebrew alphabet.) However, Jerome did not wholly follow the inspired order of the books according to the final canonization by the high priest Ezra and the Great Assembly, and preserved by the Aaronic/Levitical priesthood—the true custodians of the Old Testament. Instead, he chose to follow the order found in the Septuagint, an early Greek translation of the third century BC. Its name is from the Latin septuaginta, meaning “seventy,” derived from the claim that 70 Jewish scholars assembled in Alexandria, Egypt during the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphia (285-247 BC) and translated the Old Testament Scriptures from Hebrew into Greek. This Greek version is referred to by the abbreviation LXX, which is the Roman numeral for 70. With arrogant “license,” the translators of the LXX departed from the original manuscript order of 22 books and rearranged the Old Testament to make a total of 39 books. Moreover, they declined to follow the three-fold division of the Law, the Prophets and the Writings.

Hellenistic Jewish authorities later added 14 books, bringing the final number of books in the LXX Greek Old Testament to 53. These additional books—written in Greek by Greek-speaking Jewish religious leaders in the third and second centuries BC—are called the Apocrypha, meaning they were of... doubtful authorship or authenticity. The Aaronic/Levitical authorities considered these added books to be spurious, as they contain many teachings that are contrary to the Word of God. Moreover, these books were not written in Hebrew, the language of the Old Testament. Thus, the apocryphal books were never accepted into the authorized Hebrew canon of the Old Testament.

Martin writes, “Our Christian Old Testament follows an order of books which had its origin in Egypt in the second and third centuries A.D. The order was devised when the codex form for producing books became popular (this is the type of book with which we are familiar today). Before the codex form of making books was used, it was customary to use scrolls for the production of literary documents. The Jews still demanded the scroll form well into the fifth century [AD]. But the Gentiles in Egypt put the LXX into the codex form. When they did, they abandoned the normal [Aaronic/Levitical] Jewish [manuscript] order (which had been maintained in the early temple) and they rearranged the books into a … [subjective] order. They put the historical books of the Old Testament together in one section, the poetic books in another, and the prophetic books in yet another. … This had an effect of standardizing the text of the Old Testament for Gentile Christian readers. The use of the codex form can give [the] appearance of standardization (it can show a permanent arrangement of books, whereas separate scrolls cannot). [The codex] arrangement gave Jerome a reason for maintaining [the LXX order] when he devised his Latin Vulgate version” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 17-18).

However, there is no question Jerome “fully understood” that in the Aaronic/Levitical Scriptures there were originally only 22 books. Of this Jerome himself wrote: “As, then, there are twenty-two elementary characters by means of which we write in Hebrew all we say, and the compass of the human voice is contained within their limits, so we reckon twenty-two books, by which, as by the alphabet of the doctrine of God, a righteous man is instructed in tender infancy, and as it were, while still at the breast” (Jerome, Preface to Samuel and Kings, NPNF, vol. VI, p. 489, bold emphasis added).

In spite of knowing that the original order consisted of 22 books, Jerome tenaciously retained the LXX’s 39 books for the Old Testament as well as the Apocrypha’s 14 books. Protestant versions follow Jerome’s incorrect arrangement, with some containing the apocryphal books as well.

Jerome’s Rearranged Order of the Old Testament

1) Genesis
2) Exodus
3) Leviticus
4) Numbers
5) Deuteronomy
6) Joshua
7) Judges
8) Ruth
9) I Samuel
10) II Samuel
11) I Kings
12) II Kings
13) I Chronicles
14) II Chronicles
15) Ezra
16) Nehemiah
17) Esther
18) Job
19) Psalms
20) Proverbs
21) Ecclesiastes
22) Song of Solomon
23) Isaiah
24) Jeremiah
25) Lamentations
26) Ezekiel
27) Daniel
28) Hosea
29) Joel
30) Amos
31) Obadiah
32) Jonah
33) Micah
34) Nahum
35) Habakkuk
36) Zephaniah
37) Haggai
38) Zechariah
39) Malachi

With the exception of the Pentateuch, or the Law, the LXX’s and Jerome’s positioning of the books of the Old Testament has not only broken up the original, inspired manuscript placement of the books, it has destroyed the God-ordained manuscript divisions of the Prophets and the Writings. By mixing up the Prophets and the Writings—and especially with the addition of the apocryphal books—Jerome’s arrangement of the Old Testament subverts the unity of Scripture between the Old and New Testaments. Genealogical bridges and historical links that serve to join the Old and New Testaments as one book—the God-breathed Scriptures—have become largely lost.

The Apocryphal Books

1) I Esdras
2) II Esdras
3) Tobit
4) Judith
5) The Rest of Esther
6) Wisdom
7) Ecclesiasticus
8) Baruch (with Epistle of Jeremiah)
9) The Song of Three Children
10) The Story of Susanna
11) Bel and the Dragon
12) Prayer of Manasseh
13) I Maccabees
14) II Maccabees
Some versions of the LXX combine I and II Esdras into one book and divide the two books of Maccabees into four books. Also, the Epistle of Jeremiah is separated from Baruch, making a total of 15 apocryphal books. Such versions contain a total of 53 or 54 books.

The New Testament: In an attempt to exalt the religious and political position of the Roman Church, Jerome not only rejected the original order of the Scriptures to follow the order of the LXX, he also single-handedly devised a “new” arrangement of the books of the New Testament. To please Rome and the theologians of the Western Empire, Jerome exalted Paul’s position as “apostle to the Gentiles” over the so-called “Jewish” apostles. In so doing, he deliberately placed Paul’s Epistles, beginning with the book of Romans, after the book of Acts—then placed the seven General Epistles of James, Peter, John and Jude after all of Paul’s fourteen Epistles. (The seven General Epistles are also called Catholic Epistles—as the term “catholic” means “general” or “universal”—but is not a reference to the work of any Catholic theologian or the Roman Catholic Church.)

Of this arrangement Martin writes: “Jerome’s new and radical placement of Paul’s Epistles before the seven ‘Catholic Epistles’ in his Latin Vulgate also placed the book of Romans and the city of Rome … into a first rank position ahead of the Jewish apostles who once had Jerusalem for their top rank position. This rearrangement by Jerome (to exalt the Gentile section of the Christian Church, and the city of Rome in particular) does not have the slightest justification when one consults the majority of early Greek manuscripts of the New Testament…. The textual scholars of the last century knew [and as all current textual scholars know] that this arrangement by Jerome was simply the one preferred by him and it was willfully *devised to exalt the so-called ‘Gentile’ Epistles of the New Testament into a primary position over those which had ‘Jewish’ characteristics…. Jerome’s order of the New Testament books cannot represent the original arrangement and the evidence from the manuscripts demonstrates this abundantly. The truth is, Jerome (along with Augustine who followed him) in adopting his novel arrangement wanted to exalt ‘Rome’ and its theology over the site of ‘Jerusalem’ and over the authority of the eastern churches who were not keen on Rome’s leadership in Christendom” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 9-10, bold emphasis added).

Jerome’s Rearranged Order of the New Testament

| 1) Matthew  | 8) II Corinthians  | 15) I Timothy  | 22) II Peter |
| 2) Mark     | 9) Galatians      | 16) II Timothy | 23) I John   |
| 6) Romans   | 13) I Thessalonians | 20) James   | 27) Revelation |
| 7) I Corinthians | 14) II Thessalonians | 21) I Peter |

The change may not appear critical at first glance. However, because Jerome relegated these small but vitally important Epistles of the apostles James, Peter, John and Jude to a less prominent position, he literally downgraded the importance of Christians keeping the commandments of God. On the one hand, Jerome’s arrangement opened the door for the Roman Church to replace nearly all the commandments of God with its own version of law and tradition. On the other hand, it also set the stage for the development of a “lawless grace” predominant in Protestantism today.

When the 27 books of the New Testament are added to Jerome’s Latin Vulgate Old Testament, the total number of books is 80 or 81, depending on the division of the apocryphal books. Protestant Bibles—without the Apocrypha—adhere to Jerome’s ecclesiastical order, having 66 books.

It is astonishing that Jerome acknowledged his scriptural dishonesty in altering the original God-breathed manuscript order of both the Old and New Testaments. Rather than being faithful to God and His Word, he chose to please men—the pope, the Roman Catholic Church and its clergy. In fact, the hierarchy of the Church at Rome was so delighted with his Latin Vulgate that not only was Jerome exalted to “sainthood,” but the church declared Latin the “sacred language” of the Bible, forbidding other “unworthy” languages to be used in religious rituals.

Thus, in his deliberate mishandling of the Holy Scriptures, Jerome caused great spiritual harm to untold numbers of people for over 1500 years. Following in his footsteps, most modern translators have, unfortunately, likewise ignored and rejected the inspired, original manuscript order of the books of the Word of God.
An Unacknowledged Truth About the Old Testament: The Old Testament is the Bible used in Judaism, but, technically speaking, it is not a Jewish Bible. It is also not a Hebrew Bible, although the Old Testament is referred to by both names. Furthermore, though the Old Testament makes up part of the Catholic and Protestant Bibles, it is not Catholic or Protestant.

If the Old Testament is not Jewish, Hebrew, Catholic or Protestant—just what is it? The Old Testament itself—when carefully analyzed—reveals the answer. The little realized truth is this: The Old Testament is actually an Aaronic/Levitical Bible written in the Hebrew language for the descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—the twelve tribes of Israel. Why is this significant?

God called Moses to lead the children of Israel out of Egyptian slavery; his brother Aaron was to assist him. Both were descendants of Levi, one of the twelve sons of Jacob. Moses was the greatest of all the Old Testament priests, prophets and writers because he personally saw God and talked with Him face-to-face. He, alone, faithfully wrote God’s spoken words as contained in the first five books of the Bible, called the Pentateuch, the Torah, or the Law. As a type foreshadowing Jesus Christ, Moses was unique in that he was the personal, direct mediator between God and the children of Israel, as well as ruler, prophet and priest. God chose Moses’ brother Aaron, and his sons, to be the priests of Israel. Moreover, God consecrated the tribe of Levi—the Levites—for the service of the tabernacle/temple in assisting the Aaronic priesthood.

When the first five books of the Bible are carefully examined, they demonstrate that what Moses wrote are the actual words of the LORD God. Moses wrote nothing on his own initiative, but only conveyed the words God commanded him to write.

Prior to his death, Moses wrote the book of Deuteronomy, finalizing the Pentateuch—the five books of the Law. He then gave the original scrolls of the Law, also called autographs, to the priests to be placed in special sleeves attached to the side of the Ark of the Covenant. Inside the Ark itself were the two tables of stone on which the Ten Commandments had been written by the finger of God, an omer of manna and the rod of Aaron that budded. Thus, the original scrolls of the Law—which Moses faithfully recorded as the Law of God for the children of Israel—were always stored in the Holy of Holies portion of the tabernacle and, later, of the temple in Jerusalem. “And it came to pass when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book until they were finished, Moses commanded the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, saying, ‘Take this book of the law, and put it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, so that it may be there for a witness against you’ ” (Deut. 31:24-26).

Thus, from the death of Moses the Aaronic priests and the Levites were made the official custodians of the Word of God. The Old Testament began with Moses, a Levite, who wrote the Law of God. God then transferred the Law to the Aaronic priesthood, who were Levites, to safeguard and preserve it. It was from these original scrolls that faithful copies were made by the priests and Levites for teaching the children of Israel.

Later, God used priests such as Samuel, Jeremiah and Ezekiel, descendants of Aaron, to write other books of the Bible. Their writings were “laid up before the Lord.” When Samuel proclaimed the amended covenant for the children of Israel, after God granted their request for a king, he “wrote it in a book [scroll] and laid it up before the LORD” (I Sam. 10:25). However, the writings of other men who were not priests or Levites—such as King David and Solomon, of the tribe of Judah, and many of the prophets—were submitted to the priesthood to be “laid up before the Lord.” When David wrote his first psalm he gave it to Asaph the priest, who was in charge of the Ark of the Covenant when David brought it to Jerusalem and housed it in a tent at the king’s house: “Then on that day David first delivered this psalm into the hand of Asaph and his brethren in order to thank the LORD” (I Chron. 16:7).

Thus, important written accounts became part of the prophets, Psalms and historical writings. Ultimately, such writings were officially made a permanent part of the Word of God when Ezra the priest—assisted by the priests and Levites of the Great Assembly or Synagogue—completed the final editing and canonization of the Old Testament Scriptures in the late fifth century BC.

Scriptural evidence pointedly shows that God always used Aaronic priests and the Levites as writers, editors and custodians of the Holy Scriptures of the Old Testament. Indeed, the Old Testament is not really a Jewish or Hebrew Bible—or a Catholic/Protestant Old Testament. Rather, the Word of God reveals that the Old Testament is an Aaronic/Levitical Bible written in Hebrew. From the time of Moses, God gave the responsibility for preserving and canonizing the Old Testament to the Aaronic priesthood and Levites, which was finished by Ezra, an Aaronic priest. Remember, God never allotted this responsibility to the Jews of the tribe of Judah. (See “A Summary of the Transmission of the Aaronic/Levitical Old Testament Text and Other Versions,” p. 96).

During the latter half of the first century AD, Josephus—a noted Jewish historian and an Aaronic priest of the first course—confirmed that the official number of canonized books in the Old Testament was 22: “We have not a countless number of books, discordant and arranged against each other; but only two and twenty books, containing the history of every age, which are justly accredited as divine” (Josephus, Antiquities of the Jews, Contra Apion, 1.8:39).

Concerning other witnesses who verified that the number of books in the Old Testament was 22, Martin writes: “There were only 22 books to the standard Old Testament. This numbering can be traced back at least two hundred years before the time of Christ. It is found in the Book of Jubilees. Though Jubilees apparently represents the theological opinion of some Jewish sectarianists of the Dead Sea community (or in sympathy with them), the information in the book still reflects a great deal of the normal Jewish sentiment. This is especially true when the author [of Jubilees] made a simple statement that the Old Testament canon was reckoned as 22 books in number. Indeed, there was a special reason why the books had to be 22 as far as the author of Jubilees was concerned.

“Annotated to the restored text of Jubilees 2:23 is the remark that God made 22 things on the six days of creation. These 22 events paralleled the 22 generations from Adam to Jacob, the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet, and the 22 books of the Holy Scripture. Professor R. H. Charles maintained that this information concerning the 22 books should be retained in the text…. See Charles’ note on Jubilees 2:23, Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha, II. p. 15. Cf. Kaufmann Kohler, ‘Book of Jubilees,’ Jewish Encyclopedia, VII (New York: 1907), p. 302. Thus, as early as the year 150 B.C., it was common for Jews to reckon the Old Testament books as being 22 in number” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 57).

“When God wished to give his complete Old Testament revelation to humanity, that divine canon was presented in 22 authorized books…. ‘As with the Hebrew there are twenty-two letters, in which all that can be said and written is comprehended, so there are twenty-two books in which are contained all that can be known and uttered of divine things’ ” (William H. Green, A General Introduction to the Old Testament, vol. i. Cannon (1898), p. 87).

“There can really be no doubt that the number of Old Testament books that were canonized by Ezra the priest was reckoned as 22 in number. Indeed, there is an abundance of evidence from later Christian scholars that this official number of books was certainly correct” (Ibid., p. 58).

Below is a listing of twenty-two Christian scholars, from 170 AD to 1300 AD, who affirmed that the Old Testament had 22 books in its authorized canon:

1) Melito, 170
2) Origen, 210

The Original Order of the Old Testament Books

The 39 books of the Old Testament—as found in most versions today—comprise the entire Old Testament. The difference in numbering between the 39 books and the original number of 22 books lies in how Ezra grouped the books and how they were counted in the Tripartite Division of the Old Testament. The three-part division of the Old Testament is: 1) The Law, 2) The Prophets, and 3) The Writings (also known as the “Psalms” because the book of Psalms is listed first in this division).

Jesus Himself fully endorsed this three-fold division (Luke 24:44-46).

After Ezra died, the Great Assembly—which assisted Ezra in his canonization of the Old Testament—remained the supreme religious authority in Judea for over 100 years. Under their guidance a few minor additions were made to the genealogical tables of the important priestly families down to the time of Alexander the Great in 331 BC (Neh. 12:11, 22).

Non-Canonical Books Mentioned in the Old Testament

Several books are mentioned in the Old Testament which did not become a part of Ezra’s final canon. They are sometimes called the “lost books” of the Bible.

- The Book of the Wars of the Lord (Numbers 21:14)
- The Book of Jasher (Joshua 10:13; II Samuel 1:18)
- The Book of the Acts of Solomon (I Kings 11:41)
- The Book of Nathan the Prophet (I Chronicles 29:29)
- The Book of Gad the Seer (I Chronicles 29:29)
- The Prophecy of Ahijah the Shiloite (II Chronicles 9:29)
- The Visions of Iddo the Seer (II Chronicles 9:29)
- The Book of Shemaiah the Prophet (II Chronicles 12:15)
- The Book of Jehu the Son of Hanani (II Chronicles 20:34)
- The Sayings of Hosai (II Chronicles 33:19)

Of these books Martin writes: “Do these ‘lost books’ belong in the sacred canon of the Old Testament? They do not. The last seven of these ten books were referred to by Ezra in the Book of Chronicles, and it was he who was responsible for canonizing the complete Old Testament. He mentioned these historical documents to support the truth of what he wrote in the Book of Chronicles, but he did not include any of them as part of the divine Scripture. Had he wanted them in the canon, he could easily have placed one or all of them within the divine collection. He did not. These books were simply books of history which contained truthful records of the past … but Ezra did not accord them divine status. This is significant. If Ezra did not reckon them as canonical, neither should anyone else who respects the office of Ezra and the Great Assembly. This is the case with all other books mentioned in the Old Testament and not found within the present biblical canon” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 182-183).

With Ezra’s final God inspired canonization, the Aaronic/Levitical Bible—known today as the Old Testament—was complete. However, that is only half of the story. The New Testament was yet to be written. And only then would the Word of God—the Holy Bible—be complete.
The Original Order of Books in the New Testament

Although Jerome changed the order of the canonical New Testament books, he did not alter their number by adding extra books or by dividing existing books into two or more parts as he and the LXX translators had done with the Old Testament. However, he switched the original placement of the seven General Epistles (also known as “Catholic Epistles” or “Universal Epistles,” meaning they were distributed to all the known churches in the world at the time they were written). He moved them from their original manuscript order after the book of Acts and repositioned them after the fourteen Epistles of the apostle Paul and before the book of Revelation.

As with the Old Testament, Jerome understood the original manuscript order of the New Testament books. Martin writes: “This proper manuscript order … was even acknowledged by Jerome himself, yet in a personal letter to his friend Paulinus, Jerome followed an order peculiar to Epiphanius who even placed Paul’s letters right after the four Gospels (Lardner, vol. IV, pp. 437, 438). This oddity of order is also found in the Sinaiticus manuscript and [is] plainly unlike the order of the original manuscripts…” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 12).

Original Order Well Known: It is an established fact that from ancient times the vast majority of biblical scholars have been fully aware of the original manuscript order of the New Testament books. “Almost all the Greek-speaking ecclesiastical authorities from the areas of Palestine, Syria, Asia Minor, and Greece refer to the books of the New Testament and they do so in the proper manuscript arrangement. [In] all cases they position the seven ‘Catholic Epistles’ (from James to Jude) before those of the apostle Paul.

“Athanasius said the order was ‘the four Gospels; the Acts of the Apostles; the seven General Epistles; the fourteen epistles of St. Paul; and the Revelation of John.’

Martin adds: “Philastris was even bold in his statement that the seven Catholic Epistles must be positioned before Paul’s because in Galatians 1:17 Paul said that the Jewish apostles were ‘before me’ (Moffatt, Introduction to the Literature of the New Testament, p. 13)” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 11).

In his book, The New Testament In The Original Greek, Maurice A. Robinson writes this concerning the order of the canonical books: “Individual manuscripts present the New Testament books in various arrangements; nevertheless, a particular Greek ‘canonical order’ seems to have been popular during the early transmissional history. This order is partially evidenced within various early papyri and manuscripts, and occurs in the fourth-century Festal Letter of Athanasius (AD 367) and the list of the canonical books attributed to the Laodicean Council (AD 360/363).

“According to the ‘canonical order,’ the New Testament books are grouped as follows: Gospels, Acts and General Epistles, Pauline Epistles and Revelation. The individual books within each category follow the familiar order, except that in the Pauline Epistles, Hebrews stands between Second Thessalonians and First Timothy [which is the correct order], intentionally separating Paul’s local church epistles from those written to individuals” (Robinson and Pierpoint, The New Testament In The Original Greek, 2005, pp. xvi-xvii). Chapter One

It is interesting to note that the book of Hebrews—falling between Paul’s Church Epistles and his letters to individuals—is number 22 in the original New Testament canon. As we have seen, the number 22 is uniquely associated with the Hebrew language and the nation of Israel.

Now that the integrity of the original, God-breathed manuscript order and number of the books in the complete Bible—Old and New Testaments—has been established, we know that the true total number of books is 49. The 22 books of the Old Testament, plus the 27 books of the New Testament makes a total of 49 books. This Bible, The Holy Bible In Its Original Order—A Faithful Version with Commentary, is the first complete Holy Bible to be printed in a single volume with the Old and New Testament books arranged in their original manuscript order. Thus, it becomes the “Original Bible Restored,” making it unique among the billions of Bibles around the world.

In the following chapter, we will demonstrate how the original order and number of books are distinct proof of “God’s Divine Design of the Holy Bible.”

William Tyndale

“Father of the English Bible”

“William Tyndale (1494-1536) was the first person to translate the Bible into English from its original Greek and Hebrew and the first to print the Bible in English, which he did in exile. Giving the laity access to the Word of God outraged the clerical establishment in England: he was condemned, hunted, and eventually murdered [martyred]. However, his masterly translation formed the basis of all English Bibles—including the ‘King James Bible,’ many of whose finest passages were taken unchanged, though unacknowledged, from Tyndale’s work” (Daniell, William Tyndale: A Biography, dust jacket; bold emphasis added).
God’s Divine Design of the Holy Bible and Its Numeric Connection

Once the original, God-breathed manuscript order of the books of the Holy Bible—the Old and New Testaments—has been restored, God’s divine design of the Scriptures begins to unfold. An essential key to understanding the design of God’s Word is biblical numerics. Such numeric connections and patterns, when searched out and understood, reveal the handiwork of God. Some numeric patterns are obvious, while others are hidden.

Through the prophet Isaiah, God challenges men to know that He alone is Creator. The evidence is readily apparent: The awesome complexity of the earth itself, as well as the infinite vastness of the universe—which man cannot even begin to comprehend—are silent witness of the existence of a Master Creator. Yet, God has numbered and named all of the galaxies—literally every celestial body of the universe: “ ‘To whom then will you compare Me, or who is My equal?’ says the Holy One. ‘Lift up your eyes on high, and behold, who has created these things, who brings out their host by number? He calls them all by names by the greatness of His might, for He is strong in power; not one fails.’… He counts the number of the stars; He calls them all by their names. Great is our LORD, and of great power; His understanding is infinite” (Isa. 40:25-26; Psa. 147:4-5).

God designed and created the universe based on mathematical laws—laws that continue to govern the entire creation. Indeed, God has wonderfully revealed Himself through His creation (Rom. 1:20). Though the scientific community has discovered a number of these immutable laws, men actually know “little to nothing” about God’s limitless universe.

Just as God has employed mathematical laws in creating the universe, He has used biblical numerics in the design of the Bible. Indeed, the Scriptures exhibit a numerical design that can only be explained by the direct, divine inspiration of the Creator God.

Emphatically, the Bible is not the product of human ideas. Rather, “holy men of God spoke [and wrote] as they were moved by the Holy Spirit” (II Pet. 1:21). As the apostle Paul wrote, “All Scripture is God-breathed.” Reflecting the very mind of God, the Scriptures are laid out in an orderly, defined and purposeful manner. Upon closer examination it becomes apparent that numeric patterns are interwoven into the very fabric of the Word of God—in both the Old Testament Hebrew and New Testament Greek. Accurate translations retain the significance of such patterns.

Dr. Edward F. Vallowe, in his book Biblical Mathematics, writes: “Numbers are the secret code of God’s Word. Only to the students of the Word, those to whom God’s Spirit has given spiritual insight, will the code be made plain. God has been called ‘The Great Geometrician’ and is said to do everything after a plan by number, weight and measure. If God is the Author of the Scriptures and the Creator of the Universe, and He is, then the Words of God and the Works of God should and will [numerically] harmonize” (p. 19).

Imagine what the Bible would be like without the direct inspiration of a single Author. “[The] various writers of the different books, men who lived in different ages, and most of whom never saw the others, would have crossed up each other had they not all been guided by a master mind, ONE, Who never makes a mistake, and Whose knowledge and wisdom comprehend the events of all time. The precision with which the Bible numbers all fall into their places cannot be accounted for except by the supernatural power and wisdom of a God Who is infinite” (Ibid., p. 20; bold emphasis added).

Stop and think. No other book even begins to approach the interrelated numerical complexity of the Bible. Yet, how many biblical writers were there? There are 32 verifiable writers of the Old Testament—plus an unknown number of individuals who maintained historical records which the writers utilized. The New Testament was penned by only eight men. But again, the writers had access to the personal accounts and records of numerous believers (Luke 1:1-2). They were eyewitnesses of Jesus’ ministry and had heard all of His teachings.

Thus, from creation to about 90 AD, some 40 key writers were involved in compiling the Scriptures. A single author would have to be an absolute genius to develop the numerical design found in the Bible. But 40 separate authors, writing over a period of nearly 3800 years, consistently following a complex pattern of numerics—the odds would be beyond calculation. It would simply be impossible—apart from the direct inspiration of God.

Humanly, men tend towards opposition and variance. Witness the fact that the writings of the major religions of the world—such as those of Catholicism and Judaism—are typically confusing, self-contradictory and generally lacking in any meaningful design. There is no question that without the guiding hand of God in both its writing and its preservation, the Scriptures would likewise have become thoroughly corrupt, with various parts added or deleted. And while the original manuscripts of the Scriptures—including their authorized copies—have themselves not been corrupted. However, men such as Jerome have taken it upon themselves to rearrange the order of the books and to include the non-canonical books of the Apocrypha. Beginning in the late 19th century with Westcott and Hort, translators began to take considerable liberty and license with the Scriptures—and even began altering copies of the original Hebrew and Greek texts. This inevitably led to inferior, corrupt translations. Following the lead of James Moffatt—with his liberal Moffat Translation of 1913—wholesale changes began to appear in various translations. By the end of the 20th century there was a plethora of corrupt translations. The last decade has seen several so-called “translations” that are absolute abominations before God.

Conversely, the men God used were of a converted mind and were led by the Holy Spirit; they would never have presumed to insert their own ideas or tamper with the design and order of the Holy Scriptures.

Amazingly, this extensive corruption has had virtually no effect on the numerical patterns of the Bible—which remain as proof of the divine inspiration of the Word of God. Indeed, it is an absolute miracle of God that the Bible has not only been written with such perfect, harmonious design, but that it has been preserved intact for us today.

The Significance of Biblical Numerics

It is interesting to note that, on average, one in every five verses in the Bible contains a number. Many of these numbers have significance—revealing the mind of God in the Scriptures and the divine design of His revelation to mankind. Primarily, biblical numerics substantiate the inspiration of God’s Word and the unity of Scripture—from Genesis to Revelation. God also uses numerics in conjunction with the “times and seasons” to show the progression of His purpose and master plan of salvation. (Note: All calendar dates refer solely to the Sacred Calculated Hebrew Calendar—the calendar that God gave to the Aaronic/Levitical priesthood for accurately determining the days, months, seasons and years. Moreover, the Scriptures reckon all days from sunset to sunset.)

Biblical numerics is a vast subject. Several books have been written which discuss the numeric connections of the Scriptures in great detail. Therefore, only the most significant numbers that relate to the divine design of the Bible and the numerics of the biblical holy days will be presented. The following numeric points have been stylized from Biblical Mathematics by Vallowe and are noted by (V). Others are by Fred R. Coulter and are noted by (C).

Number 1: Signifies unity and oneness (V). • The unity and oneness of God: “Hear, O Israel. Our one God is the LORD, the LORD” (Deut. 6:4). Hebrew: “Our one Elohim is Jehovah, Jehovah.” • The unity and oneness of God the Father and Jesus Christ (John 10:30; 17:21). • By His one sacrifice, Jesus removes our sins forever (C). • Jesus is the one Mediator and the one Shepherd (I Tim. 2:5; John 10:16). • There is one body, the Church; one spirit, one Lord, one faith, one baptism (Eph. 4:4-6). • The eventual unity and oneness of true believers with God (John 17:21) (V).

Number 2: Signifies union, division and verification by witnesses. • The union of husband and wife as one. • The union of Christ and the Church (V). • The unity between the Old and New Testaments. • The witness of God in the Old and New Testaments (C). • God requires a minimum of two witnesses in any trial or dispute. • Jesus sent the disciples out to witness in pairs. • The final witnesses of God during the tribulation—the “two witnesses” (V).

Number 3: Used 467 times; pictures completeness, though to a lesser degree than 7 (V). • There were 3 righteous patriarchs before the flood—Abel, Enoch and Noah. There were 3 righteous patriarchs after the flood—Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Peter, James and John, the 3 key apostles who witnessed Jesus’ transfiguration (C). • Jesus prayed three times in the Garden of Gethsemane before His arrest (V). • Jesus was crucified at the 3rd hour and died at the 9th hour; 3 x 3 = 9 (C). • There... were 3 hours of darkness, from the 6th hour to the 9th hour (V). • There are 27 books in the New Testament, which is 3 x 3 x 3—or completeness to the third power (3³) (C).

Number 4: The number of creation which marks God’s creative works. It is the signature of the world. • The material creation was finished on the 4th day—with the sun, moon and stars ordained for 4 things: signs, seasons, days and years. • The 4th commandment—“Remember the Sabbath to keep it holy”—was given to man at creation. • The 4 accounts of Jesus’ life and ministry: Matthew, Son of David and King; Mark, The Suffering Servant; Luke, The Perfect Man; and John, The Only Begotten Son of God (V).

Number 5: The number of God’s grace or goodness toward man; mentioned 318 times in the Bible. • The 5 offerings God commanded to be offered on the altar. • The Ten Commandments have 2 sets of 5 commandments—5 toward God and 5 toward neighbor (V). • The Psalms are divided into 5 books. • The 5 books of the Law, also known as the Pentateuch. • The 4 Gospels plus Acts equals 5 books or the New Testament Pentateuch—revealing Jesus’ teachings concerning the Law and the Prophets (C). • The apostle John wrote 5 books centered on the grace of God and eternal life (V). • John 3:16: When these numbers are added (3 + 1 + 6), you get 10—or 2 x 5 • New Testament Greek has 24 letters. However, it has two forms of the letter sigma, σ and ζ, making a total of 25 letters. Five is the number of grace, and 5 x 5 = 25, or “grace upon grace” (John 1:16) (C).

Number 6: The number of man and human weakness, the evils of Satan and the manifestation of sin. • Man was created on the sixth day. • Men are appointed 6 days to labor. • A Hebrew slave was to serve 6 years and be released in the 7th year. • Six years were appointed for the land to be sown and harvested (V). • Six is associated with Satan in his temptation of Jesus. • “666” is the number and mark of the Beast of Revelation 13. It symbolizes the perfection of man’s system—separated from God and under Satan’s rule—in two ways. First, 6 divided by 2 equals 3. Man’s system is made up of 3 parts, with each represented by a 6: man’s religions worshiping Satan, and man’s economic systems under Satan. Second, when 666 is multiplied by 7 it equals 4662, which depicts man’s complete imperfection under Satan. When added across, 4 + 6 + 6 + 2 = 18; and 18 divided by 3 is 6 (C).

Number 7: Used 735 times, the entire Word of God is founded on the number 7. “Sevenfold” is used 6 times and “seventh” is used 119 times, bringing the total references to 7 to 860. It is used 54 times in Revelation alone. Seven is the number of completeness and perfection and is tied directly to God’s creation of the heavens and earth. • The word “created” is used 7 times describing God’s creative work (Gen. 1:1, 21, 27 three times; 2:3; 2:4). • There are 7 days in a week. • The Sabbath is the 7th day of the week. • The 7th year is the land Sabbath. • There are 7 feasts of God, beginning with Passover (V). • There are 7 annual holy days. • There are the 7 weeks of the spring harvest. • The cycle of the 7 holy days is completed in 3 festival seasons by the 7th month of the sacred calendar: Passover and Unleavened Bread, 1st month; Pentecost, 3rd month; and Trumpets, Atonement, Tabernacles and Last Great Day, 7th month (C). • In the book of Revelation there are 7 churches, 7 angels to the 7 churches, 7 seals, 7 trumpet plagues, 7 thunders and the 7 last plagues (V). • The first resurrection takes place at the 7th trumpet, completing salvation for the Church. • There are 7 divisions of the Bible: 1) the Law; 2) the Prophets; 3) the Writings, or Psalms; 4) the Gospels and Acts; 5) the General Epistles; 6) the Epistles of Paul; and 7) the book of Revelation. (The seven divisions are covered beginning on page 15.) • There are 49 books in the Bible—7 x 7—demonstrating the absolute perfection of the Word of God (C).

Number 8: Coming after 7, which signifies completeness, the number 8 symbolizes a new beginning, or a new order of things, a new creation, a new birth (V), and the resurrection to eternal life (C). • A musical scale has 7 notes, with the 8th note beginning a new scale an octave from the first note. • Eight people were carried in the ark for a new beginning after the flood. • Four is the number of the first creation, and 8 (4 + 4) pictures the new creation after the flood. • David, the 8th son of Jesse, was the new king to replace Saul. • The sum of the letters in Jesus’ name in Greek is 888 (I-10, E-8, S-200, O-70, U-400, S-200 = 888)—the perfect Man, God manifested in the flesh (V). • Christ was selected as the Passover Lamb on the 10th day of the first month, a weekly Sabbath (John 12:28-29). He was crucified on the 14th day (7 + 7, or double completeness) which was also the 4th day of the week. He was in the tomb exactly 3 days and 3 nights. He was resurrected toward the end of the next weekly Sabbath, the 17th (the number of victory). The 17th was also the 8th day when counted inclusively from the 10th day, the day of His selection. Thus, the confluence of these numbers shows Jesus’ perfect sacrifice and His total victory over death (C). • Boys were to be circumcised on the 8th day (V). • Eight symbolizes circumcision of the heart through Christ and the receiving of the Holy Spirit (Rom. 2:28-29; Col. 2:11-13).
Chapter Two

- Those in Christ are becoming a new creation (8), with godly character being created by the power of God’s Spirit (II Cor. 5:17; Eph. 2:10; 4:23-24). • After the 7 weeks of the spring harvest, the next day—the 50th day—is Pentecost (7 x 7 + 1 = 50). This day is also the “8th day after the 7th week.” As such, this 8th/50th day pictures the first resurrection, the day Christians are “born again” from flesh to spirit (I Cor. 15:20-23, 35-55; John 3:3-12; Rev. 14:14-16; 20:4-6). • After the 7 days of the Feast of Tabernacles, there is an 8th day—the Last Great Day (C). • There were 8 writers of the New Testament, who wrote of Jesus’ life, death and resurrection (V). • The Scriptures were written by 40 different individuals; 40 is 5 (grace) times 8 (a new beginning). By the grace of God mankind has the opportunity for a new beginning—as expounded through the Word of God (C).

Number 9: Used 49 times; pictures finality or divine completeness from the Lord. • Jesus died at the 9th hour, the completion of His physical life. His death was the beginning of the finishing of sin and Satan. • As 8 symbolizes circumcision of the heart and the receiving of the Holy Spirit, 9 signifies the fruits of the Holy Spirit. (Gal. 5:22-23) (V).

Number 10: Ten is used 242 times, and “10th” is used 79 times. A historically significant number, 10 signifies testimony, law and responsibility. Ten is also viewed as a complete number, as is 3, 7 and 12. • Ten is made up of 4, the number of the physical creation, and 6, the number of man. • In Genesis 1 we find “God said” 10 times—the testimony of God concerning His creative power. • God gave the 10 Commandments to man. • Ten is the number for law and man’s responsibility to keep the commandments of God. • A tithe is a 10th of our earnings and is a testimony of our faith in the Lord (V). • The Passover lamb was selected on the 10th day of the 1st month (Ex. 12:3), as was Jesus, our Passover Lamb (John 12:28-29; I Cor. 5:7). • The 10th day of the 7th month is the Day of Atonement for the children of Israel, when they received atonement for their sins. Prophetically, the day pictures the removal of Satan, the author of sin, before the millennial reign of Christ begins (Rev. 20:1-2) (C). • The last great world-ruling kingdom of man under Satan is symbolized by the 10 toes of Daniel 2 and the 10 horns of Revelation 13 and 17 (V).

Number 11: Signifies disorder and judgment. Used 24 times; “11th” is used 19 times. Coming after 10 (law and responsibility), 11 represents the opposite—the irresponsibility of breaking the Law, which brings disorder and judgment (V). • In Genesis 11, men rebelled against God and built the tower of Babel. God judged them by confusing their language, resulting in chaos (C). • In the 11th year of Zedekiah, the last king of Judah, God executed His final judgment against Judah with the complete destruction of Jerusalem and the temple and the exile of the remaining Jews to Babylon. • The apostle John saw 11 things in connection with the final judgment of Revelation 20:12-14 (V).

Number 12: Represents divine authority and appointment, as well as governmental foundation and perfection; showing completeness. Used as a signature of Israel. Twelve is found 187 times and is used 22 times in Revelation. Truth is symbolized by 144, or 12 x 12. • There are 12 divisions of heaven called the Mazzaroth, which God uses for signs and seasons. The testimony of the stars is numerically in harmony with the Bible: “The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament shows His handiwork” (Psa. 19:1). • There were 12 sons of Jacob, whose families formed the 12 tribes of Israel with 12 princes; there were also 12 princes of Ishmael. • The high priest’s breastplate, used for judgment, had 12 stones representing the 12 tribes. • The “showbread” consisted of 12 loaves. • During the period of the judges, 12 judges judged Israel. • Solomon appointed 12 officers over Israel (V). • At age 12, Jesus appeared at the temple. • Jesus ordained 12 apostles, who were sent with authority to preach the Gospel and to be witnesses of His resurrection. After His resurrection, Jesus told the apostles that He had been given all authority in heaven and earth—the divine authority of God. • During the tribulation, 12,000 from each of the 12 tribes of Israel are saved, totaling 144,000 (Rev. 7). A second 144,000 are gathered from the earth to serve the Lamb and follow Him (Rev. 14:1-5) (C). • The bride of Christ is pictured with a crown of 12 stars (Rev. 12:1). • The New Jerusalem has 12 gates of pearls, 12 angels at the gates and the names of the 12 tribes of Israel over the gates. The wall of the city has 12 foundations of precious stones; in them are the names of the 12 apostles. The wall is 144 cubits high (12 x 12). The city is 12,000 furlongs (1500 miles) square (V).

Number 13: Associated with rebellion and depravity. Used 15 times in the Bible. • All the names of Satan are divisible by 13. • Nimrod, the chief rebel after the flood, was the 13th in the line of Ham. In their 13th year of servitude, the kings of the nations rebelled (Gen. 14:4). • Twelve represents the government of God and 13 represents the governments of men in rebellion against God. • Moses wrote of Israel’s 21 rebellions in Deuteronomy 31:27: “For I know your rebellion and your stiff neck. Behold, while I am still alive with you today, you have been rebellious against the LORD…” (V). When this scriptural reference is added across (3 + 1 + 2 + 7), you get 13, the number of rebellion (C). • Haman the Agagite had a decree signed on the 13th day of the first month that on the 13th day of the 12th month all Jews in the Persian Empire were to be killed. (Esther 3:8-13). • Dragon, a symbol for Satan, is found 13 times in Revelation. Satan is behind all rebellion against God. • Jesus mentions 13 things that are in the hearts of the depraved and rebellious (Mark 7: 21-22). In Romans 1, Paul lists 23 things against sinful men; the 13th is haters of God (V).

Number 14: Represents deliverance or salvation, is used 22 times; “14th” is found 24 times (V). • The 14th day of the first month is the Passover—when God delivered the firstborn of Israel from death. • Some 430 years earlier, on the night of the 14th day of the first month, God made two covenant promises to Abraham—one of the physical seed, Isaac, and his descendants, and one of the spiritual seed, Jesus Christ, and the sons of God who would come through Him, who would shine like the stars of heaven (Matt. 13:43). On the day portion of the 14th, God confirmed the promises with a special covenant sacrifice (Gen. 15:1-11). • On the 14th day of the first month, the Passover day in 30 AD, Jesus Christ, God manifested in the flesh, the only begotten Son of God the Father, and the Lamb of God to take away the sin of the world, was crucified as the perfect sacrifice to save mankind from sin. Jesus’ death on the Passover completed His ministry in the flesh. Seven is the number of completion—thus 7 + 7 = 14, indicating a double completion: 1) His ministry in the flesh was completed; and 2) His sacrifice ended or fulfilled the need for animal sacrifices (C).

Number 15: Pictures rest, which comes after deliverance, number 14. • The 15th day of the first month is the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, a day of rest for the children of Israel. The 15th day of the 7th month begins the Feast of Tabernacles, also a day of rest (V). • God delivered Israel’s firstborn from death on the 14th; then, at the beginning of the 15th day at sunset, the children of Israel began to leave Egypt by night. This night is called “The Night to Be Much Observed Unto the Lord” (Ex. 12:40-42; Num. 33:3; Deut. 16:1). • On this same day 430 years earlier, after the sun had gone down ending the 14th, God told Abraham in a vision that his descendants through Isaac would end up as slaves in a foreign country—but that He would release them from this bondage after 400 years (Gen. 15:12-16). Exactly 430 years later—on the same night—this prophecy was fulfilled as the children of Israel left Egypt on the 15th day of the first month (Ex. 12:40-41). • On the same night—in order to guarantee His covenant promises to Abraham—the Lord passed between the parts of sacrificial animals, as evidenced by a burning lamp and a smoking furnace, which wholly consumed the sacrifices (Gen. 15:17-20). In performing this ceremony, God was pledging His future death as the perfect sacrifice for the sins of the world—guaranteeing the future “rest” from sin for all who inherit eternal life. • On this same day—the 15th day of the first month in 30 AD, as the sun was setting to end the 14th—Jesus’ body was placed in the tomb. Thus, Jesus began His three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. • For Christians, the 15th day of the first month, the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, pictures rest from their sins, having had them removed by Christ’s shed blood on the 14th. • The 15th day of the 7th month begins the Feast of Tabernacles. For the children of Israel, it pictured rest from the long harvest season. They were to dwell in booths in remembrance of their trek in the wilderness. • Prophetically, the 15th day of the 7th month pictures the coming Millennium when the world will have rest from sin because of the binding of Satan on the Day of Atonement. Under Christ’s reign, salvation will then be offered to all the world—the great spiritual harvest of God for 1,000 years (C).

Number 16: Symbolizes love. • There are 16 names of God in the Old Testament that signify His steadfast love for the children of Israel (V). • The converted believer is to become perfected in the love of God and in showing love toward others (Matt. 22:37-41). This duality of spiritual love is signified by $8 + 8 = 16$. • In I Corinthians 13:4-8, Paul says 16 things about the quality of love. The 16th time the word “love” is used in I John it says, “perfect love casts out fear” (I John 4:18) (C).

Number 17: Signifies “vanquishing the enemy” and “complete victory in Christ.” • During the days of Noah, God vanquished rebellious mankind by the flood which He began on the 17th day of the 2nd month. The ark came to rest on the 17th day of the 7th month (V). • Jesus was victorious over death when God raised Him from the dead on the 17th day of the first month. • The 17th time love is mentioned in I Corinthians 13, it says, “[The] greatest of [all] is LOVE” (verse 13). Hence, the love of God (John 3:16) is victorious in all things. True believers will be victorious over death at the resurrection (1 Cor. 15:54-55). • The beasts of Daniel 7 have 7 heads and 10 horns, totaling 17. The beasts symbolize world-ruling kingdoms from Daniel’s time to the return of Christ—kingdoms which reign victoriously over the nations that reject God’s rule. Revelation 13:1-8 depicts Satan’s end-time system as having 7 heads and 10 horns, again totaling 17. The whole world will worship Satan and the Beast, and no one will be able to make war against him (v. 4, 8); he will make war against the saints (v. 7) and have a temporary victory over them. The saints will ultimately be victorious over the Beast when God raises them from the dead at the first resurrection (Rev. 15:2; 20:4).

• On the 10th day of the 7th month, the Day of Atonement, Satan is bound (Rev. 20:1-3). Thus, 10 + 7 = 17, depicting Jesus Christ vanquishing Satan (C).

Number 18: Stands for bondage. • The children of Israel were in bondage twice to their enemies for 18 years ( Judges 3:14; 10:7-8). • Jesus healed a woman whom Satan had bound for 18 years (Luke 13:16). • Stephen spoke of Israel’s enslavement by the Egyptians as bondage (Acts 7:6). This particular bondage is mentioned 18 times. The 10th time is in Exodus 20:2, in the context of the first commandment. After the word “bondage,” God commands the children of Israel: “You shall have no other gods before Me” (V). • Serving other gods places people into spiritual bondage under Satan and his demons, which God punishes with physical bondage (Judges 2:10-15) (C).

Number 21: Pictures the exceeding wickedness of sin. There were 21 major rebellions by the children of Israel during their wilderness journey. Thirteen, the depravity of sin and rebellion, and 21 are closely associated; 21 is the outgrowth of 13 and pictures the fruit of that nature (V). • “Rebellion and depravity” (13) plus a “new beginning” (8) equals 21, portraying one’s “new beginning” into the depths of satanic depravity. • In II Timothy 3:2-5, Paul writes of 21 sins which show the exceeding wickedness of self and sin. • On the 21st day of the first month, the last day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, God executed His final judgment against Pharaoh and his armies—the symbol of the exceeding wickedness of sin. • The 21st day of the 7th month, the last day of the Feast of Tabernacles, portrays the end of the Millennium when Satan and the demons are temporarily loosed. Immediately they lead people into war and rebellion. Then God executes His final judgment against Satan and his demons—the ultimate in the exceeding wickedness of sin (Rev. 20:10) (C).

Number 22: The Hebrew alphabet is made up of 22 letters—which are used to compose the Word of God. The Bible is called a lamp (Psa. 119:105; Prov. 6:22), thus it is the light by which we are to live. • The word light is found 264 times in the Bible; when divided by 12 (divine authority) we have 22, the number of light (V). • God created 22 things in the six days of creation. There are 22 books in the Aaronic/Levitical Old Testament—the light of God for Israel (C). • From Adam to Jacob are 22 generations. When Moses raised up the tabernacle of God, the number of Levites consecrated to serve was exactly 22,000. • Light is used 22 times in the Gospel of John (V). The 22nd time John uses the word, he quotes Jesus: “I have come as a light into the world so that everyone who believes in Me may not remain in darkness” (John 12:46) (C). • Christians are to walk in the light of Christ (John 3:21), and be the light of the world (Matt. 5:14-15) (V). • Paul’s Epistle to the Hebrews, written to Greek-speaking Jews and Gentiles, is the 22nd book of the New Testament (C).

Number 24: Associated with the priesthood. There were 24 courses of priests and singers at the temple. Around God’s heavenly throne are 24 elders, each wearing crowns and sitting on thrones, who apparently assist God in the governing of the universe (C). • Psalm 72 lists 24 things that Jesus Christ—as High Priest after the order of Melchizedek—will do when He sits upon His throne and rules as King and Priest during the Millennium (V).

Number 25: Pictures “grace upon grace.” Redemption (20) plus grace (5) equals 25 or “grace upon grace” (also 5 x 5 = 25). Levites were to begin serving at age 25 in assisting with sacrifices—which were a physical type of forgiveness and redemption for the people (V).

Number 30: Pictures dedication. Aaronic priests were dedicated to serve at age 30. John the Baptist, the son of a priest, began his ministry at age 30, six months before Jesus began His at age 30. • Thirty also portrays the blood of Christ. Judas betrayed Jesus for 30 pieces of silver. When he threw the silver back into the temple, the priests said: “It is not lawful to put them [the 30 pieces of silver] into the treasury, since it is the price of blood” (Matt. 27:6). The money was used to buy a field that was called the “Field of Blood” (v. 8) (V). • On the Passover day in 30 AD Jesus Christ shed His blood and died on the cross—the blood of the Lamb to take away the sin of the world (C).

Number 33: Connected to promise. The 33rd time Noah’s name is used, God promised to never again destroy the world with a flood and sealed His promise with the sign of the rainbow. • The 33rd time Abraham’s name is used, Isaac—the child of promise—was born (Gen. 21). • The 33rd time

Jacob’s name is mentioned, he promised to give a tenth of all to God. • At age 33, Jesus died on the cross to fulfill all the promises concerning the Messiah—(C).

Number 34 may relate to naming a son; the 34th time Abraham’s name is mentioned is when he named Isaac (V).

Number 40: Mentioned 146 times, 40 points to trial and testing, or probation. Trial and testing: Christ was tempted of the Devil 40 days and 40 nights. • Jesus was seen 40 days by His disciples after His resurrection. • It was 40 years from the crucifixion of Jesus until the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in 70 AD. • Moses was 40 years in Egypt, 40 years in the desert, and 40 years in the wilderness leading the children of Israel. • Moses was on Mount Sinai twice with God for 40 days and 40 nights receiving the Law. • Twelve spies investigated the Promised Land for 40 days. • Elijah was 40 days at Mount Horeb. • Jonah preached that judgment was to come to Nineveh in 40 days. • Ezekiel laid on His right side for 40 days symbolizing Judah’s sins (V). PROSPERITY and probation: 40 years under Othniel • 40 years under Barak • 40 years under Gideon • 40 years under David • 40 years under Solomon • 40 years under Jeroboam II • 40 years under Jehoash • 40 years under Joash (V). The Bible was written by 40 different people—and 40 pictures probation. Christians are under judgment now—under probation—based on how they live by every word of God (C).

Number 50: Used 154 times. The 50th year is the Jubilee, the year of release and redemption. • Fifty is also connected with the coming of the Holy Spirit (V). • On the Wave Sheaf Offering Day (Lev. 23:9-11), Jesus ascended to heaven for the first time, to be accepted by the Father as the first of the firstfruits. Beginning with that day, there is a 50-day count to Pentecost, the Feast of Firstfruits, when the Holy Spirit was first poured out upon the Church—the firstfruits of the spiritual harvest (C). • God the Father did not send the Holy Spirit until Christ, as the new High Priest, placed His blood (30) on the altar of atonement (20)—which equals 50 and points to Pentecost (V). • Pentecost is also the 8th day of the 7th week in the 7-week count to Pentecost; it is also the first day of the 8th week. As such, 8 (new birth) and 50 (the day/year of redemption) picture the first resurrection of all who are Christ’s at His coming—the day they are “born again” from flesh to spirit (I Cor. 15:20-23, 35-55; John 3:3-12; Rev. 14:14-16; 20:4-6) (C).

By any measurement (no pun intended), the numbers outlined in this brief summary barely scratch the surface of biblical numerics. Even after translating the Bible and dividing it into chapters and verses, the biblical numerics have not been lost. In fact, God’s guiding hand is evident in the way the Bible is divided up into chapters and verses. For example, the reader is encouraged to do a study of all the places in the New Testament where a chapter three and a verse 16 are found (following the well-known John 3:16). You’ll find that each of these “3:16” verses tells a revealing spiritual story. Advocates of biblical numerics have also found astounding patterns in the number and frequency of certain Hebrew and Greek words—which is additional proof that God inspired not only every word of the Bible, but the arrangement of the books in their original autographs as well.

God’s Sevenfold Division of the Bible

As we have seen, there are 49 books (7 x 7) in the Bible in its original order—22 for the Old Testament and 27 for the New Testament. However, there is yet another pattern of seven that God has used for the overall framework of the Scriptures—the sevenfold division of the Bible—symbolizing the highest degree of completeness or perfection. The seven divisions of the Bible are: 1) the Law, 2) the Prophets, 3) the Writings 4) the Gospels and Acts, 5) the seven General Epistles, 6) the Epistles of Paul, and 7) the book of Revelation. Furthermore, within each of the seven divisions are additional numerical patterns that further confirm the inspiration of God.

The Three Divisions of the Old Testament

The first three divisions of the Bible comprise the Old Testament—the Law, the Prophets and the Writings. Three signifies completion, but to a lesser degree than seven. The 22 books of the Old Testament are formed in two patterns of five and six. There are five books in the Law, followed by six books of the Prophets, making a total of eleven. These are followed by the eleven books of the Writings, which is the sum of five and six. Since two is the number of union and verification, these two patterns of five and six portray the unity of God’s dual witness to the children of Israel and mankind through the Old Testament. As we will see, additional subdivisions can be found within the overall three-fold structure of the Old Testament.

The First Division—the Law: Genesis, the first book of the Law, is the foundation for the entire Bible. It gives the account of God’s creation of the heavens and earth, Adam and Eve, their sin and fall by disobeying God—as well as the lawless civilization formed by their descendants that resulted in the destruction of all flesh by the flood in the days of Noah. Following the flood, the earth was replenished with the animals Noah released from the ark, and human life resumed from Noah’s three sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth, and their wives. In Genesis 12, God called one man, Abram, whom He later renamed Abraham. Because of Abraham’s faith, love and obedience to God, He specially blessed him and his son Isaac, and Isaac’s son Jacob. All the rest of the Bible and the plan of God—physically and spiritually, from Genesis to Revelation—flows from these faithful patriarchs, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and their descendants. All histories and prophecies of the Old Testament point toward the central figure of the Bible: Jesus Christ—Who was the God of the Old Testament before He was Jesus Christ of the New Testament, God manifested in the flesh. Indeed, in Genesis 3:15, the first prophecy of the Bible was spoken by God Himself after Adam and Eve sinned, paving the way for a Savior to come and redeem mankind from sin and Satan.

The Law contains five books. Five symbolizes God’s graciousness and goodness toward the children of Israel in giving them His laws, commandments, statutes, judgments and testimonies contained in the Law. Moses testified to the children of Israel concerning the greatness of God’s Law and the covenant that He made with them: “Behold, I have taught you statutes and judgments, even as the LORD my God commanded me, so that you should do so in the land where you go to possess it. And you shall keep and do them, for this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations, which shall hear all these statutes and say, ‘Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.’ For what nation is so great whose God is so near to them, as the LORD our God is whenever we call upon Him?” (Deut. 4:5-7). The Law describes five major prophecies of the coming Savior: Gen. 3:15; 15; 22; 49:10; Deut. 18:15-20.

The Second Division—the Prophets: There are three sections within the Prophets—again, a number of completeness. The first is called the Former Prophets and has two parts: 1) Joshua/Judges, counted as one book; and 2) the Book of the Kingdoms, made up of I & II Samuel and I & II Kings—also reckoned as one book.

The second section of the Prophets is called the Latter Prophets and is composed of three books: Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. These three are also called the Major Prophets.

The third section is designated as The Twelve—because it contains twelve short books from twelve different prophets of God. They are also referred to as the Minor Prophets—not because they contain “minor or insignificant” prophecies, but because they are smaller in size (combined, they are two-thirds the size of Isaiah).

The second and third sections of the Prophets are filled with major prophecies regarding the coming Messiah, Jesus Christ, and the world-ruling kingdom He will establish when He returns. However, a majority of these prophecies cannot be properly interpreted without the New Testament.

The Third Division—the Writings: These eleven books are divided into three sections of three, five and three books respectively. The first section contains Psalms, Proverbs and Job. These books were to be read—or sung, in the case of the Psalms—“at the portal of the men’s portion of the court of the Israelites … near the priestly section of the Temple. The Psalms were written by kings, for kings, or by and for priestly rulers” (Ernest Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 129). The books of Proverbs and Job were intended as well to be read and studied by leaders and rulers.

The second section of the Writings contains five books and is called in Hebrew the Megillot; they are also known as the Festival Books. There is a feminine aspect to three of these books: 1) the Song of Songs, by Solomon, is a deeply romantic book symbolizing the marital bond between husband and wife and has numerous prophecies that relate to Christ and His Bride, the Church; 2) Ruth; and 3) Esther. The priests at the temple and rabbis in the synagogues were to read one specific book during each of the five annual festivals. Three were read during the commanded festival seasons of the Lord: 1) the Song of Songs at Passover/Unleavened Bread; 2) Ruth at Pentecost; and 3) Ecclesiastes at the Feast of Tabernacles. The other two were read at feasts instituted by the Jews: 4) Lamentations was to be read each year on the 9th of Ab, which was the eve of the destruction of the temple in 586 BC and again in 70 AD. (It is ironic that, in 70 AD, as priests were reading Lamentations in the temple commemorating its destruction by Nebuchadnezzar, the Roman armies were beginning their assault into the temple grounds.) And, 5) the Book of Esther was read during the feast of Purim on the 14th and 15th of Adar to celebrate God’s deliverance of the Jews from genocide under Persian rule.

The third section of the Writings contains three books—Daniel, Ezra/Nehemiah (counted as one book) and the Book of Chronicles (I and II Chronicles are also reckoned as one book). The Book of Daniel—although it contains important prophecies from Daniel’s time to the end of the age and Christ’s return—is not included in the Major or Minor Prophets because Daniel wrote in Babylon during the Jews’ 70-year exile. Ezra/Nehemiah recounts the return of the Jews from Babylon and the rebuilding of Jerusalem and the temple. To finalize the Old Testament, Ezra wrote the Book of Chronicles which contains the history of the kings of Judah, of the house of David. A similar history was written before the captivity in the Book of the Kingdoms, which included the northern ten tribes of Israel and their kings. However, Ezra’s focus was on the kings of Judah, Jerusalem and the temple. His accounts in the Book of Chronicles includes information not found in the Book of the Kingdoms.

Other Required Times for Reading the Old Testament: God commanded Moses that all five books of the Law were to be read at the end of every seventh year, the year of release, at the Feast of Tabernacles (Deut. 31:9-13). As the Old Testament was being canonized, any recently added books or psalms were likewise to be read during the year and at the festivals.

When God gave the plans for the temple to King David, He also gave him instructions for the divisions of the priests to serve at the temple. The serving priests were divided into 24 courses or shifts (I Chron. 24). Each course would serve one week, from noon Sabbath to noon Sabbath, twice in a year. All courses would work during Passover/Unleavened Bread, Pentecost and the Feast of Tabernacles. The singing Levites were also divided into 24 courses and served in a similar manner. Certain portions of the Law and the Prophets were assigned to be read aloud, and certain portions of the Psalms were to be sung as a part of worship services at the temple.

After the Jews returned to Judea and Jerusalem from their Babylonian exile, Ezra and the Great Assembly, or synagogue of priests and Levites finalized the canon of the Old Testament. They also established a set pattern of required readings from the Law, Prophets and Writings at the temple, and in all Jewish synagogues throughout Judea and the Diaspora. These required readings were known as the Triennial (or three-year) Cycle. The cycle of reciting Scripture and singing Psalms began with the first month of the year. A combination of designated sections from the Law, Prophets and Writings was to be read every Sabbath and during the festival seasons as they progressed through the Triennial Cycle—until the entire Old Testament had been read to the people. This cycle was to be repeated every three years (Jewish Encyclopedia (1912), vol. XII, “Triennial Cycle,” pp. 255-256).

The Complete Old Testament: With the completion of the Old Testament, we have the Word of God given to Moses, the prophets and those who authored the Writings. These first three divisions of the Bible are founded on the patriarchal covenant God made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—and on the covenant He established with Israel. All the books of the Old Testament look back to Moses, the Law and the patriarchs, while at the same time they look forward to the coming Messiah, the Savior of Israel and the world, and the establishment of the Kingdom of God on earth. Indeed, while the Old Testament was finished with Ezra’s canonization, throughout its writings God also showed that more was to come—the completion of the Law and the Word of God through Jesus Christ and his chosen apostles in the form of the New Testament and the New Covenant of eternal life.

The Four Divisions of the New Testament

Both the Old and the New Testaments are needed to complete the Word of God. Combined, they represent God’s full revelation to mankind. The Old Testament is comparable to a set of locks, and the New Testament is comparable to a set of matching keys. It is evident that locks without matching keys are of little value; conversely, keys without matching locks present a problem as well. Obviously, both testaments have great spiritual value—and both are required if men are to grasp the glorious, spiritual treasures buried within God’s Word. Unfortunately, some religions reject one Testament while accepting the other. Witness the hostility of Judaism toward the New Testament, and Orthodox Christendom’s surreptitious resentment of the Old Testament.

After His resurrection, Jesus explained to the apostles that His life and teachings—which were to become the basis of the New Testament—were the very keys needed to unlock Old Testament prophecy. “And He said to them, ‘These are the words that I spoke to you when I was yet with you, that all the things which were written concerning Me in the Law of Moses and in the Prophets and in the Psalms must be fulfilled.’ Then He opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, and said to them, ‘According as it is written, it was necessary for the Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day. And in His name, repentance and remission of sins should be preached to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. For you are witnesses of these things’’ (Luke 24:44-48).

In Jesus’ validation of the Scriptures, He confirmed the three divisions of the Old Testament, which Judaism also accepts. However, if Judaism and Orthodox Christianity fully accepted the seven-fold design of the Bible in its original order—Old and New Testaments—they would have both the locks and the keys necessary to open the doors of God’s Word.

To further establish the interlocking relationship between the Testaments, the New Testament writers authoritatively quote the Old Testament a total of 326 times. Almost half, or 158, of these quotes are found in the Gospels and Acts alone. When these direct quotes are combined with other allusions to the Old Testament, fully one-third of the New Testament functions as an “extension” of the Old Testament. Clearly, the New Testament is built squarely upon the foundation of the Old.

Just as a house is built upon its foundation, Christ “built” His spiritual teachings of the Kingdom of God on the foundation of the Law and the Prophets. Jesus’ teachings, prophecies and interpretations hold a greater final authority because He—as God manifested in the flesh—personally taught them. As Jesus said, “The Law and the Prophets were until John; from that time the kingdom of God is preached, and everyone zealously strives to enter it. But it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one tittle of the law to fail” (Luke 16:16-17). Therefore, the New Testament, though it is built on the foundation of the Old, is greater because it elevates all the teachings of God to a higher spiritual level (Matt. 5-7).

Jesus also told His disciples that His teachings would demystify prophecies, increase spiritual understanding and enhance the knowledge of the Kingdom of God in ways the prophets and righteous men of old could never experience. Jesus said to His disciples, “Because it has been given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them [those who do not believe the Bible] it has not been given. For whoever has understanding, to him more shall be given, and he shall have an abundance; but whoever does not have understanding, even what he has shall be taken away from him…. But blessed are your eyes, because they see; and your ears, because they hear. For truly I say to you, many prophets and righteous men have desired to see what you see, and have not seen; and to hear what you hear, and have not heard...things hidden from the foundation of the world” (Matt. 13:11-12, 16-17, 35).

In writing to the Colossians, the apostle Paul amplified what Jesus said: “Even the mystery that has been hidden from ages and from generations, but has now been revealed to His saints; to whom God did will to make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col. 1:26). Likewise, he wrote to the Ephesians that they too would be able to comprehend the mystery of Christ “which in other generations was not made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed to His holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit; that the Gentiles might be joint heirs, and a joint body, and joint partakers of His promise in Christ through the gospel” (Eph. 3:4-6).

Therefore, the New Testament’s teachings of the spirit of the Law became superior to the Old Testament’s teachings of the letter of the Law. In addition, because the New Testament has the keys needed to unlock and interpret the Old Testament and its prophecies, it is the greater. However, this does not mean that the Law or the Prophets have in any way been abolished or diminished. (See Appendix I, “A Comparison Between the Old and New Covenants.”)

The Fourth Division—The Four Gospels and Acts: The fourth or “middle” division of the Bible is the central focus of Scripture—the life and teachings of Jesus Christ. It is also the first division of the New Testament. As such, it is comparable to the first division of the Old Testament, the Law—also called the Pentateuch. Just as the Pentateuch has five books, the four Gospels and Acts make up a five-book “spiritual Pentateuch.” And, just as the Pentateuch defines the letter of God’s laws and commandments, Christ’s teachings in the “spiritual Pentateuch” magnify and glorify the Law in order to bring out its spiritual meaning and intent (Isa. 42:21).

Each Gospel account contributes important details needed to form a complete picture of the life and teachings of Jesus. With their many similarities and parallel accounts, the synoptic Gospels, Matthew, Mark and Luke, fulfill God’s requirement that a matter be established on the testimony of two or three witnesses. The fourth Gospel, John, is considered the most spiritual; its structure follows the sequence of the biblical festival seasons during Jesus’ ministry. Acts begins with Jesus’ final ascension to heaven in 30 AD and abruptly ends with the apostle Paul in prison in Rome in 63 AD.
Matthew: As God used priests and Levites to write much of the Old Testament, He used a Levite, the apostle Matthew, to write the first book of the New Testament—thereby establishing the New Testament as an extension and fulfillment of the Old Testament. Matthew begins his Gospel with “the genealogy of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham,” which is an extension of Ezra’s genealogy in the last book of the Old Testament, the Book of Chronicles. Matthew quotes the Old Testament 56 times to prove that Jesus’ ministry and teachings were prophesied.

Mark: While Mark was not an apostle, he was the apostle Peter’s amanuensis, or secretary. “The ancient testimony of Papias, in the early second century, that Mark was the secretary of the apostle Peter (not an actual eyewitness himself [of all of Jesus’ ministry]) has good credentials, and the internal evidence of the Gospel itself … [is] that the Gospel of Mark is really the Gospel of Peter” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 335-336). There are 26 quotes from the Old Testament in the short Gospel of Mark.

Luke: Like Mark, Luke was not an apostle or an eyewitness of Jesus’ ministry. He was a Greek physician who was converted in Antioch, the apostle Paul’s headquarters Church. Luke accompanied Paul on his journeys and became his secretary. (From the Greek text, it is evident that Paul dictated many of his Epistles to Luke.) Because Luke wrote under Paul’s supervision, the Gospel of Luke could very well be called the “Gospel of Paul.” In the opening verses of his Gospel, Luke informs us that he gathered his information from other written eyewitness accounts. It is also apparent that he interviewed such eyewitnesses. He quotes the Old Testament 25 times in his Gospel account.

John: Known as the apostle whom Jesus specially loved, John was also the apostle of belief, faith and love—all themes of his writings. At the beginning of his Gospel, he wrote of Jesus’ pre-existence as God, Who shared glory with the Father. As one of the leading apostles, John and his brother James, along with Peter, were the only apostles to see the vision of Jesus’ transfiguration. As the longest lived apostle, John was the last to finalize his Gospel—perhaps some time before he wrote Revelation and canonized the New Testament (with the help of Phillip, Andrew and Mark). John undoubtedly placed his Gospel after Luke’s as a confirmation and endorsement of the synoptic Gospels. Furthermore, John’s Gospel was affirmed by the three mentioned helpers as recorded in John 21:24: “This is the disciple who testifies concerning these things and who wrote these things; and we know that his testimony is true.”

The Book of Acts: Luke accompanied Paul on his travels and was an eyewitness to most of his ministry—and clearly wrote Acts under Paul’s supervision. As a continuation of Luke’s Gospel, Acts is a historical account of the apostles’ early travels and teachings. However, from Chapter 13 to the end of the book, it is a history of Paul’s journeys and his preaching of the Gospel. Of this Martin writes: “The first [four] books account for the period when Christ taught in the flesh (both before and after His resurrection) and the fifth book [Acts] occupies the period from the conclusion of His earthly teachings (Acts 1:4-11) and continues with the progression of that teaching (now directed [by Jesus] from heaven) until it reached the city of Rome…. ‘The whole purpose of the Book of Acts … is no less than to be the Gospel of the Holy Spirit’ ” (Ibid., p. 332).

Thus, Acts rightly belongs in the fourth division of the Bible as a part of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. In accordance with God’s design, there are five books in the Old Testament Pentateuch, and there are five books in the “New Testament Pentateuch.” Five is the number of grace, and the Gospel of Jesus Christ is called “the gospel of the grace of God” in Acts 20:24. Finally, there are 35 quotes from the Old Testament in the book of Acts—making a total of 158 Old Testament quotes in the fourth division of the Bible.

The Fifth Division—The Seven General Epistles: The correct order of the seven General Epistles is: James; I and II Peter; I, II and III John; and Jude. Their proper position is immediately after Acts and before the fourteen Epistles of Paul. There are five important reasons for this arrangement: 1) It is based on the principle that the Gospel was to be preached to Jews first, then to Gentiles (Rom. 1:16). 2) Three of the four who wrote the General Epistles were apostles before Paul was ordained an apostle. 3) Rather than being written to individuals or particular congregations, these were General Epistles written to Christian Jews spread abroad in the Diaspora (though they were not intended to exclude Gentiles). 4) They all uphold the believer’s faith, hope and belief in Christ, the love of God and of the brethren, as well as commandment-keeping being a requirement for salvation, which truly reflects a person’s inner faith. 5) They provided the proper foundation to fully understand Paul’s often-difficult doctrinal Epistles.

Martin further explains the placement of the General Epistles: “The principle of rank and subject is the reason that the Epistle of James must precede that of Peter, and Peter those of John and that of Jude. Professor Scott [writes:] ’In keeping with this principle [of superior rank], the first place of all was accorded to the Epistle of James.’ This is true enough. Even Paul recognized the rank of the pillar apostles in this fashion, ‘And when James, Cephas [Peter], and John who seemed to be pillars...’ (Galatians 2:9). The order of these ‘pillar’ apostles is exactly in conformity to the principle of rank. Is it no wonder that the General Epistles follow this exact order in the New Testament canon.... Notice once again the authors of the seven General Epistles. James and Jude were legal brothers of Christ. This makes James and Jude of royal Davidic stock. Since the book of Acts ends with the teaching of the Jews in Rome about the Kingdom of God, the very next section of the New Testament is dominated by James and Jude (two royal scions of David) who carry on the theme of entering the Kingdom of God [James is the first writer of the seven Epistles and Jude is the last]. Both Peter and John take inferior roles in this regard. Peter was actually from ordinary Jewish stock ... while John was of priestly ancestry. Though Peter was clearly the top apostle in rank, James (the brother of Jesus) was of Davidic blood and he became head of the Jerusalem congregation. These men (James and Jude) were the top representatives of the Davidic dynasty, Peter was the ‘top apostle,’ and John was part of the Aaronic priesthood” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 352-353).

There are 20 quotations from the Old Testament within this fifth division of the Bible. For additional commentary on the placements and themes of the seven General Epistles, see “The Original Placement of the General Epistles in the New Testament,” beginning on page 1120.

The Sixth Division—The Epistles of Paul: There are also five important reasons why Paul’s fourteen Epistles are placed after the General Epistles: 1) The seven General Epistles contain only general teachings. 2) Christ called Paul last of all. 3) Though he first went to the scattered Jews in the Diaspora, Paul was the apostle to the Gentiles. 4) Paul was from the least tribe of Israel—Benjamin. 5) Paul was the last apostle to be ordained. That Paul understood all of this is obvious. Paul writes: “He [Jesus] appeared to Cephas, and then to the twelve. Then He appeared to over five hundred brethren at one time, of whom the greater part are alive until now, but some have fallen asleep. Next He appeared to James; then to all the apostles; and last of all He appeared to me also, as one who was born of a miscarriage. For I am the least of the apostles, and am not fit even to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God. But by the grace of God I am what I am, and His grace toward me has not been in vain; rather, I have labored more abundantly than all of them; however, it was not I, but the grace of God with me” (I Cor. 15:5-10).

Martin comments on Paul’s ancestry: “Though he was a Jew by religion [Judaism] and upbringing, Paul was a descendant of the Tribe of Benjamin. This may appear at first to be an insignificant distinction; but to first-century Jews, among whom genealogical matters were of utmost importance (I Timothy 1:4; Titus 3:9), it had a bearing on authority and prestige. The fact is, Benjamin was the last born of Jacob’s sons. There was no tribe in Israel on a lower rung of authority by reason of birth. Even in the list of the twelve tribes recorded in the Book of Revelation, Judah is placed first (Revelation 7:5) and Benjamin last (verse 8)” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 353).

This follows a pattern that God has often used—wherein “the last shall be first.” Many major biblical characters were youngest sons—Abel, Jacob, Joseph, Ephraim, David, etc. Moses was younger than Aaron but greater in authority (Ibid., p. 353). Likewise, Paul—the last and the least of the apostles—was perhaps the hardest working and most productive of all, as evidenced by his fourteen Epistles and his extensive travels.

Interestingly, there are biblical numerics connected with Paul’s Epistles, showing the handiwork of God. Paul wrote fourteen Epistles—the number of deliverance and redemption; fourteen is seven (completion) doubled—picturing the twofold completeness of his Epistles. In addition, these are divided into three subsections (three also being a number of completion). The first is made up of nine (3 x 3) epistles written to seven churches—Rome, Corinth (twice), Galatia, Ephesus, Philippi, Colosse, and twice to Thessalonica. The second is the general Epistle to the Hebrews, which was written for all the churches—Jews and Gentiles. The final subsection consists of four Pastoral Epistles—two to Timothy, one to Titus, and one to Philemon. The correct placement of Hebrews is important as it separates Paul’s congregational Epistles from his Pastoral Epistles.

Another vital consideration is that while the Gospel of Luke and the book of Acts were written by Luke, his work was completed under Paul’s supervision. If these two books were added to Paul’s fourteen Epistles, it would mean that he was responsible for sixteen books—or nearly two-thirds of the New Testament. Sixteen (8 + 8) represents love—and eight (new beginning) doubled signifies a double “new beginning” or a twofold “blessing of redemption.” This theme is reflected in the openings of seven of Paul’s Church Epistles and three of his Pastoral Epistles—pointing again to completion.
Paul’s opening to the Church at Ephesus illustrates how he invokes the double blessing of God the Father and Jesus Christ, as he writes: “Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints who are in Ephesus and to the faithful in Christ Jesus: Grace and peace be to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, Who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly things with Christ” (Eph. 1:1-3).

Finally, Paul quotes from the Old Testament 145 times: Romans, 60; I Corinthians, 16; II Corinthians, 9; Galatians, 10; Ephesians, 5; Philippians, 1; Hebrews, 43; and I Timothy, 1. If the 25 Old Testament quotes from Luke and the 35 from Acts are included, then Paul and Luke combined are responsible for 205 of the New Testament’s 326 quotes from the Old Testament.

The Seventh Division—The Book of Revelation: Unlike the other six divisions which have five or more books, the book of Revelation alone makes up the seventh and final division of the Scriptures. The apostle John wrote Revelation in unsophisticated Koiné (common) Greek. Its heavy use of symbolism, however, makes it the most difficult book of the Bible to understand. Built carefully upon the preceding divisions of the Bible, Revelation is the capstone and crowning glory of God’s Word. While most prophecies of the Bible only begin to foretell of God’s amazing master plan, Revelation completes the picture. It alone contains the keys that are essential to unlocking prophetic mysteries—such as those of the books of Daniel and Isaiah.

Perplexed by the visions he had been given, the prophet Daniel asked what they meant. But Daniel was told that the prophecies were closed—sealed until the time of the end. Daniel said, “And I heard, but I did not understand. Then said I, ‘O my lord, what shall be the end of these things?’ And he said, ‘Go your way, Daniel, for the words are closed up and sealed until the time of the end. Many shall be purified, and made white, and refined. But the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand, but the wise shall understand’” (Dan. 12:8-10).

From Daniel’s time to the present, the full meaning of his prophecies could not even begin to be understood until: 1) the book of Revelation itself was written; 2) the “time of the end” actually arrived; and 3) God began to reveal the true interpretation of these complex prophecies to his true servants—those who love Him, keep His commandments and have the testimony of Jesus. Only then would the matching keys of Revelation open the locked and sealed prophecies of the end time, contained in the Old Testament.

Revelation opens with John proclaiming Christ’s all-powerful, glorious return: “Behold, He is coming with the clouds, and every eye shall see Him, and those who pierced Him; and all the tribes of the earth shall wail because of Him. Even so, Amen.” John then quotes Jesus, saying, “’I AM THE ALPHA AND THE OMEGA, THE BEGINNING AND THE ENDING.’ says the Lord, ‘Who is, and Who was, and Who is to come—the Almighty’” (Rev. 1:7-8).

Jesus, when compared with key Scriptures from Isaiah, reveals that He is none other than the Lord God of the Old Testament, the Creator of heaven and earth—the God of Israel, as Isaiah writes: “Who has planned and done it, calling forth the generations from the beginning? ‘I, the Lord, AM THE FIRST AND THE LAST; I AM HE.’… ’I AM THE FIRST, AND I AM THE LAST;’ and besides Me there is no God.’…” ‘Hearken to me, O Jacob and Israel, My called; I AM HE; I AM THE FIRST, I ALSO AM THE LAST’” (Isa. 41:4; 44:6; 48:12). In addition to these, Jesus used this same phrase—“I AM THE FIRST AND THE LAST”—four times in Revelation for a total of seven times in the Bible.

A fundamental key to the mysteries of Revelation is that one must begin at the beginning of the Bible, in Genesis. Then one must first come to have a working knowledge of the entire Bible. This is why Jesus’ opening proclamation of Revelation begins with “I AM … THE BEGINNING AND THE ENDING … the Almighty.” It is utter folly to try to comprehend this book in isolation, when one knows very little about the rest of God’s Word.

The Biblical Numerics of Revelation: The biblical numerics embedded in this final, 49th book reveal the awesome truth that Jesus Christ will finish the work which He began in the Garden of Eden. Throughout the Bible, seven and three express completeness and perfection. Therefore, it is not surprising that these two numbers are used throughout Revelation. The number seven is used a total of 54 times. Most notably are the seven churches, stars, angels to the churches, spirits of God, golden lampstands, and lamps of fire; the Lamb has seven horns and seven eyes; there are seven seals, seven angels who blow seven trumpets, and seven thunders; seven thousand men are slain; the beast has seven heads and ten horns; there are seven crowns and kings; and there are seven angels with the seven last plagues in seven golden vials.

The second most used number in Revelation is three, also a number of completeness. Three is used 11 times and “third” is found 22 times, for a total of 33. The number 33 is the product of 3 times 11, which pictures judgment. Thus, Revelation illustrates God’s complete, final judgment of the world—accomplished in the final three-and-a-half-year period leading up to Christ’s return.

Found 21 times, the third most used number in Revelation is twelve, symbolizing governmental foundation. (Note that 21 is the product of 7 x 3—the numbers for completeness and perfection.) The most prominent use of twelve is in reference to the twelve tribes of Israel—where 12 x 12,000 equals 144,000 (see Rev. 7). The crown of the Bride of Christ has twelve stars.

The remaining eight uses of twelve describe the New Jerusalem. Since eight points to a “new beginning,” perhaps this combination of eight and twelve stands for the ultimate new government of the God Family—which will be administered for eternity from the New Jerusalem.

In this astounding yet mysterious book, Jesus reveals that all the prophecies in the Bible concerning the end of the age will ultimately dovetail—climaxing in God’s judgment against a rebellious, deceived mankind led by the Beast, the False Prophet, and Satan the devil and his demons. Once the final wrath of God is poured out through the awesome seven last plagues, Jesus Christ and all the resurrected saints—from Abel to the “two witnesses”—will descend from the “sea of glass” in the clouds over Jerusalem for the final, victorious battle of the ages. The last armies of men will be destroyed, and the Beast and the False Prophet will be cast into the lake of fire. Christ will then have an angel bind Satan and the demons, locking them in the abyss.

Jesus Christ and the saints will establish the Kingdom of God on earth and rule for a thousand years. After Christ’s final judgment, a new heaven and a new earth will be established. All those who are in the first resurrection will dwell in the New Jerusalem and the nations that are saved will dwell on the new earth. Thus, God’s revealed Word, from Genesis to Revelation, will be completed. John writes: “Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea. And I, John, saw the holy city, the new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice from heaven say, ‘Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men [made perfect as spirit beings]; and He shall dwell with them, and they shall be His people; and God Himself shall be with them and be their God. And God shall wipe away every tear from their eyes; and there shall not be any more death, or sorrow, or crying; neither shall there be any more pain, because the former things have passed away.’

“And He Who sits on the throne said, ‘Behold, I make all things new [God’s plan for the rest of eternity].’ Then He said to me, ‘Write, for these words are true and faithful.’ And He said to me, ‘It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End. To the one who thirsts, I will give freely of the fountain of the water of life. The one who overcomes shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be My son’ ” (Rev. 21:1-7).
Chapter Three

The Canonization of the Old Testament

As the Scriptures themselves reveal, the Old Testament is essentially a Levitical document—canonized under the authority of the Aaronic priesthood.

Canonization—from the Greek word κανών, meaning “rule or measuring rod”—is a process by which a collection of writings come to be considered authoritative, definitive and fixed by a particular religious authority. A canonical book, therefore, is one that conforms to the “canon”—that is, passes the test of authenticity.

Because the sacred books of Israel were inspired by God—or, as the apostle Paul says, were “God-breathed”—it was imperative that the texts remain distinctly separate from secular or pagan writings. Numerous texts were known historically to exist alongside the Scriptures—and many were purported to be sacred. Thus, the texts which make up the Old Testament were canonized in order to assure their singular position as the inspired Word of God. Contrary to what many of today’s “scholars” teach, this all-important task of canonization was not left in the hands of the so-called “fathers” of Judaism—but was carried out under the authority of the Aaronic/Levitical priesthood. As we will see, the book that we call the Old Testament is a thoroughly Aaronic/Levitical document.

Background: What Led to the Canonization of the Old Testament?

In The Jewish Canon and the Christian Canon, Dr. Kip L. Wheeler points out that the idea of a finalized Hebrew canon first began to emerge shortly after the Babylonian exile. He notes that it was the Jews’ fear of religious “contamination” that motivated them to create an “official version of the various Scriptures and gather them into one organic collection” (web.cn.edu/kwheeler/canon1.html). Indeed, the primary reason for the final compilation of the sacred Aaronic writings into an authentic, authoritative canon of Scripture was to combat an insidious counterfeit system of worship arising out of Samaria during the post-exilic period.

Historically, a counterfeit form of Judaic worship emerged from Samaria, north of Jerusalem, in the fifth century BC led by the apostate high priest Manassah. (Recall that Samaria and the area previously occupied by the northern tribes of Israel had long been repopulated by Gentiles following Israel’s exile—II Kings 17.) After marrying the daughter of Sanballat, the governor of Samaria, Manassah was confronted by Ezra the priest, who demanded that Manassah and his fellow priests put away their foreign wives. Manassah refused, and he and his rebel priests defected to Samaria where Sanballat had built a Jerusalem-like temple for Manassah and his apostate priests. Astonishingly, Manassah’s new apostate religion incorporated all of the rituals described in the Law, the only portion of the Hebrew texts accepted by the rogue priests.

Ezra and the Great Assembly of 120 priests—as well as the Jews of Jerusalem and Judea—found themselves confronted with a counterfeit form of temple worship that professed to uphold the laws of Moses. Its counterfeit temple stood on Mount Gerizim, the Mount of Blessing, near Jacob’s Well. Ezra perceived that this false religion was a real threat to the pure worship of the true God which he and others had worked to restore to the post-exilic Jews. Something drastic had to be done to protect the true worship of God from being corrupted by this new Samaritan-Jewish apostasy.

To accomplish this, Ezra and the Great Assembly began to exercise firm authority over every aspect of worship at the temple of God in Jerusalem and in the numerous Jewish synagogues scattered throughout the Persian Empire. The Great Assembly supervised and regulated the temple rites and sacrifices, priestly laws, synagogue rituals and everything associated with the worship of God under the Old Covenant. Every act of worship had to be thoroughly and completely scriptural, centered at the temple in Jerusalem—and approved by Ezra and the Great Assembly.
In order to preserve the true worship of God, it was essential to differentiate between the sacred Hebrew texts of the Jerusalem Jews and the Hebrew writings utilized by the apostate Samaritan Jews. The key step was to organize the sacred Levitical documents into a final, closed canon of Scripture. Then, accurate copies of the entire canonized text were made and distributed to Jewish synagogues throughout the Persian Empire. Once canonized, the Scriptures could be preserved without fear of corruption.

Ezra’s work—a monumental step in the development and preservation of the Hebrew Bible for Jews and the Old Testament for Christians—is summarized in these five areas: “According to Jewish tradition, five great works are ascribed to him [Ezra]: (1) the foundation of the ‘Great Synagogue’ [the Great Assembly], (2) the settlement of the canon of Scripture, with the threefold division into Law, Prophets, and Hagiographa [the Psalms and other Writings], (3) the substitution of the square Chaldee characters for the old Hebrew and Samaritan [script], (4) the compilation of Chronicles, possibly of Esther, with the addition of Nehemiah’s history to his own, and (5) the establishment of synagogues” (Angus, The Bible Handbook, p. 542, emphasis added).

Canonization Under the Authority of the Levitical Priesthood

It is evident that the canonicity of the Scriptures was accomplished in several preliminary stages over many centuries, culminating in the work of Ezra the scribe and priest. Canonization efforts prior to Ezra’s time were, at best, preparatory to his final canon. While numerous biblical figures—such as prophets, scribes and kings—were involved, canonization was always carried out under the leadership and authority of the Levitical priesthood. Indeed, the Law of God—the foundation of the Old Covenant—was from the very beginning delivered into the care of the “priests, the sons of Levi” (Deut. 31:9).

Moses—obviously involved in the finalization of the Law—was a Levite, and Aaron’s brother, though he was not actually a priest. Moses, however, was so much greater than a priest! God talked face-to-face with Moses as with a friend (Ex. 33:11)—and Moses was the one who ordained Aaron and his sons into the priesthood (Lev. 8). In fact, as the one God used to give His laws and commandments, Moses was the forerunner of Jesus Christ—the “living” Word of God, the one Who gave the spirit of the Law (John 1:17; Matt. 5-7).

Samuel—because he was prophet, judge and priest—was also a type of Christ, and apparently wrote the books of Joshua and Judges in addition to most of I Samuel. David and Solomon, as we will see, were directly involved in adding to the early canon of Scripture—but only under the authority of the priesthood (Abiathar and Zadok). David, in particular, worked with Asaph, an Aaronic priest given charge of the Ark of the Covenant while it was at David’s house (I Chron. 16:7, 37). Also as the priest in charge of sacred worship music, Asaph wrote a number of the Psalms himself (Psa. 50:1; etc.).

Hezekiah, a righteous king of Judah, was inspired as well to add to the growing canon of Scripture. Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah worked under the authority of the priest Uriah (see Isa. 8:1-2). Later, Jeremiah—both a prophet and of the priestly line of Aaron—was used of God in early canonization work. Apparently, Jeremiah rescued the Sacred Texts from the temple just prior to its destruction, sending them—with his own prophetic writings—safely into Babylon by the hand of the Levitical scribe Seraiah (Jer. 51:61), the brother of Baruch, Jeremiah’s scribe. (Levitical scribes were always of the Aaronic line.) The prophet Ezekiel, also in exile, was of the Aaronic priesthood as well (Ezek. 1:3). The Sacred Texts were later brought back to Jerusalem by Ezra the scribe, who was an Aaronic priest (Ezra 7:14).

God’s Word is perfect—purified seven times over (Psa. 12:6). Could the critical task of canonization of the very Word of God really be entrusted to self-proclaimed Jewish “sages” or apostate Catholic “fathers”? Indeed, the pattern revealed throughout Scripture is clear: God committed the canonization of the Old Testament only to those He had already given the highest level of authority, the Aaronic priesthood. To paraphrase the prophet Malachi, “For the priest’s lips should keep [true] knowledge, and the people should seek the law at his mouth; for he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.” (Mal. 2:7).

As will be covered later, this same pattern carries over into the canonization of the New Testament, starting with John the Baptist—also of priestly lineage—and his call for repentance. Ultimately, the entire Word of God—from Genesis to Revelation—is a priestly document.
The Five Stages of the Canonization of the Old Testament

Before his death in January 2002, Dr. Ernest L. Martin was recognized as one of the leading scholars and authorities on the canonization of the Bible. In his books The Original Bible Restored, second edition, 1991, and Restoring the Original Bible, third edition, 1994, Martin gives considerable insight into how, when and by whom the Old and New Testament Scriptures were canonized. While some of his biblical interpretations and historical conjectures are somewhat unique, his books are highly esteemed in the field of biblical canonization.

While scholars today generally look to outside sources for information concerning the canonization of the Scriptures, Martin considered the internal biblical evidence to be the most compelling. Martin writes: “There were five periods in the history of Israel in which the canonization of sacred scriptures took place. The final collection was established in the time of Ezra and Nehemiah and, of course, this latter canonization must be reckoned the most important” (Restoring the Original Bible, ch. 12, online version, emphasis added; www.askelm.com/restoring/res013.htm). Using Scripture as evidence, Martin notes that five periods are relevant to the canonization of the Old Testament: 1) Moses’ time, 2) the reigns of David and Solomon, 3) the revival period under Hezekiah, 4) the time just prior to and during the exile (beginning with the reforms of Josiah), and 5) the post-exilic period under Ezra and Nehemiah.

The first period of canonization was under Moses, who, shortly before his death, authorized the first five books of the Old Testament—also called the “Torah” or the “Pentateuch”—as the divine Law of Israel (1486-1446 BC). After making minor updates relating to geographical names, etc., Moses delivered the Law into the custody of the priesthood for safekeeping. “And Moses wrote this law, and delivered it to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and to all the elders of Israel” (Deut. 31:9, 24-26). According to Martin and other scholars the prophet Samuel (also of the Aaronic line) later contributed to the canon by writing the books of Joshua and Judges and most of I Samuel. Much of his material was based primarily on the historical records of the priests Phinehas (son of Eleazar) and Eli. Thus, again we see the direct participation of the Aaronic priesthood in the ongoing development of the Old Testament canon.

With the bedrock foundation of the Scriptures established, canonization continued under King David’s rule—where new writings were added for use in temple worship. Unlike the temporary tabernacle, the new temple in Jerusalem would allow for a more elaborate form of worship—one that would appropriately include the singing of hymns to God. As the well-known psalmist, David penned many songs under God’s inspiration, which were sung by the Levites at temple services. As various psalms were incorporated into worship services, they were thus canonized—set aside officially for temple worship (1050-1011 BC). As mentioned, David was assisted by the Aaronic priest Asaph, who in turn would have worked with the priests Abiathar and Zadok. Undoubtedly, the prophets Nathan and Gad were involved as well in the furthering of the Old Testament writings.

The Aaronic canon was evidently expanded under the reign of Solomon as well. Ecclesiastes 12:9 tells us that Solomon “sought out and set in order many proverbs.” While Solomon did not originate all of the proverbs of the Scriptures, he apparently was inspired of God to assemble a number of such writings as an addition to the canon (see Prov. 1:6; 24:23). Ultimately it was the responsibility of Ezra and the Great Assembly to determine what documents would be included in the final canon. Clearly, however, a type of canonization took place during the early temple years under David and Solomon, which would largely pave the way for Ezra’s final work.

Canonization Continues with King Hezekiah,

Under the Authority of Azariah the Priest and Isaiah the Prophet

As one of the most righteous kings of Judah (II Kings 18:5), Hezekiah set about to restore the proper worship of God (II Chron. 29-31) following a time when the Jews had strayed far from God’s way. Hezekiah began by restoring the Aaronic priesthood so that they might oversee the cleansing and repair of the temple (II Chron. 29:4-19). Numerous priests were sanctified anew—such as Mahath (verse 12) and the “sons of Asaph” (verse 13). The “sons of Aaron” resumed their duty of sacrificing on the altar of God (verse 21), as priests and Levites were assigned for temple music (verses 25-30). King Hezekiah thus re-established the “courses of the priests and the Levites” (II Chron. 31:2), paving the way for a fully restored form of temple worship—all under the leadership of Azariah, the chief priest of the house of Zadok (verses 9-10).
Chapter Three

It was only after this vast restoration that Hezekiah began to see the need to add to the Jews’ library of authoritative literature. His canonical contribution (723-695 BC) is partly hinted at in Proverbs 25:1: “These are also proverbs of Solomon which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah copied out.” Working closely with Azariah the priest and Isaiah the prophet, Hezekiah apparently ordained that certain proverbs of Solomon—previously excluded from the canon—be counted among the Sacred Texts. Clearly, Proverbs 25 to 29 represent an addition to the Old Testament canon. According to Martin, the Talmud attributes the canonization of Isaiah, some of the Minor Prophets, the Song of Songs and Ecclesiastes to Hezekiah (Restoring The Original Bible, ch. 12). Still, such preliminary canonization efforts were carried out under the authority of the Aaronic priesthood.

The prophet Isaiah indicates that Hezekiah also wrote completely new psalms that were included in temple services, as found in Isaiah 38:9: “The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick and had recovered from his sickness.” Verses 10-21 compose the full psalm. Some scholars believe that Hezekiah composed the enigmatic “Degree Psalms” which today comprise Psalms 120–134 (The Companion Bible, by Dr. E. W. Bullinger, appendix 67). Isaiah and Hezekiah apparently contributed to the growing Old Testament canon under the authority of Uriah the priest as well (Isa. 8:2).

In stark contrast to the reigns of David and Solomon, King Hezekiah’s time was one of great distress—an Assyrian invasion threatened the existence of the Jewish nation. No doubt Hezekiah was concerned about the preservation of the Sacred Texts. This may have prompted him—again, under the Aaronic leadership—to place a special seal of authority on those documents already established as canonical, perhaps to reaffirm their place in the growing Hebrew canon and protect them from corruption.

Apparently, Hezekiah placed a type of seal or signature—consisting of the three Hebrew letters he, zain and koph—at the end of each canonical book. The seal appears in the Hebrew manuscripts of all the Old Testament books except the Megillot—the five festival scrolls (Song of Songs, Ruth, Lamentations, Ecclesiastes and Esther). Oddly, however, the signature has never been translated in any English version of the Bible. Martin explains that the seal was omitted from the five festival scrolls because they were regularly read by the priests in the temple. They were canonized by the fact that Ezra associated each book with a particular festival (from Passover to Purim), thus securing their sacredness without the application of the seal (Restoring the Original Bible, ch. 12).

Interestingly, the three Hebrew letters spell the root form of Hezekiah’s name. What’s more, they also carry the meaning “to be confirmed” or “to be bound.” Thus, the seal “HZK” constituted the confirmation and binding of the canonical texts under the authority of King Hezekiah. This action of itself contributed to the canonization of the sacred Old Testament Scriptures.

This seal of canonization continued to be used in a slightly different manner after the time of Hezekiah. Bullinger explains: “The use of this tri-grammaton [seal] is uniform and continuous at the end of each book, until we come to the death of Hezekiah. Not until after that, at the end of the Book of Kings, do we meet with any departure from the addition of these three letters. There, for the first time, we find a different formula. Instead of the simple sign (HZK), we find two words, making a sentence—instead of forming the initials.

“At the end of Kings, we have ‘Be bound, and we will bind.’ This looks as though the subsequent editors, whether Josiah, Ezra, or others, understood the tri-grammaton as a solemn injunction transmitted to them, and they took up the work and carried it out in the same spirit in which it had come down…” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, ch. 12; quoted from Bullinger’s “Songs of Degrees” in Things to Come, XIII, p. 112).

This same two-word seal of canonicity is likewise used at the end of Ezekiel, the Minor Prophets, Psalms, Proverbs, Job, Daniel, Ezra-Nehemiah (as one book) and Chronicles. As part of the final canonization, Ezra undoubtedly placed the seal on all the texts which he and the Great Assembly recognized as canonical.

Canonization Contributions During Exile

Like Hezekiah, King Josiah found himself up against a formidable foe—this time the Babylonians—while attempting to revive the proper worship of God (II Kings 22-23; II Chron. 34-35). Despite his reforms, Josiah died in battle at age 39—and God carried out His promised punishment on Judah via the Babylonian captivity.

It was during this time that the book of Lamentations was written by the prophet Jeremiah and designated to be sung each year on Ab 9-10, the anniversary of the burning of the Temple by King Nebuchadnezzar. The high priest Hilkiah (II Kings 22:4) undoubtedly authorized additions to the canon during this time (625-584 BC).

Martin writes that the canonization efforts that began in the time of King Josiah continued “in Babylon after the Jews had been taken captive. Jeremiah had first gone to Egypt, but he [may have] returned to be with the Jews in Babylon…. Jeremiah was then able to hand over to Daniel, the Jewish prince in Babylon, any remaining prophecies which he had written (or other documents which he may have rescued from the Temple)” (Restoring the Original Bible, ch. 12). Thus, Daniel was familiar with the writings of “Jeremiah the prophet,” other prophetic “books” and “the law of Moses” (Dan. 9:2, 11).

Interestingly, it was those of the priestly line in Babylon who were careful to preserve the Sacred Texts while in exile—thus making them available for Ezra the priest as he set out to restore the proper worship of God in post-exilic Jerusalem.

Ezra’s Editing and Final Canonization of the Scriptures

In Getting Acquainted with the Bible, Martin Hegland writes: “There is much evidence to indicate that the canon of the Old Testament was fixed by about the year 400 BC largely as a result of the work of Ezra and Nehemiah and a council of Jews known as the Great Synagogue… Long before that time, however, many of the books we now have in the Old Testament had been agreed upon as inspired” (anabaptists.org/history/howwegot.html).

Indeed, Ezra—a priest of the Aaronic line—returned to Jerusalem from Babylon in 458 BC with “the Law of God” in his hands (Ezra 7:14), and boldly proclaimed the Law before the post-exilic congregation of Judah (Neh. 8-9). Ezra undoubtedly had in his possession numerous additional texts regarded as canonical—such as writings by the prophets, as well as those that make up the “Writings” of the Old Testament.

While the preceding periods of canonization are significant, scholars generally consider them to be primarily of historical interest. Martin, for example, writes that the canonization efforts prior to Ezra “do not involve what books [ultimately] belong in the Old Testament canon for us today. The question of exactly which books represent the complete Old Testament for us can only be answered by understanding the canonization of Ezra and those one hundred and twenty priests who comprised the Great Assembly. It is Ezra’s final work which is most important to us and to later Judaism… [It] was Ezra (the ‘Second Moses’) who gave to the Jewish world the official (and final) Old Testament to be read in the Temple and synagogues. This makes the canonization by Ezra the most important of all” (Restoring the Original Bible, ch. 12).

In conjunction with his final canonization, Ezra—following precedents set by Moses and Samuel—made numerous minor edits to several of the Old Testament books (mostly the earlier portions of the Law). “The Pentateuch or Torah [the Law] was accepted … since the time of Moses [in the 1440s BC] … [but] did not take final form until around 400 BC. Most traditionalist scholars say the whole Law dates to Moses, but agree that Ezra did some editing or clarification of minor discrepancies that had arisen…” (Ed Zotti, Who Wrote The Bible?: http://www.straightdope.com/columns/read/1989/who-wrote-the-bible-part-5; emphasis added).

Like Moses, Ezra’s edits consisted largely of updating ancient geographical names with newer names. Where older names were retained, explanatory phrases were sometimes added to identify them. Other edits provide additional information. Genesis 36:31–39, for example, records the names of Edomite kings down to the time of King Saul. Moses could not have written this section because he would hardly have known the names of Edomite kings living three hundred years after his death. Another example which could not have been penned by Moses occurs in Deuteronomy 34:5-6: “And Moses the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab … [but] no man knows of his grave to this day.” Again, Moses could hardly have written: “And there has not arisen a prophet like Moses since then in Israel, whom the LORD knew face-to-face” (verse 10). Other edits provide the reader with an updated timeline—such as in Judges 18:30, which records events occurring hundreds of years after the Judges ruled.

Edits made by Ezra as a part of the final canonization were obviously designed to update the text and make it more understandable to the people of his day. Ezra must have felt that the texts needed editing in order to provide the Jews with the complete revelation of God in the Hebrew language. As Martin notes, Ezra’s additions were "not vast changes in the text of the Old Testament" (Restoring the Original Bible, ch. 12, emphasis added). Numerous edits made by various Levitical scribes deal mainly with chronological updates—and often employ the phrase “unto this day.”
Concerning the legitimacy of Ezra’s edits, Ernst Würthwein—one of the best-known experts on the Old Testament—writes: “In evaluating these alterations, we must avoid thinking of them as ‘corruptions.’ They were made in good faith, with no intention of introducing a foreign element into the text, but rather with the aim of restoring the true text and (from the copyist’s view) preventing misunderstandings.

“It is quite natural that a text which was … intended to be read constantly by the whole of the Jewish community would [need to] be adapted to the linguistic needs of the community…” (The Text of The Old Testament, p. 108, emphasis added).

Although a few alterations—such as genealogical updates—were made to the text by the Great Assembly after its canonization, there is no question that Ezra was the one who compiled, edited and canonized the books. Another important task Ezra undertook was to change all the Hebrew letters in the Scriptures from the ancient cursive script to the square, block-style Chaldee script. The block-style lettering was commonly used in the sixth century BC in Babylon and elsewhere in the Persian Empire. Martin explained that the use of the block style script was not done “simply to facilitate the reading of the Bible but, more importantly, Ezra was able to establish at one fell swoop an official canon of the Scriptures which was now (by the use of the new letter configurations) able to be distinguished from heretical Samaritan manuscripts which were written in the old Hebrew script” (The Original Bible Restored, p. 63).

Shortly after Ezra’s time, the book of Malachi was added to the official canon under the authority of the Great Assembly of priests—set up by Ezra for that purpose. Though not the final book in the order of the Old Testament, Malachi was the final text to be added to the canon—and for good reason. As we will see, Malachi’s prophecies deal not only with the coming of the Messiah, but also with the messenger who would announce His first coming to establish the New Covenant. That messenger was John the Baptist, whose ministry formed a kind of “bridge” between the Old and New Covenants. John also served as a “sign” of what was to come—a completely new way of worshiping and relating to God the Father through the work of Jesus Christ.

It is interesting to note that Ezra, as an Aaronic priest, and Nehemiah, as governor of Judah, worked in close harmony—much like the team formed by the priest Joshua and the governor Zerubbabel of the early post-exilic period. In fact, the priest-ruler pairings in both cases picture the coming reign of Jesus Christ—Who will perfectly combine the roles of both King and Priest into one (see Heb. 7:1).

An Authentic Old Testament Canon Is Pivotal

The canonization of the Old Testament is a powerful witness to the guiding hand of God, for it was God Himself Who gave deliberate authority to His servants through the Aaronic priesthood to accomplish the task according to His design (see Isaiah 46:10 and 55:11 for the principle). Considering the literally hundreds of times Christ and the apostles quoted from or referred to the Scriptures, it should be quite obvious that a complete, legitimate—and widely recognized—canon was absolutely essential to the work of the early Church. (Key references to the “Scriptures” include Luke 4:21; John 7:42; Acts 8:35; Rom. 4:3; Gal. 3:8; James 2:8; II Pet. 1:20-21; etc.)

The apostle Paul’s classic instruction to Timothy sums up the incalculable value the early Church placed on an authentic canon, he writes: “But as for you, continue in the things that you did learn and were assured of, knowing from whom you have learned them; and that from a child you have known the Holy [Old Testament] Writings, which are able to make you wise unto salvation through faith, which is in Christ Jesus. All Scripture [the Old and New Testaments] is God-breathed and is profitable for doctrine, for conviction, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, so that the man of God may be complete, fully equipped for every good work” (II Tim. 3:14-17).

Just as Ezra and the Great Assembly were moved by God to canonize the Old Testament Scriptures in the face of a developing apostasy, so the apostles Peter, John, James and Paul were moved to canonize the New Testament while confronting a rapidly developing false Christianity and a multitude of false teachers. As we will see in later chapters, this all-important task was not left—as many have presumed—for so-called Orthodox “church fathers” to complete hundreds of years after the death of the apostles.

John the Baptist as “Bridge” Between Old and New Covenants

One of the keys to understanding the canonization of both the Old and New Testaments is to recognize God’s plan to utilize His ordained priesthood to accomplish the task. Remember, the key role of a priest was to represent God to the people—and under the Old Covenant access to God was generally only possible through the Aaronic priesthood. This was about to change, however, under the New Covenant, which would include an entirely new kind of Priest to mediate between man and God—Jesus Christ. In fact, under the New Covenant, almost everything would be different—and it all began with the work of John the Baptist.

Of key importance is that John was of the Aaronic line—his father Zacharias was a serving priest, and his mother was of the “daughters of Aaron” (Luke 1:5). John could have become a “practicing” priest as well—but God had other plans for this “greatest” of the prophets (Matt. 11:11). There is no evidence that John ever trained as a priest. Rather, he remained “in the wilderness until the day of his appearing” to the Jewish community (Luke 1:80).

When John did appear—not as a priest, but as a prophet—he took the Jewish leadership somewhat by surprise. John had captivated the interest of the people—with a message and manner that was, to say the least, different. The Jewish leadership knew full well that John was of the Aaronic line—and they were more than curious. Investigating, they asked John if he was the expected Messiah—or, perhaps, Elijah or “the Prophet” to come. John denied that he was any of them, claiming simply to be “a voice crying in the wilderness”—per Isaiah 40:3—preparing the way for the Messiah’s coming (John 1:19-23). Indeed, the prophet Malachi had announced as well that God would send a special messenger to “prepare the way” for Christ’s first coming (Mal. 3:1).

In a manner of speaking, John the Baptist was a “signal” to the Jews of coming change—monumental change—in which true worshipers shall “…worship the Father in spirit and in truth” (John 4:23). His message of genuine repentance for the remission of sin was unique; he baptized in the running water of the Jordan—in contrast to the ritual baths of the Temple. John boldly pointed to Christ as the “Lamb of God” destined to “take away the sin of the world” (John 1:29).

Essentially, John was preparing the way for the soon-coming shift away from physical, ritual sacrifices; away from the physical temple in Jerusalem; away from the Aaronic priesthood; and, most importantly, away from the mere physical letter of the Law. The spiritual would fully supersede the physical—for under the New Covenant Jesus’ ultimate sacrifice as the “Lamb of God” would negate all the physical temple rituals (Heb. 8-9); the temple would be replaced by a spiritual body of believers in which Christ would dwell (II Cor. 6:16); Jesus would fully replace the Aaronic priesthood as the sole Mediator between man and God (I Tim. 2:5) through His eternal priesthood after the order of Melchizedec (Heb. 5:1-10; 6:20); and, Christ Himself, as the “living Word of God,” would “magnify the Law and make it glorious” (Isa. 42:21) by revealing its true, spiritual intent (Matt. 5).

Jesus’ Priestly Role Key to New Testament Canonization

It is quite significant that John the Baptist was of the line of Aaron. But with the obsolescence of the Levitical priesthood, who would carry on the task of canonizing—let alone writing—the much-needed New Testament Scriptures? Of all the men who wrote the books of the New Testament, only the apostle John had any genealogical link to the Aaronic line. Indeed, as will be covered in a later chapter, John—like Ezra—was used to finalize the New Testament canon. But while John’s Aaronic ancestry was an important element in establishing his authority to produce the final New Testament canon, the real key to the authenticity of the New Testament canon was the new Melchizedec-styled priesthood of Jesus Christ.

Under the New Covenant, Christ is the sole High Priest and Mediator between God and man. He fully replaced the Aaronic priesthood (Heb. 8-9). And, as God spoke in times past through the prophets, He has now—since Christ’s first coming—spoken through His Son, the living Word of God (Heb. 1:2; John 1). Thus, the authority to canonize Scripture would no longer fall to those of the temple priesthood, but would rest squarely on the shoulders of our great High Priest. It would be through Jesus Christ’s leadership, inspiration and divine authority that various men of God would write, edit and canonize the New Testament Scriptures.

Still, in concert with the way God used the priest Ezra to finalize the Old Testament, the apostle John—with his Aaronic ancestry—would likewise be used to finalize the New Testament canon.
Chapter Four

The Unity of Scripture

When one studies the Scriptures, it becomes apparent there is a profound unity between the Old and New Testaments. For example, this unity is demonstrated by the fact that over one third of the New Testament is made up of quotes from the Old Testament. In truth, many Old Testament passages simply could not be understood without the New Testament. Consider the numerous prophecies referring to Jesus Christ, such as those in Psalm 22 and Isaiah 53. Without the writings of the New Testament, we would never realize that such texts were Messianic in nature.

Similarly, dozens of Old and New Testament prophecies regarding the end time could not be understood without the book of Revelation. And, without a thorough knowledge of the Sabbath and holy days—which are fully explained only by referencing both the Old and New Testaments—the general prophetic time frame for the fulfillment of the plan of God cannot be understood.

These examples demonstrate the unity of Scripture, and are proof of God’s inspiration of the entire Bible as the complete Word of God. In the book of Isaiah, God provides us with the standard by which to seek Him and understand His Word, as well as to discern those who speak the truth: “To the law and to the testimony! If they do not speak according to this Word, it is because there is no light in them” (Isa. 8:20). In this same chapter we also find a prophecy showing that the New Testament would be written by Jesus’ disciples, or apostles: “Bind up the testimony, seal the law among My disciples” (verse 16). Because this verse foretells the writing of the New Testament, it is also a prophecy that the Old Testament alone would not comprise the complete Word of God.

Indeed, the apostle Paul wrote to the Colossians that he was to help “complete the Word of God” with his epistles (Col. 1:25). Paul also wrote to Timothy concerning the Old Testament: “But as for you, continue in the things that you did learn and were assured of, knowing from whom you have learned them; and that from a child you have known the holy writings [the Old Testament], which are able to make you wise unto salvation through faith, which is in Christ Jesus” (II Tim. 3:14-15). Paul is showing that salvation involves not only faith in Christ and New Testament teachings, but that Old Testament teachings are necessary as well. Paul then shows that all Scripture—Old and New Testament—is inspired by God: “All Scripture is God-breathed and is profitable for doctrine, for conviction, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; so that the man of God may be complete, fully equipped for every good work” (verses 16-17).

Unity Through the Laws and Commandments of God

The unity between the Old and New Testaments is perhaps most obvious in the fact that the New Testament fully-upholds the laws and commandments of God. Jesus demonstrated this when He answered the Devil’s temptation by quoting Deuteronomy 8:3: “It is written, ‘Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God’ ” (Matt. 4:4). This includes the entire Word of God—the Old Testament and whatever Christ would speak and has been recorded in the New Testament—because Jesus was God manifested in the flesh.

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus made it absolutely clear that He did not come to do away with the Law and the Prophets, when He said: “Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I did not come to abolish, but to fulfill. For truly I say to you, until the heaven and the earth shall pass away, one jot or one tittle shall in no way pass from the Law until everything has been fulfilled” (Matt. 5:17-18). (Please read Appendix H, page 1273 “How Did Jesus Christ Fulfill the Law and the Prophets?”) Jesus went on to say: “Therefore, whoever shall break one of these least [Old Testament] commandments, and shall teach men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever shall practice and teach them, this one shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven” (Matt. 5:19).

When a scribe asked Jesus which was the greatest commandment of the Law, He gave no indication whatsoever that any of God’s laws were obsolete. Rather, Christ responded by quoting Deuteronomy 6:4-5, thus welding together the Old and New Testaments—making them one: “And one of them, a doctor of the law, questioned Him, tempting Him, and saying, ‘Master, which commandment is the great commandment in the Law?’ And Jesus said to him, ‘You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment; and the second one is like it: ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself’ ” (Matt. 22:35-39). Jesus was saying that one cannot express complete love toward God and neighbor without the commandments of God. As if to erase all doubt, He then said, “On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets” (verse 40).

In concert with Jesus’ statements, numerous Old Testament passages show that Christ—as the God of the Old Testament—would never abolish or do away with His own commandments. “The works of His hands are truth and judgment; all His commandments are sure. They stand fast forever and ever...” (Psa. 111:7-8). Through the prophet Isaiah, God proclaims that His “righteousness [which is defined by His law] shall not be abolished” (Isa. 51:6). Thus, His Law stands forever.

Other passages demonstrating the unity of Scripture can be found in Psalm 119—where nearly every verse declares the greatness and truth of God’s Word and confirms what Jesus said. Here are a few examples: “Your law is the truth” (verse 142); “You are near, O LORD, and all Your commandments are truth” (verse 151); “Your word is true from the beginning; and every one of Your righteous judgments endures forever” (verse 160); and, “Therefore I love Your commandments above gold—yea, above fine gold. Therefore I esteem all Your precepts concerning all things to be right, and I hate every false way” (verses 127-128).

The entirety of Psalm 119 can also be considered a prophecy of Jesus’ innermost thoughts concerning the laws, commandments, statutes, testimonies, judgments and precepts of God. Jesus Christ—who was God manifested in the flesh and the living Word of God—told His apostles, “I am the way, and the truth and the life; no one comes to the Father except through Me” (John 14:6). “The Way” means that the only way to fully live for God is through Jesus. “The Truth” means that Jesus was the personification of God’s truth—the entire Word of God—and that He did not come to abolish any of God’s laws. “The Life” means that eternal life—as a gift from the Father—comes only through the life, death and resurrection of Jesus.

Again showing the unity between the Old and New Testaments, the apostle John made this straightforward statement: “By this standard we know that we love the children of God: when we love God and keep His commandments. For this is the love of God: that we keep His commandments; and His commandments are not burdensome” (I John 5:2-3).

One final note: As you read and study The Holy Bible In Its Original Order, take time to look up the many cross-references in the center column. These references will help show how the Scriptures are deeply integrated—demonstrating that the Old and New Testaments together truly make up the complete, unified Word of God.
Chapter Five

What Is the New Testament?

Godless, humanist skeptics today view the New Testament as nothing but a collection of cleverly concocted myths designed to establish a religious movement or to create vast ecclesiastical empires to rule over men. However, the truth—which can be proven—is that the New Testament is the divinely inspired account of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, Whose life and teachings fulfilled hundreds of prophecies of the Old Testament. It is a message from God the Father and Jesus Christ to all mankind, not only to the wealthy and educated, but—even more importantly—to the common man and woman. Its “God-breathed” teachings set forth the Father’s entire plan for man’s salvation—called the “gospel of grace” and “the gospel of the kingdom of God.” The New Testament proclaims God the Father’s love for us, demonstrated by His forgiveness of our sins, and reveals the way to eternal life through Jesus Christ, as summarized in John 3:16: “For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, so that everyone who believes in Him may not perish, but may have everlasting life.” It is the most magnificent book in the world—greater than the Old Testament because the New Testament interprets the Old. Combined, the New and Old Testaments constitute the entire Word of God revealed to the world.

The New Testament is God the Father’s personal revelation of the Son of God, Jesus Christ. Jesus was no ordinary man, wisdom-teacher or religious sage! He was God manifested in the flesh (I Tim. 3:16)—the Creator, the LORD God of the Old Testament—the Word, the one Who became Jesus Christ (John 1:1-4, 9-14).

Why Was the New Testament Written?

The ultimate reason for the New Testament’s writing is found in the rebellious refusal of God’s children throughout the ages to heed His guidance and admonishment. Adam and Eve rejected God’s Law in the Garden of Eden by taking of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil (Gen. 3). In Moses’ time—when God was thundering His perfect Law from Mount Sinai—the children of Israel justified their refusal to obey on the grounds that His voice was frightening. Terrified, the children of Israel drew back and said to Moses, “You speak with us, and we will hear. But let not God speak with us, lest we die” (Exodus 20:19).

Although the children of Israel promised to willingly heed Moses, they did not. Only a year and a half after they left Egypt, Moses announced that God was ready to lead them into the promised land, but—in disbelief—they refused to go (Num. 14). As a result, God sentenced them to wander aimlessly in the wilderness for forty years. In spite of this punishment, time and again the Israelites rebelled against God and Moses.

Moses’ Prophecy About Jesus Christ: God remembered the words of the children of Israel when they refused to listen to Him at Sinai—and that they said they would willingly listen to a man. However, during their wanderings, they failed to listen to the man Moses as promised. Ever patient, God purposed to give them another chance. He revealed through Moses that He would send another man—a prophet like Moses. If they failed to heed this prophet, they would no longer have an excuse. God said through Moses: “The LORD your God will raise up unto you a Prophet from the midst of you, of your brethren, One like me. To Him you shall hearken.... [And I] will put My words in His mouth. And He shall speak to them all that I shall command Him. And it shall come to pass, whatever man will not hearken to My words which He shall speak in My name, I will require it of him” (Deut. 18:15, 18-19).

God Became a Man: In order to carry out Moses’ prophecy, the Word—Who pre-existed as the Creator God—came in the flesh as a man to speak with men (John 1). Jesus was that man—the Son of God, born of the virgin Mary. God sent Christ to reveal the Father’s love and grace and His eternal plan for mankind. He also came to reveal the Father Himself to all who would believe His Gospel. Jesus said: “All things were delivered to Me by My Father; and no one knows the Son except the Father; neither does anyone know the Father except the Son, and the one to whom the Son personally chooses to reveal Him” (Matt. 11:27). Indeed, Christ—the “I AM”—was the only one Who could reveal the Father, because Jesus was God manifested in the flesh.

Jesus Christ Was “the Prophet” Foretold by Moses: After Jesus’ resurrection, the apostles understood that the Prophet about Whom Moses had prophesied was in fact Christ. The apostle Peter made this clear when he said: “For Moses truly said to the fathers, ‘A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up to you from among your brethren, like me; Him shall you hear in all things that He shall say to you. And it shall be that every soul who will not hear that Prophet shall be destroyed from among the people’ ” (Acts 3:22-23).

John the Baptist was first to declare that Jesus had come from heaven with the words of God. “He Who comes from heaven is above all; and what He has seen and heard, this is what He testifies…. [For] He Whom God has sent speaks the words of God…” (John 3:31-34; also 5:19-30).

God fulfilled the prophecy He gave to Moses by manifesting Himself as a man, in order to speak to mankind. Thus, the New Testament is the record of the words that God Himself would speak if He were to talk with us face-to-face. Every human being is held accountable to Him because He has spoken to us through this record.

God becoming a man—to speak personally and intimately with His creation—was indeed a profound, beautiful and loving act. It was the greatest thing God could do. He did not speak to us as God, or through angels or prophets—but by His Son. As Paul writes: “God, Who spoke to the fathers at different times in the past and in many ways by the prophets, has spoken to us in these last days by His Son, Whom He has appointed heir of all things, by Whom also He made the ages…” (Heb. 1:1-2).

Jesus Christ Is the Way, the Truth and the Life: Contrary to the teachings of the world’s religions, there are not “many ways” to God. There is only one way to God and to salvation, and that is through Jesus—who declared: “I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father except through Me” (John 14:6).

Christ is as far above all other so-called gods, philosophies and religions as the heavens are high above the earth. There is none equal to or greater than Jesus Christ, except God the Father. At the same time, no one can become Jesus’ disciple unless drawn by the Father. Jesus said: “No one can come to Me unless the Father, Who sent Me, draws him; and I will raise him up at the last day” (John 6:44).

The New Testament Is a Witness

Most decidedly, God did not leave the world without a true witness. In fact, the New Testament is His personal witness to all nations, to all religions—to every human being. Jesus said: “And this gospel of the kingdom shall be proclaimed in all the world for a witness to all nations; and then shall the end come” (Matt. 24:14). The Gospel would be published as well (Mark 13:10).

God could give no greater testimony to mankind than to come in the flesh to speak to His creation and show His love for them by dying for their sins. His testimony continued after His death and resurrection as the apostles preached and witnessed through the power of the Holy Spirit. His testimony continues today for all generations through the inspired canon of the New Testament.

Witness Against the World’s Religions and Their Leaders: After Jesus’ resurrection, the majority of Jews rejected Him, refusing to believe that He was the Messiah. And while “Christian” groups typically “profess Jesus,” they have ultimately rejected His teachings, substituting their own traditions in place of the clear teachings of the Word of God. Jesus castigated the leaders of Judaism because of such traditions: “Well did Isaiah prophesy concerning you hypocrites, as it is written, ‘This people honors Me with their lips, but their hearts are far away from Me. But in vain do they worship Me, teaching for doctrine the commandments of men.’ For leaving the commandment of God, you hold fast the tradition of men, such as the washing of pots and cups; and you practice many other things like this…. Full well do you reject the commandment of God, so that you may observe your own tradition” (Mark 7:6-9).

Thus, the words of Jesus Christ as preserved in the New Testament are not only a witness against Judaism, but against all other religions of the world—because they have all, in one way or another, rejected the teachings of Jesus Christ in order to observe their own “sacred” traditions and worship their own gods and idols.

John, in his Gospel, records Jesus Christ’s witness to the leaders of Judaism: “The one who is of God hears the words of God. For this reason you do not hear, because you are not of God” (John 8:47). He later explained to the apostles the reason for His witness against the religious leaders of Judaism, and hence, all religions and their leaders: “If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not have had sin: but now they have nothing to cover their sin…. If I had not done among them the works that no other man has done, they would not have had sin; but now they have both seen and hated both Me and My Father” (John 15:22-24).

Witness to All People: The New Testament is not only a written witness to all nations and to all religions, but to every human being individually. John wrote: “For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, so that everyone who believes in Him may not perish, but may have everlasting life. For God sent not His Son into the world that He might judge the world, but that the world might be saved through Him. The one who believes in Him is not judged, but the one who does not believe has already been judged because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (John 3:16-18).

Indeed, Christ’s words are a witness—a “standard”—against all who reject Him, and His words will judge them. “The one who rejects Me and does not receive My words has one who judges him; the word which I have spoken, that shall judge him in the last day” (John 12:48).

The New Testament—A Call to Repentance

Not only is the New Testament a witness to the world, the nations, the religious leaders and every individual, it is a call to repentance! Jesus Christ began His ministry by preaching repentance: “The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God…. Now after the imprisonment of John, Jesus came into Galilee, proclaiming the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, ‘The time has been fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is near at hand; repent, and believe in the gospel’ ” (Mark 1:1, 14-15). Jesus made it clear that He came to call sinners to repentance: “I did not come to call the righteous [those who think they are righteous], but sinners to repentance” (Mark 2:17; Luke 13:1-5).

What Is Sin? The New Testament defines sin as the transgression of the Law (I John 3:4). Anyone who habitually transgresses the commandments of God is living in a state of sin or lawlessness. A literal translation of this verse from the Greek reads: “Everyone who practices sin is also practicing lawlessness, for sin is lawlessness.”

In his Epistle to the Romans, the apostle Paul was moved to emphatically declare that all have sinned—all have transgressed the laws and commandments of God, and all are sentenced to death. Escape and salvation are through Jesus Christ alone, as he writes: “What then? Are we [Jews] of ourselves better [than the Gentiles]? Not at all! For we have already charged both Jews and Gentiles—ALL—with being under sin. Exactly as it is written: ‘For there is not a righteous one—not even one!’… For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God” (Rom. 3:9-10, 23).

On the day of Pentecost, the apostle Peter was inspired to powerfully preach Christ and repentance of sin: “Repent and be baptized each one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and you yourselves shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit” (Acts 2:38). Baptism by full immersion in water—which is symbolic of the burial of the old sinful self in a watery grave—must come after true and deep repentance.

The Meaning of Repentance: There are two, distinct kinds of repentance: a false, worldly “repentance” that is shallow, uncommitted and leads to death—or godly repentance that leads to forgiveness and salvation. Paul wrote, “For sorrow unto repentance before God works out salvation not to be repented of; but the sorrow of the world works out death” (II Cor. 7:10). Godly repentance results in a complete abhorrence and intolerance of one’s sins, a complete turning from sin—from the transgression of the laws and commandments of God. Repentance is a complete amendment of life, a turning away from one’s own sinful way to the way of love and obedience, keeping the laws and commandments of God and living by every Word of God.

For example, King David’s prayer of repentance after his affair with Bathsheba shows his complete abhorrence of sin and self as he cried out to God. “Have mercy on me, O God, according to Your lovingkindness; according to the multitude of Your tender mercies, blot out my transgressions. Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin, for I acknowledge my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me. Against You, You only, have I sinned, and done evil in Your sight…. Hide Your face from my sins, and blot out all my iniquities. Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me” (Psa. 51:1-4, 9-10).

True, deep, godly repentance will produce a profound change in a person’s mind and attitude, which will result in a continuous desire to live by every Word of God. The truly repentant person will turn from evil thoughts and ungodly practices and will seek to conform his or her life to the will of God as revealed in the Holy Bible.
Salvation by Grace: After genuine repentance and acceptance of Christ as one’s personal Savior, the believer must be baptized by immersion in water for the remission of sins. Baptism symbolizes the death and burial of the believer—a spiritual conjoining into the death of Jesus Christ (Rom. 6:3). Once the believer has been justified by grace, he or she stands in a state of grace before God the Father. Paul makes this clear: “Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Through Whom we also have access by faith into this grace in which we stand…” (Rom. 5:1-2).

Salvation by grace does not confer a “carte blanche” license to sin with impunity. Jesus said, “If you love Me, keep the commandments…” (John 14:15). Paul confirms that salvation by grace is demonstrated in works—not humanly devised traditions and works of religion—but the good works of keeping God’s commandments, walking and living in the way of the LORD (Eph. 2:8-10).

The New Testament Confirms God’s Promise of Spiritual Seed to Abraham

When we fully understand the Word of God, it is clear that God, in His covenant with Abraham, promised the gift of eternal life through Jesus Christ. As the apostle Paul stated, Jesus is the true Heir of the promises that God gave to Abraham: “Now to Abraham and to his Seed were the promises spoken. He does not say, ‘and to your seeds,’ as of many; but as of one, ‘and to your Seed,’ which is Christ” (Gal. 3:16).

Later, God promised Abraham innumerable offspring: “And He brought him outside and said, ‘Look now toward the heavens and number the stars—if you are able to count them.’ And He said to him, ‘So shall your seed be.’ And he believed in the LORD. And He accounted it to him for righteousness” (Gen. 15:5-6). Ultimately, this promise refers to Abraham’s spiritual seed, who would receive the gift of eternal life through faith in Jesus Christ.

Paul made it quite clear that the Old Covenant with Abraham’s physical seed was temporary—but the blessings that are offered to the spiritual seed through the New Covenant are eternal. Under the New Covenant, individuals of every nation and race can inherit the promise of eternal life by becoming the children of Abraham through faith: “It is exactly as it is written: ‘Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him for righteousness.’ Because of this, you should understand that those who are of faith are the true sons of Abraham…. It is for this reason that those who are of faith are being blessed with the believing Abraham” (Gal. 3:6-7, 9).

Instruction for Eternal Life

The New Testament was written as the ultimate witness of God’s incredible love for the human family and His wonderful plan of redemption through Jesus Christ. Yet, God holds each one of us accountable—for we alone must choose His way of life, the way that leads to eternal glory. Combined with the Old Testament, the New Testament, then, becomes our “Instruction Book” for eternal life!
Chapter Six

Who Wrote the New Testament?

Is the New Testament merely a collection of religious myths—or was it really written by the original disciples of Christ as eyewitness accounts of His ministry? This question is central to the authenticity of the New Testament as the inspired Word of God.

The Miracle of the New Testament

It is an often unappreciated fact that the writers of the New Testament faced a considerably more difficult task in writing and canonizing the New Testament than did their Old Testament counterparts. From harsh slavery, God drew His chosen people, Israel, out of Egypt with powerful signs and wonders—the Passover itself, the crossing of the Red Sea, God thundering His Law from Mount Sinai, etc. Moses’ authority and credibility was virtually unquestioned; even Korah’s rebellion only served to reinforce the reality that God was working only through Moses and the established Aaronic priesthood. The Old Testament was written primarily in a closed environment to a captive audience—Israel. There was no real outside opposition when it came to God’s Word. Idolatry and false teachings were decisively forbidden (Deut. 13). The greatest challenge was faced by the prophets, who were often martyred for their corrective messages.

In contrast, the difficulties faced by the New Testament apostles and writers was vastly different and much more complex. For starters, the apostles’ message was not limited to the Jews or to Israel, but was for the whole world. And to say the least, it was an unpopular Gospel—one that challenged preexisting Messianic ideas and provoked outrage among the Jewish leadership. Instead of a “captive audience,” they faced a highly skeptical antagonistic audience—one thoroughly indoctrinated with a plethora of false religious teachings, both Jewish and pagan. Their credibility was questioned from the very beginning, and their authority rested with a man named Jesus, Who was condemned as a common criminal. Already labeled as rebels, the situation was made worse by their teaching that the Levitical/Temple system was obsolete—to be superseded by the spiritual realities of the New Covenant.

Indeed, the religious landscape of first-century Judea and the surrounding area was an often hostile maze of confusion—dotted by false prophets, false apostles and counterfeit religions. Several false messianic figures added to the mix. The apostles found themselves under constant attack from Jews as well as pagans. Opposition ranged from the direct—imprisonment or martyrdom—to challenges from false teachers such as Simon Magus. And being dubbed a “Jewish” sect meant certain persecution from the Roman authorities. Add to all of this the fact that the apostles had to deal with corruption and apostasy within the ranks of the Church itself.

It was under such hostile, adverse conditions—literally against all odds—that the New Testament was miraculously written and finally canonized. Can there really be any doubt about God’s direct inspiration, guidance and intervention in the writing and canonization of the New Testament?

Popular “scholarly” theories hold that the accounts of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John were written by third- or fourth-generation storytellers and are pure folklore and myth. For example, one such self-proclaimed “expert” writes: “In the absence of hard information, scholars theorize that the New Testament gospels were composed during the last quarter of the first century by third-generation authors on the basis of folk memories preserved in stories that had circulated by word of mouth for decades. The oral stories the four evangelists recorded had been shaped, reshaped, augmented, and edited by numerous storytellers for a half century or more before achieving their final written forms” (Robert W. Funk and the Jesus Seminar, The Acts of Jesus, p. 2).

Contrary to such theories and opinions, compilation of the Gospels actually began quite early—within one year after Jesus’ death and resurrection—not decades later.
Isaiah Prophesied That Jesus’ Disciples Would Write the New Testament

The prophet Isaiah actually foretold that the disciples of Jesus Christ would write what would become the New Testament: “Bind up the testimony, seal the law among My disciples” (Isa. 8:16). This prophecy clearly indicates that God did not leave the writing of the most important book in the world to those who were not disciples of Jesus Christ or eyewitnesses of His ministry.

Dr. Ernest L. Martin, a noted biblical scholar, commented on the meaning of the prophecy of Isaiah 8:16: “Christ did not mean that He would personally add to the Law and the Prophets by composing books of His own. A reading of the Old Testament revealed to the apostles that it was they who were to be responsible for writing and selecting the documents which would comprise the New Testament” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 297).

Martin comments on two key words from Isaiah’s passage: “What do the words ‘bind’ and ‘seal’ signify? The Hebrew for the word ‘bind’ means ‘to close.’ The word ‘seal’ means practically the same—’to cap off, to enclose.’ This is exactly what the apostles did with the message which the ‘Stone’ and ‘Rock’ gave them. They were to complete it. Bind it up. Close it shut…. [Jesus’] disciples were commissioned ‘to add to’ and ‘to complete’ the Bible. In a word, the apostles felt that they had authority, even from the Old Testament, to bind, seal, authorize and canonize the Law and Testimony of Christ. This meant to put the teachings of Christ in a book, just like the Old Testament was given to the early Jews” (Ibid., pp. 298-299).

Isaiah concludes his prophecy by showing that Jesus and His disciples would form the New Testament Church: “Behold, I [Jesus Christ] and the children [the disciples and apostles] whom the L ORD has given Me are for signs and for wonders in Israel from the L ORD of hosts, Who dwells in Mount Zion” (Isa. 8:18). Indeed, the apostles and disciples of Christ—who were eyewitnesses of His life and ministry—were the ones who wrote the New Testament. They were to “bind up the testimony” and “seal the law”—to complete the Testimony and teach the true spiritual meaning of the law. This task would never have been left to others, living decades later, who never knew Jesus nor were taught by Him personally.

The Importance of Faithful Eyewitnesses

Because human testimony is sometimes fallible, God commanded that disputes and critical issues be settled on the word of two or three witnesses (see Deut. 17:6-7 and 19:15 for the principle). Most assuredly, truth itself is established only by faithful witnesses—for “a faithful witness will not lie” (Prov. 14:5). Jesus Christ specifically chose those who would bear true witness of His teachings and ministry. Therefore, we can have full confidence and assurance that those who wrote the New Testament wrote the truth and nothing less.

The whole purpose of Christ’s life and ministry was to testify of the truth of God the Father and bring the way of salvation to mankind. Since Jesus is “the way, the truth and the life,” He was and is a true Witness of God. The Greek word for a witness is marturos, which “signifies one that gives testimony to the truth at the expense of his life” (Cruden’s Complete Concordance, 1986, p. 754). Jesus was the ultimate Witness, giving His life for the truth of God.

Christ—“the faithful Witness” (Rev. 1:5)—commanded His disciples to preach the Gospel to all nations as His witnesses. “And in His name, repentance and remission of sins should be preached to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. For you are witnesses of these things” (Luke 24:47-48).

The Gospels: Eyewitness Testimonies

The process of writing the Gospels was much different from the writing of the Epistles of the apostles James, Peter, John, Jude and Paul. The Epistles are not detailed histories of events covering many years—as are the Gospels and the book of Acts—and were generally composed by one person over a short period of time. The Gospels and Acts, however, contain material from numerous sources collected over a number of years before being put into final form by Jesus’ chosen apostles.

It is important to understand that the Gospel accounts of the life of Christ were written by direct eyewitnesses of Jesus’ ministry—with the exception of Luke, who used the eyewitness accounts of many disciples. The twelve disciples who were ordained by Jesus as apostles were the primary eyewitnesses, and we can accept their writings and testimonies as the truth. There were scores of additional eyewitnesses who authenticated the disciples’ testimony. Scriptural evidence confirms that the accounts of Jesus’ life and ministry were written long before the eyewitness writers died—with some portions being written as early as 26 AD, at the beginning of Jesus’ ministry.

The Twelve Apostles: The word apostle means “one sent bearing authority.” The apostles were personally commissioned by Jesus Christ to bear His authority and were sent in His name to preach the Gospel in all the world. When the time came for Jesus to appoint and ordain the twelve as apostles, He prayed to God the Father all night and then selected them from among the disciples who followed Him. Those He named and ordained were Peter, Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alpheus, Simon the Zealot, Judas the brother of James, and Judas Iscariot (Luke 6:12-16; Mark 3:13-19).

The Gospel of Matthew: We know from the Gospel accounts that Matthew was with Jesus Christ during His entire ministry. As a Levite, Matthew would have had knowledge of the Old Testament Scriptures. When we examine the Gospel of Matthew, it becomes evident that he used his knowledge of the Scriptures to show how prophecies were fulfilled in the life of Jesus and by the events of His ministry. As a tax collector, Matthew must have been well educated and skilled in record keeping. In order to keep tax records for Herod Antipas, he would have had an excellent command of Greek. There is little doubt that Matthew used his varied talents to record the teachings and activities of Jesus from the beginning of His ministry in 26 AD. This is especially evident when we closely examine the Sermon on the Mount, found in Matthew 5-7. When compared to the account in Luke 6, Matthew’s account is a detailed, almost word-for-word rendition of what Jesus taught His disciples. Therefore, there is no doubt that Matthew wrote the Gospel that bears his name.

The Gospel of John: The historical acceptance of the apostle John as author of the Gospel of John is based on an ancient source. Edmond Hiebert, Th.D., writes: “In A.D. 324 or 325, Eusebius in his noted Ecclesiastical History recorded the results of his investigations concerning the four [G]ospels. He wrote about the apostle John, ‘His Gospel, which is known to all the churches under heaven, must be acknowledged as genuine.’ In the same chapter [Eusebius] asserts, ‘But of the writings of John, not only his Gospel, but also the former of his [E]pistles, have been accepted without dispute both now and in ancient times” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 1, pp. 192-193).

From the Gospels, we know that the apostle John was with Jesus throughout His ministry. Moreover, Jesus had a close relationship with John, whom He greatly loved (John 13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7, 20). While He was dying on the cross, Jesus entrusted John with the care of His mother Mary (John 19:26-27). Furthermore, John had a special vantage point in that he—with his brother James and the apostle Peter—witnessed the transfiguration of Jesus.

The Gospel of John is entirely different from the synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark and Luke) in that it contains deeper spiritual teachings than the other Gospels. When we examine the writings of the apostle John, it is evident that he was moved to write more about the love of God than were any of the other apostles. Moreover, because the chronology of the Gospel of John follows the progression of the annual holy days, it gives us an accurate, year-by-year time frame for Jesus’ ministry. There is little question that the apostle John wrote the Gospel that bears his name—in which he states that the express purpose of the book is that we might “believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing, [we might] have life through His name” (John 20:30-31).

The Gospel of Mark: This Gospel is unique in that its writer, Mark, was probably a teenager during Jesus’ ministry. Mark identifies himself as the one who fled naked when Jesus was arrested on the night before His crucifixion (Mark 14:51-52). From this account we know that Mark was indeed an eyewitness to Jesus’ ministry, although he was not chosen to be an apostle. Mark lived in Jerusalem with his mother, Mary, who was also a disciple of Jesus (Acts 12:12). Beginning in 44 AD, Mark worked with Paul and Barnabas before returning to Jerusalem. Later, after 60 AD, Mark was with Peter in Babylon (I Pet. 5:13).

Hiebert writes: “Certain features are consistent with [the Gospel’s] traditional association with Peter…. [Such a] connection naturally accounts for the ‘eyewitness vividness’ of many of Mark’s episodes…. The inclusion of Aramaic expressions attributed to Jesus (5:41; 7:11, 34; 14:36), not found in the other gospels, may well be due to the fact that Mark recalled ‘vividly the tone of the Apostle in relating the Master’s solemn words.’… Peter’s traditional connection with the [G]ospel is supported by the fact that it conforms to the outline of the story as given by Peter in Acts 10:34-43.

“We accept without hesitation the Marcan authorship of the second [G]ospel. This view does justice to the early and strong external evidence concerning its authorship and is consistent with the

The Gospel of Luke and the Book of Acts: Concerning Luke’s Gospel, Hiebert wrote: “Although the name of the author nowhere appears in it, the third [G]ospel does not present itself as an anonymous work…. [It] is certain that Theophilus, the original recipient of the [G]ospel, knew the writer’s identity. In fact, it must have been common knowledge from the very beginning. Since the name of the author cannot with unquestioned certainty be deduced from the contents of his work, the uniform traditional ascription of it to Luke must represent information known from the first century” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 1, p. 114).

The Gospel of Luke differs from the other Gospels inasmuch as Luke was not an eyewitness of Christ’s ministry as were Matthew, Mark and John. Rather, Luke used the accounts of numerous eyewitnesses to compile his Gospel. During the period recorded in Acts 13 to the end of the book, Luke was, however, an eyewitness to the apostle Paul’s ministry. Luke was a Greek physician who apparently had been converted in Antioch, which was the location of the apostle Paul’s home Church, or headquarters. From Paul’s Epistles and the book of Acts, it is evident that Luke accompanied Paul during much of his ministry, serving as Paul’s scribe, record-keeper and physician. Thus, we can conclude that Luke wrote his account under Paul’s supervision.

Luke himself offers important information about the writing of his Gospel. He begins his account: “Since many have taken in hand to compile a written narration of the matters which have been fully believed among us, as they delivered them to us, those who from the beginning had been eyewitnesses and ministers of the Word, it seemed good to me also, having accurately understood everything from the very first, to write these things in an orderly sequence to you, most excellent Theophilus, so that you might know the absolute certainty of the things in which you have been instructed” (Luke 1:1-4). Luke begins the book of Acts in much the same way, writing of “the things that Jesus began both to do and to teach, until the day in which He was taken up…” (Acts 1:1-2).

Luke writes of disciples who, from the beginning, had been “eyewitnesses and ministers of the Word.” Who are these “eyewitnesses”? By examining Luke’s writings closely, we can discover the identity of many of these witnesses.

Soon after His resurrection, Jesus appeared to the disciples in Jerusalem where He “opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, and said to them, ‘According as it is written, it was necessary for the Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day. And in His name, repentance and remission of sins should be preached to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. For you are witnesses of these things’” (Luke 24:45-48).

Prior to ascending to heaven, Jesus promised the disciples that they would receive power from the Holy Spirit, stating, “[Y]ou shall be My witnesses, both in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and unto the ends of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

In the book of Acts, we find that whenever the apostles proclaimed Jesus Christ and His resurrection, they emphatically declared that they were His witnesses. In his first message, Peter proclaimed: “This Jesus has God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses” (Acts 2:32). In the third chapter of Acts, Peter referred to Jesus as “the Author of life Whom God has raised from the dead, whereof we are witnesses” (Acts 3:15). Later, standing before the Sanhedrin, Peter said, “We are obligated to obey God rather than men. The God of our fathers raised up Jesus Whom you killed by hanging Him on a tree. Him has God exalted by His right hand to be a Prince and Savior, to give repentance and remission of sins to Israel. And we are His witnesses of these things, as is also the Holy Spirit, which God has given to those who obey Him” (Acts 5:29-32).

Years later—as God was opening up salvation to the Gentiles—Peter described Jesus’ ministry and works, saying, “And we are witnesses of all the things that He did, both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem. They killed Him by hanging Him on a tree. But God raised Him up on the third day, and showed Him openly, not to all the people, but to witnesses who had been chosen before by God, to those of us who did eat and drink with Him after He had risen from the dead” (Acts 10:39-41). Again, Peter emphasizes that he and the other apostles were witnesses, chosen by God.

We can conclude that the apostles were the primary “eyewitnesses and ministers of the Word” that Luke wrote of in Luke 1:1-4, because they had been with Jesus from the beginning. They were chosen by God and commissioned by Jesus to preach and to write the Gospel by His authority. It was the apostles who wrote the Gospels and the rest of the New Testament, directed by Jesus under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. As the Head of the Church, Jesus Christ did not leave the task of writing the most important book in the world to unknown storytellers living decades, or centuries after the apostles had died.

Other Key Eyewitnesses: Luke makes it clear that many of Christ’s disciples had taken it upon themselves to write accounts of what they had heard Jesus say and what they had seen Him do with their own eyes. Indeed, there were numerous eyewitnesses who contributed firsthand accounts in the compilation of the Gospels. Who were they? Luke’s account in the first chapter of Acts provides clues: “And after entering Jerusalem, they [the apostles and other disciples] went up into the upper chamber, where both Peter and James were staying; and John and Andrew; Philip and Thomas; Bartholomew and Matthew; James, the son of Alpheus, and Simon the Zealot; and Jude, the brother of James [the eleven apostles]. All these were steadfastly continuing with one accord in prayer and supplications, together with the women, including Mary, the mother of Jesus, and with His brothers. And in those days, Peter stood up in the midst of the disciples (now the number of names together was about a hundred and twenty)” (Acts 1:9-15).

Here, Luke specifies that Mary, the mother of Jesus, and His four brothers (Mark 6:3) were included in that number. Also, counted among them were Joseph and Matthias, one of whom was to replace Judas Iscariot. Undoubtedly among the 120 were the 70 disciples that Jesus sent to preach the Gospel in various villages and cities to prepare His way (Luke 10:1-20). There is no question that Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and Joses, and Salome were also included in the 120 (Mark 15:40-41). Based on these passages, we can thus identify most of the 120 eyewitnesses described as early disciples of Jesus.

Others, perhaps, might include the two disciples with whom Jesus walked to the village of Emmaus; Mark, who wrote the Gospel of Mark, and his mother Mary; Lazarus and his sisters Martha and Mary; Nathanael, an early disciple of Jesus (John 1:46-52); Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus (John 19:38-39); and Jesus’ sisters (Mark 6:3).

Because of the magnitude of the life and ministry of Christ—God manifested in the flesh—Jesus did not simply select two or three witnesses as required under Old Testament law. Rather, it is apparent that—in order to ensure the veracity of the Gospels—Jesus chose 40 x 3, or about 120 witnesses.

Mary, the Mother of Jesus, and Mary Magdalene: After the twelve apostles, perhaps the most important eyewitness was Mary, the mother of Jesus—contributing the account of her visit with Elizabeth; Elizabeth’s salutation to Mary; Mary’s hymn to God; the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem; the shepherds’ visit as Jesus lay in the manger; and the words of Simeon and Anna when Mary and Joseph presented Jesus at the Temple after Mary’s purification (Luke 1:39-2:35). Undoubtedly, she contributed to the accounts of Herod’s attempt to kill Jesus and of the escape of Joseph, Mary and Jesus by night to Egypt, as well as their return to Nazareth (Matt. 2:1-23). Only Mary was an eyewitness to all of these events, having “stored up all these sayings” in her heart (Luke 2:19).

Mary Magdalene contributed as well to the compilation of the Gospels. Mary went to Jesus’ tomb early in the morning (John 20:1-18), where Jesus appeared to her first. The account of Jesus’ conversation with Mary Magdalene must have originated with her, because she and Jesus were the only ones privy to the exchange.

The Apostles Give Themselves to the Ministry of the Word

After His resurrection, Jesus appeared to the apostles in order to open their minds to Old Testament prophecies concerning His ministry, death and resurrection (Luke 24:44-47). He charged them saying, “For you are witnesses of these things” (verse 48).

Without question, the apostles realized the magnitude of their work. Note Peter’s powerful answer, for example, in Acts 4:5-12 when he and John were brought before the Sanhedrin for healing a man. Later, in a similar situation, Peter concluded his response by saying, “And we are His witnesses of these things…” (Acts 5:32).

Within a year after Christ’s crucifixion, the apostles had fully devoted themselves to the “ministry of the Word” (Acts 6:4). From the introduction to his Gospel, we can conclude that Luke meant that the apostles were compiling and writing down the teachings of Jesus, which later became the Gospels (Luke 1:1-2). Because of the increase in the number of disciples, the apostles no doubt realized the need for a written compilation of Christ’s teachings—a uniform standard from which to teach new disciples.

In giving themselves to the ministry of the Word, the apostles were writing their narratives. Other eyewitnesses probably assisted the apostles in verifying and compiling their writings, which later became the Gospels as we know them. Luke wrote that the apostles “delivered them [the written accounts] to us” (Luke 1:2). Thus, the teachings of Jesus were written down from the beginning. Matthew probably recorded many parts of what became his Gospel much earlier, near the beginning of Jesus’ ministry.

Three Special Eyewitnesses—Peter, James and John

Jesus selected Peter, James and John to witness a vision of Him as God in His glorified form on the Mount of Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1-9). After Jesus’ resurrection, these three would become especially powerful witnesses, greater than the rest of the twelve apostles in preaching and performing miracles.

The only other man to have seen God in His glorified form was Moses. The LORD God, Who became Jesus Christ, showed His glory to Moses and talked with him face-to-face (Ex. 33:18-23, 34:1-9). When we understand the status of Moses, then we will understand why Jesus chose Peter, James and John to be special eyewitnesses of His glory, and what this choice meant in regard to writing and canonizing the New Testament.

Moses received the Law directly from God Himself—and wrote the book of the Law and the rest of the Law as contained in Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy, along with the book of Genesis. Then he officially finalized, or canonized, the books and gave them to the priests for safekeeping (Deut. 31:9).

Moses had God’s stamp of authority. No one in the history of Israel was greater. Moses was considered a prophet par excellence because 1) he spoke to God face-to-face, 2) wrote the Law, 3) canonized the first five books of the Bible and, 4) led the children of Israel to the Promised Land.

Jesus Christ gave this same stamp of approval to Peter, James and John—the only eyewitnesses to Jesus’ transfiguration. Just as Moses had led the children of Israel, these three apostles would lead in preaching the Gospel to all the world—not only by their spoken words, but also by their writings. Just as Moses wrote and canonized the first five books of the Old Testament, they would help write and then finalize the complete New Testament. The apostles were to “bind up the testimony and seal the law,” which meant they were to write the New Testament, showing that Christ’s teachings made the Law complete by revealing the spiritual meaning and intent of the laws and commandments of God. Truly, another of Isaiah’s prophecies has been fulfilled (Isa. 42:21).

The Disciples and Apostles Were to Do Greater Works Than Jesus

On the night of His last Passover, Jesus told His apostles: “Truly, truly I say to you, the one who believes in Me shall also do the works that I do; and greater works than these shall he do because I am going to the Father” (John 14:12). Thus, Jesus confirmed the authority He would give to Peter, James and John (as well as to the other apostles) which would later be manifested in powerful, unheard-of miracles—such as those recorded in Acts 3:1-11.

Christ had so established the power and authority of Peter and the other apostles that when Ananias and his wife Sapphira lied to Peter, they fell over dead (Acts 5:1-10). The Church was greatly affected by these events. “Then great fear came upon the whole church, and upon all who heard these things. And many signs and wonders were done among the people by the hands of the apostles…” (verses 11-12). There was no question that God was working through Peter, John, and the rest of the apostles by the power of the Holy Spirit. Through preaching, miracles, and wonders, the authority of the apostles was fully established. Thus, the apostles fulfilled Jesus’ promise that they would do greater works than He had done.

The Apostle Peter—a Special Eyewitness

The vision of the transfiguration affected the apostle Peter and his ministry for the rest of his life. In his First Epistle, when Peter addressed the elders of the churches, he referred back to this vision of the glory of the transfigured Christ. He writes: “The elders who are among you I exhort, even as a fellow elder, and an eyewitness of the sufferings of Christ, and a partaker of the glory that is about to be revealed. Feed the flock of God that is among you” (I Pet. 5:1-2).

In his Second Epistle, Peter wrote that the New Testament writings of the apostles were not based on folklore or myth. “For we did not follow cleverly concocted myths as our authority, when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we were eyewitnesses of His magnificent glory [in the transfiguration]…” (II Pet. 1:16). It is most evident that the transfiguration was a defining experience for Peter, and dramatically impacted his entire ministry—including his writings.

Peter aptly described what the apostles wrote, compiled and canonized as “the confirmed prophetic Word.” Thus was Isaiah 8:16 fulfilled. This was not a foretelling of future events, but the inspired writings of the books of the New Testament. “We also possess the confirmed prophetic Word [the New Testament books that the apostles had] to which you do well to pay attention, as to a light shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star arises in your hearts; knowing this first, that no prophecy [inspired writing] of Scripture [New Testament or Old Testament] originated as anyone’s own private interpretation [it did not evolve from religious myths]; because prophecy was not brought at any time [Old Testament or New Testament] by human will, but the holy men of God spoke [and wrote] as they were moved by the Holy Spirit” (II Pet. 1:19-21). There is no question that the New Testament is the “confirmed prophetic [inspired] Word,” and, as Paul wrote, the “prophetic [inspired] scriptures” (Rom. 16:26).

The Apostle John—a Special Eyewitness

Jesus Christ referred to John and his brother James as the “sons of thunder” (Mark 3:17). In many passages of the Bible the voice of God is likened to thunder. James and John were called the sons of thunder because they preached the Word of God with great power. James was beheaded by Herod in 44 AD (Acts 12:1-2). The Jews also wanted to kill Peter (verse 3-5), but God spared him, leaving John and Peter as the last remaining eyewitnesses of the transfiguration.

Seeing Jesus in His glorified form was an awesome spiritual experience for John, the disciple whom Jesus especially loved. Thus, he began his Gospel in a powerful, though simple, way that demonstrated the lasting impact of the transfiguration. “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God…” (see John 1:1-4, 9, 14, 16). All of the apostles knew that the LORD God of the Old Testament had been manifested in the flesh—but none of the others expressed this profound truth as powerfully and effectively as John.

In his First Epistle, John wrote of what he and the other apostles had experienced firsthand during Christ’s ministry: “That which was from the beginning, that which we have heard, that which we have seen with our own eyes, that which we observed for ourselves and our own hands handled, concerning the Word of life; (And the life was manifested, and we have seen, and are bearing witness, and are reporting to you the eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested to us;) that which we have seen and have heard we are reporting to you in order that you also may have fellowship with us; for the fellowship—indeed, our fellowship—is with the Father and with His own Son, Jesus Christ” (I John 1:1-3).

The Special Help of the Holy Spirit

After His last Passover with the apostles, Jesus explained that they would be aided by the power of the Holy Spirit to remember whatever was necessary for their ministry of the Gospel: “But when the Comforter comes, even the Holy Spirit, which the Father will send in My name, that one shall teach you all things, and shall bring to your remembrance everything that I have told you” (John 14:26). Jesus told the apostles that they would be His witnesses after the Comforter came to reside within them: “But when the Comforter has come, which I will send to you from the Father, even the Spirit of the truth … that one shall bear witness of Me. Then you also shall bear witness, because you have been with Me from the beginning” (John 15:26-27).

Under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, the apostles compiled and wrote the truth contained in the New Testament. As John was concluding his Gospel, he specifically stated that through belief in Christ and His words one could have eternal life: “But these [miracles] have been written, so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing, you may have life through His name” (John 20:31).
Part Two: The Uniqueness of Epistles and Revelation as Scripture

After the Gospels and Acts, most of the rest of the New Testament was inspired to be written in the unique form of personal letters, or epistles. Because believers have a personal, family relationship with the Father and Christ, God inspired that His love and instructions for them would be conveyed in the form of epistles written by the apostles. As Hiebert has pointed out: “The New Testament is striking in that practically one-third of its contents is letters…. In this prominent use of the epistolary form the New Testament is distinct from all the other sacred writings of the world….”

“Under the legal dispensation the demands of God were set forth in legal documents, sealed with the direct authority of God; in the age of grace God further makes known His will to His children through loving letters of instruction and exhortation. With the inauguration of the age of grace, the apostles wrote letters to the brethren in a spirit of loving intimacy…” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 2, pp. 13-14, bold emphasis added).

Under the New Covenant, believers become the children of God the Father through the begettal of the Holy Spirit. “You have received the Spirit of sonship, whereby we call out, ‘Abba [Daddy], Father.’ The Spirit itself bears witness conjointly with our own spirit, testifying that we are the children of God” (Rom. 8:15-16). Indeed, the New Testament is the only book in the world that intimately reveals God’s love for His begotten children and Jesus Christ’s love for His brethren.

The General Epistles

The seven General Epistles were written by James, the brother of Jesus, Peter, John and Jude, another of Jesus’ brothers, who apparently was ordained an apostle to succeed James after the latter was martyred in 62 AD. These four were sent by Jesus to witness to the children of Israel, as were all of the apostles except Paul and Barnabas.

In order to understand the General Epistles, especially the Epistle of James, one needs to understand that Christ’s commission to preach the Gospel to those “of the circumcision” did not include only the Jews—which consisted of the tribe of Judah, part of the tribe of Levi and part of the tribe of Benjamin, known as the house of Judah—but also the so-called “lost” ten tribes of Israel, known also as the house of Israel. Jesus sent the twelve apostles, saying: “Do not go into the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter into a city of the Samaritans; but go instead to the lost sheep of the house of Israel [not to the house of Judah only]. And as you are going, proclaim, saying, ‘The kingdom of heaven is at hand’” (Matt. 10:5-7).

When the twelve apostles went on this first mission, it is obvious that they did not leave the area of Galilee and Judea. However, from Jesus’ instructions, it is evident that He meant this commission to be carried out continuously in every generation until His return (Matt. 10:23). The ten northern tribes known as the house of Israel were never part of the Jewish nation, which was known as the house of Judah. To this day, the ten tribes of the house of Israel are not a part of the Jewish nation located in Palestine, called Israel. The Bible records that the ten tribes were taken into captivity by the Assyrians in 721-718 BC, who exiled them, into Assyria, Persia and Media (II Kings 17:21-24).

When Peter addressed the multitudes on Pentecost 30 AD, he demonstrated that he understood the difference between the Jews (the house of Judah) and the Israelites (the house of Israel) by specifically addressing both groups (Acts 2:14, 22). Peter concluded by calling on “all the house of Israel” to repent (verse 36). The phrase “all the house of Israel” means all twelve tribes—the ten northern tribes of the house of Israel as well as the Jews of the house of Judah. It is important to understand this vital biblical and historical distinction between the house of Judah and the house of Israel in order to know to whom the apostle James wrote his Epistle.

The Epistle of James: The New Testament gives some basic facts about James. Mark records that James was one of four half-brothers of Jesus Christ (Mark 6:3). This means that James and his three brothers, Joses, Judas (Jude) and Simon, grew up with Jesus. As brothers, they had a special relationship with Jesus. They were eyewitnesses of Jesus’ life while He was growing up. They lived with Jesus, talked with Him, ate with Him and worked with Him on a daily basis.

Yet, in spite of this, when Jesus began His ministry, they did not become His disciples. It appears that before Jesus’ resurrection, they did not really believe He was the Messiah (John 7:1-6). After His resurrection, Jesus appeared personally to James (I Cor. 15:7). Afterwards, James believed, as did his other half-brothers, because all of Jesus’ brothers, along with His mother Mary, were in the assembly of the original 120 disciples mentioned in Acts 1:14. It is uncertain when James became an apostle, but in 36 AD the apostle Paul referred to him as such (Gal. 1:19).

When the apostle James wrote his Epistle to the twelve tribes of Israel, he knew exactly where they were located: “James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes, which are in the dispersion: Greetings!” (James 1:1.) Obviously, his Epistle was sent to believers—Jewish and Israelite—living in the various countries named in Acts 2:9-11.

First Peter: The apostle Peter wrote the First Epistle that bears his name. At the beginning of his Epistle, Peter clearly identifies himself: “Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ” (I Pet. 1:1). We find that Silvanus and Mark were with Peter in Babylon (I Pet. 5:12-13). Therefore, it is very probable that Peter used Mark or Silvanus as his scribe.

Hiebert relates, “The early Church had no doubts concerning the authenticity of I Peter. The evidence for the epistle is early and clear, and it is as strong as for any other book in the New Testament. It was universally received as an acknowledged part of the Christian Scriptures” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, p. 105).

Peter and his brother Andrew were the first two disciples that Jesus called (John 1:39-44; Mark 1:16-18; Matt. 4:18-20; Luke 5:1-9). When Jesus selected the twelve apostles, Peter was named first (Mark 3:16; Luke 6:14). As we have seen, the apostle Peter was one of the special eyewitnesses, along with the apostle John and his brother James, who saw the glory of Jesus’ transfiguration on the holy mount (Matt. 17:1-9). These three were the initial leaders of the twelve apostles, although the book of Acts makes it clear that Peter and John fulfilled the primary leadership roles (Acts 2-5).

Some traditions make the claim that Peter was the first pope, and that he ministered in Rome for twenty-five years and was martyred there. However, most biblical scholars consider these traditions invalid because they have no factual basis in the New Testament. In fact, there is no place in the New Testament where Christ or the apostles authorized any man to assume the exalted office and title of pope, or “holy father.” Jesus commanded the apostles never to call any man “Rabbi” or “Father.” Such an exalted religious position is diametrically opposed to the teachings of Jesus Christ, Who set an example of love and service during His entire ministry (Matt. 20:25-28).

Second Peter: There is a notable difference in the style of writing and language of II Peter as compared to I Peter. Apparently the apostasy sweeping the churches of God was so vicious and insidious that Peter condemned such false teachings in the strongest language possible. Undoubtedly, this is why the style and language of Peter’s Second Epistle is so different from that of his First Epistle. (Read II Peter 2 in its entirety to understand the full force of Peter’s condemnation of false teachers.)

When the internal evidence is examined, there is little doubt that Peter wrote this Epistle. He begins his Second Epistle as he began his first, by identifying himself: “Simon Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to those who have obtained the same precious faith as ours by the righteousness of our God and Savior, Jesus Christ” (II Pet. 1:1). Hiebert notes, “The claim to Petrine authorship is stronger in this epistle than in I Peter. The writer calls himself Simon Peter (1:1) and identifies himself as a witness of the transfiguration (1:16-18). He places himself on a level with the apostle Paul (3:15), identifies himself as the writer of a previous epistle (3:1), and recalls the Lord’s prediction concerning his death (1:14)” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, p. 139).

While strongly condemning false teachers, Peter exhorts believers to be diligent and to develop godly Christian character through faith and the understanding that they are perfected through the love of God (1:5-11). Finally, he encourages the brethren not to give up hope because “the day of the Lord” and Christ’s second coming did not appear to be imminent. He reminds them that in spite of scoffers, the promises of God were sure and “the day of the Lord” would occur at its set time in the future (3:1-14).

First John: This Epistle has an unusual beginning, in that it opens without an address or a declaration of the writer’s name. Apparently, the writer was so well known and had such an intimate relationship with the intended recipients of his Epistle that he had no need to identify himself. It is clear that they knew who he was and recognized his apostolic authority. Thus, John opens his epistle with a special preamble showing that he was an intimate disciple of Jesus Christ who had been with Him from the beginning of His ministry (I John 1:1-4).

There appears no doubt whatsoever that the apostle John wrote the Epistle of I John: “In fact all Fathers, Greek and Latin, accept this epistle as being by John…. Thus the evidence shows that this epistle, undoubtedly one of the latest of the New Testament books to be written, took an immediate and permanent position as an authoritative writing of inspiration” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, p. 184).
When the style and language of John’s First Epistle is compared with that of the Gospel of John, there can be no question that the apostle John wrote these books. In both, the language is simple and direct, revealing the spiritual love and power of God the Father and Jesus Christ. One of the most interesting features in all of John’s writings is his use of contrasting opposites that show the difference between the way of God and the way of Satan and the world—the light of God vs. the darkness of the devil.

Second and Third John: The similarity in content, language and style of these two short Epistles clearly demonstrates that they were written by the apostle John. These Epistles further strengthen the teachings in his First Epistle and his Gospel. Hiebert writes: “The relationship of these letters to I John further makes it clear that all three must have come from the same hand. Second John bears the closest resemblance to the first. More than half of its contents are also contained in 1 John. Both of these epistles have many phrases which recall, or are identical with those of the first epistle” (Ibid., p. 218).

The Epistle of Jude: In the first verse of this short Epistle, the author identifies himself as the brother of James. The salutation here is very similar to that in the Epistle of the apostle James, which begins: “James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ.” The opening of Jude’s Epistle is nearly identical: “Jude, a servant of Jesus Christ and brother of James, to the called saints, sanctified by God the Father and kept in Jesus Christ.”

Little is known about Jude. However, we know that Jude was the third of the four half-brothers of Jesus, which means that he was probably much younger than James (Mark 6:3). Also, Luke noted that all of Jesus’ half-brothers were counted among the original 120 disciples (Acts 1:14). Jude was a special eyewitness of Jesus’ life—he lived with Jesus, talked with Him, ate with Him, and worked with Him on a daily basis.

There is no record, from history or Scripture, as to when Jude became a prominent leader in the Church. However, it is probable that he replaced James as the overseer of the Church in Jerusalem after James was martyred in 62 AD. After James was killed, many of the Jewish believers began to leave Christianity and turn back to Judaism and to Jewish Gnosticism. At this time, a “great apostasy” was sweeping the churches, as noted in the three Epistles of John, II Peter and many of the epistles of Paul (such as II Thessalonians). No doubt Jude witnessed these events firsthand. His Epistle shows that many believers were following ungodly men who had stealthily crept in and had established themselves in positions of authority—and were perverting the grace of God by granting license to sin. Apparently, the apostasy was so powerful and the situation was so desperate that Jude urged believers to earnestly fight for the original “faith once delivered” to the saints (Jude 3-4).

The Epistles of the Apostle Paul

The New Testament contains more information about Paul than any other apostle. He wrote of himself in many of his fourteen Epistles. In addition, the book of Acts contains firsthand, detailed accounts of Paul’s conversion, his ministry and his travels. The Interpreter’s Dictionary of the Bible contains this synopsis: “We are dependent on Acts alone for most of our knowledge of Paul’s career. That he was born in Tarsus, and was a citizen of Tarsus by birth; that he was named Saul; that he was educated in Jerusalem ‘at the feet of Gamaliel’ (Acts 22:3); that he was present at the stoning of Stephen and was a persecutor of the Jerusalem church; that he made a persecuting trip to Damascus and was converted as he approached this city; that he subsequently engaged in three distinct missionary journeys; that he was arrested in Jerusalem, appealed to Caesar as the right of a Roman citizen, and was sent to Rome for trial—all this we know only from Acts. Paul himself never mentions any one of these items” (vol. 3, pp. 683-684).

Saul was a Roman citizen by birth and was well educated. Growing up in Tarsus, he must have been educated in the Roman schools and by the local rabbis as well. He also must have been extremely gifted, because he was selected to go to Jerusalem for advanced studies in Judaism. Saul was taught there by Gamaliel, a Pharisee, the most renowned Jewish teacher of his day. There is no indication of Saul’s age when he went to Gamaliel’s school. Since Paul does not mention that he was in Jerusalem or Judea during Jesus Christ’s ministry, it can only be assumed that he returned to Tarsus before Jesus began preaching.

Saul, the zealous persecutor who ravaged the Church, was the last person that anyone, other than God, would have called to be the apostle to the Gentiles. But after Saul’s dramatic conversion (Acts 9:1-18) Christ called him a “chosen vessel to Me, to bear My name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel” (verse 15). Interestingly, Jesus specifically chose Saul—a zealous Pharisee steeped in

Judaism—to ensure that Judaism and its traditional works of law would never supplant the grace of God through faith in Christ. Indeed, “God works in mysterious ways.”

After being baptized by Ananias, Saul remained in Damascus for a short time, testifying that Jesus was the Christ (Acts 9:19-22). Later, he went into Arabia for three years, during which time Christ personally taught him in visions. Therefore, the Gospel that Paul preached did not come from any of the other apostles—it came directly from Jesus Christ (Gal. 1:11-19).

Aside from the crucifixion, death and resurrection of Christ, the Lord’s call and conversion of Saul—who became Paul, the apostle to the Gentiles—is perhaps the greatest act of grace recounted in the New Testament. Because Paul had received this most profound grace, he fully understood the grace of God through Jesus. Therefore, in the same way that God used the apostle John to teach and write more on the love of God than any other apostle, He used the apostle Paul to teach and write more about the magnificent grace of God than any other apostle.

Paul’s Ministry and Apostleship: Luke adds more details about Paul’s visit to Jerusalem after he returned from Arabia in 36 AD: “And when Saul came to Jerusalem, he attempted to join himself to the disciples; but all were afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple. Then Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles [James and Peter], and [Paul] related to them how he had seen the Lord on the road, and that He had spoken to him, and how in Damascus he had spoken boldly in the name of Jesus. And he was with them, coming in and going out in Jerusalem, and speaking boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then he spoke and disputed with the [Greek-speaking Jews], but they attempted to kill him. And when the brethren learned of it, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him away to Tarsus” (Acts 9:26-30).

Paul remained in Tarsus until 40 AD. By that time, through the preaching of the disciples, God had raised up a great number of Gentile believers in Antioch, the first converts to be called “Christians.” The apostles sent Barnabas to minister to them, but there were so many disciples that Barnabas went to Tarsus and found Paul and brought him to Antioch to help him minister to them (Acts 11:20-26).

Four years later, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, Barnabas and Paul were ordained as apostles—and soon afterwards were sent on their first evangelistic tour (Acts 13:1-4). During this first tour, Saul was renamed Paul (verse 9).

The Nature of Paul’s Epistles: During the next twenty years of the apostle Paul’s ministry, he and his helpers traveled extensively. God used him to raise up numerous churches throughout Asia Minor, Galatia, Greece, Rome, Italy, Spain and perhaps other countries not mentioned in the book of Acts. Paul wrote epistles to the churches to instruct them in the Gospel of Christ and to address questions pertaining to Christian living. Fourteen of the New Testament Epistles were written by Paul. Nine were written to seven specific churches: Romans, I and II Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and I and II Thessalonians. Four are called “Pastoral Epistles” because they were written to ministers who had worked with Paul: I and II Timothy, Titus and Philemon. The book of Hebrews can be categorized as a general Epistle because it was written to the Greek-speaking Church at large, rather than to a specific congregation or individual.

Apparently the only Epistle that Paul wrote with his own hand was that addressed to the Galatians (Gal. 6:11). He usually dictated his Epistles to a scribe. Paul used Luke quite extensively, along with Silas, Timothy, and perhaps Mark and others as scribes.

Hiebert writes that Paul’s Epistles are “not abstract doctrinal dissertations on some particular aspect of the Christian faith. They were written to meet specific needs and were adapted to the occasion. The epistolary method enabled Paul to stress the truths of Christianity again and again in different contexts and with different applications, all according to the needs of his readers…. [The] use of the epistolary form … does not rob these writings of their authority as Scripture. Everywhere in the lofty, unwavering testimony of the writer there is that sense of authority which gives these writings their force and finality” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 2, pp. 14-16).

The Book of Revelation

The book of Revelation, also known as the Apocalypse, is the most intriguing, mysterious and enigmatic book in the Bible. It is fitting that it stands as the last book of the New Testament and of the entire Bible. What God began as recorded in the book of Genesis, He is going to finish as recorded in the book of Revelation. The first chapter of Revelation marks the beginning of the end—as Jesus said, “’I AM THE ALPHA AND THE OMEGA, THE BEGINNING AND THE ENDING,’ says the Lord, ‘Who is, and Who was, and Who is to come—the Almighty’” (1:8). When all of the events described in Revelation have been fulfilled, Jesus proclaimed that His work will be done—the end will have arrived. What He started in the beginning, He will have finished: “And He said to me, ‘It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End.’ To the one who thirsts, I will give freely of the fountain of the water of life’” (21:6). Genesis and Revelation, encompassing all of Scripture, reveal the plan of God in microcosm. It is fitting that what Genesis began, Revelation finishes.

Hiebert writes, “The book of Revelation is the true capstone of the Bible. It is the only distinctively prophetic book of the New Testament. Other New Testament books contain various prophetic portions, but none of them provides such a sustained prophetic picture of the future as is given in this concluding book of [the] biblical canon. Without it our Bible would be quite incomplete—like a stirring story without an ending or a drama without its climax. It brings the eschatological expectations of the Church to their fitting conclusion [with the return of Jesus Christ to earth and the establishment of the kingdom of God]” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, p. 231).

The Book of Daniel and the Book of Revelation: The prophecies of Daniel and Revelation complement one another. Daniel tells half of the story and Revelation tells the rest. When Daniel desired to understand the prophecies that God had given to him, an angel of God told him that it was not for him to know their meaning. Rather, the prophecies he wrote would not be understood in his day, but only at the “time of the end”—and only by the “wise” (Dan. 12:4, 8-10).

But who are the wise? How is it that they will understand and the wicked will not? The wise are those who love God, fear Him and keep His commandments—and because they do, they will understand (Psa. 111:10). They are the ones who “keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus Christ” and again, they are those who “keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus” (Rev. 12:17; 14:12).

The entire book of Revelation is much like the parables that Jesus spoke. Revelation was written to reveal to the people of God what the world will be like in the end times. Only those who have the Spirit of God, love God and keep His commandments will fully understand. Hiebert writes: “The book of Revelation makes serious demands upon the would-be interpreter…. Like other Scriptures, it demands that the interpreter attentively ‘hear what the Spirit saith to the churches’ (2:7)…. As the capstone of the biblical revelation, the Apocalypse is rightly to be understood only in the light of that prior revelation” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, pp. 233-234).

The writer of Revelation identifies himself four times as “John” (1:1, 4, 9; 22:8). This was none other than the apostle Jesus loved, the one who wrote the Gospel of John and three Epistles. While some scholars do not accept the apostle John’s authorship of the book of Revelation, the early historical evidence and traditions of the early Church point to him as the author. Indeed, it was fitting that the disciple whom Jesus especially loved was granted the blessing of writing the final book of the New Testament and Bible.

A Final Summary

Scripture has informed us that God the Father and Jesus Christ specifically chose certain deeply converted men to write the most important and magnificent book in the world—all through the power and inspiration of the Holy Spirit.

Yet, in all the commentaries that have been written about the New Testament, one obvious fact has been emphasized: God used only eight men to write the entire New Testament. Six of them were chosen apostles of Jesus Christ. Three were eyewitnesses of Jesus’ life, His transfiguration and ministry—the apostles Peter, James and John. Two were brothers of Jesus Christ—James and Jude. One, Paul, was specially called to be the apostle to the Gentiles, and for three years Jesus Christ personally taught him in visions. The last two were Mark—who wrote the Gospel of Mark under Peter’s supervision—and Luke, who wrote the Gospel of Luke and Acts under Paul’s supervision.

Still, the apostle John had a distinguished role, as he was used by God to complete the final canonization of the New Testament. As will be brought out in a later chapter, John was of the Aaronic blood line, making him uniquely qualified for the task.

Indeed, the New Testament was written by, or its writing was supervised by, the chosen apostles of Jesus Christ. Therefore, one can have full faith and confidence that the original Greek text—as preserved in the Byzantine text—is the very Word of God.
Chapter Seven

When Was the New Testament Written?

In Chapter Six it has been established—from Scripture and from history—who wrote the New Testament. (See Appendix D, “The New Testament Was Originally Written in Greek.”) But when were the books of the New Testament written? The opinions and hypotheses of scholars vary widely. On the one hand, some view the New Testament as a collection of fables and myths verbally passed on by storytellers for generations before any written documents were made. On the other hand, many scholars believe that most of the New Testament was written before the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple in 70 AD.

In spite of the late dates assigned by some scholars, it is possible to determine when the books of the New Testament were written. However, in order to establish more accurately when these books were written, it is essential to begin with known scriptural facts and verifiable historical dates.

The Gospel of Matthew

Matthew, a Levite and tax collector, was one of the first disciples that Jesus had called to be an apostle. From the internal evidence of his Gospel, it seems probable that he was taking notes of Jesus’ teachings from the beginning of His ministry in 26 AD. Later, the book of Acts describes how the apostles gave themselves to “the ministry of the Word” (Acts 6:4)—that is, they began to write and compile the teachings of Jesus within the first year after His crucifixion in 30 AD. Furthermore, because of the thousands of new believers (Acts 2-5), it was necessary for the apostles to write down Jesus’ words of the New Covenant before the Passover of 31 AD (Matt. 26:17-30; John 13-17). Otherwise, the thousands of new believers would not be able to properly observe their first New Covenant Passover. Robinson writes, “This first stage must have gone back to the earliest days of the Christian mission and the instruction of converts in the 30s and 40s, and was doubtless perpetuated after the demand for more complex formulations arose” (Redating the New Testament, p. 96).

Robinson further suggests that the apostle Paul must have had some version of “the words of the Lord” that he took with him on his first evangelistic mission: “Inasmuch as Paul went out in the first instance as the delegate of this church [at Antioch], we may suppose that this was primarily the tradition of the ‘words of the Lord’ which he took with him, and it would explain the otherwise rather unexpected affinity alike in doctrine and in discipline between Paul and Matthew, especially in early writings like the Thessalonian epistles…. If this is the case, it would go a long way to explain the external tradition that Matthew was the first gospel” (Ibid., p. 97).

The internal evidence gives a fairly good idea of when Matthew began writing his Gospel. However, there is no direct indication as to when he finished it or when it was in general use. Robinson concurs: “Matthew could therefore in a real sense turn out to be both the earliest and [because of later edits] the latest of the synoptists” (Ibid., p. 102). An attempt to determine when the writing of the Gospel of Matthew began and ended logically should begin with an examination of when the Epistle of James was written, because the apostle James’ Epistle was the first New Testament Epistle completed, and it is saturated with Jesus’ teachings as recorded in the Gospel of Matthew. Thus, the Gospel of Matthew must have been written before James wrote his Epistle.
The Epistle of James

From the internal evidence of the Epistle as well as from historical writings, it can be determined that James wrote his Epistle very early. First, James addressed his Epistle to “the twelve tribes, which are in the dispersion” (1:1). This means that his Epistle was sent to the Jewish communities scattered in all the countries around the Mediterranean Sea, as well as to Babylon—and then to the ten tribes of Israel scattered in Persia, Media, Parthia, Scythia and Europe. Furthermore, this is clear evidence that the Jews during the time of the apostles knew where the ten tribes of Israel were located—they were not lost, as later Jewish historians have claimed.

Second, the saints that James wrote to were still a part of the synagogue system (James 2:2). Only Jewish and Israelite Christians in the Diaspora would be associated with synagogues—not unconverted Gentiles. Thus, James wrote very early, before Gentiles began to be called into the Church.

Third, when God later began to call the Gentiles, there was an influx of Gentiles into the churches, as in the case of the Church at Antioch, which was mostly Gentile. However, James makes no mention of any Gentiles in his Epistle. This shows that he wrote his Epistle before there were many Gentile converts in the churches, and before 49 AD when circumcision became an issue.

Hiebert, defending an early date for the Epistle of James, writes: “The fact that there is no mention of circumcision points to a time before this burning question arose in the Church. Before the admission of Gentiles into the Church, the obligation of the ceremonial Law [of circumcision] upon the believers was taken for granted by Jewish Christians, hence needed no discussion….

“The total absence of any reference to Gentiles and their relation to Christianity is strange indeed if Gentile Christians are already a prominent element in the Church. The epistle gives no hint of the existence of Gentile churches….

“We conclude that the evidence points to a date before the Jerusalem conference. The date may thus be suggested as about A.D. 46, at least before A.D. 49. This view makes James the earliest book in the New Testament” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, pp. 52-53).

Robinson as well favors an early date for the Epistle of James—about 47-48 AD (Robinson, Redating the New Testament, p. 138).

It is quite possible, however, that James wrote his Epistle in 40-41 AD—only ten to eleven years after the crucifixion of Jesus Christ—rather than in the mid-to-late 40s. Moreover, in 40 AD the only Gentile Church was in Antioch, and the question of circumcision had not yet become an issue there, so there would have been no need for James to write of it in his Epistle. However, that soon changed. During Paul and Barnabas’ first evangelistic tour in 44-46 AD, they established many Gentile churches on the island of Cyprus and in Asia Minor. At the same time, the number of Gentile believers undoubtedly increased in Antioch. Therefore, it can be further estimated—based on the evidence of the book of Acts as well as the internal evidence of the Epistle and James’ extensive use of the Gospel of Matthew—that he wrote his Epistle much earlier than Robinson’s date of 47-48 AD or Hiebert’s date of 46 AD. It is more probable that James wrote his Epistle in 40-41 AD—much earlier than most scholars have concluded.

Similarities Between the Epistle of James and the Gospel of Matthew

Key to understanding when Matthew’s Gospel was written are the similarities between the Epistle of James and the Gospel of Matthew. These similarities suggest that Matthew’s Gospel was completed and used extensively to teach new converts long before James wrote his Epistle. Hiebert noted fourteen similarities between the Epistle of James and the Sermon on the Mount as found in Matthew 5-7: “The epistle offers a larger number of similarities to the Sermon on the Mount than any other book in the New Testament. If the apostle Paul developed the significance of the death of Jesus, it may be said that James developed the teaching of Jesus. Scott asserts, ‘There is scarcely a thought in the Epistle which cannot be traced to Christ’s personal teaching’ ” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, p. 57).

The fact that James’ Epistle is saturated with the teachings of Jesus is even more significant because James was not a disciple during Jesus’ ministry. He probably knew very little about Jesus’ teachings. Neither he nor his brothers believed that Jesus was the Messiah (John 7:2-5). Following His resurrection, however, Jesus revealed Himself to James—after which James believed and became a part of the 120 original disciples (Acts 1:15). This means that James must have learned the teachings of Jesus from the other apostles. More importantly, it suggests that James also used and extensively studied the writings of Matthew, which became the Gospel of Matthew.

A more extensive analysis of James and Matthew reveals far more similarities than the fourteen noted by Hiebert. Indeed, there appears to be a total of 67 direct or indirect references to Jesus’ teachings as recorded by Matthew in his Gospel that are incorporated by James into his Epistle. This indicates that James (and undoubtedly all the apostles) used and studied Matthew for a prolonged period of time before James wrote his epistle in 40-41 AD.

The evidence is overwhelming that the apostle James used the Gospel of Matthew as a basis for much of his Epistle. Thus, it can be concluded that Matthew was completed (perhaps with some later edits) and was in general use well before 40-41 AD. But it is also possible that Matthew had completed his Gospel as early as 33-35 AD. This theory would fully harmonize with the fact that the apostles gave themselves to “the ministry of the Word” in the first year after the crucifixion. As a Levite, Matthew undoubtedly was in charge of writing and compiling the teachings of Jesus, as described in Acts 6:4. That is why the Gospel of Matthew was the first Gospel account to be completed and why it is the first book of the New Testament.

From the chronology in the book of Acts (as well as from tradition), it is known that the apostles remained in Jerusalem from 30 to 42 AD. In 42 AD they began to preach the Gospel to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, scattered throughout the world. James must have written his Epistle to “the twelve tribes in the Diaspora” in 40-41 AD, about a year before most of the apostles left Jerusalem to preach to the house of Israel. He probably sent his Epistle to them shortly after it was written, to prepare the way for the other apostles who would preach the Gospel to them.

Assuming that the Gospel of Matthew was completed and in use by 35 AD, the apostles leaving Jerusalem in 42 AD would undoubtedly have taken copies of Matthew with them to use in teaching those in the Diaspora. Thus, when the apostles went to those in the Diaspora, they had the authority of Jerusalem, the place where God had placed His name; the authority of prophecy from the Old Testament; and the authority of Jesus’ teachings, written by a Levite, the apostle Matthew. For the Jews and Israelites in the Diaspora, the authority of the apostles was additionally confirmed by God through the apostles’ preaching of the Gospel and the miracles the apostles performed by the power of the Holy Spirit.

The Gospel of Mark

The Gospel of Mark, written in the most elementary Greek, is the shortest of the four Gospels. While scholars are widely divided on the book’s date, the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls points to a relatively early date for Mark. In his book, The Search for the Twelve Apostles, McBirnie wrote: “Professor Jose O’Callaghan, a Spanish scholar of the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome, has identified 19 tiny scraps of papyrus, found in 1947 among the Dead Sea Scrolls as fragments of a copy of St. Mark’s gospel written around 50 A.D. “The date is what matters. Biblical scholars have long assumed that Mark’s gospel, based on recollections of the Apostle Peter, was set down in writing shortly before Peter’s death ... which would date it around 68 A.D.... “O’Callaghan's papyrus fragments, established by scientific methods as having been in a Palestinian library in 50 A.D., indicate that Mark’s gospel may well have been in circulation within about a dozen years of the time of Jesus’ death” (Glendale News Press, Saturday, April 15, 1972, UPI, Louis Cassels)” (McBirnie, p. 251).

It is astonishing that fragments of the Gospel of Mark were dated as having been in a library in 50 AD. Such a finding means that Mark—under Peter’s supervision—must have written his Gospel as early as 42 AD. According to the chronology in the book of Acts, the apostle Peter returned to Jerusalem in 38 AD, and remained there until 44 AD. This means that Peter and Mark could have recorded their account of the Gospel between 38 and 44 AD. They were both in Jerusalem during those six years. Therefore, 42 AD is the most realistic date for the Gospel of Mark to have been completed.

However, Mark did not write of his own accord. As Peter’s secretary, Mark wrote his account under Peter’s direct supervision. Of this, Ernest L. Martin wrote: “As for the Gospel of Mark, it has long been known that John Mark was recognized as the secretary, or amanuensis, of the apostle Peter.... The ancient testimony of Papias, in the early second century, that Mark was the secretary of the apostle Peter (and not the actual eyewitness himself) has such good credentials, and the internal evidence of the Gospel itself is so compatible to this view that it seems evident that the Gospel of Mark is really the Gospel of Peter” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 335-336).
When Was the New Testament Written?

Peter was one of the three special eyewitnesses of Jesus’ transfiguration. When we combine this with the fact that Mark was a Levite, we see God’s double stamp of approval on the Gospel of Mark. Peter, a leading apostle and special eyewitness, related the life and teachings of Jesus to Mark, a Levite, who wrote them down.

Because of all the evidence—from history, the chronology of the book of Acts, and the scientific dating of the fragments of the Gospel of Mark—one can confidently identify 42 AD as the most probable year of the book’s completion.

Contrary to the varied opinions of scholars, it is quite possible to determine when Luke wrote his Gospel from the chronology of the book of Acts. Luke traveled with the apostle Paul on his second and third evangelistic tours, or missionary journeys. In the summer of 58 AD, he was with Paul when the latter was arrested in Jerusalem and taken to Caesarea. Paul was held under house arrest for just over two years, until 60 AD. During Paul’s Caesarean protective custody (58-60 AD), Luke had free access to Paul. It was during this time that Luke must have written his Gospel account and compiled nearly all of the information for the book of Acts. Jerusalem was not far from Caesarea, and it would have been easy for Luke to go to Jerusalem, where the eyewitness records of Jesus’ ministry must have been kept.

Hiebert writes: “Apparently Luke remained in Palestine during Paul’s two-year imprisonment in Caesarea (Ac 24:23-27). Luke must have used the time to travel extensively in Palestine in search of further information. He would not only talk with the leaders but would endeavor to gain additional information from any believers who remembered their personal contacts with Jesus some thirty years before. Various individuals would recall listening to the gracious teaching and parables of Jesus and recite the thrill of His healing ministries. Luke’s reference to various women by name indicates that he visited women who were closely connected with the story of Jesus (Lk 8:1-3, 24:10). It is not improbable that Luke personally visited Mary the mother of Jesus, who apparently was living in the care of the apostle John…. He relates the nativity story from Mary’s standpoint and includes numerous reminiscences, which only a loving mother would be able to supply. Luke indicates in the prologue that he had access to various written accounts of the story of Jesus (Lk 1:1-2)” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, pp. 134-135).

Because Luke was scribe and record-keeper for the apostle Paul, we can conclude that Luke wrote his Gospel account under Paul’s supervision, during the latter’s imprisonment in Caesarea. It is most likely that Luke completed his Gospel in 59 AD.

The Book of Acts: Luke must have begun writing the book of Acts while still at work on his Gospel, in 58-59 AD. In order to write chapters 1-13, Luke must have had access to records that were in Jerusalem, under the apostle James’ care. These chapters contain information that was known only to the original 120 disciples as recorded in Acts 1:13-15. However, from Acts 13 to the end of the book, Luke has recorded the ministry of the apostle Paul. Luke accompanied Paul on many journeys and was an eyewitness of the events that he recorded in the latter portions of Acts.

Luke concludes the book of Acts very abruptly, giving no indication that Paul had been released from his two-year “house arrest” (Acts 28:30-31). This indicates that Acts was probably completed sometime after Paul’s first Roman imprisonment ended in 63 AD, but prior to Paul’s release from his second imprisonment in Rome. Based on historical evidence and clues from the book of Acts, Luke probably began to write the book in 58 AD and finished it in 63 AD.

The Gospel of John

The dating of the Gospel of John has presented scholars with many difficulties. John was one of the three special eyewitnesses who saw the vision of the transfiguration of Jesus Christ. Also, in the first chapters of the book of Acts, John was described as one of the leading apostles, along with Peter. Moreover, there is little doubt that John helped to compile and write Jesus’ teachings, along with the other apostles and eyewitnesses, after the crucifixion in 30 AD and before the Passover of 31 AD (Acts 6:4).

Hiebert comments on the divergence of opinion concerning the date of the Gospel of John: “No precise date for the writing of the fourth gospel can be established. The old view of the radical scholars that the gospel arose during the middle or end of the second century has been effectively silenced by the papyrus discoveries in Egypt. The latest possible date for the composition of the gospel is A.D. 98, for according to the testimony of Irenaeus, John continued to live at Ephesus until the time of [Emperor] Trajan (A.D. 98-117)….

“In recent years there has been support for a date before A.D. 70. This is largely due to the recognition that the intellectual milieu behind the fourth gospel can be reconciled with the general atmosphere prevailing in Palestine before A.D. 70” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 1, pp. 222-223).

Although Hiebert brings out some very strong facts for an early dating of the Gospel of John, he himself holds to a later date: “While a date before A.D. 70 is appealing, it faces the difficulty of being forced to reject the established tradition of the church that the gospel of John was written sometime in the last quarter of the first century. We hold that the most satisfactory date falls between A.D. 80 and 95” (Ibid., p. 223).

Robinson, however, postulates a much earlier date, suggesting that John may have begun with a “proto-gospel” even before 50 AD and completed his Gospel by adding the prologue and epilogue in 65 AD or later (Robinson, Redating the New Testament, pp. 306-307). From the internal evidence, it appears that the main body of the Gospel of John was indeed written earlier than Hiebert suggests. If Matthew was completed in 35 AD and Mark in 42 AD, there is no reason to hold to the late date of 95 AD for the Gospel of John. Therefore, it can be concluded that John must have finished the main body of his Gospel and taken it with him when he and most of the other apostles left Jerusalem in 42 AD. The prologue and epilogue must have been added during John’s final canonization of the New Testament, which probably took place sometime after 95 AD.

Chapter Seven

Dating the Epistles of the Apostle Paul

In the book of Acts, we have a very detailed account of the apostle Paul’s life and ministry, which greatly helps in dating his Epistles. Using the chronology of the book of Acts as the basis for determining the approximate dates of Paul’s Epistles is the approach used by Robinson. His dates for Paul’s Epistles are more realistic than those set forth by other scholars, which typically indicate much later dates (Robinson, Redating the New Testament, pp. 352).

Robinson believed that once the dates for the Epistles of Paul were established, the other books of the New Testament could be dated more accurately. Robinson, like Martin (Restoring the Original Bible), understood that the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD was a key event for establishing the approximate dates of nearly all of the New Testament books. No New Testament writer mentions the destruction of Jerusalem as a past event—only as an event that was yet to occur. Thus, Robinson rightly concluded that the New Testament was written before 70 AD, with the possible exception of parts of the Gospel of John and the book of Revelation.

In dating the Epistles of Paul based on the chronology of Acts, it must be remembered that the dates are at best approximate. Based on a careful study of the book of Acts, Paul apparently wrote his epistles as follows:

1) I Thessalonians written from Corinth in 50 AD
2) II Thessalonians written from Corinth in 51 AD
3) Galatians written from Antioch in spring 53 AD
4) I Corinthians written from Ephesus in late winter of 56 AD (before Passover of 57 AD)
5) II Corinthians written from Philippi in late summer 57 AD
6) Romans written from Corinth in winter 57 AD
8) Hebrews, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon written during Paul’s first imprisonment in Rome, 61-63 AD
9) I Timothy and Titus written after Paul’s release from house arrest in Rome in 63 AD
10) II Timothy written while in prison in Rome the second time in 67 AD

Robinson’s dates, for the most part, are very similar. Substantial differences exist, however, for Galatians, Hebrews, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, Philemon, I and II Timothy and Titus. These are explained below.

Galatians: After the Feast of Tabernacles, in the autumn of 52 AD, Paul returned to Antioch, where he stayed until the early summer of 53 AD (Acts 18:23). In the spring of 53 AD—perhaps just Before the Feast of Unleavened Bread—the apostle Peter visited Antioch as well. During the Feast, certain Jews of the “circumcision party” came from Jerusalem demanding that Gentile converts to Christianity must be circumcised as Judaism had mandated for all Gentile proselytes. These false teachers caused a great deal of trouble, because the church in Antioch consisted primarily of uncircumcised Gentiles.

Furthermore, the issue of Gentile circumcision had already been settled by the apostles in 49 AD at the conference in Jerusalem (Acts 15). But when Peter came to the Gentile church in Antioch in 53 AD, he played the hypocrite in reverting back to practicing the traditional laws of Judaism that the apostles in 49 AD had rejected. However, the pressure exerted by the “judaizers” was so intense that even the apostle Barnabas, who was a Levite, joined Peter in this hypocrisy.

Such behavior violated and perverted the Gospel of Jesus Christ. If Paul had not contested these practices and instead had allowed them to continue and take root, his entire ministry to the Gentiles—as well as the preaching of the Gospel to the world in the future—might have been jeopardized. This is why—in the presence of the entire congregation in Antioch—Paul publicly rebuked the apostle Peter, Barnabas and the rest of the Jews for attempting to “judaize” the Gentile believers.

The “circumcision party” was apparently active in Galatia at this time as well. Because of Paul’s encounter with Peter and the Jews in Antioch—and as soon as Paul heard that “judaizers” were troubling the churches in Galatia—he must have written his Epistle to the Galatians from Antioch (Gal. 1:1-16; 5:12; 6:12-13). Paul warned the Galatians that mixing Judaism with Christianity would pervert the Gospel of Jesus Christ. God even inspired Paul to preserve in his Epistle the entire episode of Peter’s hypocrisy, so circumcision and the traditions of Judaism would never be mixed with the gospel of Jesus Christ (Gal. 2:11-21).

Thus, the events leading up to the writing of Galatians indicate that the letter must have been written in the late spring of 53 AD. Robinson suggests 56 AD, which is far too late. Paul was not typically so slow to act—and would have been derelict in his duty if he had allowed such false teachings to flourish three more years before confronting the problem. Therefore, when all these facts are considered, there can be little doubt that Paul wrote the Epistle to the Galatians immediately after his confrontation with Peter.

Also, as the book of Acts records, Paul quickly followed up his Epistle to the Galatians with a third evangelistic tour beginning in the summer of 53 AD. He went first to the churches in Galatia to strengthen the brethren there—and then went on to Phrygia (Acts 18:23). After that he sojourned in Ephesus for more than three years.

Hebrews: There is no question that Paul wrote all the Epistles that bear his name. On the other hand, there has been a great deal of debate about the authorship of Hebrews. The style of writing in Hebrews is very close to Luke’s style, thus some have concluded that Luke is the author. The internal evidence and chronology, however, reveal that the book of Hebrews originated with the apostle Paul—who undoubtedly used Luke as his scribe.

Robinson dates the Epistle to the Hebrews at 67 AD, during Paul’s second Roman imprisonment. However, this is far too late, because by 67 AD nearly all Christians had fled Jerusalem and Judea because of the Jewish revolt against Rome, which began in 66 AD. Many Christian and non-Christian Jews escaped to Pella, but most Christian Jews of Judea and Galilee probably fled to Asia Minor and Ephesus, where there was a large number of believers. Thus, it is likely that Paul wrote the Epistle to the Hebrews soon after he arrived in Rome in 61 AD.

Paul had already given a powerful witness to those in Jerusalem (Acts 22:1-21) and to the Jewish leaders of the Sanhedrin (Acts 23:1-10). It was God’s plan as well for Paul to bear witness of Christ to the Jewish religious leaders in Rome (Acts 23:11). When Paul arrived in Rome, he was again placed under house arrest. Only three days after his arrival, he witnessed to the chief Jewish religious leaders (Acts 28:23-31).

Paul must have written the book of Hebrews at this time—as an additional written witness and warning to underscore his spoken testimony. However, instead of writing this book in the usual epistolary form, Paul chose to style it as a homily or sermon. Paul had undoubtedly preached this sermon many times over—and had already written out much of the material that went into the composition of Hebrews (perhaps as something akin to sermon notes). As William Lane notes, “Hebrews contains the most refined Greek passages in the New Testament—‘far superior to the Pauline standard both in vocabulary and sentence building’” (Lane, Word Biblical Commentary, vol. 47A, p. xlix).

Paul might well have refined his writing through frequent preaching. Indeed, the style in Hebrews shows a similarity with the style of Paul’s preaching as found in Acts 13:15-41, as well as in
Chapter Seven

Another very important reason why Paul must have written the book of Hebrews in early spring 61 AD is that he does not mention the martyrdom of James, the half-brother of Jesus, which took place in the spring of 62 AD.

If Paul had written Hebrews in 67 AD, as Robinson suggests, James would have been dead five years, and only a small vestige of the church would have remained in Jerusalem and in Judea because most of the believers would have fled to Pella and Asia Minor before the Jewish rebellion in 66 AD.

The comment in Heb. 13:23-24 relate that Timothy had been “set free”, “Those from Italy send greetings to you.” Thus, indicating that Paul finished writing Hebrews during his first imprisonment in Rome.

Based on these facts, it can be concluded that Paul wrote to the Hebrews from Rome in the spring of 61 AD. He sent this vital book to the churches in Rome and in Jerusalem as a final written witness and warning before the martyrdom of James in 62 AD and the Jewish revolt against Rome, which began in 66 AD.

Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians and Philemon: In his chronology, Robinson has Paul writing these four Epistles, as well as the Epistle to Titus, during his Caesarean imprisonment in 58-60 AD. However, the internal evidence shows that these epistles were more likely written during Paul’s first imprisonment in Rome in 61-63 AD. Ephesians and Colossians must have been written in the early spring of 63. The city of Laodicea, which was nearly destroyed by an earthquake in 60 AD, is not mentioned by Paul in his Epistle to the Colossians. Furthermore, the notation at the end of each Epistle shows that they were written from Rome rather than Caesarea, and there is no internal evidence in these Epistles to indicate that the closing notations might be incorrect.

In the book of Acts, Luke recorded that during Paul’s first imprisonment in Rome he was not restricted in receiving people or his preaching. “And Paul remained two whole years in his own hired house, welcoming all who came to him, proclaiming the kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness, no man forbidding him” (Acts 28:30-31). During Paul’s two-year imprisonment in Rome he had communications with the ministers and churches that God had raised up through his ministry. Apparently, Tychicus—an elder from Colossae—delivered Paul’s epistle to the Ephesians as well as to the Colossians. Onesimus accompanied him and delivered Paul’s Epistle to Philemon. Epaphroditus, an elder from Philippi, visited Paul in Rome and delivered Paul’s Epistle to the Philippians.

Paul made specific references in these epistles to being in prison, and indicated that his being in prison actually furthered the preaching of the Gospel (Eph. 3:1, 13; 4:1; 6:19-21; Phil. 1:12-14). Paul’s closing comments in his Epistle to the Colossians reveal the relative freedom that he had in receiving people and in writing and preaching the Gospel while he was under “house arrest” in Rome (Col. 4:7-18). Phililemon likewise shows that Paul freely received fellow saints during his imprisonment (Philemon 1, 23-24).

Clearly, these four Epistles were written while Paul was in prison—and each letter indicates that Paul experienced a relatively high level of freedom. Thus, it is most likely that these Epistles were written during Paul’s two-year “house arrest” in Rome in 61-63 AD—not his Caesarean imprisonment in 58-60 AD.

I Timothy: Robinson’s proposed date for the writing of I Timothy—autumn 55 AD—is far too early because Timothy was with Paul in Ephesus for three years, from late 54 to 57 AD. There would have been no need for Paul to write to Timothy in 55 AD. Rather, all the evidence points to a time shortly after Paul’s release from his imprisonment in Rome in 63 AD.

After his release, Paul probably went to Crete and visited Titus. When Paul left Crete, he instructed Titus to set things in order and ordain elders as he had appointed. Next, Paul probably went to Ephesus to visit Timothy. From Ephesus he journeyed to Nicopolis in Macedonia. From there, Paul probably wrote I Timothy and his Epistle to Titus in late 63 AD.

When I Timothy is examined, it is obvious that Paul wrote to Timothy because he was going to be traveling, perhaps to Spain and Britain. In this Epistle he gives Timothy instructions on how to administer a local congregation in his absence with regard to: 1) dealing with false teachers; 2) selecting elders; 3) discerning the doctrines of demons; 4) having personal godliness and being an exemplary overseer; 5) preaching; 6) handling assistance to widows; and 7) correcting elders who sin.

Titus: Robinson suggests that the Epistle to Titus was written in the spring of 58 AD, during Paul’s imprisonment in Caesarea. However, there is no record of Paul having traveled to the island of Crete before he was imprisoned in Caesarea. Rather, Paul probably went to Crete after his release from his first imprisonment in Rome, in 61-63 AD. He left Titus there to set things in order and ordain elders as he had appointed. Then Paul probably stopped in Ephesus to visit Timothy on his way to Nicopolis of Macedonia, from where Paul probably wrote his Epistle to Titus and his first Epistle to Timothy in late 63 AD before proceeding on to Spain and Britain.

II Timothy: Robinson holds that II Timothy was written in 58 AD, during Paul’s imprisonment in Caesarea. From the tone of this Epistle, it is obvious that Paul was in prison. However, at no time during his imprisonment in Caesarea or his first imprisonment in Rome was Paul facing sure death. In contrast, when he was imprisoned the second time in Rome in 67 AD, his situation was very different. At that time, Paul believed that his execution was imminent, and he feared that he might never see Timothy again. He writes, “For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought the good fight; I have finished the course; I have kept the faith” (II Tim. 4:6-7).

When Paul wrote II Timothy, he sensed that his time was short. In view of this, it is more likely that Paul wrote II Timothy while in prison in Rome the second time, in 67-68 AD, rather than in Caesarea in 58 AD.

Although Catholic tradition has it that Paul was martyred in Rome, there is no historical record to support this theory. It is more likely that Paul was released from prison in 68 AD when Nero died and was martyred later in Britain.

I and II Peter

I Peter: Unlike the dating of other Epistles of the New Testament, the dating of I Peter has evoked little controversy. Hiebert writes: “The date of 1 Peter must be some time in the sixties of the first century. That it was written during the latter part of Peter’s life is obvious. It cannot have been written after A.D. 68, the year of the death of Nero, since tradition asserts Peter’s martyrdom under Nero. The exact date assigned to the epistle will be determined by the interpretation given to the state of affairs portrayed in the epistle. Many scholars, especially impressed with the statement in chapter 4 about the readers being made to ‘suffer as a Christian’ (4:16), hold that it was written after the outbreak of the Neronian persecution in the fall of A.D. 64….

“More probable to us seems the view that it was written shortly before the actual outbreak of the Neronian persecution. There is no evidence in the epistle that the persecutions have actually resulted in martyrdoms. The sufferings were rather such as were being experienced by Christians generally (5:9). They were being hated and maligned because of their stand for Christ (4:16)…. They were being suspected of being enemies of the state, but there was the hope that by their good conduct such charges could be refuted (3:15-16). If Christianity had already been officially charged with being an enemy of the state, this hope could not have been entertained. But the obvious trend of events made it clear that more ominous things were ahead (4:17-18).

“We conclude that the epistle was written on the eve of the outbreak of the Neronian persecution. The date then assigned to it must be in the summer of A.D. 64” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, pp. 120-121).

Some of the internal evidence in I Peter, as well as in Paul’s prison Epistles, helps confirm the time at which Peter wrote this First Epistle. Peter was then in Babylon, and wrote: “The church in Babylon, chosen together with you, greets you, as does Mark, my son” (I Pet. 5:13). Yet, in Paul’s closing remarks to the Colossians—written from prison in Rome in the early spring of 63 AD—he mentions that Mark was with him, and was apparently preparing to leave (Col. 4:10). Mark was probably on his way to be with Peter in Babylon—and Paul was apparently heading to Spain and Britain upon his release from prison. Thus, the book of I Peter must have been written sometime during Mark’s stay with Peter, about 64-65 AD.

II Peter: When Peter wrote his Second Epistle, probably around 65-66 AD, many events were transpiring in the Roman Empire—the Neronian fire in 64 AD, the Jewish revolt against the Romans in 66 AD, and the mass exodus of Christian and non-Christian Jews from Jerusalem and Judea into Asia Minor in 66-67 AD. Peter strongly warned against the rising tide of false teachers, apparently from Gnostic and Hellenistic Judaism. Although Peter does not indicate where he was when he wrote this Epistle, it is entirely possible that he wrote it from Babylon, not long before his own martyrdom.

In II Peter 1, Peter promised to leave behind a permanent record of the teachings of Jesus Christ.
Chapter Seven

He could not have died before 67 AD, because—as will be brought out later concerning the canonization of the New Testament—he was finalizing his Epistles at that time to be placed alongside Paul’s Epistles. Both were to become part of the written remembrance that Peter promised to leave for the brethren (1:15). Thus, we can conclude that Peter must have written his Second Epistle in 65-66 AD, just as the leaders of the Jewish rebellion were beginning to stir up support for their cause against the Romans.

Was Peter Ever in Rome?: That Peter was ever in Rome is highly doubtful. No scriptural or historical records reveal that he was. As an apostle to the circumcision (Gal. 2:8), Peter served the Jews in Palestine and eastward into Babylon (I Pet. 5:13), where the largest population of the Diaspora Jews dwelt. Since Rome was in Paul’s territory, there is no reason to believe that Peter would have ever gone to Rome—especially after Paul’s rebuke of Peter and the “circumcision party” in 53 AD (Gal. 2:11-21). In Paul’s Epistle to the Romans, written in 57 AD, he mentions nothing about Peter. If Peter had been the first bishop of Rome, Paul would undoubtedly have mentioned it.

To further substantiate the fact that Peter was never in Rome, Luke’s account of Paul’s arrival in Rome as a prisoner shows that the Jews of Rome had not even heard the Gospel preached (Acts 28:17-22). Had Peter been the bishop of Rome, he would have preached the Gospel to them years before Paul’s arrival.

The only accounts of Peter being in Rome come from later, doubtful traditions promulgated by the Roman Catholic Church that claim Peter was the first “bishop of Rome” and was martyred there. Such traditions were only attempts to add credence to the myth that Peter was the first “pope.”

The Epistles of I, II and III John, and of Jude

The dates assigned to I, II and III John by scholars vary from the early 60s to the 90s AD—due largely to the fact that the main body of I John was apparently written at an earlier date than the letter’s epilogue and prologue.

Robinson believes that John’s Epistles were written just before II Peter and Jude. He states: “The epistles were, I believe, written to reassure Jewish Christian congregations in Asia Minor, who were … in danger of being shaken from their faith and morals by false [Gnostic] teachers…. In other words, the situation is remarkably parallel to that which we postulated for Jude and II Peter….

“The teaching indeed has much in common with that combated in Jude and II Peter. It evidently involves a denial of Jesus as the Christ and Son of God (2.22f; 4.15; 5.1, 5; cf. Jude 4; II Peter 2.1) and particularly of [H]is coming in the flesh (4:2; II John 7)” (Robinson, Redating the New Testament, pp. 285-286).

Since the teachings of I John are similar to those of II Peter and Jude, it is probable that I John was written shortly before II Peter and Jude. It was a time when the apostasy was gaining momentum, before the Jewish rebellion against Rome in 66 AD. Robinson favors the early 60s as the likely time of writing (Ibid., p. 287). The year 63-64 AD is the most probable time in which John wrote all three of his Epistles.

The internal evidence from the Epistle of Jude does not indicate a specific date of writing. It is evident, however, that the apostasy had intensified to the point where the churches in Judea were in danger of being spiritually destroyed. The apostates were not leaving the churches as the apostle John had written (I John 2:19)—they appeared to be wholly taking over the churches.

Hiebert comments: “If it is true, as we believe, that 2 Peter was written first, then the date for Jude cannot be earlier than A.D. 65. On the other hand, it seems highly improbable that the epistle should be dated later than the destruction of Jerusalem…. Some two or three years may have passed since the writing of 2 Peter, thus allowing sufficient time for the development of the conditions depicted in Jude. We may accordingly date the epistle around A.D. 67 or 68” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, pp. 174-175).

However, by 67-68 AD the Jewish rebellion was in full swing, and most of the Christian Jews had already fled to Pella or to Asia Minor near Ephesus. Thus, Jude’s Epistle was most likely written about a year earlier, in 66-67 AD—as the apostasy was intensifying and the Jewish revolt against the Romans was beginning.

The Book of Revelation

Many scholars believe that Revelation—also referred to as the Apocalypse—was written before the fall of Jerusalem in 70 AD. Robinson, for example, suggests late 68 to 70 AD (Robinson, Redating the New Testament, p. 252). They have attempted to force the book of Revelation to fit the historical environment of the first century. But if Revelation is viewed as a historical fulfillment of events up to 70 AD, then the whole point of the book is lost. It becomes a book of history, rather than a book of prophecy.

The book of Revelation, however, is not a record of events of the first century up to 70 AD. Rather, it is a book of future prophecies for the end times. The true meaning of Revelation—like many of the prophecies in the book of Daniel—was not intended to be understood until the end times (Dan. 12:4, 8-10). In fact, Daniel and Revelation go hand-in-hand. Many of the prophecies of Daniel cannot be understood without the prophecies of Revelation—and, likewise, many prophecies of Revelation cannot be understood without the prophecies of Daniel. With the exception of a few historical passages, virtually all of Revelation has yet to be fulfilled.

The weight of evidence points to Revelation having been written in the last decade of the first century. Hiebert writes: “It was the testimony of the early Church that the Apocalypse was written during the latter part of the reign of Domitian, who was emperor from A.D. 81 to 96. The earliest known witness is Irenaeus who wrote that John saw his visions ‘…towards the end of Domitian’s reign.’…”

“The Domitian dating is consistent with the condition of the Asian churches, as reflected in the seven letters to the churches. That condition implies that these churches already had a fairly long history behind them…. The Domitian dating allows sufficient time for this development between the founding of these churches during Paul’s days and the writing of Revelation.

“[Also, the] message to the church at Laodicea (3:14-22) implies the prosperity of that city. An earthquake destroyed Laodicea in A.D. 62 [actually 60-61], during the reign of Nero. While the city was soon rebuilt, some time must be allowed for a full recovery” (Hiebert, An Introduction to the New Testament, vol. 3, p. 253-256).

The book of Revelation is a series of visions which John received from Jesus during his exile on the island of Patmos. The first concerned John’s present time, 95-96 AD. Succeeding visions revealed the sequence of key world events yet to occur—things which must “come to pass” (Rev. 1:1)—from John’s time until Christ’s return, with the final visions revealing the completion of God’s plan. The pattern unfolds as one reads Revelation. In the first chapter, Jesus instructed John to write down what he saw—“the things that are, and the things that shall take place hereafter” (verse 19).

It can be concluded with utmost confidence that the apostle John wrote the book of Revelation while on the island of Patmos, around 95-96 AD. John was released from his exile upon the death of Domitian on September 18, 96 AD (Langer, An Encyclopedia of World History, p. 109). Apparently, John then returned to Ephesus, where he and the other apostles still living canonized the New Testament into its final form.

Verbatim copies of those original Koiné Greek autographs still exist—preserved in the Byzantine Greek text and known today as the Textus Receptus.

Background to the Canonization of the New Testament

Key Factors Which Led to the Canonization of the New Testament

Just as Ezra and the Great Assembly were motivated by circumstances in their day to canonize the Old Testament, there were definite conditions in the first century AD that likewise compelled the apostles to canonize the New Testament. Four key factors were involved. First, as in Ezra’s time, there was the massive spread of false teachings and a growing apostasy among the people. Second, the apostles gradually came to realize that Christ’s return would not occur in their lifetimes. Third was the fact that Paul, Peter and John began to understand certain aspects of the “mystery of God” which inspired them to see the need for an authorized collection of their writings in particular. Finally, Peter and John were ultimately inspired by God to see that the establishment of the Kingdom of God was clearly centuries away.

Key One: False Apostles, False Doctrines, and the Great Apostasy

Before the apostles even began preaching the Gospel, Jesus warned them time and time again that there would be false prophets and ministers—and even false Christs (Matt. 24:4-5, 11, 24). They were confronted with this from the very beginning. They were to beware not only of the teachings of Judaism and Jewish Gnosticism, but also of the pagan Gnostic religions of Samaria and Egypt—as well as other heathen religions. Since Ezra’s day, Samaria had been a stronghold of false worship. The apostate worship of the Samaritans—which undoubtedly was a primary reason for canonizing the Old Testament—continued down to New Testament times and beyond.

In fact, it was in Samaria in 31 AD that the apostles had their first confrontation with a false prophet—the influential Gnostic religious leader Simon Magus, who claimed to be the “great power of God” (Acts 8:9-23). Simon Magus went on to proclaim a false gospel—a strange mixture of Gnosticism, Judaism and Christian teachings—and ultimately start a counterfeit “Christian” organization. From that time, the apostles found themselves fighting not only against the various sects of Judaism, but also against Simon Magus’ apostate “Christianized” Gnosticism.

The Apostle Paul Counters False Teachers

In nearly every Epistle written by the apostle Paul, there is evidence that he was combating various forms of false teachings and a growing number of “Christian” counterfeits. On every side there were false prophets and enemies of the Gospel. The teachings of the sects of Judaism—the religions of the Pharisees, the Sadducees, the Essenes, Hellenistic Judaism, Alexandrian Judaism, Gnostic Judaism—all had to be dealt with in addition to the Gnostic Samaritan/Jewish religion headed by Simon Magus.

There was hardly a place where Paul preached that he was not confronted by teachers of false religions—many of whom used the name of Jesus Christ, but preached false doctrines. Of the fourteen Epistles that Paul wrote, thirteen contain warnings against false teachers and false doctrines. This was one of the primary reasons why God inspired Paul to choose these Epistles for canonization. Key examples include:

II Thessalonians: The Second Epistle Paul wrote to the Thessalonians in 51 AD dealt urgently with false teachers who were circulating a counterfeit epistle—claiming that it was from Paul and that the day of the Lord was already present. This was a first glimpse at the coming “apostasy” that would later sweep through the Church of God (II Thes. 2:1-7).
Galatians: Paul wrote to the churches of Galatia in 53 AD because false teachers were perverting the Gospel by adding a strange blend of Jewish/pagan Gnosticism while preaching Christ. The Galatians were being enticed and drawn away, and were in danger of straying from the true Gospel (Gal. 1:6-7; 3:1). Paul made it abundantly clear that there was only one true Gospel—and that it was never to be mixed with the teachings and doctrines of any religion, Jewish or Gentile.

Corinthians: In 56 AD, Paul wrote his First Epistle to the Corinthians—devoted almost entirely to dealing with various sins, false teachings and false practices within the congregations. In his Second Epistle, however, which he wrote a year later, Paul warned the Corinthians of the false teachers who were coming into the Church. The churches of Corinth were even allowing false apostles to preach to their congregations—failing to discern the evil in their teachings. Paul wrote: “But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, so your minds might be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ. For indeed, if someone comes preaching another Jesus, whom we did not preach, or you receive a different spirit, which you did not receive, or a different gospel, which you did not accept, you put up with it as something good” (II Cor. 11:1-4). Paul added that such teachers were actually ministers of Satan, deceitfully handling the Word of God (verses 13-15).

Romans: Paul wrote to the Romans in 57 AD from Corinth, warning of “those who are causing divisions and offenses contrary to the doctrine which you have learned…” (Rom. 16:17).

Acts 20: In the spring of 58 AD, Paul summoned the elders of the Church to meet him in Miletus—because he knew that he would not see them again. He gave them this final warning concerning the growing problem of false teachers: “Take heed therefore to yourselves and to all the flock, among which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to feed the Church of God, which He purchased with His own blood. For I know this: that after my departure grievous wolves will come in among you, not sparing the flock; and [even] from among your own selves men will rise up speaking perverse things to draw away disciples after themselves…” (Acts 20:25-31).

Ephesians: Written in early 63 AD during his first Roman imprisonment, Paul refers to those who were “systematizing the error” (Eph. 4:14).

Colossians: Also written from prison in 63 AD, Paul warned the brethren in Colossae against the false doctrines of philosophy and the worship of angels (Col. 2).

I and II Timothy and Titus: All three Epistles are filled with instructions on how to preach the truth and counter the influence of false doctrines and false ministers. Paul wrote Timothy: “Hold as the standard for doctrine the sound words that you heard from me, in the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus. Guard the good thing that was committed to you by the Holy Spirit that is dwelling in us” (II Tim. 1:13-14).

John, Peter and Jude Also Face False Teachers

I John: By the time the apostle John wrote his First General Epistle in 63 AD, the Church-wide apostasy was gaining strength as numerous “antichrists” were leaving the congregations and drawing away brethren. John had to deal with three false doctrines, in particular, that had begun to infiltrate the Church. First, there were those who denied the sinful nature of man. John countered: “If we say that we do not have sin, we are deceiving ourselves, and the truth is not in us…. If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar, and His Word is not in us” (I John 1:8-10).

Second, some were teaching that it was not necessary to keep the commandments of God and to walk as Jesus walked: “And by this standard we know that we know Him: if we keep His commandments. The one who says, ‘I know Him,’ and does not keep His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him. On the other hand, if anyone is keeping His Word, truly in this one the love of God is being perfected. By this means we know that we are in Him. Anyone who claims to dwell in Him is obligating himself also to walk even as He Himself walked” (I John 2:3-6; also John 14:15; 15:10-17).

Third, various “antichrists” were also teaching that Jesus Christ had not come in the flesh. As false teachers of mystic, Hellenistic Gnosticism, they were leading the apostasy while epitomizing “the spirit of deception.” John wrote: “Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits, whether they are from God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world. By this test you can know the Spirit of God: every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is from God. And every spirit that does not confess that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is not from God. And this is the spirit of antichrist, which you heard was to come, and even now it is already in the world” (I John 4:1-6). John’s Second Epistle, probably written in late 64 AD, indicates that the apostasy had gained considerable momentum. John warned that “many deceivers have entered into the world—those who do not confess that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh. This is the spirit of the deceiver and the antichrist” (II John 7). By the time John wrote his Third Epistle a year later, rebellion within the congregations had become so intense that John was forced to name one of the chief leaders in the apostasy, Diotrephes (III John 9-10).

II Peter: When Peter wrote his Second Epistle, in 66 AD, the Jews were preparing to rise up against Roman rule. Peter warned that the uprising would unleash a flood of “false teachers among you, who will stealthily introduce destructive heresies, personally denying the Lord who bought them, and bringing swift destruction upon themselves. And many people will follow as authoritative their destructive ways; and because of them, the way of the truth will be blasphemed…” (II Peter 2:1-2).

Jude: In 67 AD, the Jewish rebellion was gaining momentum. False teachers and prophets were making massive inroads into the churches of God in Jerusalem and Judea. So acute was the situation that Jude urged the brethren to “fervently fight for the faith, which once for all time has been delivered to the saints. For certain men have stealthily crept in…. They are ungodly men, who are perverting the grace of our God, turning it into licentiousness, and are personally denying the only Lord God and our Lord Jesus Christ…” (Jude 3-4, 11-13).

Given the apostles’ urgent warnings concerning false teachers and the growing apostasy within the Church, it is apparent that such conditions were a major compelling factor in the canonization of the New Testament.

Key Two: Christ’s Return Was No Longer Seen as Imminent

The apostles expected Christ to return in their lifetimes—an assumption clearly reflected in their writings. Jesus’ statement, “This generation shall in no wise pass away until all these things have taken place” (Matt. 24:34), was assumed by the apostles to mean their generation. They did not realize until thirty-three years later that “this generation” was not their generation. Thus, the apostles’ writings after 63 AD indicate that they no longer saw Christ’s return as imminent—but as an event which would occur far into the future. Undoubtedly, this factor strongly influenced the apostles to canonize their writings for future generations.

Jesus Went to Heaven—and Promised to Return

On the night of His last Passover, Jesus revealed to the apostles that He was going back to His Father, and that He would return (John 14:2-3, 28-29). Forty-four days later just before Jesus ascended into heaven for the final time, they were eager to know whether Jesus would establish the Kingdom of God immediately. “So then, when they were assembled together, they asked Him, saying, ‘Lord, will You restore the kingdom to Israel at this time?’ And He said to them, ‘It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father has placed in His own authority; but you yourselves shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you shall be My witnesses, both in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and unto the ends of the earth.’…” (Acts 1:6-8).

When the apostles heard Jesus speak these words, they did not realize the full magnitude of what He said. They could not possibly have known at that time that Jesus actually meant all nations in the world—including those nations that would arise well beyond their lifetimes—and that the work of preaching the Gospel through their writings would continue for nearly two thousand more years. Looking back on history, however, one can see in Jesus’ words the seeds for the future writing and canonization of what was to become the New Testament.

Indeed, Jesus declined to tell the apostles that He would not return for nearly two thousand years. That knowledge would have to wait for some thirty-three years—until 63 AD, when they were able to bear it (John 16:12).

Jesus’ Return in Paul’s Epistles Before 63 AD

I Thessalonians: When Paul wrote his First Epistle to the Thessalonians in 51 AD, he made a number of statements which indicate that he believed the Lord was returning soon. For example, he wrote that those “who are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall in no wise precede those who have fallen asleep” and that “we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds for the meeting with the Lord in the air” (I Thes. 4:13-17). Clearly, Paul looked forward to witnessing the day of the Lord. He continued: “Now then, concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, there is no need that I write to you; for you yourselves understand perfectly that the day of the Lord will come exactly as a thief comes by night…. But you, brethren, are not in darkness, that the day of the Lord should overtake you as a thief” (5:1-9).

II Thessalonians: Also written in 51 AD, II Thessalonians includes a key reference to the time of Christ’s return—dealing with the coming “man of sin” and the “abomination of desolation.” Paul wrote: “Now we beseech you, brethren, concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our gathering together to Him, that you not be quickly shaken in mind, nor be troubled—neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by epistle, as if from us, saying that the day of Christ is present. Do not let anyone deceive you by any means because that day will not come unless the apostacy shall come first, and the man of sin shall be revealed—the son of perdition, the one who opposes and exalts himself above all that is called God, or that is an object of worship; so that he comes into the temple of God and sits down as God, proclaiming that he himself is God. Do you not remember that when I was still with you, I told you these things? And now you understand what is holding him back in order for him to be revealed in his own set time. For the mystery of lawlessness is already working…” (II Thes. 2:1-12). These Scriptures—and the phrase “our gathering together to Him” in particular—show that Paul fully expected Jesus to return soon.

I Corinthians: Paul wrote I Corinthians in 56 AD, and the following references show an expectation for Jesus’ early return: “Now this I say, brethren: the time is drawing close. For the time that remains…” (I Cor. 7:29-31). Also: “Behold, I show you a mystery: we shall not all fall asleep, but we shall all be changed, in an instant, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet” (15:50-51).

Romans: Paul wrote to the Romans in late 57 AD, from Corinth. He stated: “Now consider this, knowing the time, that it is already the hour that we should be roused out of sleep; because our salvation is nearer now than when we first believed. The night is almost over, and the day is drawing near; therefore, let us cast off the works of darkness and put on the armor of light” (Rom. 13:11-14)—and, “But the God of peace will bruise Satan under your feet shortly” (16:20).

Hebrews: Paul wrote the book of Hebrews from Rome in the spring of 61 AD, no doubt looking for Christ’s return. Notice: “For it is but a short time until He Who is coming will come, and will not delay” (Heb. 10:37).

James: Written in 40-41 AD, James’ closing remarks indicate that the apostles were expecting Christ to return soon: “Therefore, brethren, be patient until the coming of the Lord…. Strengthen your hearts, because the coming of the Lord has drawn near…. Behold, the Judge stands at the door” (James 5:7-9).

I Peter: It is evident that when the apostle Peter wrote his first epistle in 63 AD, he, like Paul, also was expecting Jesus’ return, perhaps within a short time. Peter wrote: “Now the end of all things has drawn near” (I Pet. 1:13; 4:7).

I John: The apostle John wrote his First Epistle in 63 AD, referring to the “last [end] time” (I John 2:18). Verse 28 expresses the hope that “when He is manifested we may have boldness, and not be put to shame before Him at His coming.”

It is abundantly clear from the writings of Paul, Peter and John that up to 63 AD they saw Jesus’ return as imminent. After 63 AD, however, their teachings dramatically changed. Why did this marked change occur?

Unfulfilled Prophecy Leads to a New Perspective on Christ’s Return

Certain prophetic writings from the Old Testament—coupled with many of the things Christ had personally taught—led the apostles to the conclusion that Jesus’ return was indeed imminent. When the anticipated prophetic scenario they had in mind failed to materialize, however, they began to rethink the timing of Christ’s second coming.

In his book Restoring the Original Bible, Ernest L. Martin lays out several significant indicators that would have made it apparent to the apostles that Christ would not be returning in their generation—or anytime soon. Most likely, it was this new perspective coupled with additional divine revelations from Jesus Christ, that primarily led the apostles to canonize the books of the New Testament.
Martin mentions the martyrdom of James in the spring of 62 AD, the mass exodus of Jews and Christians, etc. from Jerusalem and Judea in 66-67 AD, and the Jewish-Roman War of 67 AD as having significant influence on the apostles’ thinking (Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 185-186, 244-248, 265-268, 269-280). As well, there apparently were certain “supernatural signs” that impacted the apostles’ conclusions—such as God indicating on Pentecost, 66 AD, that His presence had been removed from the temple (pp. 199-208, 258-259).

But the key appears to be the fact that the chronological prophecies of Daniel were not being fulfilled as anticipated (pp. 186-192, 230-231). The apostles were watching to see whether the prophecies of Zechariah and Daniel would be fulfilled—and were convinced, according to Martin, that 63 AD was the last possible year to begin the final sequence of events described by Daniel’s “70 weeks” prophecy. In their minds, the final generation—referred to by Jesus in Matt. 24:34—ran from 30 to 70 AD; the last seven years of that period was anticipated to be Daniel’s “70th week.”

Martin continues: “Instead of a world war starting between the East and the West in A.D. 63, followed by a revolt of the various kingdoms within the Roman dominion, to fulfill what Christians thought to be Christ’s [final] prophecies (Matthew 24:6, 7), just the opposite occurred. Rome had actually become stronger than ever in the spring of A.D. 63. [Thus] Paul came to the conclusion that the ‘iron legs’ of Rome were going to remain in power for a much longer time.”

Martin concludes that the apostles ultimately came to understand that “Christ had been teaching that the actual end-time would arrive upon a particular generation which would ‘see’ [all] the events of Matthew 24 and Zechariah 12 to 14. But with the year A.D. 63 over, it became obvious that the generation that succeeded Christ’s resurrection was not the prophesied one of the end-time. This was the signal to Paul (and shortly afterwards to Peter and John) that it had become necessary to formulate a standard body of Christian documents which would last the Christian believers until those end-time events would actually occur” (Ibid., pp. 230-232; bold emphasis added).

The Anticipated “Abomination of Desolation”

Daniel’s 70th week failed to begin in 63 AD as expected. This meant that the greatly-anticipated “abomination of desolation” (Dan. 12:11, Matt. 24:15) which was to be established in the “midst of the week” (Dan. 9:27)—or, ostensibly, midway through the year 66 AD—would also not occur as foreseen. Paul described this “abomination of desolation” as “the man of sin, the son of perdition” who enters into the temple of God to proclaim himself as God (II Thes. 2:3-4). Thus, the apostles came to fully realize that the “great tribulation” and return of Christ were not to occur until far into the future. Ultimately, God used this new understanding to compel the apostles to canonize for future generations the writings that would become the New Testament.

Key Three: God’s Special Revelation to the Apostles

Jesus had promised the apostles that through the power of the Holy Spirit He would lead them into all truth (John 16:13)—but not all at once. Over time, God revealed deeper aspects of His plan to the apostles, starting with Paul. Special revelation was apparently given to Paul around 63 AD concerning what the New Testament calls the “mystery of Christ” and “the sonship of God”—through which God is creating an eternal spiritual family. This new understanding was so profound that it became a major factor in compelling the apostles to canonize their writings.

The Sonship of God: Paul first mentioned the teaching in a letter to the Galatians in 53 AD: “But when the time for the fulfillment came, God sent forth His own Son, born of a woman, born under law, in order that He might redeem those who are under law, so that we might receive the gift of sonship from God. And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying, ‘Abba, Father’ ” (Gal. 4:4-6). (The KJV uses “adoption of sons” or “children;” see Rom. 8:15, 23 and Eph. 1:5.)

It is apparent that the knowledge of the “sonship of God” was given through progressive revelation. By 56 AD, when Paul wrote I Corinthians, he spoke of things that God had “revealed … by His Spirit” (I Cor. 2:7, 9-10). Writing to the Romans a year later, Paul expresses an even deeper understanding of the subject: “Now you have not received a spirit of bondage again unto fear, but you have received the Spirit of sonship, whereby we call out, ‘Abba, Father.’ The Spirit itself bears witness conjointly with our own spirit, testifying that we are the children of God. Now if we are children, we are also heirs—truly, heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ—if indeed we suffer together with Him, so that we may also be glorified together with Him” (Rom. 8:15-17).

Later, while still in prison in Rome, Paul explained to the Ephesians that God had made known to him the “mystery of Christ … which in other generations was not made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed to His holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit…” (Eph. 3:1-9). In 63 AD, Paul wrote to the Colossians of the “mystery that has been hidden from ages and from generations, but has now been revealed to His saints; to whom God did will to make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory…” (Col. 1:26-28).

Peter and John’s Understanding of the Mystery and Sonship of God

II Peter 1: When Peter wrote his Second Epistle, it is apparent that he had also received the same revelation from God. He taught that “sonship of God” meant believers would become “partakers of the divine nature” of God (II Pet. 1:3-4). What a profound new teaching! Just as God had inspired Paul, He inspired Peter as well to understand the fullness of the “mystery of Christ.”

I John 3: The apostle John wrote that the true believers were now—already—the children of God because they had the seed of begettal from God the Father. “Behold! What glorious love the Father has given to us, that we should be called the children of God!… Beloved, now we are the children of God…” (I John 3:1-2).

Later, when John was given the visions of the book of Revelation, Christ gave him more understanding of God’s plan for mankind. By that time, John fully understood that Christ’s return would not be for centuries into the distant future. Indeed, God’s plan for mankind was exceedingly greater than the apostles had first imagined.

As the apostles began to fully understand that Christ’s return was in the distant future, they were also led to see that the Church would be responsible for revealing the purpose of God to the world. (See Eph. 3:10-11.)

How was God going to make the “mystery of God” known to the world through the Church? Apparently, by that time, Paul had begun to understand that God would do this, at least in part, through the canonized writings of the apostles—which God would preserve as the authorized Scripture throughout all generations to the return of Christ.

Thus, in his later Epistles, Paul began to emphasize the importance of long-term Church stability and individual Christian growth through the Spirit of God.

Ephesians: Here, Paul said nothing of the imminent return of Christ, which had been an important theme in his earlier epistles. Rather, the book of Ephesians instructs Christians on how to live their lives well into the future (Eph. 1:9-10, 18-23; 2:20-22; 3:16-21; 4:11-16, 21-32; 5:1-33; 6:1-20).

Colossians: Likewise, Paul’s letter to the Colossians clearly emphasized how Christians were to live their lives over a protracted period of time (Col. 3:1-4:6). Paul did not even mention the return of Christ—but he did write about the mystery of God (1:26-28).

I Timothy: Written in the late fall of 63 AD after Paul was released from his first imprisonment in Rome, I Timothy is one of the most important Epistles showing that Paul now understood Christ’s return would be far into the future. At this time, Paul wrote of the need to permanently establish the work of the elders—for teaching and pastoring the churches and fellowship groups. Paul gave detailed instructions to Timothy on how to lead the Church and serve the brethren on a long-term basis.

Clearly, Paul, Peter and John understood that Christ would not return for a long time—maybe centuries—and that the Church was to become a long-term establishment, awaiting the return of Jesus at an unknown time in the future. Thus, the need for a canonized body of New Testament Scriptures was vital not only for the proclaiming of the Gospel, but for the very survival of the Church of God.

Key Four: A New Understanding—The Last Days and the Return of Christ Were in the Distant Future

It appears that God directly inspired Paul, Peter and John to perceive that the last days and the return of Jesus Christ lay in the distant future. The lack of fulfillment of prophecy by 65-66 AD had caused many to conclude that Christ’s return was delayed. As a result, Peter in particular was inspired to warn that “in the last days there will come mockers, walking according to their own personal lusts, and asking, ‘Where is the promise of His coming? For ever since the forefathers died, everything has remained the same as from the beginning of creation.’… But the present heavens and earth are being held in store by His Word, and are being reserved for fire in the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly. Now, beloved, do not let this one fact be hidden from you; that with the Lord, one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. The Lord is not delaying the promise of His coming, as some in their own minds reckon delay; rather, He is long-suffering toward us, not desiring that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

“However, the day of the Lord shall come as a thief in the night in which the heaven itself shall disappear with a mighty roar, and the elements shall pass away, burning with intense heat, and the earth and the works in it shall be burned up. Since all these things are going to be destroyed, what kind of persons ought you to be in holy conduct and godliness, looking forward to and striving for the coming of the day of God, during which the heavens, being on fire, shall be destroyed, and the elements, burning with intense heat, shall melt? But according to His promise, we look forward to a new heaven and a new earth, in which righteousness dwells. For this reason, beloved, since you are anticipating these things, be diligent, so that you may be found by Him in peace, spotless and blameless” (II Peter 3:1-14).

For Peter to write in 65-66 AD that “a thousand years is as one day and one day is as a thousand years,” reveals that although he fully understood that the Day of the Lord and the return of Jesus Christ would be in the future—perhaps a thousand years or more—he did not have any specific understanding as to how far in the future it would be. From the tenor of what he wrote, it is clear that Peter fully understood that no man could know when Jesus would return. Jesus had, of course, previously forewarned the apostles: “But concerning that day, and the hour, no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, but My Father only” (Matt. 24:36).

These four key developments are significant for many reasons—not the least of which is that they were highly instrumental in motivating the apostles to canonize the writings that became the New Testament. The internal evidence of when, how and by whom the New Testament was canonized will be explored in the next chapter.
Chapter Nine

When and by Whom Was the New Testament Canonized?

One of the most frequently asked questions regarding the Bible is, “When and by whom were the Scriptures canonized?” Canonization was the process by which certain books became officially recognized as the authentic “God-breathed” Scriptures. To the exclusion of all others, only the canonized books can be used with full faith and confidence as the authoritative Word of God. While other writings, books and epistles may elaborate on certain points of Scripture or history, they do not have the authority of Scripture, nor are they equal to Scripture.

As such, the canonized Scriptures—Old and New Testaments—are the inspired Word of God. They reveal how one is to live and how one can worship God in spirit and in truth. When the apostle Paul wrote to Timothy, he elaborated on the divine authority and use of the Holy Scriptures: “And that from a child you have known the Holy Writings [the canonized Old Testament], which are able to make you wise unto salvation through faith, which is in Christ Jesus. All Scripture [including the New Testament books] is God-breathed, and is profitable for doctrine, for conviction, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; so that the man of God may be complete, fully equipped for every good work” (II Tim. 3:15-17).

Because the Scriptures are “God-breathed”—not humanly contrived myths and folklore—Christ made it clear that everyone is to live by them. When tempted by Satan the devil, Jesus emphatically stated that man was to live by “every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God” (Matt. 4:4).

Yet today, most professing Christians believe that Jesus came to abolish the Law—in spite of His clear statement to the contrary. “Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I did not come to abolish, but to fulfill. For truly I say to you, until the heaven and the earth shall pass away, one jot or one tittle shall in no way pass from the Law until everything has been fulfilled” (Matt. 5:17-18). These words of Jesus Christ are the New Testament teachings concerning the Law and the Prophets. As long as heaven and earth exist, the Law and the Prophets are binding on mankind.

The Generally Accepted Theory on New Testament Canonization

The New Testament canon refers to the group of books accepted as the authentic writings of the apostles and thus authoritative for teaching in the Church of God. The generally accepted theory is that the canon was completed late in the fourth century. Unger informs us that scholars have arbitrarily divided the canonization of the New Testament into five periods ranging from the first century to its “ratification” in 397 AD. He writes: “The canon of the New Testament, as commonly received at present, was ratified by the third Council of Carthage (A.D. 397), and from that time was accepted throughout the Latin Church…” (Canon of Scripture, Unger’s Bible Dictionary, p. 178).

The extended timetable of this theory of canonization—70 AD to 397 AD—is in error. God did not commit the canonization of the New Testament to men of dubious character and questionable faith some three hundred years after the apostle John’s death. This theory of canonization distorts the truth of how, when and by whom the books of the New Testament were canonized.

Dr. Ernest Martin also rejects this timetable. “It is normally assumed by scholars … that the canon of the New Testament came into existence sometime in the early or middle second century, and was finalized in the fourth century. This guessing is patently not true. Early Christian scholars did not believe such teaching. Augustine, one of the most ardent supporters of the organized church of the fourth and fifth centuries, believed that the New Testament canon came into existence in the time of the apostles themselves. He stated: ‘Distinguished from the books of later authors is the excellence of the canonical authority of the Old and New Testaments; which, having been established in the time of the apostles…’ (Contra Faustum Man. 11.5).
“In our present age, it is common to hear that the second, third, or fourth century church canonized the New Testament in some unknown and mysterious fashion. This is in no way true…. The Christian community of the second, third or fourth centuries had nothing to do with the canonization of the New Testament” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 300-301, bold emphasis added).

The nineteenth-century German scholar Theodor Zahn—in his two-volume work Geschichte des neutestamentlichen Kanons (1888-1892) and Grundriss der Geschichte des neutestamentlichen Kanons (1904)—also concluded that the canonization of the New Testament was set by the end of the first century. Harry Y. Gamble wrote this summary: “Zahn’s massive study of the history of the canon … argued that there was already a canon of Christian Scriptures by about the end of the first century (80-110 AD) … [and] that there had arisen a body of Christian documents read in public worship and broadly recognized and cited as normative. They consisted of the fourfold Gospel and a corpus of thirteen Pauline letters, as well as some other writings. Zahn believed that this was adequately documented by the fact that the church fathers, especially the early second-century Apostolic Fathers, were fully aware of these texts, which they clearly took to be fundamental resources of the church at large” (McDonald and Sanders, The Canon Debate: On the Origins and Formation of the Bible, pp. 267-268).

Conversely, acceptance of the theory of an extended period of canonization opened the door for the Roman Catholic Church to claim that other writings should be included as canonized scripture. These included the apocryphal books of the Septuagint (a Greek translation of the Old Testament) and other spurious writings of the “early church fathers”—as well as later traditions of the Roman clergy. All of these were accepted as having an equal or greater status and authority for teaching doctrine and establishing religious practices.

Martin substantiates that the Catholic Church never had a part in the canonization of the New Testament: “Some historians would have people believe that the church of the early second century (or even the third or fourth century) probably formulated the final New Testament. There has always been a problem with this appraisal because there is not a sliver of evidence that such a thing took place. The truth is, when the early church fathers began to talk about the canon of the New Testament near the end of the second century, it is assumed that it was already in their midst. The first recorded discussion among the Catholic scholars about the books of the New Testament only concerned whether certain books in the canon were of lesser rank, not which books were needed to form the official canon (Eusebius, Eccl. Hist., III. 25)” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 295, bold emphasis added).

From the evidence, it is obvious that the most commonly accepted theory of the canonization of the New Testament is patently false. What then is the true scriptural and historical record? When and by whom was the New Testament canonized?

The New Testament Itself Reveals When and by Whom It Was Canonized

God did not want people to be in doubt as to who canonized the twenty-seven books of the New Testament; consequently, this information has been preserved in the New Testament itself. Martin states: “[The] New Testament itself speaks about its own canonization…. It was the apostles themselves who put together the New Testament books, not some unknown church group or groups of the second and/or third or fourth centuries” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 281). The task of writing and canonizing the prophetic New Testament Scriptures was so profound and extensive that Jesus Christ used only His selected apostles to write it—and of those, only Paul, Peter and John, His special eyewitnesses, were used to canonize those writings.

The New Testament Is the Word of God

Jesus Christ is called “the Word of God” (John 1:1-3)—and indeed He spoke and taught the words of God. Jesus said, “The words that I speak to you, they are spirit and they are life” (John 6:63). God the Father inspired Christ to speak what He spoke and personally directed what He would accomplish (see John 14:10-11, 15, 21, 23-24).

Thus, when the apostles began to preach the Gospel as recorded in the book of Acts, they knew their preaching was the Word of God. They knew with faith and confidence that they were commissioned, authorized and sent by Jesus Christ, the Son of God—God manifested in the flesh—to be witnesses to the world of His resurrection from the dead and to proclaim that the gift of salvation is available through His name.
The apostles not only preached the Word, but they also began to write at a very early date. In 30-31 AD, less than one year after Jesus’ death and resurrection, the apostles began writing and compiling the teachings of Christ in order to teach the Gospel to new believers (Acts 6:4; see also Acts 2:37-41, 47; 4:4, 32; 5:12-16, 28; 6:1).

With the exception of Revelation, all the books of the New Testament were written well before the destruction of Jerusalem. In addition to the Old Testament, the books and Epistles written by the apostles were widely circulated in the churches and were used for reading, for teaching and for doctrinal understanding (Col. 4:16; I Thes. 4:1-3; 5:27; II Thes. 3:14; I Tim. 4:9-16; 6:1-6; II Tim. 2:15; 3:15-16; 4:1-4; Heb. 13:20-22; James 2:8-10; II Pet. 1:15; 3:15-16).

The apostles knew God had inspired their writings as the very Word of God. However, it was not until 63 AD that God finally revealed to Paul, Peter and John that they needed to canonize such writings into what would become the New Testament Scriptures. At that time, they understood that they were to fulfill the Word of God and bring it to its final, completed form. The New Testament canonization completed what God had begun with the book of Genesis in the Old Testament.

Three Special Eyewitnesses
Canonized the New Testament Books

As stated previously, Jesus Christ had chosen the apostles Peter, James and John to be special eyewitnesses of the vision of His transfiguration. However, in 44 AD, James was beheaded by Herod, leaving only Peter and John as the remaining eyewitness of the transfiguration. A third special eyewitness—to replace James—was the apostle Paul.

The Change in Names:

God sometimes changes the names of those whom He calls for a special purpose. Abram was renamed “Abraham” because God made him “a father of many nations” (Gen. 17:5). Sarai was renamed “Sarah” because God made her “a mother of nations” (Gen. 17:15-16). God changed Jacob’s name to “Israel,” saying “you have striven with God and with men, and have prevailed” (Gen. 32:28).

The New Testament shows that, of the original twelve apostles, Jesus renamed only three—Peter, James and John. When Jesus first saw Simon Peter, He renamed him “Cephas,” which means “stone” (John 1:42). Martin notes: “Peter [as a stone] was to be associated with Christ (the Rock Himself) in the creation of the Christian ekklesia [church],… Peter was also given the ‘keys of the kingdom of heaven’ (Matthew 16:19).” And it appears certain that one of the main methods by which Peter would be able to exercise the power of the ‘keys’ was to be [partially] in charge of the canonization of the New Testament” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 311).

Jesus renamed James and John as the “sons of thunder” (Mark 3:17). Martin explains: “They were certainly not mild-tempered. They were to be men of ‘Thunder.’” In Hebrew ‘thunder’ (kol) meant the Voice of God (Exodus 9:23; Psalm 29:3; Jeremiah 10:13; etc.). The title could signify that they were to speak like God Himself—as personal spokesmen for God” (Ibid., p. 312). James—thundering the truth of God—had preached repentance and salvation through Christ in such a powerful way that the Jews could not stand to hear it. Thus, they persuaded Herod to kill him (Acts 12:1-2).

The fourth apostle to be renamed was Paul. When Paul is first mentioned in Scripture, he is called “Saul.” With the full authority of the high priest of Jerusalem, Saul ravaged and tore asunder the Church, causing imprisonment and death to the disciples of Christ (Acts 8:1-3; 9:1-2). However, in 33 AD, Jesus personally called and converted Saul (Acts 9:3-30). Later in 44 AD, after Saul was ordained an apostle, his name was changed to “Paul” (Acts 13:3, 9). He was no longer Saul, the destroyer; rather, he was Paul, meaning “little one.” And true to his new name, Paul reckoned himself as the “least of the apostles” (I Cor. 15:9) and counted himself “less than the least of all the saints” (Eph. 3:8).

Jesus personally trained Paul and gave him the special understanding necessary to preach the Gospel to the nations. During his three years’ training in Arabia, Jesus gave Paul multiple visions and revelations. Without a doubt, the visions and revelations given to Paul were greater than the vision of the transfiguration that Peter, James and John had seen. Paul was a specially chosen vessel to be the third eyewitness to replace James, and was uniquely qualified to write and canonize his fourteen Epistles, as well as the Gospel of Luke and the book of Acts—well over half of the New Testament!
In writing his Epistles, Paul made it known that his service to the brethren was by the grace of God through the power of the Holy Spirit, and not of himself (Eph. 3:2-8). With humility, he always emphasized that it was God the Father and Jesus Christ Who had called him and put him into the ministry. Paul had not done so by his own initiative or because of his personal abilities and education (I Tim. 1:11-14).

Paul “knew” that he was Christ’s personal representative, or ambassador, to the Gentiles (II Cor. 5:18-21; Rom. 11:13). That he wrote by the authority of Christ is affirmed in every letter. All of the introductions to his epistles follow this pattern: “Paul, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, a called apostle, set apart to preach the gospel of God” (Rom. 1:1; etc.).

Paul correctly understood that his Epistles were the commandments of God—the very words of God. They were not his own personal opinions or the ideas of a man. Paul wrote to the Corinthians that his teachings were the “commandments of the Lord” (I Cor. 14:37). He wrote to the Thessalonians saying, “[We] give thanks to God without ceasing: that when you received the Word of God which you heard from us, you did not accept it as the word of men, but even as it is in truth—the Word of God, which is also working in you who believe” (I Thes. 2:12-13).

There is no question Paul knew that what he wrote was the very Word of God. Therefore, after Paul had received the special revelation from God in 63 AD that Jesus’ return was not imminent, he realized that he had to canonize certain of his Epistles for future generations. It is likely that Paul began this process some time before he was released from his first Roman imprisonment in the fall of 63 AD. Paul and his assistants—Luke, Timothy, Mark and Silvanus—must have begun this task in a deliberate and thoughtful manner, trusting in the inspiration of the Holy Spirit to guide them in the final selection and editing of Paul’s Epistles.

Years later, when Peter wrote his Second Epistle in 66 AD, he emphatically declared that Paul’s Epistles, which he had in his possession, were considered to be a part of Scripture (II Peter 3:15-16). Peter’s words—“the rest of the Scriptures”—must have referred to the Gospels, various Epistles and the Old Testament Scriptures.

The New Testament Writings Are Called the “Prophetic Scriptures”

The first phase in the canonization of Paul’s Epistles was completed by the apostle Paul himself, beginning in 63 AD. These initial Epistles were forwarded to Peter and John, who fully accepted them as Scriptures sanctioned by God. Peter called these Scriptures the “confirmed prophetic Word” (II Peter 1:19); and Paul wrote that his Epistles were “the prophetic Scriptures,” meaning that the writings were composed under the direct “inspiration” of God.

Peter’s Authority and Role in Canonization: When Peter wrote his second epistle, he left no doubt that he and the apostle John were forming the official text of New Testament teachings so that believers would have a “written remembrance” of the apostles’ teachings (II Peter 1:15). Peter also referred to this written remembrance as the “confirmed prophetic Word” (verse 19), now known as the New Testament Scriptures—the Word of God for eternal life.

The Apostle Paul Also Wrote “Prophetic Scriptures”: As previously stated, Paul had seen the resurrected Christ (I Cor. 15:8), and received his teachings directly and personally from Jesus (Gal. 1:11-12) as well as through dreams and revelations (II Cor. 12:1-5). Paul fully understood that he was writing “prophetic Scriptures, according to the commandment of the eternal God…” (Rom. 16:26).

Martin adds: ‘Peter and John were not the only ones who had ‘the word of prophecy more confirmed.’ The apostle Paul also had the authority to write ‘prophetic scriptures.’ At the end of the Book of Romans is an interesting section of scripture, which relates to the matter of canonization. Paul said that his writings concerning the message of Christ were to be acknowledged as ‘the Prophetic Scriptures.’ This meant that Paul thought he was writing sacred Scriptures” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 305).

In Paul’s mind, uncertainty or ambiguity did not exist. He “knew” he had a part in completing the Word of God through his writings. “Paul stated that his apostolic commission was to present those new prophetic scriptures concerning ‘the Mystery’ to [the believers and to] the people of the world. Paul even realized that he was the one responsible for teaching the full, final and mature teachings of ‘the Mystery’” (Ibid., p. 306).

Paul’s letter to the Romans, along with Peter’s statements, gives us irrefutable evidence that God had commanded Paul, Peter and John to canonize the books of the New Testament before they died. God did not leave the writing and canonizing of the New Testament to other men to do hundreds of years after the apostles’ deaths, because none of them were eyewitnesses of Jesus Christ’s ministry and resurrection. Only the apostles of Jesus Christ, whom God had specifically chosen for this task, wrote and canonized the New Testament.

Martin comments: “Peter was indicating that the prophetic scriptures which he and John were leaving with Christians were not their own private ideas and words. They were nothing less than the direct teachings of God. This dogmatism of Peter is reflected also in his evaluation of the apostle Paul’s epistles, which he mentioned as being on an equal par with ‘the other Scriptures’ of the Old Testament (II Peter 3:15, 16)” (Ibid., p. 304, bold emphasis added).

Before Paul was released from his first imprisonment in Rome in 63 AD, he wrote to the Colossians that he had been called to “complete [Greek, to bring to the full, to complete] the Word of God...” (Col. 1:25). Martin comments: “This is an important statement relative to the canonization of the New Testament. It tells us in no uncertain terms that Paul knew he had been given a special commission to help fulfill (that is, to ‘fill to the top’) the Word of God. This is why Paul had little reluctance in telling people about the high calling that he had. Paul considered that the teachings he recorded represented the very commandments of God. ‘If any man think himself to be a prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you are the commandments of God [the Lord]’ (I Corinthians 14:37). These are strong and authoritative words. No man could make such assertions unless he was convinced in his own mind [by the power of the Holy Spirit] that he had the prophetic office to write inspired scripture” (Ibid., pp. 306-307, bold emphasis added).

Martin adds: “When one comprehends that Paul himself was aware of his role in completing the full message of God to this world, then the statements of Peter in his Second Epistle can begin to make sense. Peter readily acknowledged that the apostle Paul was given an equal commission along with himself and John, to write ‘prophetic scriptures’” (Ibid., p. 307, bold emphasis added).

Paul’s Final Canonization of His Epistles

During Paul’s second imprisonment in Rome in 67 AD (II Tim. 2:9), he realized his death was imminent (II Tim. 4:6-8). Knowing he would soon be martyred, Paul urgently began to complete the canonization of his Epistles. At this time, Luke was with Paul and could assist in this all-important task. However, in order for Paul to complete his work, he needed Timothy—and Mark. Paul summoned Timothy, specifically requesting that he bring Mark as well. Mark had previously assisted both Paul and Peter, and would be invaluable in helping Paul edit his Epistles and complete his canonization before his death (II Tim. 4:9-11).

Paul also wanted Timothy to bring several important items needed to complete the canonization of his Epistles. “When you come, bring the chest [incorrectly rendered cloak in the KJV] that I left in Troas with Carpus, and the books—especially the parchments” (II Tim 4:13). We can deduce that this chest contained Paul’s own writings—as well as extra sheets of parchment or animal skins that had been made into blank pages for writing. Once Timothy and Mark arrived with these items, Paul could then add the final inspired additions to his Epistles. Because Paul had already canonized eleven of his Epistles earlier in 63 AD, this final canonization probably required little editing.

When the relevant information contained in the writings of the New Testament is brought to light, absolute proof emerges that the apostles Paul and Peter canonized their Epistles before the destruction of Jerusalem, because this was the most catastrophic event to happen—in the history of the Jews and the New Testament Church. Therefore, it is self-evident that if their epistles were written after 70 AD they would have written about it. In the following chapter, we will see that the New Testament was not completed until God gave the apostle John the task of finishing his Gospel and epistles, writing the book of Revelation and canonizing the entire New Testament before he died.
Chapter Ten

John’s Final Canonization of the New Testament

While historians such as Josephus wrote detailed accounts of the period from 70 to 100 AD, there is unfortunately no scriptural record of the Church during that time. Clearly, Paul and Peter were dead by 68 AD, and there were no additional apostolic writings until John finalized his Gospel and Epistles and wrote the book of Revelation in 95-96 AD. A brief overview of conditions in the eastern Roman Empire during that time frame will establish the background for John’s final canonization of the New Testament.

In 66 AD, Vespasian was appointed by Nero to conduct the war in Judea. After Nero’s suicide, the armies in the east proclaimed Vespasian as emperor in July 69 AD, and Vespasian left the war in Judea to his son Titus, who oversaw the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD and the end of the Jewish rebellion. In 76 AD, Titus was made co-regent, assuming the duties of emperor. During this time, persecution against Christians was intermittent.

Domitian—the second son of Vespasian—succeeded his brother, Titus, in 81 AD. During Domitian’s reign there was sporadic persecution against Christians and continued harsh treatment of Jews. Ruling as a “madman” his last three years (94-96 AD), persecution against Christians intensified, and Domitian exiled the apostle John to the island of Patmos, perhaps in 95 AD. Eusebius stated there was “ample evidence that at that time the apostle and evangelist John was still alive, and because of his testimony to the word of God was sentenced to confinement on the island of Patmos” (Eusebius, The History of the Church, bk. 3:18).

Nerva succeeded Domitian, reigning from 96-98 AD, and established an equitable administration with an awareness of the need for peace and compassion for the people he ruled. He recalled all exiles who were banished under Domitian’s rule, including the apostle John. Eusebius wrote: “In Asia, moreover, there still remained alive the one whom Jesus loved, apostle and evangelist alike, John, who had directed the churches there since his return from exile on the island, following Domitian’s death” (Ibid., bk. 3:23). While John was on the island of Patmos, he received many visions and wrote the Revelation from Jesus Christ that became the book of Revelation. Undoubtedly, John brought this book with him when he returned to the city of Ephesus.

John lived into the reign of Trajan (98-117 AD), but there is no record as to how long he lived after 98 AD. Trajan’s reign was peaceful, and the Church had rest from Roman persecution. It was apparently during this time that John finalized the New Testament canon—and many copies were undoubtedly made and distributed to all the churches in Asia Minor and to other parts of the world.

John’s Final Canonization

By the middle of 66 AD, the Jewish revolt against Rome had gained momentum. To escape the coming war, many Jews—Christian and non-Christian—had heeded God’s warnings that Jerusalem was to be destroyed and promptly fled the city. Nearly all the faithful Jewish Christians had left Jerusalem and Judea, a good number of them going to the city of Pella, 60 miles northeast of Jerusalem, on the other side of the Jordan River. However, it appears that the majority of Christian Jews fled to Asia Minor, with many settling around the city of Ephesus. Eusebius recorded that “the holy apostles and disciples of our Saviour were scattered over the whole world. Thomas, tradition tells us, was chosen for Parthia, Andrew for Scythia, John for Asia, where he remained till his death at Ephesus” (Eusebius, The History of the Church, bk. 3:1). There is very little doubt that it was in Ephesus that John finalized his writings and completed the canonization of the New Testament after his release from exile.

Of John’s role, Martin writes: “The apostle John was specifically commissioned to write what the Voice of God (like the Thunder) would relate to him. This is why he wrote his Gospel and the Book of Revelation to be included in the canon of the New Testament. Such a task shows that John was specially selected to produce a canon of scriptures which would proclaim the official Voice of God than even Peter and Paul” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 313).

Although Paul and Peter had canonized their writings before they died, the official canonization with the final arrangement of the books of the entire New Testament was accomplished by the apostle John in 96-99 AD. As one of the last living apostles and the last living eyewitness of Christ’s transfiguration, John was uniquely qualified and chosen by Jesus to canonize the entire New Testament in its final form.

Qualifications of John to Finalize the New Testament Canon

In order to fully understand the apostle John’s qualifications as the one whom Jesus had chosen to canonize the New Testament, one must go back to the time before John the Baptist, the son of a priest, was born. The scriptural record reveals that the apostle John was also of the priestly line of Aaron. In addition, there was an important family relationship between Jesus Christ and John.

The Family Connection and the Daughters of Aaron: The important family connection between Jesus and John has a profound bearing on the canonization of the New Testament. Martin noted the significance of this unique family connection: “It is usually not understood, but the mother of James and John was none other than Salome (Matthew 27:56 with Mark 15:40) who was the sister of Mary, the mother of Christ (Hastings, Dictionary of Christ and the Gospels, vol. I. p. 846). This means that Christ and John were first cousins as far as legal matters were concerned among the Jewish people” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 313).

There are several clues about Jesus’ relationship to the apostle John. John the Baptist’s father, Zacharias, was a priest of the line of Aaron. Likewise, his mother, Elizabeth, was “of the daughters of Aaron” (Luke 1:5). Luke tells us that Elizabeth was also a “kinswoman” of Mary, the mother of Jesus (Luke 1:36). (The KJV rendering “cousin” is not an accurate translation; the Greek means “kinswoman” or “relative.”)

What exactly was the relationship between Mary and Elizabeth? From Luke’s account it is known that Elizabeth and her husband were “well advanced in years” (Luke 1:7, 18). Luke did not give their exact ages; however, from other Scriptures, it is possible to estimate with reasonable accuracy that Elizabeth and Zacharias were in their seventies when John the Baptist was born. On the other hand, Mary, the “kinswoman” of Elizabeth, was a young woman—a virgin. Scripture does not specify how old Mary was, but it is not unreasonable to estimate that she was about twenty years old when Jesus was born. Therefore, there must have been a difference of fifty years or more between the ages of Elizabeth and Mary, making it more likely that Elizabeth was Mary’s aunt, rather than a cousin. This means that Mary’s mother and Elizabeth were sisters. If Elizabeth was “of the daughters of Aaron,” then so was Mary’s mother. Thus, Mary—and her sister Salome, John’s mother—would have been considered of the line of Aaron.

Martin wrote of this family connection between the apostle John and Jesus: “Not only were his [John’s] mother and Christ’s mother both sisters (and this gave John some preeminence), but we find that Mary (and obviously her sister, Salome) [as daughters of Aaron] were in some way connected with the priestly ancestry…. One should recall that Mary was a kinswoman to Elizabeth (the wife of Zacharias who was an Aaronic priest and the father of John the Baptist), and Elizabeth herself was recognized as ‘a daughter of Aaron’ (Luke 1:6). This means that both Mary and Salome could be reckoned as being of priestly descent” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, pp. 314-315). However, Mary’s father, Eli, was of the line of Judah (Luke 3:3); and the genealogy is reckoned after the father.

This of course shows us that John himself was of the Aaronic line. The fact that John was of Aaronic priestly descent was a primary reason that Jesus chose him to make the final canonization of the New Testament.

John Was an Eyewitness of the Vision of Transfiguration: Jesus informed all the apostles that some would “not taste of death until they have seen the Son of man coming in His Kingdom” (Matt. 16:28). Six days later, Jesus took Peter, James and John with Him up on a high mountain, and they saw the vision of the transfiguration. John was the only apostle still alive who had seen the vision of the transfiguration and had heard the voice of God the Father, and this gave him special authority from Jesus Christ to canonize the New Testament.

As the last remaining apostle to see the vision of the transfiguration, John would also see the coming of Jesus Christ in the visions that he received and recorded in the book of Revelation. These special visions are prophecies of events leading up to the Day of the Lord and the return of Christ. In these visions, Jesus spoke directly to John, instructing him to write what he had seen (Rev. 1:11, 19; 2:1, 8, 12; 3:1, 7, 14; 14:13; 19:9; 21:5). What John wrote became the book of Revelation—the capstone—the crowning glory of the Bible.

Parallels Between Canonization of the Old and New Testaments

Important parallels exist between Ezra’s canonization of the Old Testament and John’s canonization of the New Testament. These similarities demonstrate that the New Testament is indeed the work of God, and not man.

As stated previously, God used Ezra the priest to finish writing and canonizing the Old Testament. In the same way, He used the apostle John—a descendant of the Aaronic priestly line—to finish writing and canonizing the New Testament.

When Ezra canonized the Old Testament, he had the “Great Assembly” of 120 priests and Levites to assist him in finalizing and editing the books. In like manner, the apostle John also had helpers who assisted him in editing and finalizing his Gospel and Epistles for canonization and in setting the final order of the New Testament books. It is probable that the eyewitnesses who helped John were of the original 120 disciples (Acts 1:15). There is little doubt that from within this group were several other apostles who were still living and were thus among John’s helpers. Some traditions mention that the apostles Phillip and Andrew were included among the “elders” that were with John. Martin commented, “It can be almost certain that they were all Jews, and that they later lived near John [at Ephesus] when he was performing his job of canonizing the New Testament. These men were those that could be called Elders that helped John in the canonization” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 404).

Internal Evidence of John’s Helpers—the “We” Sections: The evidence of John’s helpers is found in the so-called “we” passages in John’s writings. Undoubtedly, these were some of the final edits that were added to complete these books. An obvious edit, for example, is found in John 21, where there is a sudden injection of a “we” passage, which reads, “This is the disciple [John] who testifies concerning these things and who wrote these things; and WE know that his testimony is true” (John 21:24). It is obvious that John was writing of himself—“this is the disciple”—when, suddenly, the next phrase shifts to the third person plural “we.” Apparently, the elders, the helpers of John, added their testimony to verify that what John had written was true. Because of their added stamp of approval, the final, expanded Gospel of John would be fully accepted by the churches of God.

Additional “we” passages appear in I John chapters 1-5, supporting the tradition that some of the apostles—such as Phillip and Andrew—were alive and assisting John when he finished writing the Epistle.

Martin wrote of the “we” passages found in John’s writings, commenting on the short epistle of III John: “John began to speak to a man called Gaius in the first person singular: ‘I pray that in all things you may be prospering and having good health’ (verse 2). Then we find a long string of ‘I rejoiced’ (verse 3), ‘I am thankful’ (verse 4), ‘I wrote’ (verse 9), and ‘I will call to remembrance’ (verse 10). But then, and out of the blue, John introduces a plural intrusion into the text. In this book it says: ‘in fact, WE are also bearing witness, and you know that the witness WE give is true’ (verse 12). Then immediately the context of Third John returns to: ‘I had many things to write you, yet I do not wish to go on writing you with ink and pen. But I am hoping to see you directly (verses 13, 14)’ ” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 399, bold emphasis added). It is clear that the words in III John 12 show the same pattern of multiple testimony that is found at the end of the Gospel of John 21:24.

Additional Internal Evidence of John’s Final Edits: As previously noted, the initial writing of the Gospel of John was probably completed by 42 AD. However, from the internal evidence, it is obvious that John added many details later. It is apparent that John originally intended to end his Gospel with chapter 20, verses 30-31, which reads, “Now then, Jesus did many other miracles in the presence of His disciples, which are not written in this book. But these have been written, so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing, you may have life through His name.” Later, when John was finalizing his writings and canonizing the New Testament, he must have added chapter 21 with the assistance of his helpers—who added their testimony: “And we know that his testimony is true” (John 21:24). This affirmation of truth must have included all the other edits in John’s writings as well.
Evidence of later editing can again be seen in the prologue of the Gospel of John. One can detect in the verses that pertain to John the Baptist what must have been the apostle John’s original opening to his Gospel. The added prologue reflects the later revelation of the “mystery of godliness” (I Tim 3:16) that Christ had given to the apostles in 63 AD. It was not until this time that they fully understood that Jesus was indeed “God manifested in the flesh”—the LORD God of the Old Testament. Thus, the prologue of the Gospel of John—“In the beginning was the Word”—expands on what John had earlier written of in his First Epistle, that Christ had indeed come in the flesh (I John 4:1-3).

Additional Important Edits by John and His Helpers: The edits John and his helpers made to his books demonstrate that John and the elders finalized and sealed the New Testament in a detailed and systematic manner. It is apparent that they must have scrutinized every book of the New Testament word for word.

Two additional edits—generally overlooked but which again show the hand of John and his helpers—were added to the texts probably in 96-98 AD. The insertion of the parenthetical statement—“the one who reads, let him understand”—to the words of Jesus’ prophecy in Matthew (and similarity in Mark) is intended to warn the reader that Jesus’ prophecy concerning “the abomination of desolation” had not yet occurred (Matt. 24:14-16; Mark 13:13-14). It is apparent that the parenthetical statements were not spoken by Jesus at the time He was speaking to His disciples. Clearly, these are later editorial comments added by John and his helpers when they were finalizing the New Testament—inserted because John and the Elders understood that “the abomination of desolation” did not occur as a part of the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple in 70 AD, and would not take place until the temple would be rebuilt in the distant future.

The Book of Revelation Proves That John Canonized the New Testament

The book of Revelation is, perhaps, the most unique book in the entire Bible. It is the capstone and crowning glory of the Word of God. The opening verses of the book reveal that the apostle John was the one to whom Christ had given the visions of Revelation. John was commanded by Jesus to write everything that he saw, for a witness both to the Church and to the world (Rev. 1:1-3, 19).

The book of Revelation bears witness 1) “to the Word of God,” meaning that the Revelation of Christ substantiates the entire Word of God—Old Testament and New Testament; 2) “to the testimony of Jesus Christ,” which is contained in the Gospel accounts of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; and 3) of “all the things he [John] saw,” which means all the recorded visions of Revelation.

This final witness that Jesus gave through John is actually a fulfillment of the command that He gave to the apostles when they began their ministry, as Jesus said, “According as it is written, it was necessary for the Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day. And in His name, repentance and remission of sins should be preached to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. For you are witnesses of these things” (Luke 24:44-48). Jesus repeated this command, as Luke recorded: “And if anyone takes away from the words of the prophecy of this book, God shall add to him the plagues that are written in this book. And if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the book of life” (Acts 1:8).

The Apostle John Recorded Jesus’ Final Warning: At the end of the book of Revelation, Christ inspired John to summarize the requirements for salvation and to reveal the fate of sinners: “And behold, I am coming quickly; and My reward is with Me, to render to each one according as his work shall be. I am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last.

Blessed are those who keep His commandments, that they may have the right to eat of the tree of life, and may enter by the gates into the city. But excluded are dogs, and sorcerers, and fornicators, and murderers, and idolaters, and everyone who loves and devises a lie. I, Jesus, sent My angel to testify these things to you in the churches” (Rev. 22:12-16).

Christ ended the book of Revelation with a profound warning against adding to or taking away from the words of the Bible: “For I jointly testify [Jesus Christ and John] to everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book, that if anyone adds to these things, God shall add to him the plagues that are written in this book. And if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the book of life, and from the holy city, and from the things that are written in this book” (Rev. 22:18-19).

With this final warning, the apostle John—of the lineage of Aaron, uniquely chosen and qualified by God the Father and Jesus Christ—finished the canonization of the New Testament, the most magnificent book in the world. Once this task was finished, the New Testament was added to the Old Testament. Thus, the full revelation of God to mankind was completed by the disciple whom Jesus especially loved—the apostle John.
Chapter Eleven

A Tribute to William Tyndale

The “Father” of All English Bibles

The history of the modern English Bible rightly begins with William Tyndale, the first man to translate both the New Testament from the Byzantine Greek and the Old Testament from the Hebrew text into English. So profound was his work that all subsequent English Bibles stand in the shadow of his translations. Noted Tyndale biographer David Daniell wrote: “William Tyndale (1494-1536) was the first person to translate the Bible into English from its original Greek and Hebrew and the first to print the Bible in English, which he did in exile. Giving the laity access to the Word of God outraged the clerical establishment in England: he was condemned, hunted, and eventually murdered. However, his masterly translation formed the basis of all English Bibles—including the ‘King James Bible,’ many of whose finest passages were taken unchanged, though unacknowledged, from Tyndale’s work” (Daniell, William Tyndale: A Biography, dust jacket; bold emphasis added).

According to Daniell, “Tyndale grew up to be a remarkable linguist, noted in Europe for knowing seven languages as well as English, like a native.” Apparently, Tyndale attended Oxford University in 1506 at age twelve. Afterwards he attended Cambridge University from 1517-1520, where he and other fellow students were converted to Christ after studying Erasmus’ 1516 Greek New Testament (Ibid., pp. 14, 27, 49).

From the evidence of his life and work, there is no doubt that God had specially prepared, called and converted William Tyndale for the task of translating the Holy Scriptures into English. It is apparent that Tyndale was led by the Holy Spirit and driven by a holy passion to translate the Word of God so that common men and women everywhere could have the Scriptures to read and study for themselves.

Tyndale Translates the New Testament

Tyndale was fully convicted that what was needed was a New Testament in English directly from the Greek—to make the Word of God available in English for the ordinary man. So determined was Tyndale that he was willing to defy the pope himself—who vehemently opposed any effort to translate the Scriptures into English. According to Daniell, Tyndale once found himself in a dispute with a “learned” individual who said that it was better to be “without God’s law than the pope’s.” To this Tyndale replied, “I defy the Pope and all his laws. If God spare my life ere many years, I will cause [even] a boy that driveth the plough [to] know more of the scripture than thou dost” (Ibid., pp. 78-79).

Daniell continues: “Tyndale’s problem was finding a high enough authority [in the church] to work under, to exempt him from the fatal charge of heresy under the Constitutions of Oxford [of 1410, which strictly outlawed the Scriptures in English under penalty of death]” (Ibid., p. 79).

But Tyndale was single-minded and undaunted in his purpose of translating and printing the Bible into English. In the summer of 1523, Tyndale went to London to seek permission from the bishop of London, Cuthbert Tunstall, to translate the Scriptures. Tunstall denied Tyndale permission—so Tyndale exiled himself to Europe in April 1524. He first went to Hamburg, Germany, then to Wittenberg where he met Martin Luther, and then on to Cologne in 1525, where he not only translated the Greek New Testament into English but also proceeded to have it printed. This initial printing, however, was interrupted when Tyndale was forced to flee those seeking to have him arrested. Tyndale escaped and went to Worms, where he first published his translation of the New Testament in 1526 (Ibid., pp. 83, 108-109). According to Daniell, the print run was said to be three or six thousand, of which only two copies have survived (Ibid., p. 134).

Daniell comments: “It was Tyndale’s revision of this [Worms] New Testament eight years later in 1534 which not only went forward into later Renaissance Bibles, most notably the Authorized [King James] Version, but is still dominant, even today…. 74
“What still strikes a late-twentieth-century reader is how modern it is. There are occasional words that have been lost to common use since 1526 … [but] both vocabulary and syntax are not only recognizable today, they still belong to today’s language. This seems to be for two reasons. First, Tyndale goes for clear, everyday, spoken English… The result is that Tyndale usually feels more modern than the Authorized Version, though that revision was made nearly a century later. The second reason is that Tyndale makes a language for the Word of God, which speaks to the heart…” (Ibid., pp. 134-135).

Over time, England was literally flooded with Tyndale’s outlawed Bibles, smuggled into England from Germany. In order to stamp out this heretical Book, Roman Catholic authorities, under orders from Bishop Tunstall, burned thousands of Tyndale’s New Testaments and books. But thousands more were smuggled in and sold on the black market, in spite of the fact that those who owned or read them were subject to torture or death by burning or beheading.

In addition to translating the New Testament and Old Testament, Tyndale wrote other books that explained and expounded upon the Scriptures. These are: Parable of the Wicked Mammon, 1527; The Obedience of a Christian Man, 1528; Preface to the Five Books of Moses—Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy, 1530; Prologues: To the Prophet Jonas; The Gospels: Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; Prologues to the following Epistles: Romans, I and II Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, I and II Thessalonians, I and II Timothy, Titus, Philemon, Hebrews, James, I and II Peter, the three Epistles of John and Jude.

Tyndale’s Old Testament Translation

Not only did Tyndale translate the New Testament from Greek into English, but he translated the Old Testament as well. In his biography of Tyndale, Daniell wrote of Tyndale’s Pentateuch: “Some time in January 1530 there began to appear in England, smuggled in from Antwerp, copies of a well-made little book, again printed by Hoochstraten of Antwerp … the title-page of which simply announced The first book of Moses called Genesis, and nothing more. The next page began a prologue with the words ‘W. T. To the Reader’; so there could be no doubt about its origins.

“These opening chapters of Genesis are the first translations—not just the first printed, but the first translations—from Hebrew into English. This needs to be emphasized. Not only was the Hebrew language only known in England in 1529 and 1530 by, at the most, a tiny handful of scholars in Oxford and Cambridge, and quite possibly by none; that there was a language called Hebrew at all, or that it had any connection whatsoever with the Bible, would have been news to most of the ordinary population…. Now here in 1530 was Genesis, from the Hebrew, in English, in a form that fitted a pocket” (Daniell, William Tyndale: A Biography, pp. 283, 287).

Tyndale, according to Daniell, insisted that it was essential that one be able to study the whole of the Hebrew Law in order to understand what Christ did with the Law. He notes that “Tyndale discovered that Hebrew goes wonderfully into English—better than into Latin, and better even than Latin goes into English…. “Tyndale … was engaged in a full-scale work of translating Hebrew into English. His discovery of the happy linguistic marriage of the two languages [was] of high significance for the history of western Christian theology, language and literature…. All Old Testament English versions descend from Tyndale; even of the books of the Old Testament which he did not reach. Miles Coverdale, who first gave us printed in English the second half of the Old Testament, had worked with Tyndale, and imitated him” (Ibid., pp. 288-289; bold emphasis added).

Concerning Tyndale’s Old Testament, Daniell wrote: “William Tyndale’s Old Testament translations laid the foundation of our English Bible…. Two generations later, in 1611, the scholars and divines who made the Authorised Version under King James were happy to use what Tyndale had given them, though without acknowledgement. Very many great passages from the Pentateuch come to us [directly] from Tyndale” (Daniell, Introduction to Tyndale’s Old Testament, p. ix; bold emphasis added).

A thousand years before Tyndale, the Bible existed in the form of a fourth-century Latin version known as the Vulgate. But, as Daniell writes, it was “very much the property of the Church. In Tyndale’s time, to go behind the Latin to the scriptural Greek and Hebrew, and then furthermore to seek to make those Bible texts available in portable volumes printed in English, so that anyone at all could have a copy and read it, was blasphemous and treasonable, punishable by torture or death…” (Ibid., p. ix, bold emphasis added).
Today, Protestant theology is an odd mixture of grace and lawlessness. On the one hand, it claims the grace of God for the forgiveness of sins and the gift of eternal life, which is accepted, praised and loudly preached. On the other hand, it insists that Jesus came to abolish the Law. The conclusion is that once one has been “saved,” he or she no longer needs to keep the laws and commandments of God—except to “love God in one’s heart.” The result is a counterfeit emotional gospel mostly devoid of any need to obey God’s commands or to understand the doctrines of Christ. Thus, the hallmark of Protestantism is a lawless grace that is contrary to the teachings of Jesus and His apostles.

Had all of Tyndale’s writings been retained, published and taught, perhaps the course of Protestantism in England would have been much different—because Tyndale did not teach a lawless grace. As the Reformation began in England, Tyndale was perhaps the most powerful influence through his translations of the Old and New Testaments as well as his other writings. Tyndale wrote about human nature, Satan, sin, law, grace, mercy, forgiveness and the love of God. He fully believed in keeping the laws and commandments of God “from the bottom ground of the heart.” Furthermore, he taught repentance toward God, justification of sin through the blood of Jesus Christ and salvation by faith, not by works.

Yet, the clergy of England, for political reasons as well as jealousy, rejected his clear teachings on law and grace. As a result, when the Bible was finally allowed to be printed in English, beginning in 1537, only the Scriptures were printed. Tyndale’s other writings that revealed the clear scriptural truth about law and grace were excluded. Thus, an uninspired clergy, through faulty interpretations of the Scriptures, gradually developed a doctrine of lawless grace.

Contrary to Protestant or Catholic theology, Tyndale correctly understood law and grace. He clearly understood the difference between practicing vain works of human religious traditions and superstitions as opposed to keeping the commandments and laws of God from the heart. Moreover, he fully comprehended that justification of past sins comes only by deep personal repentance toward God and faith in the blood of Christ for forgiveness, followed by baptism. He understood that eternal life cannot come through any law—rather it is the gift of God through the power of the Holy Spirit.

For example, Tyndale wrote in his 1534 Revised New Testament: “All the whole law which was given to utter [to expose] our corrupt nature, is comprehended in the ten commandments. And the ten commandments are comprehended in these two: love God and thy neighbour. And he that loveth his neighbour in God and Christ, fulfilleth these two, and consequently the ten, and finally all the other…” (David Daniell, Tyndale’s New Testament, Modern Spelling, “W. T. Unto the Reader,” pp. 3-4; bold emphasis added).

Tyndale also wrote: “Now read all the scripture and see where God sent any to preach mercy to any, save unto them only that repent and turn to God with all their hearts, to keep his commandments…. Let us so put our trust in the mercy of God through Christ, that we know it our duty to keep the law of God and to love our neighbours…” (Ibid., pp. 5, 7; bold emphasis added).

In an era of gross superstition and spiritual ignorance, it is astounding that William Tyndale had such a deep and profound spiritual understanding of the Scriptures. It is evident that he was led by the Holy Spirit into the truth of the teachings of Jesus Christ and the Word of God.

Tyndale Exposed and Rejected the Evils and Corruption of Roman Catholicism

Tyndale wrote extensively against the evils and corruption of Roman Catholicism using the most impassioned words possible. He denounced the foolish ceremonies of the Mass and the evil and fearful superstitions instilled in the people by the clergy in order to keep the people in bondage to Rome. In his day, William Tyndale was one of many who were raising their voices against the Church of Rome and the abuses of the papacy. However, because he was translating and printing the Bible in English, he was their number one enemy. The true freedom in Christ found in the Scriptures struck at the very heart of Rome’s religious bondage and political power.

Contrary to the presumptuous and blasphemous edicts of various popes, Tyndale fully understood that anyone who professed to represent God and His Word would believe, teach and follow God’s Word as led by the Holy Spirit. He vehemently opposed the pope, the Roman Catholic Church and their teachings as those of Antichrist. Tyndale’s writings clearly show that he understood the Roman Catholic Church to be the “Great Whore” and “Antichrist” spoken of in Revelation 17 and 13.
Tyndale’s Betrayal, Arrest and Execution

From 1525-35, Tyndale was able to evade the authorities who were seeking to arrest and execute him. But in the spring of 1535, while Tyndale was living in Antwerp, a traitor named Henry Phillips was stalking Tyndale at the behest and hire of the Catholic authorities. After befriending Tyndale, Phillips arranged to betray him and led the authorities to entrap and arrest him. Tyndale was arrested in May 1535, and they imprisoned him at Vilvorde Castle, near Brussels, where he remained until his death in October 1536 (Daniell, William Tyndale: A Biography, pp. 361-384). While in prison Tyndale continued to translate the Old Testament. His friend and assistant John Rogers, frequently visited Tyndale and compiled the rest of his Old Testament translation.

Of Tyndale’s execution, Daniell wrote: “Early in the morning of one of the first days of October 1536, Tyndale was executed…. He was strangled at the stake, and his dead body then burned…. [Just before his death he cried [out] thus at the stake with a fervent zeal, and [with] a loud voice, ‘Lord! Open the king of England’s eyes’” (Ibid., pp. 382-383).

With his final plea to God, William Tyndale was martyred—executed for his “high crimes” against the pope and emperor, because he loved God the Father and Jesus Christ with all his heart, all his soul, all his mind and all his strength—for translating the Bible from the Greek and Hebrew into English for the common man and woman.

How God Answered Tyndale’s Prayer

In translating the Scriptures into English and writing books, Tyndale was hoping for repentance and reformation in England. And in the end, Tyndale’s works—especially his New Testament and The Obedience of a Christian Man—indeed ignited the fires of reformation in England and changed the course of history. Many were moved to repent and turn to God. At some point Henry VIII himself read The Obedience of a Christian Man and saw the scriptural rationale that enabled him to sever all ties with Rome. In 1534, he renounced the pope, furthering the reformation and establishing the Church of England as the state church.

The separation from Rome was the first step that eventually led Henry VIII to order the English Bible to be placed in all churches in England, printed under license from the king in 1537. Thus, less than two years after his death, Tyndale’s prayer—“Lord! Open the king of England’s eyes!”—began to be answered.

The English Bible was actually Tyndale’s translation of the Old and New Testaments, renamed the “Thomas Matthews” Bible. After Tyndale’s death, his associate and friend John Rogers finalized Tyndale’s work on the Old Testament, making it ready for print. Authorities note that the so-called Matthew’s Bible was actually the work of Rogers. Rogers, however, made it clear that the translation of the entire Old Testament was, in fact, Tyndale’s work (Daniell, William Tyndale: A Biography, p. 335).

In 1538, also by the king’s authority, the “Great Bible,” published by Miles Coverdale, another one of Tyndale’s associates, was printed and placed in all the churches in England.

William Tyndale—one man against the world, empowered by the Spirit of God, filled with the love of God, and thirsting for the Word of God—translated the Scriptures into English with selfless sacrifice and dedicated determination. From his day to the present, the English Bible, beginning with his translations, has impacted the civilizations of English-speaking people far more than any other book. Tyndale could never have imagined that nearly five hundred years after his prayer to “open the king of England’s eyes,” God would cause the English language to become the predominant language to be used to preach and publish the Gospel literally around the world, as Jesus prophesied, “...to the ends of the earth!”

Overview

Which Texts Comprise the Pure Words of God?

The question of which texts comprise the pure words of God is generating more controversy and argument today than at any time since this “great debate” began in earnest in the late nineteenth century. In best-selling books, leading theological journals and especially on the Internet, every aspect of biblical textual criticism is being intensely debated. The mass of textual data collected by researchers over the centuries presents many “facts” about the history, form and readings of the manuscripts that testify to the original writings of the biblical authors. However, the opposing interpretations of these facts, and even the misinformation created by vocal members of this debate, have often left Bible believers confused and frustrated.

It is understandable why the question about the purity of the biblical texts attracts so much attention. The Bible has affected our society, at least Western civilization, more than any other book. No other book has done more to shape our view of ourselves and how we interact with the world. The Hebrew and Greek Scriptures, respectively, undergird two of the world’s most influential religious faiths: Judaism and Christianity.

Origins of the Current Debate

The current debate over the biblical texts stems largely from the 1881 revision of the Authorized or King James Version (KJV) of the New Testament. History records that the English monarchy and segments of the Church of England refused to be associated with the revision of this venerable translation, itself a product of the English Reformation. In fact, numerous scholars, even those on the actual revision committee, differed widely in their beliefs on how to proceed with improving the KJV for purposes of public worship.

In short, committee members were initially commissioned to correct only “plain and clear errors” in the Greek text underlying the KJV. According to the committee’s second chairman, Dr. Charles John Ellicott, the revisers agreed to “make the current Textus Receptus the standard; departing from it only when critical or grammatical considerations show that it is clearly necessary” (Ellicott, Considerations on Revision, p. 30, quoted by Burgon, The Revision Revised, pp. 39, 414 and bold added).

(The “current” Textus Receptus was the 1550 Stephens Text, one of the Reformation printed editions of the Greek New Testament. The term Textus Receptus was first assigned to the 1633 Elzevir Greek text because this Latin phrase (meaning Received Text) appeared in its preface. This expression was later used to refer collectively to the editions of Erasmus (1516), Stephens (1550), Beza (1598) and Elzevir (1633). Professor George Ricker Berry noted that “In the main they [in particular the Stephens and Elzevir texts] are one and the same; and either [i.e., any] of them may be referred to as the Textus Receptus” (Berry, Interlinear Greek-English New Testament, p. ii). The text of these early editions reflects a near-identical agreement with the common text of the Byzantine manuscript family, which consists of the vast majority of Greek scribal copies of the New Testament. Even though many of these copies date later than the fifth century AD, most of their readings circulated in Byzantium, Greece, Asia Minor and elsewhere and are confirmed by the early papyri, ancient versions and writings of the early “Christian” scholars and theologians. Other types of Greek texts include the Alexandrian, Western and Caesarean, generally reflecting the geographical areas from which their manuscripts originated.)

Instead of holding to their agreed upon standard text, a majority of the revisers established a radically different Greek text as the basis for the New Testament translation and produced the 1881 English Revised Version (ERV). This different text was largely founded on the Greek New Testament of two Anglican scholars, Drs. B. F. Westcott and F. J. A. Hort. In building their own text, Westcott and Hort showed undeserved partiality to two previously unused Greek manuscripts from the Sinai desert and Vatican library. Most scholars consider these two manuscripts, Sinaiticus and Vaticanus, to be the chief representatives of what is known as the Alexandrian (Egyptian) text.

What might have been an excellent opportunity to correct the KJV and its underlying Greek text was lost amidst inner-committee clashes over the comparative value of the manuscript evidence.

The late John William Burgon (1813-1888), an Anglican theologian and textual scholar, was one of the most vocal opponents of the committee and its work. In The Revision Revised, published in 1883, Burgon released a barrage of evidence from the manuscripts, ancient versions and early church scholars that highlighted the deficiencies of the Westcott-Hort Greek text, the theory behind that text and the 1881 New Testament translation based largely upon it.

The ERV was not the first attempt to emend the Greek text and revise the KJV. In the eighteenth century, several men produced English versions using supposedly “better” manuscripts to correct critically the readings and language of the KJV. Probably the most famous endeavor was undertaken by William Whiston, the translator of the Jewish historian Josephus. Whiston published his Primitive New Testament in 1745. Many other scholars labored in the 1700s and 1800s to correct the Textus Receptus via marginal footnotes or by actually producing new Greek editions based on differing principles and manuscripts.

The 1881 revision caused a violent shift to occur in New Testament textual criticism, which entailed a wholesale rejection of the Textus Receptus and the vast majority of manuscripts for establishing the Greek text and translating the New Testament into English. Modern eclectic or critical Greek texts differ significantly in many places from the accepted text (Textus Receptus) used for almost all Protestant translations of the New Testament into English from the Reformation down to the late nineteenth century. These modern Greek editions are over 97 percent identical to the 1881 Westcott-Hort text that underlies the ERV (Fowler, Evaluating Versions of the New Testament, p. 66).

An objective listing of the most significant translatable differences between the modern eclectic or critical Greek texts and the Textus Receptus texts is available in a book titled Evaluating Versions of the New Testament by Everett W. Fowler. This publication records whole verses, significant portions of verses and divine names that have been omitted by the Westcott-Hort, Nestle and the latest United Bible Societies (Nestle-Aland) editions, all of which depend heavily on an Alexandrian type of text. It also highlights the differences between the various modern and early Protestant translations, which stem from the opposing Greek texts. More than 40 of these differences directly involve Christian doctrine and over 480 substantially affect the meaning of Scripture (Fowler, p. 21). Many have been adopted by translators of contemporary English versions, including the popular New International Version (NIV).

More specific information on each variant reading is available by consulting the respective printed editions of the Greek New Testament.

Why Study the Biblical Texts?

Since the 1880s, advocates and antagonists of the various Greek texts have traded barbs and directed charges of “conspiracy” at one another. At one extreme, some American fundamentalist ministers and scholars have labeled modern Greek texts as “satanic” and filled with heresy. Conversely, some textual critics and theologians have blamed evangelicalism and a so-called “dumbing down” of Christianity as the real culprit behind the rise of conspiracy theories about the biblical texts (cf. Wallace, “The Conspiracy Behind the New Bible Translations,” www.bible.org).

No doubt there are elements of truth in all positions assumed in this debate. The difficult task for most people is sorting out the valuable kernels of truth from the often highly prejudiced chaff.

The debate has escalated in recent decades to include the various modern English versions. One major point of contention is the glaring differences in wording between the various modern translations and those of the Protestant Reformers, including the 1611 KJV. In some modern versions, words, phrases and even whole verses have been relegated to the margins or sometimes omitted without notice (e.g., the account of the woman taken in adultery in John 7:53-8:11 and Mark 16:9-20).

These omissions, especially evident in the NIV published in the late 1970s, have drawn considerable attention. According to one fundamentalist pundit, the NIV contains 64,000 fewer words than the KJV (Riplinger, New Age Bible Versions, p. 28). If this is true, can it with confidence be labeled as an accurate translation?

In addition, in the last decade, Bible versions trafficking a more gender-neutral language have begun to appear. A recent example is The New Testament and Psalms, an adaptation of the liberally-translated New Revised Standard Version. The editors of this inclusive version state that their goal was to replace all “pejorative references to race, color or religion, and all identifications of persons by their physical disability alone, by means of paraphrase, alternative renderings and other acceptable means of conforming language to the work of an inclusive idea” (The New Testament and Psalms, pp. viii and ix). Zondervan Publishing House and the International Bible Society are planning to release a complete gender-inclusive revision of the NIV. The language of these versions is in line with the anti-patriarchal agendas of modern feminists and the ideologies of other groups who want to use the English Bible as a forum for activism—the eradication of social, economic and political inequities in society. Publishers of such inclusive versions bank on sales in the market-driven Bible industry, soaring due to these compromises with the Sacred Text.

Even more scandalous is the release of the scholars’ version of the Gospels produced by the Jesus Seminar and Westar Institute of Santa Rosa, Calif. Notoriously known for their radical redaction (editing) of the Gospel narratives, the fellows of the Jesus Seminar have tried to salvage the integrity of the New Testament (as they see it) by systematically going through the four Gospels and voting on which passages to accept as authentic and which to reject as myth. Through majority vote, 82-84 percent of the Gospel records have been categorized as partial or complete fiction, while only 16 percent of the events and 18 percent of the sayings of Jesus as recorded by Matthew, Mark, Luke and John have been accepted as authentic, or nearly authentic. They have also added the Coptic Gnostic gospel of Thomas to their leaner canon of the authentic Gospels.

This bold move heralds future plans by the Jesus Seminar to reduce (by eliminating the book of Revelation) and expand the current biblical canon (collection of books) of the New Testament. A “Canon Seminar” has been convened to consider which ancient “Christian” documents to include in its forthcoming version of The Complete New Testament. This proposed canon will probably contain many documents that were never a part of the Bible, including the Gnostic writings found in the area of Nag Hammadi in Upper Egypt (cf. Funk, “The Once and Future New Testament,” The Canon Debate, pp. 541ff). Such a venture, if published, will undoubtedly cause greater division among the ranks of larger Protestant denominations and other non-denominational Christian organizations.

Christians who desire the truth about God’s Word need to possess a basic understanding of how their English Bibles relate to the original texts and some knowledge of the theories scholars use to translate those texts into English.

Type of Text: The process of establishing the most reliable or pure text of the Bible belongs to the realm of textual criticism. The key is whether the original God-breathed letters, syllables and words of the biblical authors have been accurately preserved in the surviving documents. The type of text ultimately produced for translation is dependent on its editor’s view of the history and canon of the Bible and the value he or she places on the comparative textual data. If text editors believe the original text of the books of the Bible has been lost through the centuries, they will choose methods and manuscripts to produce a text different from those editors who are otherwise-minded. The methods and manuscripts employed can significantly alter the accuracy of the readings. The result can greatly affect exegesis (technical interpretation of the text) and preaching.

Translation Theory: Different theories and practices of translation can affect the purity of the original words when rendered into English. According to English professor and biblical literary stylist Leland Ryken, “In some translation processes this care to preserve the original text is repeatedly and casually disregarded when translators turn the original into English. Words are changed, added, and deleted with apparent ease and frequency. Surely there should be some carry-over of principle between the scrupulousness of attention to the actual words of the Bible in the original languages and the way in which that text is transcribed into English” (The Word of God in English, pp. 29-30).

The NIV and TNIV demonstrate how translators can begin with the same Greek base, yet produce vastly different versions that in many instances only loosely resemble the original wording. “The basic distinction between the Renaissance [a time period marked by increased artistic and scientific activity that laid the foundation for the Reformation and translation of the Bible into English] and the modern translators is one of fidelity to their original [text],” writes University of Manchester Professor of English Language and Literature Gerald Hammond. “Partly the loss of faith in the Hebrew and Greek as the definitive word of God has led to the translators’ loss of contact with it, but more responsibility lies in the belief that a modern Bible should aim not to tax its readers’ linguistic or interpretative abilities one bit. If this aim is to be achieved then it seems clear that a new Bible will have to be produced for every generation—each one probably moving us further away from the original text, now that the initial break has been made” (Hammond, The Making of the English Bible, pp. 12-13).

What will the next decade of English translations bring? Many conservative scholars predict the trend will probably lead to a universally accepted Bible and a one-world religion under the authority of Babylon the Great (cf. Revelation 17-18).

Christian Concerns

While the present debate originated with the 1881 revision of the KJV in the nineteenth century, its seeds were actually sown in the Protestant Reformation. The question for Bible believers today, to a large extent, is the same as that for Reformers: “Have the original texts of the Old and New Testaments come down to us pure and uncorrupted?”

This was the question raised by Francis Turretin (1623-1687), a Reformed scholar of the Academy of Geneva, in his Institutio Theologicae Elencticae. It served as a prelude to his discussion about the purity of the Hebrew Masoretic and Greek Byzantine manuscripts upon which the Reformation texts were based. Turretin’s query concisely captured the essence of the divisive debate in his day between the Roman church and Protestants over the use of the original language texts for translation.

What is often lost in the rhetorical monologue offered by all sides in this dispute is the clear teaching of Scripture. What does the Bible have to say about its divine authorship? It states unequivocally that “All Scripture is God-breathed” (II Tim. 3:16).

Does the Bible explicitly state how God would preserve His Word? The Bible offers numerous general promises that the Word of God would be preserved intact. The Bible was written over a 1,500-year time period by about 40 authors who originally penned its messages in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek, often on highly perishable papyrus scrolls and later, parchment codices. Today we possess literally thousands of witnesses to the original writings of the biblical authors. Some of the oldest passages of Holy Writ were copied by hand for more than 2,800 years.

How can we bridge the gap between the surviving manuscripts and the autographs or original writings of the prophets, apostles and their scribes? Do the texts of the surviving manuscripts represent the ipsissima verba—that is, the “very words” of the original writings? For many theologians and scholars, the debate over the biblical texts involves proper scholarship, namely textual, historical and literary criticism. However, there are shortfalls within the fields of textual and biblical criticism.

It is important to remember that all attempts by textual critics to recover or reconstruct the original text of the Bible are restricted to the existing evidence and their critical judgments of it. In short, one textual theory may have certain merits over others, but in the end all are based on conjecture and incomplete information. For example, some manuscripts with ancient readings referenced by the early church scholars no longer exist. In terms of quantity and quality, these readings are 3:2 in favor of the Byzantine Text (Burgon, The Traditional Text of the Holy Gospels Vindicated and Established, vol. 1, pp. 94-122).

In addition, all events relating to the literary history of the biblical texts that occurred prior to their copying are beyond the scope of the so-called textual specialists (Aland, The Text of the New Testament, p. 297). A graphic example concerns the Pauline Epistles. From their copying and transmission, Paul’s letters have had the same general form as they have today (cf. Aland, p. 296). The evidence of textual criticism (manuscript record) cannot explain how Paul’s Epistles were compiled in their present form before they began to be circulated as an entire group or as several smaller groups. Scholars have presented various theories over the years to explain how this process occurred. Only the Bible offers clues to this textual mystery. They are recorded in II Timothy 4:11-13 and II Peter 3:16.

Yet, another example involves the discovery of the Bodmer Papyrus 75 (P75), a codex of the third century AD that contains portions of the Gospels of Luke and John. Before the mid-1900s AD, scholars presumed that the earliest “pure” copy of the Alexandrian text was the fourth-century Vatican manuscript; the discovery of P75 in 1955 changed that (Robinson, “New Testament Textual Criticism: The Case for the Byzantine Priority,” TC: A Journal of Biblical Textual Criticism, par. 79). Many scholars, including Professor J.C. O’Neill, now doubt whether Vaticanus is a carefully preserved text with ties to the late second or early third century. A careful study of scribal habits suggests instead that it was the result of a deliberate editing process at an Alexandrian scriptorium or copying center (O’Neill, “The Rules Followed by The Editors of the Text Found in Codex Vaticanus,” New Testament Studies, vol. 35, p. 220).
Similarly, before the mid-1900s, scholars believed that Greek manuscripts with Byzantine readings did not exist before the fourth century. This notion stems from the flawed textual theory of Westcott and Hort, in which they speculated that the Byzantine Text was a creation of fourth-century church scholars. Most modern textual critics have followed the lead of Westcott and Hort on this issue and have dismissed the Byzantine Text for purposes of textual criticism. However, the discovery of early Egyptian papyri with distinctively Byzantine readings (not shared with other text types), has now made it increasingly difficult for scholars to reject the Byzantine Text in producing a Greek New Testament (cf. Sturz, The Byzantine Text-Type & New Testament Textual Criticism). In fact, the editors of the United Bible Societies third edition of the Greek New Testament restored nearly 300 Byzantine readings to their text, which they had earlier rejected due to an alleged lack of support among the early surviving Alexandrian witnesses (Robinson, "Investigating Text-Critical Dichotomy: A Critique of Modern Eclectic Praxis from a Byzantine-Priority Perspective," Faith & Mission, vol. 16, no. 2, p. 28).

Today we can better understand Westcott and Hort’s partiality toward the Sinaitic and Vatican manuscripts, including Hort’s motive for labeling the Textus Receptus as “vile.” The influence of Attic Greek was not well-known during the nineteenth century. During the second century there was a tendency by Alexandrian scribes to correct the New Testament text stylistically to the Attic. This type of Greek was known for its brevity akin to classical Greek, which both Anglican scholars were accustomed to. In contrast, the New Testament (Textus Receptus) was almost always written in Koiné Greek (Kilpatrick, “Atticism and the Future of ZHN,” Novum Testamentum, vol. 25, p. 151).

The Nature of Modern Biblical Scholarship

Bible readers are unlikely to be familiar with the texts underlying the English Bibles they read and study and even less acquainted with the methods of textual criticism used to produce those texts. Consequently, they might be surprised to know that scholars today, in many instances, cannot agree on the original wording of the Sacred Text. In fact, interpretation of the textual evidence varies widely depending on one’s personal theology and worldview. Modern textual criticism is largely a product of The Enlightenment or Age of Reason, a seventeenth- and eighteenth-century philosophical movement that followed the Renaissance and Protestant Reformation and exalted human reason (rationalism) as the sole guide in establishing truth. Out of this movement arose a way of thinking known as naturalism, which denies the supernatural significance behind historical events. Naturalism uses science and logic to explain all phenomena.

According to the late Dr. David Fuller, former director of the Institute for Biblical Textual Studies, “The one feature that separated the Enlightenment from the Reformation [a religious movement during the Renaissance period] regarding text [textual] critical matters was the latter’s firmly held belief that the texts of scripture were canonically established by the providence of God. The Enlightenment replaced the idea that God was behind historical circumstance…with the idea that man was his own measure and must determine for himself what he will regard as scripture” (Letis, The Majority Text: Essays and Reviews in the Continuing Debate, p. 1).

It is the modern age that has injected naturalistic thinking into the study of the biblical texts (known as textual criticism). The two are diametrically opposed to each other. Historical examples of naturalistic thought include attributing the miracles surrounding Jesus’ feeding of the five thousand and His resurrection to trivial circumstances and natural laws. Skeptical scholars, like those of the Jesus Seminar, maintain that the biblical books were not “inspired” in the traditional sense but were written decades, if not centuries, after the deaths of the prophets and apostles.

In Burgon’s day, the naturalistic approach was becoming widespread in textual criticism. He wrote: “For we assume that the Bible is to be taken as inspired [God-breathed], and not regarded upon a level with the Books of the East….It is chiefly from inattention to this circumstance that misconception prevails in … ‘Textual Criticism.’ Aware that the New Testament is like no other book in its origin, its contents, its history, many critics of the present day nevertheless permit themselves to reason concerning its Text, as if they entertained no suspicion that the words and sentences of which it is composed were destined to experience an extraordinary fate also. They make no allowances for the fact that influences of an entirely different kind from any with which profane literature is acquainted have made themselves felt in this department … therefore … those principles of Textual Criticism which in the case of profane authors are regarded as fundamental are often out of place here” (Burgon, p. 9, emphasis added).

Though it is not often clearly stated, naturalistic textual scholars contend that the text of the Greek
New Testament, like that of other ancient books, has been damaged and lost during its journey through time. The only way to recover the original wording in places where the manuscripts disagree, they argue, is to appeal to the testimony of the “earliest and best” Greek copies. (Ironically, the Christian Church has rejected many of these manuscripts and their readings for over 1,000 years!)

In the twentieth century, scholars have favored the eclectic method to recover the original text of the New Testament in places where the Greek manuscripts disagree. Eclecticism is a method of textual criticism that relies heavily on human instinct in establishing the biblical text by selecting readings randomly from one witness and then another based on a number of subjective criteria. The methods and manuscripts used by many modern eclectics have often led to self-refuting and questionable results regarding the form and readings of the New Testament. Therefore, it is a myth to presume modern eclectic Greek texts and English translations are more accurate than those printed during the Reformation period. (Oddly, the most popular Greek texts on the market today are eclectic in nature.)

More than four decades ago, the late Dr. Edward F. Hills (1912-1981), an internationally recognized textual critic, anticipated this eclectic trend in textual criticism and translation. He wrote: “Thus naturalistic New Testament textual criticism is inclining more and more toward a free handling of the text. The final authority is not the testimony of the extant manuscripts, even in places in which they all disagree, but the subjective insight and judgment of the critics. Thus the future of the New Testament text is unpredictable, since it depends on these intangible forces. The way is open for a multiplicity of texts—as many as there are critics....The Moffat [sic] version (1913) has already made a start in this direction with its rearrangement of chapters and its all too frequent employment of conjectural emendation” (Hills, The King James Version Defended, 1956 ed., p. 14).

The eclectic method is only partially responsible for the many different critical editions and translations of the New Testament text since the early 1900s. The loss of a recognized standard edition of the Greek New Testament within Christendom during the last century has been used by some as a license to revise, add and omit letters, syllables, words and whole sentences of the biblical narrative.

The work of the Jesus Seminar is a prime example of modern scholars who have exploited the differences (variant readings) found in the Greek manuscripts and modern editions for their own purposes. Robert Funk, the director of the Westar Institute and a leading seminar scholar, holds to the erroneous belief that variant readings make the text of the New Testament uncertain. He wrote: “So far as I know, no one has ever canonized the Greek text of the New Testament; the United Bible Societies are claiming copyright of the Nestle-Aland version, but they have not canonized it. Both Protestant and Catholic scholars simply buy each new edition of Nestle-Aland critical edition of the Greek New Testament as it appears and use it as though it were the real New Testament. Which edition of the Nestle-Aland Greek New Testament with its catalogue of more than seventy thousand significant variants is canonical? No one has yet been willing to say” (Funk, p. 546, emphasis added).

Naturalistic methods and principles have permeated every aspect of biblical criticism so that any reading created in the transcription process and copied by some ancient scribe of the sacred text is held up and justified as legitimate. The result of the indiscriminate acceptance of such readings has led to confusion over what actually constitutes the pure words of God, both in terms of the texts produced and the translations upon which they are based.

A Christian Approach to the Texts

While only the Lord knows the hearts of the men and women who have studied the biblical texts over the centuries from a naturalistic perspective, their actions have left the biblical texts in a state of uncertainty as previously noted. This does not imply that all textual critical methods need to be discarded. Many sincere textual scholars have contributed to the discovery of evidence that attests to the reliability of the sacred texts.

There is an honest and defensible method that allows us to avoid the pitfalls of unbelieving and naturalistic scholarship. Dr. Hills advocated a “consistently Christian” approach to the study of the biblical texts. He rightly discerned that this approach was the only resolution to the dilemmas concerning the biblical texts. His approach was starkly different from the neutral, naturalistic methods followed by most of his fellow textual scholars, who viewed the Bible as “nothing more than just a human book.” Dr. Hills built his analysis of the Greek New Testament text “squarely and solidly on the historic doctrines of divine inspiration [authorship] and providential preservation of the Holy Scripture” and interpreted the evidence of textual criticism accordingly (Hills, 1984 ed., pp. vi, 3, 113).
Dr. Hills believed that when faithful Christians discarded “unbelieving thought” and followed this “consistently Christian” approach in their textual criticism, they would “find themselves led back step by step (perhaps, at first, against their wills) to the text of the Protestant Reformation, namely, that form of the New Testament text which underlies the King James Version and the other early Protestant translations” (Ibid., p. 1). As such, Dr. Hills was a defender of the Byzantine Text, which is reflected in the vast majority of Greek manuscripts. He preferred to call it the Traditional Text as Burgon did, because it is the “text which has been handed down by the God-guided tradition of the Church from the time of the Apostles unto the present day” (Ibid., p. 106).

From his perspective as a textual scholar and classicist, Dr. Hills asserted that he has witnessed many Bible students “panic and become virtual unbelievers in their biblical studies” because they have felt “obligated to depend almost entirely on the writings” of scholars, “most of whom are unbelievers” (Ibid., p. 113). To avoid possible “catastrophes of unbelief” that could accompany such an in-depth study of the biblical texts, Hills wrote: “… we must always emphasize the Christian starting point that all our thinking ought to have. If we are Christians, then we must begin our thinking not with the assertions of unbelieving scholars and their naturalistic human logic, but with Christ and the logic of faith” (Ibid., emphasis added).

In his book, The King James Version Defended, Dr. Hills discussed how the early Reformers followed the methodology he called the “logic of faith” in compiling, editing and printing the Greek texts used in translating the early Protestant English versions. As noted previously, these texts became known collectively as the Textus Receptus and are essentially identical to the common text used by the Greek Orthodox church for centuries.

While Dr. Hills “did not hold an uncritical, perfectionist view of the Textus Receptus,” he did contend that it best represented the Greek canon and its true readings (Ibid., p. viii). He believed that the Textus Receptus offered Christians “maximum certainty” for their faith in contrast to the uncertainty of the dubious eclectic or critical texts offered by naturalistic textual criticism (Ibid., pp. 3, 106-108, 224-225).

While our approach to this topic is similar to that of Dr. Hills because of his Bible-believing viewpoint, references to his research are not necessarily an endorsement of all his conclusions. However, his work and intimacy with the issues involved in this study, along with that of other defenders of the traditional Hebrew and Greek texts, form the basis of our technical study of the biblical texts.

Furthermore, our study of the Sacred Text is based on the same premise as Dr. Hills: “In the past true believers won great victories for God through their faith….Today we also can be victorious through faith if we doubt not, if we take God and His revelation of Himself in holy Scripture as the starting point of all our thinking….in New Testament textual criticism, and in every other field of intellectual endeavor, our thinking must differ from the thinking of the unbelievers. We must begin with God” (Ibid., p. 61, bold added).

Scholars estimate that almost all Greek manuscripts, regardless of their origin, agree on at least 90 percent of the New Testament text. This percentage “presents the autograph [original] form of the NT [New Testament] text with no variation” (cf. Robinson, par. 107, n. 9). Scholars disagree over how to treat the remaining 10 percent of variant readings, many of which, depending on the New Testament book, are minor and have no bearing on how the text is translated into English.

The historical reliability of the biblical manuscripts can be verified using the same principles for confirming the reliability of other historical documents. Author Josh McDowell offers an in-depth review of this evidence. It can be found on pages 23-109 in his book The Best of Josh McDowell: A Ready Defense (Nashville: Thomas Nelson, 1993). In addition to the historical reliability of the documents, the actual wording of the Bible can be determined in nearly every case by examining faithful representatives of the original text in accordance with the precepts given in Scripture, a Christian approach to textual criticism and the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Under these circumstances, 98-99 percent of the original wording of the Greek New Testament text, for example, can be recovered. In the remaining 250-400 places where two closely competing readings make it impossible to determine the original wording of the autographs, textual scholar, author and linguist Dr. Wilbur N. Pickering wrote that in most of these instances “the difference of meaning is slight” (Pickering, The Identity of the New Testament Text, www.walkinhiscommandments.com/pickering10.htm). In a personal correspondence, Dr. Pickering clarified that 80 percent or more of these places relate to “matters of spelling, word order, absence of a pronoun (where it [i.e., the pronoun] must be understood anyway), and change in verb tense that doesn’t alter the point [i.e., meaning of the text]. In those places where the meaning is altered no doctrinal problem is created” (Pickering, “Personal interview,” Sept. 5, 2003). This is because the alterations are so minor, it makes no difference in doctrine or meaning.

However, there are still unknowns in the wording of Scripture because most of the Greek manuscripts of the New Testament have not been thoroughly studied and their readings made available to scholars (Aland, “The Significance of the Papyri for New Testament Research,” The Bible in Modern Scholarship, p. 330). It is important to realize that the majority of such manuscripts are not whole pages of the New Testament. Rather, these are fragments of copies of New Testament texts, and only represent a very miniscule percent of New Testament witnesses—only 250-400 individual places. That becomes very significant.

Believers can approach the Old and New Testament texts of their Bibles with confidence when faithful and reliable manuscripts are employed and sound methods of textual criticism and translation are followed. Ultimately, believers must place their confidence in God’s promises to preserve His Word intact. These promises were made to reassure true believers that they would possess His very words in every age. Thus, they could with confidence fulfill the commissions that He had given them, which were contingent on their having an accurate record of the words spoken by Jesus and written by the New Testament prophets and apostles (Matt. 28:19-20; II Tim. 3:15-17, 4:2-3).

A Standard, Reliable Greek Text

A great deal of uncertainty about the state of the Greek New Testament needlessly exists among the ranks of textual critics today. The editors of the two popular eclectic or critical Greek New Testaments inform us that they do not yet consider their texts as established (cf. Aland, The Greek New Testament, p. viii). These texts include the various Nestle-Aland editions (NA27) and those of the United Bible Societies (UBS4) and form the basis of almost all recent English translations of the New Testament such as the NIV and TNIV.

The editors of The Greek New Testament According to the Majority Text (Nashville: Thomas Nelson, 1982) are equally explicit and inform us that they “do not imagine that the text of this edition represents in all particulars the exact form of the originals. Desirable as such a text certainly is, much further work must be done before it can be produced….the present work … is both preliminary and provisional” (Hodges, The Greek New Testament According to the Majority Text, p. x, bold added).

In spite of the uncertainty being expressed by the unbelieving, naturalistic editors of the most popular Greek texts on the market today, there is a standard, reliable Greek text available for use. After researching the alternate Greek texts—eclectic or critical and Majority Text—we stand firmly behind the tradition of the Textus Receptus (1550 Stephens Text). Our choosing the Textus Receptus does not imply that it is perfect in every detail, for no text has been untouched by human hands; however, the Stephens Text is a highly reliable New Testament text, which is 98 percent or more in agreement with the Byzantine Text, which was the dominant form of the Greek text during the age of manual copying. We believe that the Byzantine Text, more than any other, represents the original God-breathed words of the New Testament.

Today, there is a modern Greek text whose editors claim reflects the primary and dominant form of the Byzantine Text and likely represents the canonical autographs more accurately than any other text type (i.e., Alexandrian, Western and Caesarean). This text, The New Testament in the Original Greek according to the Byzantine/Majority Textform by Dr. Maurice Robinson and the late William G. Pierpont (1991, 2004), had a seasoned textual critic as one of its editors and a sound underlying theory; yet, since it is a recent edition of the Greek New Testament, it needs further evaluation.

What sets the Textus Receptus (and its various editions) apart from all other Greek texts, including the Robinson-Pierpont edition, is its unique, proven pedigree rooted in the ancient history of the Greek-speaking Church. From the first printing by Erasmus and Johann Froben in 1516 AD, it had the near universal acceptance of Bible-believing Protestants for nearly 375 years. The Textus Receptus is largely a product of the pre-critical era, having been edited without being fully subjected to the musings of the human mind of the unbelieving naturalistic methodology.

The excerpt that follows is from an article written in 1983, in which historian S. M. Houghton evaluated the Majority Text. At that time, he concluded the Textus Receptus was sufficient and preferable in light of the alternatives. It seems fitting to recall Houghton’s words in our study of the Greek text: “For scholars to suggest that a particular translation of the Word is faulty is one thing; to suggest that the final form of the divine revelation is still remote—a form, as some might even say, that will never be reached—would appear, to not a few, to place the Christian Faith itself in jeopardy. Finality belongs to the Faith, and in a very true and real sense finality belongs to the Word on which that Faith is based and in which it is rooted.

“We are not infrequently told by liberal theologians that the Christian Faith is a progressive Faith. They intend to convey a very different meaning from that of the Puritan John Robinson who, in taking leave as the pastor of some of the Pilgrim Fathers of 1620, expressed himself as ‘very confident the Lord had more truth and light yet to break forth out of His holy word.’ We thank God that it is so. At the same time we can surely thank Him, too, that across ‘the running centuries’ He has never left His Word at haphazard. The discovery some thirty years ago of the Dead Sea scrolls gave us amazing confirmation of the accuracy with which OT Scripture has been transmitted to us, and we may be sure that God has taken no less care of the NT Scripture” (Letis, The Majority Text: Essays and Reviews in the Continuing Debate, p. 208).

Our Approach to This Study

As you read this lengthy volume, containing a modern English translation of the New Testament and many essays pertaining to the texts and canon of the Bible, you may encounter numerous terms and concepts that are unfamiliar. We have attempted to present the information contained in this publication in an understandable format. Some sections may require multiple readings in order to fully comprehend them.

We encourage you to persevere in your efforts to understand the information presented in this publication because it concerns the Holy Bible, the most important book ever written. A Bible that accurately reflects the original texts (letters, syllables and words) given by God is extremely critical for Christians. If we cannot have confidence in the words of the Bible, we cannot base our lives and doctrine on it. Since very few of us are fluent in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek, we must rely on text editors and Bible translators for the Word of God. The subject matter of this volume is vital because of the confusion created by many modern English versions of the Bible, which are based on highly questionable texts and translation methods. It is also vital because of the many prophecies concerning a coming one-world government and religion that have yet to be fulfilled. These prophecies will have a direct impact on the Bible, its texts and the lives of Christians.

In our analysis of the divine authorship, preservation and translation of the biblical texts, we have endeavored to “prove all things” (I Thes. 5:21). Our goal, as far as is humanly possible, has been to furnish you with an accurate and thorough understanding of the history of the Bible and its Sacred Texts. If you believe that we have strayed from this task, we encourage you to offer your evaluation in a Christ-like manner.

This volume does contain extra-biblical material, such as citations from the apocrypha, Jewish or rabbinic literature and writings of certain historical figures. Citations taken from these writings are not an uncritical endorsement of them or of the beliefs and actions of the writers. Also, the authors are not bona fide textual critics, and those sections pertaining to textual matters have not been peer reviewed by seasoned professionals. In an effort to present reliable evidence in these areas, we have included the research of scholars, whose scholarship has been distilled through the filter of truth contained in the Bible.

The purpose of this study is to demonstrate how God has faithfully preserved His Word for us today. Our hope is that readers will be strengthened in knowing that God has indeed kept His promises and the veracity of His Word intact.

This publication is not intended to replace other resources on biblical criticism. That would be an impossible task, considering the width, breadth and depth of this subject, which in many cases covers a span of almost 2,000 years. One essay alone on Mark 16:9-20 fills a 300-page book (cf. Burgon, The Last Twelve Verses of the Gospel According to Mark, Vindicated Against Recent Critical Objectors and Established, Oxford: Parker and Co., 1871). For this reason, only a few in-depth reviews of selected important passages of Scripture have been offered for your edification.

Westcott and Hort: As a part of this historical overview of the biblical texts, we have briefly reconstructed the steps leading to the change in the Greek New Testament text in the late 1800s. We have also assessed the main elements of the theory of Westcott and Hort in our study of the preservation of the Greek New Testament.

The Historic and Modern Controversy: Numerous chapters offer abbreviated historical accounts of this controversy and review of the words of scholars, translators, theologians and Bible publishers, allowing their own rhetoric to reveal if an alleged “conspiracy” surrounds the biblical texts and modern translations. We have highlighted ways in which the Roman Church and its various agents, including the papacy and the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits), have tried to keep the Bible from true believers and the masses at large.

At various points, we have examined how the rhetoric and arguments of prominent theologians and scholars have obscured honest textual criticism over the centuries, and how their actions have unwittingly concealed the true doctrines of the Bible and set stumbling blocks before Bible-believing Christians.

Today, these same forces, including the various Bible societies, are using the latest scholarship and the common language of the masses to keep the truth of God’s Word from Bible readers, marshaling in another “Dark Age” through their critical arguments, theology and the various ecumenical, humanistic Bible translations.

Divine Authorship and Preservation of the Bible: When viewed in the light of clear scriptural evidence, the historical record offers clues and proof of the Bible’s integrity. Chapters Thirteen and Fourteen frame this subject for us by highlighting the Bible’s view of divine authorship (i.e., inspiration in the traditional sense), and canonization and preservation.

Chapters Three through Ten provide a scriptural and historical reconstruction of how the authors and scribes of the Old and New Testaments composed and sealed their autographs or original writings. Charts tracing this process, and how the scribal copies of the original writings were preserved throughout history, are included in Chapters Thirteen and Fourteen.

Early and Modern Texts and Translations: It is beyond the scope of this publication to review the reliability of every English translation available today. Leland Ryken’s book entitled The Word of God in English explores common fallacies and enumerates sound principles of Bible translation. It also offers standards for comparing contemporary English versions.

Where Are the Witnesses?

It is a well-known fact that the original documents penned by the prophets, apostles and their scribes no longer exist. Most likely they were worn out through extensive use early on. For many Bible believers, this truth can be disconcerting. Yet, there is hope. Thousands of handwritten scribal copies (i.e., manuscripts) exist today that testify to the original text of the God-breathed Sacred Writings. The dispute over the biblical texts centers on how well these copies and their texts have been preserved. In order to come to an understanding on this issue, we must follow the trail of witnesses to the Sacred Writings.

Witnesses to the Sacred Writings

Text editors use three major groups of witnesses to produce what they believe to be the most trustworthy Hebrew and Greek texts for translating: 1) biblical manuscripts, 2) ancient versions and 3) extra-biblical writings (see Figure 1).

Witnesses to the Biblical Texts

Biblical authors write the sacred books (autographs). The copying (transmission) of the autographs begins.

ANCIENT VERSIONS
Translations made into ancient languages from the scribal copies.

These documents are copied and recopied; variant readings slip in, so they must be critically examined.

BIBLICAL MANUSCRIPTS
Biblical manuscripts copied by hand until time of printing.

Mistakes made in copying; stylistic and theological changes made in some manuscripts.

Textual scholars use these three groups of witnesses to establish the most trustworthy printed Hebrew and Greek texts.

BASED UPON THE MOST RELIABLE HEBREW OR GREEK TEXT, TRANSLATORS PRODUCE THE MODERN ENGLISH VERSIONS OF THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS.

EXTRA-BIBLICAL WRITINGS
Early Jewish and Christian authors wrote commentaries, preached sermons and quoted from the biblical manuscripts available to them.

Extra-biblical writers help to date and determine geographical area of certain readings of biblical passages.
Where Are the Witnesses?

These witnesses are very important in evaluating the reliability of the printed texts used today for translating. A review of each group follows.

Biblical Manuscripts

Before the invention of movable type printing in the mid-1400s AD, all biblical manuscripts were copied by hand. The process of transmission began the very first time scribes made copies (apographs) of the God-breathed writings (known as autographs or the original text depending on the context). For more than 2,800 years, priests and Levitical scribes copied portions of the Hebrew Scriptures (the Old Testament or Hebrew Bible). Early believers, monks and professional scribes transcribed manuscripts of the Greek Scriptures (i.e., New Testament) for almost 1,500 years. The process of copying and recopying over centuries has produced thousands of manuscripts of the biblical books. These surviving documents form the primary witnesses to the original text of the Old and New Testaments.

Each manuscript has its own history and character. Some are more reliable witnesses than others, depending on the scribes who copied them. These scribes operated under very different circumstances from one another.

The word “manuscript” traditionally refers to any handwritten or printed document that contains some part of Scripture on it. This term could include anything from papyrus fragments of any book of the Bible to a lectionary (liturgical work). For our purposes and for clarity, we have confined the use of the word “manuscript(s)” to the original biblical writings or their handwritten scribal copies, whether Hebrew or Greek. For example, an early papyrus fragment of the Gospel of John has been classified as a manuscript. All other evidence, such as lectionaries or ancient versions, has been referred to by its specific descriptive term. We have used the word “text(s)” to refer to the handwritten or printed letters, syllables, words and sentences that appear on the page of a manuscript of any book of the Bible.

Over the last two centuries, archaeologists have discovered hundreds of manuscripts that can be dated closer in age to the autographs. These newly discovered papyrus or vellum manuscripts have often consisted of fragments of books of the Bible.

Many modern textual theories are linked to manuscript age. One theory held by many scholars, albeit wrongly, is that the “oldest” manuscripts offer a more trustworthy witness to the text of the autographs. The scholarly-designated term “older” used to describe manuscripts is a misnomer. Most of the early Greek manuscripts, for instance, contain a text that was copied at least 150-400 years after the text of the New Testament autographs were written. More appropriate terms for these manuscripts would be “earliest” or “oldest surviving” or some variation thereof. We have adopted these labels except in direct quotes.

Scholars use the material that a manuscript is written on to determine its age. Radiocarbon (carbon-14) testing and paleography (study of ancient writings) are also employed to determine a relative dating if the condition of the manuscript permits.

The Bible reveals that stone, wooden tablets and other materials were used to record a limited number of words for specific short-term purposes (e.g., Ex. 34:1; Isa. 30:8; Luke 1:63). It is the long-term, widespread preservation of the Word of God that concerns our study; hence, we have confined our review to the usage of papyrus, leather and paper to preserve the books of the Bible in the scroll and codex formats (see Figure 2).

Three General Transmission Periods

Papyrus (antiquity to ca. 800 AD): Papyrus was produced from the fibrous pith of a water plant that grew in Egypt or northern Galilee. It was widely used in Egypt from 3000-2000 BC, about a thousand years before Moses’ time (Würthwein, The Text of the Old Testament, p. 5).

The pith of the papyrus plant was cut into thin strips, and the strips were placed side-by-side vertically, overlapping slightly. More strips were laid across this first layer horizontally. The two layers were then glued together. After the assembled sheet dried, manufacturers polished it to produce a white smooth surface, giving it the consistency of paper. Scribes normally wrote on the side with the horizontal strips (known as recto), but sometimes on the other side (verso) as well (Kenyon, The Text of the Greek Bible, p. 15).

Papyrus was common in Palestine until about 300 AD. Scribes frequently used it when copying Old Testament synagogue scrolls (cf. Mark 12:26 as a possible example). The apostles and their amanuenses (scribes) apparently wrote the Gospels, Acts, General Epistles and Revelation with ink and a split reed on papyrus scrolls, the accepted publication form of the first century AD (Bromiley, International
The earliest biblical papyrus manuscripts found by archaeologists are the Dead Sea Scrolls, comprising the earliest remains of the Old Testament text. The earliest New Testament manuscripts from this period include fragments of papyrus codices (modern book form) written in uncial script (capital letters). Because papyrus is very perishable, only about 100 papyri (mostly fragments) exist today. Archaeologists have discovered all of these papyri in Egypt, which alone offers the climatic conditions favoring the preservation of early manuscripts (Aland, “The Text of the Church,” The Trinity Journal, p. 138). The most important of these early manuscripts is Papyrus 66 (containing most of John’s Gospel) and Papyrus 75 (containing portions of Luke and John), copied about 150 years after the Gospels were first written.
Leather (Parchment and Vellum, 300-1100 AD): Scribes wrote on treated animal skins from ancient times. Processors tanned leather from sheep, goat and any clean animal skin to preserve it from decay and make it pliable for writing. The International Standard Bible Encyclopedia explains that “[s]hortly before the Christian era a method was discovered of treating animal skins with lime and drying them in such a way as to produce an exceedingly fine, smooth, and firm writing surface. In precise definitions, vellum is calfskin or similar fine skin treated as described above, while parchment (named for the city of Pergamum, which produced much of it) is made from the more ordinary types of skins [i.e., sheep, goats]. At present, however, the two terms are used interchangeably” (Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, vol. 4, p. 815). Vellum was mostly white in color, enduring in quality, and formed a good background for black ink and for decoration in color (Kenyon, p. 20).

Leather was the accepted material for official Hebrew Old Testament scrolls. Ernest Würthwein, professor emeritus at Germany’s Philipps-Universitat and a well-known expert in the text of the Old Testament, explains, “Jewish regulations still require that a copy of the Torah intended for liturgical use be written on leather made from a clean animal … this surely represents ancient usage” (Würthwein, p. 6). In his study of sacred books and scrolls of ancient Israel before the Babylonian exile and during the Second Temple period (539 BC-70 AD), scholar Menahem Haran found that the transition to leather from papyrus was a normal progression for the Scriptures and was associated with their canonization (Ibid.).

An increased use of leather (vellum) for writing New Testament manuscripts was the result of a copying revolution that occurred shortly after Roman Emperor Constantine legalized mainstream Christianity in the Edict of Milan (313 AD). Dr. Maurice Robinson, a well-trained textual critic and professor of New Testament Greek, explains the significance of this event to the production of the New Testament manuscripts: “The church of the early fourth century [300s AD] moved from a persecuted minority to an approved entity with governmental sponsorship. It is no coincidence that a change in writing material (from cheap and fragile papyrus to costly and durable vellum) occurred at this time. The earliest extant vellum MSS [manuscripts] … and many later uncial would have been copied directly from papyrus exemplars [model manuscripts]” (Robinson, “New Testament Textual Criticism: The Case for the Byzantine Priority,” TC: A Journal of Biblical Textual Criticism, par. 60).

Early uncial and later minuscule codices comprise the manuscripts of this period. (See section titled “Greek New Testament Manuscripts.”) Parchment and vellum eventually superseded papyrus for Greek New Testament manuscripts. The change to parchment was limited at first, perhaps due to economics. An average New Testament manuscript of 250 pages required the hides of about 50-60 goats or sheep (Aland, The Text of the New Testament, p. 77). Larger collections of books required more hides.

There have been differing opinions about the meaning of the word “parchments” in II Timothy 4:13. In this passage, the apostle Paul wrote to Timothy, requesting him to “bring the chest that I left in Troas with Carpus, and the books—especially the parchments.” Is there any evidence for a literal interpretation of this passage? Yes, there is.

Eighty-five percent of the biblical and religious writings found at Qumran, a monastic community northwest of the Dead Sea, were written on leather (Comfort, The Origin of the Bible, p. 159). Researchers believe a hide processing center at Ein Feshka, a satellite location two miles south of the main Qumran facility, likely supported this widespread use of leather by the Qumran scribes. Historically, Ein Feshka has supported sheep and goat herding (Schiffman, Reclaiming the Dead Sea Scroll, pp. 57-60). The scriptural use of leather and parchment by the Qumran society before and during the time of Paul likely reflects a general Jewish scribal pattern of that era for sacred or precious books. Therefore, the apostle Paul and his scribes would have used these materials.

This conclusion is supported in II Timothy 4:13 by the presence of the Greek word membránas, traditionally used for parchments produced from animal skins. Paul’s use of this word suggests that the autographs of his books were initially written on parchment. Paul’s scribes would have made and sent certified papyrus scrolls (and probably codices) from these masters to their intended destinations (cf. Gal. 6:11; II Thes. 3:17). Paul obviously knew that only parchment could provide the needed durability the Sacred Scriptures demanded.

Paper (1100 AD to the present): Paper first appeared in the 800s AD and gained popularity in the 1100s AD. It was adapted from China, where it was first produced. Paper was used regularly after 1100 AD in copying and later in printing the biblical texts, including whole books. Nearly 25 percent of the surviving New Testament manuscripts and lectionaries are written on paper (Aland, p. 77).
Text Storage Formats

Scroll Format: Papyrus and parchment were ideally suited for the roll or scroll format of early published books. Papyrus sheets were glued (and parchment segments sewn) together to form scrolls of varying dimensions. Common scroll sizes were 30 feet or more in length and nine to ten inches in height. Scribes normally wrote on one side of a scroll in columns about three inches wide arranged across the sheet from right to left for Old Testament books and from left to right for Greek New Testament books. Margins between the columns were small (about one-half of an inch), allowing some space for notes. Space was left at the beginning and end of scrolls to protect the text and give the reader something on which to hold or to insert a wooden shaft (roller) for turning. Titles were usually given at the end of the manuscript (Kenyon, p. 16).

Mark used the Greek word biblo to refer to Exodus, a “book of Moses,” written in a papyrus scroll format (Mark 12:26). Scrolls written in Hebrew without the vowel points and accent marks are still employed today for liturgical purposes in synagogues. Jesus also read from a scroll of Isaiah, which was probably about 23-25 feet in length (Luke 4:17-20). Most New Testament books were written initially in a papyrus scroll format of about 30 feet in length. A copy of the book of Luke would have needed a scroll of this length (Moorman, Forever Settled, p. 65). The book of Ephesians would have been four feet in length, and the Acts of the Apostles might have formed a scroll about 30 feet in length (Kenyon, Our Bible and the Ancient Manuscripts, 1898 ed., p. 94).

Sir Frederic Kenyon, the late director and principal librarian of the British Museum, explained the effect of the papyrus scroll on the early transmission of the New Testament books: “...so long as the papyrus roll [scroll] was the normal vehicle for literature, each of the Gospels and the Acts must have circulated separately. It was not possible to possess in a single volume all the four Gospels or all the Epistles of St. Paul, still less a complete New Testament. In the earliest days each book had its own separate history, and not every Christian community would have had a complete collection [initially] of all that we now know as the canonical books” (Kenyon, The Text, p. 16).

Codex Format: This situation changed dramatically in the latter half of the first century AD with the creation of the codex or modern book form (a document with leaves attached at the spine with writing on both sides). The codex made it possible to gather the New Testament books into a single volume. Kenyon described its effect on the production of the biblical books: “The advantage of the codex was that it could include much more matter than the roll, without becoming unduly cumbrous [clumsy]. The earliest papyrus codex known contained the books of Numbers and Deuteronomy, which would have required three rolls. Another, of the early third century, contained all four Gospels and the Acts, which would previously have occupied five separate rolls. Another, of the same date, contained all the Epistles of St. Paul, except (apparently) the Pastoral [epistles to the ministry or pastors]” (Kenyon, The Text, p. 19).

Archaeological evidence indicates that all but four of the oldest surviving New Testament papyri were written in codex form (Aland, p. 102). The earliest codex, dated 100-150 AD, is the Rylands papyrus fragment of John 18 (Papyrus 52). This historical evidence implies that the use of the codex by Christians for their writings extends back into the first century. By contrast, pagan and Jewish literature is found in the scroll format for a period of time afterwards.

This evidence supports Paul’s use of the word “codex” in II Timothy 4:13 to compile, seal and preserve his books. The possible redating of an early papyrus codex of his Epistles (Papyrus 46), from 200 to 85 AD, certainly adds credibility to a literal reading of this passage (Holland, Crowned with Glory, p. 246). Nonetheless, Paul’s use of the word parchments in this verse in connection with the words tá biblia, translated “the books,” indicates at the very least that Paul was “canonizing” his books. Paul would have closely followed the practice of using leather for the canonization of the Hebrew Scriptures. The fact that parchment is specifically mentioned in this passage suggests that Paul’s books were composed on this material. It also indicates that his books were bound and sealed in codex form for long-term preservation after they had been fully edited. Writings on parchment awaiting minor edits were not placed in the codex form.

The vellum codex was favored by scribes for copying the New Testament beginning in the fourth century AD. Sinaiticus and Vaticanus are two of the most famous Greek codices (plural of codex) of the Old and New Testaments.

Masoretic scribes began to adopt the codex form around 700 AD for copying and preserving the books of the Hebrew Scriptures (Würthwein, p. 8). The larger writing area of the codex undoubtedly offered more space to accommodate the marginal scribal notes (Masora) for correct copying and reading of the Old Testament text.

Ancient Versions

Ancient translations directly from the sacred apographs play a key role in modern textual criticism. “Translation of literature was not common in ancient times, and the translation of the Hebrew OT [Old Testament] into Greek before the time of Christ occupies a unique place in ancient literature. In contrast, the NT [New Testament] was translated into other languages [e.g., Old Latin and Syriac] as early as the 2nd century” (Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, vol. 4, p. 817).

The Zondervan Pictorial Encyclopedia of the Bible explains why Christian missionaries of the early centuries translated the Scriptures into local languages. “When the first Christian missionaries began to carry the gospel message beyond the bounds of Judea and Samaria, the Greek language was known and spoken almost everywhere they went throughout the Roman Empire. Even Latin, the official language of the Roman conquerors, was less the common language of the empire than was Greek.

“This means that many people of the lands around the Mediterranean were bilingual or even trilingual, speaking their own language as well as Greek and often Latin. To many, of course, either Greek or Latin was their native tongue; but in many areas their own language was neither of these…. Although a missionary could have preached in Greek in many areas, in order to be lasting effective the Gospel needed to be translated into the language which the people used in their homes and in intimate conversation. An indication of this fact is seen in Paul’s experience at Lystra (Acts 14:8-18), where, even though the people evidently understood Paul when he spoke in Greek, when they themselves wanted to speak of religious matters they used their own Lycaonian speech.

“The ancient versions of the New Testament, in common with virtually all subsequent versions, were missionary in origin and purpose. They were made so that the people to whom the Christian message was being taken could read it in their own language rather than in a language which they may have known, if at all, only as a language of trade and commerce [i.e., Greek]” (Tenney, Zondervan Pictorial Encyclopedia of the Bible, vol. 1, p. 871).

Scholars have historically used the ancient versions to reconstruct obscure passages or correct alleged errors that exist in the biblical texts. They have also utilized them to identify the source text (Vorlage) used by ancient translators. This information is used to date and determine the geographical area in which a text circulated. However, there are limitations in using ancient versions for these purposes.

Ernest Würthwein describes the shortcomings of early versions in textual studies, especially for reconstructing the Hebrew Old Testament text: “…each of the versions comes with its own peculiar range of problems. For a long period the versions were approached rather naively and used directly for textual criticism on the uncritical assumption that the base from which they were translated could be readily determined. But the matter is not that simple. Anyone who translates also interprets: the translation is not simply a rendering of the underlying text but also an expression of the translator’s understanding of it. And every translator is a child of a particular time and of a particular culture. Consequently, every translation, and especially a translation of the Bible produced to meet the practical needs of a community, must be understood and appreciated independently in its own right.

“Translations reflect the intellectual assumptions of their translators … and most translations of the Bible are the work of a number of anonymous translators. Therefore we must distinguish between what is derived from the original text and what is contributed by the translator. This is a formidable task to be accomplished before we can proceed to use the versions for purposes of textual criticism.

“The history of most of the versions is beset by many problems which are yet unsolved and are perhaps insoluble [incapable of being solved], especially for the early period [e.g., the Septuagint and Syriac Peshitta]….of all the problems of literary criticism, that of the biblical versions is encumbered with such a variety of diverse factors that any hope for a scientifically conclusive solution is very slight” (Würthwein, The Text of the Old Testament, pp. 48-49).

These potential weaknesses have not deterred scholars from using ancient versions to try to establish the original wording of the biblical texts in places where manuscripts differ (variant readings). Many scholars still emphasize the contributions of ancient versions to textual criticism and the translation process, especially in identifying the presence or absence of phrases or passages in the underlying text and in determining the wording where passages appear obscure.

As noted, the original documents of many of these versions are fragmentary or lost; thus their real value to textual criticism is limited in many respects. The process of recovering an original reading from an ancient version is complicated because many were subsequently copied and recopied or even revised (e.g., the Septuagint, Old Latin and Syriac Peshitta). During this process, alternate readings (letters and words) have crept into their texts. Another factor limiting the usefulness of certain versions to textual criticism is that many were translated from other versions, not the original biblical languages of Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek. For example, the Septuagint has served as the basis for the Old Testament in many early Christian versions because the Hebrew language was virtually unknown to early translators in comparison to Greek.

There are also other difficulties related to grammar and translation quality. Certain ancient versions cannot confirm the presence or absence of the Greek article in the New Testament text since some languages, like Latin for instance, have no definite article (adapted from Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, vol. 4, p. 817 and Tenney, Zondervan Pictorial Encyclopedia of the Bible, Vol. 1, p. 872). Other languages cannot translate the Greek verb tenses (e.g., aorist, perfect and imperfect tenses) (Tenney, p. 872). An interpretative translation (targum) will not often reflect the word order, style and characteristics of the original biblical texts in comparison to one that is more literal.

Extra-Biblical Writings

Scholars often consult the citations of Jewish and Christian writers to recover the wording of the original biblical text at places where manuscripts disagree or passages seem obscure. Extra-biblical writings include those of Jewish medieval rabbis, historians such as Josephus and early Greek, Latin and Syriac Christian writers. These individuals authored commentaries and theological treatises, preached sermons and presumably quoted directly from the biblical texts.

Like translations, the original documents written by these authors have been lost. The fact that some of these writings have been translated into and preserved in a secondary language often limits their use for textual criticism. Therefore, citations must be treated judiciously. Serious questions must be answered: Did a writer carefully and directly quote from the biblical manuscripts before them, from a translation or from memory? Did scribes alter later quotations within these writings to harmonize with the text known to them? Was the author influenced in his writing by the prevailing philosophical climate of his time (i.e., Gnostic or Hellenistic Christianity)? These are some of the issues that scholars contend with when dealing with these writings (adapted from Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, vol. 4, pp. 803, 818).

Hebrew Old Testament Manuscripts

The most important Hebrew witnesses of the Old Testament books include manuscripts of the Masoretic Text, the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Samaritan Pentateuch.

Hebrew Masoretic Text (MT): The chief and most reliable witness of the Hebrew Scriptures is the Masoretic Text. It has been the authoritative Old Testament text of Judaism since the second century AD. Protestants adopted it at the beginning of the Reformation when they largely forsook the Latin Vulgate and Greek Septuagint as the basis for their translations of the Old Testament. The Roman Church has historically relied on Jerome’s Latin Vulgate for its English versions of the Old Testament. Catholics have employed the MT as well, following the papal encyclical Divino Afflante Spiritu in 1943 and the translation of the New American Bible in 1970. The Greek Orthodox Church has traditionally used a Septuagint translation as its official Old Testament text.

The Hebrew Bible was initially transmitted through the meticulous care of Aaronic priests and Levites who copied portions of the original text in consecutive generations from the time of Moses until the time of Ezra (cf. Deut. 17:18, 31:9; 24-26). The MT acquired its name from the Hebrew word masora, meaning tradition. The text in its present form is based on the Masora, the textual tradition and marginal notes of the Levitical scholars known as Masoretes. The Masoretes were active from about 500-950 AD.
and continued the work of earlier Aaronic priests and Levitical scribes known as Sopherim, who were appointed by Ezra as the official guardians of the Hebrew text following its revision and official "canonization" by Ezra and the Great Assembly (500s-400s BC). The Masoretes developed a system of vowel points and accent marks superimposed on the fixed consonantal text. Their goal was to preserve the proper pronunciation of the Old Testament text after Hebrew ceased to be a commonly spoken language. (Hebrew scrolls used for worship purposes do not contain the Masora, accent marks and vowel points.)

There were originally three different Masoretic vowel and accent systems: the Palestinian, Babylonian and Tiberian. By the 900s AD, the Masoretes from Tiberias in Palestine had developed a more elaborate system that represented the pronunciation and intonation of the Hebrew text in minute detail (Würthwein, pp. 21-24). Their system eventually superseded all others. The Tiberian Masoretes, led by the family of ben Asher, played a leading role in standardizing the Old Testament text for five generations (700s-900s AD). Aaron ben Moses ben Asher is credited with sealing the first codex of the complete Hebrew Bible with full Masoretic notes about 930 AD. The ben Asher text, contained in the Aleppo Codex, eventually became the accepted form of the Hebrew Old Testament text by the Jewish community in the 1100s AD after an endorsement by acclaimed Jewish scholar and theologian Maimonides. Another important manuscript reflecting the tradition of ben Asher is the Leningrad Codex.

The oldest surviving MT manuscripts date from 800-1000 AD. Twentieth-century archaeologists and scholars have discovered numerous Hebrew fragments in Egypt. One significant find was the Nash Papyrus (a liturgical text of the Decalogue and Shema of Deut. 6:4), which dates from 200-100 BC. A second group includes the Cairo Genizah fragments, consisting of thousands of parchment fragments preserved and uncovered in a storeroom (genizah) for old books and documents at Ben Ezra Synagogue in Fustat, Old Cairo. These fragments date from 500-800 AD and hold value in determining the historical development of the Masoretic vocalization system.

Dead Sea Scrolls (DSS): In 1947, two shepherd boys discovered some scrolls in a cave at Qumran, eight miles south of Jericho in Palestine, northwest of the Dead Sea. These were the first of hundreds of Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek scrolls found in 11 caves between 1947 and 1956. The biblical manuscripts found near the Dead Sea number 223 and form the earliest surviving witnesses to the Hebrew Scriptures (Schiffman, pp. 34-35). These manuscripts pre-date the MT by nearly 1,000 years. Every Old Testament book is presumed to be represented among the Dead Sea documents except Esther, including two nearly complete copies of the book of Isaiah and the first two chapters of Habakkuk (Ibid., p. 163).

Manuscripts relating to the religious life of the Qumran community, the Septuagint, the Samaritan Pentateuch and various apocryphal works were also located among the archaeological remains. In addition, sets of Hebrew texts were found in the Judean Desert near Masada (ca. 73 AD), Wadi Murabba‘at and Nahal Hever (copied before 135 AD). The entire collection, now known as the Dead Sea Scrolls, dates from 250 BC to about 70 AD. The scrolls comprise the most ancient documents written in the Hebrew language and have added a new dimension to Old Testament textual criticism and Hebrew philology (study and science of language). They hold value in determining the development of Judaism from the Second Temple period following the close of the Hebrew canon (400s BC) to the editing of the Mishnah (ca. 200 AD).

Samaritan Pentateuch: The first five books of the Bible (Genesis to Deuteronomy) form the official text of the renegade Levites who settled in the area of southern Samaria during postexilic Judaism (ca. 539 BC-70 AD). These books were preserved in the old Hebrew script rather than in the square script of the MT. Scholars traditionally had assumed that the Samaritan Pentateuch contained a text earlier than the MT. However, modern paleographic research dates the text to about 128 BC (Tov, Textual Criticism of the Hebrew Bible, p. 83). It contains numerous alternate readings introduced by the Samaritan sect to preserve its cultic practices. Its only real value to textual criticism is the few out of 1,900 cases where its wording closely agrees with the Septuagint or a text supposedly quoted by some of the New Testament writers in contrast to the MT (Würthwein, p. 46).

Ancient Versions

The translation of the Hebrew Old Testament into Greek before the time of Christ holds a unique place in the history of ancient Bible versions. Since Biblical Hebrew ceased to be the common language spoken among the Jews in Palestine and elsewhere by the time of Christ, the Greek Septuagint (later Origen’s Hexapla) served as the logical source for translations of the Old Testament books. The Old Latin, Coptic, Ethiopic and Armenian versions were made from the Septuagint beginning in the mid-100s AD. This increases their value to Septuagint textual studies, while limiting their merits for textual criticism of the Hebrew Bible.

Translations made directly from the Hebrew Old Testament text consist of the Greek Septuagint, Aramaic Targums, Syriac Peshitta and Jerome’s Latin Vulgate. These are the most important ancient versions for Hebrew Old Testament textual criticism because of their possible value as witnesses to the pre-Masoretic Hebrew consonantal text and its pronunciation.

Aramaic Targums: Since a portion of the Jewish community did not understand Hebrew after its return from captivity in Babylon, it became necessary to combine synagogue lessons with an Aramaic translation. The Jewish tradition of translating, called targem, is traced to Ezra (Neh. 8:8). Written targs for study and training of translators were in existence by the first century AD. These interpretative and paraphrased documents sometimes ignore the literal meaning and wording of the Hebrew text, making them more valuable for exegesis (technical interpretation of the text) than textual criticism (Würthwein, pp. 79-80).

Syriac Peshitta: The origins of the Peshitta Old Testament are largely unknown. Scholars believe that the Pentateuch was first translated about 40-70 AD to meet the needs of Jewish converts, namely the ruling house of Adiabene, a kingdom east of the Tigris River. The scholarly consensus is that the Pentateuch was faithfully translated from the Hebrew text into Syriac, a dialect of Aramaic spoken in Mesopotamia. The view that the Peshitta Old Testament is of Christian origins has been proven to have no merit. It is more probable that converts to Christianity in the region later adopted it for their own use. The remaining Old Testament books, except Isaiah, are of unknown origin. They reflect a departure away from the Hebrew text and toward the Targum and Septuagint versions. Scholars consider the Peshitta an important Old Testament witness because its language is closely related to Hebrew and the type of Aramaic spoken by Jesus and His disciples (cf. Würthwein, pp. 85-87; Wilson, A Scientific Investigation of the Old Testament, p. 222; Moorman, pp. 34-36).

Greek Septuagint (LXX): The Septuagint is the earliest and most influential ancient translation of the Hebrew Scriptures. Its origins are shrouded in legend and contradiction. Archaeological and historical evidence suggests that the Pentateuch was translated into Greek for the royal library of the Egyptian King Ptolemy Philadelphus II by Hellenistic Jews in Alexandria about 278 BC. Whether this event actually occurred is debatable. It is reasonable to presume that Alexandrian Jews later adopted a Greek version for their own use after they could no longer understand Hebrew (Brenton, The Septuagint with Apocrypha: Greek and English, p. ii). It is commonly believed that different Jewish scholars translated the remaining Old Testament books over the next century or so. Clearly some form of Greek Old Testament translation was used among Diaspora Jews within the centuries prior to and during Jesus’ time.

It is very probable that regional Greek versions of the Prophets and Writings sections of the Old Testament existed by Jesus’ time. According to Würthwein, these versions would have provided Jews and non-Jews an opportunity to study the Old Testament in the common language of the day—Greek (Würthwein, p. 54; cf. Acts 8:26ff as a possible example).

Later revisions of the LXX or new Greek translations of the Hebrew Old Testament include those of Aquila, Symmachus, Theodotion and Origen (182-251 AD). Origen’s Hexapla (240 AD) contained six columns consisting of the four versions listed previously, along with the fixed Hebrew consonantal text and a Greek transliteration of it. Origen’s disciples in Caesarea, Pamphilus and Eusebius, copied and circulated the Hexapla for more than half a century after his death. The Sinaic manuscript (dated 300s AD), which contains the Old Testament, was corrected against a copy of Origen’s Hexapla, (Kenyon, pp. 47-48). In the fourth century AD, Lucian, a scholarly theologian of Antioch, and Hesychius, a bishop in Alexandria, produced similar revisions of the LXX text as Origen had done earlier. These two texts became popular to some extent among the Eastern churches. An unknown form of the Septuagint text was adopted by the Greek Orthodox church by the end of the fourth century AD.

Sinaiticus and Vaticanus: along with the Hexapla, were apparently the first texts to include the apocrypha among the canonical Old Testament books. Vaticanus, Sinaiticus and Alexandrinus (another Greek uncial) are the manuscripts primarily used by scholars in producing modern editions of the LXX because they contain complete or nearly complete texts of the Old Testament translated into Greek.

Jerome’s Latin Vulgate: Pope Damasus I commissioned the Greek and Latin scholar Eusebius Hieronymus (also known as Jerome) in 383 AD to revise the Gospels of the Old Latin Bible. Jerome’s major contribution to the Latin versions was his later translation of the Old Testament directly from the Hebrew text. Scholars use Jerome’s version for textual criticism, claiming it reflects the pronunciation and text of Biblical Hebrew of the late fourth century AD.
Jerome made a first revision of the Psalms (Roman Psalter) based on the LXX while living in Rome in 383 AD. Some time after Damasus’ death in 385 AD, Jerome completed a second revision of the Psalms titled the Gallican Psalter from Origen’s Hexapla. It reflected his desire to bring the Psalms more in line with the Hebrew text. He allegedly revised the entire Old Testament from the Hexapla; only the text of Job and fragments of Proverbs, Song of Solomon and Ecclesiastes have survived. He soon found working from the Hexapla unsatisfactory and realized the Hebrew text was vastly superior (cf. Sparks, The Cambridge History of the Bible, vol. 1, pp. 513-515, 518-521, 531; Würthwein, p. 96).

Scholars believe that it was either at the request of friends or due to his own ambition that Jerome turned to the Hebrew text used in Palestine at the time to translate the Old Testament into Latin (Schaff, The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 6, p. 1021). This translation was apparently made at Bethlehem ca. 390-405 AD. Despite his return to the Hebrew text and assistance from Jewish scholars in Tiberias, he was heavily dependent on the various Greek versions (Origen, Aquila, et al.) as translation aids because no Hebrew dictionaries or grammars existed to assist him in his work (Comfort, p. 168; Würthwein, p. 97).

Scholars are divided on whether Jerome translated the entire Old Testament from the Hebrew text or simply revised the existing Old Latin translation of the Old Testament according to the Hebrew. His Hebrew version of the Psalms is found in a number of manuscripts alongside the Gallican version, which is part of the official Roman Church edition of the Vulgate. The general distrust of Jerome’s work by the majority of his fellow theologians, including Augustine, might have persuaded him to consider carefully how far to deviate from the Old Latin text. In contradiction to popular belief, Jerome did not revise several of the Old Testament apocryphal books (Baruch, Ecclesiasticus, Wisdom of Solomon, and Maccabees) because he believed them to be non-canonical (Würthwein, pp. 96-97, 99).

Over the centuries, Jerome’s Latin version was revised numerous times. According to scholar Merrill F. Unger, it contains elements from every period, including his 1) unrevised apocryphal books; 2) Old Latin revised Psalter from the LXX; 3) free Latin translation of the apocryphal Judith and Tobit; 4) Old Testament translation from Hebrew, except the Psalter; 5) Old Latin revised Gospels; and 6) lightly revised remainder of the Old Latin New Testament (Unger, The New Unger’s Bible Dictionary, p. 1348). It was in this haphazard state that the Vulgate appeared in 1456 AD as the first printed book known as the Gutenberg or Mazarin Bible.

In the ensuing battle over the biblical texts with Protestant Reformers, the Council of Trent in 1546 AD declared the Vulgate, including twelve apocryphal works dispersed among the Old Testament books, as the standard text of the Roman church. The 1592 revision of the Vulgate by Pope Clement VIII finally became its official Bible. Over 8,000 Latin manuscripts of Jerome’s Vulgate exist today.

Quotations from Jewish or Christian Authors

Testimony for an original text is drawn from citations from the Hebrew Scriptures, which are frequently found in Jewish literature beginning in the Second Temple period. These include references in non-canonical books and the works of Jewish theologian and Hellenistic philosopher Philo and Jewish historian Josephus. Testimony is also drawn from the Old Testament commentaries of so-called Christian writers such as Origen and Jerome. Moreover, quotations from Old Testament books found in the New Testament offer additional insight into what the original text of the Hebrew Bible might have been.

Many scholars believe that the literature of the Jewish rabbis offers a rich supply of data to verify the credibility of the MT. Rabbinic literature contains hundreds of deviations from the accepted, standard Masoretic Text, many from manuscripts with a supposedly different consonantal text. Rabbinic traditions often comment on scribal activities in transmitting the texts. “These tell of [alleged] ‘scribal corrections’ and of divergent readings in different scrolls.…There are reports of the existence of an official Temple model scroll from which other scrolls were corrected” (Eliade, The Encyclopedia of Religion, vol. 2, p. 161).

Greek New Testament Manuscripts

The Greek manuscripts form the chief witnesses to the original New Testament writings. At the time the apostles and their scribes wrote the New Testament, two styles of handwriting were commonly used: uncial (continuous capital letters) and cursive (connected or running lowercase letters). See Figure 5. The first style was used typically for literary works, while the second was used for private, commercial and legal purposes. It is possible that the apostle Paul wrote his Epistles in a cursive script, reflecting their epistolary nature as personal correspondence to the brethren. However, it is more probable that his Epistles were written in the uncial type since the earliest known manuscripts of all books of the New Testament appear only in uncial handwriting (Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, Vol. 4, p. 815). This might have been what Paul meant in Galatians 6:11 where he wrote, “See with what large letters I have written to you with my own hand.”

Today there are about 100 papyri, 300 uncial and 2,800 minuscule Greek manuscripts that serve as primary witnesses to the New Testament text (Aland, pp. 87, 103, 128). Nearly 80 percent of all Greek scribal copies are kept on microfilm or otherwise stored at the Institute for New Testament Textual Research, a manuscript center in Münster, Westphalia, Germany. Virtually all copies are in the codex or modern book form. Definitions of the primary witnesses follow:

Papyri (ca. 50-800 AD): Codices with papyrus pages written in an uncial style.

Uncials (ca. 300-1100 AD): Codices with vellum pages written in uncial style.

Minuscules (Cursives) (ca. 800-1600 AD): Codices with either vellum or paper pages written in a modified cursive style adapted after centuries of use for personal, commercial and legal purposes.

A copying revolution occurred in the 800s AD, which had a direct impact on the transmission of the Greek New Testament manuscripts. According to Dr. Robinson, the handwriting of codices switched rapidly from a uncial to a cursive script. He explains, this “change likely was initiated by Theodore of Studium [a Byzantine monastic reformer, 759-826 AD] and was swiftly accepted throughout the Greek-speaking world as a replacement for the more ponderous [i.e., clumsy] uncial script. Within a century and a half uncial script had ceased to exist among continuous-text NT MSS and soon after that disappeared even from the more traditional and conservative lectionaries. The upshot of this copying revolution was similar to what transpired following the papyrus-to-vellum conversion of the fourth century: uncial MSS of far earlier date were recopied in great quantity into the new and popular minuscule script and then destroyed” (Robinson, par. 61). This revolution plays a key role in the identification of the authentic Greek text of the New Testament.

During the centuries following the printing of the Authorized Version (known as the King James Version or KJV), scholars collected, compared and classified data on variant readings (differences) found in the Greek copies of the New Testament. One fact became apparent due to these efforts: No two Greek copies were exactly identical in all their particulars. Despite the differences, enough similarities existed between the handwritten copies for scholars to group them into four artificial manuscript families.

Johann Bengel, a German scholar and leading Lutheran minister, was the first to propose two manuscript families in 1725: Asiatic (i.e., Byzantine) and African. Johann Selmer theorized three families: Alexandrian, Eastern (Byzantine) and Western. Johann Griesbach refined the previous scholars’ classifications of the Greek manuscripts into three ancestral groups: Alexandrian, Byzantine and Western. He laid the foundation for all subsequent work on the Greek New Testament text. In the late 1800s, Dr. F. J. A. Hort classified the Greek New Testament manuscripts into four groups: Alexandrian, Neutral, Syrian (Byzantine) and Western.

Greek manuscripts are still grouped into four manuscript families, namely, Alexandrian, Byzantine, Caesarean and Western. Of these families, the Byzantine and Alexandrian are the most influential due to their extensive use in English Bible translation over the last 500 years.

Alexandrian (Egyptian) Text: This manuscript family generally circulated in the region of Alexandria, though elements are detected outside of Egypt in a few ancient versions and among the writings of the more scholarly Christians. Many scholars believe this text was a “refinement” of the Western text. The Alexandrian text essentially disappeared for centuries after 500 AD, only to be rediscovered again in the mid-1800s. The modern eclectic or critical Greek texts depend heavily on a minority of Alexandrian type manuscripts, due to their age. These include codices Sinaiticus, Vaticanus and related papyri (66, 75, etc.). In spite of their years, these manuscripts often disagree with one another and show significant signs of grammatical revision and the influence and refinement of Egyptian scribes. The Alexandrian text has served as the basis of most contemporary English New Testament translations since 1881.

Byzantine Text: This manuscript family obtained its primary name because it was the dominant form of the text copied by hand and used by the Greek-speaking church throughout much of the Byzantine Empire. It is also known as the Traditional Text because it was used and preserved by the Greek church from the time of the apostles until the era of movable type printing. Even today the Greek Orthodox Church has resisted scholarly efforts to revise its version of it. Yet another name for this text is the Majority Text because it is found in 90 percent of the nearly 5,500 existing Greek New Testament manuscripts and lectionaries. It is “characterized by an overall unity despite the presence of numerous variations” (Aland, The Trinity Journal, p. 131). Readings of this manuscript family are found in many of the early papyri and most later uncial (Alexandrinus and W) and minuscules.

The texts of the early printed editions of the Greek New Testament (i.e., Textus Receptus texts) are nearly identical to the common text of this manuscript family. These early editions closely match the Greek text underlying the King James Version of the New Testament (1611).

Textual scholar Hermann von Soden conducted one of the most expansive studies of the Byzantine Text to date. According to his analysis of the textual evidence, the Byzantine Text remained “intact throughout the whole period of perhaps 1,200 years. Only very sporadically do readings found in other text-types appear in one or another of the varieties” (von Soden, Die Schriften des Neuen Testaments, 1. Teil, 2. Abt., p. 712). The strongest period of Byzantine dominance ranged from 350-1516 AD. In addition, von Soden claimed that the Byzantine Text “is of the highest antiquity, and within transmission history was the dominant element among the steadily increasing mass [of manuscripts] from century to century” (Ibid.).

Caesarean Text: This text can be found primarily in the area of Caesarea in Palestine and most likely originated in Egypt (Hills, The King James Version Defended, 1984 ed., p. 125). This family has close connections to the Alexandrian, Byzantine and Western texts. Codex Theta and a group of related minuscule manuscripts known as Family 1 are the prime witnesses of the Caesarean text (Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, Vol. 4, p. 819; Hills, The King James Version Defended, p. 126).

Western Text: The evidence of the early papyri suggests that this manuscript family originated in the Eastern Roman Empire and was taken west to Rome (Sturz, The Byzantine Text-Type & New Testament Textual Criticism, pp. 70-76, 88). This text circulated primarily in North Africa, Italy, southern France and Egypt and was marked by additions, long paraphrases and omissions. Codex Beza is the prime manuscript witness to the Western text.

Many scholars today refer to the Caesarean and Western families as “phantom” texts because of their brief existence and close affiliation with the other manuscript families (Aland, The Text, pp. 54-55, 66-67, 172).

The presence of “mixed texts” among the early papyri has forced many scholars who follow the theory of genealogy to rethink the existence of strict manuscript families. It is only possible to have a “mixed text” after, and not before, a recension or systematic revision of the text (Aland, “The Significance of the Papyri for New Testament Research,” The Bible in Modern Scholarship, pp. 335-337). This concession on the part of scholars means that the dominant forms of the text previously mentioned (Alexandrian and Byzantine) existed before 200 AD. This overturns Westcott and Hort’s theory that the Byzantine Text was created in the fourth century by church scholars and serves no useful purpose in the study of the New Testament text. The implication of this development is that the Byzantine Text possesses an equal, if not greater, claim to the original form of the New Testament text than other manuscript families. In spite of this evidence, we have used the previously listed manuscript names for convenience.

Ancient Versions

Early translations from the Greek copies form an important source of evidence to the Greek New Testament text. Some of these versions include Old Latin, Jerome’s Latin Vulgate, Syriac Peshitta, Coptic (Egyptian), Gothic (German), Armenian and Ethiopic. Scholars use these translations in evaluating the text that non-Greek speaking readers used.

Old Latin: Old Latin is a collective term referring to a number of New Testament versions translated completely from the Greek, which circulated by 157 AD (Scrivener, A Plain Introduction to the Criticism of the New Testament, vol. 2, p. 43). These versions served the practical worship needs of believers whose common language was Latin and who were generally unfamiliar with Greek, the dominant language of the second century. There are two general types of Old Latin manuscripts, reflecting the areas in which they circulated: African (North Africa) and European (Spain, France, Italy and Britain).

Latin Vulgate: As Latin began to replace the Greek language in the western portions of the Roman Empire in the third century AD, a need arose for a uniform Latin text for ecclesiastical purposes (Comfort, p. 168). To address this need, Damasus I authorized the famed scholar Jerome to revise the Gospels of the Old Latin Bible. The revision was completed about 383 AD. Oxford University scholar H.F.D. Sparks believed that in speaking of the New Testament, only the Gospels can be rightly called Jerome’s work. The remaining New Testament books were revised by “a person or persons unknown” over a period of years. Other historians contend that Jerome completed the entire New Testament before 390 AD (cf. Sparks, pp. 519-520, 522).

Syriac Peshitta: The Peshitta (meaning simple or plain) is the historic Bible of the Syrian church and one of the most ancient New Testament versions. The Syrian church had close contact with the apostles since Antioch was the center for Paul’s ministry (Acts 15:23). The Peshitta was probably translated from the Greek to serve the needs of the brethren in that region sometime in the second century AD (Hills, p. 119). Scholarship has been divided on its dating since the beginning of the twentieth century.

Citations of Christian Writers

The writings of scholars of normative Christianity, commonly called the “Church Fathers,” offer textual critics some of the earliest extra-biblical evidence as to what might have been the readings of certain passages during the first three centuries after the writing of the autographs.

Anglican scholar John Burgon collected the largest index of these citations (86,489 total, with 4,383 citations from 76 Christian authors whose writings have relevance to what the text was like before 400 AD). This collection consists of sixteen thick volumes, housed in the British Museum. Burgon was a leading Anglican theologian and textual scholar of his time. He is most famous for his vigorous opposition to the Greek text and theory of Westcott and Hort published in 1881. He published over 50 works; the most famous are The Revision Revised, The Traditional Text of the Holy Gospels and The Causes of Corruption of the Traditional Text, which have been used extensively in our study of the Greek text.

Lectionaries

There are approximately 2,300 lectionaries that exist today (Aland, The Text, p. 169). Lectionaries were collections of selected scriptural passages arranged according to particular days and seasons of the liturgical year. These books contain prescribed readings from the Gospels or Epistles. Scholars use these to reconstruct a text based on their wording and liturgical usage within the early and medieval Greek Church.

The Trail of Witnesses

The Bible is the most researched and best documented ancient book. Thousands of witnesses attest to the transmission of its texts throughout history, in contrast to other ancient books and works of fiction. In this chapter, we have surveyed the witnesses to the original writings penned by the biblical authors and shown how the various witnesses relate to one another. Each witness offers direct or indirect evidence about the state of the biblical texts in antiquity and through time. Witnesses are useful in determining the most reliable manuscripts of the original writings of the Bible.
Chapter Fourteen

Through the Lens of Scripture

The Bible is the only true source of doctrinal authority for Christians. Its authority originates in its divine character; therefore, the subject of “inspiration” is of prime importance for Christians. As we will see, the Bible is also the best source for learning about its texts—as it offers direct statements about its divine authorship, canonization and preservation.

While other Scriptures might immediately relate to this topic of study, only II Timothy 3:15-17 explicitly declares that the biblical texts are God-breathed, as Paul writes to Timothy: “And that from a child you have known the Holy Writings, which are able to make you wise unto salvation through faith, which is in Christ Jesus. All Scripture is God-breathed and is profitable for doctrine, for conviction, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; so that the man of God may be complete, fully equipped for every good work.”

In addition, II Peter 1:19-21 encapsulates how it was written: “We also possess the confirmed prophetic Word to which you do well to pay attention, as to a light shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star arises in your hearts; knowing this first, that no prophecy of Scripture originated as anyone’s own private interpretation; because prophecy was not brought at any time by human will, but the holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit.”

Throughout our study, the word “inspiration” appears in quotation marks. The reason for this stylistic notation is because the word and its various forms do not adequately describe the divine character and quality of Scripture. This character and quality is better defined as “God-breathed.” However, due to its popularity and to avoid confusion, we continue to use the term “inspiration” to describe the entire process by which Scripture became God-breathed; it is used interchangeably with the expression “divine authorship.”

Every Part of Scripture Is God-breathed

The first truth concerning “inspiration” is that every part of the biblical writings (letters, syllables and words) is God-breathed, each part no more or less than the other. Greek scholar Spiros Zodhiates explained that the English word “all” in II Timothy 3:16, which is translated from the Greek word pasa, means “every part of the whole and all of it together” (Zodhiates, “graphe,” The Complete Word Study Dictionary New Testament, p. 382). An amplified translation of this passage could read “Every part of the whole and all of Scripture together is God-breathed” (Ibid.).

The apostle Paul confirmed that divine authority extends even to the grammatical forms of words. In his teaching on the covenant of promise in Galatians 3:16, he made the distinction between Abraham’s seed (Gk., spermati) and seeds (spermasin). The Greek word endings ti and sin differentiate between one grammatical form of the word and another (singular and plural), effecting a specific teaching. The noun “seed,” whether in Hebrew, Greek or English, can be used in a singular, collective or plural sense. Paul’s argument was that in some Old Testament passages (Gen. 3:15, 22:18), seed refers to Jesus Christ, the chief representative of Abraham’s offspring. This conclusion is affirmed by Paul’s declaration a few verses later: “For you are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal. 3:28).

The late B. B. Warfield, former professor of theology at Princeton Theological Seminary and a leading scholar on the Bible’s divine authorship, wrote: “No doubt it is the grammatical form of the word which God is recorded as having spoken to Abraham that is in question. But Paul knows what grammatical form God employed in speaking to Abraham only as the Scriptures have transmitted it to him; and, as we have seen, in citing the words of God and words of Scripture he was not accustomed to make any distinction between them…. [It] is possible that what he [Paul] here witnesses to is rather the detailed trustworthiness of the Scriptural record than its direct divinity—if we can separate two things which apparently were not separated in Paul’s mind” (Bromiley, The International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, vol. 2, p. 844, bold emphasis added).
Jesus underscored the emphatic present tense of the Hebrew verb in Exodus 3:6 when defending the resurrection of the dead in his argument with the Sadducees, which is preserved for us in Matthew’s Gospel (Matt. 22:23). Near the end of this interchange, Jesus said, “Now concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read that which was spoken to you by God, saying, ‘I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living” (Matt. 22:31-32). Again, the difference of a few letters in the Greek text would have altered the meaning of this passage.

By focusing on the present tense “I am” and “God is,” Jesus emphasized the perpetual covenant and promises God established with all three patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac and Jacob). In order for Him ultimately to fulfill His promises to them, they “must rise and live again in the resurrection in order that He may be their God. This is what the Lord [Jesus] set out to prove (in v. 31) ‘concerning the resurrection’” (Bullinger, The Companion Bible, p. 1360).

Both Jesus and Paul showed an acute awareness of the minor details of the Hebrew and Greek texts. These details have a special purpose in God’s revelation of truth, and the authors of the Bible recorded them for both our edification and salvation.

Every Scripture Is Equally God-breathed: Some have erroneously considered certain biblical segments, such as the genealogies of the primitive, patriarchal and regal periods in I Chronicles to be less a product of divine authorship than others like the Gospels. However, the differences between the various segments of Scripture are not a matter of “inspiration,” but of purpose.

The four Gospels, for example, provide us with a record of the words and actions of Jesus Christ that form the basis of salvation (Luke 1:4; John 20:30-31). According to scholar Norman Geisler, the book of Chronicles in comparison provides 1) a priestly religious history of Judah; 2) teachings of the faithfulness of God, the power of His Word and the essential role of worship in the life of God’s people; and 3) a record of the Davidic kings and their descendants through whom the Messiah would come (cf. Matt. 1) (Geisler, A Popular Survey of the Old Testament, p. 149). Though less explicit, Chronicles also offers a typological view of the temple that points to Jesus Christ and the Kingdom of God. When viewed in this light, it is clear that Chronicles is equally divine in nature and has a historical, doctrinal and Christological purpose that leads us to Matthew 1:1 and offers proof that God has fulfilled His promise of a Messiah.

The late John William Burgon, a textual scholar and Anglican theologian of the nineteenth century, best expressed this truism in his book Inspiration and Interpretation: “The Bible … is the very utterance of the Eternal … as if high Heaven were open, and we heard God speaking to us with human voice. Every book of it is inspired alike; and is inspired entirely. Inspiration is not a difference of degree, but of kind [purpose]” (p. 76, emphasis added).

Burgon adds that while the subject matter may change from one part of the Bible to the next, “it is a confusion of thought to infer therefrom a different degree of Inspiration.… [The] Bible must stand or fall—or rather, be received or rejected—as a whole…. There is no disconnecting one Book from its fellows. There is no eliminating one chapter from the rest. There is no taking exception against one set of passages, or supposing that Inspiration has anywhere forgotten her office, or discharged it imperfectly. All the Books of the Bible must stand or fall together…. And while you read the Bible, read it believing that you are reading an inspired Book—not a Book inspired in parts only, but a Book inspired in every part—not a Book unequally inspired, but all inspired equally—not a Book generally inspired—the substance indeed given by the [Holy] Spirit, but the words left to the option of the writers; but the words of it, as well as the matter of it, all—all given by God” (Ibid., pp. 102, 111-112, 114-115, emphasis added).

Only the Biblical Writings Are God-breathed

Another truth of II Timothy 3:16 is that only the written texts, the details and substance of Scripture, are God-breathed. The Bible describes the prophets, apostles and their scribes as having been moved, driven or carried along by the Holy Spirit in such a way that what they wrote were the literal words of God.

Both the Greek and English renderings of II Timothy 3:16 confirm this conclusion. Here the apostle Paul linked the idea of “inspiration” to the biblical writings with his use of the Greek word graphe. Translated “Scripture” in English, the word graphe for a handwritten document comes from the verb grapho, which means “to write.” The English word “Scripture” comes from the Latin word scriptura for the product of the act of writing (cf. Webster’s Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary.
Chapter Fourteen

“Scripture,” p. 1056). In the New Testament, graphe is used 51 times to refer only to the written texts of the Hebrew and Greek Scriptures. In most of these instances, it pertains to a passage or the entire collection of the surviving copies (apographs) of the Old Testament writings. Four passages distinctly refer to the original documents (autographs) and preserved writings of the apostles and their scribes (e.g., I Tim. 5:18; II Tim. 3:16; II Pet. 1:19–21, 3:16).

In two passages, the Greek gramma(s)in(ta) refers to the writings of the Old Testament (John 5:47, II Tim. 3:15). Paul used grammasin to describe the written letters of his Epistle to the Galatians (Gal. 6:11).

Dr. J. I. Packer, professor of theology at Regent College, further explained the connection between “inspiration” and the biblical texts: “Inspiration is a work of God terminating [ending], not in the men who were to write Scripture (as if, having given them an idea of what to say, God left them to themselves to find a way of saying it), but in the actual written product. It is Scripture—graphe, the written text—that is God-breathed. The essential idea here is that all Scripture has the same character as the prophets’ sermons had, both when preached and when written” (Comfort, The Origin of the Bible, p. 30, emphasis added).

God’s revelation of truth for mankind resides not in the ink, writing materials (papyrus and vellum) and handwriting, but in the words written by His holy servants in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek.

Old Testament: God specifically chose Abraham with whom to establish His covenant of promise (Gen. 12, 15). God’s promises to Abraham were no doubt transmitted orally to his immediate offspring. With the limitation of human life spans after the Noachian Flood, apparently to about 120 years (Gen. 6:3), a more precise written revelation was needed of what Jehovah, the Covenant God, required of and promised to future generations of Abraham’s descendants. After God delivered His people from bondage in Egypt as He had promised Abraham (Gen. 15:13–15), it became imperative that the new nation possess a legal and religious system and documents that reflected its divine calling (Ex. 19:4–6). God began the process by making a covenant with the Israelites and producing a written record of truth. He revealed Himself to His people through direct communication and the visions and dreams of His holy prophets (Num. 12:1–8; Heb. 1:1). Over time, these words were written down and sealed as a testimony for God’s covenant people Israel.

Jesus’ discussion with the Jews in John 5 affirmed that the Hebrew Scriptures were the final deposit of revelation for the nations of Israel and Judah until the writing of the New Testament. Jesus stated: “Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father. There is one who accuses you, even Moses, in whom you have hope. But if you believed Moses, you would have believed Me; for he wrote about Me. And if you do not believe his writings, how shall you believe My words?” (John 5:45–47).

How could Moses, who had been dead for nearly 1,500 years, accuse the Jews of their unbelief? Ernest Martin explains that it was common practice for people during the time of Jesus and the apostles to “consider that a letter sent to a person or a group (or even the bearer of the letter) [be] looked on as if the writer were present when the letter was read” (Martin, Restoring the Original Bible, p. 395).

Though Moses’ writings had been copied for centuries, Jesus still considered them to be trustworthy in all their declarations and to carry the same divine authority as when they were first written. For Jesus, it was as if Moses was alive and personally accusing the Jews of their unbelief. Ironically, the Jews’ belief that Moses was a prophet of God (John 9:29) added weight to Jesus’ charge. Their refusal to heed Moses’ words in Deuteronomy 18:15, 19, pointing to Jesus as the anticipated Prophet, carried a penalty of divine judgment, which was executed over 40 years later when the Roman General Titus conquered Jerusalem and burned the temple to the ground. Jesus, the Jews and even Paul extended this same binding authority to other Old Testament writings on several occasions in their description of them as “law” (e.g., John 10:34–35, 12:34; I Cor. 14:21).

New Testament: The context of II Peter shows that the apostles and other New Testament writers were fully aware that their ministerial duties carried an implicit command to compose and compile an accurate testimony of their writings for the brethren before their deaths. Prior to the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem in 70 AD, God undoubtedly revealed to the apostles that Christ would not return in their lifetimes. This is evident by comparing the tone, tenor and content of their earlier and later writings. Peter’s urgency to complete his writings is apparent from his statement in II Peter 1:15: “But I will make every effort that, after my departure, you may always have a written remembrance of these things [the truth of v. 12], in order to practice them for yourselves.” Peter considered this task so important that he viewed failure to accomplish it as being negligent of his divine role as an apostle and a teacher of the Gospel (II Pet. 1:12).
The apostle Paul earlier wrote to the Church at Rome in 57 AD that his ministry carried the important responsibility of writing to the brethren. “So then, I have more boldly written to you, brethren, in part as a way of reminding you, because of the grace that was given to me by God, in order that I might be a minister of Jesus Christ unto the Gentiles, to perform the holy service of teaching the gospel of God; so that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the Holy Spirit” (Rom. 15:15-16; cf. Eph. 4:12). This same attitude is also expressed, in varying degrees, by Luke, James, John and Jude in their writings (Luke 1:1-4; Jas. 1:19ff; I John 5:13; Jude 1:3, 5, 17; Rev. 1:1-3).

Within the first two decades of the Church’s existence (ca. 50 AD), the Epistle became one of the chief instruments for preaching and teaching. Paul directed his congregations and ministers (e.g., Timothy) to read and circulate his letters (Col. 4:16; I Thes. 5:27; I Tim. 4:13). The epistolary form allowed Paul and the other apostles to instruct, edify, correct and comfort many brethren at one time without being on location. Paul exhorted the brethren at Thessalonica to “stand firm, and hold fast the ordinances that you were taught, whether by word or by our epistle” (II Thes. 2:15). He also set his Epistles as the standard by which brethren were to measure themselves and admonish others: “Now if anyone does not obey our word by this epistle, take notice of that man and do not associate with him so that he may be ashamed” (II Thes. 3:14).

Peter likewise sanctioned the divine authority and character of the New Testament writings in declaring, “We also possess the confirmed prophetic Word to which you do well to pay attention” (II Pet. 1:19). This same truth is developed further in his Epistle where Peter explicitly placed the written commands (doctrines and teachings) of the apostles of Jesus Christ on the same level as the prophets’ words in the Old Testament writings (II Pet. 3:1-2) and equated Paul’s Epistles as Scripture (II Pet. 3:16).

By compiling their teachings in written form, the apostles and New Testament authors were creating a permanent record of their words through which future brethren would believe in Christ (John 17:20).

God Is the Real Author of Scripture

The greatest truth taught by II Timothy 3:16 is the divine authorship of Scripture. In the Greek, this passage reads Pasa graphe theopneustos, meaning “All Scriptur is God-breathed.” The word theopneustos, often translated “God-inspired,” is found only in this passage. What does this word actually mean?

The commonly translated English phrases “inspired of God,” “given by inspiration of God,” and their variations are derived from the Latin words divinitus inspirata. Though not wholly inaccurate, these Latin-based words have obscured the real meaning of theopneustos. The International Standard Bible Encyclopedia notes: “The Greek term has, however, nothing to say of inspiring or of inspiration: it speaks only of ‘aspiring’ or ‘aspiration.’ What it says of Scripture is, not that it is ‘breathed into by God’ or is the product of the divine ‘inbreathing’ into its human authors, but that it is breathed out by God, ‘God-breathed,’ the product of the creative breath of God. In a word, what is declared by this fundamental passage is simply that the Scriptures are a divine product, without any indication of how God has operated in producing them. No term could have been chosen, however, which would have more emphatically asserted the divine production of Scripture than that which is here employed [i.e., God-breathed]” (Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 840).

Paul’s usage of theopneustos in II Timothy 3:16 links the idea of the breath of God with the writings (graphe) of the biblical authors. In this passage, the Greek word theopneustos is used as a predicate adjective, which means it modifies or describes the word “Scripture” (graphe). Thus, every part of Scripture possesses the quality of being God-breathed.

This first-century understanding is graphically portrayed in Jesus’ statement during His temptation by Satan: “It is written, ‘Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word [utterance] that proceeds out of the mouth of God’ ” (Matt. 4:4). The context of Hebrew 3-4 reveals that Paul, like Jesus, believed that every part of Scripture, including every example, principle and psalm, originated from the mouth of God. Near the end of chapter four, Paul described the written Word of God codified in the Hebrew Scriptures as “living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of both soul and spirit, and of both the joints and the marrow, and is able to discern the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb. 4:12). Earlier, he quoted Psalm 95:7-11, exhorting his readers to hear God’s voice speaking through these words. This same belief about written words being the living, authoritative utterances of God was later transferred to the writings of the apostles.
Apart from the many unrelated, non-biblical and popular interpretations (e.g., “inspired” preaching) often associated with the English words “inspired” and “inspiration” (which first appeared as a part of the English language in the 1400s AD), the term “God-breathed” literally means that every part of Scripture is the utterance (spoken word) of the living God set to writing. Paul’s choice of the word God-breathed holds many implications for the biblical writings:

1) It is only possible for the biblical texts (letters, syllables and words) to possess this quality as a result of God’s direct intervention in the writing process. God is so identified with the writing of the Bible that all the words penned by its human authors are literally His words.

2) The words of Scripture possess sacred qualities (e.g., infallibility, authority, truth, etc.), whether they were first orally revealed and later recorded or were immediately written by an author receiving revelation under the influence of the Holy Spirit. All of the biblical writings are marked by a unity of thought and purpose throughout that reflects God’s mind.

3) The term “God-breathed” restricts these divine qualities to the original writings (autographs) penned by God’s servants in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek. Only these possess the infallible, inerrant and authoritative words and doctrines and truths given by God. Scribal copies (apographs) are God-breathed and possess the same divine qualities to the degree that they faithfully and accurately reflect the details and substance of the autographs.

4) “God-breathed” describes how the sacred quality of Scripture is distinct from that of all other non-biblical religious and secular writings.

5) Translations can never be considered God-breathed because they do not possess the primary divine authorship of the autographs and apographs! Only the doctrines and truths of the autographs and apographs transfer in the translation process. As such, translations are subject to error and correction because they express divine truths in words that were not originally God-breathed (i.e., English). When doctrines and truths are translated accurately into other languages from the original texts, they possess the divine authority and sacred qualities of the autographs. (See Figure 6.)

Can we know whether the Bible is imprinted with God’s “breath”? Did He guide its writing? There are at least four major divine markers associated with God-breathed Scripture. These markers record the biblical authors’ conviction that the real author of their writings was God.

God Wrote Scripture by His Servants’ Hands

An excellent example of “God-breathed” in relationship to the Scriptures can be traced to Moses, the earliest known biblical writer. Exodus 17:14 reveals that God initiated the process of writing Scripture by instructing Moses to compose a short account of Israel’s deliverance from the Amalekites (Ex. 17:14). While this passage is the first time “writing” is mentioned in the Bible, it “clearly implies that it was not then employed for the first time but was so familiar that it was used for historic records” (Unger, “Writing,” The New Unger’s Bible Dictionary, p. 1374). The ten section headings in the book of Genesis that begin with the English word “generations” (Gen. 2:4, 5:1, 6:9, 10:1, 11:10, 27, 25:12, 19, 36:1, 37:2) indicate that written narratives, histories or books of people and events existed, which Moses had access to when writing his account of Genesis (Nelson, The King James Study Bible, p. 9). Such narratives and written accounts were clearly used by Moses in completing the volume known as the Book of the Law, which consisted of his five books (the Pentateuch).

Idiom Is Key to God’s Authorship of Scripture: Though Moses wrote the entire Book of the Law, II Chronicles credits God with its authorship. In the eighteenth year of Josiah’s reign, Hilkiah the high priest found the Book of the Law amidst the temple debris. This book apparently had been “lost” for many years, possibly from the reign of the evil King Manasseh, Josiah’s grandfather. According to the account, “Hilkiah the priest found a book of the law of the LORD given by [Heb., by the hand of] Moses” (II Chron. 34:14, KJV). It is very possible that the book mentioned here contained the autographs of Moses’ writings.

Of particular note is the English word “by,” translated from the Hebrew idiomatic phrase “by the hand of.” Scholars have often ignored this idiom when translating the Hebrew text into English, thereby obscuring its meaning. Biblical scholar E. W. Bullinger explained that this Hebrew figure of speech is known as metonymy and occurs when “one name or noun is used instead of another, to which it stands in … relation.” In other words, the instrument—in this case the hand—represents the action it performs—writing. (Bullinger, “Metonymy,” Figures of Speech Used in the Bible, p. 538).

Hence, this passage could be rendered as “a Book of the Law of the LORD by” or “preserved in the writing of” Moses. The point is that the book belonged to and was from God—it was merely written by Moses’ hand. The Hebrew idiom “by the hand of” portrays how God’s words and thoughts became a part of the written records of the Book of the Law. Moses was the instrument through whom God spoke and wrote.

Thus, as God “breathed” His words, they were imparted to Moses’ mind by the power of the Holy Spirit. In some cases, the words were first spoken by God, then communicated orally by Moses to the people and later transferred to vellum scrolls (e.g., Lev. 21:24, 24:23). In some instances God communicated His instructions to the Israelites in written form only (e.g., Ex. 34:27-28). This evidence confirms that Moses was the agent whom God used to write the Pentateuch, serving both as God’s spokesman and His scribe.

God also chose other men to serve as His spokesmen. The same Hebrew idiom associated with Moses’ writings is repeated throughout the Old Testament in relation to other prophets, illustrating that God often imparted His revelation to His people in written form.

Prophetic Schools Key to Writing: From the days of Joshua to the high priest Eli, the Bible tells us that “the Word of the LORD was precious in those days. There was no open vision” (I Sam. 3:1). Prophetic revelations from God were rare due to the rampant apostasy in Israel (Judges 21:25). During the time period of the Judges, the priesthood had degenerated to such a state that it no longer served as God’s instrument in teaching His ways to Israel. Because of the sins of Eli’s sons, Phinehas and Hophni, God rejected Eli’s house from serving before Him in the tabernacle (I Sam. 2:12-36).

After Samuel’s birth and his dedication to the LORD by his mother Hannah, the state of prophetic revelation in Israel changed dramatically (cf. I Sam. 1, 3). As the last judge and the first prophet since Joshua’s time, the Levite Samuel figures predominantly in the continuation of prophetic writing in Israel from the period of the Judges to the close of the Hebrew canon during the Medo-Persian rule of Judea.

The New Unger's Bible Dictionary conveys the nature of this momentous turn of events: “Under these circumstances a new moral power was evoked—the prophetic order. Samuel, himself a Levite, of the family of Kohath (1 Chron. 6:28), and almost certainly a priest, was the instrument used at once for effecting a reform in the priestly order (9:22) and giving to the prophets a position of importance that they had never before held. Nevertheless, it is not to be supposed that Samuel created the prophetic order as a new thing before unknown. The germs … of the prophetic … order are found in the law as given to the Israelites by Moses (Deut. 13:1; 18:18, 20-21), but they were not yet developed because there was not yet the demand for them” (Unger, “Prophet,” p. 1041).

The reforms instituted by Samuel became the vehicle through which God worked in ensuring that His revelation was written down in the Old Testament era. “Samuel took measures to make his work of restoration permanent as well as effective for the moment. For this purpose he instituted companies, or colleges, of prophets [cf. I Sam. 10:5-6]. One we find in his lifetime at Ramah (1 Sam. 19:19-20); others afterward at Bethel (2 Kings 2:3), Jericho (2:5), Gilgal (4:38), and elsewhere (6:1). Into them were gathered promising students, and there they were trained for the office that they were afterward destined to fulfill. So successful were these institutions that from the time of Samuel to the closing of the canon of the OT [Old Testament] there seems never to have been wanting an adequate supply of men to keep up the line of official prophets. Their chief subject of study was, no doubt, the law and its interpretation—oral, as distinct from symbolical, teaching being henceforward tacitly transferred from the priestly to the prophetic order. Subsidiary subjects of instruction were music and sacred poetry, both of which had been connected with prophecy [and writing] from the time of Moses (Ex. 15:20) and the Judges (Judg. 4:4; 5)” (Ibid.).

Beginning with Samuel’s ministry, we find an increase in prophetic activity during which written records of God’s revelation and historical events were kept. Successive generations of prophets like Elijah and Elisha, who trained at and likely presided over these prophetic schools (II Kings 2, 4:38, 6:1-4), served as God’s chosen spokespersons and scribes to record the events of their time (II Kings 10:10; II Chron. 21:12). The father-son prophetic team of Hanani and Jehu probably belonged to the school of the prophets (II Chron. 19:2). Jehu chronicled the events that transpired during the reigns of several kings, and his writings form part of the book of Chronicles (II Chron. 20:34). Zechariah, a prophet who descended from the lineage of the famous priest and seer Iddo (Neh. 12:16; Zech. 1:1), wrote his book after the Babylonian captivity (520-519 BC). The prophetic writings were likely preserved and protected by the prophets until they turned them over to the Levites. After Ezra’s final editing of the Old Testament in the fifth century BC, the entire canon was committed to the Levitical scribes (Sopherim) for copying.
Writing in the New Testament: Paul’s letters were, as a rule, written by a secretary or scribe (e.g., Rom. 16:22). On four occasions in reference to his own written salutation in his Epistles, Paul preserved the idiom of the hand as a sign of their authenticity (I Cor. 16:21; Gal. 6:11; Col. 4:18; II Thes. 3:17). While 21 of the 27 New Testament books are classified as Epistles, the word itself is used in 11 passages to indicate the intimate form of correspondence sent by the apostles, elders and brethren to each other. On more than 90 separate occasions the apostles and their scribes made reference to their writing of a letter, narration or account that later became part of the New Testament (e.g., Rom. 15:15; I Cor. 14:37; I Tim. 5:18; II Pet. 3:1-2; II John 12; Jude 1:3; Rev. 1:1-3). In all these instances, Peter testified that the apostles and their scribes followed the same pattern as the holy prophets of ancient Israel in writing Scripture—they were all moved by the Holy Spirit, the “breath of God,” to record the words of God (II Pet. 1:20-21).

God’s Servants Professed to Speak and Write on God’s Behalf

The act of writing only tells part of the story of the Bible’s divine authorship. Bible researchers have counted more than 3,800 times that the writers of the Old Testament used various formulas to describe what they spoke and later wrote as the utterances of God (Connelly, The Indestructible Book, p. 191). An electronic digital Bible search program such as Online Bible can readily locate where variations of the following divine formulas appear throughout the writings of the Old Testament: “The word of the LORD came unto him, saying,” “Thus says the LORD,” “The burden of the word of the LORD,” “The word of the LORD by,” “Hear the word of the LORD,” “Thus has the LORD spoken unto me” and “Thus says the LORD of hosts,” etc...

Pentateuch/Joshua: The five books of Moses (Pentateuch) are unquestionably represented as the Word of God. In at least 65 instances, the book of Genesis uses clauses that bear witness to this fact, including “God said,” “God spake,” “the LORD said,” “the LORD God said,” “the LORD God commanded,” “the word of the LORD came,” and “the Angel of the LORD said.”

Moses recorded God’s words and the events that transpired during Israel’s wilderness journey as God commanded him (e.g., Ex. 17:14, 34:27, 32; Num. 33:1-2; Deut. 31:19, 22). An electronic digital Bible program searching the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy tallies at least 160 times that God communicated His will to ancient Israel through Moses. These instances are introduced with expressions like “And the LORD spoke unto Moses, saying, ‘Speak to the children of Israel.’ ”

Moses was unique among the Old Testament authors and one of the few prophets in Israel to have seen God “face-to-face” and to have spoken with Him as a man speaks with his friend (Ex. 33:1; Num. 12:8; Deut. 34:10). In contrast, God told Moses’ siblings (Aaron and Miriam) that He would make Himself known to future prophets in visions and dreams (Num. 12:6). Moses’ ministry became the foundation for all subsequent prophetic ministries and the standard by which they were judged (Deut. 18:18-22).

Moses’ successor, Joshua, also spoke face-to-face with God on occasion (e.g., Josh. 5:13-15). Whether at the tabernacle or elsewhere, conversations often commenced with the phrase “And the LORD said unto Joshua.” Joshua recorded in the Book of the Law all of God’s words and Israel’s military campaigns, which were conducted under God’s guiding hand, which were then given to the high priests (Josh. 24:26). The English word “Now” in Joshua 1:1 is actually translated from the Hebrew conjunction “And,” indicating that the book of Joshua is really a continuation of the Pentateuch and closely linked to Moses’ writings.

Other Prophets: Other Old Testament prophets professed to speak the words of the LORD in their prophetic forecasts and stern warnings, which called on both Israel and Gentile nations to repent (e.g., Isa. 6:8-9, 7:3, 8:1; Jer. 1:2-7, 2:1, 7:1, 11:1, 14:1; Ezek. 1:3, 2:1-7; Dan. 1:17, 2:19-23; Hos. 1:1; Joel 1:1; Amos 1:1-3, 3:7; Obad. 1:1; Jonah 1:1; Micah 1:1; Nah. 1:1; Hab. 1:1; Zeph. 1:1; Hag. 1:1; Zech. 1:1; Mal. 1:1).

The book of Isaiah offers one of the most graphic examples of the divine authorship of Scripture. Chapters 40-66 are written from God’s perspective, presenting the reader with an image of God writing a letter to exhort His people. King David attested to the divine authorship of his psalms, asserting that God actually put His Word in his tongue (II Sam. 23:1-2). In Psalm 45:1, the sons of Korah, the Levitical servants at the temple and the writers of many psalms, also claimed that their tongues were like the pens of skillful writers, indicating how God blessed and used their ability to write poetic songs for His glory.

God gave David’s son Solomon wisdom and understanding to compose 3,000 proverbs and 1,005 songs (I Kings 4:29, 32; Psa. 72 title, 127 title; Prov. 1:1, 25:1; Eccl. 1:1, 12:9).
The Four Gospels: The Bible records that in these last days God has spoken to us by His Son Jesus (Heb. 1:1). In the autumn of 26 AD, Jesus, who was God manifested in the flesh, began His ministry as the Apostle and Messenger of God the Father (John 5:36-38, 43, 7:16, 8:42; Heb. 3:1). Throughout His ministry, Jesus declared that He was speaking the words of the Father Who had sent Him: thus revealing the Father’s message to His apostles and those who heard Him (John 8:26-28, 42-43, 12:49-50, 14:10, 23-24, 17:8, 14). John the Baptist, who prepared the way for the Lord, testified of Jesus, “He Whom God has sent speaks the words of God; and God gives not the Spirit by measure unto Him” (John 3:34). And Jesus also told His disciples, “The words that I speak to you, they are spirit and they are life” (John 6:63).

The Online Bible lists at least 320 references from the Gospels that are marked by expressions such as “I say unto you,” “And Jesus answered and said,” “Verily, verily (truly, truly)” and “He said unto them.” These markers notify readers of instances when Jesus spoke with divine authority and introduced a spiritual truth to His apostles, the gathered crowds and others.

Luke particularly expressed a conviction that his Gospel had spiritual importance when he claimed that he had “accurately understood everything from the very first.” Paul also held a high view of Luke’s Gospel and assigned to it the same divine authority as the book of Deuteronomy (I Tim. 5:18; cf. Luke 10:7). The apostle John claimed that the purpose of his Gospel was to lead readers to “believe Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God.” John and various individuals alive at the time testified to its authenticity (John 21:24).

Acts of the Apostles: In many respects, the book of Acts is equivalent to the Old Testament historical books (Judges, Samuel, Kings, etc.). Luke, its writer, gathered material from various sources to chronicle important events in early Church history. He was an eyewitness on many occasions to events that transpired on the apostle Paul’s missionary travels. One unique marker of this book is its history of the spread of the Gospel (i.e., Word of God) from Jerusalem to faraway places, such as Rome, through the work of the apostles and early disciples of Jesus Christ (cf. Acts 2 and 28).

Following Jesus’ ascension in 30 AD, Luke established that the message the apostles taught with boldness in the Temple area and to the brethren was the Word of God (Acts 3-4). The apostles dedicated themselves to prayer and ministry of this same word (Acts 6:4). The Samaritans received the Word of God preached by the evangelist Philip (Acts 8:4-5, 14), as did Cornelius and his household from Peter (Acts 11:1). It was this same word that Paul preached both in the synagogues and elsewhere on his three missionary journeys (Acts 13:5, 7, 44, 46, 48, 49; 15:35, 36; 16:32; 17:13; 18:11; 19:10). Luke wrote that the Gospel spread rapidly and widely (Acts 12:24, 13:49, 19:20), and that many Jews living in Jerusalem and a great number of Levitical priests became disciples of Jesus (Acts 6:7).

Pauline and Other Apostolic Works: God specifically chose Paul as an instrument for proclaiming His Word to the Gentiles (Acts 9:15). He abode for a period of time in the wilderness of Arabia where Jesus personally revealed specific truths to him to enable him to accomplish his divine mission (Acts 26:16; Gal. 1:12, 17-18). Paul is considered the towering figure of early Christianity, and his books comprise over 50 percent of New Testament writings. It is from his published works that we often obtain a greater understanding of the divine authorship of Scripture.

The book of I Thessalonians displays one of the most powerful examples of Paul’s conviction that what he wrote was God-breathed. Paul began by praising the Thessalonians for their “work of faith” (I Thess. 1:3) and for having received the message he had preached not “as the word of men, but … the word of God” (I Thess. 2:13). He repeated Jesus’ words from Luke 10:16 in warning the brethren that whoever rejected his apostolic commands rejected the Father (I Thes. 4:8) and solemnly commanded the brethren by the Lord to read his Epistle in the congregation (I Thes. 5:27). Paul made similar claims of divine sanction for his other Epistles. To the Corinthians he wrote: “Did the Word of God originate with you? Or did it come only to you and no one else? If anyone thinks that he is a prophet or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things I write to you are commandments of the Lord” (I Cor. 14:36-37).

The apostle Paul opened almost all his Epistles with a prescript of his divine calling and the divine authority with which he wrote, like the one in Romans: “Paul, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, a called apostle, set apart to preach the gospel of God” (Rom. 1:1). James, Peter, John and Jude likewise claimed divine authority for the writing of their General Epistles. In the book of Revelation, the apostle John specifically informs us that the visions, words and prophecies he recorded were the “revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave … by His angel to His servant John” (Rev. 1:1).
References to God and the Holy Spirit Having Spoken Through His Servants’ Writings

Paul and Luke assert that the Scriptures were the written oracles of God (Acts 7:38; Rom. 3:2; Heb. 5:12). In agreement with this first-century mindset, Jesus and His apostles affirmed the divine authority of the Old Testament for the children of Israel, the Jews and early believers by referring to its writings on more than 70 occasions with the clauses “it is written” and “have you not read.” Warfield explained that the authority of the Old Testament “rests on its divinity and its divinity expresses itself in its trustworthiness; and the NT [New Testament] writers in all their use of it treat it as what they declare it to be—a God-breathed document, which because [it is] God-breathed, is through and through trustworthy in its authoritative all its declarations, and down to its last particulars, the very word of God, His ‘oracles’ ” (Bromiley, International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 844).

During his discourse, Stephen rehearsed how Moses had received the “living oracles” (laws, commandments, statutes and judgments) from God on Mount Sinai for ancient Israel (Acts 7:38). The words “living oracles” indicates that for Stephen, Moses’ writings, after centuries of copying, still possessed a living, divine authority as having come directly from the mouth of God as opposed to the dead letter of Jewish unbelief (Acts 28:26-27; II Cor. 3:14-15). Stephen used this expression to impress upon the Jewish leaders that, like their ancient ancestors, they had hardened their hearts and rejected the living utterances (voice) of God as recorded by Moses and later the prophets under influence of the Holy Spirit (Neh. 9:30; Acts 7:39, 51; Heb. 3:8-19). The Bible confirms that this is exactly what occurred when ancient Israel violated their covenant with God (Ex. 19:5; Deut. 30:2, 8, 10, 20; Dan. 9:11-12).

In his introduction to the book of Romans, Paul disclosed that salvation is a matter related to a person’s heart, not ancestry (Rom. 2:28-29). In spite of this truth, Paul explained that the Jewish people still possessed an advantage over non-Jews, namely, they were entrusted with the entirety of the written utterances of God penned by the Old Testament authors (Rom. 3:1-2). Paul’s remarks become even more relevant when we understand that the standard Old Testament scrolls were stored in the temple area since Ezra’s time. Scribes made official copies from these scrolls, which were then sent to the synagogues in the Diaspora. Paul insisted that Jewish unbelief did not invalidate the testimony of the Hebrew Scriptures as God’s living oracles (Rom. 3:3-4).

Usage Expanded: The gift of prophecy, both the foretelling and preaching of divine oracles, is listed immediately after the gift of apostleship and forms a part of the foundation of the Christian Church (I Cor. 12:28; Eph. 2:20, 3:5, 4:11). While the expression “oracles of God” was restricted elsewhere to the Old Testament writings, Peter expanded its meaning to include the spoken and written words of the New Testament prophets, namely, the apostles.

The expanded usage of the word “oracles” can be understood in its broadest terms by briefly surveying Peter’s and Paul’s earlier letters, almost all of which Peter had in his possession when he wrote his Second Epistle (II Pet. 3:15-16). The progression of the apostolic word and meaning can be observed in Peter’s First Epistle, where he wrote that though the promise of salvation had been revealed to the holy prophets of Israel by Christ through the Holy Spirit, they did not fully understand the grace about which they had prophesied (I Pet. 1:10-11). Rather, it was left to the New Testament apostles to announce the fulfillment of the written Old Testament prophecies concerning the grace and sufferings of Christ in their preaching of the Gospel (I Pet. 1:12).

In I Corinthians, Paul described himself, his fellow apostles and other faithful ministers of Jesus Christ as stewards or dispensers of God’s divine truth: “Let every man regard us as ministers of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God. Beyond that, it is required of stewards that one be found faithful” (I Cor. 4:1-2). Gentile converts would clearly have understood that Paul was comparing the truth he offered to the false knowledge of the pagan mystery religions at Corinth. In contrast to Paul’s methods, the pagans concealed their religious mysteries from all except the fully initiated.

Paul used the expression “mysteries” (Gk., mysterion) in a general sense to refer to God’s truth previously kept hidden until God decided to reveal it. Paul told the Ephesians, “You have heard of the ministry of the grace of God that was given to me for you; how He [God] made known to me by revelation the mystery (even as I wrote briefly before, so that when you read this, you will be able to comprehend my understanding in the mystery of Christ), which in other generations was not made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed to His holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit” (Eph. 3:2-5).

Paul and the other apostles followed the example of Jesus, who frequently declared to His “stewardship” of the divine words that the Father had committed to Him to preach to the multitudes and to reveal to His true disciples (e.g., John 12:49-50, 17:8). Jesus told the apostles on one occasion, “To you it has been given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but to those who are without, all things are done in parables” (Mark 4:11). The prophets of ancient Israel also professed to deliver the burdens (Hebrew, oracles) or secret plans of God in their oral and written messages. The prophet Amos wrote, “Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing unless He reveals His secret unto His servants the prophets” (Amos 3:7).

On the night that Jesus was betrayed, He told the apostles, “No longer do I call you servants because the servant does not know what his master is doing. But I have called you friends, because I have made known to you all the things that I have heard from My Father” (John 15:15). Although Jesus’ words reflect on His past ministry, the entire context of John 14-17 shows that His words held significance for the apostles’ future prophetic ministries. The fullness of Jesus’ revelation was confirmed by the apostles in their spoken messages, validated through the miracles and signs that followed them (Acts 2:43; Heb. 2:3-4) and were affirmed in their writing of the New Testament. The Bible confirms that the apostles were faithful stewards in proclaiming God’s mysteries, specifically the Gospel message, entrusted to them by Christ (Luke 12:42).

Finally, Jesus said that He would send the Holy Spirit, which would bring to remembrance everything He had told them, lead them into all truth and disclose to them things to come as received from Him (John 14:26, 16:12-14). It is Jesus Christ, then, Who is the real author of the New Testament. Its words are God’s as spoken by His Son (Heb. 1:1) and revealed by the Holy Spirit. It was to these oracles and God’s written utterances in the Old Testament that the true disciples of Jesus Christ throughout all generations would make their appeal.

Exodus
Leviticus Numbers
Deuteronomy
1. In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.
2. And the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep, and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.
3. And God said, “Let there be light.” And there was light.
4. And God saw the light that it was good; and God divided between the light and the darkness.
5. And God called the light day, and He called the darkness night. And the evening and the morning were day one.
6. And God said, “Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.”
7. And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament; and it was so.
8. And God called the firmament heaven. And the evening and the morning were day two.
9. And God said, “Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together to one place, and let the dry land appear.” And it was so.
10. And God called the dry land earth, and He called the gathering together of the waters seas; and God saw that it was good.
11. And God said, “Let the earth bring forth vegetation—the herb yielding seed and the fruit tree producing fruit after its kind, whose seed is in itself—upon the earth.” And it was so.
12. And the earth brought forth vegetation—the herb yielding seed after its kind, and the tree producing fruit after its kind, whose seed is in itself. And God saw that it was good.
13. And the evening and the morning were day three.
14. And God said, “Let there be lights in the firmament of the heavens to divide between the day and the night, and let them be for signs, and for appointed seasons, and for days and years;
15. And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heavens to give light upon the earth.” And it was so.
16. And God had made two great lights,
11. The name of the first is Pishon, which surrounds all the land of Havilah, where there is gold.

12. And the gold of that land is good. There is also bdellium and the onyx stone.

13. And the name of the second river is Gihon; it is the one that surrounds the whole land of Cush.

14. And the name of the third river is Tigris, which goes toward the east of Assyria. And the fourth river is the Euphrates.

15. And the LORD God took the man and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and keep it.

16. And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, “You may freely eat of every tree in the garden.

17. But you shall not eat of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, for in the day that you eat of it in dying you shall surely die.”

18. And the LORD God said, “It is not good that the man should be alone. I will make a helper compatible for him.”

19. And out of the ground the LORD God had formed every animal of the field and every fowl of the air—and brought them to Adam to see what he would call them.

20. And whatever Adam called each living creature, that became its name.

21. And Adam gave names to all the livestock, and to the birds of the air, and to every animal of the field, but there was not found a helper compatible for Adam.

22. And the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall over Adam, and he slept. And He took one of his ribs, and afterward closed up the flesh underneath.

23. Then the LORD God made the rib (which He had taken out of the man) into a woman, and He brought her to the man.

24. For this reason shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave to his wife—and they shall become one flesh.

25. And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and they were not ashamed.

CHAPTER THREE

1. Now the serpent was more cunning than any creature of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said to the woman, “Is it true that God has said, ‘You shall not eat of any tree of the garden?’”

2. And the woman said to the serpent, “We may freely eat the fruit of the trees of the garden,

3. But of the fruit of the tree which is in the middle of the garden, God has indeed said, ‘You shall not eat of it, neither shall you touch it, lest you die.’”

4. And the serpent said to the woman, “In dying, you shall not surely die!

5. For God knows that in the day you eat of it, then your eyes shall be opened, and you shall be like God, deciding what is good and evil.”

6. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasing to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of its fruit and ate. She also gave to her husband with her, and he ate.

7. And the eyes of both of them were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together and made coverings for themselves.

8. And they heard the sound of the LORD God walking in the garden in the cool of the day. Then Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the LORD God among the trees of the garden.

9. And the LORD God called to Adam and said to him, “Where are you?”

10. And he said, “I heard You walking in the garden, and I was afraid because I am naked, and so I hid myself.”

11. And He said, “Who told you that you were naked? Have you eaten of the tree which I commanded you that you should not eat?”

12. And the man said, “The woman whom You gave to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I ate.”

13. And the LORD God said to the woman, “What is this you have done?” And the woman said, “The serpent deceived me, and I ate.”

14. And the LORD God said to the serpent, “Because you have done this you are cursed above all livestock, and above every animal of the field. You shall go upon your belly, and you shall eat dust all the days of your life.

15. And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her Seed; He will bruise your head, and you shall bruise His heel.”

16. To the woman He said, “I will greatly increase your sorrow and your conception—in sorrow shall you bring forth children. Your desire shall be toward your husband, and he shall rule over you.”

17. And to Adam He said, “Because you have hearkened to the voice of your wife and have eaten of the tree—of which I commanded you, saying, ‘You shall not eat of it!’—the ground is cursed for your sake. In sorrow shall you eat of it all the days of your life.

18. It shall also bring forth thorns and thistles to you, and thus you shall eat the herbs of the field;

19. In the sweat of your face you shall eat bread until you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken; for dust you are, and to dust you shall return.”

20. And Adam called his wife’s name Eve because she was the mother of all the living.

21. And for Adam and his wife the LORD God made coats of skins and clothed them.

22. And the LORD God said, “Behold, the man has become like one of Us, to decide what is good and evil; and now, lest he put forth his hand and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live forever—”

23. Therefore, the LORD God sent him out from the garden of Eden to till the ground from which he had been taken.

24. And He drove out the man, and He placed cherubim at the east of the garden of Eden, and a flaming sword which turned every way to guard the way to the tree of life.

CHAPTER FOUR

1. Then Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bore Cain, and said, “I have gotten a man from the LORD.”

2. And she bore again, his brother Abel. And Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground.

3. It came to pass that Cain brought to the LORD an offering of the fruit of the ground.

4. And Abel also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat of it. And the LORD had regard unto Abel and his offering.

5. But He did not have regard unto Cain and his offering. And Cain was extremely angry and his countenance fell.

6. And the LORD said to Cain, “Why are you so angry? And why has your countenance fallen?
7. If you do well, shall you not be accepted? But if you do not do well, sin lies at the door. Its desire is for you, but you must rule over it.

8. And Cain talked with his brother Abel. And it came to pass that when they were in the field, Cain rose up against his brother Abel and killed him.

9. And the LORD said unto Cain, “Where is your brother Abel?” And he said, “I do not know. Am I my brother’s keeper?”

10. And He said, “What have you done? The voice of your brother’s blood cries from the ground.

11. And now you are cursed from the earth, which opened its mouth to receive your brother’s blood from your hand.

12. When you till the ground, it shall no longer yield its strength to you, and you shall be a wanderer and a fugitive upon the earth.”

13. And Cain said to the LORD, “My punishment is greater than I can bear.

14. Behold, You have driven me out from the face of the earth today, and I shall be hidden from Your face. And I shall be a fugitive and a wanderer in the earth, and it shall be that anyone who finds me shall kill me.”

15. And the LORD said to him, “Therefore whoever kills Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold.”

16. And the Sister of Tubal-Cain bore also Tubal-Cain, an instructor of every craftsman in bronze and iron.

17. And the sister of Tubal-Cain was Naamah.

18. And Adam knew his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch; and he called the name of his son, Enoch.

19. And Lamech took two wives to himself: the name of the first one was Adah, and the name of the other was Zillah.

20. And Adah bore Jabal; he was the father of those who dwell in tents and have livestock.

21. And his brother’s name was Jubal; he was the father of all those who corruptly play the lyre and the pipe.

22. And Zillah also bore Tubal-Cain, an instructor of every craftsman in bronze and iron. And the sister of Tubal-Cain was Naamah.

23. And Lamech said to his wives, Adah and Zillah, “Hear my voice, wives of Lamech, hearken to my words, for I have killed a man because he wounded me, a young man because he hurt me;

24. For if Cain is avenged seven times, then truly Lamech is avenged seventy-seven times.”

25. And Adam knew his wife again, and she bore a son and called his name Seth, for she said, “God has appointed me another seed in place of Abel, whom Cain killed.”

26. And there was also a son born to Seth, and he called his name Enos. At that time men began to call upon the name of the LORD.*

CHAPTER FIVE

11. And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years. And he died.

12. And Cainan lived seventy years and begat Mahalaleel.

13. And after he begat Mahalaleel,

---

* An equally valid translation could read: “At that time men began to call themselves after the name of the LORD.”

This is undoubtedly a reference to the mighty men of old who called themselves gods and incorporated the names of the LORD into their own names and titles.
Cainan lived eight hundred and forty years. And he begat sons and daughters.
14. And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years. And he died.
15. And Mahalaleel lived sixty-five years and begat Jared.

17. And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred and ninety-five years. And he died.
18. And Jared lived one hundred and sixty-two years and begat Enoch.

20. And all the days of Jared were nine hundred and sixty-two years. And he died.
21. And Enoch lived sixty-five years and begat Methuselah.
22. And Enoch walked with God three hundred years after he begat Methuselah. And he begat sons and daughters.
23. And all the days of Enoch were three hundred and sixty-five years.
24. And Enoch walked with God, and then he was not, for God took him.
25. And Methuselah lived one hundred and eighty-seven years and begat Lamech.
26. And after he begat Lamech, Methuselah lived seven hundred and eighty-seven years. And he begat sons and daughters.
27. And all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred and sixty-nine years. And he died.

30. And after he begat Noah, Lamech lived five hundred and ninety-five years. And he begat sons and daughters.
31. And all the days of Lamech were seven hundred and seventy-seven years. And he died.
32. And Noah was five hundred years old, and Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

CHAPTER SIX
1. And it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and when daughters were born to them,
2. That the sons of the mighty ones saw the daughters of men, that they were beautiful; and they took wives for themselves from all whom they chose.
3. And the LORD said, “My Spirit shall not always strive with man in his going astray, for he is but flesh, and yet his days shall be a hundred and twenty years.”
4. There were tyrants★ on the earth in those days, and also after that, the sons of God* came in to the daughters of men, and they bore children to them. They were mighty men who existed of old, men of renown.

* What is the scriptural meaning of “the sons of God” in Genesis 6:4? In the beginning, before God created man, He created spirit beings known as “angels.” They possess a higher level of life than humans, as they live forever and are not subject to death. In Job 1:6 & 2:1, “the sons of God” clearly refers to angels. In this case the angels are coming before God—and the chief fallen angel, Satan, appears with them. Though Satan and the demons can come before God, as do righteous angels, they are not called “the sons of God.” Yet, some Jewish occult, mystic, kabalistic authorities interpret the phrase “the sons of God” in Genesis 6:4 to mean fallen angels or demons. They claim that these wicked spirits cohabited with women and their offspring resulted in a race of super human beings or giants—half angel and half man.

On the other hand, God created man from the dust of the earth. Thus, we are physical beings subject to death—and cannot live forever, as do the angels. God created humans male and female in order to bring forth children after their image, after their kind. Subsequently, through procreation, God has created all human beings, though they all die (Gen. 3:19; Rom. 5:12; I Cor. 15:22; Heb. 9:27).

The true scriptural meaning of this verse cannot be understood from the context alone, nor is it disclosed in the Old Testament. The answer is only found in the New Testament—given by Jesus Christ, Who was the Lord God of the Old Testament and Creator of both angels and mankind before He was God manifested in the flesh. When answering a question about the resurrection, Jesus said, “The children of this age [from Adam to the final judgment] marry and are given in marriage; but those who are accounted worthy to obtain that age [the coming kingdom of God], and the resurrection from the dead [to eternal life], neither marry nor are given in marriage; and neither can they die any more, for they are equal to the angels, and are the children of God, being children of the resurrection” (Luke 20:34-36). Jesus’ answer clearly shows that angels—righteous or fallen—do not marry nor are given in marriage. Therefore, the phrase “the sons of God” can only refer to male human beings “who came in to the daughters of men”—which resulted in “giants.” They were human beings who reproduced after the human kind—kind after kind. They were not subject to death. In Job 1:6 & 2:1, “the sons of God” clearly refers to angels. In this case the angels are coming before God—and the chief fallen angel, Satan, appears with them. Though Satan and the demons can come before God, they are not called “the sons of God.” Yet, some Jewish occult, mystic, kabalistic authorities interpret the phrase “the sons of God” in Genesis 6:4 to mean fallen angels or demons. They claim that these wicked spirits cohabited with women and their offspring resulted in a race of super human beings or giants—half angel and half man.

★ Also means giants or those who have fallen away from God.
5. And the LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great on the earth, and every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.
6. And the LORD repented that He had made man on the earth, and He was grieved in His heart.
7. And the LORD said, “I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth, both man and beast, and the crawling thing, and the fowl of the air; for I repent that I have made them.”
8. But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD.

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. And the LORD said to Noah, “You and all your house shall come into the ark; for you, I have seen righteous before Me in this generation.
2. You shall take with you every clean animal by sevens, the male and female. And take two of the animals that are not clean, the male and female.
3. Also take of the fowls of the air by sevens, the male and female, to keep their kind alive upon the face of all the earth:
4. For in seven more days, I will cause it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights; and I will destroy from off the face of the earth every living thing that I have made.”
5. And Noah did according to all that the LORD commanded him.
6. And Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters began upon the earth.
7. And Noah went in; and his sons and his wife and his sons’ wives went with him into the ark because of the waters of the flood.
8. Of the clean animals, and of the animals that were not clean, and of the fowls, and of every thing that crawls upon the earth,
9. Two by two they went unto Noah into the ark, male and female, as God had commanded Noah.
10. And it came to pass after seven days, that the waters of the flood came upon the earth.
11. In the six hundredth year of Noah’s life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on this day all the fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the windows of the heavens were opened.
12. And the rain fell upon the earth forty days and forty nights.
13. On this same day, Noah and Shem kind, and of animals after their kind, of every crawling thing of the earth after its kind.
and Ham and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noah’s wife, and the three wives of his sons with them, entered into the ark.
14. They went in, and every animal after its kind, and all the livestock after their kind, and every crawling thing that crawls upon the earth after its kind, and every fowl after its kind, every bird of every sort.
15. And they went to Noah into the ark, two by two of all flesh in which is the breath of life.
16. And they that entered went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him; and the LORD shut him in.
17. And the flood was upon the earth forty days, and the waters increased and bore up the ark, and it was lifted up above the earth.
18. And the waters prevailed and increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark floated upon the face of the waters.
19. And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth, and all the high hills that were under the heavens were covered.
20. The waters prevailed fifteen cubits upward, and the mountains were covered.
21. And all flesh that moved upon the face of the earth died—of birds, of livestock, of animals, and of every crawling thing that crawls upon the earth, and every man—
22. And all who breathed the breath of life, of all that was upon the dry land—died.
23. And every living thing which was upon the face of the earth was destroyed, from man to livestock, and to the crawling things, and the fowls of the heavens. And they were destroyed from the earth, and only Noah remained alive, and those that were with him in the ark.
24. And the waters prevailed upon the earth a hundred and fifty days.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And God remembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the animals which were with him in the ark. And God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters subsided.
2. Also the fountains of the deep and the windows of heaven were stopped, and the rain from heaven was restrained.
3. And the waters receded from off the earth continually, and at the end of the hundred and fifty days the waters had gone down.
4. And in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, the ark rested upon the mountains of Ararat.
5. And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month; and the tops of the mountains were seen in the tenth month, on the first day of the month.
6. And it came to pass, at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made.
7. And he sent forth a raven, and it kept going out and returning until the waters were dried up from off the face of the earth.
8. He also sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters had gone down from off the face of the earth;
9. But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned to him into the ark, for the waters were still on the face of the whole earth. Then he put out his hand and took her, and pulled her to him into the ark.
10. And he waited yet another seven days; and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark.
11. And the dove came to him in the evening, and, lo, in her mouth was an olive leaf plucked off. So Noah knew that the waters had gone down from off the face of the earth.
12. And he waited yet another seven days; and again he sent forth the dove; and she did not return again to him any more.
13. And it came to pass in Noah’s six hundred and first year, in the first month, the first day of the month, that the waters were drying up from off the face of the earth. And Noah removed the covering of the ark and looked, and, behold, the face of the earth was drying!
14. And in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the land was fully dry.
15. And God spoke to Noah, saying,
16. “Go out of the ark, you and your wife and your sons and your sons’ wives with you.
17. Bring out with you every living thing that is with you—of all flesh, of fowl, of livestock, and of every crawling thing that crawls upon the earth—so that they may breed abundantly in the earth, and be fruitful and multiply upon the earth.”
18. And Noah went out, and his sons and
CHAPTER NINE

1. And God blessed Noah and his sons, and He said to them, “Be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth.

2. And the fear of you and the dread of your name shall be upon every beast of the earth, and upon every bird of the air, upon all that moves on the earth, and upon all the fish of the sea. Into your hand they are delivered.

3. Every moving thing that lives shall be food for you, even as the green herb I have given you all things.

4. But you shall not eat of flesh with the life in it—which is its blood.

5. And surely the blood of your lives will I require. At the hand of every animal will I require it, and at the hand of man. At the hand of every man’s brother will I require the life of man.

6. Whoever sheds man’s blood, his blood shall be shed by man—for He made man in the image of God.

7. And you, be fruitful and multiply. Bring forth abundantly in the earth, and increase in it.”

8. And God spoke to Noah, and to his sons with him, saying,

9. “Behold I, even I establish My covenant with you, and with your seed after you;

10. And with every living creature that is with you—of the birds, of the livestock, and of every animal of the earth with you—from all that go out from the ark, to every animal of the earth.

11. And I will establish My covenant with you. Neither shall all flesh be cut off any more by the waters of a flood. Neither shall there any more be a flood to destroy the earth.”

12. And God said, “This is the sign of the covenant which I make between Me and you and every living creature with you, for everlasting generations:

13. I set My rainbow in the cloud, and it shall be the sign of the covenant between Me and the earth.

14. And it shall be, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the rainbow shall be seen in the cloud.

15. And I will remember My covenant, which is between Me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh.

16. And the rainbow shall be in the cloud. And I will look upon it that I may remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the earth.”

17. And God said to Noah, “This is the token of the covenant which I have established between Me and all flesh that is upon the earth.”

18. And the sons of Noah that went out of the ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth. And Ham is the father of Canaan.

19. These are the three sons of Noah, and the whole earth was overspread from them.

20. And Noah began to be a husbandman, and he planted a vineyard.

21. And he drank of the wine and was drunk, and he was uncovered inside his tent.

22. And Ham, the father of Canaan, saw the nakedness of his father, and told his two brothers outside.

23. And Shem and Japheth took a garment and laid it upon both their shoulders, and they went backwards and covered the nakedness of their father, and their faces were turned away, and they did not see their father’s nakedness.

24. And Noah awoke from his wine, and learned what his youngest grandson had done to him.

25. And he said, “Cursed be Canaan. He shall be a servant of servants to his brothers.”

26. And he said, “Blessed be the LORD God of Shem; and Canaan shall be his servant.”
27. God shall enlarge Japheth, and he shall dwell in the tents of Shem; And Canaan shall be their servant.”

28. And Noah lived three hundred and fifty years after the flood.
29. And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years, and he died.

CHAPTER TEN

1. Now these are the generations of the sons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth; and sons were born to them after the flood.
2. The sons of Japheth: Gomer and Magog and Madai and Javan and Tubal and Meshech and Tiras.
3. And the sons of Gomer: Ashkenaz and Riphath and Togarmah.
4. And the sons of Javan: Elishah and Tarpish and Caphthorn and Palestine and Lud and Hirah.
5. By these were the islands of the nations divided in their lands, every one after his tongue.
6. And the sons of Ham: Cush and Mizraim and Phut and Canaan.
7. And the sons of Cush: Seba and Havilah and Sabtah and Raamah and Sabtecha. And the sons of Raamah: Sheba and Dedan.
8. And Cush begat Nimrod. He began to be a mighty hunter against the LORD. Therefore it is said, “Like Nimrod—the mighty hunter against the LORD.”
9. He was a mighty hunter against the LORD. And Cush begat Nimrod. He was a mighty hunter against the LORD. Therefore it is said, “Like Nimrod—the mighty hunter against the LORD.”
10. And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel and Erech and Accad and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.
11. Out of that land he went forth to Assyria, and he built Nineveh, and the city Rehoboth Ir, and Calah,
12. And Resen between Nineveh and Calah, which is a great city.
13. And Mizraim begat Ludim and Anamim and Lehabim and Naphtuhim, and Pathrusim and Casluhim (from whom came the Philistines) and Caphtorim.
14. And Canaan begat Sidon, his firstborn, and Heth,
15. And the Jebusite and the Amorite, and the Girgasite, and the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite,
16. And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite; and afterward the families of the Canaanites were spread abroad.
17. And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon as you come to Gerar to Gaza, as you go in towards Sodom and Gomorrah and Admah and Zeboim, even to Lasha.
18. These were the sons of Ham, after their families, after their tongues, in their countries, and in their nations.
19. And to Shem sons were born, even him, the father of all the sons of Eber, the brother of Japheth the elder.
20. The sons of Shem: Elam and Asshur and Arphaxad and Lud and Aram.
21. And Arphaxad begat Salah; and Salah begat Eber.
22. And Eber begat two sons. The name of the one was Peleg, for in his days the earth was divided; and his brother’s name was Joktan.
23. And Joktan begat Almodad and Sheleph and Hazarmaveth and Jerah, and Hadoram and Uzal and Diklah, and Obal and Abimael and Sheba, and Ophir and Havilah and Jobab; all these were the sons of Joktan.
24. And their dwelling was from Mesha, as you go to Sephar, a mountain of the east.
25. These are the sons of Shem, after their families, after their tongues, in their lands, and after their nations.
26. These are the families of the sons of Noah, after their generations, in their nations; and from these were the nations divided on the earth after the flood.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And the whole earth was of one language and one speech.
2. And it came to pass, as they were migrating toward the east, they found a plain in the land of Shinar. And they settled there.
3. And they said to one another, “Come, let us make bricks and burn them thoroughly.” And they had brick for stone, and they had asphalt for mortar.
4. And they said, “Come, let us build us a city and a tower, with its top reaching into the heavens. And let us establish a name for ourselves, lest we be scattered upon the face of the whole earth.”
5. And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower which the children of men had built.
6. And the LORD said, “Behold, the people are one and they all have one language. And this is only the beginning of what they will do—now nothing which they have imagined to do will be restrained from them.
7. Come, let Us go down and there confuse their language, so that they cannot understand one another’s speech.”
8. So the LORD scattered them abroad from that place upon the face of all the earth. And they quit building the city.
9. Therefore the name of it is called Babel, because the LORD confused the language of all the earth there. And from there the LORD scattered them abroad upon the face of all the earth.
10. These are the generations of Shem. Shem was a hundred years old and begat Arphaxad two years after the flood.
11. And after he begat Arphaxad, Shem lived five hundred years. And he begat sons and daughters.
12. And Arphaxad lived thirty-five years and begat Salah.
13. And after he begat Salah, Arphaxad lived four hundred and three years. And he begat sons and daughters.
14. And Salah lived thirty years and begat Eber.
15. And after he begat Eber, Salah lived four hundred and three years. And he begat sons and daughters.
16. And Eber lived thirty-four years and begat Peleg.
17. And after he begat Peleg, Eber lived four hundred and thirty years. And he begat sons and daughters.
18. And Peleg lived thirty years and begat Reu.
19. After he begat Reu, Peleg lived two hundred and nine years. And he begat sons and daughters.
20. And Reu lived thirty-two years and begat Serug.
21. And after he begat Serug, Reu lived two hundred and seven years. And he begat sons and daughters.
22. And Serug lived thirty years and begat Nahor.
23. And after he begat Nahor, Serug lived two hundred years. And he begat sons and daughters.
24. And Nahor lived twenty-nine years and begat Terah.
25. And after he begat Terah, Nahor lived a hundred and nineteen years. And he begat sons and daughters.
26. And Terah lived seventy years and begat Abram, Nahor and Haran.
27. Now these are the generations of Terah: Terah begat Abram, Nahor and Haran. And Haran begat Lot.
28. And Haran died in the presence of his father Terah in the land of his birth, in Ur of the Chaldeans.
29. And Abram and Nahor took wives for themselves. The name of Abram’s wife was Sarai. And the name of Nahor’s wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Iscah.
30. But Sarai was barren. She had no child.
31. And Terah took Abram his son, and Lot, the son of Haran, his grandson, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, his son Abram’s wife. And he went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees to go into the land of Canaan. And they came to Haran and lived there.
32. And the days of Terah were two hundred and five years. And Terah died in Haran.

CHAPTER TWELVE
1. And the LORD said to Abram, “Get out of your country, and from your kindred, and from your father’s house into a land that I will show you.
2. And I will make of you a great nation. And I will bless you and make your name great. And you shall be a blessing.
3. And I will bless those that bless you and curse the one who curses you. And in you shall all families of the earth be blessed.”
4. Then Abram departed, even as the LORD had spoken to him. And Lot went with him. And Abram was seventy-five years old when he departed from Haran.
5. And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother’s son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the people that they had gained in Haran. And they went forth to go into the land of Canaan. And they came into the land of Canaan.
6. And Abram passed through the land to the place of Shechem, unto the Oak of Moreh. And the Canaanite was then in the land.
7. And the LORD appeared to Abram and said, “I will give this land to your seed.”
And he built an altar there to the LORD, Who had appeared to him.
8. And he moved from there to a mountaintop on the east of Bethel. And he pitched his tent with Bethel toward the sea and Hai on the east. And he built an altar there to the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD.
9. And Abram journeyed, going on toward the south.
10. Now there was a famine in the land. And Abram went down into Egypt to sojourn there, for the famine was grievous in the land.
11. And it came to pass, when he had come near to enter into Egypt, he said to Sarai his wife, “Behold now, I know that you are a beautiful woman to look upon. And the woman was taken into Pharaoh’s house. And they commended her before Pharaoh. And the woman was taken into Pharaoh’s house.
12. And the LORD plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues because of Sarai, Abram’s wife.
13. And Pharaoh called Abram and said, “What is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me that she is your wife? Why did you say, ‘She is my sister’? And so I was about to take her to me as wife. Now therefore, behold your wife. Take her and go your way.”
14. And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him. And they sent him away, and his wife, and all that he had.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN
1. And Abram went up out of Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the south of Canaan.
2. And Abram was very rich in livestock, in silver and in gold.
3. And he went on his journeys from the south, even to Bethel, to the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Bethel and Hai,
4. To the place of the altar which he had made there at the first. And Abram called on the name of the LORD there.
5. And Lot, who went with Abram, also had flocks and herds and tents.
6. And the land was not able to bear them, that they might live together, for their substance was great, so that they could not live together.
7. And there was strife between the herdsmen of Abram’s livestock and the herdsmen of Lot’s livestock. And the Canaanite and the Perizzite lived in the land.
8. And Abram said to Lot, “Let there be no strife, I pray you, between me and you, and between my herdsmen and your herdsmen, for we are brethren.
9. Is not the whole land before you? I pray you, separate yourself from me. If you go to the left, then I will go to the right. Or if you go to the right, then I will go to the left.”
10. And Lot lifted up his eyes and saw all the plain of Jordan, that it was all well watered—before the LORD destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah—like the garden of the LORD, like the land of Egypt as you come to Zoar.
11. And Lot chose all the plain of Jordan for himself. And Lot journeyed east; thus, they separated themselves from one another.
12. Abram lived in the land of Canaan, and Lot lived in the cities of the plain and pitched his tent toward Sodom.
13. But the men of Sodom were wicked and sinners against the LORD, exceedingly so.
14. And after Lot was separated from him, the LORD said to Abram, “Lift up your eyes now and from the place where you look northward and southward, and eastward and westward;
15. For all the land which you see, I will give to you and to your seed forever.
16. And I will make your seed as the dust of the earth, so that if a man can count the dust of the earth, then shall your seed also be counted.
17. Rise up and walk through the land, in the length of it and in the breadth of.
it, for I will give it to you.”
18. And Abram moved his tent and came and lived in the oaks of Mamre, which is in Hebron. And he built an altar to the LORD there.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. And it came to pass in the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations,
2. That they made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar.
3. All these were joined together in the valley of Siddim, which is the Salt Sea.
4. They served Chedorlaomer twelve years, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled.
5. And in the fourteenth year Chedorlaomer and the kings that were with him came and struck the giants in Ashteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzim in Ham, and the Emim in Shaveh Kiriathaim,
6. And the Horites in their Mount Seir, as far as the oak of Paran, which is by the wilderness.
7. And they returned, and came to En Mishpat, which is Kadesh, and struck all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites who lived in Hazazon Tamar.
8. And the king of Sodom went out, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela (which is Zoar). And they joined battle against them in the valley of Siddim;
9. With Chedorlaomer the king of Elam, and with Tidal the king of nations, and Amraphel the king of Shinar, and Arioch the king of Ellasar, four kings against five.
10. And the valley of Siddim was full of asphalt pits. And the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell into them; and those who remained alive fled to the mountains.
11. And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their food, and went their way.
12. And they took Lot, Abram’s brother’s son, who lived in Sodom, and all his goods, and went away.
13. And there came one who had escaped. And he told Abram the Hebrew, for he lived in the plains of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol and brother of Aner. And these had a covenant with Abram.
14. And when Abram heard that his kinsman was taken captive, he armed his trained servants, born in his own house (three hundred and eighteen) and pursued them to Dan.
15. And he divided his forces against them by night, he and his servants. And he struck them, and pursued them to Hobah, which is on the left of Damascus.
16. And he brought back all the goods, and also brought back his kinsman Lot and his goods, and the women also, and the people.
17. And the king of Sodom went out to meet him after his return from the slaughter of Chedorlaomer and of the kings with him, at the valley of Shaveh, which is the king’s valley,
18. And Melchizedek the King of Salem brought forth bread and wine. And He was the Priest of the Most High God.
19. And He blessed him, and said, “Blessed be Abram of the Most High God, possessor of heaven and earth.
20. And blessed be the Most High God, Who has delivered your enemies into your hand.” And He gave Him tithes of all.
21. And the king of Sodom said to Abram, “Give me the people and take the goods for yourself.”
22. And Abram said to the king of Sodom, “I have lifted up my hand to the LORD, the Most High God, the possessor of heaven and earth,
23. That I will take nothing that is yours—from a thread even to a sandal strap—lest you say, ‘I have made Abram rich.’
24. Nothing for me, only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men who went with me, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre—let them take their portion.”

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. After these things the Word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision, saying, “Fear not, Abram, I am your shield and your exceedingly great reward.”
2. And Abram said, “Lord GOD, what will You give me since I go childless, and the heir of my house is this Eliezer of Damascus?”
3. And Abram said, “Behold, You have given me no seed; and lo, one born in my house is my heir.”

4. And behold, the Word of the LORD came to him saying, “This man shall not be your heir; but he that shall come forth out of your own loins shall be your heir.”

5. And He brought him outside and said, “Look now toward the heavens, and number the stars—if you are able to count them.” And He said to him, “So shall your seed be.”

6. And he believed in the LORD. And He accounted it to him for righteousness.

7. And He said to him, “I am the LORD that brought you out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give you this land to inherit it.”

8. And he said, “Lord God, by what shall I know that I shall inherit it?”

9. And He said to him, “Take Me a heifer of three years old, and a she-goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtledove, and a young pigeon.”

10. And he took all these to himself, and divided them in the middle, and laid each piece opposite the other; but he did not divide the birds.

11. And when the birds of prey came down upon the carcasses, Abram drove them away.

12. And it came to pass, as the sun was going down, that a deep sleep fell upon Abram. And, behold, a horror of great darkness fell upon him!

13. And He said to Abram, “You must surely know that your seed shall be sojourners in a land that is not theirs, (and shall serve them and they shall afflict them) four hundred years.

14. And also I will judge that nation whom they shall serve. And afterward they shall come out with great substance.

15. And you shall go to your fathers in peace. You shall be buried in a good old age.

16. But in the fourth generation they shall come here again, for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full.”

17. And it came to pass—when the sun went down and it was dark—behold, a smoking furnace and a burning lamp passed between those pieces.

18. In the same day the LORD made a covenant with Abram, saying, “I have given this land to your seed, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the river Euphrates,

20. And the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaim,

21. And the Amalekites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgashites, and the Jebusites.”

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. Now Sarai, Abram’s wife, did not bear him any children. And she had a maid-servant, an Egyptian, and her name was Hagar.

2. And Sarai said to Abram, “Behold now, the LORD has kept me from bearing. I pray you, go in to my maidservant. It may be that I may obtain children by her.” And Abram hearkened to the words of Sarai.

3. And Sarai, Abram’s wife, took Hagar her maidservant, the Egyptian, and gave her to her husband Abram to be his wife (after Abram had lived ten years in the land of Canaan).

4. And he went in to Hagar, and she conceived. And when Hagar saw that she had conceived, she looked upon her mistress with contempt.

5. And Sarai said to Abram, “My wrong be upon me. I have given my maidservant into your bosom, and when she saw that she had conceived, I was despised in her eyes. The LORD judge between me and you.”

6. But Abram said to Sarai, “Behold, your maidservant is in your hand. Do to her as it pleases you.” And Sarai dealt harshly with her, and she fled from her presence.

7. And the angel of the LORD found her by a fountain of water in the wilderness, by the fountain on the way to Shur.

8. And he said, “Hagar, Sarai’s maidservant, where did you come from? And where will you go?” And she said, “I flee from the presence of my mistress Sarai.”

9. And the angel of the LORD said to her, “Return to your mistress and submit yourself under her hands.”

10. And the angel of the LORD said to her, “I will multiply your seed exceedingly, so that they shall not be numbered for multitude.”

11. And the angel of the LORD said to her, “Behold, you are with child, and shall bear a son. And you shall call his name Ishmael because the LORD has heard your affliction.”
And the LORD appeared to Abram. 1. And when Abram was ninety-nine years old, the LORD appeared to Abram. 2. And Abram fell upon his face. And God said to him, “I am the Almighty God! Walk before Me and be perfect. 3. And Abram fell on his face. And God talked with him, saying, "As for Me, behold, My covenant is with you, and you shall be a father of many nations. 4. Neither shall your name any more be called Abram, but your name shall be Abraham; for I have made you a father of many nations. 5. And I will make you exceedingly fruitful, and I will make nations of you, and kings shall come from you. 6. And I will establish My covenant between Me and you and your seed after you in their generations for an everlasting covenant. 7. This is My covenant, which you shall keep, between Me and you and your seed after you. Every male child among you shall be circumcised. 8. And I will give the land to you in the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession. And I will be their God.” 9. And God said to Abraham, “And you shall keep My covenant, you and your seed after you in their generations. 10. This is My covenant, which you shall keep, between Me and you and your seed after you. Every male child among you shall be circumcised. 11. And you shall circumcise the flesh of your foreskin. And it shall be a sign of the covenant between Me and you. 12. And a son of eight days shall be circumcised among you, every male child in your generations; he that is born in the house, or bought with silver of any foreigner who is not of your seed. 13. He that is born in your house, and he that is bought with your silver, must be circumcised. And My covenant shall be in your flesh for an everlasting covenant. 14. And the uncircumcised male child whose flesh of his foreskin is not circumcised, that soul shall be cut off from his people—for he has broken My covenant.” 15. And God said to Abraham, “As for Sarah your wife, you shall not call her name Sarai, but her name shall be Sarah. 16. And I will bless her, and give you a son also of her. Yes, I will bless her, and she shall be a mother of nations—kings of people shall be from her.” 17. And Abraham fell upon his face and laughed, and said in his heart, “Shall a child be born to him that is a hundred years old? And shall Sarah, who is ninety years old, bear?” 18. And Abraham said to God, “Oh, that Ishmael might live before You!” 19. And God said, “Sarah your wife shall bear you a son indeed. And you shall call his name Isaac. And I will establish My covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him. 20. And as for Ishmael, I have heard you. Behold, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly. He shall beget twelve princes, and I will make him a great nation. 21. But I will establish My covenant with Isaac, whom Sarah shall bear to you at this set time in the next year.” 22. And He left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham. 23. And Abraham took his son Ishmael, and all that were born in his house, and all that were bought with his silver—every male among the men of Abraham’s house—and circumcised the flesh of their foreskins in the same day, even as God said to him. 24. And Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin. 25. And his son Ishmael was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin.
26. In the same day Abraham and his son Ishmael were circumcised.
27. And all the men of his house that were born in the house, or bought with silver from the foreigner, were circumcised with him.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. And the LORD appeared to him in the plains of Mamre, and he sat at the tent door in the heat of the day.
2. And he lifted up his eyes and looked, and lo, three men stood by him. And when he saw them, he ran to meet them from the tent door, and bowed himself toward the ground.
3. And he said, “My LORD, if now I have found favor in Your sight, do not pass away, I pray, from Your servant.
4. Let a little water, I pray, be brought, to wash Your feet, and rest under the tree.
5. And they said to him, “Where is Sarah your wife?” And he said, “Behold, in the tent.”
6. And Abraham hastened into the tent to bring a calf, tender and good. And he gave it to a young man. And he hurried to dress it.
7. And he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had dressed, and set it before them. And he stood by them under the tree, and they ate.
8. And they said to him, “Where is Sarah your wife?” And he said, “Behold, in the tent.”
9. And He said, “I will certainly return to you according to the time of life, and lo, Sarah your wife shall have a son.”
10. And Sarah heard at the tent door which was behind Him.
11. Now Abraham and Sarah were old, well advanced in days, and it had ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women.
12. Therefore Sarah laughed within herself, saying, “After I have become old, shall I have pleasure, my lord being old also?”

13. And the LORD said to Abraham, “Why did Sarah laugh, saying, ‘Shall I, who am old, truly bear a child?’
14. Is anything too hard for the LORD? At the time appointed I will return again, according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a son.”
15. Then Sarah denied, saying, “I did not laugh,” for she was afraid. And He said, “No, but you did laugh.”
16. And the men rose up from there, and looked toward Sodom. And Abraham was going with them to send them on the way.
17. And the LORD said, “Shall I hide from Abraham the thing which I do, 18. Since Abraham shall surely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him? 19. For I know him, that he will command his children and his house after him, and they shall keep the way of the LORD, to do justice and judgment, that the LORD may bring upon Abraham that which He has spoken of him.”
20. And the LORD said, “Because the cry of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and because their sin is very grievous, 21. I will go down now and see whether they have done altogether according to the cry of it, which has come to Me. And if not, I will know.”
22. And the men turned their faces away from there, and went toward Sodom. But Abraham still stood before the LORD.
23. And Abraham drew near and said, “Will You also destroy the righteous with the wicked?
24. Perhaps there are fifty righteous within the city. Will You also destroy the righteous and not spare the place for the fifty righteous who are in it?
25. Far be it from You to act in this manner, to kill the righteous with the wicked. And far be it from You, that the righteous should be as the wicked. Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?”
26. And the LORD said, “If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will spare all the place for their sakes.”
27. And Abraham answered and said, “Behold now, I have taken upon myself to speak to the LORD—I who am but dust and ashes.
28. Perhaps there will be five lacking from the fifty righteous. Will You de-
And the Lord went His way as soon for ten’s sake.” And He said, “I will not destroy it more. Perhaps there shall be thirty found there.” And He said, “I will not destroy it for twenty’s sake.” And he said, “Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will speak. Perhaps there shall be forty found there.” And He said, “I will not do it if I find forty-five, I will destroy all the city for lack of five?” And He said, “If I find there forty-five, I will not destroy it.” And he said, “Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will speak only once perhaps there shall be forty found there.” And He said, “I will not do it if I find thirty there.” And he said, “Lo now, I have only taken upon myself to speak to the Lord. Perhaps there shall be fifty found there.” And He said, “I will not destroy it for fifty’s sake.” And he said, “Oh do not let the Lord be angry, and I will speak only once more. Perhaps only ten shall be found there.” And He said, “I will not destroy it for ten’s sake.” And the Lord went His way as soon as He had left off talking with Abraham. And Abraham returned to his place.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. And there came two angels to Sodom at evening. And Lot sat in the gate of Sodom. And Lot rose up to meet them when he saw them. And he bowed himself with his face toward the ground, and said, “Behold now, my lords, please turn in to your servant’s house and stay all night, and wash your feet, and you shall rise up early and go your way.” And they said, “No, but we will stay in the street.”

2. But he urgently pressed upon them, and they turned in to him and entered into his house. And he made them a feast, and baked unleavened bread, and they ate. 3. But before they lay down, the men of the city, the men of Sodom, surrounded the house, both old and young, all the people from every quarter. 4. And they called to Lot, and said to him, “Where are the men who came in to you this night? Bring them out to us, that we may know them.” 5. And Lot went out the door to them, and shut the door after him. 6. And Lot went out to the men to them as you see fit. But do nothing to these men, for they have come under the shadow of my roof.” 9. And they said, “Stand back!” And they said, “This one came in to sojourn, and must he now play the judge? Now we will deal worse with you than with them.” And they pressed hard upon the man Lot, and came near to breaking down the door. 10. But the men put out their hands and pulled Lot into the house to them, and shut the door. 11. And they smote the men that were at the door of the house with blindness, both small and great, so that they weariied themselves to find the door. 12. And the men said to Lot, “Have you anyone here besides yourself? Bring your sons-in-law, and your sons, and your daughters, and anyone else you have in the city, bring them out of this place, 13. For we will destroy this place, because great is the cry of it before the face of the Lord. And the Lord has sent us to destroy it.” 14. And Lot went out and spoke with his sons-in-law, who married his daughters, and said, “Get up and get out of this place, for the Lord will destroy this city.” But to his sons-in-law he seemed to be jesting.

15. And when the morning dawned, then the angels hurried Lot, saying, “Rise up! Take your wife and your two daughters who are here, lest you be consumed in the punishment of the city.” 16. But he lingered, so the men laid hold upon his hand, and upon the hand of his wife, and upon the hands of his two daughters (the Lord being merciful to him), and they brought him forth and set him outside the city.

17. And it came to pass, when they brought him outside, they said, “Escape for your life! Do not look behind you, nor stay anywhere in the plain. Escape to the mountain lest you be consumed.” 18. And Lot said to them, “Oh no, my lord.

19. Behold now, your servant has found grace in your sight, and you have magnified your mercy, which you have shown to me in saving my life. But I cannot escape to the mountain, lest some evil overtake me and I die.

20. Behold now, this city is near to flee to, and it is a little one. Oh let me escape there—is it not a little one?—and my soul shall live.”
21. And the angel said to him, “See, I have accepted you concerning this thing also, that I will not overthrow this city for which you have spoken
22. Hurry and escape there! For I cannot do anything till you arrive there.” Therefore the name of the city was called Zoar.
23. The sun had risen upon the land, and Lot entered into Zoar.
24. Then the LORD rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire, from the LORD out of heaven.
25. And He overthrew those cities, and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that which grew upon the ground.
26. But his wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.
27. And Abraham got up early in the morning to the place where he had stood before the LORD.
28. And he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the lands of the plain, and saw, and lo, the smoke of the country went up as the smoke of a furnace.
29. And when God destroyed the cities of the plain, it came to pass that God remembered Abraham, and sent Lot out of the midst of the overthrow, when He overthrew the cities in which Lot lived.
30. And Lot went up out of Zoar, and lived in the mountain, and his two daughters with him, for he feared to live in Zoar, and he and his two daughters lived in a cave.
31. And the firstborn said to the younger, “Our father is old, and there is no man on the earth to come in to us, as is the way of all the earth.
32. Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, so that we may preserve the seed of our father.”
33. And they made their father drink wine that night, and the firstborn went in, and lay with her father. And he did not notice when she lay down nor when she arose.
34. And it came to pass on the next day, the firstborn said to the younger, “Behold, I lay last night with my father. Let us make him drink wine this night also, and you go in and lie down with him so that we may preserve the seed of our father.”
35. And they made their father drink wine that night also, and the younger arose and lay with him. And he did not notice when she lay down nor when she arose.
36. So both the daughters of Lot were with child by their father.
37. And the firstborn bore a son and called his name Moab; he is the father of the Moabites to this day.
38. And the younger also bore a son and called his name Ben-Ammi; he is the father of the children of Ammon to this day.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. And Abraham moved from there toward the south country, and lived between Kadesh and Shur, and stayed in Gerar.
2. And Abraham said of Sarah his wife, “She is my sister.” And Abimelech the king of Gerar sent and took Sarah.
3. But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night and said to him, “Behold, you are about to die because of the woman whom you have taken—for she is a man’s wife.”
4. But Abimelech had not come near her. And he said, “LORD, will You also kill a righteous nation?
5. Did he not say to me, ‘She is my sister?’ And she, even she herself said, ‘He is my brother.’ In the sincerity of my heart and innocence of my hands I have done this.”
6. And God said to him in a dream, “Yes, I know that you did this in the sincerity of your heart; for I also withheld you from sinning against Me. Therefore I did not allow you to touch her.
7. Now therefore, restore his wife to the man; for he is a prophet, and he shall pray for you, and you shall live. And if you do not restore her, know that you shall surely die, you and all that are yours.”
8. And Abimelech rose early in the morning and called all his servants, and told all these things in their ears. And the men were greatly afraid.
9. Then Abimelech called Abraham, and said to him, “What have you done to us? In what have I offended you, that you have brought on me and on my kingdom a great sin? You have done deeds to me that ought not to be done.”
10. And Abimelech said to Abraham, “What did you foresee that has caused you to do this thing?”
11. And Abraham said, “Because I thought, surely the fear of God is not in this place, and they will kill me for my wife’s sake.
12. And yet truly she is my sister. She is the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother. And she became my wife.
13. And it came to pass when God caused me to wander from my father’s house, that I said to her, ‘This is your kindness which you should show to me, and with all men you are made right.’
14. And Abimelech took sheep and oxen, and men servants and women servants, and gave them to Abraham. And he restored to him Sarah his wife.
15. And Abimelech said, “Behold, my land is before you. Live where it pleases you.”
16. And to Sarah he said, “Behold, I have given your brother a thousand pieces of silver. Behold, it is to you a covering of the eyes to all that are with you—and with all men you are made right.”
17. And Abraham prayed to God, and God healed Abimelech and his wife and the eyes to all that he shall go, say of me, “He is my brother.”
18. And Abimelech took sheep and oxen, and men servants and women servants, and gave them to Abraham. And he restored to him Sarah his wife.
19. For the Lord had closed up all the wombs of the house of Abimelech because of Sarah, Abraham’s wife.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE
1. And the Lord visited Sarah as He had said. And the Lord did to Sarah as He had spoken,
2. For Sarah conceived and bore Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken to him.
3. And Abraham called the name of his son that was born to him (whom Sarah bore to him) Isaac.
4. And Abraham circumcised his son Isaac, when he was eight days old, as God had commanded him.
5. And Abraham was a hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him.
6. And Sarah said, “God has made me laugh, so that all who hear will laugh with me.”
7. And she said, “Who could have said to Abraham that Sarah would suckle children? For I have borne a son to him in his old age.”
8. And the child grew and was weaned, and Abraham made a great feast the day that Isaac was weaned.
9. And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian (whom she had borne to Abraham) mocking.
10. And she said to Abraham, “Cast out this maidservant and her son, for the son of this maidservant shall not be heir with my son, with Isaac.
11. And the thing was very grievous in Abraham’s sight because of his son.
12. And God said to Abraham, “Let it not be grievous in your sight because of the boy and because of your maidservant. In all that Sarah has said to you, hearken to her words, for in Isaac your seed shall be called.
13. And also, I will make a nation of the son of the maidservant because he is your seed.”
14. And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and took bread and a skin of water, and gave it to Hagar, putting it on her shoulder. And he gave her the boy, and sent her away. And she departed and wandered in the wilderness of Beer-sheba.
15. And the water in the skin was gone, and she placed the boy under one of the shrubs.
16. And she went and sat down across from him a good way off, about a bow-shot, for she said, “Let me not see the death of the boy.” And she sat across from him, and lifted up her voice and wept.
17. And God heard the voice of the boy, and the angel of God called to Hagar out of the heavens, and said to her, “What ails you, Hagar? Do not fear, for God has heard the voice of the boy where he is.
18. Rise up, lift up the boy and hold him up with your hand, for I will make him a great nation.”
19. And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water; and she went and filled the skin with water, and gave a drink to the boy.
20. And God was with the boy, and he grew and lived in the wilderness, and became an archer.
21. And he lived in the wilderness of Paran, and his mother took a wife for him out of the land of Egypt.
22. And it came to pass at that time, Abimelech and Phicol, the commander of his army, spoke to Abraham, saying, “God is with you in all that you do. 23. Now therefore swear to me here by God that you will not deal falsely with me, nor with my son, nor with my son’s son. Do to me according to the kindness that I have done to you, and to the land in which you have lived.” 24. And Abraham said, “I will swear.” 25. And Abraham reproved Abimelech because of a well of water which Abimelech’s servants had violently seized. 26. And Abimelech said, “I do not know that your servants had violently seized. 27. And Abraham took sheep and oxen and gave them to Abimelech, and both of them made a covenant. 28. And Abraham set seven ewe lambs from my hand, so that they may be a witness to me that I have dug this well.” 29. And Abimelech said to Abraham, “What are these seven ewe lambs which you have set by themselves?” 30. And Abimelech reproved Abimelech because of a well of water which Abimelech’s servants had violently seized. 31. This is why he called that place The Well of the Living One Seeing Me.” 32. So they made a covenant at Beersheba. Then Abimelech and Phicol, the commander of his army, rose up. And they returned to the land of the Philistines. 33. And Abraham planted a tree in Beersheba, and there called on the name of the LORD, the everlasting God. 34. And Abraham lived in the Philistines’ land many days.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. And it came to pass after these things that God tested Abraham, and said to him, “Abraham!” And he said, “Here I am.” 2. And He said, “Take now your son, your only son Isaac, whom you love, and go into the land of Moriah, and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell you.” 3. And Abraham rose up early in the morning and saddled his donkey, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son. And he split the wood for the burnt offering, and rose up and went to the place of which God had told him. 4. Then on the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes and saw the place afar off. 5. And Abraham said to his young men, “You stay here with the donkey, and I and the boy will go yonder and worship, and come again to you.” 6. And Abraham took the wood of the burnt offering and laid it upon Isaac his son. And he took the fire pot in his hand, and a knife. And they both went together. 7. And Isaac spoke to Abraham his father and said, “My father.” And he said, “Here I am, my son.” And he said, “Behold the fire and the wood. But where is the lamb for a burnt offering?” 8. And Abraham said, “My son, God will provide Himself a lamb for a burnt offering.” So they both went on together. 9. And they came to the place of which God had told him. And Abraham built an altar there and laid the wood in order. And he bound his son Isaac and laid him on the wood, upon the altar. 10. And Abraham stretched out his hand and took the knife to slay his son. 11. And the angel of the LORD called to him from the heavens and said, “Abraham! Abraham!” And he said, “Here I am.” 12. And He said, “Do not lay your hand upon the lad, nor do anything to him, for now I know that you fear God, seeing you have not withheld your son, your only son, from Me.” 13. And Abraham lifted up his eyes and looked. And, behold, behind him a ram was entangled in a thicket by its horns. And Abraham went and took the ram and offered it up for a burnt offering instead of his son. 14. And Abraham called the name of that place The LORD Will Provide: so that it is said until this day, “In the mount of the LORD it will be provided.” 15. And the angel of the LORD called to Abraham out of heaven the second time, 16. And said, “‘By Myself have I sworn,’ says the LORD, ‘because you have done this thing, and have not withheld your son, your only son; 17. That in blessing I will bless you, and in multiplying I will multiply your seed like the stars of the heavens, and as the sand which is upon the seashore. And your seed shall possess the gate of his enemies.

18. And in your seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, because you have obeyed My voice."

19. Abraham returned to his young men, and they rose up and went together to Beersheba. And Abraham lived at Beersheba.

20. And it came to pass after these things that it was told Abraham, saying, "Behold Milcah! She also has borne children to your brother Nahor:

21. Huz his firstborn, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram, and Chesed, and Hazo, and Pildash, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel."

23. And Bethuel begat Rebekah. These eight Milcah bore to Nahor, Abraham's brother.

24. And his concubine, named Reumah, she also bore Tebah, and Gaham, and Thahash, and Maachah.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. And Sarah was a hundred twenty-seven years old, these were the years of the life of Sarah.

2. And Sarah died in Kirjath Arba; the same is Hebron in the land of Canaan. And Abraham came to mourn for Sarah and to weep for her.

3. And Abraham stood up from before his dead and spoke to the sons of Heth, saying,

4. "I am a stranger and a sojourner with you. Give me possession of a burial site with you, so that I may bury my dead out of my sight."

5. And the sons of Heth answered Abraham saying to him,

6. "Hear us, my lord. You are a mighty prince among us. Bury your dead in the choice of our burial places. None of us shall withhold from you his burial site for burying your dead."

7. And Abraham stood up, and bowed himself to the people of the land, the sons of Heth.

8. And he spoke with them, saying, "If it is your mind that I should bury my dead out of my sight, hear me, and ask for me of Ephron the son of Zohar,

9. That he may give me the cave of Machpelah which he has, which is at the end of his field. For as much silver as it is worth, he shall give it to me for a possession of a burial place among you."

10. And Ephron lived among the sons of Heth. And Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the ears of the sons of his city, saying,

11. "No, my lord, hear me. I give you the field, and the cave that is in it I give to you. In the presence of the sons of my people, I give it to you. Bury your dead."

12. And Abraham bowed before the people of the land.

13. And he spoke to Ephron in the ears of the people of the land, saying, "Only if you would hear me; I will give you silver for the field. Take it from me, and I will bury my dead there."

14. And Ephron answered Abraham, saying to him,

15. "My lord, hearken to me. The land is worth four hundred shekels of silver—what is that between me and you? So bury your dead."

16. And Abraham hearkened to Ephron. And Abraham weighed to Ephron the silver which he had named in the hearing of the sons of Heth, four hundred shekels of silver, as is current among the merchants.

17. And the field of Ephron, which was in Machpelah, which was before Mamre—the field and the cave which was in it, and all the trees in the field, in all the borders round about—was deeded to Abraham for a possession in the presence of the sons of Heth, before all that went in at the gate of his city. And after this, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave at the field of Machpelah before Mamre, which is Hebron, in the land of Canaan.

18. And the field, and the cave that is in it, were deeded to Abraham for possession of a burial place by the sons of Heth.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. And Abraham was old, well advanced in age. And the LORD had blessed Abraham in all things.

2. And Abraham said to the oldest servant of his house, who ruled over all that he had, "I pray you, put your hand under my thigh."

3. And say to me, "Here am I; and you shall give me possession of a field in the land of Canaan, which I may hold to be a possession of a burial place."

4. And the servant said to Abraham, "Speak, I pray you, in my ear concerning the matter of this oath which you have made with me."

5. And Abraham said, "She shall be my daughter, and her daughter shall be your daughter; in the land of Canaan shall my dead be buried."

6. And the servant took a eunuch from his own kindred and from the kindred of his master, and gave him charge under his own hand over all that he had; and he went to the west, to the land of Canaan.

7. And the servant put the vessels in the hands of his master's daughters, and起身 toward the field to get seed of grain. And he took with him ten eunuchs of his own kindred, and Sarah his master's daughter, and Sarah bare him Ishmael."

8. And the servant took his camels, and compassed the inclusive parts of the city, and the way to the field of Succoth. And he put the vessels of water before the camels, and the servant of Abraham stretched forth his hand to the damsel, and said, "Give me a little water of water, I pray you, for to drink."

9. And the damsel made haste, and let her pitcher, and ran to the city gate, and said to the gatekeeper, "Who is he that said, Let down your pitcher, I pray you, in the hand of this young man?"

10. And the damsel was swift to go, and let down her pitcher into the camels' hand, and ran again to the city gate, and said to the gatekeeper, "It is the damsel of the man the LORD has prospered."

11. And Abraham's servant said to her, "I am Abraham's servant."

12. And she said, "I am the damsel of the man whom the LORD has prospered."

13. And Abraham's servant said to her, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of my master, who has prospered the way of my master. Now I pray you, give me water, I pray you, and let me drink."
3. And I will make you swear by the LORD, the God of heaven and the God of the earth, that you shall not take a wife for my son of the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell.

4. But you shall go to my country and to my kindred, and take a wife for my son Isaac.

5. And the servant said to him, “Perhaps the woman will not be willing to follow me to this land. Must I then bring your son again to the land from which you came?”

6. And Abraham said to him, “Take care that you do not bring my son there again.

7. The LORD, the God of heaven, Who took me from my father’s house and from the land of my kindred, and Who spoke to me, and Who swore to me, saying, ‘To your seed I will give this land’—He shall send His angel before you. And you shall take a wife for my son from there.

8. And if the woman will not be willing to follow you, then you shall be clear from this oath of mine. Only do not bring my son there again.”

9. And the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master and swore to him concerning the matter.

10. And the servant took ten camels from the camels of his master and departed, for all the goods of his master were in his hand. And he arose and went to Mesopotamia to the city of Nahor.

11. And he made his camels kneel down outside the city by a well of water at the time of the evening, the time that women go out to draw water.

12. And he said, “O LORD, God of my master Abraham, I pray You, send me good speed this day, and show kindness to my master Abraham.

13. Behold, I stand by the well of water, and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water.

14. And let it be that the young woman to whom I shall say, ‘Let down your pitcher, please, so that I may drink,’ that she shall say, ‘Drink, and I will give your camels drink also.’ Let her be the one that You have appointed for Your servant Isaac. And by it I shall know that You have shown kindness to my master.”

15. And it came to pass before he had finished speaking, that behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, son of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham’s brother, with her pitcher upon her shoulder.

16. And the young woman was very beautiful to look upon, a virgin, neither had any man known her. And she went down to the well and filled her pitcher, and came up.

17. And the servant ran to meet her, and said, “Please let me drink a little water from your pitcher.”

18. And she said, “Drink, my lord.” And she hurried and let down her pitcher upon her hand, and gave a drink to him.

19. And when she had finished giving him drink, she said, “I will draw water for your camels also until they have finished drinking.”

20. And she hurried, and emptied her pitcher in the trough, and ran again to the well to draw water. And she drew for all his camels.

21. And the man was watching her, keeping silent, in order to know whether the LORD had prospered his journey or not.

22. And it came to pass, when the camels had finished drinking, that the man took a golden earring of half a shekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands, weighing ten shekels of gold.

23. And he said, “Whose daughter are you? Please tell me. Is there room in your father’s house for us to stay?”

24. And she said to him, “I am the daughter of Bethuel the son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor.”

25. And she said to him, “We have both straw and fodder enough, and room to lodge in.”

26. And the man bowed down his head, and worshiped the LORD.

27. And he said, “Blessed be the LORD, God of my master Abraham, Who has not left my master destitute of His mercy and His truth. The LORD led me, I being in the way, to the house of my master’s brothers.”

28. And the young woman ran and told her mother’s household these things.

29. And Rebekah had a brother whose name was Laban. And Laban ran out to the man at the well.

30. And it came to pass when he saw the earring and bracelets upon his sister’s hands, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his sister, saying, “So spoke the man to me,” he came to the man.
behold, he stood by the camels at the well.
31. And he said, “Come in, blessed of the LORD. Why do you stand outside? For I have prepared the house, and room for the camels.”
32. And the man came into the house. And he unloaded his camels, and gave straw and fodder to the camels, and water to wash his feet and the feet of the men that were with him.
33. And food was set before him to eat. But he said, “I will not eat until I have told my errand.” And he said, “Speak on.”
34. And he said, “I am Abraham’s servant.
35. And the LORD has blessed my master greatly, and he has become great. And He has given him flocks and herds and silver and gold, and men servants and maid servants, and camels and donkeys.
36. And Sarah, my master’s wife, bore a son to my master when she was old. And he has given to him all that he has.
37. And my master made me swear, saying, ‘You shall not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites in whose land I live.
38. But you shall go to my father’s house, and to my kindred, and take a wife for my master.
39. And I said to my master, ‘Perhaps the woman will not follow me.’
40. And he said to me, ‘The LORD, before Whom I walk, will send His angel with you and prosper your way. And you shall take a wife for my son from my kindred, and from my father’s house.
41. Then shall you be clear from my oath when you come to my kindred, and if they do not give you one, you shall be clear from my oath.’
42. And I came this day to the well, and said, ‘O LORD, God of my master Abraham, if now You prosper my way in which I go,
43. Behold, I stand by the well of water. And it shall be when the virgin comes forth to draw water, and I say to her, “Give me, please, a little water from your pitcher to drink,”
44. And she says to me, “Drink, and I will also draw for your camels”—may she be the woman whom the LORD has appointed for my master’s son.’
45. And before I finished speaking in my heart, behold, Rebekah came out with her pitcher on her shoulder. And she went down to the well and drew water. And I said to her, ‘Please let me drink.’
46. And she hurried and let down her pitcher from her shoulder, and said, ‘Drink, and I will give drink to your camels also.’ So I drank, and she made the camels drink also.
47. And I asked her and said, ‘Whose daughter are you?’ And she said, ‘The daughter of Bethuel, Nahor’s son, whom Milcah bore to him.’ And I put the earring upon her ear and the bracelets upon her hands.
48. And I bowed my head and worshiped the LORD, and blessed the LORD, God of my master Abraham, Who had led me in the right way to take my master’s brother’s daughter for his son.
49. And now if you will deal kindly and truthfully with my master, tell me. And if not, tell me so that I may turn to the right hand or to the left.”
50. And Laban and Bethuel answered and said, “The thing has come forth from the LORD. We cannot speak to you bad or good.
51. Behold, Rebekah is before you; take her and go. And let her be the wife of your master’s son, even as the LORD has spoken.”
52. And it came to pass, when Abraham’s servant heard their words, he worshiped the LORD, bowing himself to the earth.
53. And the servant brought forth jewelry of silver and jewelry of gold, and clothing, and gave them to Rebekah. He also gave precious things to her brother and to her mother.
54. And they ate and drank, he and the men with him, and stayed all night. And they rose up in the morning, and he said, “Send me away to my master.”
55. And her brother and her mother said, “Let the young woman stay with us perhaps ten days. After that she shall go.”
56. And he said to them, “Do not hinder me since the LORD has prospered my way. Send me away, that I may go away to my master.”
57. And they said, “We will call the young woman and inquire of her directly.”
58. And they called Rebekah, and said to her, “Will you go with this man?” And she said, “I will go.”
59. And they sent away Rebekah their sister, and her nurse, and Abraham’s servant, and his men.

60. And they blessed Rebekah, and said to her, “Our sister, be the mother of thousands of millions, and let your seed possess the gate of those who hate them.”

61. And Rebekah rose up, and her young women, and they rode upon the camels and followed the man. And the servant took Rebekah and went his way.

62. And Isaac came from the way of the well, The Well of the Living One, My Beholder, for he lived in the south country.

63. And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the beginning of the evening. And he lifted up his eyes and looked. And behold—camels coming!

64. And Rebekah lifted up her eyes, and she saw Isaac. And she dismounted from the camel.

65. For she said to the servant, “What man is this that walks in the field to meet us?” And the servant said, “It is my master.” Therefore she took a veil and covered herself.

66. And the servant told Isaac all things that he had done.

67. And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah’s tent, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife. And he loved her. And Isaac was comforted after his mother’s death.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

1. Then again Abraham took a wife, and her name was Keturah.

2. And she bore him Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah.

3. And Jokshan begat Sheba and Dedan. And the sons of Dedan were Asshurim and Letushim and Leummim.

4. And the sons of Midian: Ephah and Epher and Hanoch and Abida and Eldaah. All these were the sons of Keturah.

5. And Abraham gave all that he had to Isaac.

6. But to the sons of the concubines which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts. And he sent them away from Isaac his son while he still lived, eastward to the east country.

7. And these were the days of the years of Abraham’s life, which he lived: a hundred seventy-five years.

8. And Abraham expired and died in a good old age, old and satisfied. And he was gathered to his people.

9. And his sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron the son of Zohar the Hittite, which is before Mamre,

10. The field which Abraham bought from the sons of Heth. Abraham and Sarah his wife were buried there.

11. And after the death of Abraham, it came to pass that God blessed his son Isaac. And Isaac lived by The Well of the Living One, My Beholder.

12. And these were the generations of Ishmael, Abraham’s son, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah’s handmaid, bore to Abraham.

13. And these were the names of the sons of Ishmael, by their names, according to their generations. The firstborn of Ishmael, a hundred thirty-seven years. And he expired and died, and was gathered to his people.

14. And Mishma, and Dumah, and Massa,

16. These were the sons of Ishmael, and these were their names by their towns and by their settlements; twelve chiefs according to their nations.

17. And these were the years of the life of Ishmael, a hundred thirty-seven years. And he expired and died, and was gathered to his brethren.

18. And they lived from Havilah to Shur, which is before Egypt, as you go toward Assyria. And he died in the presence of all his brethren.

19. And these were the generations of Isaac, Abraham’s son. Abraham begat Isaac.

20. And Isaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan Aram, the sister of Laban the Syrian.

21. And Isaac prayed to the LORD for his wife because she was barren. And the LORD heard him, and Rebekah his wife conceived.

22. And the sons struggled together within her. And she said, “If it is well, why am I this way?” And she went to inquire of the LORD.

23. And the LORD said to her, “Two nations are in your womb, and two kinds of people shall be separated from your
And the LORD appeared to him and in the days of Abraham). And Isaac went (besides the hairy garment all over. And they called his name Esau.
And after that his brother came out, and his hand took hold on Esau’s heel. And his point of dying, and what were fulfilled, behold, twins were in her womb!
And the first came out red, like a hairy garment all over. And they called his name Edom.
And Esau despised and rose up and went his way. Thus did him for he feared to say, “She is my sister” for he feared to say, “She is my wife,” lest the men of the place should kill him for Rebekah because she was beautiful to look upon.
And when he had been there a long time, it came to pass that Abimelech, king of the Philistines, was looking out a window and saw Isaac caressing Rebekah his wife.
And Abimelech called Isaac and said, “Behold, she surely is your wife. Why did you say, ‘She is my sister’?” And Isaac said to him, “Because I said, ‘Lest I die on account of her.’ ”
10. And Abimelech said, “What is this you have done to us? One of the people might have lain with your wife, and you would have brought guilt upon us!”
11. And Abimelech charged all his people, saying, “He who touches this man or his wife shall surely be put to death.”
12. Then Isaac sowed in that land, and received in the same year a hundredfold.
And the LORD blessed him.
13. And the man became great—and continued and had possessions of flocks and herds and many servants. And the Philistines envied him.
15. (Now the Philistines had stopped up all the wells which his father’s servants had dug in the days of Abraham his father and filled them with dirt.) 16. And Abimelech said to Isaac, “Go away from us, for you are mightier than we are.”
17. So Isaac departed from there and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar and lived there.
18. And Isaac dug again the wells of water which they had dug in the days of Abraham his father, for the Philistines had stopped them up after the death of Abraham. And he called them by the names which his father had called them.
19. And Isaac’s servants dug in the valley and found there a well of flowing water.
20. But the herdsmen of Gerar strove with Isaac’s herdsmen, saying, “The water is ours.” And he called the name of

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

1. And there was a famine in the land (besides the former famine that had been in the days of Abraham). And Isaac went to Abimelech, king of the Philistines, to Gerar.
2. And the LORD appeared to him and said, “Do not go down into Egypt. Live in the land which I shall tell you of.
3. Stay in this land, and I will be with you and bless you, for to you and to your seed, I will give all these lands; and I will establish the oath which I swore to Abraham your father.
4. And I will multiply your seed as the stars of the heavens and will give to your seed all these lands. And in your seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed,
the well Contention because they strove with him.
21. And they dug another well, and they strove over that one too. And he called its name, Opposition.
22. Then he moved from there and dug another well, but they did not strive over it. So he called its name, Broad Places.
And he said, "For now the LORD has made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land."
23. And he went from there to Beersheba.
24. And the LORD appeared to him the same night, and said, "I am the God of Abraham your father. Do not fear, for I am with you, and will bless you and multiply your seed for My servant Abraham's sake."
25. And he built an altar there and called upon the name of the LORD, and pitched his tent there. And Isaac's servants dug a well there.
26. Then Abimelech went to him from Gerar, with Ahuzzath, one of his friends, and Phicol the commander of his army.
27. And Isaac said to them, "Why do you come to me since you hate me and have sent me away in peace. You are now the blessed of the LORD."
28. And they said, "We saw certainly that the LORD was with you. And we done nothing but good to you, and have not touched you, and since we have sent you away in peace. You are now the blessed of the LORD."
29. And he said, "Let there be now an oath between us, between us and you, and let us make a covenant with you; that you will do us no harm since we have not touched you, and since we have done nothing but good to you, and have sent you away in peace. You are now the blessed of the LORD."
30. And he made them a feast, and they ate and drank.
31. And they rose up early in the morning and swore an oath to one another.
And Isaac's servants dug a well there.
32. And the same day Isaac's servants came and told him about a well which they had dug, saying to him, "We have found water."
33. And he called the well, Shebah.
Therefore the name of the city is The Well of Sheba★ to this day.
34. And when Esau was forty years old, took as wives Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Basemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite.
35. And they both were a grief of spirit to Isaac and to Rebekah.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN
1. And it came to pass when Isaac was old and his eyes were dim, so that he could not see, he called his oldest son Esau and said to him, "My son." And he said to him, "Behold, I am here."
2. And he said, "Behold now, I am old and I do not know the day of my death.
3. And now please take your weapons, your quiver and your bow, and go out to the field and hunt game for me.
4. And make savory meat for me, such as I love, and bring it to me so that I may eat, that my soul may bless you before I die."
5. And Rebekah listened when Isaac spoke to Esau his son. And Esau went to the field to hunt venison in order to bring it.
6. And Rebekah spoke to her son Jacob, saying, "Behold, I heard your father speak to your brother Esau, saying,
7. 'Bring me venison, and make me delicious food so that I may eat and bless you in the presence of the LORD before my death.'
8. And now, my son, obey my voice according to what I command you.
9. Go now to the flock and bring me from there two good kids of the goats.
And I will make of them delicious food for your father, such as he loves.
10. And you shall bring it to your father so that he may eat, and that he may bless you before his death."
11. And Jacob said to his mother Re-ephah, "Behold, Esau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a smooth man.
12. My father will perhaps feel me, and I shall seem to him as a deceiver. And I shall bring a curse upon me, and not a blessing."
13. And his mother said to him, "Your curse be upon me, my son—only obey my voice and go bring them to me."
14. And he went and he took them and brought them to his mother. And his mother made delicious things such as his father loved.
15. And Rebekah took the clothes of her older son Esau, the costly ones which were with her in the house, and put them upon Jacob her younger son.
16. And she put the skins from the kids of the goats upon his hands and upon the smooth of his neck.
17. And she gave the delicious food and the bread which she had prepared into the hand of her son Jacob.

18. And he came to his father and said, “My father!” And he said, “Here I am; who are you, my son?”

19. And Jacob said to his father, “I am Esau your firstborn. I have done as you asked me. Arise, I pray you, sit and eat of my venison, that your soul may bless me.”

20. And Isaac said to his son, “How is it that you have found it so quickly, my son?” And he said, “Because the LORD your God brought it to me.”

21. And Isaac said to Jacob, “Come near, I pray you, sit and eat and drink of my wine, that your soul may bless you.” And he brought wine, and he drank.

22. And Isaac went near to Isaac his father, and he felt him and said, “The smell of my son is as the smell of a field, which the LORD has blessed.

23. And he smelled the smell of his clothing, and blessed him, and said, “See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the LORD has blessed.

24. And his father Isaac answered and said to Esau, “Behold, I have made him your lord, and all his brethren I have given him for servants, and with grain and wine I have sustained him. And what shall I do now to you, my son?”

25. And Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing with which his father had blessed him. And Esau said in his heart, “The days of mourning for my father are at hand—then I will kill my brother Jacob.

26. And these words of her older son Esau were told to Rebekah. And she sent and called her younger son Jacob, and said to him, “Behold, your brother Esau is going to comfort himself concerning you—for he is planning to kill you.

27. And now therefore, my son, obey my voice—arise, and flee to my brother Laban, to Haran.

28. And stay with him a few days until your brother’s fury turns away,
45. Until your brother’s anger turns away from you and he forgets what you have done to him. Then I will send you vinegar. Bring you from there. Why should I bereave both of you in one place? 46. And Rebekah said to Isaac, “I am weary of my life because of the daughters of Heth. If Jacob takes a wife of the daughters of Heth, like these of the daughters of Canaan, what good is my life to me?”

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

1. Then Isaac called Jacob and blessed him, and commanded him. And he said to him, “You shall not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan.

2. Arise, go to Padan Aram, to the house of Bethuel your mother’s father. And take a wife from there of the daughters of Laban your mother’s brother.

3. And may God Almighty bless you, and make you fruitful, and multiply you, so that you may be a multitude of people.

4. And may He give you the blessing of Abraham, to you and to your seed with you, so that you may inherit the land in which you are a stranger, which God gave to Abraham.”

5. So Isaac sent Jacob away. And he went to Padan Aram, to Laban, son of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

6. Now Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and had sent him away to Padan Aram in order to take a wife from there—and that as he blessed him, he gave him a command, saying, “You shall not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan”—

7. And that Jacob obeyed his father and his mother, and had gone to Padan Aram.

8. Now when Esau saw that the daughters of Canaan did not please Isaac his father, 9. Esau went to Ishmael, and took Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham’s son, the sister of Nebajoth, in addition to his other wives.

10. And Jacob went out from Beersheba and went toward Haran.

11. And he came upon a certain place, and stayed there all night because the sun had set. And he took one of the stones of that place and placed it at his head. And he lay down in that place to sleep.

12. And he dreamed. And behold, a ladder was set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven! And behold, the angels of God were ascending and descending on it!

13. And behold, the LORD stood above it, and said, “I am the LORD, the God of Abraham your father, and the God of Isaac. The land on which you lie I will give to you and to your seed.

14. And your seed shall be like the dust of the earth, and you shall spread abroad to the west and to the east to the north and to the south. And in you and in your seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.

15. And, behold, I am with you, and will keep you in every place where you go, and will bring you again into this land, for I will not leave you until I have done that which I have spoken of to you.”

16. And Jacob awoke from his sleep, and said, “Surely the LORD is in this place, and I did not know it.”

17. And he was afraid and said, “How fearful is this place! This is nothing but the house of God, and this is the gate of Heaven!”

18. So Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone which he had put at his head, and set it as a memorial pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it.

19. And he called the name of that place The House of God.★ But the name of that city was Luz at first.

20. Then Jacob made a vow, saying, “Since God will be with me, and will keep me in the way that I go, and will give me bread to eat and clothing to put on,

21. And I come again to my father’s house in peace, then shall the LORD be my God.

22. And this stone which I have set for a pillar shall be God’s house. And of all that You shall give me, I will surely give the tenth to You.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

1. Then Jacob moved on and went to the land of the sons of the east.

2. And he looked, and behold, a well was in the field! And, lo, there were three flocks of sheep lying by it, for they watered the flocks out of that well. And a great stone was upon the well’s mouth.
3. And all the flocks were gathered there. And they rolled the stone from the well’s mouth and watered the sheep, and put the stone again upon the well’s mouth in its place.
4. And Jacob said to them, “My brethren, where are you from?” And they said, “We are from Haran.”
5. And he said to them, “Do you know Laban the son of Nahor?” And they said, “We know him.”
6. And he said to them, “Is he well?” And they said, “He is well. And, behold, his daughter Rachel comes with the sheep.”
7. And he said, “Lo, it is still high day and not yet time for gathering the flocks together. Water the sheep, then take them back to pasture.”
8. And they said, “We cannot until all the flocks have been gathered together. Only then is the stone rolled from the well’s mouth and we water the sheep.”
9. While he still spoke with them, Rachel came with her father’s sheep, for she kept them.
10. And when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban his mother’s brother, and the sheep of Laban his mother’s brother, then Jacob went near and rolled the stone from the well’s mouth, and watered the flocks of Laban his mother’s brother.
11. Then Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice and wept.
12. And Jacob told Rachel that he was her father’s kinsman, and that he was Rebekah’s son. And she ran and told her father.
13. And it came to pass when Laban heard the news of Jacob his sister’s son, he ran to meet him and embraced him and kissed him, and brought him to his house. And Jacob told Laban all these things.
14. And Laban said to him, “Surely you are my bone and my flesh.” And he stayed with him for a month.
15. And Laban said to Jacob, “Because you are my kinsman, should you then serve me for nothing? Tell me, what shall be your wages?”
16. Now Laban had two daughters. The name of the older was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel.
17. And Leah had lovely soft eyes, but Rach-
34. And she conceived again, and bore a son, and said, “Now this time my husband will be joined to me, because I have borne him three sons.” Therefore, his name was called Levi.

35. And she conceived again and bore a son, and she said, “This time I will praise the Lord.” Therefore, she called his name Judah. Then she ceased bearing.

CHAPTER THIRTY

1. Now when Rachel saw that she bore Jacob no children, Rachel envied her sister. And she said to Jacob, “Give me sons, or else I will die.”

2. And Jacob’s anger was kindled against Rachel. And he said, “Am I in God’s stead Who has withheld from you the fruit of the womb?”

3. And she said, “Behold my handmaid Bilhah; go in to her, and she shall bear upon my knees, and yea, that I may also have children by her.”

4. So she gave him her handmaid Bilhah as a wife. And Jacob went in to her.

5. And Bilhah conceived and bore Jacob a son.

6. And Rachel said, “God has judged me, and also heard my voice, and has given me a son.” Therefore, she called his name Dan.

7. Then Rachel’s handmaid Bilhah conceived again and bore Jacob a second son.

8. And Rachel said, “With the wrestlings of God I have wrestled with my sister, and I have prevailed.” And she called his name Naphtali.

9. When Leah saw that she had ceased bearing, she took her handmaid Zilpah and gave her to Jacob as a wife.

10. And Leah’s handmaid Zilpah bore Jacob a son.

11. And Leah said, “With good fortune.” And she called his name Gad.

12. Then Leah’s handmaid Zilpah bore Jacob a second son.

13. And Leah said, “I am happy, for the daughters will call me blessed.” And she called his name Asher.

14. Now Reuben went out in the days of the wheat harvest and found love-apples in the field, and brought them to his mother Leah. And Rachel said to Leah, “Please give me some of your son’s love-apples.”

15. But she said to her, “Is it a small matter that you have taken my husband? And would you also take my son’s love-apples?” And Rachel said, “Therefore, he shall lie with you tonight for your son’s love-apples.”

16. And Jacob came out of the field in the evening. And Leah went out to meet him, and said, “You must come in to me, for I have surely hired you with my son’s love-apples.” And he lay with her that night.

17. And God hearkened to Leah, and she conceived and bore Jacob the fifth son.

18. So Leah said, “God has given me my hire because I gave my handmaid to my husband.” And she called his name Issachar.

19. And Leah conceived again and bore Jacob the sixth son.

20. So Leah said, “God has given me a good present. Now my husband will live with me because I have borne him six sons.” And she called his name Zebulun.

21. And afterward she bore a daughter, and called her name Dinah.

22. Then God remembered Rachel, and God hearkened to her and opened her womb.

23. And she conceived and bore a son, and she said, “God has taken away my reproach.”

24. And she called his name Joseph. And she said, “May the LORD add another son to me.”

25. Then, when Rachel had borne Joseph, it came to pass that Jacob said to Laban, “Send me away so that I may go into my own place and to my country. Give me my wives and my children for whom I have served you, and let me go, for you know my service which I have done you.”

26. And Laban said to him, “I pray you, if I have found favor in your eyes, stay; for I have learned by experience that the LORD has blessed me because of you.”

27. And he also said, “Name your wages and I will give it.”

28. Jacob said to him, “You know how I have served you, and what your livestock have become with my care; 30. For you had little before I came, and it has now increased to a multitude. And the LORD has blessed you since my coming. But when shall I also provide for my own house?”

29. And he said, “What shall I give concerning my wages. Every one that for me in time to come when you come 33. And my righteousness shall answer shall be my wages.

speckled among the goats. And these 32. I will pass through all the flocks today, taking out all the speckled and spotted sheep, and all of the black sheep among the lambs, and the spotted and the speckled among the goats. And these shall be my wages.

33. And my righteousness shall answer for me in time to come when you come concerning my wages. Every one that is not speckled and spotted among the goats, and black among the sheep, shall be counted as stolen with me.”

34. And Laban said, “Yes, truly let it be according to your word.”

35. And that day Laban secretly took out the he-goats that were striped and spotted, and all the she-goats that were speckled and spotted, every one that had white in it, and all the black from among the lambs, and gave them into the hand of his sons.

36. And he set three days’ journey between himself and Jacob. And Jacob fed and cared for the rest of Laban’s flocks. 37. But Jacob took rods of green poplar, and of a fresh tree, and the almond and plane tree. And he peeled back the bark making white streaks in them, exposing the white inner wood of the rods.

38. And he placed the rods which he had peeled in front of the flocks—in the troughs, in the watering troughs, where the flocks came to drink—because the flocks bred when they came to drink.

39. And the flocks conceived before the rods, and brought forth striped, speckled, and spotted offspring.

40. Then Jacob separated the lambs, but made the flocks face toward the striped and the black of the flock of Laban. Thus he made separate flocks of his own, and did not let them mix with the flock of Laban.

41. And it came to pass when the stronger of the flock were breeding, Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the flocks in the troughs, so that they might conceive among the rods.

42. But when the feeble of the flock were breeding, he did not put them in. So usually it came to pass that the weak of the offspring were Laban’s and the stronger ones Jacob’s.

43. Thus the man increased exceedingly, and had many flocks, camels, donkeys, maidservants and male servants. CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

1. And he heard the words of Laban’s sons, saying, “Jacob has taken away all that was our father’s, and he has gotten all this glory from that which was our father’s.”

2. And Jacob saw the countenance of Laban, and, behold, it was not toward him as before.

3. And the LORD said to Jacob, “Return to the land of your fathers, and to your kindred, and I will be with you.”

4. And Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah to the field to his flocks.

5. And he said to them, “I see your father’s face, that it is not toward me as before, but the God of my father has been with me.

6. And you know that with all my power I have served your father.

7. Yet your father has deceived me and changed my wages ten times. But God did not allow him to hurt me.

8. If he said this, ‘The speckled shall be your wages,’ then all the flocks bore speckled. And if he said this, ‘The striped shall be your hire,’ then all the flocks bore striped.

9. Thus God has taken away the flocks of your father, and has given them to me.

10. And at the time the flock conceived, I lifted up my eyes and saw in a dream—and, behold, the rams which leaped upon the flock were striped, speckled, and mottled.

11. And the Angel of God spoke to me in a dream, saying, ‘Jacob!’ And I said, ‘Here I am.’

12. And He said, ‘Lift up your eyes and see all the rams which leap upon the flock that they are striped, speckled, and mottled, for I have seen all that Laban is doing to you.

13. I am the God of Bethel where you anointed the pillar, where you made a vow to Me. Now arise, get out from this land and return to the land of your kindred.’ ”

14. And Rachel and Leah answered and said to him, “Is there yet any portion or inheritance for us in our father’s house?

15. Are we not counted as strangers by him? For he has sold us, and has also entirely devoured our silver.
16. For all the riches which God has taken from our father belong to us and to our sons. Now then, whatever God has said to you, do.”
17. Then Jacob rose up and set all his children and wives upon camels.
18. And he drove away all his livestock, and all his goods which he had gotten, the livestock of his property, which he had gotten in Padan Aram, in order to go to Isaac his father in the land of Canaan.
19. Now when Laban went to shear his sheep, Rachel stole the house idols which were her father’s.
20. And Jacob deceived the heart of Laban the Syrian in that he did not tell him that he fled.
21. And he fled with all that was his. And he rose up and passed over the river, and set his face toward Mount Gilead.
22. It was told to Laban on the third day that Jacob had fled.
23. Then he took his brothers with him and pursued after him seven days’ journey. And they overtook him in Mount Gilead.
24. And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and said to him, “Take heed that you do not speak either good or bad to Jacob.”
25. Then Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mount. And Laban with his brothers pitched in Mount Gilead.
26. And Laban said to Jacob, “What have you done that you have deceived my heart and carried away my daughters as captives taken with the sword?
27. Why did you flee away secretly and steal away from me, and did not tell me so that I might have sent you away with mirth and with songs, with tabret★ and with lyre?
28. And why have you not allowed me to kiss my sons and my daughters? You have done foolishly in so doing.
29. It is in the power of my hand to do you harm. But the God of your fathers spoke to me last night, saying, “Take heed that you do not speak either good or bad to Jacob.”
30. And now you have gone because you longed after your father’s house. Why have you stolen my gods?”
and the sons my sons, and the flocks my flocks. All that you see is mine. And what can I do this day to these my daughters, or to their sons which they have borne?

44. And come now, let us make a covenant, you and I. And let it be for a witness between you and me."

45. And Jacob took a stone and set it up as a memorial pillar.

46. And Jacob said to his brethren, "Gather stones." And they took stones and made a heap. And they ate there upon the heap.

47. And Laban called it in Syrian, Jegar Sahadutha,★ and Jacob called it in Hebrew, Galeed.★

48. And Laban said, "This heap is a witness between you and me this day." Therefore the name of it was called Heap of Testimony,

49. And Watchtower, for he said, "The LORD watch between you and me when we are absent from one another.

50. If you should afflict my daughters, or if you should take wives besides my daughters—though no man is with us—remember, God is witness between you and me."

51. And Laban said to Jacob, "Behold this heap, and behold the pillar which I have set up between you and me.

52. This heap is a witness, and the pillar is a witness, that I will not pass over this heap to you, and that you shall not pass over this heap and this pillar to me for harm.

53. The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge between us." And Jacob swore by the fear of his father Isaac.

54. And Jacob offered sacrifice upon the mountain, and called his brethren to eat bread. And they ate bread and stayed all night in the mountain.

55. And early in the morning Laban rose up, and kissed his sons and his daughters, and blessed them. And Laban departed and returned to his place.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

1. And Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him.

2. And when Jacob saw them he said, "This is God's camp." And he called the name of that place Two Camps.

3. Now Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother to the land of Seir, the country of Edom.

4. And he commanded them, saying, "So shall you speak to my lord Esau, 'Your servant Jacob says thus, 'I have lived with Laban and stayed until now.

5. And I have oxen and donkeys, flocks, and menservants, and maidservants. And I have sent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in your sight.' "

6. And the messengers returned to Jacob saying, "We came to your brother Esau, and also he comes to meet you, and four hundred men with him."

7. Then Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed, and he divided the people with him, and the flocks and herds, and the camels, into two bands.

8. And he said, "If Esau comes to the one company and strikes it, then the other company which is left shall escape."

9. And Jacob said, "Oh God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac, the LORD, Who said to me, 'Return to your country and to your kindred, and I will deal well with you.'"

10. I am not worthy of the least of all the mercies and of all the truth which You have done to Your servant; for with my staff I passed over this Jordan, and now I have become two bands.

11. Deliver me, I pray You, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau; for I fear him, lest he come and strike me, and the mother with the children.

12. And You said, 'I will surely do you good, and make your seed as the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.'"

13. And he lodged there that night. And he took of that which came to his hand, a present for Esau his brother:

14. Two hundred she-goats, twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes, and twenty rams.

15. Thirty milk camels with their colts, forty cows and ten bulls, twenty female donkeys and ten foals.

16. And he delivered into the hands of his servants, every herd by itself. And he said to his servants, "Pass over in front of me and put a space between herd and herd."

17. And he commanded the foremost, saying, "When Esau my brother meets you, and asks you saying, ‘To whom do you belong?’ and, ‘Where do you go? And whose are these before you?’

18. Then you shall say, ‘Your servant Jacob’s. It is a present sent to my lord Esau. And, behold, he also is behind us.’

19. And so he commanded the second and the third, and all that followed the herds, saying, “In this way you shall speak to Esau when you find him.

20. And also you shall say, ‘Behold, your servant Jacob is behind us.’ ” For he said, “I will appease him with the present that goes before me, and afterward I will see his face. Perhaps he will accept me.”

21. And the present went over before him. And he himself lodged that night in the camp.

22. And he rose up that night and took his two wives, his two maidervants and his eleven sons, and passed over the ford Jabbok.

23. And he took them, and sent them over the stream, and sent over what he had.

24. And Jacob was left alone. And a Man wrestled there with him until the breaking of the day.

25. And when the Man saw that He did not prevail against him, He touched the hollow of his thigh. And the hollow of Jacob’s thigh became out of joint as he wrestled with Him.

26. And He said, “Let Me go, for the day breaks.” And Jacob said, “I will not let You go except You bless me.”

27. And He said to him, “What is your name?” And he said, “Jacob.”

28. And He said, “Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel; for you have striven with God and with men, and have prevailed.”

29. And Jacob asked and said, “I pray You, reveal Your name.” And He said, “Why do you ask after My name?” And He blessed him there.

30. And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel,★ saying, “For I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.”

31. And as he passed over Penuel the sun rose upon him, and he limped upon his thigh.

32. Therefore the children of Israel do not eat of the sinew of the thigh, which is upon the hip-socket, until this day because He touched Jacob’s hip-socket, the sinew of the thigh.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

1. And Jacob lifted up his eyes and looked. And behold, Esau came, and four hundred men with him. And he divided the children to Leah, and to Rachel, and to the two handmaids.

2. And he put the handmaids and their children first, and Leah and her children afterward, and Rachel and Joseph last.

3. And he passed over in front of them and bowed himself to the ground seven times until he came near to his brother.

4. And Esau ran to meet him and embraced him, and fell upon his neck and kissed him. And they wept.

5. And Esau lifted up his eyes and saw the women and the boys, and said, “Who are these with you?” And he said, “The boys with whom God has favored your servant.”

6. Then the handmaids came near, they and their boys, and they bowed themselves.

7. And Leah also, and her children, came near and bowed themselves. And afterward Joseph and Rachel came near and bowed.

8. He asked, “Whose is all this camp which I met?” And he said, “To find grace in the sight of my lord.”

9. And Esau said, “I have enough, my brother. Keep what you have yourself.”

10. And Jacob said, “No, please, if now I have found grace in your sight, then receive my present at my hand; for therefore have I seen your face, as though I had seen the face of God, and you were pleased with me.

11. Please take my blessing that is brought to you because God has dealt graciously with me, and because I have enough.” And he urged him, and he accepted.

12. And Esau said, “Let us take our journey, and let us go, and I will go before you.”

13. But Jacob said to him, “My lord knows that the boys are tender and the flocks and herds with me are even one day, all the flock will die.

14. Please, let my lord go on before his servant and I will lead on softly, according as the flocks that go before me, and the boys, are able to endure until I come to my lord to Seir.”
15. And Esau said, “Let me now leave with you some of the men with me.” And he said, “What need is there? Just let me find grace in the sight of my lord.”
16. And Esau returned that day on his way to Seir.
17. And Jacob journeyed to Succoth and built himself a house, and made booths for his livestock. Therefore, the name of the place is called Succoth.
18. And Jacob came in peace to the city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan Aram. And he pitched his tent in front of the city.
19. And he bought a piece of a field, where he had spread his tent, at the hand of the sons of Hamor, Shechem’s father, for a hundred pieces of silver.
20. And he erected there an altar and called it El, the God of Israel.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

1. And Dinah the daughter of Leah, whom she bore to Jacob, went out to see the daughters of the land.
2. And when Shechem, the son of Hamor the Hivite, prince of the country, saw her, he took her and lay with her, and defiled her.
3. And his soul clung to Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and he loved the girl and spoke to the heart of the girl.
4. And Shechem spoke to his father Hamor, saying, “Get me this girl for a wife.”
5. And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter. And his sons were with his livestock in the field. And Jacob kept silent until they had come.
6. And Hamor the father of Shechem went out to Jacob to speak with him.
7. And the sons of Jacob came out of the field when they heard. And the men were furious, and they were very angry because he had done folly in Israel in lying with the daughter of Jacob. And such a thing ought not to be done.
8. And Hamor communed with them, saying, “The soul of my son Shechem longs for your daughter. Please give her to him for a wife.
9. And you make marriages with us, giving your daughters to us, and taking our daughters to you.
10. And you shall live with us. And the land shall be before you. Live and trade in it, and get possessions in it.”
11. And Shechem said to her father and to her brothers, “Let me find grace in your eyes, and whatever you shall say to me I will give.
12. Ask of me what you desire for the price and gift of a bride, and I will give according as you shall say to me. But give me the maiden for a wife.”
13. And the sons of Jacob answered Shechem and Hamor his father, speaking with deceit because he had defiled Dinah their sister.
14. And they said to them, “We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to one that is uncircumcised, for it is a reproach to us.
15. But in this we will agree with you, if you will be as we are, that every male of you be circumcised, 16. Then we will give our daughters to you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will live with you, and we will become one people.
17. But if you will not hearken to us, to be circumcised, then we will take our daughter, and we will go.”
18. And their words pleased Hamor and Shechem, Hamor’s son.
19. And the young man did not hesitate to do the thing because he had delight in Jacob’s daughter. And he was more honorable than all the house of his father.
20. And Hamor and Shechem his son came to the gate of their city, and talked with the men of their city, saying,
21. “These men are at peace with us.
Therefore, let them live in the land and trade in it, for behold, the land is large enough for them. Let us take their daughters to us for wives, and let us give them our daughters.
22. Only on this condition will the men agree to us, to live with us, to be one people, if every male among us is circumcised as they are circumcised.
23. Shall not their livestock and their substance and every animal of theirs be ours? Only let us agree with them, and they will live with us.”
24. And all that went out of the gate of his city hearkened to Hamor and to Shechem his son. And every male was circumcised, all that went out of the gate of his city.
25. And it came to pass on the third day, when they were sore, that two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah’s brothers, took each his sword and came upon the city boldly, and killed all the males.

26. And they killed Hamor and Shechem his son with the edge of the sword, and took Dinah out of Shechem’s house, and went out.

27. The sons of Jacob came upon the city boldly, and killed all the males.

28. They took their sheep and their oxen and their donkeys, and that which was in the city and that which was in the field.

29. And all their wealth, and all their little ones, and their wives, they took captive, and plundered even all that was in the house.

30. And Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, “You have troubled me to make me a stench among those who live in the land, among the Canaanites and the Perizzites. I am few in number, and they shall gather themselves together against me, and kill me. And I shall be destroyed, my house and I.”

31. And they said, “Should he deal with our sister as with a harlot?”

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

1. And God said to Jacob, “Arise, go up to Bethel and live there. And make an altar there to God, Who appeared to you when you fled from the face of Esau your brother.”

2. Then Jacob said to his household, and to all that were with him, “Put away the strange gods among you, and be clean, and change your garments.

3. And let us arise and go up to Bethel, and I will make an altar there to God, Who answered me in the day of my distress and has been with me in the way which I have gone.”

4. And they gave all the strange gods which were in their hands to Jacob, and the earrings in their ears. And Jacob hid them under the oak which was by Shechem.

5. And they moved. And the terror of God was upon the cities that were round about them, and they did not pursue the sons of Jacob.

6. And Jacob came to Luz in the land of Canaan, that is, Bethel, he and all the people with him.

7. And he built an altar there and called the place El Bethel, because God appeared to him there when he fled from the face of his brother.

8. But Deborah, Rebekah’s nurse, died, and she was buried below Bethel under an oak. And the name of it was called Oak of Weeping.

9. And God appeared to Jacob again after he came out of Padan Aram and blessed him.

10. And God said to him, “Your name is Jacob. Your name shall not be called Jacob any more, but Israel shall be your name.” And He called his name Israel.

11. And God said to him, “I am God Almighty. Be fruitful and multiply. A nation and a company of nations shall be from you, and kings shall come out of your loins.

12. And the land which I gave to Abraham and Isaac, I will give to you, and to your seed after you I will give the land.”

13. And God went up from him in the place where He talked with him.

14. And Jacob set up a pillar in the place where He talked with him, a pillar of stone. And he poured a drink offering on it, and he poured oil on it.

15. And Jacob called the name of the place where God spoke with him, Bethel.

16. And they set out from Bethel. And when there was only a short distance yet to go to Ephrath, Rachel travailed, and she had great difficulty in giving birth.

17. And it came to pass when she was having great difficulty giving birth, the midwife said to her, “Do not fear, you shall have this son also.”

21. And Israel moved and spread his tent beyond the tower of Edar.

22. And it came to pass when Israel lived in that land that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his father’s concubine. And Israel heard it. And the sons of Jacob were twelve:

26. And the sons of Zilpah, Leah’s handmaid: Dan and Naphtali.
27. And Jacob came to his father Isaac, to Mamre, to the city of Arba, which is Hebron, where Abraham and Isaac had lived.
28. And the days of Isaac were a hundred and eighty years.
29. And Isaac expired and died, and was gathered to his people, old and full of days. And his sons, Esau and Jacob, buried him.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

1. And Jacob lived in the land of the so-journings of his father, in the land of Canaan.
2. This is the account of the family of Jacob. Joseph, being seventeen years old, came tending the flock with his brothers. And he was a youth with the sons of Bilhah, and with the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives. And Joseph brought to his father an evil report of them.
3. And Israel loved Joseph more than all his sons because he was the son of his old age. And he made him a tunic reaching to the soles of his feet.
4. And when his brothers saw that their father loved him more than all his brothers, they hated him, and could not speak peaceably to him.
5. And Joseph dreamed a dream and told it to his brothers. And they hated him still more.
6. And he said to them, “I pray you, hear this dream which I have dreamed,
7. For behold, we were binding sheaves in the middle of the field, and lo, my sheaf arose and also stood upright. And behold, your sheaves stood around and bowed down to my sheaf.”
8. And his brothers said to him, “Shall you indeed reign over us? Or shall you indeed have the rule over us?” And they hated him still more for his dreams and for his words.
9. And he dreamed still another dream, and told it to his brothers. And he said, “Behold, I have dreamed another dream. And behold, the sun and the moon and the eleven stars bowed down to me.”
10. And he told it to his father and to his brothers. And his father rebuked him and said to him, “What is this dream that you have dreamed? Shall I, and your mother, and your brothers indeed come to bow ourselves to the earth before you?”
11. And his brothers were jealous of him. But his father was mindful of the saying.
12. And his brothers went to feed his father's flock in Shechem.
13. And Israel said to Joseph, “Do not your brothers feed the flock in Shechem? Come, and I will send you to them.” And he said to him, “Here I am.”
14. And he said to him, “Please go see whether it is well with your brothers and well with the flocks. And bring me word again.” And he sent him out of the valley of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.
15. And a certain man found him, and behold, he was wandering in the field. And the man asked him, saying, “What are you looking for?”
16. And he said, “I am seeking for my brothers. Please tell me where they are feeding their flocks.”
17. And the man said, “They are gone from here, for I heard them say, ‘Let us go to Dothan.’” And Joseph went after his brothers, and found them in Dothan.
18. And when they saw him afar off, even before he came near them, they conspired against him to kill him.
19. And they said to one another, “Behold, this dreamer comes. Even before he came near them, they conspired against him to kill him.”
20. Therefore come now, and let us kill him.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

1. And it came to pass at that time that Judah left his brothers and went to a certain Adullamite named Hirah.
2. And Judah saw there a daughter of a certain Canaanite man named Shuah. And he took her and went in to her.
3. And she conceived and bore a son. And he called his name Er.
4. And she conceived again and bore a son, and she called his name Onan. And he knew not her as a wife when she conceived.
5. And she yet again conceived and bore a son. And she called his name Shelah. And he called his name Er.
6. And Judah left his brothers and went to a certain Adullamite named Hirah. And he took her and went in to her.
7. And on the second day he went out to feed his flock at the place where the women went to water their flocks.
8. And he said to his father’s wife, “I know not where Joseph is. And I, too, my master’s steward, am not in the land. And your sons have hidden Joseph from me.”
9. And Judah knew that there was no seed in Bethuel his father’s house; and he took Tamar his daughter-in-law, to his brother Er.
10. And Judah was married to Tamar. And she conceived and bore a son. And he called his name Er.
11. Then said Judah to Tamar, his daughter-in-law, “Remain a widow at your father’s house until Shelah my son is grown.” For he said, “Lest perhaps he die there.”
12. And Tamar continued to dwell in her father’s house until Shelah her brother’s son was grown. And she bore two sons to Judah. Their names were Perez and Zerah. (These were born of Tamar by Judah.)

16. And he said, “I am seeking for my brothers. Please tell me where they are feeding their flocks.”
17. And the man said, “They are gone from here, for I heard them say, ‘Let us go to Dothan.’” And Joseph went after his brothers, and found them in Dothan.
18. And when they saw him afar off, even before he came near them, they conspired against him to kill him.
19. And they said to one another, “Behold, this dreamer comes. Even before he came near them, they conspired against him to kill him.”
20. Therefore come now, and let us kill him.”

also, as his brothers did." And Tamar went and lived in her father’s house.
12. And the days were many, and Judah’s wife, the daughter of Shuah, died. And Judah was comforted, and went up unto the shearers of his sheep, he and his friend Hirah of Adullam, to Timnah.
13. And it was told to Tamar, saying, “Behold, your father-in-law goes up to Timnah to shear his sheep.”
14. And she put off her widow’s clothes, and covered herself with a veil, and wrapped herself. And she sat in an open place, which is by the road to Timnah, for she saw that Shelah was grown and she was not given to him as wife.
15. When Judah saw her, he thought she was a harlot because she had covered her face.
16. And he went over to her by the roadside, and said, “Come now, let me come in to you”; for he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law. And she said, “What will you give me, so that you may come in to me?”
17. And he said, I will send a kid of the goats from the flock. And she said, “Will you give me a pledge until you send it?”
18. And he said, “What pledge shall I give you?” And she said, “Your signet and your bracelet, and your staff that is in your hand.” And he gave to her, and came in to her, and she conceived by him.
19. And she arose and went away, and laid away her veil from her, and put on the clothes of her widowhood.
20. And Judah sent the kid of the goats by the hand of his friend the Adullamite to receive his pledge from the woman’s hand. But he did not find her.
21. Then he asked the men of that place, saying, “Where is the harlot who was by the roadside?” And they said, “There was no harlot here.”
22. And he returned to Judah, and said, “I cannot find her. And also the men of the place said, ‘There was no harlot here.’”
23. And Judah said, “Let her keep the things as her own, lest we be despised. Behold, I sent this kid and you have not found her.”
24. And it came to pass, about three months afterward, that it was told to Judah, saying, “Your daughter-in-law has played the harlot—and also, behold, she is with child by whoredom.” And Judah said, “Bring her out and let her be burned.”
25. When she was being brought out, she sent a message to her father-in-law, saying, “I am with child by the man to whom these things belong.” And she said, “Please observe whose things these are—the signet and bracelets, and staff.”
26. And Judah acknowledged them, and said, “She has been more righteous than I, because I did not give her to my son Shelah.” And he never knew her again.
27. And it came to pass, in the time of her travail, behold, twins were in her womb.
28. And when she travailed, one child put out a hand. And the midwife took and bound upon his hand a scarlet thread, saying, “This one came out first.”
29. And as he drew back his hand, behold, his brother came out. And she said, “How have you broken through first? This breach be upon you.” And his name was called Pharez.
30. And afterwards his brother came out, upon whose hand was the scarlet thread. And his name was called Zarah.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

1. Now Joseph was brought down to Egypt. And Potiphar, an official of Pharaoh, the chief of the executioners, an Egyptian man, bought him from the Ishmaelites who had brought him down there.
2. And the Lord was with Joseph, and he became a successful man. And he was in the house of his master the Egyptian.
3. And his master saw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all he did to prosper in his hands.
4. And Joseph found grace in his sight, and he served him. And he made him overseer over his house, and he put him in charge of all he had.
5. And it came to pass from the time he had made him overseer in his house, and over all he had, that the Lord blessed the Egyptian’s house for Joseph’s sake. And the blessing of the Lord was upon all that he had in the house and in the field.
6. And he left all that he had in Joseph’s hand—and did not concern himself with anything that he had except the bread which he ate. And Joseph was handsome in form and good looking in appearance.
7. And after these things it came to pass that his master’s wife cast her eyes upon Joseph. And she said, “Lie with me.”
8. But he refused and said to his master’s wife, “Behold, my master does not know what is in the house with me, and he has given all that he has into my hand.
9. There is none greater in this house than I. Neither has he kept back anything from me except you because you are his wife. How then can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?”
10. And as she spoke to Joseph day after day, he did not listen to her to lie with her, or to be with her.
11. And it came to pass on a certain day that he came into the house to do his work. And none of the men of the house were inside.
12. And she caught him by his robe, saying, “Lie with me.” And he left his robe with me and ran out of the house.
13. And when she saw that he had left his robe in her hand and had fled, she called to the men of her house and spoke to them, saying, “See, he has brought in a Hebrew to us to mock us. He came in to me to lie with me, and I cried with a loud voice.
14. And when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried aloud, he left his robe with me and fled and got out.”
15. And she laid up his robe beside her until his lord came home.
16. And she spoke to him according to these words, saying, “The Hebrew servant which you have brought to us came in to me to mock me.
17. And as I lifted up my voice and cried aloud, he left his robe with me and ran out.”
18. And when his master heard the words of his wife which she spoke to him, saying, “Your servant did this to me,” his wrath was kindled.
19. And Joseph’s master took him and put him into the prison, a place where the king’s prisoners were bound. And he was there in the prison.
20. But the LORD was with Joseph and showed him mercy, and gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison.
21. And the keeper of the prison gave all the prisoners in the prison into Joseph’s hand. And whatever they did there, was his doing.
22. The keeper of the prison did not concern himself with anything under his hand because the LORD was with Joseph, and whatever he did, the LORD made it to prosper.

CHAPTER FORTY

1. Now after these things it came to pass that the cupbearer of the king of Egypt and his baker had offended their lord, the king of Egypt.
2. And Pharaoh was angry against two of his officials, against the chief of the cupbearers and against the chief of the bakers.
3. And he put them under guard in the house of the chief of the executioners, into the prison, the place where Joseph was confined.
4. And the chief of the executioners put Joseph in charge of them, and he served them. And they continued for days under guard.
5. And they dreamed a dream, both of them—each man his dream in one night, each man according to the interpretation of his dream—the cupbearer and the baker of the king of Egypt, who were bound in the prison.
6. And when Joseph came to them in the morning and looked upon them, and beheld, they were sad.
7. And he asked Pharaoh’s officials who were with him under guard in his lord’s house, saying, “Why are your faces sad today?”
8. And they said to him, “We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it.” And Joseph said to them, “Do not interpretations belong to God? Now tell it to me.”
9. And the chief cupbearer told his dream to Joseph, and said to him, “In my dream, behold, a vine was before me.
10. And in the vine were three branches. And it was as if it budded, and its blossom shot up. And the clusters of it brought forth ripe grapes.
11. And Pharaoh’s cup was in my hand. And I took the grapes and pressed them into Pharaoh’s cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh’s hand.”
12. And Joseph said to him, “This is the interpretation of it. The three branches are three days.
13. Yet within three days Pharaoh shall lift up your head and restore you to your place. And you shall deliver Pharaoh’s cup into his hand, just as you did when you were his cupbearer.
14. But remember me when it is well with you, and please show kindness to me and make mention of me to Pharaoh, and bring me out of this place,
15. For indeed I was stolen away out of the land of the Hebrews, and here also have I done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon.”

16. When the chief baker saw the interpretation was good, he said to Joseph, “I also saw in my dream, and three baskets of white bread were on my head.
17. And in the top basket were all kinds of baked foods for Pharaoh. And the birds ate them out of the basket upon my head.”

18. And Joseph answered and said, “This is the interpretation of it. The three baskets are three days.
19. Yet within three days Pharaoh shall lift up your head from off you, and shall hang you on a tree. And the birds shall eat your flesh from off you.”
20. And it came to pass on the third day, Pharaoh’s birthday, that he made a feast for all his servants. And he lifted up the head of the chief cupbearer, and of the chief baker, among his servants.
21. And he restored the chief cupbearer back into his cupbearer office again. And he gave the cup into Pharaoh’s hand.
22. But he hanged the chief baker, even as Joseph had interpreted to them.
23. Yet the chief cupbearer did not remember Joseph, but forgot him.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

1. And it came to pass at the end of two whole years that Pharaoh dreamed. And behold, he stood by the river.
2. And behold, there came up out of the river seven cows beautiful of form and fat of flesh. And they fed among the reeds.
3. And behold, seven other cows came up after them out of the river, evil in appearance, and lean of flesh. And they stood by the other cows upon the river bank.
4. And the evil-appearing and lean-fleshed cows ate up the seven beautifully
5. And he slept and dreamed the second time. And behold, seven ears of grain came up on one stalk, fat and good.
6. And behold, seven thin ears sprang up after them and were blasted with the east wind.
7. And the seven thin ears devoured the seven fat and full ears. And Pharaoh awoke, and behold, it was a dream.
8. And it came to pass in the morning that his spirit was troubled, and he sent and called for all the magicians of Egypt, and all the wise men. And Pharaoh told them his dream, but there was none who could interpret them to Pharaoh.
9. Then the chief cupbearer spoke to Pharaoh, saying, “I remember my sin this day.
10. Pharaoh was angry with his servants, and put me under guard in the chief of the executioner’s house, me and the chief baker.
11. And we dreamed a dream one night, he and I. We dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream.
12. And there was there with us a young man, a Hebrew, a slave to the chief of the executioners. And we told him, and he interpreted our dreams for us. He interpreted to each man according to his dream.
13. And it came to pass as he interpreted to us, so it was. He restored me to my office, and he hanged him.”
14. Then Pharaoh sent and called for Joseph. And they hurried him out of the dungeon. And he shaved and changed his clothing, and came in to Pharaoh.
15. And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I have dreamed a dream, and none can interpret it. And I have heard it said about you that you can understand a dream to interpret it.”
16. And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, “Not I. But God shall give an answer favorable to Pharaoh.”
17. And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “In my dream, behold, I stood upon the bank of the river.
18. And behold, there came up out of the river seven cows, beautiful in appearance and fat of flesh. And they fed among the reeds.
19. And behold, seven other cows came up after them, poor and evil of appearance, and lean of flesh, such as I never saw in all the land of Egypt for badness.
20. And the lean and the evil-appearing cows ate up the first seven fat cows.
21. And when they had eaten them up, no one could tell that they had eaten them, for they were still evil of appearance, as at the beginning. And I awoke.
22. Also I saw in my dream, and behold, seven ears came up in one stalk, full and good.
23. And behold, after them seven ears, withered, thin, blasted by the east wind, sprang up after them.
24. And the thin ears devoured the seven good ears. And I spoke to the magicians, but there was none that could explain it to me.”
25. And Joseph said to Pharaoh, “The dreams of Pharaoh are one and the same. God has shown Pharaoh what He is about to do.
26. The seven good cows are seven years. And the seven good ears are seven years. The dreams are one.
27. And the seven thin and evil-appearing cows that came up after them are seven years. And the seven empty ears blasted with the east wind shall be seven years of famine.
28. This is the thing which God has spoken to Pharaoh, for what God is about to do, He has shown to Pharaoh.
29. Behold, there are coming seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt.
30. Then there shall arise after them seven years of famine. And all the plenty shall be forgotten in the land of Egypt, and the famine shall consume the land.
31. And the plenty shall not be known in the land because of the famine following, for it shall be very grievous.
32. And since the dream was repeated to Pharaoh, and given twice, it is because the matter is established by God, and God will shortly bring it to pass.
33. Now therefore let Pharaoh look for a man who is discreet and wise, and set him over the land of Egypt.
34. Let Pharaoh act, and let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the produce of the land of Egypt in the seven plenteous years.
35. And let them gather all the food of those good years that come, and lay up grain under the hand of Pharaoh, and let them keep food in the cities.
Asenath, the daughter of Potipherah the priest of On, bore to him.

51. And Joseph called the name of the firstborn Manasseh, saying, “For God has made me forget all my toil and all my father’s house.”

52. And the name of the second he called Ephraim, saying, “For God has caused me to be fruitful in the land of my affliction.”

53. And the seven years of plenty that was in the land of Egypt ended.

54. And the seven years of famine began to come, according as Joseph had said. And the famine was in all lands, but in all the land of Egypt there was bread.

55. And when all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread. And Pharaoh said to all the Egyptians, “Go to Joseph. What he says to you, do.”

56. And the famine was over all the face of the earth. And Joseph opened all the storehouses and sold to the Egyptians. And the famine was severe on the land of Egypt.

57. And all lands came into Egypt, to Joseph, to buy grain because the famine was severe in all lands.

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

1. And when Jacob realized that there was grain in Egypt, Jacob said to his sons, “Why do you stare at one another?”

2. And he said, “Behold, I have heard that there is grain in Egypt. Go down there and buy for us from there, so that we may live and not die.”

3. And Joseph’s ten brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt.

4. But Benjamin, Joseph’s brother, Jacob did not send with his brothers, for he said, “Lest perhaps mischief happen to him.”

5. And the sons of Israel came to buy among those that came, for the famine was also in the land of Canaan.

6. And Joseph was the potentate over the land. He was the one selling to all the people of the land. And Joseph’s brothers came and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth.

7. And Joseph saw his brothers, and he knew them, but remained a stranger to them, and spoke roughly to them. And he said to them, “Where do you come from?” And they said, “From the land of Canaan to buy food.”

8. And Joseph knew his brothers, but they did not know him.

9. And Joseph remembered the dreams which he dreamed of them, and said to them, “You are spies! You have come to see the nakedness of the land.”

10. And they said to him, “No, my lord, but your servants have come to buy food.

11. We are all one man’s sons. We are honest men; your servants are not spies.”

12. And he said to them, “No, but you have come to see the nakedness of the land.”

13. And they said, “Your servants are twelve brothers, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan. And behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one is no more.”

14. And Joseph said to them, “It is as I spoke to you, saying, ‘You are spies!’

15. By this you shall be proved—as Pharaoh lives you shall not go forth from here unless your youngest brother comes here.

16. Send one of you, and let him bring your brother, and you shall be kept in prison so that your words may be proved, whether any truth is in you. Or else, as Pharaoh lives, surely you are spies.”

17. And he put them together into custody three days.

18. And Joseph said to them the third day, “Do this and live, for I fear God.

19. If you are honest, let one of your brothers be bound in your prison house. You go carry grain for the famine of your houses.

20. But bring your youngest brother to me, and let your words be confirmed, be proved true, and you shall not die.” And they did so.

21. And they said one to another, “We are truly guilty concerning our brother in that we saw the anguish of his soul when he begged us, and we would not hear. Therefore, this distress has come upon us.”

22. And Reuben answered them, saying, “Did I not speak to you saying, ‘Do not sin against the youth?’ And you would not listen. Therefore, behold, his blood is required at our hands.”

23. And they did not know that Joseph could understand them, for the interpreter was used between them.
24. And he turned from them and wept. And he returned to them again and talked with them, and took Simeon from them and bound him before their eyes.
25. Then Joseph commanded their sacks to be filled with grain, and returned their silver, each into his sack, and to give them provision for the way. And so he did to them.
26. And they loaded their donkeys with grain and departed from there.
27. Later, as one of them opened his sack to give his donkey fodder in the inn, he saw his silver, for behold, it was in the mouth of the sack.
28. And he said to his brothers, “My silver has been put back—here, in my sack.” And their hearts sank, and they each were afraid, saying to one another, “What is this God has done to us?”
29. And they came to Jacob their father, to the land of Canaan, and told him all that happened to them, saying,
30. “The man, the lord of the land, spoke roughly to us, and took us for spies of the country.
31. And we said to him, ‘We are honest, we are not spies.
32. We are twelve brothers, sons of our father. One is no more, and the youngest is this day with our father in the land of Canaan.’
33. And the man, the lord of the land, said to us, ‘By this I shall know that you are honest. Leave one, your brother, with me, and take food for the famine of your households, and go.
34. And bring your youngest brother to me. Then I shall know that you are not spies, but that you are honest. And I will deliver your brother to you, and you shall trade in the land.’ ”
35. And it came to pass as they emptied their sacks, behold, every man’s bundle of silver was in his sack. And when they and their father saw the bundles of silver, they were afraid.
36. And Jacob their father said to them, “You have bereaved me. Joseph is no more, and Simeon is no more, and you will take Benjamin? All these things are against me.”
37. And Reuben spoke to his father, saying, “Kill my two sons if I do not bring him to you. Deliver him into my hand, and I will bring him to you again.”
38. And he said, “My son shall not go down with you, for his brother is dead, and he is left alone. And if mischief should happen to him by the way you go, then you shall bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.”

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

1. And the famine was severe in the land.
2. And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the grain which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said to them, “Go again, buy us a little food.”
3. And Judah spoke to him, saying, “The man solemnly protested to us, saying, ‘You shall not see my face unless your brother is with you.’
4. If you will send our brother with us, we will go down and buy food.
5. But if you will not send him, we will not go down, for the man said to us, ‘You shall not see my face unless your brother is with you.’ ”
6. And Israel said, “Why have you dealt ill with me to tell the man whether you had yet a brother?”
7. And they said, “The man asked us strictly of our state and of our kindred, saying, ‘Is your father still alive? Have you yet another brother?’ And we told him according to the tenor of these words. Could we in any way know that he would say, ‘Bring your brother down’?”
8. And Judah said to Israel his father, “Send the boy with me, and we will arise and go, so that we may live and not die, both we and you, also our little ones.
9. I will be surety for him. You shall require him of my hand. If I do not bring him to you and set him before you, I shall be a sinner against you all the days.
10. For if we had not delayed, surely by now we would have returned the second time.”
11. And their father Israel said to them, “If it be so now, do this. Take of the best fruits of the land in your vessels and bring a present down to the man, a little balm, and a little honey, spices, and myrrh, pistachio nuts, and almonds.
12. And take double silver in your hand, and the silver that was brought again in the mouth of your sacks, carry it again in your hand. Perhaps it was an oversight.
13. Take also your brother and arise; go again to the man.
14. And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, so that he may send away your other brother and Benjamin. If I am bereaved, then I am bereaved.”
15. And the men took that present, and they took double silver in their hand, and Benjamin. And they rose up and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.
16. And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, “Bring the men into the house, and slaughter an animal and make ready, for the men shall dine with me at noon.”
17. And the man did as Joseph said. And the man brought the men into Joseph’s house.
18. And the men were afraid because they were brought into Joseph’s house. And they said, “Because of the silver that was returned in our sacks at the first time we are brought in that he may seek something against us, and fall upon us, and take us for slaves, and our donkeys.”
19. And they came near to the man over Joseph’s house and they talked with him at the door of the house,
20. And said, “Oh sir, we indeed came down the first time to buy food.
21. And it came to pass, when we came to the inn, that we opened our sacks, and, behold, every man’s silver was in the mouth of his sack, our silver in full weight. And we have brought it again in our hands.
22. And we have brought down other silver in our hands to buy food. We cannot tell who put our silver in our sacks.”
23. And he said, “Peace to you, do not fear. Your God, and the God of your father, has given you treasure in your sacks. I had your silver.” And he brought Simeon out to them.
24. Then the man brought the men into Joseph’s house and gave them water, and they washed their feet. And he gave fodder to their donkeys.
25. And they made ready the presents for the coming of Joseph at noon, for they heard that they should eat bread there.
26. And when Joseph came home, they brought him the presents in their hands into the house, and bowed themselves to him to the earth.
27. And he asked them as to their welfare, and said, “Is your father well, the old man of whom you spoke? Is he still alive?”
28. And they answered, “Your servant, our father, is in good health. He is still alive.” And they bowed down their heads and fell before him.
29. And he lifted up his eyes and saw his brother Benjamin, his mother’s son, and said, “Is this your younger brother of whom you spoke to me?” And he said, “God bless you, my son.”
30. And Joseph made haste, for his heart yearned for his brother. And he sought a place to weep. And he entered into his room and wept there.
31. And he washed his face and went out, and controlled himself, and said, “Serve the food.”
32. And they served him by himself, and them by themselves, and the Egyptians who ate with him by themselves because the Egyptians may not eat bread with the Hebrews, for that is an abomination to the Egyptians.
33. And they sat before him, the firstborn according to his birthright, and the youngest according to his youth. And the men marveled at one another.
34. And one took portions to them from before him. But Benjamin’s portion was five times as much as any of theirs. And they drank, and were merry with him.

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR
1. And he commanded the steward of his house, saying, “Fill the men’s sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put each one’s silver in his sack’s mouth.
2. And put my cup, the silver cup, in the mouth of the sack of the youngest, with his silver for the grain.” And he did according to the word that Joseph had spoken.
3. As soon as the morning was light, the men were sent away, they and their donkeys.
4. They had gone out of the city, not having gone far. And Joseph said to his steward, “Rise up, follow after the men and overtake them, and say to them, ‘Why have you rewarded evil for good?’
5. Is this not that from which my lord drinks, and by which indeed he divines? You have done evil in so doing.’ ”
6. And he overtook them, and he spoke to them these words.
7. And they said to him, “Why does your lord say these words? Far be it that your servants should do according to this thing.
8. Behold, the silver which we found in our sack’s mouth, we brought it in to you out of the land of Canaan. How then should we steal out of your lord’s house silver or gold?

9. With whomever of your servants it may be found, both let him die, and we all will be my lord’s slaves.”

10. And he said, “Now also let it be according to your word. He with whom it is found shall be my servant, and you shall be blameless.”

11. Then they speedily took down every man his sack to the ground, and each one opened his sack.

12. And he searched first at the oldest and with the youngest last. And the cup was found in Benjamin’s sack.

13. Then they tore their clothes, and each one loaded his donkey and returned to the city.

14. And Judah and his brothers came to Joseph’s house, for he was still there. And they fell before him to the earth.

15. And Joseph said to them, “What deed is this that you have done? Do you not know that one like me can certainly divine?”

16. And Judah said, “What shall we say to my lord? What shall we speak? Or how shall we clear ourselves? God has found out the iniquity of your slaves. Behold, we are my lord’s servants, both we and he also with whom the cup is found.”

17. And he said, “Be it far from me that I should do so. The man in whose hand the cup is found, he shall be my slave. And as for you, you go in peace to your father.”

18. And Judah came near him and said, “O my lord, pray let your servant speak a word in my lord’s ears, and do not let your anger burn against your servant, for you are even as Pharaoh.”

19. My lord asked his servants, saying, ‘Do you have a father or a brother?’

20. And we said to my lord, ‘We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one. And his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loves him.’

21. And you said to your servants, ‘Bring him down to me, and let me see him.’

22. And we said to my lord, ‘The boy cannot leave his father, for if he should leave his father, he would die.’

23. And you said to your servants, ‘Unless your youngest brother comes down with you, you shall see my face no more.’

24. And it came to pass when we came up to your servant, my father, we told him the words of my lord.

25. And our father said, ‘Go again. Buy us a little food.’

26. And we said, ‘We cannot go down. If our youngest brother is with us, we will go down, for we may not see the man’s face unless our youngest brother is with us.’

27. And your servant my father said to us, ‘You know that my wife bore me two sons.

28. And the one went out from me, and I said, “Surely he is torn in pieces.” And I have never seen him since.

29. And if you take this one also from me, and mischief befell him, you shall bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.’

30. And now when I come to your servant my father, and the boy is not with us, since his life is bound up in the lad’s life,

31. It shall be, when he sees that the boy is not with us, he will die. And your servants shall bring down the gray hairs of your servant our father with sorrow to the grave,

32. For your servant became surety for the boy to my father, saying, ‘If I do not bring him to you, then I shall bear the blame to my father forever.’

33. And now, please let your servant remain instead of the boy as a slave to my lord. And let the boy go up with his brothers,

34. For how shall I go up to my father, and the boy is not with me lest perhaps I see the evil that will befall my father?’

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

1. Then Joseph could not control himself before all those who stood by him. And he cried out, “Cause every man to go out from me!” And no man stood before him while Joseph made himself known to his brothers.

2. And he wept aloud. And the Egyptians and the house of Pharaoh heard of it.

3. And Joseph said to his brothers, “I am Joseph. Is my father still alive?” And his brothers could not answer him, for they
16. And the report brothers talked with him. wept upon them. And afterwards his 15. And he kissed all his brothers and wept upon his neck. Benjamin's neck and wept. And Benjamin saw. And you shall hurry and bring glory in Egypt, and of all that you have 13. And you shall tell my father of all my eyes of my brother Benjamin is 12. And behold, your eyes see, and the there are still five years of famine, lest 11. And I will nourish you there, for there are still five years of famine, lest you and your household, and all that you have. 10. And you shall dwell in the land of Goshen, and you shall be near to me, you and your sons and your sons' sons, and your flocks, and your herds, and all that you have. 11. And I will nourish you there, for there are still five years of famine, lest you and your household, and all that you have, come to poverty." 12. And behold, your eyes see, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin see, that it is my mouth that speaks to you. 13. And you shall tell my father of all my glory in Egypt, and of all that you have seen. And you shall hurry and bring down my father here.” 14. And he fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck and wept. And Benjamin wept upon his neck. 15. And he kissed all his brothers and wept upon them. And afterwards his brothers talked with him. 16. And the report of it was heard in Pharaoh’s house, saying, “Joseph’s brothers have come.” And it was good in the eyes of Pharaoh and of his servants. 17. And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Say to your brothers, ‘Do this: load your beasts and go into the land of Canaan, 18. And bring your father and your households and come to me. And I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and you shall eat the fat of the land.

Genesis 45 - 46

19. Now you are commanded; do this. Take wagons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones and for your wives, and bring your father, and come. 20. And do not regard your goods, for the best of all the land of Egypt is yours.’” 21. And the sons of Israel did so. And Joseph gave them wagons according to the command of Pharaoh, and gave them provision for the way. 22. To all of them he gave each man changes of clothing, but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver, and five changes of clothing. 23. And to his father he sent this: ten donkeys loaded with the good things of Egypt, and ten female donkeys loaded with grain and bread and food for his father for the journey. 24. And he sent his brothers away, and they departed. And he said to them, “Do not quarrel along the way.” 25. And they went up out of Egypt, and came to the land of Canaan, to Jacob their father. 26. And they told him, saying, “Joseph is still alive, and he is governor over all the land of Egypt.” And Jacob’s heart fainted, for he did not believe them. 27. And they told him all the words of Joseph, which he had said to them. And when he saw the wagons which Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of Jacob their father revived. 28. And Israel said, “It is enough. Joseph my son is still alive. I will go and see him before I die.”

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

1. And Israel took his journey with all that he had, and came to Beersheba, and offered sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. 2. And God spoke to Israel in the visions of the night, and said, “Jacob, Jacob!” And he said, “Here I am.” 3. And He said, “I am God, the God of your fathers. Do not fear to go down into Egypt, for I will make of you a great nation. 4. I will go down with you into Egypt, and I will also surely bring you up again. And Joseph himself shall put his hand to close your eyes.” 5. And Jacob rose up from Beersheba. And the sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the wagons which Pharaoh had sent to carry him.
6. And they took their livestock, and their goods which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob and all his offspring with him.
7. His sons, and his sons' sons with him, his daughters, and his sons' daughters, and all his offspring, he brought with him into Egypt.
8. And these were the names of the sons of Israel who came into Egypt, Jacob and his sons: Reuben, Jacob's firstborn.
9. And the sons of Reuben: Hanoch, and Phallu, and Hezron, and Carmi.
10. And the sons of Simeon: Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a woman of Canaan.
11. And the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
13. And the sons of Issachar: Tola, and Phuvah, and Job, and Shimron.
14. And the sons of Zebulun: Sered and Elon and Jahleel.
15. These were the sons of Leah, whom she bore to Jacob in Padan Aram, with his daughter Dinah. All the souls of his sons and his daughters were thirty-three.
16. And the sons of Gad were Ziphion, and Haggi, Shuni, and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli.
17. And the sons of Asher: Jimnah, and Ishuah, and Ishvi, and Beriah, and their sister Serah. And the sons of Beriah: Heber and Malchiel.
18. These are the sons of Zilpah whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter, and these whom she bore to Jacob, sixteen souls.
19. The sons of Rachel, Jacob's wife, were Joseph and Benjamin.
20. And to Joseph in the land of Egypt were born Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potipherah the priest of On, bore him.
21. And the sons of Benjamin: Belah and Becher, and Ashbel, Gera, and Naaman, Ehi, and Rosh, Muppim, and Huppim, and Ard.
22. These are the sons of Rachel who were born to Jacob. All the souls were fourteen.
23. And the son of Dan: Hushim.
24. And the sons of Naphthali: Jahzeel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shillem.
25. These were the sons of Bilhah whom Laban gave to Rachel his daughter, and she bore these to Jacob. All the souls were seven.
26. All the souls that came with Jacob into Egypt, who came out of his loins, besides Jacob's sons' wives, all the souls were sixty-six.
27. And the sons of Joseph, who were born to him in Egypt, were two souls. All the souls of the house of Jacob, who came into Egypt, were seventy.
28. And he sent Judah before him to Joseph to get directions to Goshen. And they came into the land of Goshen.
29. And Joseph made his chariot ready, and went up to Goshen to meet Israel his father, and presented himself to him. And he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while.
30. And Israel said to Joseph, "Now let me die, since I have seen your face because you are still alive."
31. And Joseph said to his brothers and to his father's house, "I will go up and show Pharaoh, and say to him, 'My brothers and my father's house, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me.
32. And the men are shepherds, for they have been keepers of livestock. And they have brought their flocks and their herds all that they have.'
33. And it shall be when Pharaoh shall call you and shall say, 'What is your occupation?'
34. Then you shall answer, 'Your servants have been keepers of livestock from our youth even until now, both we and our fathers,' —so that you may live in the land of Goshen, for every shepherd is an abomination to the Egyptians.'

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

1. Then Joseph came and told Pharaoh, and said, "My father and my brothers and their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have, have come out of the land of Canaan.
2. And behold, they are in the land of Goshen." And he took some of his brought his brothers, five men, and presented them to Pharaoh.
3. And Pharaoh said to his brothers, “What is your occupation?” And they said to Pharaoh, “Your servants are shepherds, both we and our fathers.”
4. And they said to Pharaoh, “For we have come to live in the land, for your servants have no pasture left for their flocks, for the famine is severe in the land of Canaan. And now please let your servants dwell in the land of Goshen.”
5. And Pharaoh spoke to Joseph, saying, “Your father and your brothers have come to you.
6. The land of Egypt is before you. Make your father and brothers to live in the best of the land; in the land of Goshen let them live. And if you know men of ability among them, then make them overseers of livestock, over what is mine.”
7. And Joseph brought in Jacob his father and set him before Pharaoh. And Jacob blessed Pharaoh.
8. And Pharaoh said to Jacob, “How many are the years of your life?”
9. And Jacob said to Pharaoh, “The years of my pilgrimage are a hundred and thirty years. Few and evil have been the years of my life, and I have not attained to the number of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimage.”
10. And Jacob blessed Pharaoh, and went out from before Pharaoh.
11. And Joseph settled his father and his brothers, and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses, as Pharaoh commanded.
12. And Joseph nourished his father and his brothers, and all his father’s household with bread, according to the number of their children.
13. And no bread was in all the land, for the famine was very severe, so that the land of Egypt and all the land of Canaan wasted because of the famine.
14. And Joseph gathered up all the silver found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, in payment for the grain which they bought. And Joseph brought the silver into Pharaoh’s house.
15. And when the silver was all spent in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and said, “Give us bread, for why should we die in your presence, for the silver is gone?”
16. And Joseph said, “Give your livestock, and I will give you bread for your livestock, if the silver is gone.”
17. And they brought their livestock to Joseph. And Joseph gave them bread for the horses, and for the flocks, and for the cattle of the herds, and for the donkeys. And he fed them with bread for all their livestock for that year.
18. When that year was ended, they came to him the second year and said, “We will not hide it from my lord, that our silver is spent, also our herds of livestock have gone to my lord. Nothing is left in the sight of my lord, but our bodies and our lands.
19. Why should we die before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be servants for Pharaoh. And give us seed to plant, that we may live and not die, that the land be not desolate.”
20. So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh, for the Egyptians sold every man his field because the famine prevailed over them and the land became Pharaoh’s.
21. And as for the people, he caused them to go into the cities, from one end of the borders of Egypt even to the other end of it.
22. Only he did not buy the land of the priests, for the priests had a portion from Pharaoh, and ate their portion which Pharaoh gave them. Therefore they did not sell their land.
23. And Joseph said to the people, “Behold, I have bought you this day, and your land, for Pharaoh. Lo, here is seed for you, and you shall sow the land.
24. And it shall be, as you gather you shall give the fifth part to Pharaoh, and four parts shall be your own, for seed of the field, and for your food, and for those of your household, and for food for your little ones.”
25. And they said, “You have saved our lives. Let us find grace in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh’s servants.”
26. And Joseph made it a law of the land of Egypt to this day, that Pharaoh should have the fifth part, excepting only the land of the priests, which did not become Pharaoh's.
27. So the children of Israel lived in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen, and they had possession in it and grew, and multiplied exceedingly.
28. And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years. And the days of Jacob, the years of his life, were a hundred forty-seven years.
29. And the time drew near for Israel to die. And he called his son Joseph, and said to him, “If now I have found grace in your sight, please put your hand under my thigh and deal kindly and truly with me. Please do not bury me in Egypt.
30. So that I may sleep with my fathers, you shall carry me out of Egypt and bury me in their burial site.” And he said, “I will do according to your words.”
31. And he said, “Swear to me.” And he swore to him. And Israel bowed himself at the head of the bed.

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

1. And it came to pass after these things, that one told Joseph, “Behold, your father is sick.” And he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim.
2. And one spoke to Jacob, and said, “Behold, your son Joseph comes to you.” And Israel strengthened himself and sat upon the bed.
3. And Jacob said to Joseph, “God Almighty appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan and blessed me.
4. And He said to me, ‘Behold, I will make you fruitful and multiply you. And I will make of you a multitude of people, and will give this land to your seed after you for an everlasting possession.’
5. And now your two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, who are born to you in the land of Egypt before I came to you in Egypt, are mine. Like Reuben and Simeon, they shall be mine.
6. And your offspring which you beget after them shall be yours, and shall be called after the name of their brothers in their inheritance.
7. And as for me, when I came from Padan, Rachel died beside me in the land of Canaan in the way, when there was still but a little way to come to Ephrath. And I buried her there in the way of Ephrath, that is Bethlehem.”
8. And Israel beheld Joseph’s sons, and said, “Who are these?”
9. And Joseph said to his father, “They are my sons, whom God has given me in this place.” And he said, “Please bring them to me, and I will bless them.”
10. And the eyes of Israel were dim for age; he could not see. And he brought them near him, and he kissed them and embraced them.
11. And Israel said to Joseph, “I had not thought I would see your face, and lo, God showed me also your offspring.”
12. And Joseph brought them out from between his father’s knees, and he bowed his face to the earth.
13. And Joseph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand toward Israel’s left, and Manasseh in his left toward Israel’s right hand. And he brought them near to him.
14. And Israel stretched out his right hand and laid it upon Ephraim’s head, who was the younger, and his left upon Manasseh’s head, crossing his hands, for Manasseh was the firstborn.
15. And he blessed Joseph and said, “May God, before Whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, the God Who fed me all my life to this day,
16. The Angel Who has redeemed me from all evil, bless the lads. And let my name be perpetuated in them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac, and let them grow into a multitude in the midst of the earth.”
17. And Joseph saw that his father laid his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, and it displeased him. And he held up his father’s hand to remove it from Ephraim’s head.
18. And Joseph said to his father, “Not so, my father, for this is the firstborn. Put your right hand upon his head.”
19. And his father refused and said, “I know it, my son, I know it. He also shall become a people, and he also shall be great, but truly his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall become a multitude of nations.”
20. And he blessed them that day, saying, “In you shall Israel bless, saying, ‘God make you as Ephraim and as Manasseh.’” And he put Ephraim before Manasseh.
21. And Israel said to Joseph, “Behold, I die. But God shall be with you, and bring you again into the land of your fathers.
22. And I have given to you one portion above your brothers, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my sword and with my bow.”

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

1. And Jacob called to his sons and said, “Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you what shall happen to you in the last days.

2. Gather yourselves together and hear, sons of Jacob, and hearken to Israel your father.

3. Reuben, you are my firstborn, my might, and the beginning of my strength, the excellency of dignity and the excellency of power.

4. Unstable as water, you shall not excel because you went up to your father’s bed; then you defiled it. He went up to my couch.

5. Simeon and Levi are brothers; tools of violence are their weapons.

6. Oh my soul, do not come into their assembly, for in their anger they were fierce; and their wrath, for it was cruel. I will divide them in Jacob, and scatter them in Israel.

7. Let their anger be cursed, for it was fierce; and their wrath, for it was cruel. I will divide them in Jacob, and scatter them in Israel.

8. Judah, may your brothers praise you. May your hand be on the neck of your enemies. May your father’s sons bow before you.

9. Judah is a lion’s whelp. My son, you have gone up from the prey. He stooped, he crouched like a lion; and like a lioness, who shall rouse him?

10. The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come. And to Him shall be the obedience of the people.

11. Binding His foal to the vine, and His donkey’s colt to the choice vine, He washed His garments in wine, and His clothes in the blood of grapes.

12. His eyes are more sparkling than wine, and His teeth are whiter than milk.

13. Zebulun shall live at the seashore. And he shall be a haven for ships, and his border beside Sidon.

14. Issachar is a strong donkey crouching down between the sheepfolds.

15. And he saw that rest was good and that the land was pleasant. And he bowed his shoulder to bear a burden, and became a tribute-servant.

16. Dan shall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Israel.

17. Dan shall be a serpent by the way, an adder in the path, that bites the horse’s heels, so that its rider shall fall backward.

18. I have waited for Your salvation, O LORD.

19. Gad, raiders shall attack him, but he shall overcome at the last.

20. Out of Asher his bread shall be rich, and he shall yield royal dainties.

21. Naphtali is a deer let loose. He gives goodly words.

22. Joseph is a fruitful bough, a fruitful bough by a well, whose branches run over the wall.

23. The archers have fiercely attacked him and have shot at him, and hated him.

24. But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob—from there is the Shepherd, the Stone of Israel—

25. By the God of your father, Who shall help you. And may the Almighty bless you with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that lies beneath, blessings of the breasts and of the womb.

26. The blessings of your father are greater than the blessings of my ancestors, to the utmost bound of the everlasting hills. They shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him, the ruler, the leader who was separated from his brothers.

27. Benjamin is a wolf that tears in pieces. In the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil.”

28. All these were the twelve tribes of Israel. And this is what their father spoke to them, and blessed them; everyone according to his blessing, he blessed them.

29. And he charged them and said to them, “I am to be gathered to my people. Bury me with my fathers in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite.

30. In the cave that is in the field of Machpelah, which is before Mamre, in the land of Canaan, the field which Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite for a burial site.

31. They buried Abraham and his wife Sarah there, and they buried Isaac and his wife Rebekah. And I buried Leah there—
32. The field was purchased, and the cave in it, from the sons of Heth.”
33. When Jacob finished commanding his sons, he drew his feet up into the bed. And he expired, and was gathered to his people.

CHAPTER FIFTY

1. And Joseph fell upon his father’s face, and wept upon him, and kissed him.
2. And Joseph commanded his servants, the physicians, to embalm his father. And the physicians embalmed Israel.
3. And forty days were fulfilled for him, for so are fulfilled the days of those who are embalmed. And the Egyptians mourned for him seventy days.
4. And when the days of his mourning were past, Joseph spoke to the house of Pharaoh, saying, “Now therefore, I have found grace in your eyes. I pray you speak in the ears of Pharaoh saying,”
5. ‘Lo, I die. You shall bury me in my grave which I have prepared for me in the land of Canaan.”
6. And Pharaoh said, “Go up and bury your father, according as he made you swear.”
7. And Joseph went up to bury his father. And all the servants of Pharaoh went up with him, the elders of his house, and all the elders of the land of Egypt,
8. And all the house of Joseph, his brothers, and his father’s house. They left only their little ones and their flocks and their herds in the land of Goshen.
9. And both chariots and horsemen went up with him. And it was a very great company.
10. And they came to the threshing floor of Atad, beyond Jordan, and there they mourned with a great and very sore lamentation. And he made a mourning for his father seven days.
11. And when the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, saw the mourning at the grain floor of Atad, and they said, “This is a grievous mourning to the Egyptians.” Therefore they called its name Meadow of Egypt, which is beyond Jordan.
CHAPTER ONE

1. And these were the names of the sons of Israel who came into Egypt. Every man and his household came with Jacob:
   2. Reuben, Simeon, Levi and Judah;
   3. Issachar, Zebulun and Benjamin;
   4. Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher.
   5. And all the souls that came out of the loins of Jacob were seventy souls, for Joseph was already in Egypt.
   6. And Joseph died, and all his brothers and all that generation.
   7. And the children of Israel were fruitful, and increased very much and multiplied, and became exceedingly mighty. And the land was filled with them.
   8. And there arose a new king over Egypt who did not know Joseph.
   9. And he said to his people, "Behold, the people of the children of Israel are many and mightier than we.
   10. Come, let us deal shrewdly with them, lest they multiply, and it will be when there comes a war, they join also to our enemies and fight against us, and get them out of the land."
   11. And they set taskmasters over them to afflict them with their burdens. And they built treasure cities for Pharaoh, Pithon and Raamses.
   12. But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew. And they were grieved because of the children of Israel.
   13. And the Egyptians made the children of Israel serve with harshness.
   14. And they made their lives bitter with hard work in mortar and in bricks, and in all kinds of work in the field. All their work in which they made them do was with harshness.
   15. And the king of Egypt spoke to the Hebrew midwives, of which the name of the one was Shiphrah, and the name of the other Puah.
   16. And he said, "When you midwife the Hebrew women, and look on the birth stools, if it is a son, then you shall kill him. But if it is a daughter, then she shall live."
   17. But the midwives feared God, and did not do as the king of Egypt commanded them, but saved alive the male children.
   18. And the king of Egypt called for the midwives and said to them, "Why have you done this thing, and have saved the male children alive?"
   19. And the midwives said to Pharaoh, "Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and are delivered before the midwives come to them."
   20. And God dealt well with the midwives. And the people multiplied and became very mighty.
   21. And it came to pass because the midwives feared God, that He made them houses.
   22. And Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, "Every son that is born you shall cast into the river, and every daughter you shall save alive."

CHAPTER TWO

1. And a man went from the house of Levi and took a daughter of Levi as his wife.
   2. And the woman conceived and bore a son. And when she saw him, that he was beautiful, she hid him three months.
   3. But when she could no longer hide him, she took an ark of papyrus for him, and daubed it with bitumen and with pitch, and put the child in it. And she laid it in the reeds by the river's edge.
   4. And his sister stood afar off to know what would happen to him.
   5. And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe at the river. And her maidens walked along by the riverside. And when she saw the ark among the reeds, she sent her slavegirl to bring it to her.
   6. And she opened it, and she saw the child. And behold, a boy wept. And she said, "This is one of the Hebrews' sons."
   7. And his sister said to Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I go and call a woman, a nurse of the Hebrew women for you, that she may nurse the child for you?"
   8. And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, "Go," And the girl went and called the child's mother.
   9. And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, "Take this child away and nurse it for me" and I will give you your wages." And the woman took the child and nursed it.
10. And the child grew, and she brought him to Pharaoh’s daughter, and he became her son. And she called his name Moses. And she said, “Because I took him out of the water.”
11. And it came to pass in those days, when Moses was grown, he went out to his brethren and looked upon their burdens. And he saw an Egyptian striking a Hebrew, one of his brethren.
12. And he looked this way and that way, and when he did not see anyone, he killed the Egyptian and hid him in the sand.
13. And when he went out the second day, behold, two men of the Hebrews strove together. And he said to the neighbor, “Why do you strike your neighbor?”
14. And he said, “Who made you a ruler and a judge over us? Do you intend to kill me as you killed the Egyptian?” And Moses feared, and said, “Surely this thing is known.”
15. And when Pharaoh heard this thing, he sought to kill Moses. But Moses had fled from the face of Pharaoh, and lived in the land of Midian. And he sat down by a well.
16. And the priest of Midian had seven daughters. And they came and drew, and filled the troughs to water their father’s flock.
17. And the shepherds came and drove them away, but Moses stood up and helped them, and watered their flock.
18. And when they came to Reuel his father, he said, “Why have you hurried to come today?”
19. And they said, “An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the shepherds, and also drew for us and watered the flock.”
20. And he said to his daughters, “And where is he? Why then have you left the man? Call him, that he may eat bread.”
21. And Moses was content to live with the man, and he gave Moses his daughter Zipporah.
22. And she bore a son, and he called his name Gershom, for he said, “I have been a stranger in a strange land.”
23. And it came to pass after many days the king of Egypt died. And the children of Israel sighed because of the bondage, and they cried, and their cry came up to God because of the bondage.
24. And God heard their groaning, and God remembered His covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob.
25. And God looked upon the children of Israel, and God acknowledged them.

CHAPTER THREE

1. Now Moses kept the flock of his father -in-law Jethro, the priest of Midian. And he led the flock to the west side of the desert. And he came to the mountain of God, to Horeb.
2. And the Angel of the L ORD appeared to him in a flame of fire, out of the midst of a bush; and he looked, and behold, the bush burned with fire! And the bush was not consumed.
3. And Moses said, “I will now turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush does not burn up.”
4. And the L ORD saw that he had turned aside to see, God called to him out of the midst of the bush, and said, “Moses! Moses!” And he said, “Here I am.”
5. And He said, “Do not come near here. Put off your sandals from your feet, for the place on which you stand is holy ground.”
6. And He said, “I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.” And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look upon God.
7. And the L ORD said, “I have surely seen the affliction of My people who are in Egypt. I have heard their cry because of their taskmasters, for I know their sorrows.
8. And I am coming down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, to bring them up out of that land, to a good land, a large land, to a land flowing with milk and honey, to the place of the Canaanites and the Hittites and the Amorites and the Perizzites and the Hivites and the Jebusites.
9. And now, behold, the cry of the children of Israel has come to Me. And I have also seen the oppression which the Egyptians oppress them.
10. And now go, and I will send you to Pharaoh that you may bring forth My people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt.”
11. And Moses said to God, “Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh, and that I should bring forth the children of Israel out of Egypt?”

12. And He said, “I will be with you. And this shall be the sign to you that I have sent you: When you have brought forth the people out of Egypt, you shall serve God upon this mountain.”

13. And Moses said to God, “Behold, when I come to the children of Israel, and shall say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you,’ and they shall say to me, ‘What is His name?’ What shall I say to them?”

14. And God said to Moses, “I AM THAT I AM.” And He said, “Thus you shall say to them, ‘The LORD has not appeared to you.’”

15. And God said to Moses, “You shall say to the children of Israel, ‘I AM has sent me to you.’”

16. And Moses said to God, “Who has sent you? When you have brought the children of Israel out of Egypt?”

17. And Moses said to God, “Behold, I go to the children of Israel, and they shall not hear me, neither shall they believe me, saying, ‘What is the LORD?’”

18. And God said to Moses, “And I will be with your mouth. And he shall say to you, ‘What is the LORD?’ Then you shall say, ‘The LORD is he that brought up the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt.’”

19. And God said to Moses, “I am sure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, neither shall he hear your voice. For there are harder hearts than this king’s heart.”

20. And God said to Moses, “And now go, and tell the children of Israel all these words.

21. And Moses said, “You shall say to the children of Israel, ‘The LORD God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, has sent me to you. This is My name forever, and this is My title from generation to generation.’”

22. And every woman shall ask of her neighbor, and of her that stays in her house, jewels of silver and jewels of gold and clothing. And you shall put them upon your sons and upon your daughters. And you shall retrieve these from the Egyptians.”

CHAPTER FOUR

1. And Moses answered and said, “But behold, they will not believe me nor hearken to my voice, for they will say, ‘The LORD has not appeared to you.’”

2. And the LORD said to him, “What is this in your hand?” And he said, “A staff.”

3. And He said, “Throw it upon the ground.” And he threw it upon the ground. And it became a serpent. And Moses ran from it.

4. And the LORD said to Moses, “Put forth your hand and take it by the tail.” And he put forth his hand and caught it, and it became a staff in his hand.

5. And the LORD said to Moses, “Put your hand into your bosom.” And he put his hand into his bosom. And when he took it out, behold, his hand was as leprous as snow.

6. And He said, “Put your hand into your bosom again.” And he put his hand into his bosom again. And when he took it out, behold, his hand was as leprous as snow.

7. And He said, “Put your hand into your bosom again.” And he put his hand into his bosom again. And he brought it out of his bosom, and behold, it was returned again like his other flesh.

8. And it will be, if they will not believe you, neither hearken to the voice of the first sign, then they will believe the voice of the latter sign.

9. And also it will be, if they will not believe these two signs, neither hearken to your voice, then you shall take from the water of the river and pour it upon the dry land. And the water which you take out of the river shall become blood upon the dry land.”

10. And Moses said to the LORD, “O my LORD, I am not a man of words now, nor since You have spoken to Your servant, but I am slow of speech and of a slow tongue.”

11. And the LORD said to him, “Who has made man’s mouth? Or who makes the dumb, or deaf, or the seeing, or the blind? Have not I, the LORD?
12. And now go, and I will be with your mouth and teach you what you shall say.”
13. And he said, “O my LORD, I pray You, send by the hand of him whomever else You will send.”
14. And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Moses. And He said, “Do I not know Aaron the Levite, your brother, that he can speak well? And also, behold, he comes forth to meet you. And when he sees you, he will be glad in his heart.
15. And you shall speak to him, and you shall put words in his mouth. And I will be with your mouth and with his mouth, and will teach you what you shall do.
16. And he shall be your spokesman to the people, and he shall be for a mouth to you. And you shall be to him instead of God.
17. And you shall take this rod in your hand with which you shall do signs.”
18. And Moses went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law, and said to him, “Please let me go and return to my brethren who are in Egypt and see if they are still alive.” And Jethro said to Moses, “Go in peace.”
19. And the LORD said to Moses in Midian, “Go! Return to Egypt, for all the men who sought your life are dead.”
20. And Moses took his wife and his sons, and set them upon a donkey, and he returned to the land of Egypt. And Moses took the rod of God in his hand.
21. And the LORD said to Moses, “When you go back into Egypt, see that you do all those wonders which I have put in your hand before Pharaoh; but I will harden his heart, that he shall not let the people go.
22. And you shall say to Pharaoh, “Thus says the Lord, “Israel is My son, My firstborn.
23. And I say to you, let My son go that he may serve Me. And if you refuse to let him go, behold, I am going to kill your son, your firstborn.””
24. And it came to pass by the way, in the inn, that the LORD met him and sought to kill him.
25. And Zipporah took a sharp stone, and cut off the foreskin of her son, and threw it at his feet, and said, “Surely a bloody husband you are to me.”
26. So He let him go. Then she said, “You are a bloody husband,” because of the circumcision.
27. And the LORD said to Aaron, “Go into the wilderness to meet Moses.” And he went and met him in the mount of God, and kissed him.
28. And Moses told Aaron all the words of the LORD Who had sent him, and all the signs which He had commanded him.
29. And Moses and Aaron went and gathered together all the elders of the children of Israel.
30. And Aaron spoke all the words which the LORD had spoken to Moses, and did the signs in the sight of the people.
31. And the people believed. And when they heard that the LORD had visited the children of Israel, and that He had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed and worshiped.

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And afterward Moses and Aaron went in and told Pharaoh, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘Let My people go that they may hold a feast to Me in the wilderness.’”
2. And Pharaoh said, “Who is the LORD, that I should obey His voice to let Israel go? I do not know the LORD, neither will I let Israel go.”
3. And they said, “The God of the Hebrews has met with us. Let us go, we pray you, three days’ journey into the desert and sacrifice to the LORD our God, lest He fall upon us with plague or with the sword.”
4. And the king of Egypt said to them, “Moses and Aaron, why do you keep the people from their work? Get to your burdens!”
5. And Pharaoh said, “Behold, the people of the land now are many, and you make them rest from their burdens.”
6. And Pharaoh commanded the taskmasters of the people and their officers the same day, saying, “You shall no more give the people straw to make brick, as before. Let them go and gather straw for themselves.”
8. And you shall lay upon them the same number of bricks which they have made before. You shall not reduce it, for they are idle; therefore they cry, saying, ‘Let us go sacrifice to our God.’”
9. Let more work be laid upon the men, and let them labor in it. And do not let them regard vain words."

10. And the taskmasters of the people and their officers went out. And they spoke to the people, saying, "Thus says Pharaoh, 'I will not give you straw.

11. Go and get straw where you can find it, yet not any of your work shall be reduced.'"

12. So the people were scattered through all the land of Egypt, to gather stubble for straw.

13. And the taskmasters hurried them, saying, "Finish your works, your daily tasks, just as when there was straw."

14. And also the overseers of the children of Israel, whom Pharaoh's taskmasters had set over them, were beaten. And they demanded, "Why have you not completed your task in making brick, both yesterday and today, as you did before?"

15. And the overseers of the children of Israel came and cried to Pharaoh, saying, "Why do you deal so with your servants? There is no straw given to your servants, and they say to us, 'Make bricks!' And behold, your servants are beaten, but the fault is in your own people."

16. And the overseers of the children of Israel stood in the way, as they came forth from Pharaoh.

17. And they met Moses and Aaron standing in the way, as they came forth from Pharaoh.

18. And they said to them, "The LORD look upon you and judge because you have made us offensive in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his servants, to put a sword in their hands to kill us."

19. And Moses returned to the LORD, and said, "LORD, why have You treated this people ill? Why then have you sent me?"

20. And Moses said to the LORD, "What shall I say to this people? Or what shall I say in their hearing, that I have not sinned when I speak to Pharaoh?"

21. And the LORD said to Moses, "Go in, speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, saying, 'This is what the LORD says: "Let My people go, that they may make a sacrifice to Me in the land."

22. And if you refuse to let them go, behold, I will smite your land with a plague of swarms of flies, and it will eat up all your grain and your bread which you have prepared in the storehouses of your houses."

23. And the LORD said to Moses, "When you go to Pharaoh, say to him, 'This is what the LORD says: "Let My people go, that they may make a sacrifice to Me in the wilderness."

24. And there shall come no man near him; for I will smite him with a plague if he does not let them go at My command."

25. And the LORD said to Moses, "Say to Aaron, 'Take your rod, and extend your hand over the rivers, lakes, and streams, and make the waters blood.' "

26. And he said to Moses, "The LORD's word is with me." And Aaron took Aaron's rod, and he extended his hand over all the waters of Egypt, upon the rivers, lakes, and streams; and he made the waters blood.

27. And the fish died in the waters, and the waters turned to blood, and the land was ruined with blood.

28. And the water of the rivers, lakes, and streams was turned to blood, and the Egyptians could not drink water; and there was blood in all the land of Egypt.
14. These were the heads of their fathers’ houses: The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel: Hanoch and Pallu, Hezron and Carmi. These were the families of Reuben.

15. And the sons of Simeon: Jemuel and Jamin and Ohad and Jachin and Zohar and Shaul, the son of a Canaanitess. These were the families of Simeon.

16. And these were the names of the sons of Levi, according to their generations: Gershon and Kohath and Merari. And the years of the life of Levi were a hundred and thirty-seven years.

17. The sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei by their families.

18. And the sons of Kohath: Amram and Izhar and Hebron and Uzziel. And the years of the life of Kohath were a hundred and thirty-three years.

19. And the sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These were the families of Levi according to their generations.

20. And Amram took Jochebed, his father’s sister, for his wife. And she bore him Aaron and Moses. And the years of the life of Amram were a hundred and thirty-seven years.

21. And the sons of Izhar: Korah and Nepheg and Zichri.

22. And the sons of Uzziel: Mishael and Elzaphan and Zithri.

23. And Aaron took Elisheba, the daughter of Amminadab, sister of Nahshon, for his wife. And she bore him Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

24. And the sons of Korah were Assir and Elkanah and Abiasaph. These were the families of the Korahites.

25. And Aaron’s son Eleazar took his wife of the daughters of Putiel. And she bore him Phinehas. These were the heads of the fathers of the Levites according to their families.

26. It was Aaron and Moses to whom the LORD said, “Bring out the children of Israel from the land of Egypt according to their armies.”

27. These were the ones who spoke to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to bring out the children of Israel from Egypt. It was Moses and Aaron.

28. And it came to pass on the day the LORD spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, that the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, “I am the LORD. You speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, all that I say to you.”

30. And Moses said before the LORD, “Behold, I am of uncircumcised lips, and how shall Pharaoh hearken to me?”

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. And the LORD said to Moses, “See, I have made you a god to Pharaoh. And Aaron your brother shall be your prophet.

2. You shall speak all that I command you. And Aaron your brother shall speak to Pharaoh that he send the children of Israel out of his land.

3. And I will harden Pharaoh’s heart and multiply My signs and My wonders in the land of Egypt.

4. But Pharaoh shall not hearken to you, and I will lay My hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israel from among them.”

5. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD when I stretch forth My hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israel from among them.

6. And Moses and Aaron did as the LORD commanded them; so they did.

7. And Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron was eighty-three years old, when they spake to Pharaoh.

8. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying,

9. “When Pharaoh shall speak to you saying, ‘Give a miracle for yourselves,’ you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your rod, and throw it in front of Pharaoh. It shall become a snake.’ ”

10. And Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaoh. And they did so as the LORD had commanded. And Aaron threw down his rod in front of Pharaoh and in front of his servants, and it became a snake.

11. Then Pharaoh also called the wise men and the sorcerers. And they, the priests of Egypt, did the same with their secret arts.

12. For each man threw down his rod, and they became snakes, but Aaron’s rod swallowed up their rods.

13. And He hardened Pharaoh’s heart so that he did not hearken to them, as the LORD had said.

14. And the LORD said to Moses, “Pharaoh’s heart is hardened. He refuses to let the people go.”

15. You go to Pharaoh in the morning.
Lo, he goes out to the water. And you shall stand by the river's bank until he comes. And you shall take in your hand the rod which was turned to a snake.

16. And you shall say to him, 'The LORD God of the Hebrews has sent me to you, saying, “Let My people go so that they may serve Me in the wilderness.”' And, behold, until now you would not hear.

17. Thus says the LORD, “In this you shall know that I am the LORD. Behold, I will smite with the rod that is in My hand upon the waters in the river, and they shall be turned to blood.

18. And the fish in the river shall die, and the river shall stink. And the Egyptians shall hate to drink of the water of the river,”’

19. And the LORD spoke to Moses, “Say to Pharaoh, and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Let My people go so that they may serve Me.”’

20. And Moses and Aaron did so, as the LORD commanded. And he lifted up the rod and struck the waters that were in the river, in the sight of Pharaoh and in the sight of his servants. And all the waters in the river were turned to blood.

21. And the fish in the river died; and the river stank, and the Egyptians could not drink of the water of the river.

22. And the priests of Egypt did so with their secret arts. And Pharaoh’s heart was hardened, and he did not hearken to them, as the LORD had said.

23. And Pharaoh turned and went into his house; And he also did not take this to heart.

24. And all the Egyptians dug all around the river for water to drink, for they could not drink of the water of the river.

25. And seven days were completed after the LORD had stricken the river.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, “Go to Pharaoh, and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Let My people go so that they may serve Me.”'

2. And if you refuse to let them go, behold, I am going to strike all your country with frogs.

3. And the river shall bring forth frogs abundantly which shall go up and come into your house, and into your bedroom, and upon your bed, and into the house of your servants, and upon your people, and into your ovens, and into your kneading troughs.

4. And the frogs shall come upon you, and upon your people, and upon all your servants.

5. And the LORD spoke to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out your hand with your rod over the streams, over the rivers, and over the ponds, and cause frogs to come up on the land of Egypt.’”

6. And Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt.

7. And the priests did so with their secret arts, and brought up frogs upon the land of Egypt.

8. And Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron, and said, “Pray to the LORD that He may take away the frogs from me and from my people. And I will let the people go, so that they may sacrifice to the LORD.”

9. And Moses said to Pharaoh, “I give to you the honor—when shall I pray for you, and for your servants, and for your people, to destroy the frogs from you and your houses so that they may remain in the river only?”

10. And he said, “Tomorrow.” And he said, “It shall be according to your word so that you may know that there is none like the LORD our God.

11. And the frogs shall depart from you, and from your houses, and from your servants, and from your people. They shall remain in the river only.”

12. And Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh. And Moses cried to the LORD because of the frogs which He had brought against Pharaoh.

13. And the LORD did according to the word of Moses. And the frogs died out of the houses, out of the villages, and out of the fields.

14. And they gathered them in heaps and heaps. And the land stank.

15. But Pharaoh saw that there was relief, and he hardened his heart, and did not hearken to them, even as the LORD had said.
16. And the LORD said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out your rod, and strike the dust of the land, so that it may become lice throughout all the land of Egypt.’ ”

17. And they did so, for Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod and struck the dust of the earth and it became lice in man and in beast. All the dust of the land became lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

18. And the priests did so with their secret arts to bring forth lice, but they could not. So there were lice upon man and upon beast.

19. And the priests said to Pharaoh, “This is the finger of God.” And Pharaoh’s heart was hardened, and he did not hearken to them, as the LORD had said.

20. And the LORD said to Moses, “Rise up early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh. Lo, he comes forth to the water. And say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Let My people go, so that they may serve Me.” ’ ”

21. And if you will not let My people go, behold, I will send swarms of flies on you, and on your servants, and on your people, and into your house. And the houses of the Egyptians shall be full of swarms of flies, and also the ground on which they are.

22. And in that day I will cut off the land of Goshen, in which My people live, so that no swarms of flies shall be there, so that you may know that I am the LORD in the midst of the earth.

23. And I will put a dividing line between My people and your people. This sign shall be tomorrow.”

24. And the LORD did so. And teeming swarms of flies came into the house of Pharaoh, and into his servants’ houses, and into all the land of Egypt. The land was ruined because of the swarms.

25. And Pharaoh called for Moses and for Aaron, and said, “Go sacrifice to your God in the land.”

26. And Moses said, “It is not right to do so, for we shall sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians to the LORD our God. Lo, shall we sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and will they not stone us?

27. We will go three days’ journey into the wilderness, and sacrifice to the LORD our God, as He shall command us.”

28. And Pharaoh said, “I will let you go so that you may sacrifice to the LORD your God in the wilderness. Only you shall not go very far away. Pray for me.”

29. And Moses said, “Behold, I will go out from you, and I will pray to the LORD that the swarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people, tomorrow. But do not let Pharaoh deal deceitfully any more in not letting the people go to sacrifice to the LORD.”

30. And Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to the LORD.

31. And the LORD did according to the word of Moses. And He removed the swarms of flies from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people. There remained not one.

32. And Pharaoh hardened his heart at this time also, neither would he let the people go.

CHAPTER NINE

1. And the LORD said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh and tell him, ‘Thus says the LORD God of the Hebrews, “Let My people go so that they may serve Me,”’

2. For if you refuse to let them go, and will still hold them back,

3. Behold, the hand of the LORD is upon your livestock in the field, upon the horses, upon the donkeys, upon the camels, upon the oxen, and upon the sheep, a very grievous plague.

4. And the LORD shall separate between the livestock of Israel and the livestock of Egypt. And there shall nothing die of all that belongs to the children of Israel.”

5. And the LORD appointed a set time, saying, “Tomorrow the LORD shall do this thing in the land.”

6. And the LORD did that thing on the next day, and all the livestock in the field of Egypt died. But of the livestock of the children of Israel, not one died.

7. And Pharaoh sent, and, behold, there was not one of the livestock of the Israelites dead. And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people go.

8. And the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, “Take to yourselves handfuls of ashes of the furnace, and let Moses sprinkle it toward the sky in the sight of Pharaoh.
9. And it shall become small dust in all the land of Egypt, and it shall become a boil breaking forth with sores upon man and upon beast throughout all the land of Egypt.”

10. And they took ashes of the furnace and stood before Pharaoh. And Moses sprinkled it up toward the sky, and they became boils breaking forth with sores upon man and upon beast.

11. And the priests could not stand before Moses because of the boils, for the boils were upon the priests and upon all the Egyptians.

12. And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not hearken to them, even as the LORD had spoken to Moses.

13. And the LORD said to Moses, “Rise up early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh, and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD God of the Hebrews, “Let My people go, so that they may serve Me; that you may know that your servants, and upon your people, so that there is none like Me in all the earth; that you may know that there is none like I and my people are wicked.

14. For I am going to send at this time all My plagues upon your heart, and upon your servants, and upon your people, so that you may know that the earth is the LORD’S. Behold, tomorrow about this time I will cause it to rain a very grievous hail, such as has not been in Egypt since the foundation of it, even until now!

15. For now I will stretch out My hand, that I may strike you and your people with plagues, and you shall be cut off from the earth.

16. And for this very purpose I have raised you up, to show My power against you, and that My name may be declared throughout all the earth.

17. Do you still exalt yourself against My people that you will not let them go? Behold, tomorrow about this time I will cause it to rain a very grievous hail, such as has not been in Egypt since the foundation of it, even until now!

18. And now send out, and gather your livestock, and all that you have in the field, for upon every man and beast which shall be found in the field, and shall not be brought home, the hail shall come down upon them, and they shall die.’”’ ”

19. He that feared the word of the LORD among the servants of Pharaoh made his servants and his livestock to flee into the houses.

20. And he that did not regard the word of the LORD left his servants and his livestock in the field.

21. And the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch forth your hand toward heaven, so that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt, upon man, and upon beast, and upon every herb of the field, throughout the land of Egypt.”

22. And Moses stretched forth his rod toward heaven, and there was hail, and fire mingled with the hail, very grievous, such as there was none like it in all the land of Egypt since it became a nation.

23. And the hail struck throughout all the land of Egypt, that was in the field, both man and beast. And the hail struck every herb of the field, and broke every tree of the field.

24. Only in the land of Goshen, where the children of Israel were, was there no hail.

25. And Pharaoh sent and called for Moses and Aaron, and said to them, “I have sinned this time. The LORD is righteous, and I and my people are wicked.

26. Pray to the LORD, for it is enough. Let there be no more mighty thunderings and hail. And I will let you go, and you shall stay no longer.”

27. And Pharaoh sent and called for Moses and Aaron, and said to them, “I have sinned this time. The LORD is righteous, and I and my people are wicked.

28. But as for you and your servants, I know that you do not yet fear the LORD God.”

29. And Moses said to him, “As soon as I go out of the city, I will spread abroad my hands to the LORD. The thunder shall stop, and the hail will not be any more, so that you may know that the earth is the LORD’S.

30. But as for you and your servants, I know that you do not yet fear the LORD God.”

31. And the flax and the barley were stricken, for the barley was in the head, and the flax was in bud.

32. But the wheat and the rye were not stricken, for they had not grown up.

33. And Moses went out of the city from Pharaoh, and spread abroad his hands to the LORD. And the thunder and hail stopped, and the rain was not poured upon the earth.

34. And when Pharaoh saw that the rain and the hail and the thunders had ceased, he sinned still more and hardened his heart, he and his servants.

35. And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, neither would he let the children of Israel go, even as the LORD had spoken by Moses.
CHAPTER TEN

1. And the LORD said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his servants so that I might show these My signs before him,
2. And so that you may tell in the ears of your son, and of your son’s sons, what things I have wrought in Egypt, and My signs which I have done among them, so that you may know that I am the LORD.”
3. And Moses and Aaron came in to Pharaoh and said to him, “Thus says the LORD God of the Hebrews, ‘How long will you refuse to humble yourself before Me? Let My people go so that they may serve Me;
4. For if you refuse to let My people go, behold, tomorrow I will bring the locusts into your country,
5. And they shall cover the face of the ground so that one cannot be able to see the earth. And they shall eat the rest of that which has escaped, which remains to you from the hail, and shall eat every tree which grows for you out of the field.
6. And they shall fill your houses, and the houses of all your servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians, which neither your fathers, nor your fathers’ fathers have seen, since the day they were upon the earth until this day.’ ” And he turned himself and went out from Pharaoh.
7. And Pharaoh’s servants said to him, “How long shall this man be a snare to us? Let the men go so that they may serve the LORD their God. Do you not yet know that Egypt is destroyed?”
8. And Moses and Aaron were brought again to Pharaoh, and he said to them, “Go! Serve the LORD your God. Who are the ones that shall go?”
9. And Moses said, “We will go with our young and with our old, with our sons and with our daughters. We will go with our flocks and with our herds; for we must hold a feast to the LORD.”
10. And he said to them, “Let the LORD be with you, for if I ever let you go with your little ones, watch out, for you have some evil purpose in mind.
11. Not so! Go now you men and serve the LORD, for it is you who did desire it.” And they were driven out from Pharaoh’s presence.

12. And the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come up upon the land of Egypt and eat every herb of the land, all that the hail has left.”
13. And Moses stretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the LORD brought an east wind upon the land all that day and all the night. When it was morning, the east wind brought the locusts.
14. And the locusts went up over all the land of Egypt and rested in all the country of Egypt, very numerous and dense. Before them there were no such locusts as they, neither after them shall be such;
15. For they covered the face of the whole ground so that the land was darkened, and they ate every herb of the land and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left. And there did not remain any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field, through all the land of Egypt.
16. Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron in haste. And he said, “I have sinned against the LORD your God, and against you.
17. Now therefore, I beg you, forgive my sin only this once, and pray to the LORD your God that He may take away from me this death only.”
18. And he went out from Pharaoh, and prayed to the LORD.
19. And the LORD turned a mighty strong west wind, which took away the locusts and threw them into the Red Sea. There did not remain one locust in all the boundaries of Egypt.
20. But the LORD hardened Pharaoh’s heart, and he did not let the children of Israel go.
21. And the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward the heavens, that there may be darkness over the land of Egypt, so that one may even feel the darkness.”
22. And Moses stretched forth his hand toward heaven. And there was a thick darkness in all the land of Egypt three days.
23. They did not see one another, nor did any rise from his place, for three days. But all the children of Israel had light in their dwellings.
24. And Pharaoh called for Moses, and... said, “You go serve the LORD. Only let your flocks and your herds be left. Let your little ones also go with you.”

25. And Moses said, “You must give us also sacrifices and burnt offerings so that we may sacrifice to the LORD our God.

26. Our livestock also shall go with us. There shall not be a hoof left behind, for we must take from them to serve the LORD our God. And we do not know with what we must serve the LORD until we come there.”

27. But the LORD hardened Pharaoh’s heart, and he would not let them go.

28. And Pharaoh said to him, “Get away from me! Take heed to yourself! See my face no more, for in the day you see my face you shall die.”

29. And Moses said, “You have spoken well. I will never see your face again.”

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And the LORD had said to Moses, “I will yet bring one plague on Pharaoh and on Egypt. Afterward, he will let you go from here. When he shall let you go, he shall surely thrust you out from here altogether.

2. Speak now in the ears of the people, and let every man ask from his neighbor, and every woman from her neighbor, articles of silver and jewels of gold.”

3. And the LORD gave the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians. And the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh’s servants, and in the sight of the people.

4. And Moses said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘About midnight I will go out into the midst of Egypt.

5. And all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sits upon his throne, even to the firstborn of the slavegirl that is behind the mill; also the firstborn of beasts.

6. And there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there was none like it, nor shall be like it any more.

7. But against any of the children of Israel not even a dog shall move his tongue, against man or beast, so that you may know that the LORD puts a difference between the Egyptians and Israel.”

8. And all these, your servants, shall come down to me and bow themselves down to me, saying, ‘You and all the people that follow you—get out!’ And after that I will go out.” And he went out from Pharaoh in flaming anger.

9. And the LORD said to Moses, “Pharaoh shall not hearken to you so that My wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.”

10. And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh. And the LORD hardened Pharaoh’s heart so that he would not let the children of Israel go out of his land.

CHAPTER TWELVE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying,

2. “This month shall be to you the beginning of months. It shall be the first month of the year to you.

3. Speak to all the congregation of Israel, saying, ‘In the tenth day of this month they shall take to them each man a lamb for a father’s house, a lamb for a house.

4. And if the household is too little for the lamb, let him and his neighbor next to his house take according to the number of the souls, each one, according to the eating of his mouth, you shall count concerning the lamb.

5. Your lamb shall be without blemish, a male of the first year. You shall take it from the sheep or from the goats.

6. And you shall keep it up until the beginning of the fourteenth day of the same month. And the whole assembly of the congregation of Israel shall kill it between the two evenings.★

7. And they shall take of the blood and strike it on the two side posts and upon the upper doorpost of the houses in which they shall eat it.

8. And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roasted with fire, and unleavened bread. They shall eat it with bitter herbs.

9. Do not eat of it raw, nor boiled at all with water, but roasted with fire, its head with its legs, and with its inward parts.

10. And you shall not let any of it remain until the morning. And that which remains of it until the morning you shall burn with fire.

11. And this is the way you shall eat it: with your loins girded, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand.
And you shall eat it in trepidation. It is the LORD'S Passover,
12. For I will pass through the land of Egypt this night, and will smite all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both man and beast. And I will execute judgment against all the gods of Egypt. I am the LORD.

13. And the blood shall be a sign to you upon the houses where you are. And when I see the blood, I will pass over you. And the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you when I smite the land of Egypt.

14. And this day shall be a memorial to you. And you shall keep it a feast to the LORD throughout your generations. You shall keep it a feast as a law forever.

15. You shall eat unleavened bread seven days; even the first day you shall have put away leaven out of your houses; for whoever eats leavened bread from the first day until the seventh day, that soul shall be cut off from Israel.

16. And in the first day there shall be a holy convocation, and in the seventh day there shall be a holy convocation for you. No manner of work shall be done in them, except that which every man must eat, that only may be done by you.

17. And you shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread, for in this very same day I have brought your armies out of the land of Egypt. Therefore you shall keep this day in your generations as a law forever.

18. In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month at sunset, you shall eat unleavened bread, until the twenty-first day of the month at sunset.

19. Seven days there shall be no leaven found in your houses, for whoever eats that which is leavened, even that soul shall be cut off from the congregation of Israel, whether he be a stranger, or born in the land.

20. You shall eat nothing leavened. In all your dwelling places you shall eat unleavened bread.

21. Then Moses called for all the elders of Israel and said to them, “Draw out and take a lamb for yourselves according to your families, and kill the Passover lamb.

22. And you shall take a bunch of hyssop dip in the blood that is in the bowl, and strike the lintel and the two side posts with the blood in the bowl. And none of you shall go out of the door of his house until sunrise,

23. For the LORD will pass through to strike the Egyptians. And when He sees the blood upon the lintel, and on the two side posts, the LORD will pass over the door, and will not allow the destroyer to come into your houses to strike you.

24. And you shall observe this thing as a law to you and to your children forever.

25. And it shall be when you have come to the land which the LORD will give you, according as He has promised that you shall keep this service.

26. And it will be, when your children shall say to you, ‘What does this service mean to you?’

27. Then you shall say, ‘It is the sacrifice of the LORD’S Passover, Who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, when He struck the Egyptians and delivered our houses.’ ” And the people bowed their heads and worshiped.

28. And the children of Israel went away and did as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron; so they did.

29. And it came to pass at midnight the LORD struck all the firstborn in the land of Egypt from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sat on his throne, to the firstborn of the captive that was in the prison, also all the firstborn of livestock.

30. And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants, and all the Egyptians. And there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where there was not one dead.

31. And during the night he sent word to Moses and Aaron saying, “Rise up! Get away from my people, both you and the children of Israel! And go serve the LORD, as you have said.

32. Also take your flocks and your herds, as you have said, and be gone. And bless me also.”

33. And the Egyptians were urging the people, that they might send them out of the land quickly, for they said, “We are all dead men.”

34. And the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading troughs being bound up in their clothes upon their shoulders.

35. And the children of Israel did according to the word of Moses. And they asked for articles of silver, and articles of gold, and clothing from the Egyptians. 36. And the LORD gave the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians, and they granted their request, and they stripped the Egyptians.

37. And the children of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, the men being about six hundred thousand on foot, apart from little ones. 38. And also a mixed multitude went up with them, and flocks and herds, very much livestock.

39. And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought out of Egypt, for it was not leavened, because they were driven out of Egypt and could not stay, neither had they prepared any food for themselves for the journey.

40. Now the sojourning of the children of Israel in Egypt was four hundred and thirty years. 41. And it came to pass at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, it was even on that very same day, all the armies of the LORD went out from the land of Egypt.

42. It is a night to be much observed to the LORD for bringing them out from the land of Egypt. This is that night of the LORD to be observed by all the children of Israel in their generations.

43. And the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, “This is the ordinance of the Passover. No stranger shall eat of it.

44. But every man’s servant that is bought for silver, when you have circumcised him, then he shall eat of it.

45. A foreigner and a hired servant shall not eat of it.

46. It shall be eaten in one house. You shall not carry any of the flesh out of the house. Neither shall you break a bone of it.

47. All the congregation of Israel shall keep it.

48. And when a stranger shall dwell with you, and desires to keep the Passover to the LORD, let all his males be circumcised, and then let him come near and keep it. And he shall be as one that is born in the land. And no uncircumcised person shall eat of it.

49. There shall be one law to the one born at home and to the stranger that dwells among you.”

50. Thus did all the children of Israel.

Even as the LORD commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

12:51. And it came to pass the very same day, when the LORD brought the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt by their armies, ★

1. Then the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

2. “Sanctify all the firstborn to Me, whatever opens the womb among the children of Israel, of man and of beast. It is Mine.”

3. And Moses said to the people, ‘Remember this day in which you came out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage; for the LORD brought you out from this place by the strength of His hand. There shall be no leavened bread eaten.

4. On this day you are going out, in the month Abib.

5. And it shall be when the LORD shall bring you into the land of the Canaanites and the Hittites and the Amorites and the Hivites and the Jebusites, which He swore to your fathers to give you, a land flowing with milk and honey, that you shall keep this service in this month.

6. You shall eat unleavened bread seven days, and in the seventh day there shall be a feast to the LORD.

7. Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days. And there shall be no leavened bread seen with you, nor shall there be leaven seen with you in all your borders.

8. And you shall tell your son in that day, saying, ‘This is because of what the LORD did for me when I came out from Egypt.’

9. And it shall be a sign to you upon your hand, and for a memorial between your eyes, that the LORD’S law may be in your mouth, for with a strong hand the LORD has brought you out of Egypt.

10. You shall therefore keep this law in its season from year to year.

11. And it shall be, when the LORD brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as He swore to you and to your fathers, and shall give it to you,

12. You shall set apart to the LORD all that opens the womb, and every firstborn that comes of any animal which you have; the males shall be the LORD’S.

13. And every firstborn of a donkey you shall redeem with a lamb. And if you will not redeem it, then you shall break its neck. And all the firstborn of man among your sons you shall redeem.

14. And it shall be when your son asks you in time to come, saying, 'What does this mean?' you shall say to him, 'The LORD brought us out of Egypt by the strength of His hand, from the house of bondage.

15. And it came to pass when Pharaoh would hardly let us go, the LORD killed 15. And it came to pass when Pharaoh would hardly let us go, the LORD killed all the firstborn of the land of Egypt, both the firstborn of man, and the firstborn of animals. Therefore I sacrifice to the LORD all that opens the womb, that are males. But all the firstborn of my sons I redeem.’

16. And it shall be for a token upon your hand, and for frontlets between your eyes, for the LORD brought us out of Egypt by strength of His hand.”

17. And it came to pass, when Pharaoh had let the people go, God did not lead them by the way of the land of the Philistines although that was near, for God said, “Lest the people repent when they see war, and they return to Egypt.”

18. But God led the people toward the way of the wilderness of the Red Sea. And the children of Israel went up armed out of the land of Egypt.

19. And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, for he had strictly sworn the children of Israel, saying, “God will surely visit you, and you shall carry my bones away from here with you.”

20. And they moved from Succoth and camped in Etham at the edge of the wilderness.

21. And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud to lead them in the way, and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light, to go by day and by night.

22. He did not take away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night from before the people.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, “Speak to the children of Israel that they turn and camp before Pi Hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, over against Baal Zephon. You shall camp before it by the sea,
And the children of Israel shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea.

17. And behold, I am about to harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they shall follow them. And I will get honor for Myself upon Pharaoh, and over all his army, over his chariots and over his horsemen.

18. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD when I will be glorified through Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horsemen.”

19. And the angel of God, who went before the camp of Israel, moved. And he went to the rear of them. And the pillar of the cloud went from in front of them and it stood behind them.

20. And it came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel. It was a cloud of darkness to one, but gave light by night to the other, so that the two did not come near one another all night.

21. And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea. And the LORD drove the sea back with a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided.

22. And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground. And the waters were a wall to them on their right hand and on their left.

23. And the Egyptians pursued and went in after them to the middle of the sea, all Pharaoh’s horses, his chariots, and his horsemen.

24. And in the morning watch it came to pass that the LORD looked down upon the army of the Egyptians through the pillar of fire and of the cloud, and the army of the Egyptians was thrown into confusion.

25. And He loosened their chariot wheels, and made them go heavily, so that the Egyptians said, “Let us flee from the face of Israel, for the LORD fights for them against the Egyptians.”

26. And the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the sea, so that the waters may come back upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen.”

27. And Moses stretched forth his hand over the sea. And the sea returned to its strength when the morning appeared. And the Egyptians tried to flee from it. And the LORD overthrew the Egyptians in the middle of the sea.

28. And the waters returned and covered the chariots and the horsemen, all the army of Pharaoh that came into the sea after them. There did not remain so much as one of them.

29. But the children of Israel walked upon dry land through the middle of the sea. And the waters were a wall to them on their right hand and on their left.

30. So the LORD saved Israel that day out of the hand of the Egyptians. And Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the seashore.

31. And Israel saw that great work which the LORD did upon the Egyptians. And the people feared the LORD, and believed the LORD and His servant Moses.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. Then Moses and the children of Israel sang this song to the LORD, and spoke, saying, “I will sing to the LORD, for He has triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider He has thrown into the sea.

2. The LORD is my strength and song, and He has become my salvation. This is my God, and I will glorify Him, my father’s God, and I will exalt Him.

3. The LORD is a Man of war; Jehovah is His name.

4. Pharaoh’s chariots and his army He has thrown into the sea; his chosen captains also are drowned in the Red Sea.

5. The depths have covered them; they sank into the depths like a stone.

6. Your right hand, O LORD, has become glorious in power. Your right hand, O LORD, has shattered the enemy in pieces.

7. And in the greatness of Your excellency You have overthrown them that rose up against You. You sent forth Your wrath, consuming them like stubble.

8. And with the blast of Your nostrils the waters were gathered together; the floods stood upright like a heap; the depths were congealed in the heart of the sea.

9. The enemy said, ‘I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the spoil; my lust shall be satisfied upon them, I will draw my sword, my hand shall destroy them.’

10. But, You blew with Your wind; the sea covered them. They sank like lead in the mighty waters.

11. Who is like You, O LORD, among the gods? Who is like You, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders?

12. You stretched out Your right hand, the earth swallowed them.
13. You in Your mercy have led forth the people which You have redeemed. You have guided them in Your strength unto Your holy habitation.
14. The people shall hear; they shall tremble. Pangs of sorrow shall take hold on the people of Philistia.
15. Then the princes of Edom were terrified. Trembling seized upon the mighty men of Moab. All the people of Canaan shall melt away.
16. Fear and dread shall fall upon them. By the greatness of Your arm they shall be still as a stone until Your people pass over, O LORD, until the people whom You have purchased pass over.
17. You shall bring them and plant them in the mountain of Your inheritance, the place, O LORD, You have made for You dwell in; the Sanctuary, O LORD, which Your hands have established.
18. The LORD shall reign forever and ever.”
19. For Pharaoh’s horses went in with his chariots and with his horsemen into the sea, and the LORD turned back the waters of the sea upon them. But the children of Israel went on dry land through the middle of the sea.
20. And Miriam the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand. And all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances.
21. And Miriam answered them, “Sing to the LORD, for He has triumphed gloriously. The horse and his rider He has flung into the sea.”
22. And Moses brought Israel from the Red Sea, and they went out into the wilderness of Shur. And they went three days in the wilderness and found no water.
23. And when they came to Marah, they could not drink of the waters of Marah because it was bitter. Therefore the name of it was called Marah.
24. And the people murmured against Moses, saying, “What shall we drink?”
25. And he cried to the LORD. And the LORD showed him a tree. And when he had cast it into the waters, the waters were made sweet. There He made a decree and a law for them, and there He proved them.
26. And he said, “If you will diligently hearken to the voice of the LORD your God, and will do that which is right in His sight, and will give ear to His commandments, and keep all His laws, I will put none of these diseases upon you, which I have brought upon the Egyptians; for I am the LORD Who heals you.”
27. And they came to Elim, where there were twelve wells of water and seventy palm trees. And they campe there by the waters.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
1. And they took their journey from Elim, and all the congregation of the children of Israel came into the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai. And on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departing out of the land of Egypt,
2. Then the whole congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness.
3. And the children of Israel said to them, “O that we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the fleshpots, when we ate bread to the full, for you have brought us forth into this wilderness to kill this whole assembly with hunger!”
4. Then the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, I will rain bread from the heavens for you. And the people shall go out and gather a certain amount every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in My law or not.
5. And it shall come to pass on the sixth day, they shall prepare what they bring in. And it shall be twice as much as they gather day by day.”
6. And Moses and Aaron said to all the children of Israel, “At sunset, then you shall know that the LORD has brought you out from the land of Egypt.
7. And at sunrise, you shall see the glory of the LORD, for He hears your murmurings against the LORD. And what are we that you murmur against us?”
8. And Moses said, “You will see when the LORD shall give you flesh to eat at sunset and bread to the full at sunrise, for the LORD hears your murmurings which you murmur against Him. And what are we? Your murmurings are not against us, but against the LORD.”
9. And Moses spoke to Aaron, “Say to all the congregation of the children of...
Israel, ‘Come near before the LORD, for He has heard your murmurings.’”

10. And it came to pass as Aaron spoke to the whole congregation of the children of Israel that they turned toward the wilderness. And behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud!

11. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

12. “I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel. Speak to them, saying, ‘Between the two evenings★ you shall eat flesh, and in the morning you shall be filled with bread. And you shall know that I am the LORD your God.’”

13. And it came to pass, at sunset, that the quails came up and covered the camp. And at sunrise the dew lay all around the camp.

14. And when the layer of dew had gone up, behold, there was a small round thing upon the face of the wilderness, small as the hoar-frost upon the ground.

15. And when the children of Israel saw it, they said one to another, “What is that?” For they did not know what it was. And Moses said to them, “This is the bread which the LORD has given you to eat.

16. This is the thing which the LORD has commanded. ‘Each man gather of it according to his eating, an omer★ for each one, according to the number of your persons. Each one shall take for those who are in his tent.’”

17. And the children of Israel did so, and gathered, some more, and some less.

18. And when they measured with an omer, he that gathered much had nothing over, and he that gathered little lacked nothing. They gathered each one according to his eating.

19. And Moses said, “Let no man leave any of it until the next morning.”

20. But they did not hearken to Moses, and some of them left part of it until the next morning. And it became rotten with maggots, and stank. And Moses was angry with them.

21. And they gathered it morning by morning, each man according to his eating. And when the sun became hot, it melted.

22. And it came to pass, on the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread, two omers for each one. And all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moses.

23. And he said to them, “This is that which the LORD has said, ‘Tomorrow is the rest of the holy Sabbath to the LORD. Bake what you will bake today, and boil what you will boil. And that which remains over, lay up for yourselves to be kept until the next morning.’”

24. And they laid it up until the next morning as Moses said. And it did not stink; neither was there any worm in it.

25. And Moses said, “Eat it today, for today is a Sabbath to the LORD. Today you shall not find it in the field.

26. Six days you shall gather it, but on the seventh day, the Sabbath, in it there shall be none.”

27. And it came to pass that some of the people went out on the seventh day in order to gather, but they did not find any.

28. And the LORD said to Moses, “How long do you refuse to keep My commandments and My laws?

29. See, because the LORD has given you the Sabbath, therefore He gives you the bread of two days on the sixth day. Let each one stay in his place. Do not let any one go out of his place on the seventh day.”

30. So the people rested on the seventh day.

31. And the house of Israel called the name of it Manna. And it was like coriander seed, white. And the taste of it was like wafers with honey.

32. And Moses said, “This is the thing which the LORD has commanded, ‘Fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations, so that you may see the bread which I have fed you in the wilderness, when I brought you out from the land of Egypt.’”

33. And Moses said to Aaron, “Take a pot and put an omer full of manna in it, and lay it up before the LORD to be kept for your generations.”
34. As the LORD commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the testimony to be kept.
35. And the children of Israel ate manna forty years until they came to a habitable land. They ate manna until they came into the borders of the land of Canaan.
36. And an ephah is the tenth part of an ephah.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. And all the congregation of the children of Israel journeyed out of the wilderness of Sin, after their journeys, according to the commandment of the LORD, and pitched in Rephidim. And there was no water for the people to drink.
2. And the people argued with Moses and said, “Give us water that we may drink.” And Moses said to them, “Why do you argue with me? Why do you tempt the LORD?”
3. And the people thirsted there for water. And the people murmured against Moses saying, “Is the LORD among us or not?”
4. And Moses cried to the LORD, saying, “What shall I do with this people? They cause they tempted the LORD, saying, “Is the LORD among us or not?”
5. And the LORD said to Moses, “Go on ahead of the people, and take with you the elders of Israel.
6. Behold, I will stand before you there upon the rock in Horeb. And you shall smite the rock, and there shall come water out of it, so that the people may drink.” And Moses did so in the sight of the elders of Israel.
7. And he called the name of the place Massah and Meribah because of the arguing of the children of Israel and because they tempted the LORD, saying, “Is the LORD among us or not?”
8. Then Amalek came and made war against Israel in Rephidim.
9. And Moses said to Joshua, “Choose men for us, and go out to fight against Amalek. Tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill with the rod of God in my hand.”
10. And Joshua did as Moses had said to him, and fought against Amalek. And Moses, Aaron and Hur went up to the top of the hill.
11. And it came to pass when Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed. And when he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed.
12. But Moses’ hands became heavy. And they took a stone and put it under him, and he sat on it. And Aaron and Hur held up his hands, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side. And his hands were steady until the going down of the sun.
13. And Joshua defeated Amalek and his people with the edge of the sword.
14. And the LORD said to Moses, “Write this as a memorial in a book, and rehearse it in the ears of Joshua, that I will utterly wipe out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.”
15. And Moses built an altar, and called the name of it The LORD My Banner.
16. And he said, “Because the LORD has sworn that the LORD will have war against Amalek from generation to generation.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. When Jethro, the priest of Midian, Moses’ father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moses and for Israel His people, that the LORD had brought Israel out of Egypt,
2. Then Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law, took Zipporah, Moses’ wife, after he had sent her back,
3. And her two sons, of which the name of the one was Gershom (for he said, “I have been a stranger in a strange land”),
4. And the name of the other was Eliezer (“for the God of my father, my Helper, delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh”).
5. And Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law, came with his sons and his wife to Moses in the wilderness, where he camped at the mount of God.
6. And he said to Moses, “I, your father-in-law Jethro, have come to you, with your wife and her two sons with her.”
7. And Moses went out to meet his father-in-law, and bowed down to him, and kissed him. And they asked each other of their welfare. And they came into the tent.
8. And Moses told his father-in-law all that the LORD had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians for Israel’s sake, and all the travail that had come upon them by the way, and how the LORD delivered them.
9. And Jethro rejoiced for all the goodness which the LORD had done to Israel, whom He had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians.
10. And Jethro said, “Blessed be the LORD Who has delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh, and Who has delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians.
11. Now I know that the LORD is greater than all gods, for in this matter they dealt arrogantly against them.”

12. Then Jethro, Moses’ father-in-law, took a burnt offering and sacrifices for God. And Aaron came, and all the elders of Israel, to eat bread with Moses’ father-in-law before God.
13. And on the next day it came to pass that Moses sat to judge the people. And the people stood by Moses from the morning to evening.
14. And when Moses’ father-in-law saw all that he did for the people, he said, “What is this thing which you do for the people? Why do you sit alone by yourself, and all the people stand by you from morning to evening?”
15. And Moses said to his father-in-law, “Because the people come to me to inquire of God.
16. When they have a matter, they come to me. And I judge between one and another, and I make known the statutes of God and His laws.”
17. And Moses’ father-in-law said to him, “The thing that you do is not good.
18. You will surely wear away, both you and this people that are with you, for this thing is too burdensome for you. You are not able to perform it alone.
19. Hearken now to my voice. I will give you counsel, and God will be with you. You be for the people toward God that you may bring the causes to God.
20. And you shall teach them ordinances and laws, and shall make them know the way in which they must walk, and the work that they must do.
21. And you shall choose out of all the people able men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating covetousness. And place them over the people to be leaders of thousands, and leaders of hundreds, leaders of fifties, and leaders of tens.
22. And let them judge for the people at all times. And it shall be, every great matter they shall bring to you, but every small matter they shall judge. And make it easier for yourself, and they shall bear the burden with you.
23. If you will do this thing, and God command you so, then you shall be able to endure, and all this people shall also go to their place in peace.”
24. And Moses hearkened to the voice of his father-in-law and did all that he had said.
25. And Moses chose able men out of all Israel and made them heads over the people, as leaders of thousands, leaders of hundreds, leaders of fifties, and leaders of tens.
26. And they judged for the people at all times. The hard causes they brought to Moses, but every small matter they judged themselves.
27. And Moses let his father-in-law depart. And he went his way into his own land.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. In the third month when the children of Israel had gone forth out of the land of Egypt, on the same day, they came to the wilderness of Sinai;
2. For they had journeyed from Rehobim, and came to the desert of Sinai, and had pitched in the wilderness. And Israel camped there in front of the mount.
3. And Moses went up to God, and the LORD called to him out of the mountain, saying, “Thus you shall say to the house of Jacob and tell the children of Israel, 4. ‘You have seen what I did to the Egyptians, and how I bore you on eagles’ wings and brought you unto Myself. 5. Now therefore, if you will obey My voice indeed, and keep My covenant, then you shall be a special treasure to Me above all people; for all the earth is Mine. 6. And you shall be to Me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.’ These are the words which you shall speak to the children of Israel.’”
7. And Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before them all these words which the LORD commanded him.
8. And all the people answered together and said, “All that the LORD has spoken we will do.” And Moses returned the words of the people to the LORD.
9. And the LORD said to Moses, “Lo, I come to you in a thick cloud that the people may hear when I speak with you, and believe you forever.” And Moses told the words of the people to the LORD.
10. And the LORD said to Moses, “Go to the people and sanctify them today and tomorrow, and let them wash their clothes.
11. And the third day the LORD will come down in the sight of all the people upon Mount Sinai.
12. And you shall set bounds for the people round about, saying, ‘Take heed to yourselves. Do not go up into the mountain, or touch the border of it. Whoever touches the mountain shall be surely put to death.
13. There shall not be a hand to touch it, but he shall surely be stoned or shot through with an arrow; whether beast or man, it shall not live.’ When the trumpet sounds long, they shall come up to the mountain.”
14. And Moses went down from the mountain to the people and sanctified the people. And they washed their clothes.
15. And he said to the people, “Be ready for the third day; for on the third day the LORD will come down in the sight of all the people upon Mount Sinai.
16. And you shall round about, saying, ‘Take heed to yourselves. Do not go up into the mountain, or touch the border of it. Whoever touches the mountain shall be surely put to death.
17. There shall not be a hand to touch it, but he shall surely be stoned or shot through with an arrow; whether beast or man, it shall not live.’ When the trumpet sounds long, they shall come up to the mountain.”
18. And Mount Sinai was smoking, all of it because the LORD came down upon it in fire. And the smoke of it went up like the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mountain quaked greatly.
19. And when the sound of the trumpet sounded long, and became very strong, Moses spoke, and God answered him by voice.
20. And the LORD came down upon Mount Sinai on the top of the mountain.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. And God spoke all these words, saying,
2. “I am the LORD your God, Who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.
3. You shall have no other gods before Me.
4. You shall not make for yourselves any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in the heavens above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters under the earth.
5. You shall not bow yourself down to them, nor serve them, for I, the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me,
6. But showing mercy to thousands of those who love Me and keep My commandments.
7. You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain, for the LORD will not hold him guiltless who takes His name in vain.
8. Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.
9. Six days you shall labor and do all your work.
10. But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD your God. In it you shall not do any work, you, nor your son, nor your... daughter; your manservant, nor your maidervant, nor your livestock, nor the stranger within your gates;
11. For in six days the LORD made the heaven and the earth, the sea, and all that is in them, and rested the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and sanctified it.
12. Honor your father and your mother so that your days may be long upon the land which the LORD your God gives you.
14. You shall not commit adultery.
15. You shall not steal.
16. You shall not bear false witness.
17. You shall not covet your neighbor’s house.
18. You shall not covet your neighbor’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his donkey, nor anything that is your neighbor’s.”
19. And all the people saw the thunderings, and the lightnings, and the sound of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking.
20. And Moses said to the people, “Do not let God speak with us, lest we die.”
21. And the people stood afar off, and Moses drew near to the thick darkness where God was.
22. And the LORD said to Moses, “Thus you shall say to the children of Israel, ‘You have seen that I have talked with you from the heavens.
23. You shall not make with Me gods of silver, nor shall you make gods of gold for yourselves.
24. You shall make an altar of earth to Me, and shall sacrifice on it your burnt offerings and your peace offerings, your sheep and your oxen. In all places where I record My name I will come to you, and I will bless you.
25. And if you will make Me an altar of stone, you shall not build it of cut stone; for if you lift up your tool upon it, you have defiled it.
26. And you shall not go up by steps to My altar that your nakedness be not exposed upon it.’”

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. “And these are the judgments which you shall set before them.
2. If you buy a Hebrew servant, he shall serve six years. And in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing.
3. If he came in by himself, he shall go out by himself. If he was married, then his wife shall go out with him.
4. If his master has given him a wife, and she has borne him sons or daughters, the wife and her children shall be his master’s, and he shall go out by himself.
5. And if the servant shall plainly say, ‘I love my master, my wife, and my sons, I do not want to go out free.’
6. His master shall bring him to the judges. He shall also bring him to the door or to the doorpost. And his master shall bore his ear through with an awl, and he shall serve him forever.
7. And if a man sells his daughter to be a maidervant, she shall not go out as the menservants do.
8. If she does not please her master, who has betrothed her to himself, then he shall let her be redeemed. He shall have no power to sell her to a strange nation, since he has dealt deceitfully with her.
9. If he has betrothed her to his son, he shall deal with her as with daughters.
10. If he takes himself another wife, she shall not go out as the maidservants do.
11. And if he does not do these three things for her, then she shall go out free without money.
12. He that strikes a man, so that he dies, shall be surely put to death.
13. And if a man does not lie in wait, but God delivers him into his hand, then I will appoint you a place where he shall flee.
14. But if a man comes presumptuously upon his neighbor to slay him with guile, you shall take him from My altar so that he may die.
15. And he that strikes his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.
16. And he that steals a man and sells him, or if he is found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death.
17. And he that curses his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.
18. And if men strive together, and one strikes another with a stone, or with his... fist, and he does not die, but is confined to his bed;
19. If he rises again and walks abroad upon his staff, then he that struck him shall be set free. Only he shall pay for the loss of his time and shall cause him to be completely healed.
20. And if a man strikes his servant or his maidservant with a rod and he dies under his hand, he shall surely be punished.
21. But if he continues a day or two, he shall not be punished, for he is his money.
22. If men strive and strike a pregnant woman, so that there is a miscarriage, she shall not be punished, for he is her husband will lay upon him. And he shall pay as the judges determine.
23. And if any injury occurs, then you shall give life for life,
24. Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot,
26. And if a man strikes the eye of his servant, or the eye of his maid, so that it perishes, he shall let him go free on account of his eye.
27. And if he strikes out his manservant’s tooth, or his maidservant’s tooth, he shall let him go free on account of his tooth.
28. If an ox gorges a man or woman so that they die, then the ox shall surely be stoned, and his flesh shall not be eaten. But the owner of the ox shall be his.
29. But if the ox was known to gore in time past, and his owner has been warned, but he did not keep it in, so that it kills a man or a woman, the ox shall be stoned, and his owner also shall be put to death.
30. If there is laid on him a sum of money, then he shall give for the ransom of his life whatever is laid upon him.
31. Whether it has gored a son, or has gored a daughter, according to this judgment it shall be done to him.
32. If the ox shall gore a manservant or a maidservant, he shall give to their master thirty shekels of silver, and the ox shall be stoned.
33. And if a man shall open a pit, or if a man shall dig a pit, and not cover it, and an ox or a donkey falls in it,
34. The owner of the pit shall make it good and give silver to its owner. And the dead beast shall be his.
35. And in the event the ox of a man damages the ox of a neighbor, so that it dies, then they shall sell the living ox, and they shall divide the money of it. And they shall also divide the dead ox.
36. Or if it is known that the ox has been known to gore in time past, and his owner has not kept him in, he shall surely pay ox for ox. And the dead ox shall be his own.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. “If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it or sell it, he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep.
2. If a thief is found breaking in, and is struck so that he dies, no blood shall be shed for him.
3. If the sun is risen upon him and he lives, there shall be blood shed for him. He shall make full restitution. If he has nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft.
4. If the theft is certainly found in his hand alive, whether it is an ox, or a donkey, or a sheep, he shall restore double.
5. If a man causes a field or vineyard to be eaten, and shall put in his animal, and shall feed in another man’s field; he shall make full restitution from the best of his own field, and the best of his own vineyard.
6. If fire breaks out and catches in thorns, so that the stacks of grain, or the standing grain, or the field, is burned up, he who kindled the fire shall surely make restitution.
7. If a man shall deliver to his neighbor silver or stuff to keep, and it is stolen out of the man’s house; if the thief is found, let him pay double.
8. If the thief is not found, then the master of the house shall be brought to the judges, whether he has put his hand to his neighbor’s goods;
9. For every case of trespass, whether it is for ox, for donkey, for sheep, for clothing, for any kind of lost thing, which another claims to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the judges. Whom the judges shall condemn, he shall pay double to his neighbor.
10. If a man delivers to his neighbor a donkey, or an ox, or a sheep, or any animal to keep, and it dies, or is hurt, or driven away, no one seeing,
11. An oath of the LORD shall be between them both, that he has not put his hand to his neighbor's goods. And the owner of it shall accept it, and he shall not make it good.
12. And if it is stolen from him, he shall make full restitution to the owner of it.
13. If it is torn in pieces, let him bring it for witness, and he shall not make good that which was torn.
14. And if a man borrows it from his neighbor, and it is hurt, or dies, and the owner of it is not with it, he shall surely make full restitution.
15. If the owner of it is with it, he shall not make restitution. If it was hired, it came for its hire.
16. And if a man lures a virgin who is not promised, and lies with her, he shall surely endow her to be his wife.
17. If her father utterly refuses to give her to him, he shall pay money according to the dowry of virgins.
18. You shall not allow a sorceress to the dowry of virgins. And if a man gives a sorceress to another man, he shall pay money according to the dowry of virgins.
19. Anyone lying with an animal shall surely be put to death.
20. Anyone sacrificing to a god, except it is unto the LORD only, he shall be utterly destroyed.
21. You shall neither vex a stranger nor oppress him, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt.
22. You shall not afflict any widow or fatherless child.
23. If you afflict them in any way, and they cry at all to Me, I will surely hear their cry.
24. And My wrath shall burn, and I will kill you with the sword, and your wives shall be widows, and your sons fatherless.
25. If you lend money to one of My people who is poor among you, you shall not be to him as a money-lender, neither shall you lay upon him interest.
26. If you at all take your neighbor's clothing as a pledge, you shall deliver it to him by the time the sun goes down;
27. For that is his covering only, it is his clothing for his skin. In what shall he sleep? And it will be, when he cries to Me, I will hear, for I am gracious.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. “You shall not raise a false report. Do not put your hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness.
2. You shall not follow a multitude to do evil. Neither shall you testify in a cause in order to side with many so as to pervert judgment.
3. Neither shall you be partial to a poor man in his cause.
4. If you meet your enemy’s ox or his donkey going astray, you shall surely bring it back to him again.
5. If you see the donkey of him who hates you lying under his burden, and would hold back from helping him, you shall surely help him.
6. You shall not pervert the judgment due to your poor in his cause.
7. Keep far from a false matter, and do not kill the innocent and righteous; for I will not justify the wicked.
8. And you shall take no bribe, for the bribe blinds the wise and perverts the words of the righteous.
9. Also you shall not oppress a stranger, for you know the heart of a stranger since you were strangers in the land of Egypt.
10. And you shall sow your land six years, and shall gather in the fruits of it.
11. But the seventh year you shall let it rest and lie still, so that the poor of your people may eat. And what they leave, the animals of the field shall eat. In the same way you shall deal with your vineyard and with your olive-grove.
12. Six days you shall do your work, and on the seventh day you shall rest, so that your ox and your donkey may rest, and the son of your handmaid, and the stranger, may be rejuvenated.
13. And be watchful in all that I have said to you. And make no mention of the name of other gods, neither let it be heard out of your mouth.
14. You shall keep a feast unto Me three times in the year.
15. You shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread. You shall eat unleavened bread seven days, as I commanded you, at the time appointed in the month of Abib, in it you came out of Egypt. And no one shall appear before Me empty.
16. Also the Feast of the Harvest of the Firstfruits of your labors, which you have sown in the field. And the Feast of Ingathering, in the end of the year, when you have gathered in your labors out of the field.
17. Three times in the year all your males shall appear before the Lord GOD.
18. You shall not offer the blood of My sacrifice with leavened bread, neither shall the fat of My sacrifice remain until the morning.
19. The first of the firstfruits of your land you shall bring into the house of the LORD your God. You shall not boil a kid in its mother’s milk.
20. Behold, I send an Angel before you, to keep you in the way, and to bring you in to the place which I have prepared.
21. Be on guard in His presence and obey His voice. Do not provoke Him, for He will not pardon your transgressions; for My name is in Him.
22. But if you shall indeed obey His voice, and do all that I speak, then I will be an enemy to your enemies, and a foe to your foes;
23. For My Angel shall go before you and bring you in to the Amorites and the Hittites and the Perizzites and the Canaanites and the Hivites and the Jebusites. And I will cut them off.
24. You shall not bow down to their gods, nor serve them. And you shall not do according to their works. But you shall surely tear them down, and surely you shall smash their standing images.
25. And you shall serve the LORD your God, and He shall bless your bread and your water. And I will take sickness away from the midst of you.
26. None shall cast their young, nor be barren in your land. The number of your days I will fulfill.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. And He said to Moses, “Come up to the LORD, you and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel, and worship afar off.
2. And Moses alone shall come near the LORD, but they shall not come near. Neither shall the people go up with him.”
3. And Moses came and told the people all the words of the LORD, and all the judgments. And all the people answered with one voice and said, “All the words which the LORD has said, we will do.”
4. And Moses wrote all the words of the LORD, and rose up early in the morning, and built an altar at the base of the mountain and twelve pillars according to the twelve tribes of Israel.
5. And he sent young men of the children of Israel who offered burnt offerings, and sacrificed peace offerings of bullocks to the LORD.
6. And Moses took half of the blood, and put it in basins, and half of the blood he sprinkled on the altar.
7. And he took the book of the covenant, and read in the ears of the people. And they said, “All that the LORD has said we will do, and be obedient.”
8. And Moses took the blood and sprinkled it on the people, and said, “Behold the blood of the covenant, which the LORD has made with you concerning all these words.”

9. And Moses went up, and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel.

10. And they saw the God of Israel. And there was under His feet as it were a paved work of a sapphire stone, and as it were the heavens in clearness.

11. And upon the nobles of the children of Israel He did not lay his hands. Also upon the elders of Israel.

12. And the LORD said to Moses, “Come up, you and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel, whom you shall know by name, and you shall take of them: gold, and silver, and brass, and blue, and purple, and scarlet, and brass, and take of them: gold, and silver, and an offering from every man that gives it they bring Me an offering. You shall take

13. And Moses rose up, and his attendant Joshua. And Moses went up into the mountain of God.

14. And he said to the elders, “You wait here for us until we come again to you. And behold, Aaron and Hur are with you. If any man has a cause, let him come to them.”

15. And Moses went up into the mountain, and a cloud covered the mountain.

16. And the glory of the LORD abode upon Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. And the seventh day He called to Moses out of the midst of the cloud.

17. And the sight of the glory of the LORD was like a consuming fire on the top of the mountain to the eyes of the children of Israel.

18. And Moses went into the midst of the cloud, and went up into the mountain. And Moses was in the mountain forty days and forty nights.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

1. “And you shall take to yourself Aaron your brother, and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, so that he may minister to Me in the priest’s office: Aaron and Aaron’s sons, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.
2. And you shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother, for glory and for beauty.
3. And you shall speak to all the wise-hearted, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, that they make Aaron’s garments to consecrate him so that he may minister to Me in the priest’s office.
4. And these are the garments which they shall make: a breastplate, and an ephod, and a robe, and an embroidered coat, a miter, and a girdle. And they shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother, and his sons, so that he may minister to Me in the priest’s office.
5. And they shall take gold and blue and purple and scarlet and bleached linen.

10. Six of their names shall be on one stone, and six of the remaining names on the other stone, according to their birth.
11. With the work of an engraver in stone, like the engravings of a signet, you shall engrave the two stones with the... names of the children of Israel. You shall make them to be set in settings of gold.

12. And you shall put the two stones upon the shoulders of the ephod for stones of memorial to the children of Israel. And Aaron shall bear their names before the LORD upon his two shoulders for a memorial.

13. And you shall make plaited work of gold,

14. And two chains of pure gold at the ends. You shall make them of woven work, a work of cords, and fasten the woven chains to the plaited work.

15. And you shall make the breastplate of judgment with embroidered work. After the work of the ephod, you shall make it; of gold, blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-twined bleached linen, you shall make it.

16. It shall be square, doubled; a span the length of it, and a span the breadth of it.

17. And you shall set in it settings of stones, four rows of stones. The first row shall be a sardius, topaz, and carbuncle in the row.

18. And the second row: an emerald, a sapphire and a diamond.

25. And the two ends of the two cords you shall fasten on the two plaitings, and put them on the shoulder pieces of the ephod facing frontward.

26. And you shall make two rings of gold, and you shall put them upon the two ends of the breastplate in the border of it, which is in the side of the ephod inward.
make the girdle of needlework.
40. And you shall make tunics for Aaron’s sons, and you shall make for them girdles, and turbans you shall make for them, for glory and for beauty.
41. And you shall clothe Aaron your brother with them, and his sons with him. And you shall anoint them, and you shall consecrate them, and you shall sanctify them, so that they may minister to Me in the priest’s office.
42. And you shall make them linen breeches to cover the naked flesh; from the loins even to the thighs they shall reach.
43. And they shall be upon Aaron, and upon his sons, when they come into the tabernacle of the congregation, or when they come near the altar to minister in the holy place; so that they do not bear iniquity and die. It shall be a statute forever to him and his seed after him.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

1. “And this is the thing that you shall do to them to sanctify them to minister to Me in the priest’s office. Take one young bull, and two rams without blemish,
2. And unleavened bread, and cakes unleavened mixed with oil, and wafers unleavened anointed with oil. You shall make them of wheat flour.
3. And you shall put them into one basket, and bring them in the basket with the bull and the two rams.
4. And you shall bring Aaron and his sons to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall wash them with water.
5. And you shall take the garments, and clothe Aaron with the tunic, and the robe of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breastplate, and bind it to him with the band of the ephod.
6. And you shall put the miter upon his head, and put the holy crown upon the miter.
7. Then you shall take the anointing oil, and pour it on his head, and anoint him.
8. And you shall bring his sons and clothe them with tunics.
9. And you shall gird them with girdles, Aaron and his sons, and bind turbans on them. And the priest’s office shall be theirs for an everlasting statute. And you shall consecrate Aaron and his sons.
10. And you shall cause a bull to be brought before the tabernacle of the congregation. And Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the bull.
11. And you shall kill the bull before the LORD by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
12. And you shall take of the blood of the bull, and put it on the horns of the altar with your finger, and pour all the blood beside the base of the altar.
13. And you shall take all the fat that covers the inward parts, and the lobe on the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat on them, and burn them upon the altar.
14. But the flesh of the bull, and its skin, and its dung, you shall burn with fire outside the camp. It is a sin offering.
15. And you shall also take one ram. And Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.
16. And you shall kill the ram, and you shall take its blood and sprinkle it all around upon the altar.
17. And you shall cut the ram in pieces, and you shall wash its inward parts and its legs, and put them with its pieces and with its head.
18. And you shall burn the whole ram upon the altar. It is a burnt offering to the LORD. It is a sweet savor, an offering made by fire to the LORD.
19. And you shall take the other ram. And Aaron and his sons shall put their hands upon the head of the ram.
20. Then you shall kill the ram, and take of its blood, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and upon the tip of the right ear of his sons, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot, and sprinkle the blood upon the altar all around.
21. And you shall take of the blood on the altar, and of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron, and on his garments, and on his sons, and on the garments of his sons with him. And he shall be hallowed, and his garments, and his sons, and his sons’ garments with him.
22. Also you shall take from the ram the fat and the fat tail, and the fat that covers the inward parts, and the lobe on the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat on them, and the right shoulder, for it is a ram of consecration;
23. And one loaf of bread, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer out of the
24. And you shall put all in the hands of Aaron and in the hands of his sons, and shall wave them for a wave offering before the LORD.

25. And you shall take them from their hands, and burn them upon the altar for a burnt offering for a sweet savor before the LORD. It is an offering made by fire to the LORD.

26. And you shall take the breast of the ram of Aaron’s consecration and wave it for a wave offering before the LORD. And it shall be your portion.

27. And you shall sanctify the breast of the wave offering, and the thigh of the heave offering, which is lifted from the ram of the consecration, from what is Aaron’s, and from what is for his sons.

28. And it shall be Aaron’s and his sons’ by a statute forever from the children of Israel—for it is a heave offering. And it shall be a heave offering from the children of Israel, for it is an offering made by fire to the LORD.

29. And the holy garments of Aaron shall be his sons’ after him to be anointed in them and consecrated in them.

30. The one of his sons that is priest in his place shall put them on seven days, when he comes into the tabernacle of the congregation to minister in the holy place.

31. And you shall take the ram of the consecration and boil its flesh in the holy place.

32. And Aaron and his sons shall eat the flesh of the ram and the bread that is in the basket by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

33. And they shall eat those things with which the atonement was made to consecrate and to sanctify them. But a stranger shall not eat of it because they are holy.

34. And if any of the flesh of the consecrations, or of the bread, remains until the morning, then you shall burn the remainder with fire. It shall not be eaten because it is holy.

35. And so you shall do to Aaron and to his sons according to all things which I have commanded you. You shall consecrate them seven days.

36. And you shall offer every day a bull for a sin offering for atonement. And you shall cleanse the altar when you have made an atonement for it, and you shall anoint it to sanctify it.

37. You shall make an atonement for the altar seven days and sanctify it. And it shall be a most holy altar. Whatever touches the altar shall be holy.

38. And this is what you shall offer upon the altar: two lambs of the first year, day by day continually.

39. The one lamb you shall offer at sunrise, and the other lamb you shall offer between the two evenings.

40. And with the one lamb a tenth part of flour mixed with the fourth part of a hin of beaten oil, and the fourth part of a hin of wine, a drink offering.

41. And you shall offer the other lamb between the two evenings: you shall do to it according to the meal offering of the morning, and according to its drink offering, for a sweet smell, an offering made by fire to the LORD.

42. This shall be a burnt offering forever throughout your generations at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD, where I will meet you, to speak there to you.

43. And there I will meet with the children of Israel, and Israel shall be sanctified by My glory.

44. And I will sanctify the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar. I will also sanctify both Aaron and his sons to minister to Me in the priest’s office.

45. And I will dwell among the children of Israel and will be their God.

46. And they shall know that I am the LORD their God, Who brought them forth out of the land of Egypt so that I may dwell among them. I am the LORD their God.”

CHAPTER THIRTY

1. “And you shall make an altar to burn incense upon. You shall make it of acacia wood.

2. A cubit shall be its length, and a cubit its breadth. It shall be square. And two cubits shall be the height of it, its horns shall be from itself.

3. And you shall overlay it with pure gold, its top, and its sides all around, and its horns. And you shall make for it a crown molding of gold all around the top edges.
4. And you shall make two golden rings for it below the crown of it, by the two opposing corners of it; upon the two sides of it you shall make it. And they shall be housings for the staves to carry it with.
5. And you shall make the staves of acacia wood and overlay them with gold.
6. And you shall put it before the veil as the testimony, in front of the mercy seat that is over the testimony, where I will meet with you.
7. And Aaron shall burn sweet incense on it every sunrise; when he dresses the lamps, he shall burn it.
8. And when Aaron lights the lamps between the two evenings, he shall burn it for a perpetual incense before the LORD throughout your generations.
9. You shall offer no strange incense on it, nor burnt sacrifice, nor meal offering. Neither shall you pour drink offering on it.
10. And Aaron shall make an atonement upon the horns of it once in a year with the blood of the sin offerings of atonement. He shall make atonement on it once in the year throughout your generations. It is most holy to the LORD.
11. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
12. “When you count the children of Israel, of those who are to be counted, then they shall each man give a ransom for himself to the LORD when you number them, so that there may be no plague among them when you number them.
13. They shall give this, every one that passes among those who are counted, from twenty years old and above, shall give an offering to the LORD.
14. Everyone that passes among those who are numbered, from twenty years old and above, shall give an offering to the LORD.
15. The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not give less than half a shekel when they give an offering to the LORD to make an atonement for yourselves.
16. And you shall take the atonement silver of the children of Israel and shall appoint it for the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, so that it may be a memorial to the children of Israel before the LORD to make an atonement for yourselves.”
17. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
18. “You shall also make a laver of bronze, and its base also of bronze, for washing. And you shall put it between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar. And you shall put water in it,
19. For Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and their feet there.
20. When they go into the tabernacle of the congregation, they shall wash with water so that they do not die. Or when they come near to the altar to minister, to burn an offering made by fire to the LORD,
21. They shall wash their hands and their feet, so that they do not die. And it shall be a statute forever to them, to him and to his seed throughout their generations.”
22. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
23. “Take also to you the finest spices: five hundred shekels of pure myrrh, and half as much of sweet cinnamon, even two hundred and fifty shekels, and two hundred and fifty shekels of aromatic cane,
24. And five hundred of cassia, after the shekel of the sanctuary, and a hin of olive oil.
25. And you shall make of these an oil of holy ointment, an ointment compound after the art of the perfumer. It shall be a holy anointing oil.
26. And you shall anoint the tabernacle of the congregation with it, and the ark of the testimony,
27. And the table and all its vessels, and the lampstand and its vessels, and the altar of incense,
28. And the altar of burnt offerings with all its vessels, and the laver and its base.
29. And you shall sanctify them so that they may be most holy. Whatever touches them shall be holy.
30. And you shall anoint Aaron and his sons and consecrate them, so that they may minister to Me in the priest’s office.
31. And you shall speak to the children of Israel saying, ‘This shall be a holy anointing oil to Me throughout your generations.
32. It shall not be poured upon man’s flesh, neither shall you make any other like it, according to the way it is made. It is holy, and it shall be holy to you.

33. Whoever compounds any like it, or anyone puts any of it upon a stranger, shall even be cut off from his people.”

34. And the LORD said to Moses, “Take to yourself sweet spices, stacte, and onycha, and galbanum; sweet spices with pure frankincense, a part of each one.

35. And you shall make it a perfume, an incense according to the art of the perfumer, salted, pure and holy.

36. And you shall beat some of it very small, and put it before the testimony in the tabernacle of the congregation, where I will meet with you. It shall be most holy to you.

37. And the perfume which you shall make, you shall not make any for yourselves according to the way it is made. It shall be holy to you for the LORD.

38. Whoever shall make any like that, to smell of it, shall even be cut off from his people.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

2. “Behold, I, I have called by name Bezaleel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah.

3. And I have filled him with the Spirit of God in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all workmanship,

4. To devise designs; to work in gold, and in silver, and in bronze,

5. And in cutting of stones, to set them, and in carving of timber, to work in all workmanship.

6. And behold, I have given to him Aholiab, the son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan. And I have put wisdom in the hearts of all the wise-hearted, so that they may make all that I have commanded you:

7. The tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the testimony, and the mercy seat that is upon it, and all the vessels of the tabernacle,

8. And the table and its vessels, and the pure lampstand with all its vessels, and the altar of incense,

9. And the altar of burnt offering with all its vessels, and the laver and its base,

10. And the woven garments, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons, to minister in the priest’s office,

11. And the anointing oil, and sweet incense for the holy place. According to all that I have commanded you, they shall do.

12. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

13. “Speak also to the children of Israel, saying, ‘Truly you shall keep My Sabbaths, for it★ is a sign between Me and you throughout your generations to know that I am the LORD Who sanctifies you.

14. You shall keep the Sabbath therefore, for it is holy to you. Everyone that defiles it shall surely be put to death, for whoever does any work on it, that soul shall be cut off from among his people.

15. Six days may work be done, but on the seventh day is the Sabbath of rest, holy to the LORD. Whoever does any work on the Sabbath day, he shall surely be put to death.

16. Therefore the children of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, to observe the Sabbath throughout their generations as a perpetual covenant.

17. It is a sign between Me and the children of Israel forever; for in six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, and on the seventh day He rested, and was refreshed.”

18. And He gave to Moses, when He had made an end of speaking with him upon Mount Sinai, two tablets of the testimony, tablets of stone, written by the finger of God.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

1. And when the people saw that Moses delayed to come down from the mountain, then the people gathered themselves to Aaron, and they said to him, “Up! Make us gods which shall go before us, for this Moses, the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.”

2. And Aaron said to them, “Break off the golden earrings which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters, and bring them to me.”

3. And all the people broke off the golden earrings which were in their ears, and brought them to Aaron.

4. And he took them from their hand, and fashioned it with an engraving tool, and made a molten calf. And they said, “These are your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt.”

5. And when Aaron saw the calf, he built an altar before it. And Aaron made a proclamation and said, “Tomorrow is a feast to the LORD.”

6. And they rose up early on the next morning, and offered burnt offerings, and brought peace offerings. And the people sat down to eat and to drink, and rose up to play.

7. And the LORD said to Moses, “Go! Get you down, for your people, whom you brought out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themselves.

8. They have turned aside quickly out of the way which I commanded them. They have made them a molten calf, and have worshiped it, and have sacrificed to it, and said, ‘These are your gods, O Israel, whom you have brought up out of the land of Egypt.’”

9. And the LORD said to Moses, “I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people.

10. And now leave Me alone, so that My wrath may burn hot against them and that I may consume them. And I will make of you a great nation.”

11. And Moses prayed to the LORD his God, and said, “LORD, why does Your wrath burn hot against Your people whom You have brought forth out of the land of Egypt with great power and with a mighty hand?

12. Why should the Egyptians speak and say, ‘He brought them out with an evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to consume them from the face of the earth’? Turn from Your fierce wrath, and repent of this evil against Your people.

13. Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, Your servants, to whom You swore by Your own self, and said to them, ‘I will multiply your seed as the stars of the heavens, and all this land that I have spoken of will I give to your seed, and they shall inherit it forever.’”

14. And the LORD repented of the evil which He spoke of doing to His people.

15. And Moses turned, and went down from the mountain, and the two tablets of the testimony were in his hand: the tablets were written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other.

16. And the tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God. It was engraved upon the tablets.

17. And Joshua heard the voice of the people in their shouting. And he said to Moses, “A sound of war in the camp!”

18. And he said, “It is not a sound of a cry of victory, nor a sound of the cry of defeat. I am hearing the sound of singing.”

19. And it came to pass, as soon as he came near to the camp and saw the calf and dancing, then Moses’ anger burned hot, and he threw the tablets out of his hands, and broke them at the bottom of the mountain.

20. And he took the calf which they had made and burned it in the fire, and pulverized it to powder, and scattered it upon the water, and made the children of Israel drink of it.

21. And Moses said to Aaron, “What did this people do to you that you have brought so great a sin upon them?”

22. And Aaron said, “Let not the anger of my lord burn hot. You know the people, that they are set on mischief,

23. For they said to me, ‘Make us gods who shall go before us; as for this Moses, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’

24. And I said to them, ‘Whoever has any gold, let them break it off.’ And they gave it to me, and I threw it into the fire, and there came out this calf.”

25. And when Moses saw that the people were naked (for Aaron had made them naked to their shame among their enemies),

26. Then Moses stood in the gate of the camp and said, “Who is on the LORD’S side? Come to me.” And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves to him.

27. And he said to them, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘Each man put his sword by his side, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the camp, and kill each one his brother, and each one his companion, and each one his neighbor.’”

28. And the sons of Levi did according to the word of Moses. And there fell of the people that day about three thousand men;

29. For Moses had said, “Consecrate yourselves today to the LORD—even though it has been at the cost of a son or a brother—in order that He may give you a blessing today.”

30. And it came to pass on the next day, Moses said to the people, “You have sinned a great sin. And now I will go up to the LORD. Perhaps I shall make an atonement for your sin.”

31. And Moses returned to the LORD, and said, “Oh, these people have sinned a great sin, and have made themselves gods of gold!

32. And now if You would only forgive their sin! And if not, I pray You, blot me out of Your book which You have written.”

33. And the LORD said to Moses, “I will blot him out of My book, and lead the people to the place of which I have spoken to you. Behold, My angel shall go before you. And in the day of My visitation I will visit their sin upon them.”

34. And the LORD plagued the people because they made the calf, which Aaron made.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

1. And the LORD said to Moses, “Depart, go up from here, you and the people whom you have brought up out of the land of Egypt, to the land which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, ‘To your seed I will give it.’

2. And I will send an angel before you. And I will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, the Hittite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite;

3. To a land that is flowing with milk and honey; for I will not go up in the midst of you, for you are a stiffnecked people, lest I consume you in the way.”

4. And the people heard these evil tidings, and they mourned, and put no ornaments on themselves.

5. And the LORD had said to Moses, “Say to the children of Israel, ‘You are a stiffnecked people. If I will go up into the midst of you, in a moment I will consume you. And now put off your ornaments from you, that I may know what to do with you.’”

6. And the children of Israel stripped themselves of their ornaments by Mount Horeb.

7. And Moses took the tent and pitched it outside the camp, afar off from the camp, and called it the tent of meeting. And it came to pass, everyone who sought the LORD went out to the tent of meeting, which was outside the camp.

8. And it came to pass as Moses went out to the tent, all the people rose up, and each man stood at his tent door and gazed at Moses until he had gone into the tent.

9. And it came to pass as Moses went into the tent, the cloudy pillar descended and stood at the door of the tent, and the LORD spoke with Moses.

10. And all the people saw the cloudy pillar stand at the tent door. And all the people rose up and worshiped, each man at his tent door.

11. And the LORD would speak to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. And he returned again to the camp. But his servant, Joshua the son of Nun, a young man, did not depart from the tent.

12. And Moses said to the LORD, “Behold, You say to me, ‘Bring up this people.’ And You have not told me whom You will send with me. Yet You have said, ‘I know you by name, and you have also found grace in My sight.’

13. Now therefore, I pray You, if I have found grace in Your sight, make me see now Your way, that I may know You, that I may find grace in Your sight. And consider that this nation is Your people.”

14. And He said, “My presence shall go with you, and I will give you rest.”

15. And he said to Him, “If Your presence does not go with me, do not carry us up from here;

16. For how shall it be known that I and Your people have found grace in Your sight? Is it not in that You go with us? So we shall be separated, I and Your people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth.”

17. And the LORD said to Moses, “I will do this thing also that you have spoken, for you have found grace in My sight, and I know you by name.”

18. And he said, “I beseech You, show me Your glory.”

19. And He said, “I will make all My goodness pass before you, and I will proclaim the name of the LORD before you. And I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will have mercy on whom I will have mercy.”

20. And He said, “You cannot see My
And He said, “Behold, there is a place by Me, and you shall stand upon a rock.

22. And it will be, while My glory passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock, and will cover you with My hand while I pass by.

23. And I will take away My hand, and you shall see My back parts. But My face shall not be seen.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

1. And the LORD said to Moses, “Cut out two tablets of stone like the first ones. And I will write upon the tablets the words that were in the first tablets which you broke.

2. And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning to Mount Sinai, and present yourself there to Me on the top of the mountain.

3. And no man shall come up with you, neither let any man be seen throughout all the mountain. Also do not let the flocks nor herds feed before that mountain.

4. And he cut out two tablets of stone like the first ones. And Moses rose up early in the morning and went up to Mount Sinai, as the LORD had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tablets of stone.

5. And the LORD came down in the cloud, and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the LORD.

6. And the LORD passed by before him and proclaimed, “The LORD, the LORD God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy to the thousandth generation, forgiving iniquity and sin, but Who will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children’s children, to the third and to the fourth generation.”

7. And Moses made haste and bowed his head toward the earth, and worshiped.

9. And he said, “If now I have found grace in Your sight, O LORD, I pray You, let my LORD go among us, although it is a stiffnecked people. And pardon our iniquity and our sin, and take us for Your inheritance.”

10. And He said, “Behold, I make a covenant. Before all your people I will do marvels such as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation. And all the people in whose midst you are shall see the work of the LORD, for it is an awesome thing that I will do with you.

11. Observe that which I command you this day. Behold, I drive out before you the Amorite and the Canaanite and the Hittite and the Perizzite and the Hivite and the Jebusite.

12. Take heed to yourself, lest you make a covenant with the people of the land where you go, lest it be for a snare in the midst of you.

13. But their altars you shall destroy, their images you shall break, and their groves you shall cut down.

14. For you shall worship no other god; for the LORD, Whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God;

15. Lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, and they go whoring after their gods, and do sacrifice to their gods, and call you, and you eat of his sacrifice;

16. And lest you take from their daughters for your sons, and their daughters go whoring after their gods and make your sons go whoring after their gods.

17. You shall make no molten gods for yourselves.

18. You shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread. You shall eat unleavened bread seven days, as I commanded you, in the time of the month Abib, for in the month Abib you came out from Egypt.

19. All that opens the womb is Mine; all firstlings of male livestock, of oxen or sheep.

20. But the firstling of a donkey you shall redeem with a lamb. And if you do not redeem it, then you shall break its neck. All the firstborn of your sons you shall redeem. And none shall appear before Me empty.

21. You shall work six days, but on the seventh day you shall rest. In plowing time and in harvest you shall rest.

22. And you shall observe the Feast of Weeks, of the firstfruits of wheat harvest, and the Feast of Ingathering at the year’s end.

23. Three times in the year shall all your males appear before the Lord God, the God of Israel.

24. For I will cast out the nations before you and enlarge your borders. Neither shall any man desire your land when you shall go up to appear before the LORD your God three times in the year.
25. You shall not slaughter the blood of My sacrifice with leavened bread. Neither shall the sacrifice of the feast of the Passover be left to the morning.
26. The first of the firstfruits of your land you shall bring to the house of the LORD your God. You shall not boil a kid in its mother’s milk."

27. And the LORD said to Moses, “Write these words for yourself, for in accordance to these words I have made a covenant with you and with Israel."
28. And he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights. He neither ate bread nor drank water. And He wrote upon the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Commandments.
29. And it came to pass as Moses was going down from the mountain of Sinai, the two tablets of the testimony being in Moses’ hand as he went down from the mountain, Moses did not know that the skin of his face had become luminous through His speaking with him.
30. And Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses, and behold, the skin of his face had become luminous. And they were afraid to come near him.
31. And Moses called to them. And Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned to him, and Moses talked with them.
32. And afterward all the children of Israel came near. And he commanded them all that the LORD had spoken with him in Mount Sinai.
33. And Moses finished speaking with them, and he put a veil on his face.
34. But when Moses went in before the LORD to speak with Him, he took the veil off until he came out. And he came out and spoke to the children of Israel that which the LORD had commanded.
35. And the children of Israel saw the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses’ face had become luminous. And Moses put the veil upon his face again until he went in to speak with Him.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

1. And Moses gathered all the congregation of the children of Israel together and said to them, “These are the words which the LORD has commanded, for you to do them.
2. Six days shall work be done, but on the seventh day there shall be to you a holy day, a Sabbath of rest to the LORD. Whoever does work in it shall be put to death.
3. You shall kindle no fire throughout your living places upon the Sabbath day."
4. And Moses spoke to all the congregation of the children of Israel saying, “This is the thing which the LORD commanded. He said, 5. ‘Take from among you an offering to the LORD. Whoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, an offering of the LORD: gold, and silver, and bronze, 6. And blue, and purple, and scarlet, and bleached linen, and goats’ hair, 7. And rams’ skins dyed red, and tanned leather, and acacia wood, 8. And oil for the light, and spices for anointing oil, and for the sweet incense, 9. And onyx stones, and stones to be set in the ephod and for the breastplate.
10. And every wise-hearted one among you shall come and make all that the LORD has commanded:
11. The tabernacle, its tent, its covering, its curtains, and its boards, its bars, its pillars, and its sockets.
12. And make the ark and the staves of it, the mercy seat, and the veil of the covering.
13. The table, and its staves, and all its vessels, and showbread,
14. Also the lampstand for the light, and its vessels, and its lamp, with the oil for the light,
15. And the incense altar, and its staves, and the anointing oil, and the sweet incense, and the hanging of the door at the entering in of the tabernacle.
16. And make the altar of burnt offering, with its bronze grate, its staves, and all its vessels, the laver and its base,
17. The hangings of the court, its pillars and their sockets, and the hanging, for the door of the court,
18. The pegs of the tabernacle, and the pegs of the court, and their cords,
19. The woven garments to do service in the holy place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister in the priest’s office.”
20. And all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses.
21. And they came, everyone whose heart stirred him up, and everyone whose spirit moved him. They brought the LORD’s offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all His service, and for the holy garments.
22. And the men came in together with the women, as many as were willing-hearted, bringing bracelets and earrings and rings and ornaments, all jewels of gold; and everyone who dedicated an offering of gold to the LORD.
23. And everyone with whom was found blue and purple and scarlet and bleached linen and goats’ hair and red skins of rams and tanned leather skins, brought them.
24. Everyone who could make an offering of silver and bronze brought the LORD’s offering. And everyone with whom was found acacia wood for any work of the service brought it.
25. And every wise-hearted woman spun with her hands. And they brought spun yarn, blue and purple and scarlet and fine-twined linen.
26. And all the women whose hearts were lifted up in wisdom spun goats’ hair.
27. And the rulers brought onyx stones, and stones to be set, for the ephod and for the breastplate.
28. And they brought spice and oil, for the light and for the anointing oil and for the sweet incense.
29. The children of Israel brought a willing offering to the LORD, every man and woman whose heart made them willing to bring all manner of things for the work which the LORD had commanded to be made by the hand of Moses.
30. And Moses said to the children of Israel, “See, the LORD has called the son of Uri the son of Hur, by the name Bezaleel, of the tribe of Judah.
31. And He has filled him with the Spirit of God in wisdom, in understanding, in knowledge, and in all kinds of work,
32. And to devise designs, to work in gold, and in silver, and in bronze,
33. And in the cutting of stones to set, and in carving of wood, to make any kind of skillful work.
34. And He has put in his heart that he may teach, he and Aholiab the son of Hishamach, of the tribe of Dan.
35. He has filled them with wisdom of heart to work all kinds of work: of the smith, and of the skillful worker, and of the embroiderer in blue, in purple, in scarlet, and in bleached linen, and of the weaver, of those who do any work, and of those who work out artful work.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

1. “And Bezaleel and Aholiab shall work with everyone wise of heart to whom the LORD has given wisdom and intelligence to know how to do every work of the service of the sanctuary, concerning all which the LORD had commanded.”
2. And Moses called Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wise-hearted man in whose heart the LORD had put wisdom, even everyone whose heart stirred him up to come to do the work.
3. And they received all the offerings from Moses, the offering which the children of Israel had brought for the work of the sanctuary, to make it. And they kept bringing to him freewill offerings every morning.
4. And all the wise men who worked all the work of the sanctuary came, every man from his work which he was making.
5. And they spoke to Moses, saying, “The people bring much more than enough for the service of the sanctuary.”
6. Moses commanded, and they caused it to be known throughout the camp, saying, “Let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the sanctuary.” And the people were kept from bringing.
7. For the stuff which they had was enough for all the work to make it, and too much.
8. And every wise-hearted one among them that worked the work of the tabernacle made ten curtains of fine-twined bleached linen, and blue and purple and scarlet, making them with cherubim of skillful work.
9. The length of one curtain was twenty-eight cubits, and the breadth of one curtain was four cubits. The curtains were all of one size.
10. And he coupled the five curtains to one another, and he coupled the other...
five curtains to one another.
11. And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain from the edge in the coupling. Likewise he made loops in the outermost side, in the coupling of the second curtain.
12. He made fifty loops in one curtain, and he made fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which was in the coupling of the second. The loops held one to another.
13. And he made fifty clasps of gold, and coupled the curtains to one another with the clasps. And it became one tabernacle.
14. And he made curtains of goats’ hair for the tent over the tabernacle. He made eleven curtains.
15. The length of one curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits the breadth of one curtain. The eleven curtains were of one size.
16. And he coupled five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves.
17. And he made fifty loops on the outermost edge of the curtain in the coupling, and he made fifty loops upon the edge of the curtains which coupled the second.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

1. And Bezaleel made the ark of acacia wood: two cubits and a half long, and a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high.
2. And he overlaid it with pure gold inside and out, and made a crown molding of gold around the top edges of it.
3. And he cast four rings of gold for it, for the corners of it, even two rings on the one side of it and two rings on the other side of it.
4. And he made staves of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold.
5. And he put the staves into the rings by the sides of the ark in order to carry the ark.

6. And he made the mercy seat of pure gold: two cubits and a half long, and one cubit and a half wide.

7. And he made two cherubim of gold on the two ends of the mercy seat. He made them of beaten work.

8. One cherub at one end, and one cherub at the other end. He made the cherubim at the two ends of the mercy seat.

9. And the cherubim were spreading out their wings above, overshadowing the mercy seat with their wings, with their faces each toward the other. The faces of the cherubim were toward the mercy seat.

10. And he made the table of acacia wood: two cubits long, a cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high.

11. And he overlaid it with pure gold, and made for it a crown molding of gold all around.

12. Also he made for it a border all around of a hand’s breadth. And he made a crown molding of gold for the border of it all around.

13. And he cast for it four rings of gold, and put the rings on the four corners that were in the four legs of it.

14. The rings were near the border, the housings for the staves to carry the table.

15. And he made the staves of acacia wood, and overlaid them with gold, to carry the table.

16. And he made the vessels which were on the table, its dishes and its spoons, and its bowls, and its pitchers by which a drink offering is made, of pure gold.

17. And he made the lampstand of pure gold. He made the lampstand of beaten work; its shaft and its branch, its cups, its knobs, and its blossoms, were of the same.

18. And six branches went out of the sides of it: three branches of the lampstand out of the one side of it, and three branches of the lampstand out of the other side of it.

19. Three almond-like cups were on the one branch, a knob and a blossom; and three almond-like cups on the other branch, a knob and a blossom—so throughout the six branches going out of the lampstand.

20. And on the lampstand were four almond-like cups, its knobs and its blossoms.

21. And a knob was under two branches of the same, and a knob under two branches of the same, and a knob under two branches of the same, to the six branches going out of it.

22. Their knobs and their branches were of the same; all of it was one beaten work of pure gold.

23. And he made its seven lamps, and its snuffers, and its snuff-dishes of pure gold.

24. He made it of a talent of pure gold, and all the vessels of it.

25. And he made the incense altar of acacia wood. Its length was a cubit, and its breadth a cubit, square. And its height was two cubits. Its horns were of one piece.

26. And he overlaid it with pure gold, the top of it and the sides of it all around, and the horns of it. Also, he made for it a crown molding of gold all around the top edge.

27. And he made two rings of gold for it beneath the crown molding of it, by the two corners of it, upon the two sides of it, to be places for the staves to bear it with.

28. And he made the staves of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold.

29. And he made the holy anointing oil, and the pure incense of sweet spices, the work of the perfumer.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

1. And he made the altar of burnt offering of acacia wood. Its length was five cubits and its breadth five cubits square, and its height three cubits.

2. And he made its horns on its four corners. Its horns were of one piece with it. And he overlaid it with bronze.

3. And he made all the vessels of the altar, the pots, and the shovels, and the basins, the flesh-hooks, and the fire-pans. All the vessels of it he made of bronze.

4. And he made a bronze grate of network for the altar, under the ledge, around it beneath.

5. And he cast four rings for the four ends of the grate of bronze, places for the staves.

6. And he made the staves of acacia wood and overlaid them with bronze.

7. And he put the staves into the rings on the sides of the altar, to carry it with. He made it hollow with boards.
8. And he made the laver of bronze and its base of bronze, from the mirrors of the serving women who were working at the entrance of the tabernacle of the congregation.

9. And he made the court: on the south side, southward, the hangings of the court were of fine-twined bleached linen, a hundred cubits.

10. Their pillars were twenty and their bronze sockets twenty. The hooks of the pillar and their bands were of silver.

11. And for the north side, a hundred by the cubit, their pillars twenty, and their bases ten. The hooks of the pillars and their bands were of silver.

12. And for the west side were hangings of fifty cubits, their pillars ten, and their bases ten. The hooks of the pillars and their bands were of silver.

13. And for the east side eastward fifty cubits.

14. The hangings of the one side were fifteen cubits, and their pillars three, and their bases three.

15. And for the other side of the court gate, on this hand and that hand, were hangings of fifteen cubits, their pillars three, and their bases three.

16. All the hangings of the court all around were of fine-twined bleached linen.

17. And the bases for the pillars were of bronze. The hooks of the pillars and their bands were of silver. And the overlaying of their capitals was of silver. And all the pillars of the court were banded with silver.

18. And the screen for the gate of the court was needlework: blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine-twined bleached linen. And it was twenty cubits long, and the height and the width five cubits, to match the hangings of the court.

19. And the pillars were four, and their bronze bases four; their hooks silver, and the overlaying of their capitals and their bands silver.

20. And all the pegs of the tabernacle and of the court all around were of bronze.

21. This is the sum of the tabernacle, of the tabernacle of testimony, as it was counted, according to the command of Moses, for the service of the Levites by the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest.

22. And Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the LORD commanded Moses.

23. And with him was Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, an engraver, and a skillful workman, and an embroiderer in blue and in purple and in scarlet and bleached linen.

24. All the gold that was used for the work in all the work of the sanctuary, even the gold of the offering, was twenty-nine talents and seven hundred thirty shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

25. And the silver from those numbered of the congregation was a hundred talents and seventeen hundred seventy-five shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary;

26. A bekah for every man, half a shekel, after the shekel of the sanctuary, for everyone that went to be numbered, from twenty years old and upward, for six hundred three thousand, five hundred fifty men.

27. And the bases of the sanctuary were cast of the hundred talents of silver, and the bases of the veil also, a hundred bases of the hundred talents, a talent for a base.

28. And he made hooks for the pillars out of the seventeen hundred seventy-five shekels, and overlaid their tops and bound them.

29. And the bronze of the wave offering was seventy talents and twenty-four hundred shekels,

30. And with it he made the bases for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the bronze altar, and the bronze grate for it, and all the vessels of the altar,

31. And the bases of the court all around, and the bases of the court gate, and all the pegs of the tabernacle, and all the pegs of the court all around.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

1. And of the blue and purple and scarlet, they made woven garments for ministering in the sanctuary. And they made the holy garments for Aaron, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

2. And he made the ephod of gold, blue and purple and scarlet, and fine-twined bleached linen.
and cut threads to work it into the blue, and into the purple, and into the scarlet, and into the bleached linen, the work of an artisan.

4. They made shoulder pieces for it to couple it together. It was coupled together by the two edges.

5. And the fastening band of his ephod that was upon it was of the same materials and workmanship; of gold, blue and purple and scarlet, and fine-twined bleached linen, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

6. And they made stones of onyx set in plaited work of gold, engraved as signets are engraved, with the names of the children of Israel.

7. And he put them on the shoulders of the ephod, stones for a memorial to the children of Israel.

8. And he made the breastplate in skilled work, like the work of the ephod, of gold, blue and purple and scarlet, and fine-twined bleached linen;

9. It was square. They made the breastplate double. Its length was a span and its breadth a span when doubled.

10. And they set four rows of stones in it. One row was a sardius, a topaz and a carbuncle, the first row.

11. And the second row: an emerald, a sapphire and a diamond.

12. And the third row: a ligure, an agate and an amethyst.

13. And the fourth row: a beryl, an onyx and a jasper, set in plaited work of gold in their settings.

14. And the stones were according to the names of the sons of Israel, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a signet, every one with its name according to the twelve tribes.

15. And they made cords of chains upon the breastplate of woven work of pure gold.

16. And they made two plaitings of gold and two gold rings. And they put the two rings on the two ends of the breastplate.

17. And they put the two cords of gold in the two rings on the ends of the breastplate.

18. And the two ends of the two cords were fastened in the two plaitings. And they put them on the shoulder pieces of the ephod on its front.

19. And they made two rings of gold. And they put them on the two ends of the breastplate, on its border, on the inward side of the ephod.

20. And they made two golden rings, and put them on the two sides of the ephod underneath, toward the front of it, near the other coupling of it, above to the band of the ephod.

21. And they bound the breastplate by its rings to the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, so that it might be above the band of the ephod, and so that the breastplate might not be loosened from the ephod, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

22. And he made the robe of the ephod of woven work, all of blue.

23. And the opening in the middle of the robe was like the opening in a garment, with a binding around the opening, so that it might not tear.

24. And they made upon the hems of the robe pomegranates of blue and purple and scarlet, and twined bleached linen.

25. And they made bells of pure gold, and put the bells between the pomegranates upon the hems of the robe, all around, between the pomegranates:

26. A bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate, all around the hem of the robe to minister in, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

27. And they made the tunics of bleached linen of woven work for Aaron and for his sons.

28. And they made a miter of bleached linen, and the headdress of the caps of bleached linen, and linen breeches of fine-twined bleached linen,

29. And a girdle of fine-twined bleached linen, and blue and purple and scarlet, for needlework, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

30. And they made the plate of the holy crown of pure gold, and wrote upon it an inscription of the engravings of a signet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

31. And they tied a lace of blue to it in order to fasten it on high upon the miter, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

32. And all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation was finished. And the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses. So they did.

33. And they brought the tabernacle to Moses, the tent, and all its furniture, its clasps, its boards, its bars, and its pillars, and its bases,
34. And the covering of rams’ skins dyed red, and the covering of tanned leather skins, and the veil of the covering,
35. The ark of the testimony, and its staves, and the mercy seat,
36. The table, and all its vessels, and the showbread,
37. The pure lampstand, its lamps, even the lamps to be set in order, and all the vessels of it, and the oil for light,
38. And the golden altar, and the anointing oil, and the sweet incense, and the screen for the tabernacle door,
39. The bronze altar, and its grate of bronze, its staves, and all its vessels, the laver and its base,
40. The curtains of the court, its pillars and its sockets, and the screen for the court gate, its cords, and its pegs, and all the vessels of the service of the tabernacle for the tent of the congregation,
41. The woven garments for ministering in the sanctuary, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and his sons’ garments, to minister in the priest’s office.
42. According to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so the children of Israel made all the work.
43. And Moses looked upon all the work, and, behold, they had done it, as the LORD commanded, even so they had done it. And Moses blessed them.

CHAPTER FORTY
1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “You shall set up the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation on the first day of the first month.
3. And you shall put the ark of the testimony in it, and you shall cover the ark with the veil.
4. And you shall bring the table in and set in order its arrangement. And you shall bring the lampstand in and light the lamps of it.
5. And you shall set the altar of gold for the incense in front of the ark of the testimony, and put the screen of the door to the tabernacle.
6. And you shall set the altar of the burnt offering in front of the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.
7. And you shall set the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and shall put water in it.
8. And you shall set up the court all around, and place the screen at the court gate.
9. And you shall take the anointing oil and anoint the tabernacle, and all that is in it, and shall sanctify it and all the vessels of it. And it shall be holy.
10. And you shall anoint the altar of the burnt offering and all its vessels, and sanctify the altar. And it shall be a most holy altar.
11. And you shall anoint the laver and its base, and sanctify it.
12. And you shall bring Aaron and his sons to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and wash them with water.
13. And you shall put the holy garments on Aaron, and anoint him and sanctify him, so that he may minister to Me in the priest’s office.
14. And you shall bring his sons and clothe them with tunics.
15. And you shall anoint them, even as you anointed their father, so that they may minister to Me in the priest’s office; for their anointing shall surely be an everlasting priesthood for their generations.”
16. And Moses did so. According to all that the LORD commanded him, so he did.
17. And it came to pass in the first month in the second year, on the first of the month, the tabernacle was set up.
18. And Moses reared up the tabernacle and fastened its bases, and set up its boards, and put in its bars, and set up its pillars.
19. And he spread the tent over the tabernacle and put the covering of the tent above upon it, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
20. And he took and placed the testimony into the ark, and set the staves on the ark, and put the mercy seat on top of the ark.
21. And he brought the ark into the tabernacle and set up the veil of the covering, and covered the ark of the testimony, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
22. And he put the table in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the side of the tabernacle northward, outside the veil.
23. And he set the bread in order upon it before the LORD, even as the LORD had commanded Moses.
24. And he put the lampstand in the tabernacle of the congregation from across the table, on the side of the tabernacle southward.
25. And he set up the lamps before the LORD, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
26. And he put the golden altar in the tabernacle of the congregation in front of the veil.
27. And he burned sweet incense on it, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
28. And he set up the screen at the door of the tabernacle.
29. And he put the altar of burnt offering by the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation, and offered on it the burnt offering and the grain offering, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
30. And he set the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and put water there for washing.
31. And Moses and Aaron and his sons washed their hands and their feet there.
32. When they went into the tent of the congregation, and when they came near the altar, they washed, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
33. And he set up the court all around the tabernacle and the altar, and set up the screen of the court gate. And Moses finished the work.
34. And the cloud covered the tabernacle of the congregation, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.
35. And Moses was not able to enter into the tabernacle of the congregation because the cloud stayed on it, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.
36. And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Israel journeyed on in all their journeys.
37. But if the cloud was not taken up, then they did not journey until the day that it was taken up;
38. For the cloud of the LORD was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel in all their journeys.

The Third Book of Moses, Called Leviticus

CHAPTER ONE

1. And the LORD called to Moses and spoke to him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘If any man of you brings an offering to the LORD, you shall bring your offering of the domestic animals of the herd and of the flock.
3. If his offering is a burnt sacrifice of the herd, let him offer a male without blemish. He shall offer it of his own voluntary will at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD.
4. And he shall put his hand on the head of the burnt offering. And it shall be accepted for him to make atonement for him.
5. And he shall kill the young bull before the LORD. And the priests, Aaron’s sons, shall bring the blood and sprinkle the blood all around against the side of the altar that is by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
6. And he shall skin the burnt offering and cut it into its pieces.
7. And the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire upon the altar and lay the wood in order on the fire.
8. And the priests, Aaron’s sons, shall arrange the parts with the head and the fat on the wood that is on the fire upon the altar.
9. But its inward parts and its legs he shall wash in water. And the priest shall burn all upon the altar, a burnt sacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a sweet savor to the LORD.
10. And if his offering is of the flocks, of the sheep or of the goats for a burnt offering, he shall bring a male without blemish.
11. And he shall kill it by the side of the altar northward before the LORD. And the priests, Aaron’s sons, shall sprinkle its blood all around against the side of the altar.
12. And he shall cut it into its pieces, with its head and its fat. And the priest shall arrange them on the wood that is on the fire, which is upon the altar.

13. But he shall wash the inward parts and the legs with water; and the priest shall bring all of it near and burn it upon the altar. It is a burnt sacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a sweet fragrance to the LORD.

14. And if the burnt sacrifice for his offering to the LORD is out of fowls, then he shall bring his offering of turtledoves or of young pigeons.

15. And the priest shall bring it to the altar, and wring off its head and burn it on the altar. And its blood shall be drained at the side of the altar.

16. And he shall pluck away its crop with its feathers, and throw it beside the altar on the east part by the place of the ashes.

17. And he shall cleave it with the wings of it, but not divide it into separate pieces. And the priest shall burn it upon the altar, on the wood that is on the fire. It is a burnt sacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a sweet savor to the LORD.' ”

CHAPTER TWO

1. “‘And when anyone will offer a grain offering to the LORD, his offering shall be of fine flour. And he shall pour oil on it and put frankincense on it.

2. And he shall bring it to Aaron’s sons, the priests. And he shall take out of it his handful of flour and its oil, with all its frankincense. And the priest shall burn the memorial of it upon the altar, an offering made by fire of a sweet savor to the LORD.

3. And the rest of the grain offering shall be Aaron’s and his sons’. It is a most holy part of the offerings of the LORD made by fire.

4. And if you bring a sacrifice of a grain offering baked in the oven, it shall be unleavened cakes of fine flour mixed with oil, or unleavened wafers anointed with oil.

5. And if your offering is a grain offering on the griddle, your offering shall be of fine flour unleavened, mixed with oil.

6. You shall break it in pieces and pour oil on it. It is a grain offering.

7. And if your offering is a grain offering in the frying pan, it shall be made of fine flour with oil.

8. And you shall bring the grain offering that is made of these things to the LORD. And when it is presented to the priest, he shall bring it to the altar.

9. And the priest shall take from the grain offering a memorial of it, and shall burn it upon the altar. It is an offering made by fire of a sweet savor to the LORD.

10. And that which is left of the grain offering shall be Aaron’s and his sons’: it is a most holy part of the offerings of the LORD made by fire.

11. Any grain offering which you shall bring to the LORD shall not be made with leaven, for you shall burn no leaven, nor any honey, in any offering of the LORD made by fire.

12. As an offering of the firstfruits, you shall bring them to the LORD. But they shall not be burned upon the altar for a sweet savor.

13. And every sacrifice of your grain offering shall you season with salt. And you shall not allow the salt of the covenant of your God to be lacking from your grain offering. You shall offer salt with all your offerings.

14. And if you bring a grain offering of your firstfruits to the LORD, green ears parched with fire, crushed fresh kernels, for a grain offering your firstfruits,

15. And you shall put oil on it and lay frankincense on it. It is a grain offering.

16. And the priest shall burn it as incense with part of its memorial offering from its crushed kernels and part of its oil, besides all its frankincense. It is an offering made by fire to the LORD.’ ”

CHAPTER THREE

1. “‘And if his offering is a sacrifice of peace offering, if he offers it from the herd, whether it is a male or female, he shall offer it without blemish before the LORD.

2. And he shall lay his hand on the head of his offering, and kill it at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. And the priests, Aaron’s sons, shall sprinkle the blood against the side of the altar all around.

3. And he shall bring near from the sacrifice the peace offering, an offering made by fire to the LORD: The fat that covers the inward parts, all the fat that is on the inward parts,
4. And the two kidneys, and the fat on them, on the loins, and the fold above the liver, with the kidneys, he shall remove.

5. And Aaron’s sons shall burn it upon the altar, along with the burnt sacrifice upon the wood, which is upon the fire. It is an offering made by fire of a sweet savor to the LORD.

6. And if his offering for a sacrifice of peace offering to the LORD is of the flocks, male or female, he shall bring it without blemish.

7. If he is bringing near a sheep for his offering, then he shall bring it near before the LORD.

8. And he shall lay his hand on the head of his offering and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation. And Aaron’s sons shall sprinkle its blood all around against the side of the altar.

9. And he shall offer of the sacrifice of the peace offering, an offering made by fire to the LORD. He shall take away its fat, all its fat next to the backbone, and all the fat that covers the inward parts, and all the fat that is on the inward parts.

10. And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is on the loins, and the fold above the liver, beside the kidneys, he shall remove it.

11. And the priest shall burn it upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire to the LORD.

12. And if his offering is a goat, then he shall bring it near before the LORD.

13. And he shall lay his hand on its head and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation. And the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle its blood against the side of the altar all around.

14. And he shall offer his offering of it, an offering made by fire to the LORD, the fat that covers the inward parts, and all the fat on the inward parts.

15. And the two kidneys, and the fat on them, which is on the loins, and the fold above the liver, beside the kidneys, he shall remove.

16. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire for a sweet savor. All the fat is the LORD’S.

17. It shall be a statute forever for your generations throughout all your dwellings that you eat neither fat nor blood.”

CHAPTER FOUR

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

2. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘If a soul shall sin through ignorance against any of the commandments of the LORD concerning things which ought not to be done, and shall do any one of them—

3. If the priest who is anointed sins, resulting in guilt to the people, then he shall bring for his sin, which he has sinned, a young bull from the herd, a perfect one, to the LORD for a sin offering.

4. And he shall bring the young bull to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD, and he shall lay his hand on the young bull’s head, and kill the young bull before the LORD.

5. And the priest who is anointed shall take of the young bull’s blood, and shall bring it to the tabernacle of the congregation.

6. And the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle of the blood seven times before the LORD, at the front of the veil of the holy place.

7. And the priest shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of sweet incense before the LORD, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation. And he shall pour all the blood of the young bull at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8. And he shall lift up from it all the fat of the young bull for the sin offering: the fat that covers the inward parts and all the fat on the inward parts,

9. And the two kidneys and the fat on them beside the loins, and he shall remove the fold above the liver with the kidneys.

10. Even as it was taken from the young bull of the sacrifice of peace offerings, the priest shall burn them upon the altar of the burnt offering.

11. And the skin of the young bull, and all its flesh with its head and with its legs and its inward parts, and its dung,

12. Even the whole bull shall he carry forth outside the camp to a clean place, where the ashes are poured out, and burn it upon the wood with fire. It shall be burned where the ashes are poured out.

13. And if the whole congregation of Israel sins through ignorance, and the thing is hidden from the eyes of the assembly, and if they do that which ought not to be done to any of all the commandments of the Lord, and are guilty; 14. When the sin is known which they have sinned against it, then the congregation shall bring near a young bull for the sin, and bring it before the tabernacle of the congregation. 15. And the elders of the congregation shall lay their hands on the head of the young bull before the Lord, and the young bull shall be killed before the Lord. 16. And the priest that is anointed shall bring of the young bull’s blood to the tabernacle of the congregation. 17. And the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle seven times before the Lord, before the veil. 18. And he shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar which is before the Lord, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation. And he shall pour out all the blood at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 19. And he shall take all its fat from it and burn it upon the altar. 20. And he shall do with the young bull as he did with the young bull for a sin offering; so shall he do to it. And the priest shall make an atonement for them, and it shall be forgiven them. 21. And he shall carry forth the young bull outside the camp, and burn it as he burned the first bull. It is a sin offering for the congregation. 22. When a ruler has sinned and through ignorance has acted against any of the commandments of the Lord his God, which is not to be done, and is guilty; 23. Or if his sin which he has sinned shall be made known to him, he shall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a female without blemish. 24. And he shall lay his hand on the head of the goat and kill it in the place where he kills the burnt offering before the Lord. It is a sin offering. 25. And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering with his finger, and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and shall pour out its blood at the base of the altar of burnt offering. 26. And he shall burn all its fat upon the altar, as the fat of the sacrifice of peace offerings. And the priest shall make an atonement for him for his sin, and it shall be forgiven him. 27. And if any one of the common people sins through ignorance by doing that which is not to be done against one of the commandments of the Lord, and is guilty, 28. Or if his sin which he has sinned shall be made known to him, then he shall bring his offering, a ewe of the goats, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has sinned. 29. And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering, and kill the sin offering in the place of the burnt offering. 30. And the priest shall take of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and shall pour out all the blood of it at the base of the altar. 31. And he shall take away all its fat, as the fat is taken away from the sacrifice of peace offerings. And the priest shall burn it upon the altar for a sweet savor to the Lord. And the priest shall make an atonement for him, and it shall be forgiven him. 32. And if he brings a lamb for a sin offering, he shall bring a female without blemish. 33. And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering, and kill it for a sin offering in the place where he kills the burnt offering. 34. And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and shall pour out all its blood at the base of the altar. 35. And he shall take away all the fat of it, as the fat of the lamb is taken away from the sacrifice of the peace offerings. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar, on the fire offerings to the Lord. And the priest shall make an atonement for his sin that he has sinned, and it shall be forgiven him.’ ”

CHAPTER FIVE

1. “And if anyone sins and hears the voice of swearing, and is a witness, and he has seen or known, if he does not tell it, then he shall bear his iniquity. 2. Or if anyone touches any unclean thing, whether a dead body of an unclean beast, or a dead body of unclean domestic animals, or the dead body of unclean swarming things, and if it is unknown to him, he also shall be unclean and guilty—
3. Or if he touches the uncleanliness of man, whatever uncleanness by which he is unclean, and it is unknown to him, but when he knows of it, then he shall be guilty.
4. Or if a soul swears, pronouncing with his lips to do evil or to do good, whatever it is that a man speaks rashly with an oath, and he does not realize it, but when he knows of it, then he shall be guilty of these in any matters.
5. And it shall be when he is guilty in one of these, and shall confess how he has sinned:
6. Then he shall bring his trespass offering to the LORD for his sin which he has sinned, a female from the flock, a lamb or a doe of the goats, for a sin offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for him for his sin.
7. And if he is not able to bring a lamb, then he shall bring for his trespass which he has committed, two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the LORD—one for a sin offering, and the other for a burnt offering.
8. And he shall bring them to the priest, who shall offer the one for the sin offering first, and shall wring off its head from its neck, but shall not divide it into separate pieces.
9. And he shall sprinkle of the blood of the sin offering against the side of the altar, and the rest of the blood shall be drained at the base of the altar. It is a sin offering.
10. And he shall offer the second for a burnt offering, according to the ordinance. And the priest shall make an atonement for him for his sin which he has sinned, and it shall be forgiven him.
11. But if he is not able to bring two turtledoves, or two young pigeons, then he that sinned shall bring for his offering the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a sin offering. He shall put no oil on it, neither shall he put frankincense on it; for it is a sin offering.
12. And he shall bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his full handful of it, a memorial of it, and burn it upon the altar, on the fire offering to the LORD. It is a sin offering.

Leviticus 5 - 6

13. And the priest shall make an atonement for him for his sin that he has sinned in any of these, and it shall be forgiven him. And the rest shall be the priest’s, as a grain offering.

14. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
15. “If a soul commits a trespass and sins through ignorance in the holy things of the LORD, then he shall bring for his trespass to the LORD a ram without blemish out of the flock, together with an amount set by you, by shekels of silver, after the shekel of the sanctuary, for a trespass offering.
16. And he shall make it good in which he has sinned, in the holy thing, and he shall add the fifth part of it, and give it to the priest. And the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespass offering, and it shall be forgiven him.
17. And if anyone sins, and he has done that which is forbidden to be done by the commandments of the LORD, and does not realize it, and he is guilty and shall bear his iniquity;
18. Then he shall bring a ram without blemish out of the flock, at your evaluation, for a trespass offering, to the priest. And the priest shall make an atonement for him for his ignorance in which he erred without knowing it, and it shall be forgiven him.
19. It is a trespass offering. He has certainly trespassed against the LORD.”

CHAPTER SIX

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “If anyone sins and commits a breach of faith against the LORD by deceiving his neighbor as to a deposit or security, or by robbery, or has extorted his neighbor,
3. Or has found that which was lost and lies concerning it and swears falsely—in any of all these things that a man does, sinning in it—
4. Then, it shall be, because he sinned and is guilty, he shall pay back that which he got by robbery; or if he robbed the thing extorted; or the deposit which had been deposited with him; or the lost thing which he had found;
5. Or all that which he swore about falsely—he shall even repay it in its principal, and the fifth part he shall add to it, to whomever it belongs. He shall give it on the day of his guilt offering.

6. And he shall bring his trespass offering to the LORD, a ram without blemish out of the flock, together with an amount set by you, for a trespass offering to the priest.

7. And the priest shall make an atonement for him before the LORD, and it shall be forgiven him for anything of all that he has done by being guilty in it.”

8. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, “Command Aaron and his sons, saying, ‘This is the law of the burnt offering. It is the burnt offering for burning upon the altar all night until morning, and the fire of the altar shall be burning in it.

9. And the priest shall put on his linen garment. And he shall put his linen breeches on his flesh and take up the ashes which the fire has consumed with the burnt offering upon the altar. And he shall put them beside the altar.

10. And he shall strip off his garments and put on other garments, and carry forth the ashes outside the camp to a clean place.

11. And the fire upon the altar shall be kept burning. It shall not be put out. And the priest shall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt offering in order upon it. And he shall burn upon it the fat of the peace offerings.

12. The fire shall always be burning upon the altar. It shall never go out.

13. And this is the law of the grain offering. The sons of Aaron shall offer it before the LORD before the altar.

14. And he shall take from it his handful of the flour of the grain offering, and of the oil of it, and all the frankincense which is on the grain offering, and shall burn it upon the altar for a sweet savor, the memorial of it, to the LORD.

15. And the rest of it Aaron and his sons shall eat. It shall be eaten with unleavened bread in the holy place. They shall eat it in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation.

16. It shall not be baked with leaven. I have given it as their portion of My offerings made by fire. It is most holy, as is the sin offering, and as the trespass offering is.

17. All the males among the children of Aaron shall eat of it. It shall be a statute forever in your generations concerning the offerings of the LORD made by fire. Everyone that touches them shall be holy.’”

19. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, “This is the offering of Aaron and of his sons, which they shall offer to the LORD in the day he is anointed, the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a continual grain offering, half of it in the morning and half of it at night.

21. It shall be made in a pan with oil; you shall bring it in. And you shall offer the baked pieces of the grain offering, a sweet savor to the LORD.

22. And the priest, or one of his sons who is anointed in his stead, shall offer it. It is a statute forever to the LORD. It shall be wholly burnt.

23. For every grain offering for the priest shall be wholly burnt. It shall not be eaten.”

24. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, “Speak to Aaron and to his sons, saying, ‘This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where the burnt offering is killed, the sin offering shall be killed before the LORD. It is most holy.

26. The priest who offers it for sin shall eat it. It shall be eaten in the holy place, in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation.

27. Whatever shall touch its flesh shall be holy. And when any of its blood is sprinkled on any garment, you shall wash that on which it was sprinkled in the holy place.

28. But the earthen vessel in which it is boiled shall be broken. And if it is boiled in a bronze pot, it shall be both scoured and rinsed in water.

29. All the males among the priests shall eat of it. It is most holy.

30. But no sin offering, of which any of the blood is brought into the tabernacle of the congregation for atonement in the sanctuary, shall be eaten. It shall be wholly burnt in the fire.’”

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. “‘And this is the law of the trespass offering. It is most holy.

2. In the place where they kill the burnt offering, they shall kill the trespass offering.
And he shall sprinkle its blood against the side of the altar all around.

3. And he shall offer all its fat; he shall offer the fat tail of it, and the fat that covers the inward parts.

4. And the two kidneys, and the fat on them, on the loins, and the fold above the liver, beside the kidneys, he shall take away.

5. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar for a fire offering to the LORD. It is a trespass offering.

6. Every male among the priests shall eat of it. It shall be eaten in the holy place. It is most holy.

7. As the sin offering, so is the trespass offering. There is one law for them. The priest that makes atonement with it, it is his.

8. And the priest that offers any man’s burnt offering, that priest shall have the skin of the burnt offering which he has offered; it is his.

9. And all the grain offering that is baked in the oven, and all that is dressed in the frying-pan and on the griddle, shall be the priest’s that offers it; it is his.

10. And every grain offering mixed with oil, or dry, shall all the sons of Aaron have, one as much as another.

11. And this is the law of the sacrifice of peace offerings which he shall offer to the LORD.

12. If he offers it for a thanksgiving, then he shall offer with the sacrifice of thanksgiving unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and cakes mixed with oil, of fine flour, fried.

13. Along with the cakes, he shall offer for his offering leavened bread with the sacrifice of thanksgiving of his peace offerings.

14. And from it he shall offer one cake out of the whole sacrifice for a heave offering to the LORD to the priest that sprinkles the blood of the peace offerings, it is his.

15. And the flesh of the sacrifice of his peace offerings for thanksgiving shall be eaten the same day that it is offered. He shall not leave any of it until the morning.

16. But if the sacrifice of his offering is a vow, or a voluntary offering, it shall be eaten the same day that he offers his sacrifice. And on the next day also the rest of it shall be eaten.

17. But the rest of the flesh of the sacrifice on the third day shall be burned with fire.

18. And if any of the flesh of the sacrifice of the peace offerings is eaten at all the third day, it shall not be accepted, neither shall it be imputed to him who offers it. It shall be an abomination, and the one who eats of it shall bear his iniquity.

19. And the flesh that touches any unclean thing shall not be eaten. It shall be burned with fire. And as for the other flesh, all who are clean shall eat of it.

20. But the one who eats of the flesh of the sacrifice of peace offerings that pertain to the LORD, having his uncleanness on him, even that one shall be cut off from his people.

21. And the one who shall touch any unclean thing, of the uncleanness of man, or any unclean animal, or an unclean abominable thing, and eat of the flesh of the sacrifice of peace offerings which pertain to the LORD, even that one shall be cut off from his people.'

22. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

23. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘You shall not eat any fat of ox, or of sheep, or of goat.

24. And the fat of a dead body, and the fat of a thing torn, may be used in any other use. But you shall in no way eat it;

25. For whoever eats the fat of the beast of which men offer an offering made by fire to the LORD, even the soul that eats it shall be cut off from his people.

26. And you shall not eat any blood, of fowl or of beast, in any of your dwellings.

27. Any soul who eats any blood, even that soul shall be cut off from his people.’ ”

28. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

29. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘He who offers the sacrifice of his peace offerings to the LORD shall bring his sacrifice to the LORD of the sacrifice of his peace offerings.

30. His own hands shall bring the offerings of the LORD made by fire. He shall bring the fat with the breast, so that the breast may be waved for a wave-offering before the LORD.”
31. And the priest shall burn the fat upon the altar. But the breast shall be Aaron's, and his sons'.
32. And you shall give the right shoulder to the priest for a heave offering of the sacrifices of your peace offerings.
33. He among the sons of Aaron who offers the blood of the peace offerings and the fat shall have the right shoulder for his part,
34. For I have taken the wave breast and the heave shoulder from the children of Israel, from the sacrifices of their peace offerings, and have given them to Aaron the priest and to his sons by a statute forever from among the children of Israel.'
35. This is the portion of the anointing of Aaron, and of the anointing of his sons, out of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, in the day that He presented them to minister to the LORD in the priest's office,
36. Which the LORD commanded to be given to them of the children of Israel, in the day that He anointed them by a statute forever throughout their generations.
37. This is the law of the burnt offering, of the grain offering, and of the sin offering, and of the trespass offering, and of the consecrations, and of the sacrifices of the peace offerings,
38. Which the LORD commanded Moses in Mount Sinai, in the day that He commanded the children of Israel to offer their sacrifices to the LORD, in the wilderness of Sinai.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “Take Aaron and his sons with him, and the garments, and the anointing oil, and a young bull for the sin offering, and two rams, and a basket of unleavened bread.
3. And gather all the congregation together to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.”
4. And Moses did as the LORD had commanded him. And the congregation was gathered together to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
5. And Moses said to the congregation, “This is the thing which the LORD commanded to be done.”
6. And Moses brought Aaron and his sons, and washed them with water.
7. And he put on him the tunic, and girded him with the girdle, and clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod on him, and girded him with the embroidered girdle of the ephod, and bound it to him with it.
8. And he put the breastplate on him. Also in the breastplate he put the Urim and the Thummim.
9. And he put the miter on his head. Also he put the golden plate, the holy crown, on the miter, on his forehead, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
10. And Moses took the anointing oil and anointed the tabernacle and all that was in it, and sanctified them.
11. And he sprinkled some of it upon the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all its vessels, both the laver and its base, to sanctify them.
12. And he poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head and anointed him, to sanctify him.
13. And Moses brought Aaron’s sons and put tunics on them, and girded them with girdles, and bound turbans on them, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
14. And he brought the young bull for the sin offering. And Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the young bull for the sin offering.
15. And he killed it. And Moses took the blood and put it on the horns of the altar all around with his finger, and purified the altar, and poured the blood at the base of the altar, and sanctified it, to make atonement on it.
16. And he took all the fat on the inward parts, and the fold above the liver, and the two kidneys and their fat, and Moses burned it upon the altar.
17. But the young bull and its hide, its flesh and its dung, he burned with fire outside the camp, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
18. And he brought the ram for the burnt offering. And Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the ram.
19. And he killed it. And Moses sprinkled the blood against the side of the altar all around.
20. And he cut the ram into pieces. And Moses burned the head and the pieces and the fat.
21. And he washed the inward parts and the legs in water. And Moses burned the whole ram upon the altar. It was a burnt sacrifice for a sweet savor, and an offering.
made by fire unto the LORD, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
22. And he brought the second ram, the ram of consecration. And Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the ram.
23. And he killed it. And Moses took of the blood of it, and put it on the tip of Aaron’s right ear, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot.
24. And he brought Aaron’s sons, and Moses put the blood on the tip of their right ear, and on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the great toes of their right feet. And Moses sprinkled the blood against the side of the altar all around.
25. And he took the fat, and the fat tail, and all the fat on the inward parts, and the fold above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat, and the right shoulder.
26. And he took one unleavened cake out of the basket of unleavened bread that was before the LORD, and a cake of oiled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and on the right shoulder.
27. And he put all in Aaron’s hands, and in his sons’ hands, and waved them for a wave offering before the LORD.
28. And Moses took them from their hands and burned them upon the altar of the burnt offering. They were consecrations for a sweet savor. It is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.
29. And Moses took the breast and waved it for a wave offering before the LORD. It was Moses’ part of the ram of consecration, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
30. And Moses took of the anointing oil, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and sprinkled it on Aaron, and on his garments, and on his sons, and on his sons’ garments with him. And he sanctified Aaron, his garments, and his sons, and his sons’ garments with him.
31. And Moses said to Aaron and to his sons, “Boil the flesh at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. And eat it there with the bread in the basket of consecrations, as I have commanded, saying, ‘Aaron and his sons shall eat it.’
32. And that which remains of the flesh and of the bread you shall burn with fire.
33. You shall not go out of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation seven days, until the days of your consecration are at an end, for He shall consecrate you seven days.
34. As He has done this day, the LORD has commanded you to do, to make an atonement for you.
35. And you shall remain at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night seven days, and keep the charge of the LORD, so that you do not die; for so I am commanded.”
36. And Aaron and his sons did all the things which the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

CHAPTER NINE

1. And it came to pass on the eighth day that Moses called Aaron and his sons, and the elders of Israel.
2. And he said to Aaron, “Take a young calf for a sin offering, and a ram without blemish for a burnt offering, and offer before the LORD.
3. And speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘Take a kid of the goats for a sin offering, and a calf and a lamb of the first year, all without blemish, for a burnt offering.
4. Also take a young bull and a ram for peace offerings, to sacrifice before the LORD, and a grain offering mixed with oil; for today the L ORD will appear to you.’”
5. And they brought that which Moses commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation. And all the congregation drew near and stood before the LORD.
6. And Moses said, “This is the thing which the LORD commanded that you should do. And the glory of the LORD shall appear to you.”
7. And Moses said to Aaron, “Go to the altar, and offer your sin offering and your burnt offerings, and make an atonement for yourself and for the people. And offer the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them, even as the LORD commanded.”
8. Aaron then went to the altar and killed the calf of the sin offering, which was for himself.
9. And the sons of Aaron brought the blood to him. And he dipped his finger in the blood and put it on the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the base of the altar.
10. But he burned the fat and the kidneys and the fold above the liver of the sin offering upon the altar, even as the LORD commanded upon Moses.
11. And he burned the flesh and the hide with fire outside the camp.
12. And he killed the burnt offering. And Aaron’s sons presented to him the blood, which he sprinkled all around the side of the altar.
13. And they presented the burnt offering to him, with the pieces of it, and the head. And he burned them on the altar.
14. And he washed the inward parts and the legs, and burned them with the burnt offering on the altar.
15. And he brought the people’s offering. And he took the goat, the sin offering for the people, and killed it like the first sin offering.
16. And he brought the burnt offering and offered it according to the ordinance.
17. And he brought the grain offering and took a handful of it, and burned it on the altar besides the burnt sacrifice of the morning.
18. He also killed the young bull and the ram for a sacrifice of peace offerings for the people. And Aaron’s sons presented to him the blood, which he sprinkled on the altar all around.
19. And they brought the fat of the young bull and of the ram, the fat tail, and that which covers the inward parts, and the kidneys, and the fold above the liver.
20. And they put the fat on the breasts, and he burned the fat on the altar.
21. And the breasts and the right shoulder Aaron waved for a wave offering before the LORD, as Moses commanded.
22. And Aaron lifted up his hands toward the people, and blessed them, and came down from offering the sin offering and the burnt offering and peace offerings.
23. And Moses and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the congregation, and came out and blessed the people. And the glory of the LORD appeared to all the people.
24. And there came a fire out from before the LORD, and burned up the burnt offering and the fat on the altar. And all the people saw and shouted and fell on their faces.

CHAPTER TEN

1. And Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, each took his censer and put fire in it, and put incense on it, and offered strange fire before the LORD, which He had commanded them not to do.
2. And there went out fire from the LORD and consumed them, and they died before the LORD.
3. Then Moses said to Aaron, “It is that which the LORD spoke, saying, ‘I will be sanctified in them that come near me, and before all the people I will be glorified.’ ” And Aaron held his peace.
4. And Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel, the uncle of Aaron, and said to them, “Come near, carry your brothers from before the sanctuary out of the camp.”
5. And they came near and carried them in their coats out of the camp, as Moses had said.
6. And Moses said to Aaron and to Eleazar and Ithamar his sons, “Do not uncover your heads nor tear your clothes, lest you die, and lest wrath come upon all the people. But let your brethren, the whole of Israel, mourn the burning which the LORD has kindled.
7. And you shall not go out of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, lest you die, for the anointing oil of the LORD is upon you.” And they did according to the word of Moses.
8. And the LORD spoke to Aaron, saying, “Do not drink wine nor strong drink, neither you nor your sons with you, when you go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest you die. It shall be a statute forever throughout your generations.
9. You are to distinguish between the holy and unholy, and between the unclean and clean,
10. And so that you may teach the children of Israel all the statutes which the LORD has spoken to them by the hand of Moses.”
12. And Moses spoke to Aaron and to Eleazar and to Ithamar, his sons that were left, “Take the grain offering that remains of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and eat it without leaven beside the altar, for it is most holy.
13. And you shall eat in the holy place, because it is your due, and your sons’ due, of the sacrifices of the LORD made by fire; for so I am commanded.
14. And the wave breast and heave shoulder you shall eat in a clean place, you, and your sons and your daughters with you, for they have been given for your portion and the portion of your sons out of the sacrifices of peace offerings of the children of Israel.
15. The heave shoulder and the wave breast they shall bring with the fire offerings of the fat, to wave for a wave offering before the LORD. And it shall be yours, and your sons’ with you, by a statute forever, even as the LORD has commanded.”
16. And Moses carefully looked for the goat of the sin offering. And behold, it was burned! And he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the sons of Aaron left alive, saying,
17. “Why have you not eaten the sin offering in the holy place, since it is most holy, and He has given it to you to bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the LORD?
18. Behold, the blood of it was not brought within the holy place! You should indeed have eaten it in the sanctuary as I commanded,”
19. And Aaron said to Moses, “Behold, this day they have offered their sin offering and their burnt offering before the LORD. And such things have happened to me. And if I had eaten the sin offering today, should it have been accepted in the sight of the LORD?”
20. And Moses heard, and it was good in his eyes.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying to them,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘These are the animals which you shall eat among all the animals that are in the earth.
3. Whatever divides the hoof and is cloven-footed, chewing the cud, among the animals, that you shall eat.
4. Only, you shall not eat these among those that chew the cud, or of those that divide the hoof: the camel, for he chews the cud but does not divide the hoof, he is unclean to you.
5. And the rock badger, because it chews the cud, but does not divide the hoof, it is unclean to you.
6. And the hare, because it chews the cud but does not divide the hoof, it is unclean to you.
7. And the swine, though it divides the hoof and is cloven-footed, yet it does not chew the cud; it is unclean to you.
8. You shall not eat of their flesh, and you shall not touch their dead body. They are unclean to you.
9. These you shall eat of all that are in the waters: whatever has fins and scales in the waters, in the seas, and in the rivers, those you shall eat.
10. And all that have not fins and scales in the seas, and in the rivers, of all that move in the waters, and of any living thing that is in the waters, they shall be an abomination to you.
11. They shall even be an abomination to you. You shall not eat of their flesh, but you shall have their carcasses in abomination.
12. Whatever has no fins nor scales in the waters shall be an abomination to you.
13. And you shall have these in abomination among the fowls. They shall not be eaten, they are an abomination: the eagle, and the black vulture, and the bearded vulture,
14. And the kite, and the falcon, according to its kind;
15. Every raven according to its kind;
16. And the ostrich, and the great owl, and the gull, and small hawks, according to its kind,
17. And the little owl, and the cormorant, and the horned owl;
18. And the barn owl, and the pelican, and the owl vulture;
19. And the stork, the heron according to its kind, and the hoopoe, and the bat.
20. Every flying creature that swarms, going on all four legs, is an abomination to you.
21. Yet you may eat these of any flying, swarming thing that goes on all four, those which have jointed legs above their feet, with which to leap upon the earth.
22. You may eat these of them: the locust after its kind, and the bald locust after its kind, and the long horned locust after its kind, and the short horned grasshopper after its kind.
23. But every other flying, swarming thing which has four feet shall be an abomination to you.
24. And you shall be unclean for these. Whoever touches their dead body shall be unclean until sunset.
25. And whoever carries the carcass of them shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the sunset.
26. Even every living thing which divides the hoof, and is not cloven-footed, nor chews the cud, they are unclean to you. Everyone that touches them shall be unclean.
27. And whatever goes on its paws, among all the living things that go on all four, those are unclean to you. Whoever touches their dead body shall be unclean until the sunset.
28. And he that carries their dead bodies shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the sunset. They are unclean to you.
29. These also shall be unclean to you among the swarming things that swarm on the earth: the weasel, and the mouse, and the great lizard after its kind;
30. And the gecko, and the monitor, and the lizard, and the sand lizard, and chameleons.
31. These are unclean to you among all that swarm. Whoever touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until the sunset.
32. And anything that shall fall on the earth shall be unclean until the sunset. They shall be broken down. They shall wash their clothes and be unclean until the sunset.
33. And every earthen vessel in which any of them falls, whatever is in it shall be unclean. And you shall break it.
34. Of all food which may be eaten, that on which such water comes shall be unclean. And all drink that may be drunk in every such vessel shall be unclean.
35. And every thing on which any part of their dead body falls shall be unclean; whether it is the oven, or ranges for pots, they shall be broken down. They are unclean, and shall be unclean to you.
36. But a fountain or pit with a collection of water, shall be clean. But that which touches their dead body shall be unclean.
37. And if any part of their dead body falls on any sowing seed which is to be sown, it shall be clean.
38. But if any water is put on the seed, and any part of the dead body falls on it, it shall be unclean to you.
39. And if any animal among those you may eat dies, he that touches its dead body shall be unclean until the sunset.
40. And he that eats of its dead body shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the sunset. He also that carries its body shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the sunset.
41. And every creeping thing that creeps on the earth shall be an abomination. It shall not be eaten.
42. Anything going on its belly, and any going on all four, and all having many feet, even every creeping thing that creeps on the earth, you shall not eat them, for they are an abomination.
43. You shall not defile yourselves with any creeping thing that creeps, neither shall you make yourselves unclean with them, so that you should be defiled by them;
44. For I am the LORD your God, and you shall sanctify yourselves, and you shall be holy, for I am holy. Neither shall you defile yourselves with any kind of creeping thing that creeps on the earth;
45. For I am the LORD Who brought you up out of the land of Egypt to be your God. You shall therefore be holy, for I am holy.
46. This is the law of the animals, and of the fowl, and of every living creature that moves in the waters, and of every creature that creeps on the earth,
47. To make a difference between the unclean and the clean, and between the creature that may be eaten and the creature that may not be eaten.' "

CHAPTER TWELVE
1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
2. "Speak to the children of Israel, saying, 'If a woman has conceived seed and has borne a male, then she shall be unclean seven days; as on the days of her menstrual impurity she shall be unclean.
3. And in the eighth day the flesh of her foreskin shall be circumcised.
4. And she shall then continue in the blood of her purifying thirty-three days. She shall touch no holy thing, nor come into the sanctuary, until the days of her purifying are fulfilled.
5. But if she bears a female, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as in her menstruation. And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying sixty-six days.
6. And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled, for a son or for a daughter, she shall bring a lamb of the first year for a burnt offering, and a young pigeon or a turtledove for a sin offering, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to the priest.
7. And he shall offer it before the LORD, and make an atonement for her. And she shall be cleansed from the issue of her blood. This is the law for her that has borne a male or a female.
8. And if she cannot afford a lamb, then she shall bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons. The one shall be for a burnt offering and the other for a sin offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for her, and she shall be cleansed.’ "

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying,
2. “When a man has a swelling on the skin of his flesh, or a scab or bright spot, and it is on the skin of his flesh like the plague of leprosy, then he shall be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons the priests.
3. And the priest shall look on the plague on the skin of the flesh. And if the hair in the plague has turned white, and the plague in sight is deeper than the skin of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosy. And the priest shall look on him and shall pronounce him unclean.
4. And if the bright spot is white in the skin of his flesh, and in sight is not deeper than the skin, and the hair of it has not turned white, then the priest shall shut up the one who has the plague seven days.
5. And the priest shall look on him the seventh day. And behold, if the plague in his sight is stayed, the plague has not spread in the skin, then the priest shall shut him up seven days more.
6. And the priest shall look on him again in the seventh day. And, behold, if the plague is somewhat dark, the plague has not spread in the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean. It is a scab. And he shall wash his clothes and be clean.
7. But if the scab spreads greatly in the skin after he has been seen by the priest for his cleansing, he shall be seen by the priest again.
8. And if the priest sees that, behold, the scab spreads in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a leprosy.
9. When the plague of leprosy is in a man, then he shall be brought to the priest.
10. And the priest shall look. And behold, if the rising is white in the skin, and it has turned the hair white and there is live raw flesh in the rising,
11. It is an old leprosy in the skin of his flesh. And the priest shall pronounce him unclean, and shall not shut him up, for he is unclean.
12. And if a leprosy breaks out greatly on the skin, and the leprosy covers all the skin of the one who has the plague from his head even to his foot, to all that appears to the eyes of the priest,
13. Then the priest shall look. And behold, if the leprosy has covered all his flesh, he shall pronounce the plagued one clean. It has all turned white. He is clean. But when raw flesh appears in him, he shall be unclean.
14. And the priest shall look on the raw flesh, and pronounce him to be unclean. The raw flesh is unclean; it is a leprosy.
15. Or if the raw flesh turns again and is changed to white, he shall come to the priest.
16. And the priest shall look on him. And behold, the plague has turned to white, then the priest shall pronounce the plagued one clean. He is clean.
17. And when the flesh has a boil in his skin, and it has healed, the priest shall look on it; and if the rise is white in the skin, and it has turned the hair white, it shall be shown to the priest;
18. And when the flesh has a boil in his skin, and it has healed, there are white hairs in it, and it is unclean; it is a burning boil.
19. And in the place of the boil there is a white rising or a bright spot, a reddish white, it shall be shown to the priest;
20. And if the priest sees it, and behold, it is in sight lower than the skin, and the hair of it has turned white, the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a plague of leprosy broken out in a boil.
21. But if the priest looks on it, and behold, there are no white hairs in it, and it is not lower than the skin, but has become dark, then the priest shall shut him up seven days.
22. And if it spreads greatly in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a plague.
23. But if the bright spot stays in its place, not spreading, it is a burning boil. And the priest shall pronounce him clean.
24. Or if there is flesh in which the skin has a hot burning, and the raw flesh of the burning becomes a white bright spot, reddish or white.
25. Then the priest shall look on it. And behold, the hair in the bright spot has turned white, and it is in sight deeper than the skin, it is leprosy broken out of the burning. Therefore the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is the plague of leprosy.
26. But if the priest looks on it, and behold, there is no white hair in the bright spot, and it is no lower than the other skin, but is somewhat dark, then the priest shall shut him up seven days.
27. And the priest shall look on him the seventh day. If it spreads farther in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is the plague of leprosy.
28. And if the bright spot stays in its place, and does not spread in the skin, but is somewhat faded, it is a rising of the burning, and the priest shall pronounce him clean; for it is a scar of the burning.
29. If a man or woman has in them a plague on the head or beard,
30. Then the priest shall see the plague.
And behold, if it is in sight deeper than the skin, and a yellow thin hair is in it, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a dry scab, a leprosy on the head or beard.
31. And if the priest looks on the plaque of the scab, and behold, it is not in sight deeper than the skin, and no black hair is in it, then the priest shall shut up the plagued one with the scab seven days.
32. And in the seventh day the priest shall look on the plague. And behold, if the scab does not spread, and no yellow hair is in it, and the scab is not in sight deeper than the skin.
33. He shall be shaven, but shall not shave the scab. And the priest shall shut up the one who has the scab seven days more.
34. And in the seventh day the priest shall look on the scab. And behold, if the scab has not spread in the skin, nor is in sight deeper than the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him clean. And he shall wash his clothes and be clean.
35. But if the scab spreads very much in the skin after his cleansing.
36. Then the priest shall look on him, and behold, if the scab is spread in the skin, the priest shall not look for shining yellow hair. He is unclean.
37. But if in his eyes the scab is stabilized, and black hair is growing up in it, the scab is healed. He is clean, and the priest shall pronounce him clean.
38. Also if a man or a woman has bright spots in the skin of their flesh, white bright spots,
39. Then the priest shall look. And behold, if pale white bright spots are in the skin of their flesh, it is a pale spot springing up in the skin. He is clean.
40. And when a man’s head grows bald, he is bald. He is clean.
41. And if his head grows bald from the edge of his face, he is forehead bald. He is clean.
42. And if there is in the bald head, or bald forehead, a reddish white sore, it is a leprosy sprung up in his bald head or his bald forehead.
43. And the priest shall look on it. And behold, if the rising of the sore is reddish white on his bald head, or on his bald forehead, as the leprosy appears on the skin of the flesh,
44. He is a man with leprosy. He is unclean. The priest shall pronounce him utterly unclean. His plague is on his head.
45. And as for the leper on whom the plague is, his clothes shall be torn, and his head shall be bare, and he shall put a covering on his upper lip, and shall cry, ‘Unclean! Unclean!’
46. All the days in which the plague is in him he shall be defiled. He is unclean.
He shall live alone. His dwelling shall be outside the camp.
47. And if there is any garment that has the plague of leprosy mold in it, in a wool garment or a linen garment, 48. Or in the spun yarn or in the woven piece of linen or of wool, or in the hide or in anything of leather,
49. And if the plague is greenish or reddish in the garment, or in an article of leather, either in the spun yarn or in the woven cloth, or in anything of leather, it is a plague of mold leprosy. And it shall be shown to the priest.
50. And the priest shall look on the plague, and shut up that which has the plague seven days.
51. And he shall look on the mold plague on the seventh day. If the plague is spread in the garment, either in the spun yarn or in the woven cloth, or in any leather or in any work that is made of leather, the plague is a fretting mold leprosy. It is unclean.

52. And he shall burn that garment, whether spun yarn or woven cloth, in wool or in linen, or anything of leather in which the plague is, for it is an acute mold leprosy. It shall be burned in the fire.

53. And if the priest shall look, and behold, the plague has not spread in the garment, either in the spun yarn or the woven cloth, or anything of a tanned leather,

54. Then the priest shall command that they wash the thing in which the plague is. And he shall shut it up seven days more.

55. And the priest shall look on the plague after it is washed, and behold, if the plague has not changed its color and the plague has not spread, it is contaminated, whether the spot is on the inside or outside.

56. And if the priest looks, and behold, the plague is somewhat dark after the washing of it, then he shall tear it out of the garment, or out of the tanned leather, or out of the spun yarn, or out of the woven cloth.

57. And if it appears still in the garment, or in the spun yarn or in the woven cloth, or in anything of a tanned leather, it is a spreading plague. You shall burn it with fire, for the plague is in it.

58. And the garment which you shall wash, either spun yarn or woven cloth, or whatever thing of a tanned leather it is, if the plague has departed from them, then it shall be washed a second time, and it shall be clean.

59. This is the law of the plague of leprosy in a garment of woolen or linen, either in the spun yarn or woven cloth or anything of tanned leather, to pronounce it clean or to pronounce it unclean.”

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

2. “This shall be the law of the leper in the day of his cleansing. He shall be brought to the priest.

3. And the priest shall go forth out of the camp. And the priest shall look and behold if the plague of leprosy is healed in the leper.

4. Then the priest shall command to take two clean live birds for him who is to be cleansed, and cedar wood, and scarlet, and hyssop.

5. And the priest shall command that one of the birds be killed in an earthen vessel over running water.

6. He shall take the living bird, and the cedar wood and the scarlet and the hyssop, and shall dip them and the living bird in the blood of the slain bird, over the running water.

7. And he shall sprinkle on him who is to be cleansed from the leprosy seven times, and shall pronounce him clean, and shall let the living bird loose into the open field.

8. And he who is to be cleansed shall wash his clothes, and shave off all his hair, and wash himself in water so that he may be clean. And after that he shall come into the camp, and shall stay outside his tent seven days.

9. But on the seventh day he shall shave all his hair off his head and his beard and his eyebrows; even all his hair shall he shave off. And he shall wash his clothes. He also shall wash his flesh in water, and he shall be clean.

10. And on the eighth day he shall take two male lambs without blemish, and one ewe lamb of the first year without blemish, and three tenth parts of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, and one log of oil.

11. And the priest who is cleansing, and the man who is to be cleansed, shall stand with them before the LORD at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12. And the priest shall take one male lamb and offer him for a trespass offering, and the log of oil, and wave them for a wave offering before the LORD.

13. And he shall kill the lamb in the place where he shall kill the sin offering and the burnt offering, in the holy place; for as the sin offering is the priest’s, so is the trespass offering. It is most holy.

14. And the priest shall take of the blood of the trespass offering, and the priest shall put it on the tip of the right ear of the man that is to be cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot.

15. And the priest shall take from the log of oil and pour into the palm of his own left hand.

16. And the priest shall dip his right finger in the oil in his left hand and shall sprinkle of the oil with his finger seven times before the LORD.
17. And of the rest of the oil in his hand, the priest shall put on the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot, on the blood of the trespass offering.

18. And the rest of the oil in the priest’s palm, he shall pour on the head of him that is to be cleansed. And the priest shall make an atonement for him before the LORD.

19. And the priest shall offer the sin offering and make an atonement for him who is to be cleansed. And afterward he shall kill the burnt offering.

20. And the priest shall offer the burnt offering and the grain offering upon the altar. And the priest shall make an atonement for him, and he shall be clean.

21. And if he is poor and he cannot afford so much, then he shall take one lamb for a trespass offering to be waved, to make an atonement for him, and one tenth part of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering, and a log of oil.

22. And two turtledoves or two young pigeons, such as he can afford. And the one shall be a sin offering and the other a burnt offering. And the priest shall wave them for a wave offering before the LORD.

23. And he shall bring them on the eighth day for his cleansing to the priest to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation to make an atonement for him before the LORD.

24. And the priest shall take the lamb of the trespass offering, and the log of oil, and the priest shall wave them for a wave offering before the LORD.

25. And he shall kill the lamb of the trespass offering. And the priest shall take from the blood of the trespass offering, and put it on the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot.

26. And the priest shall pour of the oil into the palm of his own left hand.

27. And the priest shall sprinkle with his right finger of the oil that is on his left hand seven times before the LORD.

28. And the priest shall put of the oil in his hand on the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot, on the place of the blood of the trespass offering.

29. And the rest of the oil in the priest’s hand he shall put on the head of him that is to be cleansed, to make an atonement for him before the LORD.

30. And he shall offer one of the turtledoves, or one of the young pigeons, such as he is able to afford, for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, with the grain offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for him that is to be cleansed before the LORD.

31. Even such as he is able to afford, the one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, with the grain offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for him that is to be cleansed before the LORD.

32. This is the law of him in whom is the plague of leprosy, who is unable to afford the offering for his cleansing.”

33. And the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying,

34. “When you come into the land of Canaan which I give you for a possession, and I put the plague of mold leprosy in a house in the land of your possession,

35. And if he that owns the house shall come and tell the priest, saying, ‘A plague is seen by me in the house,’

36. Then the priest shall command that they empty the house before the priest goes to see the mold plague, so that all that is in the house may not become unclean. And afterwards the priest shall go in to see the house.

37. And he shall look on the mold plague. And behold, if the mold plague is in the walls of the house with hollow streaks, greenish or reddish, which in sight are lower than the wall,

38. Then the priest shall go out of the house to the door of the house, and shut up the house seven days.

39. And the priest shall come again the seventh day and shall look. And behold, if the mold plague has spread in the walls of the house,

40. Then the priest shall command that they take away the stones in which the mold plague is, and they shall throw them into an unclean place outside the city.

41. And he shall cause the house to be scraped inside all around, and they shall pour out the dust that they scrape off outside the city in an unclean place.

42. And they shall take other stones and put them in the place of those stones. And he shall take other mortar and shall plaster the house.

43. And if the mold plague comes again and breaks out in the house after he has taken away the stones and after he has scraped the house, and after it is plastered,
44. Then the priest shall come and look. And behold, if the mold plague has spread in the house, it is a spreading mold leprosy in the house. It is unclean.
45. And he shall demolish the house, its stones, and its timber, and all the mortar of the house, and he shall carry them out of the city into an unclean place.
46. And he who goes into the house all the days that it is shut up shall be unclean until the sunset.
47. And he who lies in the house shall wash his clothes. And he who eats in the house shall wash his clothes.
48. And if the priest shall come in and look, and behold, the mold plague has not spread in the house after the house was plastered, then the priest shall pronounce the house clean because the plague is healed.
49. And he shall take two birds to cleanse the house, and cedar wood, and scarlet dye, and hyssop.
50. And he shall kill one of the birds in an earthen vessel over running water.
51. And he shall take the cedar wood, and the hyssop, and the scarlet dye, and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of the slain bird and in the running water, and sprinkle the house seven times.
52. And he shall cleanse the house with the blood of the bird, and with the running water, and with the living bird, and with the cedar wood, and with the hyssop, and with the scarlet.
53. But he shall let the living bird go out of the city into the open field, and make an atonement for the house. And it shall be clean.
54. This is the law for all kinds of plague of leprosy and scab,
55. And for the leprosy of a garment and of a house,
56. And for a rising and for a scab and for a bright spot,
57. To teach when it is unclean and when it is clean. This is the law of leprosy.”

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. And the L ORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘When any man has a dis-
3. charge from his flesh; he is unclean because of his discharge.
4. And this shall be his uncleanness in his discharge. His flesh has run with his discharge, or his flesh is ceased from his discharge, it is his uncleanness.
5. Every bed on which he who discharges lies is unclean. And everything on which he sits shall be unclean.
6. And he that sits on anything on which he who discharges sat shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
7. And he that touches the flesh of him who discharges shall wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
8. And if he who discharges spits on him that is clean, then he shall wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
9. And whatever saddle he who discharges rides on shall be unclean.
10. And whoever touches anything that was under him shall be unclean until sunset. And he that carries any of those things shall wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
11. And whomever he who discharges touches, and has not rinsed his hands in water, he shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
12. And the earthen vessel that he who discharges touches shall be broken. And every vessel of wood shall be rinsed in water.
13. And when he who discharges is cleansed of his discharge, then he shall number seven days to himself for his cleansing, and wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in running water, and shall be clean.
14. And on the eighth day he shall take two turtledoves for himself, or two young pigeons, and come before the L ORD to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and give them to the priest.
15. And the priest shall offer them, the one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for him before the L ORD for his discharge.
16. And if any man’s semen goes out from him, then he shall wash all his flesh
17. And every garment and every skin on which the semen shall be, it shall be washed with water, and be unclean until sunset.
18. And the woman with whom a man shall lie with emission of semen shall both bathe in water and be unclean until sunset.
19. And if a woman has a discharge, and her discharge in her flesh is blood, she shall be in her impurity seven days. And whoever touches her shall be unclean until sunset.
20. And everything that she lies on in her impurity shall be unclean. Everything also that she sits on shall be unclean.
21. And whoever touches her bed shall wash his clothes, and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
22. And whoever touches anything that she sat on, shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
23. And if it is on the bed or on anything on which she sits, when he touches it, he shall be unclean until sunset.
24. And if any man lies with her at all, and her impurity is on him, he shall be unclean seven days. And every bed on which he lies shall be unclean.
25. And if a woman has a discharge of her blood many days outside of the time of her impurity, or if she discharges it beyond the time of her impurity, all the days of the discharge of her uncleanness shall be as the days of her impurity. She is unclean.
26. Every bed on which she lies all the days of her discharge shall be to her as the bed of her impurity. And whatever she sits on shall be unclean, as the uncleanness of her impurity.
27. And whoever touches those things shall be unclean, and shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset.
28. But if she is cleansed of her discharge, then she shall number to herself seven days, and after that she shall be clean.
29. And on the eighth day she shall take two turtledoves to her, or two young pigeons, and bring them to the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
30. And the priest shall offer the one for a sin offering, and the other for a burnt offering. And the priest shall make atonement for her before the LORD for the discharge of her uncleanness.
31. So you shall separate the children of Israel from their uncleanness, so that they do not die in their uncleanness when they defile My tabernacle that is among them.
32. This is the law of him that has a discharge, and of him whose semen goes from him and is defiled with it.
33. And of her that is menstruating, and of him that has a discharge, of the man, and of the woman, and of him that lies with an unclean woman.”

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses after the death of the two sons of Aaron, when they offered before the LORD and they died.
2. And the LORD said to Moses, “Speak to Aaron your brother, that he does not come at all times into the sanctuary within the veil before the mercy seat, which is on the ark, so that he does not die, for I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat.
3. Aaron shall come into the sanctuary this way: with a young bull, for a sin offering, and a ram for a burnt offering.
4. He shall put on the holy linen coat, and he shall have the linen breeches on his flesh, and shall be girded with a linen girdle, and with the linen miter he shall be dressed. These are holy garments. And he shall wash his flesh in water and put them on.
5. And he shall take from the congregation of the children of Israel two kids of the goats for a sin offering, and one ram for a burnt offering.
6. And Aaron shall offer his young bull of the sin offering which is for himself, and make an atonement for himself and for his house.
7. And he shall take the two goats and present them before the LORD at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
8. And Aaron shall cast lots on the two goats; one lot for the LORD and the other lot for Azazel.
9. And Aaron shall bring the goat on which the LORD’S lot fell, and offer it for a sin offering.
10. But the goat on which the lot fell for Azazel shall be presented alive before the LORD, to make an atonement upon it and sent away into the wilderness for Azazel.

11. And Aaron shall bring the young bull of the sin offering which is for himself, and shall make an atonement for himself and for his house, and shall kill the young bull of the sin offering which is for himself.

12. And he shall take a censer full of coals of fire from off the altar before the LORD, and his hands full of fragrant incense beaten small, and bring it within the veil.

13. And he shall put the incense on the fire before the LORD. And the cloud of the incense shall cover the mercy seat that is on the testimony. And he shall not die.

14. And he shall take of the blood of the young bull and shall sprinkle with his finger on the front of the mercy seat eastward. And he shall sprinkle at the front of the mercy seat seven times from the blood with his finger.

15. Then he shall kill the goat of the sin offering that is for the people, and bring its blood inside the veil. And he shall do with that blood as he did with the blood of the young bull, and sprinkle it on the mercy seat and before the mercy seat.

16. And he shall make an atonement for the sanctuary because of the uncleanness of the children of Israel and because of their transgressions in all their sins. And so he shall do for the tabernacle of the congregation which remains with them in the midst of their uncleanness.

17. And there shall be no man in the tabernacle of the congregation when he goes in to make an atonement in the sanctuary until he comes out and has made an atonement for himself, and for his household, and for all the congregation of Israel.

18. And he shall go out to the altar that is before the LORD and make an atonement for it. And he shall take of the blood of the young bull and of the blood of the goat, and put it on the horns of the altar all around.

19. And he shall sprinkle of the blood on it with his finger seven times and cleanse it, and hallow it from the uncleanness of the children of Israel.
to minister in the priest’s office in his father’s stead, shall make the atonement and shall put on the linen clothes, the holy garments.

33. And he shall make an atonement for the holy sanctuary, and he shall make an atonement for the tabernacle of the congregation, and for the altar; and he shall make an atonement for the priests and for all the people of the congregation.

34. And this shall be an everlasting statute to you, to make an atonement for the children of Israel for their sins once a year.” And he did as the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
2. “Speak to Aaron and to his sons, and to all the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘This is the thing which the LORD has commanded, saying,
3. “Any man of the house of Israel who kills an ox or lamb or goat for a sacrifice to the LORD in the camp, or kills it out of the camp,
4. And does not bring it to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation to offer an offering to the LORD before the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a sweet savor to the LORD,
5. So that the children of Israel may bring their sacrifices which they offer in the open field, even that they may bring them to the LORD, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to the priest, and offer them for peace offerings to the LORD.
6. And the priest shall sprinkle the blood against the side of the altar of the LORD at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a sweet savor to the LORD.
7. And they shall no more offer their sacrifices to goat demons, after whom they have gone whoring. This shall be a statute forever to them throughout their generations.’
8. And you shall say to them, ‘Any man of the house of Israel, or of the strangers who are staying among you, offers a burnt offering or sacrifice,
9. And does not bring it to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation to offer it to the LORD, even that man shall be cut off from among his people.
10. And any man of the house of Israel, or of the strangers that are living among you, who eats any blood, I will set My face against that soul who eats blood, and will cut him off from among his people.
11. For the life of the flesh is in the blood. And I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for yourselves; for it is the blood that makes an atonement for life.’
12. Therefore I said to the children of Israel, ‘No one among you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger that is staying among you eat blood.
13. And any man of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that are living among you, who hunts game, beast or fowl that may be eaten, shall even pour out its blood and cover it with dust;
14. For it is the life of all flesh. Its blood is for the life of it. Therefore I said to the children of Israel, ‘You shall not eat the blood of any flesh; for the life of all flesh is its blood. Whoever eats it shall be cut off.’
15. And anyone who eats that which died of itself, or a torn thing, whether one of your own country or a stranger, he shall both wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until sunset. Then he shall be clean.
16. But if he does not wash, nor bathe his flesh, then he shall bear his iniquity.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘I am the LORD your God.
3. As they do in the land of Egypt where you dwelt, you shall not do. And you shall not do as they do in the land of Canaan, where I am bringing you. Neither shall you walk in their ordinances.
4. You shall do My judgments and keep My ordinances, and walk in them. I am the LORD your God.
5. And you shall keep My statutes and My judgments, which if a man does, he shall live in them. I am the LORD.
6. None of you shall approach to any who are near of kin to him to uncover their nakedness. I am the LORD.
7. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father or the nakedness of your mother. She is your mother; you shall not uncover her nakedness.
8. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s wife. It is your father’s nakedness.
9. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your sister, the daughter of your father or the daughter of your mother, born at home or born away. Their nakedness you shall not uncover.
10. The nakedness of your son’s daughter, or of your daughter’s daughter, you shall not uncover their nakedness, for theirs is your own nakedness.
11. You shall not uncover the nakedness of the daughter of your father’s wife, begotten of your father. She is your sister.
12. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s sister. She is your mother’s near kinswoman.
13. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother’s sister. She is your brother’s wife. It is your brother’s nakedness.
14. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s brother. You shall not approach his wife. She is your aunt.
15. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law. She is your son’s wife. You shall not uncover her nakedness.
16. You shall not uncover the nakedness of your brother’s wife. It is your brother’s nakedness.
17. You shall not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter, neither shall you undertake to uncover her son’s daughter, or her daughter’s daughter. They are her near kinswomen; it is wickedness.
18. Nor shall you take a woman along with her sister as wives, causing rivalry to uncover her nakedness during her lifetime.
19. Also you shall not approach a woman to uncover her nakedness in the impurity of her uncleanness.
20. And you shall not lie carnally with your neighbor’s wife to defile yourself with her.
21. And you shall not let any of your children pass through the fire to Molech, neither shall you profane the name of your God. I am the LORD.
22. You shall not lie with mankind as with womankind. It is an abomination to God.
23. And you shall not lie with any animal to defile yourself with it. And a woman shall not stand before an animal to lie down to it. It is a perversion.
24. Do not defile yourselves in any of these things, for in all these the nations which I cast out before you are defiled.
25. And the land is defiled. Therefore I visit its wickedness against it, and the land itself vomits out those who live in it.
26. You shall therefore keep My statutes and My judgments, and shall not commit any of these abominations, neither the native, nor any stranger that lives among you;
27. For the men of the land who were before you have done all these abominations, and the land is defiled.
28. You shall not do these so that the land may not spew you out also when you defile it, as it spewed out the nations that were before you;
29. For whoever shall commit any of these abominations, even the souls who commit them shall be cut off from among their people.
30. And you shall keep My ordinance, so as not to do any of these abominable customs which were committed before you, and that you do not defile yourselves in them. I am the LORD your God.”

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “Speak to all the congregation of the children of Israel and say to them, ‘You shall be holy, for I the LORD your God am holy.
3. You shall each man revere his mother and his father, and keep My Sabbaths. I am the LORD your God.
4. Do not turn to idols, nor make molten gods to yourselves. I am the LORD your God.
5. And if you offer a sacrifice of peace offerings to the LORD, you shall offer it of your own free will.
6. It shall be eaten the same day you offer it, and on the next day. And if anything remains until the third day, it shall be burned in the fire.
7. And if it is eaten at all on the third day, it is an abomination. It shall not be accepted.
8. And anyone that eats it shall bear his iniquity because he has profaned the holy thing of the LORD. And that soul shall be cut off from among his people.
9. And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not wholly reap the corners of your field. And you shall not gather the gleanings of your harvest.

10. And you shall not glean your vineyard. And you shall not gather the fallen grapes of your vineyard. You shall leave them for the poor and the stranger. I am the LORD your God.

11. You shall not steal, nor lie, nor be deceitful to one another.

12. And you shall not swear by My name falsely; nor shall you profane the name of your God. I am the LORD.

13. You shall not defraud your neighbor nor rob him. The wages of him who is hired shall not stay with you all night until the morning.

14. You shall not curse the deaf, nor put a stumbling block before the blind, but shall fear your God. I am the LORD.

15. You shall do no unrighteousness in judgment. You shall not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty, but you shall judge your neighbor in righteousness.

16. You shall not go as a slanderer among your people; you shall not stand idly by the blood of your neighbor. I am the LORD.

17. You shall not hate your brother in your heart. You shall always admonish your neighbor, that you may not bear sin because of him.

18. You shall not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of your people; but you shall love your neighbor as yourself. I am the LORD.

19. You shall keep My statutes. You shall not let your livestock breed with different kinds. You shall not sow your field with two kinds of seed. And you shall not allow clothing mixed of linen and wool to come on you.

20. And whoever lies carnally with a woman, and she is a slave girl, betrothed to a husband and not at all redeemed, nor freedom given her, there shall be an inquest. They shall not be put to death because she was not free.

21. And he shall bring his trespass offering to the LORD, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, even a ram for a trespass offering.

22. And the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespass offering before the LORD for his sin which he has done. And the sin which he has done shall be forgiven him.

23. And when you shall come into the land, and shall have planted all kinds of trees for food, then you shall count the fruit of them as uncircumcised. It shall be uncircumcised three years to you. It shall not be eaten.

24. But in the fourth year all the fruit of them shall be holy—unto which to praise the LORD.

25. And in the fifth year you shall eat of the fruit of it, so that it may yield to you its increase. I am the LORD your God.

26. You shall not eat anything with the blood. You shall not observe times nor practice witchcraft.

27. You shall not round the hair of your temples, nor the edge of your beard.

28. You shall not make any cuttings in your flesh for the dead, nor tattoo any marks on you. I am the LORD.

29. You shall not prostitute your daughter to cause her to be a whore, lest the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedness.

30. You shall keep My Sabbaths and reverence My sanctuary. I am the LORD.

31. You shall not turn to those that have familiar spirits, nor seek after mediums and divinations; nor shall you inquire after the dead.

32. You shall rise up before the gray hair who is an elderly man, and fear your God. I am the LORD.

33. And if a stranger lives with you in your land, you shall not oppress him.

34. The stranger that dwells with you in your land shall be to you as one born among you, and you shall love him as yourself; for you were strangers in the land of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.

35. You shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in measures and weights, or in any kind of workmanship.

36. You shall have just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin. I am the LORD.

37. And you shall observe all My statutes and My judgments, and do them. I am the LORD.”

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

2. “Again you shall say to the children of Israel, ‘Any one of the children of Israel or of the strangers who lives in Israel, that gives any of his children to Molech, he shall surely be put to death. The people of the land shall stone him with stones.

3. And I will set My face against that man, and will cut him off from among his people, because he has given of his seed to Molech to defile My sanctuary and to profane My holy name.

4. And if the people of the land in any way hide their eyes from the man when he gives of his children to Molech and do not kill him,

5. Then I will set My face against that man and against his family, and will cut him off, and all that go whoring along with him to commit whoredom with Molech, from among their people.

6. And the one who turns to mediums and to familiar spirits to go awhoring after them, I will even set My face against that soul, and will cut him off from among his people.

7. And you shall sanctify yourselves and be holy, for I am the LORD your God.

8. And you shall keep My statutes and do them. I am the LORD who sanctifies you;

9. For anyone who curses his father or his mother shall surely be put to death. He has cursed his father or his mother—his blood shall be upon him.

10. And a man who commits adultery with a man’s wife, who commits adultery with his neighbor’s wife, the adulterer and the adulteress shall surely be put to death.

11. And the man who lies with his father’s wife has uncovered his father’s nakedness. Both of them shall surely be put to death. Their blood shall be upon them.

12. And if a man lies with his daughter-in-law, both of them shall surely be put to death. They have performed a perversion; their blood shall be on them.

13. If a man also lies with mankind, as he lies with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination. They shall surely be put to death. Their blood shall be upon them.

14. And if a man takes a wife and her mother, it is wickedness. They shall be burned with fire, both he and they, so that there may be no wickedness among you.

15. And if a man lies with an animal, he shall surely be put to death. And you shall kill the animal.

16. And if a woman goes up to any animal and lies down with it, you shall kill the woman and the animal. They shall surely be put to death; their blood shall be upon them.

17. And if a man shall take his sister, his father’s daughter, or his mother’s daughter, and see her nakedness, and she see his nakedness, it is a wicked thing. And they shall be cut off in the sight of their people. He has uncovered his sister’s nakedness; he shall bear his iniquity.

18. And if a man shall lie with a menstruous woman, and shall uncover her nakedness, he has discovered her fountain, and she has uncovered the fountain of her blood. And both of them shall be cut off from among their people.

19. And you shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother’s sister, nor of your father’s sister, for he uncovers his near kin. They shall bear their iniquity.

20. And if a man shall lie with his uncle’s wife, he has uncovered his uncle’s nakedness. They shall bear their sin. They shall die childless.

21. And if a man shall take his brother’s wife, it is an unclean thing. He has uncovered his brother’s nakedness; they shall be childless.

22. You shall therefore keep all My statutes and My judgments, and do them, so that the land where I bring you to live shall not vomit you out.

23. And you shall not walk in the ways of the nations which I cast out before you, for they committed all these things, and therefore I loathed them.

24. But I have said to you, “You shall inherit their land, and I, even I am giving it to you to possess it, a land that flows with milk and honey.” I am the LORD your God Who has separated you from the nations.

25. And you shall make a difference between clean animals and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean. And you shall not defile your souls by beast, or by fowl, or by any kind of living thing that creeps on the ground, which I have separated for you as unclean.

26. And you shall be holy unto Me, for I, the LORD, am holy, and have separated you from the nations, so that you should be Mine.
27. A man also or woman who has a familiar spirit or who is a medium shall surely be put to death. They shall stone them with stones. Their blood is upon them.’”

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. And the LORD said to Moses, “Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them, ‘There shall none be defiled for the dead among his people.
2. But for his kin that is near him, for his mother and for his father and for his son and for his daughter and for his brother
3. And for his sister, a virgin, who is near to him, who has had no husband, for her he may be defiled.
4. But as a chief man he shall not defile himself among his people to pollute himself.
5. They shall not make a bald spot on their heads, nor shall they shave the corner of their beard, nor make any cutting in their flesh.
6. They shall be holy to their God and not profane the name of their God, for they offer the offerings made by fire of the LORD, and the bread of their God. Therefore they shall be holy.
7. They shall not take a wife who is a whore or defiled. Neither shall they take a woman divorced from her husband, for he is holy to his God.
8. And you shall sanctify him, for he offers the bread of your God. He shall be holy to you, for I the LORD Who sanctifies you, am holy.
9. And the daughter of any priest, if she profanes herself by playing the whore, she profanes her father. She shall be burned with fire.
10. And the high priest among his brethren, on whose head the anointing oil was poured and who is consecrated to put on the garments, shall not uncover his head nor tear his clothes.
11. Neither shall he come near to any dead person, nor defile himself for his father nor for his mother.
12. Neither shall he go out of the sanctuary, nor profane the sanctuary of his God, for the sacred anointing oil of his God is on him. I am the LORD.
13. And he shall take a wife in her virginity.
14. He shall not take a widow or a divorced woman, or profane, or a harlot, but he shall take a virgin of his own people to wife.
15. And he shall not defile his children among his people, for I the LORD do sanctify him.’”
16. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
17. “Speak to Aaron, saying, ‘No man of your children in their generations shall draw near to offer the bread of his God if there is a blemish in him;
18. For no man in whom there is a blemish shall draw near, a blind man, or a lame man, or disfigured, or deformed,
19. Or a man that is broken-footed, or broken-handed,
20. Or hunchback, or a dwarf, or who has a blemish in his eye, or a scurvy or scabbed person, or one with crushed testicles.
21. No man of the seed of Aaron, the priest, in whom there is a blemish shall come near to offer the offerings of the LORD made by fire. He has a blemish; he shall not come near to offer the bread of his God.
22. However, he shall eat the bread of his God, of the most holy and of the holy.
23. Only he shall not go in to the veil, nor come near to the altar because he has a blemish; so that he does not profane My sanctuaries; for I the LORD do sanctify them.’”
24. And Moses told Aaron and his sons, and all the children of Israel.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “Speak to Aaron and to his sons, that they set themselves apart from the holy things of the children of Israel, and that they do not profane My holy name in what they devote to Me. I am the LORD.
3. Say to them, ‘Any man of all your children among your generations who draws near to the holy things, which the children of Israel set apart to the LORD, if he has his uncleanness on him, that soul shall be cut off from My presence. I am the LORD.
4. Any man of the children of Aaron who is leprous, or has a discharge, he shall not eat of the holy things until he is clean. And he who touches any uncleanness of a person, or a man whose semen has gone out from him,
5. Or a man who touches any swarming thing by which he may be made unclean, or touches a man who is unclean to him, by any uncleanness he has,
6. The one who has touched it shall be unclean until sunset. And he shall not eat of the holy things unless he washes his flesh with water.
7. And when the sun is down, he shall be clean, and shall afterward eat of the holy things because it is his food.
8. He shall not eat that which dies of itself or one torn with beasts to defile himself with them. I am the LORD.
9. And they shall keep My ordinance, lest they bear sin for it, that they may not die for it when they defile it. I am the LORD Who sanctifies them."
10. There shall no common man eat of the holy things. An outsider or a hired servant of a priest shall not eat of the holy thing.
11. But if the priest buys anyone with his silver, he shall eat of it. And one born in his house shall eat of his food.
12. And a priest’s daughter, when she belongs to a man, a stranger, she may not eat of the heave offering of the holy things.
13. But if the priest’s daughter is a widow or divorced, and has no child, and has returned to her father’s house, as in her youth, she shall eat of her father’s food. But no stranger shall eat of it.
14. And if a man eats a holy thing without knowing it, then he shall put the fifth part to it and shall give it to the priest with the holy thing.
15. And they shall not profane the holy things of the children of Israel which they offer to the LORD,
16. And cause them to bear the iniquity of the guilt offering in their eating of their holy things; for I am the LORD Who sanctifies them."
17. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
18. “Speak to Aaron and to his sons and to all the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘Any man of the house of Israel, or of the strangers in Israel, who offers his sacrifices for his vows, for all his free-will offerings, which they will offer to the LORD for a burnt offering,
19. You shall offer at your own will a male without blemish, of the cattle, of the sheep, or of the goats.

20. You shall not offer that which has a blemish, for it shall not be acceptable for you.
21. And when a man offers a sacrifice of peace offerings to the LORD to carry out his vow, or a freewill offering in cattle or sheep, it shall be perfect to be accepted. There shall be no blemish in them.
22. Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having a running sore, or having scurvy, or scabbed, you shall not offer these to the LORD, nor make an offering by fire of them on the altar to the LORD.
23. As to a young bull or a sheep that is deformed or dwarfed, you may offer that for a freewill offering. But for a vow it shall not be accepted.
24. You shall not offer to the LORD that which is bruised or crushed, or broken or cut. You shall not make any offering of it in your land.
25. And you shall not offer the bread of your God out of a stranger’s hand, or any of these, because their uncleanness is in them and blemishes are in them. They shall not be accepted for you.’”
26. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
27. “When a bull or a lamb or a goat is born, then it shall be seven days under the dam. And from the eighth day and from then on, it shall be accepted for an offering made by fire to the LORD.
28. And whether it is a cow or ewe, it and its young one, you shall not kill both in one day.
29. And when you will offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving to the LORD, offer it at your own will.
30. On the same day it is to be eaten. You shall leave none of it until morning. I am the LORD.
31. And you shall keep My commandments, and do them. I am the LORD.
32. And you shall not profane My holy name. But I will be holy among the children of Israel. I am the LORD Who is sanctifying you.
33. Who brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God. I am the LORD.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘Concerning the appointed feasts of the LORD, which you shall proclaim to be holy convocations, even these are My appointed feasts.
3. Six days shall work be done, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of rest, a holy convocation. You shall not do any work. It is a Sabbath to the LORD in all your dwellings.

4. These are the appointed feasts of the LORD, holy convocations which you shall proclaim in their appointed seasons.

5. In the fourteenth day of the month, between the two evenings, is the Feast of Unleavened Bread to the LORD. You must eat unleavened bread seven days.

6. And on the fifteenth day of the same month is a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work therein. But you shall offer an offering made by fire to the LORD, seven lambs without blemish of the first year, and one young bull, and two rams. They shall be for a burnt offering to the LORD with their grain offering, and their drink offerings, even an offering made by fire, of sweet savor to the LORD.

7. On the first day you shall have a holy convocation. You shall not do any servile work therein, but you shall offer a fire offering to the LORD seven days. In the seventh day is a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work therein. ‘It shall be a statute forever in all your dwellings.

8. And the priest shall wave them with the bread of the firstfruits, a wave offering before the LORD, with the two lambs. Then you shall bring the premier sheaf of the firstfruits of your harvest to the priest.

9. And he shall wave the sheaf before the LORD to be accepted for you. On the next day after the Sabbath the priest shall wave it.

10. And you shall offer that day when you wave the sheaf, a male lamb without blemish of the first year for a burnt offering to the LORD.

11. And its grain offering shall be two tenth parts of fine flour mixed with oil, an offering made by fire to the LORD for a sweet savor. And the drink offering of it shall be of wine, the fourth part of a hin.

12. And you shall offer an offering made by fire, a memorial of blowing of ram’s horns, a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work therein. It shall be a statute forever in all your dwellings throughout your generations.

13. And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not completely reap the corners of your field. And the gleanings of your harvest you shall not gather. But you shall leave them for the poor and for the stranger. I am the LORD your God.’ ”

14. And you shall number fifty days. And you shall offer a new grain offering to the LORD.

15. You shall bring out of your homes two wave loaves of two tenth parts. They shall be of fine flour. They shall be baked with leaven, They are the firstfruits to the LORD.

16. And you shall offer with the bread of the firstfruits, a wave offering before the LORD, with the two lambs. They shall be holy to the LORD for the priest.

17. And you shall proclaim on the same day that it may be a holy convocation to you. You shall do no servile work therein. It shall be a statute forever in all your dwellings throughout your generations.

18. And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not completely reap the corners of your field. And the gleanings of your harvest you shall not gather. But you shall leave them for the poor and for the stranger. I am the LORD your God.’ ”

19. And you shall number fifty days. And you shall offer a new grain offering to the LORD.

20. And the priest shall wave them with the bread of the firstfruits, a wave offering before the LORD, with the two lambs. They shall be holy to the LORD for the priest.

21. And you shall proclaim on the same day that it may be a holy convocation to you. You shall do no servile work therein. It shall be a statute forever in all your dwellings throughout your generations.

22. And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not completely reap the corners of your field. And the gleanings of your harvest you shall not gather. But you shall leave them for the poor and for the stranger. I am the LORD your God.’ ”

23. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

24. “Speak to the children of Israel saying, ‘In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, you shall have a Sabbath, a memorial of blowing of ram’s horns, a holy convocation.

25. You shall do no servile work therein but you shall offer an offering made by fire to the LORD.’ ”

26. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

27. “Also, on the tenth day of this seventh month, is the Day of Atonement. It shall be a holy convocation to you. And you shall afflict your souls and offer an offering made by fire to the LORD.

28. And you shall do no work in that same day, for it is the Day of Atonement, in order to make an atonement for you before the LORD your God,
29. For whoever is not afflicted in that same day, he shall be cut off from among his people.
30. And whoever does any work in that same day, the same one will I destroy from among his people.
31. You shall do no manner of work. It shall be a statute forever throughout your generations in all your dwellings.
32. It shall be to you a Sabbath of rest, and you shall afflict yourselves. In the ninth day of the month at sunset, from sunset to sunset, you shall keep your Sabbath.”
33. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
34. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘The fifteenth day of this seventh month shall be the Feast of Tabernacles for seven days to the LORD.
35. On the first day shall be a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work therein.
36. Seven days you shall offer an offering made by fire to the LORD. On the eighth day shall be a holy convocation to you. And you shall offer an offering made by fire to the LORD. It is a solemn assembly. And you shall do no servile work therein.
37. These are the feasts of the LORD which you shall proclaim to be holy convocations to offer an offering made by fire to the LORD, a burnt offering and a grain offering, a sacrifice, and drink offerings, everything on its day;
38. Besides the Sabbaths of the LORD, and besides your gifts, and besides all your vows, and besides all your free-will offerings which you give to the LORD.
39. Also in the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when you have gathered in the fruit of the land, you shall keep a feast to the LORD seven days. On the first day shall be a Sabbath, and on the eighth day shall be a Sabbath.
40. And you shall take the boughs of beautiful trees for yourselves on the first day, branches of palm trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook. And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God seven days.
41. And you shall keep it a feast to the LORD seven days in the year. It shall be a statute forever in your generations. You shall keep it in the seventh month.
42. You shall dwell in booths seven days.
14. “Bring forth the despiser who blasphemed outside the camp. And let all that heard him lay their hands on his head, then let all the congregation stone him. 15. And you shall speak to the children of Israel saying, ‘Whoever curses his God shall bear his sin. 16. And he that blasphemes the name of the LORD shall surely be put to death. All the congregation shall surely stone him. According to the testimony of two witnesses shall he be put to death. 17. And he who kills any man shall surely be put to death. 18. And he who kills an animal shall make it good, animal for animal. 19. And if a man physically maims his neighbor, as he has done, so shall it be done to him: 20. Break for break, eye for eye, tooth for tooth. As he has caused a blemish in a man, so shall it be done to him. 21. And he who kills an animal shall restore it. And he who kills a man shall be put to death. 22. One judgment shall be for you—whether for a stranger or for one of your own country—for I am the LORD your God.’”

23. And Moses spoke to the children of Israel that they should bring the despiser who blasphemed outside the camp and stone him with stones. And the children of Israel did as the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses in Mount Sinai, saying, 2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘When you come into the land which I give you, then shall the land keep a Sabbath to the LORD. 3. You shall sow your field six years, and you shall prune your vineyard six years, and gather in the fruit of it. 4. But in the seventh year shall be a Sabbath of rest to the land, a Sabbath for the LORD. You shall neither sow your field, nor prune your vineyard. 5. You shall not reap that which grows of its own accord for your harvest, neither gather the grapes of your undressed vine as a harvest. It is a year of rest to the land.

6. Rather, the Sabbath yield of the land shall be food for you, for you and for your servant, and for your hired servant, and for your slave woman and for your livestock, and for the beast that is in your land, shall all the increase of it be for food. 7. And for your livestock, and for the beast that is in your land, shall all the increase of it be for food. 8. And you shall number seven Sabbaths of years to you, seven times seven years. And the time of the seven Sabbaths of years shall be forty-nine years to you. 9. Then you shall cause the trumpet of the jubilee to sound on the tenth day of the seventh month; in the Day of Atonement, the trumpet shall sound throughout all your land. 10. And you shall make the fiftieth year holy, and proclaim liberty throughout the land to all its inhabitants. It shall be a jubilee to you, and you shall return each man to his possession, and you shall return each man to his family. 11. That fiftieth year shall be a jubilee to you. You shall not sow, neither reap that which grows of itself in it, nor gather the grapes of your undressed vine in it. 12. For it is the jubilee. It shall be holy to you. You shall eat the increase of it out of the field. 13. In the year of this jubilee you shall return each man to his possession. 14. And if you sell anything to your neighbor, or buy from your neighbor’s hand, you shall not oppress one another. 15. According to the number of years after the jubilee, you shall buy of your neighbor, according to the number of years of the fruits he shall sell to you. 16. According to the number of years you shall increase the price of it, and according to the fewness of years you shall diminish the price of it, for he is selling to you the number of crops. 17. And you shall not oppress one another. But you shall fear your God, for I am the LORD your God. 18. And you shall do My statutes, and keep My judgments and do them. And you shall dwell in the land in safety. 19. And the land shall yield its fruits, and you shall eat your fill and dwell in it in safety. 20. And if you shall say, “What shall we eat the seventh year? Behold, we shall not sow nor gather in our increase!” 21. Then I will command My blessing on you in the sixth year, and it shall bring forth fruit for three years.
22. And you shall sow the eighth year, and eat of old fruit in storage until the ninth year; until its fruits come in, you shall eat the old fruit.
23. The land shall not be sold forever, for the land is Mine, for you are strangers and pilgrims with Me.
24. And in all the land of your possession you shall grant a redemption for the land.
25. If your brother has become poor and has sold his possessions, and if any of his relatives come to redeem it, then he shall redeem that which his brother sold.
26. And if the man has no redeemer, and he himself is able to redeem it, and he has enough for its redemption,
27. Then let him count the years of the sale of it and restore the surplus to the man to whom he sold it, so that he may return to his possession.
28. But if he is not able to restore to him, then that which is sold shall remain in the hand of him that has bought it until the year of jubilee. And in the jubilee it shall go out, and he shall return to his possession.
29. And if a man sells a dwelling house in a walled city, then he may redeem it within a whole year after it is sold. He may redeem it within a full year.
30. And if it is not redeemed within the time of a full year, then the house in the walled city shall be made sure forever to its buyer throughout his generations. It shall not go out in the jubilee.
31. But the houses of the villages which have no walls around them shall be counted as the field of the country. They may be redeemed, and they shall go out in the jubilee.
32. As to the cities of the Levites, the houses of the cities of their possession, the Levites shall have a never ending redemption.
33. And if a man purchases a house from the Levites, then the house that was sold and the city of his possession shall go out in the year of jubilee, for the houses of the cities of the Levites are their possession among the children of Israel.
34. But the field of the open land of their cities may not be sold, for it is theirs forever.
35. And if your brother has become poor and his hand has failed with you, then you shall help him; yes, even if he is a stranger or a visitor, so that he may live with you.
36. You shall take no interest from him, or an additional profit. But you shall fear your God, so that your brother may live with you.
37. You shall not give him your silver on interest, nor lend him your food for profit.
38. I am the LORD your God Who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan and to be your God.
39. And if your brother who lives beside you has become poor and is sold to you, you shall not compel him to serve as a bondservant.
40. As a hired servant, as a temporary resident, he shall be with you, and shall serve you until the year of jubilee.
41. And he shall depart from you, he and his sons with him, and shall return to his own family. And he shall return to the possession of his fathers,
42. For they are My servants whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt. They shall not be sold as slaves.
43. You shall not rule over him with rigor, but shall fear your God.
44. Both your male slaves, and your female slaves whom you shall have, shall be of the nations that are all around you. You shall buy male slaves and female slaves from them.
45. And also you may buy of the sons of the tenants who are staying with you, and from their families that are with you, whom they fathered in your land. And they shall be your possession.
46. And you shall take them as an inheritance for your sons after you to hold for a possession; you may lay service on them forever. But you shall not rule over your brethren, the children of Israel, over one another, with harshness.
47. And if an alien or a tenant lifts up a hand among you, and your brother who dwells beside him becomes poor and sells himself to the alien or tenant by you, or to the offspring of the alien’s family,
48. After he is sold he may be redeemed again. One of his brothers may redeem him;
49. Either his uncle or his uncle’s son may redeem him, or any that is near of kin to him of his family may redeem him. Or if he is able, he may redeem himself.
50. And he shall count with his buyer from the year that he was sold to him until the year of jubilee. And the price of his sale shall be according to the number of years, according to the time of a hired servant it shall be with him.

51. If there are still many years, he shall give again the price of his redemption out of the silver that he was bought for, according to the years.

52. And if there remain but few years to the year of jubilee, then he shall count with him, and according to his years he shall give him again the price of his redemption.

53. As a yearly hired servant he shall be with him; he shall not rule over him with harshness in your sight.

54. And if he is not redeemed in this year of jubilee, then he shall count according to the years.

55. For to Me the children of Israel are servants. They are My servants whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.’ "

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

1. “ ‘You shall make no idols to yourselves; and you shall not set up for yourselves graven images, or a standing pillar. And you shall not set up any image of stone in your land in order to bow down to it, for I am the LORD your God.

2. You shall keep My Sabbaths and reverence My sanctuary. I am the LORD.

3. If you walk in My statutes and keep My commandments and do them, then I will give you rain in due season, and the land shall yield her increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit.

4. And your threshing shall reach to the vintage, and the vintage shall reach to the sowing time. And you shall eat your bread to the full and dwell in your land safely.

5. And your strength shall be spent in your land. And you shall lie down and none shall make you afraid. And I will cause evil beasts to cease out of the land; neither shall the sword go through your land.

6. And you shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you by the sword.

7. And five of you shall chase a hundred, and a hundred of you shall put ten thousand to flight. And your enemies shall fall by the sword in front of you.

8. For I will have respect to you, and make you fruitful, and multiply you, and establish My covenant with you.

9. And you shall eat of the old provision, and clear away the old because of the new.

10. And I will set My tabernacle among you. And My soul shall not abhor you.

11. And I will walk among you and will be your God, and you shall be My people.

12. Then I will walk contrary to you, and will not do all these commandments,

13. But if you will not hearken to Me and will not do all these commandments,

14. Even so I will do this to you: I will appoint over you terror, consumption, and burning fever, consuming the eyes and causing sorrow of heart. And you shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it.

15. I will break the pride of your power, and I will make your heaven like iron and your earth like bronze.

16. And your strength shall be spent in vain, for your land shall not yield its increase, neither shall the trees of the field yield their fruits.

17. And if you will not yet for all this hearken to Me, then I will punish you seven times more for your sins.

18. And if you will not hearken to Me, I will bring seven times more plagues on you according to your sins.

19. And I will break the pride of your power, and I will make your heaven like iron and your earth like bronze.

20. And your strength shall be spent in vain, for your land shall not yield its increase, neither shall the trees of the field yield their fruits.

21. And if you walk contrary to Me and will not hearken to Me, I will bring seven times more plagues on you according to your sins.

22. And I will also send wild beasts among you which shall bereave you. And I will destroy your livestock, and make you few. And your highways shall be deserted.

23. And if after these things you shall not be reformed by Me, but will still walk contrary to Me,

24. Then I will walk contrary to you and will punish you seven times more for your sins.

25. And I will bring a sword on you that shall execute the vengeance of the covenant. And when you are gathered inside your cities, I will send the plague among you. And you shall be delivered into the hand of the enemy.
26. When I have broken the staff of your bread, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven, and they shall deliver you your bread again by weight.★ And you shall eat and not be satisfied.

27. And if you will not for all of this hearken to Me, but will walk contrary to Me,

28. Then I will also walk contrary to you in fury. And I, even I will chastise you seven times for your sins.

29. And you shall eat the flesh of your sons, and the flesh of your daughters you shall eat.

30. And I will destroy your high places and cut down your images, and throw your carcasses on the carcasses of your idols, and My soul shall despise you.

31. And I will make your cities waste and cause your sanctuaries to be desolate. And I will not smell the savor of your sweet odors.

32. And I Myself, I will make the land desolate. And your enemies who dwell in it shall be astonished at it.

33. And I will scatter you among the nations, and will draw out a sword after you. And your land shall be a desolation, and your cities waste.

34. Then shall the land enjoy its Sabbaths, as long as it lies waste, and your cities waste.

35. As long as it lies waste it shall rest because it did not rest in your Sabbaths, as long as it lies waste, and your cities waste.

36. Then shall the land enjoy its Sabbaths, as long as it lies waste, and your cities waste.

37. And they shall fall on one another, as if it were before a sword, when none pursues. And they shall fall when none pursues.

38. And they shall fall on one another, as if it were before a sword, when none pursues. And you shall have no power to stand before your enemies.

39. And you shall perish among the nations, and the land of your enemies shall eat you up.

40. But, if they shall confess their iniquities and the iniquities of their fathers with their own iniquities which they sinned against Me, and that they have walked contrary to Me,

41. So that I, in turn, have walked contrary to them and have brought them into the land of their enemies, and if their uncircumcised hearts are then humbled, and they accept the punishment for their iniquity,

42. Then I will remember My covenant with Jacob, and also My covenant with Isaac; and also My covenant with Abraham I will remember. And I will remember the land.

43. The land also shall be forsaken by them and shall enjoy its Sabbaths while it lies waste without them. And they shall accept the punishment of their iniquities; because, even because they despised My judgments, and because their soul hated My statutes.

44. And yet for all that, when they are in the land of their enemies, I will not entirely cast them away; neither will I hate them to destroy them utterly and to break My covenant with them, for I am the LORD their God.

45. But for their sakes, I will remember the covenant of their ancestors whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt in the sight of the nations, so that I might be their God. I am the LORD.' "

46. These are the statutes and judgments and laws which the LORD made between Him and the children of Israel in Mount Sinai by the hand of Moses.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘When a man shall make a special vow, the persons shall be for the LORD by your evaluation.

3. And your judgment shall be of the male from twenty years old even to sixty years old, even your judgment shall be fifty shekels of silver, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

4. And if it is a female, then your judgment shall be thirty shekels.

5. And if from five years old to twenty years old, then your judgment shall be of the male twenty shekels, and for the female ten shekels.

6. And if from a month old to five years old, then your judgment shall be of the
14. And when a man shall sanctify his house which he has bought, whether is of the fields he owns,
15. Then the priest shall count to him the estimation in that day, a holy thing to the LORD.
16. And if it is of an unclean animal, then he shall redeem it according to your estimation.
17. And the priest shall judge it, whether it is good or bad. As the priest shall judge it, so shall it stand.
18. But if it will at all redeem it, then he shall add the fifth part of it to what you judged.
19. And when a man shall sanctify his house to be holy to the LORD, then the priest shall judge it, whether it is good or bad. As the priest shall judge it, so shall it stand.
20. And if he who sanctified it desires to redeem it, then he shall add the fifth part of the silver of your judgment, and it shall be his.
21. And if a man shall sanctify to the LORD some part of a field that he owns, then your judgment shall be according to its seed: a homer of barley seed at fifty shekels of silver.
22. And he shall not alter it nor change it, a good one for a bad one, or a bad one for a good one. But if he shall at all change animal for animal, then it and the exchange of it shall be holy.
23. And if it is an animal which they bring for an offering to the LORD, all that one gives of such to the LORD shall be holy.
24. And the priest shall value it, whether it is good or bad. As you the priest value it, so shall it be.
25. And if he is poorer than your judgment, he shall add a fifth for a male, and for a female ten shekels. It is a male then your judgment shall be fifteen shekels of silver.
26. However, the firstborn of an animal, which should be the LORD'S firstborn, no man shall sanctify it, whether an ox, or sheep, it is the LORD’S.
27. However, no devoted thing that a man shall devote to the LORD all that he has, either of man or animal, or of the field of his possession, shall be sold or redeemed. Every devoted thing is most holy to the LORD.
28. Anyone specially devoted, who shall be devoted of men for destruction, shall not be redeemed, but he shall surely be put to death.
29. And all the tithes, all that passes under the rod, a tenth shall be holy to the LORD.
30. And all the tithe of the land, of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD’S. It is holy to the LORD.
31. And if a man will at all redeem anything of his tithes, he shall add to it the fifth part of it.
32. And all the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, all that passes under the rod, a tenth shall be holy to the LORD.
33. He shall not search whether it is good or bad; neither shall he change it. And if he changes it at all, then both it and the change of it shall be holy. It shall not be redeemed.
34. These are the commandments which the LORD commanded Moses for the children of Israel in Mount Sinai.
The Fourth Book of Moses, Called

Numbers

CHAPTER ONE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the first day of the second month, in the second year after they had come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

2. “Take the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, according to their families, by their fathers’ house, with the number of names, every male by their heads,

3. From twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Israel. You and Aaron shall number them by their armies,

4. And with you there shall be a man of every tribe, each one head of the house of his fathers,

5. And these are the names of the men that shall stand with you: Of Reuben, Elizur, the son of Shedeur;

6. Of Simeon, Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai;

7. Of Judah, Nahshon the son of Amminadab;

8. Of Issachar, Nethaneel the son of Zuar;

9. Of Zebulun, Eliab the son of Helon;

10. Of the sons of Joseph, of Ephraim, Elishama the son of Ammihud; of Manasseh, Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur;

11. Of Benjamin, Abidan the son of Gideoni;

12. Of Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai;

13. Of Asher, Pagiel the son of Ocran;

14. Of Gad, Eliasaph the son of Reuel;

15. Of Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan.”

16. These were the noted ones of the congregation, princes of the tribes of their fathers, heads of thousands in Israel.

17. And Moses and Aaron took these men who are called by name.

18. And they gathered all the congregation on the first day of the second month. And they declared their pedigrees according to their families, by their fathers’ house, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, by their heads.

19. As the LORD commanded Moses, so he numbered them in the wilderness of Sinai.
of Zebulun were fifty-seven thousand, four hundred.
32. Of the sons of Joseph, of the sons of Ephraim, by their generations, according to their families, by their fathers’ houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war:
33. Those numbered of them of the tribe of Ephraim were forty thousand, five hundred.
34. Of the sons of Manasseh, by their generations, according to their families, by their fathers’ houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war:
35. Those numbered of them of the tribe of Manasseh were thirty-two thousand, two hundred.
36. Of the sons of Benjamin, by their generations, according to their families, by their fathers’ houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war:
37. Those numbered of them of the tribe of Benjamin were thirty-five thousand, four hundred.
38. Of the sons of Dan, by their generations, according to their families, by their fathers’ houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war:
39. Those numbered of them of the tribe of Dan were sixty-two thousand, seven hundred.
40. Of the sons of Asher, by their generations, according to their families, by their fathers’ houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war:
41. Those numbered of them of the tribe of Asher were forty-one thousand, five hundred.
42. Of the sons of Naphtali, by their generations, according to their families, by their fathers’ houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war:
43. Those numbered of them of the tribe of Naphtali were fifty-three thousand, four hundred.
44. These are those who were numbered, whom Moses and Aaron numbered, and the rulers of Israel being twelve men. Each one was for the house of his fathers.
45. And all those that were numbered of the children of Israel, by their fathers’ houses, from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go forth to war in Israel:
46. Even all those who were numbered were six hundred three thousand, five hundred and fifty.
47. But the Levites, according to the tribe of their fathers, were not numbered among them.
48. For the LORD had spoken to Moses saying,
49. “Only you shall not number the tribe of Levi, neither take the sum of them among the children of Israel.
50. But you shall set the Levites over the tabernacle of testimony, and over all its vessels, and over all its things. They shall carry the tabernacle and all its vessels. And they shall serve it, and shall camp around the tabernacle.
51. And when the tabernacle sets forth, the Levites shall take it down. And when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites shall set it up. And the stranger who comes near shall be put to death.
52. And the children of Israel shall pitch their tents, each man by his own camp, and each man by his own banner, throughout their armies.
53. But the Levites shall pitch around the tabernacle of testimony, so that there may be no wrath upon the congregation of the children of Israel. And the Levites shall keep the charge of the tabernacle of testimony.”
54. And the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses. So they did.

CHAPTER TWO

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying,
2. “Every man of the children of Israel shall pitch by his own banner, with the banner of their father’s house. They shall pitch far off, around the tabernacle of the congregation.
3. And those who pitch on the east side toward the rising of the sun shall be those of the banner of the camp of Judah, throughout their armies. And Nahshon the son of Amminadab shall be leader of the sons of Judah.”
4. And his army, and those that were numbered of them, were seventy-four thousand, six hundred.
5. “And those that pitch next to him shall be the tribe of Issachar. And Nethaneel the son of Zuar shall be captain of the sons of Issachar.”
6. And his army, and those that were numbered of them, were fifty-four thousand, and four hundred.
7. “And the tribe of Zebulun: the leader of the sons of Zebulun shall be Eliab the son of Helon.”
8. And his army, and those numbered of them, were fifty-seven thousand and four hundred.
9. “All that were numbered of the camp of Judah were a hundred and eighty-six thousand and four hundred by their armies. They shall set forth first.
10. On the south side shall be the standard of the camp of Reuben, according to their armies; the leader of the sons of Reuben shall be Elizur the son of Shedeur.”
11. And his army, and those numbered of it, were forty-six thousand, five hundred.
12. “And those who pitch beside him shall be the tribe of Simeon. And the captain of the sons of Simeon shall be Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.”
13. And his army, and those numbered of them, were fifty-nine thousand, three hundred.
14. “Then the tribe of Gad: and the leader of the sons of Gad shall be Eliasaph the son of Reuel.”
15. And his army, and those numbered of them, were forty-five thousand, six hundred and fifty.
16. “All that were numbered in the camp of Reuben were a hundred fifty-one thousand, four hundred and fifty, throughout their armies. And they shall go forward in the second rank.
17. And the tabernacle of the congregation shall go forward with the camp of the Levites in the midst of the camp. As they camp, so they shall go forward, each man in his place, by their banners.
18. On the west side shall be the banner of the camp of Ephraim, according to their armies. And the leader of the sons of Ephraim shall be Elishama the son of Ammihud.”
19. And his army, and those numbered with them, were forty thousand, five hundred.
20. “And beside him shall be the tribe of Manasseh. And the leader of the sons of Manasseh shall be Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.”
21. And his army, and those numbered of them, were thirty-two thousand, two hundred.
22. “And the tribe of Benjamin: the leader of the sons of Benjamin shall be Abidan the son of Gideoni.”
23. And his army, and those numbered of them, were thirty-five thousand, four hundred.
24. “All that were numbered of the camp of Ephraim were a hundred eighty thousand, one hundred, by their armies. And they shall go forward in the third rank.
25. The banner of the camp of Dan shall be on the north side of their armies. And the leader of the sons of Dan shall be Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.”
26. And his army, and those numbered of them, were sixty-two thousand, seven hundred.
27. “And those that camp beside him shall be the tribe of Asher. And the leader of the sons of Asher shall be Pagiel the son of Ocran.”
28. And his army, and those numbered of them, were forty-one thousand, five hundred.
29. “Then the tribe of Naphtali: and the leader of the sons of Naphtali shall be Ahira the son of Enan.”
30. And his army, and those numbered of them, were fifty-three thousand, four hundred.
31. “All those who were numbered in the camp of Dan were a hundred fifty-seven thousand, six hundred. They shall go last with their banners.”
32. These are those numbered of the children of Israel by their fathers’ houses. All those numbered of the camps throughout their armies were six hundred three thousand, five hundred and fifty.
33. But the Levites were not numbered among the children of Israel, even as the LORD commanded Moses.
34. And the children of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses. So they pitched by their banners, and so they went forward, everyone according to their families, according to the house of their fathers.
CHAPTER THREE

1. These also are the generations of Aaron and Moses in the day the LORD spake with Moses in Mount Sinai.
2. And these are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the firstborn, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
3. These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the priests who were anointed, whom he set apart to minister as priests. And Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD when they offered strange fire before the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai. And they had no sons. And Eleazar and Ithamar ministered as priest in the presence of Aaron their father.
4. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, "Bring the tribe of Levi near, and present them before Aaron the priest, so that they may minister to him.
5. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, "And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, "shall be put to death."
6. "Bring the tribe of Levi near, and present them before Aaron the priest, so that they may minister to him."
7. And they shall keep his charge and the charge of the whole congregation before the tabernacle of the congregation to do the service of it.
8. And they shall keep all the vessels of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the children of Israel, to do the service of the tabernacle.
9. And you shall give the Levites to Aaron and to his sons. They are wholly given to him out of the children of Israel. And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall wait on their priest's office. And the stranger who comes near shall be put to death."
10. "And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons. They are wholly given to him out of the children of Israel. And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall wait on their priest's office. And the stranger who comes near shall be put to death."
11. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, "And I, behold I have taken the Levites from among the children of Israel instead of all the firstborn that open the womb among the children of Israel. Therefore the Levites shall be Mine."
12. Because all the firstborn are Mine. On the day that I struck all the firstborn in Israel, both man and beast. They shall be Mine. I am the LORD."
13. And the LORD spoke to Moses in Mount Sinai.
14. "Number the sons of Levi according to their fathers' houses by their families. You shall number them, every male from a month old and upward."
15. And Moses numbered them according to the word of the LORD as he was commanded.
32. And Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, shall be chief over the leaders of the Levites, having the oversight of the ones who keep the charge of the sanctuary.

33. Of Merari was the family of the Mahlites and the family of the Mushites. These are the families of Merari.

34. And those numbered of them, according to the number of all the males from a month old and upward, were six thousand and two hundred.

35. And the leader of the house of the father of the families of Merari was Zu-riel the son of Abihail. They pitched on the side of the tabernacle northward.

36. And the office and charge of the sons of Merari were the boards of the tabernacle, and its bars, and its pillars, and its bases, and its vessels, and all its service.

37. And the pillars of the court all around, and their bases, and their pegs, and their cords.

38. And those who camp before the tabernacle toward the east, before the tabernacle of the congregation eastward, shall be Moses, and Aaron and his sons, keeping the charge of the sanctuary for the charge of the children of Israel. And the stranger that comes near shall be put to death.

39. All who were numbered of the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron numbered at the command of the LORD, throughout their families, all the males from a month old and upward, were twenty-two thousand.

40. And the LORD said to Moses, “Number all the firstborn of the males of the children of Israel from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names.

41. I am the LORD. You shall take the Levites for Me, in the place of all the firstborn among the children of Israel; and the domestic livestock of the Levites instead of all the firstlings among the livestock of the children of Israel.”

42. And as the LORD commanded him, Moses numbered all the firstborn among the children of Israel.

43. And all the firstborn males by the number of names, from a month old and upward, of those numbered of them, were twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.

44. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

45. “Take the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the children of Israel, and the domestic livestock of the Levites instead of their domestic livestock. And the Levites shall be Mine. I am the LORD.

46. And for those that are to be redeemed of the two hundred and seventy-three of the firstborn of the children of Israel, who are more than the Levites, shall be.

47. You shall even take five shekels each by the head, according to the shekel of the sanctuary you shall take. (The shekel is twenty gerahs.)

48. And you shall give to Aaron, and to his sons, the silver of the redeemed left over among them.”

49. And Moses took the redemption silver from those who were over and above the ones who were redeemed by the Levites.

50. He took the silver from the firstborn of the children of Israel: one thousand three hundred and sixty-five shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary.

51. And Moses gave the silver from those who were redeemed to Aaron and to his sons, according to the word of the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAPTER FOUR

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying,

2. “Take the sum of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, according to their families, by their fathers’ house,

3. From thirty years old and upward even to fifty years, all that enter into the service, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

4. This shall be the service of the sons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation, the most holy place.

5. And when the camp sets forth, Aaron and his sons shall come, and they shall take down the covering veil and cover the ark of testimony with it.

6. And they shall put on it the covering of tanned leather skins, and shall spread over it a cloth wholly of blue, and shall put in its staves.

7. And they shall spread a cloth of blue upon the table of showbread, and put the dishes on it, and the spoons, and the bowls, and the cups of the drink offering, and covers to cover it with. And the continual bread shall be on it.
8. And they shall spread upon them a cloth of scarlet and cover it with a covering of tanned leather skins, and they shall put it in its staves.
9. And they shall take a cloth of blue and cover the lampstand of the light, and its lamps, and its tongs, and its firepans, and all the oil vessels of it, with which they serve it.
10. And they shall put it and all the vessels of it inside a covering of tanned leather skins, and shall put it upon a bar.
11. And upon the golden altar they shall spread a cloth of blue, and cover it with a covering of tanned leather skins, and they shall put the staves into it.
12. And they shall take all the vessels of ministry with which they serve in the sanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue, and cover them with a covering of tanned leather skins, and shall put them on a bar.
13. And they shall take away the ashes from the altar and spread a purple cloth on it.
14. And they shall put on it all its vessels with which they minister about it: the firepans, the fleshhooks, and the shovels, and the basins, all the vessels of the altar. And they shall spread upon it a covering of tanned leather skins and put the staves into it.
15. And when Aaron and his sons have made an end of covering the sanctuary, and all the vessels of the sanctuary, when the camp is to set forward, then after that the sons of Kohath shall come to carry it. But they shall not touch any holy thing lest they die. These are the burdens of the sons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation.
16. And to the office of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, belongs the oil for the light, and the sweet incense, and the daily grain offering, and the anointing oil, the oversight of all the tabernacle and of all that is in it in the sanctuary and in its vessels.
17. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying,
18. “Do not cut off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites.
19. But do this to them, and they shall live and not die when they approach the Holy of Holies. Aaron and his sons shall go in and appoint each one of them to his service and to his burden.
20. But they shall not go in to watch when the holy things are covered, lest they die.”
21. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
22. “Take also the sum of the sons of Gershon throughout the houses of their fathers by their families.
23. From thirty years old and upward to fifty years old, you shall number them, all that enter in to perform the service, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.
24. This is the service of the families of the Gershonites, to serve and to carry burdens.
25. And they shall carry the curtains of the tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the congregation, its covering, and the covering of the tanned leather skins that is above upon it, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
26. And the hangings of the court, and the hanging for the door of the gate of the court, which is by the tabernacle and by the altar all around, and their cords, and all the instruments of their service, and all that is made for them. So they shall serve.
27. At the appointment of Aaron and his sons shall be all the service of the sons of the Gershonites, in all their burdens and in all their service. And you shall appoint all their burdens to the ones in charge.
28. This is the service of the families of the sons of Gershon in the tabernacle of the congregation. And their charge shall be under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.
29. You shall number the sons of Merari according to their families, by the houses of their fathers.
30. You shall number them from thirty years old and upward even to fifty years old, everyone who enters into the service to do the work of the tabernacle of the congregation.
31. And this is the charge of their burdens, according to all their service in the tabernacle of the congregation: the boards of the tabernacle, and its bars, and its pillars, and its bases,
32. And the pillars of the court all around, and their bases, and their pegs, and their cords, with all their vessels, and with all their service. And you shall count the vessels of the charge of their burdens by name.

33. This is the service of the families of the sons of Merari, according to all their service, in the tabernacle of the congregation under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.”

34. And Moses and Aaron and the leaders of the congregation numbered the sons of Kohathites according to their families, and according to the house of their fathers.

35. They numbered them from thirty years old and upward even to fifty years old, everyone that entered into the service for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

36. And those numbered of them by their families were two thousand seven hundred and fifty.

37. These were the ones that were numbered of the families of the Kohathites, all that might do service in the tabernacle of the congregation, which Moses and Aaron numbered according to the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

38. And those numbered of the sons of Gershon throughout their families, and by their fathers’ house,

39. From thirty years old and upward even to fifty years old, everyone that enters into the service for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation,

40. Even those numbered of them by their families, by their fathers’ houses, were two thousand six hundred and thirty.

41. These are the ones numbered of the families of the sons of Gershon, of all that might do service in the tabernacle of the congregation, whom Moses and Aaron numbered according to the command of the LORD.

42. And those numbered of the families of the sons of Merari, throughout their families, by their fathers’ house,

43. From thirty years old and upward even to fifty years old, everyone that enters into the service for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation,

44. Even those numbered of them according to their families, were three thousand, two hundred.

45. These are those numbered of the families of the sons of Merari whom Moses and Aaron numbered according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

46. All those numbered of the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron and the rulers of Israel numbered, according to their families and according to their fathers’ houses,

47. From thirty years old and upward even to fifty years old, everyone that came to do the service of the ministry and the service of the burdens in the tabernacle of the congregation,

48. Even those numbered of them were eight thousand, five hundred and eighty.

49. According to the command of the LORD they were numbered by the hand of Moses, everyone according to his service and according to his burden. So they were numbered by him as the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 2. “Command the children of Israel that they put out of the camp every leper and everyone that has an issue, and whoever is defiled by a dead body.

3. You shall put out both male and female. You shall put them outside the camp so that they do not defile their camps in the midst of which I dwell.”

4. And the children of Israel did so, and put them outside the camp. Even as the LORD spoke to Moses, so the children of Israel did.

5. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 6. “Speak to the children of Israel, ‘When a man or woman shall commit any sin that men commit, to commit a trespass against the LORD, and that person realizes his guilt,”

7. Then they shall confess their sin which they have done. And he shall make restitution for his guilt in full, and add to it one fifth of it, and give it to him against whom he has sinned.

8. But if the man has no kinsman to whom he may make restitution for the guilt, the guilt restitution which is restored shall be given to the LORD, to the priest, besides the ram of the atonement by which an atonement shall be made for him.

9. And every offering, of all the holy things of the children of Israel, which they shall bring to the priest, shall be his.
10. And every man’s devoted things shall be his. Whatever any man gives the priest, it shall be his.”

11. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

12. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘If any man’s wife goes astray, and has committed a trespass against him,

13. And a man lie with her carnally, and if it is hidden from the eyes of her husband and is kept hidden, and she is defiled, and there is no witness against her, neither is she taken in the act;

14. And if the spirit of jealousy comes upon him and he is jealous toward his wife, and she is defiled—or if the spirit of jealousy comes upon him and he is jealous toward his wife, and she is not defiled—

15. Then the man shall bring his wife to the priest. And he shall bring her offering for her, the tenth of an ephah of barley meal. He shall pour no oil upon it, nor put frankincense on it, for it is an offering of jealousy, a reminding offering, bringing iniquity to mind.

16. And the priest shall bring her near and set her before the LORD.

17. And the priest shall take holy water in an earthen vessel. And the priest shall take of the dust that is in the floor of the tabernacle and put it into the water.

18. And the priest shall set the woman before the LORD, and uncover the woman’s head, and put the reminding offering in her hands, which is the jealousy offering. And the priest shall have in his hand the bitter water that causes the curse.

19. And the priest shall charge her by an oath, and say to the woman, “If no man has lain with you, and if you have not gone aside to uncleanness, being under your husband, you are free from this bitter water that causes the curse.

20. But if you have gone aside, being under your husband, and if you are defiled and some man besides your husband has lain with you.”

21. Then the priest shall charge the woman with an oath of cursing. And the priest shall say to the woman, “The LORD make you a curse and an oath among your people, when the LORD makes your thigh to rot and your belly to swell.

22. And this water that causes the curse shall go into your bowels to make your belly swell and your thigh to rot.” And the woman shall say, “Amen, amen.”

23. And the priest shall write these curses in a book, and he shall blot them out with the bitter water.

24. And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water that causes the curse. And the water that causes the curse shall enter into her and become bitter.

25. Then the priest shall take the jealousy offering out of the woman’s hand and shall wave the offering before the LORD, and offer it upon the altar.

26. And the priest shall take a handful of the offering, as a memorial of it, and burn it upon the altar, and afterward he shall cause the woman to drink the water.

27. And when he has made her drink the water, then it shall be, if she is defiled and has committed a trespass against her husband, the water that causes the curse shall enter into her and become bitter. And her belly shall swell, and her thigh to rot. And the woman shall be a curse among her people.

28. And if the woman is not defiled, but is clean, then she shall be clean, and shall conceive seed.

29. This is the law of jealousies when a woman goes aside, being under her husband, and is defiled.

30. Or when the spirit of jealousy comes on a man, and he is jealous over his wife, and shall set the woman before the LORD, and the priest shall execute upon her all this law.

31. Then shall the man be guiltless from iniquity, and the woman shall bear her iniquity.’ ”

CHAPTER SIX

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

2. “Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them, ‘When a man (or woman) shall separate himself in order to vow the vow of a Nazarite, in order to separate himself to the LORD,

3. He shall separate from wine and strong drink and shall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink; neither shall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moist grapes or dried.

4. All the days of his consecration he shall eat nothing that is made of the grapevine, from grape seeds even to a stem.
5. All the days of his vow to separate, no razor shall come upon his head. Until all the days are fulfilled in which he is consecrated to the LORD, he shall be holy.
6. He shall let the locks of the hair of his head grow.
7. He shall not make himself unclean even for his father, or for his mother, or for his brother, or for his sister, when they die because his separation to his God is upon his head.
8. All the days of his consecration he is holy to the LORD.
9. And if any man dies very suddenly beside him, and he has defiled the head of his consecration, then he shall shave his head in the day of his cleansing, on the seventh day he shall shave it.
10. And on the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
11. And the priest shall offer the one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, according to the vow which he vowed, so he must do according to the law of his consecration.
12. And he shall set apart to the LORD the days of his consecration, and shall bring a lamb of the first year for a guilt offering. But the former days shall be lost because his consecration was defiled.
13. And this is the law of the Nazarite, when the days of his consecration are fulfilled, he shall be brought to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
14. And he shall offer his offering to the LORD: one male lamb of the first year without blemish for a burnt offering, and one ewe lamb of the first year without blemish for a sin offering, and one ram without blemish for peace offerings.
15. And a basket of unleavened cakes of fine flour, cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and their grain offerings and their drink offerings.
16. And the priest shall bring them before the LORD and shall offer his sin offering and his burnt offering.
17. And he shall offer the ram for a sacrifice of peace offerings to the LORD with the basket of unleavened bread. The priest shall offer also his grain offering and his drink offering.
18. And the Nazarite shall shave the head of his consecration at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall take the hair of the head of his consecration and put it in the fire under the sacrifice of the peace offerings.
19. And the priest shall take the boiled shoulder of the ram and one unleavened cake out of the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and shall put them on the hands of the Nazarite, after the hair of his separation has been shaved.
20. And the priest shall wave them for a wave offering before the LORD. This is holy for the priest, with the wave breast and heave shoulder. And afterward the Nazarite may drink wine.
21. This is the law of the Nazarite who has vowed his offering to the LORD for his consecration, besides that which he is able to get. According to the vow which he vowed, so he must do according to the law of his consecration.
22. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,
23. “Speak to Aaron and to his sons saying, ‘In this way you shall bless the children of Israel, saying to them,
24. “May the LORD bless you and keep you.
25. May the LORD make His face shine upon you and be gracious to you.
26. May the LORD lift up His face to you and give you peace.’
27. And they shall put My name upon the children of Israel. And I will bless them.”

4. And this work of the lampstand was of beaten gold to its base and to its blossoms; it was beaten work. According to the pattern which the LORD had showed Moses, so he made the lampstand.

5. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

6. “Take the Levites from among the children of Israel and purify them.

7. And this is what you shall do to them to purify them. Sprinkle water of purification upon them, and let them shave all their flesh and wash their clothes, and make themselves clean.

8. Then let them take a young bull with its grain offering, fine flour mixed with oil, and another young bull shall you take for a sin offering.

9. And you shall bring the Levites before the tabernacle of the congregation. And you shall lay their hands upon the Levites.

10. And Aaron shall offer the Levites before the LORD for an offering on behalf of the children of Israel, so that they may do the service of the LORD.
12. And the Levites shall lay their hands upon the heads of the bulls. And you shall offer the one for a sin offering, and the other for a burnt offering, to the LORD, to make an atonement for the Levites.
13. And you shall set the Levites before Aaron, and before his sons, and offer them for an offering to the LORD.
14. So you shall separate the Levites from among the children of Israel. And the Levites shall be Mine.
15. And after that the Levites shall go in to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation. And you shall purify them to do their service in the tabernacle of the congregation before Aaron and before his sons. Even as the LORD had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so they did to them.
16. And Moses and Aaron and all the children of Israel came to bring the offerings of the children of Israel, of a thousand, of a hundred, of fifty, of ten, and of five, for the Passover offerings for the burnt offerings, for the sin offerings, and for the peace offerings.
17. And all the children of Israel brought the offerings that they brought for the burnt offerings, for the peace offerings, and for the sin offerings, and for the incense offerings before the LORD.

22. And all the children of Israel prepared themselves to come to bring the offerings for the burnt offerings, for the peace offerings, and for the sin offerings, and for the incense offerings before the LORD.
23. And Moses asked Aaron and his sons, saying, “Why have we not eaten of the offerings which the children of Israel have brought for the LORD?”
24. “This is that which pertains to the Levites. From twenty-five years old and upward they shall go in to wait upon the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.
25. And from the age of fifty years they shall stop waiting upon the service and shall serve no more.
26. But they shall minister with their brethren in the tabernacle of the congregation to keep the charge; only he shall do no service. Thus shall you do in regard to the Levites as to their duties.”

CHAPTER NINE

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year after they had come out of the land of Egypt, saying,
2. “Let the children of Israel also keep the Passover at its appointed time.
3. In the fourteenth day of this month, between the two evenings, you shall keep it in its appointed time. You shall keep it according to all its statutes, and according to all the ceremonies of it.”
4. And Moses spoke to the children of Israel to keep the Passover.
5. And they kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month between the two evenings, in the wilderness of Sinai. According to all that the LORD commanded Moses, the children of Israel did.
6. And there were certain men who were defiled by the dead body of a man, so that they could not keep the Passover on that day. And they came before Moses and before Aaron on that day.
7. And those men said to him, “We are defiled by the dead body of a man. Why are we kept back that we may not offer an offering of the LORD in its appointed time among the children of Israel?”
8. And Moses said to them, “You wait here, and I will hear what the LORD will command about you.”
9. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
10. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘If any man of you or of your generations shall be unclean because of a dead body, or in a journey afar off, he shall still keep the Passover to the LORD.
11. They shall keep it the fourteenth day of the second month between the two evenings, eating it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

12. They shall leave none of it until the morning, nor break any bone of it. According to all the ordinances of the Passover they shall keep it.

13. But the man that is clean, and is not in a journey, and holds back from keeping the Passover, even the same soul shall be cut off from among his people. Because he did not bring the offering of the LORD at its appointed time, that man shall bear his sin.

14. And if a stranger shall live among you, and will keep the Passover to the LORD, he shall do according to the law of the Passover, and according to its ordinance. You shall have only one law, both for the stranger and for him that was born in the land.

15. And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, even the tent of the testimony. And at sunset it was upon the tabernacle, appearing like fire, until the daybreak.

16. So it was always. The cloud covered it by day, and it appeared like fire by night.

17. And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle, then after that the children of Israel pulled up stakes. And in the place where the cloud stayed, there the children of Israel pitched their tents.

18. At the command of the LORD the children of Israel pulled up stakes, and at the command of the LORD they pitched their tents. As long as the cloud stayed upon the tabernacle, they remained encamped.

19. And when the cloud stayed long upon the tabernacle many days, then the children of Israel kept the charge of the LORD and did not journey.

20. And so when the cloud remained a number of days upon the tabernacle, according to the command of the LORD they remained in camp, and according to the command of the LORD they pulled up stakes.

21. And so when the cloud stayed from sunset to the daybreak, and the cloud was taken up at daybreak, then they pulled up stakes. Whether by day or by night when the cloud was taken up, they pulled up stakes.

22. Whether it was two days, or a month, or a year, that the cloud stayed upon the tabernacle, remaining over it, the children of Israel stayed in their tents and did not journey. But when it was taken up, they pulled up stakes.

23. At the command of the LORD they encamped, and at the command of the LORD they pulled up stakes. They kept the charge of the LORD at the command of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

CHAPTER TEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, 2. “Make two trumpets of silver for yourself. You shall make them of beaten work. And they shall be used for the calling of the assembly and for the journeying of the camps.

3. And when they shall blow with them, all the assembly shall gather themselves to you at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4. And if they blow with one, then the leaders who are heads of the thousands of Israel shall gather themselves to you.

5. When you blow an alarm, then the camps that lie on the east parts shall set out.

6. When you blow an alarm the second time, then the camps that lie on the south side shall set out. They shall blow an alarm for their journeys.

7. But when the congregation is to be gathered, you shall blow, but you shall not sound an alarm.

8. And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow with the silver trumpets. And they shall be to you for an ordinance forever throughout your generations.

9. And if you go to war in your land against the enemy who attacks you, then you shall blow with the silver trumpets. And you shall be remembered before the LORD your God, and you shall be saved from your enemies.

10. Also in the day of your gladness, and in your appointed feasts, and in the beginnings of your months, you shall blow with the silver trumpets over your burnt offerings, and over the sacrifices of your peace offerings, so that they may be to you for a memorial before your God. I am the LORD your God.”

11. And on the twentieth day of the second month, in the second year, the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle of the testimony.

12. And the children of Israel set out in their journeyings out of the wilderness of Sinai. And the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran.
13. And at the command of the LORD they first pulled up stakes by the hand of Moses.
14. In the first place the standard of the camp of the children of Judah set out by their armies. And over his army was Nahshon the son of Amminadab.
15. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Issachar was Nethaneel the son of Zuar.
16. And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun was Eliab the son of Helon.
17. And the tabernacle was taken down. And the sons of Gershon and the sons of Merari set out according to their armies. And over his army was Elizur the son of Shedeur.
18. And over the army of the tribe of the children of Gad was Eliasaph the son of Eliab the son of Helon.
19. Then the Kohathites set out carrying the sanctuary. (For the tabernacle would be set up before their arrival.)
20. And the standard of the camp of the children of Dan set forth, the rear guard of all the camps throughout their armies. And over his army was Ammihud the son of Ahira, the son of Abidan, the son of Gideoni.
21. Then the Kohathites set out carrying the sanctuary. (For the tabernacle would be set up before their arrival.)
22. And the standard of the camp of the children of Ephraim set out according to their armies. And over his army was Elishama the son of Ammihud.
23. And over the army of the tribe of the children of Manasseh was Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur.
24. And over the army of the tribe of the children of Benjamin was Abidan, the son of Gideoni.
25. And the standard of the camp of the children of Dan set forward, the rear guard of all the camps throughout their army. And over his army was Ahiezer the son of Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.
26. And over the army of the tribe of the children of Naphtali was Pagiel, the son of Enan.
27. And over the army of the tribe of the children of Asher was Ahira, the son of Pagiel, the son of Enan.
28. These were the journeyings of the children of Israel according to their armies when they set out.
29. And Moses said to Hobab the son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses’ father-in-law, “We are going to the place of which the LORD said, ‘I will give it to you.’

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And the people complained about their distress, speaking evil in the ears of the LORD. And the LORD heard it, and His anger was kindled. And the fire of the LORD burned among them and consumed some in the outermost parts of the camp.
2. And the people cried to Moses. And when Moses prayed to the LORD, the fire was quenched.
3. And he called the name of the place Taberah because the fire of the LORD burned among them.
4. And the troublemakers in their midst lusted with great lust. And the children of Israel also turned and wept, and said, “Who shall give us flesh to eat?”
5. We remember the fish which we ate freely in Egypt, the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic.
6. But now our soul is dried away. There is nothing at all besides this manna before our eyes.”
7. And the manna was like coriander seed, and the color of it was like the color of bdellium.
8. The people went around and gathered, and ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it. And the taste of it was like the taste of fresh oil.

9. And when the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell upon it.

10. Then Moses heard the people weeping in the night, the manna fell upon it.

11. And Moses said to the LORD, “Why have You afflicted Your servant? And why have I not found favor in Your sight so that You lay the burden of all this people upon me?

12. Have I conceived all this people? Did I bring them forth that You should say to me, ‘Carry them in your bosom like a nursing father carries the sucking child,’ to the land which You swore to their fathers?

13. From where should I get flesh to give to all this people? For they weep to me, ‘Give us flesh that we may eat.’

14. I am not able to bear all this people alone because it is too heavy for me.

15. And if You are going to deal this way with me, I beg You to kill me at once, or I have found favor in Your sight, but with me, I beg You to kill me at once, or

16. And the LORD said to Moses, “Has the LORD’s hand become short? You have found favor in Your sight so that You lay the burden of all this people upon me?

17. And I will come down and talk with you there. And I will take of the Spirit which is upon you, and will put it upon them, and they shall bear the burden of the people with you so that you do not bear it yourself alone.

18. And say to the people, ‘Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, and you shall eat flesh. For you have wept in the ears of the LORD, saying, “Who shall give us flesh to eat, for it was well with us in Egypt?” Therefore the LORD will give you flesh, and you shall eat.

19. You shall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, nor ten days, nor twenty days.

20. But, even a whole month, until it comes out at your nostrils, and it is hate-
32. And the people rose up all that day and all night, and all the next day, and they gathered the quails. And he that gathered least gathered ten homers. And they spread them out for themselves all around the camp.
33. And while the flesh was yet between their teeth, before it was chewed, the wrath of the LORD was kindled against the people, and the LORD struck the people with a very great plague.
34. And he called the name of that place Graves of Lust because there they buried the people that lusted.
35. And the people set out from the Graves of Lust to Hazeroth and stayed at Hazeroth.

CHAPTER TWELVE

1. And Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Cushite woman whom he had taken, for he had taken a Cushite woman.
2. And they said, “Has the LORD indeed spoken only by Moses? Has He not also spoken by us?” And the LORD heard it.
3. (Now the man Moses was very meek, more than all the men on the face of the earth.)
4. And the LORD spoke suddenly to Moses and to Aaron and to Miriam, “You three come out to the tabernacle of the congregation.” And the three came out.
5. And the LORD came down in the pillar of cloud and stood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam.
6. And He said, “Hear now My words. If there is a prophet among you, I the LORD will make Myself known to him in a vision, and will speak to him in a dream.
7. Not so with My servant Moses. He is faithful in all My house.
8. I will speak with him mouth to mouth, even clearly, and not in dark speeches, and he shall behold the likeness of the LORD. Why then were you not afraid to speak against My servant Moses?”
9. And the anger of the LORD was kindled against them, and He departed.
10. And the cloud moved from the tabernacle. And behold, Miriam became leprous as snow. And Aaron looked on Miriam, and behold, she was leprous.
11. And Aaron said to Moses, “Oh, my lord, I beg you, do not lay upon us the sin in which we have done foolishly, and in which we have sinned.
12. Let her not be like one dead of whom the flesh is half gone when he comes out of his mother’s womb.”
13. And Moses cried to the LORD saying, “Heal her now, O God, I beseech You.”
14. And the LORD said to Moses, “If her father had but spit in her face, should she not be ashamed seven days? Let her be shut out from the camp seven days, and after that let her be received.”
15. And Miriam was shut out from the camp seven days. And the people did not journey until Miriam was brought in.
16. And afterward the people moved from Hazeroth and pitched in the wilderness of Paran.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying, “Send men so that they may scout out the land of Canaan which I give to the children of Israel. You shall send a man from every tribe of their fathers, everyone a leader among them.”
2. And Moses by the command of the LORD sent them from the wilderness of Paran. All those men were heads of the children of Israel.
3. And these were their names: Of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur.
4. Of the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the son of Hori.
5. Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
6. Of the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph.
7. Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddi the son of Susi.
8. Of the tribe of Ephraim, Oshea the son of Nun.
9. Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu.
10. Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli.
11. Of the tribe of Asher, Sethur the son of Michael.
12. Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vophsi.
13. Of the tribe of Gad, Geuel the son of Machi.
16. These were the names of the men whom Moses sent to scout out the land. And Moses called Oshea the son of Nun, Joshua.

17. And Moses sent them to scout out the land of Canaan, and said to them, “Go up this way, southward, and go up into the mountain.”

18. And see the land, what it is, and the people that live in it, whether it is strong or weak, few or many.

19. And see what the land is that they live in, whether it is good or bad; and what cities they dwell in, whether in tents or in strongholds;

20. And what the land is, whether fat or lean, whether there is wood in it or not. And be of good courage, and bring of the fruit of the land.” Now the time was the time of first ripe grapes.

21. So they went up and searched the land from the wilderness of Zin to Rehob as men come to Hamath.

22. And they went up by the south and came to Hebron where Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, the sons of Anak were. (Now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.)

23. And they came to the valley of Eshcol and cut from there a branch with one cluster of grapes. And they carried it between two men upon a staff, and some of the pomegranates and of the figs.

24. The place was called the valley of Eshcol because of the cluster of grapes which the children of Israel cut down from there.

25. And they returned from scouting out the land after forty days.

26. And they left and came to Moses and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, to the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh. And they brought back word to them, and to all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land.

27. And they told him and said, “We came to the land where you sent us, and surely it flows with milk and honey. And this is the fruit of it.

28. However, the people that dwell in the land are strong, and the cities are walled, very great. And also we saw the children of Anak there.

29. The Amalekites dwell in the land of the south, and the Hittites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains. And the Canaanites dwell by the sea and by the riverside of Jordan.”

30. And Caleb stilled the people before Moses and said, “Let us go up at once and possess it, for we are well able to overcome it.”

31. But the men that went up with him said, “We are not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we.”

32. And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had scouted out to the children of Israel, saying, “The land through which we have gone to scout it out, is a land that eats up those who live in it. And all the people whom we saw in it were men of great stature.

33. And there we saw the giants, the children of Anak of the giants. And we were in our own sight like grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight.”

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. And all the congregation lifted up their voice and cried. And the people wept that night.

2. And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron. And the whole congregation said to them, “Oh that we had died in the land of Egypt! Or, Oh that we had died in the wilderness!

3. And why has the LORD brought us into this land to fall by the sword so that our wives and our children should be a prey? Would it not be better for us to return to Egypt?”

4. And they said to one another, “Let us make a leader, and let us return to Egypt.”

5. And Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the assembly of the congregation of the children of Israel.

6. And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, of those that searched the land, tore their clothes.

7. And they spoke to all the company of the children of Israel saying, “The land which we passed through to scout out is an exceedingly good land.

8. If the LORD delights in us, then He will bring us into this land and give it to us, a land which flows with milk and honey.

9. Only do not rebel against the LORD, neither fear the people of the land, for...
10. But all the congregation said to stone them with stones. And the glory of the LORD appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation before all the children of Israel.

11. And the LORD said to Moses, “How long will this people provoke Me? And how long will it be before they believe Me, for all the signs which I have shown among them?

12. I will strike them with the pestilence and will disinherit them, and will make of you a greater nation and mightier than they.”

13. And Moses said to the LORD, “Then the Egyptians will hear, for You have brought this people into the land which He swore to their fathers, neither shall any of them that provoked Me see it.

14. And they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land. They have heard that You, LORD, are among this people, Who is seen eye to eye. You are the LORD, and Your cloud stands over them, and You go before them in a pillar of cloud by day, and in a pillar of fire by night.

15. And will You kill this people as one man? Then the nations who have heard Your fame will speak, saying, ‘Because the LORD was not able to bring this people into the land which He swore to them, therefore He has slain them in the wilderness.’

16. ‘Because the LORD was not able to bring this people into the land which He swore to them, therefore He has slain them in the wilderness.’

17. And now, I beseech You, let the power of my LORD be great, according as You have spoken, saying,

18. ‘The LORD is long-suffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression, and by no means clearing the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the sons to the third and fourth generation.’

19. I beseech You, pardon the iniquity of this people according to the greatness of Your mercy, and as You have forgiven this people from Egypt even until now.”

20. And the LORD said, “I have pardoned according to your word.

21. But truly, as I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD.

22. Because all those men who have seen My glory and My miracles which I did in Egypt and in the wilderness, and have tempted Me now these ten times, and have not hearkened to My voice,

23. Surely they shall not see the land which I swore to their fathers, neither shall any of them that provoked Me see it.

24. But My servant Caleb, because he had another spirit with him and has followed Me fully, I will bring him into the land into which he went. And his children shall possess it.

25. (Now the Amalekites and the Canaanites lived in the valley.) Tomorrow turn and go into the wilderness by the way to the Red Sea.”

26. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying,

27. “How long shall I bear with this evil congregation which murmurs against Me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel which they murmur against Me.

28. Say to them, ‘As I live,’ says the LORD, ‘as you have spoken in My ears, so I will do to you.

29. Your dead bodies shall fall in this wilderness, and all that were numbered of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, who have murmured against Me,

30. You shall certainly not come into the land which I swore to make you dwell in, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Joshua the son of Nun.

31. But your little ones, which you said should be a prey, I will bring them in and they shall know the land which you have despised.

32. But as for you, your carcasses shall fall in this wilderness.

33. And your children shall feed in the wilderness forty years and bear your whoredoms until your dead carcasses have been consumed in the wilderness.

34. According to the number of the days in which you searched the land—forty days—each day for a year you shall bear your iniquities, forty years; and you shall know My displeasure of this generation.

35. I the LORD have spoken it; I will surely do it to all this evil congregation who are gathered together against Me. They shall be destroyed in this wilderness, and there they shall die.’ ”

36. And the men whom Moses sent to scout out the land, who returned and made all the congregation to murmur against him, by bringing up an evil report upon the land,
37. Even those men that brought up the evil report upon the land died by the plague before the LORD.
38. But Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, of the men that went to scout out the land, died.
39. And Moses told these sayings to all the children of Israel. And the people mourned greatly.
40. And they rose up early in the morning and went up to the top of the mountain, saying, “Behold we are here, and will go up to the place which the LORD has promised, for we have sinned.”
41. And Moses said, “Why do you now go beyond the command of the LORD, which the LORD has promised, for we have sinned.”
42. Do not go up, for the LORD will not be with you.”
43. For the Amalekites and the Canaanites are there before you, and you shall fall by the sword. Because you have turned away from the LORD, therefore the LORD will not be with you.”
44. But they presumed to go up to the hill top. However, the ark of the covenant of the LORD and Moses did not leave the camp.
45. And the Amalekites and the Canaanites who were living in that mountain came down, and struck them down, and beat them back to Hormah.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘When you have come into the land of your dwelling places which I give to you,
3. And will make an offering by fire to the LORD, a burnt offering or a sacrifice in performing a vow, or in a freewill offering, or in your appointed feasts, to make a sweet savor to the LORD, from the herd or from the flock."
4. Then he who offers his offering to the LORD shall bring a grain offering of a tenth part of flour mixed with the fourth of a hin of oil.
5. And the fourth of a hin of wine for a drink offering shall you prepare with the burnt offering, or sacrifice, for one lamb.
6. Or for a ram, you shall prepare a grain offering, two tenth parts of flour mixed with the third of a hin of oil.
7. And for a drink offering you shall offer the third of a hin of wine for a sweet savor to the LORD.
8. And when you prepare a bull, a burnt offering, or a sacrifice in performing a vow, or peace offerings to the LORD,
9. Then he shall bring with the bull, a grain offering of three tenth parts of flour mixed with half a hin of oil.
10. And you shall bring for a drink offering half a hin of wine, an offering made by fire, of a sweet savor to the LORD.
11. So it shall be done for one bull, or for one ram, or for a lamb, or a kid.
12. According to the number that you shall prepare, so you shall do to everyone according to their number.
13. All that are native of the children of Israel shall do these things in this way, to offer an offering made by fire for a sweet savor to the LORD.
14. And if a stranger stays with you, or whoever is among you in your generations, and will offer an offering made by fire of a sweet savor to the LORD; as you do, so he shall do.
15. One ordinance for you of the congregation and also for the stranger that resides with you, an ordinance forever in your generations. As you are, so the stranger shall be before the LORD.
16. One law and one way shall be for you and for the stranger that lives with you.”
17. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
18. “Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, ‘When you come into the land where I bring you,
19. Then it shall be that when you eat of the bread of the land, you shall offer up a heave offering to the LORD.
20. You shall offer up a cake of the first of your dough, a heave offering, as the heave offering of the threshing floor, so you shall lift it up.
21. Of the first of your dough you shall give to the LORD a heave offering in your generations.
22. And if you have erred and have not done all these commandments which the LORD has spoken to Moses,
23. Even all that the LORD has commanded you by the hand of Moses from the day that the LORD commanded, and onward in your generations,
24. Then it shall be if it is committed by ignorance without the knowledge of the congregation, all the congregation shall offer up one young bull for a burnt offering for a sweet savor to the LORD, with its grain offering and its drink offering, according to the ordinance, and one kid of the goats for a sin offering.

25. And the priest shall make an atonement for all the congregation of the children of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them, for it is ignorance. And they shall bring their offering, a sacrifice made by fire to the LORD, and their sin offering before the LORD, for their ignorance.

26. And it shall be forgiven for all the congregation of the children of Israel, and the stranger that lives among them, since all the people were in ignorance.

27. And if a person sins through ignorance, then he shall bring a female goat of the first year for a sin offering.

28. And the priest shall make an atonement for the person when he sins through ignorance. And it shall be forgiven him.

29. And you shall have one law for him who acts through ignorance, for him that is native among the children of Israel and for the alien that resides among them.

30. But the one who acts presumptuously, whether of the native or of the alien, the same blasphemes the LORD.

31. Because he has despised the word of the LORD and has broken His commandment, that one shall be utterly cut off. His iniquity shall be upon him."

32. And while the children of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man gathering sticks on the Sabbath day.

33. And those who found him gathering sticks brought him to Moses and Aaron and to all the congregation.

34. And they put him under guard because it had not been clearly said what should be done to him.

35. And the LORD said to Moses, "The man shall surely be put to death. All the congregation shall stone him with stones outside the camp."

36. And all the congregation brought him outside the camp and stoned him with stones, and he died, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

37. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,

38. "Speak to the children of Israel and command them that they make fringes in the borders of their garments throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribbon of blue.

39. And it shall be to you for a fringe that you may look upon it, and remember all the commandments of the LORD, and do them; and so that you do not seek after your own heart and your own eyes which you yourself wantonly go after,

40. That you may remember and do all My commandments, and be holy to your God.

41. I am the LORD your God, Who brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God. I am the LORD your God."

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. Now Korah, the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, took both Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, and On, the son of Peleth, sons of Reuben:

2. Even they rose up before Moses with some of the children of Israel, two hundred and fifty leaders of the assembly, chosen men of the congregation, men who were well-known.

3. And they gathered themselves against Moses and against Aaron, and said to them, "You take too much upon you since all the congregation are holy, every one of them, and the LORD is among them. Why then do you lift yourselves up above the congregation of the LORD?"

4. And when Moses heard this, he fell on his face.

5. And he spoke to Korah and to all his company, saying, "Even at daybreak the LORD will show who is His, and who is holy, and will cause him to come near to Him; even him whom He has chosen will He cause to come near to Him.

6. Do this. Take censers, Korah and all your company, and put fire in them, and put incense in them before the LORD tomorrow. And it shall be the man whom the LORD chooses, he shall be holy. You take too much upon you, sons of Levi!"

8. And Moses said to Korah, "Hear now you sons of Levi:

9. Is it too little a thing to you that the God of Israel has separated you from the congregation of Israel to bring you near to Himself to do the service of the tabernacle of the LORD and to stand before the congregation to minister to them?
10. And He has brought you near, and all your brothers the sons of Levi with you. And do you seek the priesthood as well?
11. Therefore you and all your company are gathered against the LORD. And what is Aaron, that you murmur against him?”
12. And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab. And they said, “We will not come up.
13. Is it too little a thing that you have brought us up out of a land that flows with milk and honey to kill us in the wilderness, but must you also make yourself a prince over us?
14. Besides, you have not brought us into a land that flows with milk and honey, nor given us inheritance in fields and vineyards. Will you put out the eyes of these men? We will not come up.
15. And Moses was very angry and said to the LORD, “Do not respect their offering. I have not taken one donkey from them, neither have I hurt one of them.”
16. And Moses said to Korah, “Stand before the LORD, you and all your company—you and they, and Aaron, tomorrow.
17. And every man take his censer and put incense in them, and let every man bring his censer before the LORD, two hundred and fifty censers, you also, and Aaron, each with his censer.”
18. And every man took his censer and put fire in them, and laid incense on it, and stood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation with Moses and Aaron.
19. And Korah gathered all the congregation against them to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. And the glory of the LORD appeared to all the congregation.
20. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying,
21. “Separate yourselves from among this congregation, so that I may devour them in a moment.”
22. And they fell upon their faces and said, “O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, shall one man sin and will You be angry with all the congregation?”
23. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
24. “Speak to the congregation saying, ‘Get away from the tents of Korah and Dathan and Abiram.’ ”

25. And Moses rose up and went to Dathan and Abiram. And the elders of Israel followed him.
26. And he spoke to the congregation, saying, “I pray you, get away from the tents of these wicked men. And touch nothing of theirs lest you be destroyed in all their sins.”
27. So they got away from the tents of Korah, Dathan and Abiram, on every side. And Dathan and Abiram came out and stood in the door of their tents, and their wives, and their sons, and their little children.
28. And Moses said, “By this you shall know that the LORD has sent me to do all these works, and that I have not done them from my own heart.
29. If these men die the common death of all men, or if they are visited according to the fate of all men, the LORD has not sent me.
30. But if the LORD creates a new creation, and the earth opens her mouth and swallows them up with all that they have, and they go down alive into the pit, then you shall understand that these men have provoked the LORD.”
31. And it came to pass, as he had made an end of speaking all these words, the ground under them split apart.
32. And the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them up, and their households, and all the men who were for Korah, and all their goods.
33. They and all that they had went down alive into the pit, and the earth closed upon them. And they perished from among the congregation.
34. And all Israel around them fled at their cry. For they said, “Lest the earth swallow us up also.”
35. And there came out a fire from the LORD and burned up the two hundred and fifty men who offered incense.
36. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
37. “Speak to Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning and scatter the fire yonder. For they are holy.
38. The censers of these sinners against their own souls, let them make them into broad plates, a covering for the altar; for they offered them before the LORD, therefore they are made holy. And they shall be a sign to the children of Israel.”
39. And Eleazar the priest took the bronze censers, the ones with which those who had been burned up had offered, and they were made into broad plates, a covering of the altar.
40. To be a memorial to the children of Israel that no stranger who is not of the seed of Aaron may come near to offer incense before the LORD, so that he may not be as Korah and as his company—as the LORD said to him by the hand of Moses.
41. But on the next day all the congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron saying, “You have killed the people of the LORD.”
42. And it came to pass when the congregation was gathered together against Moses and against Aaron, they looked toward the tabernacle of the congregation. And behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the LORD appeared.
43. And Moses and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation.
44. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
45. Get away from this congregation so that I may consume them as in a moment. And they fell upon their faces.
46. And Moses said to Aaron, “Take a censer, and put fire in it from the altar, and put on incense, and go quickly into the congregation and make an atonement for them. For wrath has gone out from the LORD. The plague has begun.”
47. And Aaron did as Moses commanded and ran into the midst of the congregation. And behold, the plague had begun among the people. And he put on incense and made an atonement for the people.
48. And he stood between the dead and the living, and the plague was stayed.
49. And those who died in the plague were fourteen thousand, seven hundred, besides the ones who died about the matter of Korah.
50. And Aaron returned to Moses to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the plague was stayed.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
2. “Speak to the children of Israel, and take a rod from each of them for a father’s house, of all their leaders, for their fathers’ houses, twelve rods. Write every man’s name upon his rod.
3. And you shall write Aaron’s name upon the rod of Levi. For one rod shall be for the head of the house of their fathers.
4. And you shall put them in the tabernacle of the congregation before the testimony where I will meet with you.
5. And it shall be, the rod of the man whom I shall choose shall blossom. And I will make to cease from Me the murmurings of the children of Israel by which they murmur against you.”
6. And Moses spoke to the children of Israel, and all their leaders gave to him a rod, for each leader, one rod for each leader, for their father’s house, twelve rods. And the rod of Aaron was among their rods.
7. And Moses laid out the rods before the LORD to all the children of Israel. And they looked, and each one took his rod.
8. And the LORD said to Moses, “Bring Aaron’s rod again before the testimony to be kept as a token against the rebels. And you shall completely take away their murmurings from Me so that they do not die.”
9. And Moses did as the LORD commanded him, so he did.
10. And the children of Israel spoke to Moses saying, “Behold, we die, we perish, we all perish.
11. Whoever comes near the tabernacle of the LORD shall die. Shall we be consumed to die?”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. And the LORD said to Aaron, “You and your sons, and your father’s house with you, shall bear the iniquity of the sanctuary. And you and your sons with you shall bear the iniquity of your priesthood.
2. And bring your brothers also of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of your father with you, so that they may be joined to you and minister to you, you and your sons with you, before the tabernacle of witness.

3. And they shall keep your charge and the charge of all the tabernacle. Only they shall not come near the vessels of the sanctuary and the altar so that neither they nor you also may die.

4. And they shall be joined to you, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the service of the tabernacle. And a stranger shall not come near you.

5. And you shall keep the charge of the sanctuary and the charge of the altar so that there may be no wrath any more upon the children of Israel.

6. And I, behold, even I have taken your brothers the Levites from among the children of Israel. They are given to you as a gift for the LORD to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7. Therefore you and your sons with you shall keep your priests’ office for every thing of the altar and inside the veil. And you shall serve. I have given your priests’ office as a gift of service. And the stranger that comes near shall be put to death.

8. And the LORD spoke to Aaron, “Behold, I have also given you the charge of My heave offerings of all the holy things of the children of Israel. I have given them to you by reason of the anointing, and to your sons, by an ordinance forever.

9. This shall be yours of the most holy things, reserved from the fire, every sacrifice of theirs, every grain offering of theirs, and every sin offering of theirs, and every trespass offering of theirs, which they shall give Me. These are most holy for you and for your sons.

10. You shall eat it in the most holy place. Every male shall eat it. It shall be holy to you.

11. And this is yours, the heave offering of their gift, with all the wave offerings of the children of Israel. I have given them to you and to your sons and to your daughters with you by a statute forever. Everyone that is clean in your house shall eat it.

12. All the best of the oil, and all the best of the wine, and of the wheat, the firstfruits of them which they shall offer to the LORD, I have given them to you.

13. The first ripe fruits of all that is in the land, which they shall bring to the LORD, shall be yours. Everyone that is clean in your house shall eat of it.

14. Everything devoted in Israel shall be yours.

15. Everything that opens the womb of all flesh, which they bring to the LORD, of men or animals, shall be yours. Nevertheless, the firstborn of man you shall surely redeem, and the firstborn of unclean animals you shall redeem.

16. And those that are to be redeemed from a month old you shall redeem, according to your judgment for the silver of five shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, which is twenty gerahs.

17. But the firstborn of a cow, or the firstborn of a sheep, or the firstborn of a goat, you shall not redeem. They are holy. You shall sprinkle their blood against the side of the altar and shall burn their fat, an offering made by fire for a sweet savor to the LORD.

18. And their flesh shall be yours, as the wave breast and as the right shoulder are yours.

19. All the heave offerings of the holy things, which the children of Israel offer to the LORD, I have given you and your sons and your daughters with you by a statute forever. It is a covenant of salt forever before the LORD to you and to your seed with you.”

20. And the LORD said to Aaron, “You shall have no inheritance in their land, neither shall you have any part among them. I am your part and your inheritance among the children of Israel.

21. And behold, I have given the sons of Levi all the tithe in Israel for an inheritance, for their service which they serve, the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

22. Neither must the children of Israel come near the tabernacle of the congregation from this time forward, lest they bear sin and die.

23. But the Levites shall do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they shall bear their iniquity, it shall be a statute forever throughout your generations, that among the children of Israel they have no inheritance.

24. But the tithes of the children of Israel, which they offer as a heave offering... to the LORD, I have given to the Levites to inherit. Therefore I have said to them, ‘Among the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance.’”

25. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
26. “And you shall speak to the Levites, and you shall say to them, ‘When you take tithes from the children of Israel, which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then you shall offer up a heave offering of it for the LORD, even a tenth of the tithe.
27. And your heave offering shall be credited to you as grain of the threshing-floor and as the fullness of the winepress.
28. So you also shall offer a heave offering to the LORD of all your tithes which you receive from the children of Israel. And you shall give from these the LORD’S heave offering to Aaron the priest.
29. Out of all your gifts you shall offer every heave offering of the LORD of all the best of them, the holy part out of it.’
30. And you shall say to them, ‘When you have lifted up the best of it, then it shall be credited to the Levites as the increase of the threshing-floor, and as the increase of the winepress.
31. And you shall eat it in every place, you and your households. For it is your reward for your service in the tabernacle of the congregation.
32. And you shall bear no sin because of it when you have offered up the best of it. Neither shall you profane the holy things of the children of Israel, lest you die.’”

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron saying,
2. “This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD has commanded, saying, ‘Speak to the children of Israel that they bring you a red heifer, a perfect one, in which there is no blemish, on which no yoke ever came.
3. And you shall give her to Eleazar the priest that he may bring her forth outside the camp. And it shall be slain in his presence.
4. And Eleazar the priest shall take some of her blood with his finger and sprinkle some of her blood directly toward the tabernacle of the congregation seven times.
5. And the heifer shall be burned in his presence, her skin and her flesh and her blood with her dung, shall be burned.
6. And the priest shall take cedar wood and hyssop and scarlet, and throw it into the midst of the burning of the heifer.
7. Then the priest shall wash his clothes, and he shall bathe his flesh in water. And afterward he shall come into the camp, and the priest shall be unclean until sunset.
8. And he who burned her shall wash his clothes in water and bathe his flesh in water, and shall be unclean until sunset.
9. And a man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer, and lay them up outside the camp in a clean place, and it shall be kept for the congregation of the children of Israel for a water of cleansing. It is a cleansing for sin.
10. And he who gathers the ashes of the heifer shall wash his clothes and be unclean until sunset. And it shall be to the children of Israel, and to the stranger that lives among them, for a statute forever.
11. He who touches the dead body of any man shall be unclean seven days.
12. He shall purify himself with it on the third day, and on the seventh day he shall be clean. But if he does not purify himself the third day, then the seventh day he shall not be clean.
13. Whoever touches the dead body of any man that has died, and does not purify himself, defiles the tabernacle of the LORD. And that soul shall be cut off from Israel. Because the water of separation was not sprinkled upon him, he shall be unclean. His uncleanness is still upon him.
14. This is the law when a man dies in a tent. All that come into the tent, and all in the tent, shall be unclean seven days.
15. And every open vessel which has no covering bound upon it, it is unclean.
16. And whoever touches one that is killed with a sword in the open fields, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days.
17. And for an unclean person they shall take of the ashes of the burnt heifer of purification for sin, and running water shall be mixed with it in a vessel.
18. And a clean person shall take hyssop and dip in the water, and sprinkle upon the tent and upon all the vessels, and upon the persons that were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one killed, or one dead, or a grave.
19. And the clean person shall sprinkle on the unclean on the third day and on the seventh day. And on the seventh day he shall purify himself, and wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water. And he shall be clean at sunset.
20. But the man that shall be unclean, and shall not purify himself, that soul shall be cut off from among the congregation because he has defiled the sanctuary of the Lord. The water of separation has not been sprinkled upon him. He is unclean.

21. And it shall be a perpetual statute to them that he who sprinkles the water of separation shall wash his clothes. And he that touches the water of separation shall be unclean until sunset.
22. And whatever else the unclean person touches shall be unclean. And the one who touches shall be unclean until sunset.’ ”

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. Then the children of Israel came, the whole congregation, into the wilderness of Zin in the first month. And the people stayed in Kadesh. And Miriam died there and was buried there.
2. And there was no water for the congregation. And they gathered themselves against Moses and against Aaron.
3. And the people contended with Moses and spoke, saying, “Oh that we had died before the LORD! And why have you brought up the congregation to bring us into this evil wilderness, so that we and our livestock should die there?
4. And why have you brought up the congregation of the Lord into this wilderness, so that we and our livestock should die there?
5. And why have you made us to come up out of Egypt to bring us into this evil place? It is not a place of seed or of figs or of vines or of pomegranates. And there is no water to drink.”
6. And Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the assembly to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they fell upon their faces. And the glory of the Lord appeared to them.
7. And the Lord spoke to Moses saying, “‘Take the rod, and gather the assembly, you and Aaron your brother, and speak to the rock before their eyes. And it shall give forth its water, and you shall bring forth to them water out of the rock. So you shall give the congregation and their animals water to drink.’ ”
9. And Moses took the rod from before the presence of the Lord as He commanded him.
10. And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he said to them, “Hear now, you rebels. Must we bring water for you out of this rock?”
11. And Moses lifted up his hand and with his rod he struck the rock twice. And the water came out plentifully, and the congregation and their animals drank.
12. And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, “Because you did not believe Me, to sanctify Me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore you shall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them.
13. These are the Waters of Strife because the children of Israel contended against the Lord, but He showed Himself holy among them.”
14. And Moses sent messengers from Kadesh to the king of Edom, “Thus says your brother Israel, ‘You know all the trouble that has happened to us, how our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have lived in Egypt a long time. And the Egyptians dealt harshly with us and our fathers. And when we cried to the Lord, He heard our voice and sent an Angel, and has brought us forth out of Egypt. And behold, we are in Kadesh, a city at the edge of your border. Let us pass, I pray you, through your country. We will not pass through a field, nor through a vineyard, neither will we drink of the water of a well. We will go by the king’s highway. We will not turn to the right hand nor to the left until we have passed your borders.’ ”
18. And Edom said to him, “You shall not pass by me, lest I come out against you with the sword.”
19. And the children of Israel said to him, “We will go by the highway. And if I and my livestock drink of your water, then I will pay for it. Without doing anything, I will only go through on my feet.”
20. And he said, “You shall not go through.” And Edom came out against him with many people, and with a strong hand.
21. So Edom refused to give Israel passage through his border. Therefore Israel turned away from him.
22. And the children of Israel, the whole congregation, set out from Kadesh and came to Mount Hor.
23. And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron in Mount Hor, by the border of the land of Edom, saying,
24. “Aaron shall be gathered to his people. For he shall not enter into the land which I have given to the children of Israel, because you rebelled against My word at the Waters of Strife.
25. Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring them up to Mount Hor.
26. And strip Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son. And Aaron shall be gathered to his people, and shall die there.”
27. And Moses did as the Lord commanded. And they went up into Mount Hor in the sight of all the congregation.
28. And Moses stripped Aaron of his garments and put them upon Eleazar his son. And Aaron died there in the top of the mount. And Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain.
29. And when all the congregation saw that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirty days, all the house of Israel.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. And King Arad the Canaanite, who lived in the south, heard that Israel came by the Way of the Spies; then he fought against Israel and took prisoners of them.
2. And Israel vowed a vow to the Lord and said, “If You will indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will completely destroy their cities.”
3. And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Israel and delivered up the Canaanites, and they completely destroyed them and their cities. And he called the name of the place Hormah.
4. And they journeyed from Mount Hor by the way of the Red Sea to go around the land of Edom. And the soul of the people was very discouraged because of the way.
5. And the people spoke against God and against Moses, “Why have you brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderness? For there is no bread, neither is there any water. And our soul hates this light bread.”
6. And the Lord sent fiery serpents among the people, and they bit the people. And many people of Israel died.
7. And the people came to Moses and said, “We have sinned, for we have spoken against the Lord and against you. Pray to the Lord that He take away the serpents from us.” And Moses prayed for the people.
8. And the Lord said to Moses, “Make a fiery serpent and set it on a pole. And it shall be when everyone who is bitten looks upon it, he shall live.”
9. And Moses made a serpent of bronze and put it upon a pole. And it came to pass that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he looked upon the serpent of brass, he lived.
10. And the children of Israel journeyed and pitched in Oboth.
11. And they journeyed from Oboth and pitched at Ije Abarim in the wilderness before Moab, toward the sunrise.
12. From there they set out and pitched in the valley of Zered.
13. From there they set out and pitched on the other side of Arnon in the wilderness that comes out of the borders of the Amorites; for Arnon is at the border of Moab between Moab and the Amorites.
14. Therefore it is said in the Book of the Wars of the Lord, “Waheb in Suphah,* and in the brooks of Arnon,
15. And at the stream of the brooks that go down to the dwelling of Ar and lies upon the border of Moab.”
16. And from there they went to Beer. That is the well of which the Lord spoke to Moses, “Gather the people together, and I will give them water.”
17. Then Israel sang this song, “Spring up, O well. Sing to it.
18. The well which the leaders dug, which the nobles of the people dug with their staves by the word of the Lawgiver.” And from the wilderness they went to Mattanah,
19. And from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth,
20. And from Bamoth in the valley, in the country of Moab, they worked to the top of Pisgah, which looks down upon the desert.
21. And Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, saying, 22. “Let me pass through your land. We will not turn into the fields or into the vineyards. We will not drink the waters of the well. We will go along by the king’s highway until we are past your borders."
23. And Sihon would not allow Israel to pass through his border. But Sihon gathered all his people, and went out against Israel in the wilderness. And he came to Jahaz and fought against Israel.
24. And Israel struck him with the edge of the sword and possessed his land from Arnon to Jabbok, even to the Ammonites, for the border of the Ammonites was strong.
25. And Israel took all these cities. And Israel lived in all the cities of the Amorites in Heshbon and in all its villages.
26. For Heshbon was the city of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who had fought against the former king of Moab and had taken all his land out of his hand, even to Arnon.
27. Therefore, those who speak in proverbs say, “Come into Heshbon. Let the city of Sihon be built and prepared, for it has consumed Ar of Moab, the lords of the high places of Arnon.
28. Woe to you, Moab! You are undone, O people of Chemosh! He has given his sons to be as fugitives, and his daughters to go into captivity to Sihon, king of the Amorites.
29. We have cast them down. Heshbon was a flame from the city of Sihon.
30. Therefore he sent messengers to Balaam the son of Beor, by the river of the land of his people, to call him, saying, “Behold, a people has come out of Egypt which covers the face of the earth. And they are dwelling across from me.
31. Now Israel settled in the land of the Amorites.
32. And Moses sent men to scout out Jazer, and they took its villages and drove out the Amorites who were there.
33. And they turned and went up by the way of Bashan. And Og the king of Bashan went out against them, he and all his people, to the battle at Edrei.
34. And the LORD said to Moses, “Do not fear him, for I have delivered him into your hand, and all his people and his land. And you shall do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.”
35. So they struck him and his sons and all his people until there was none left of him alive. And they possessed his land.
14. And the leaders of Moab rose up and went to Balak, and said, “Balaam refuses to come with us.”
15. And Balak sent leaders again, more numerous and more honorable than those before.
16. And they came to Balaam and said to him, “Thus says Balak, the son of Zippor, ‘Please let nothing hinder you from coming to me. For I will raise you up to very great honor, and I will do whatever you say to me. Please come then and curse this people for me.’ ”
17. And Balaam answered and said to the servants of Balak, “If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the LORD my God to do less or more.
18. But please now stay here also this night so that I may know what more the LORD will say to me.”
19. And God came to Balaam at night and said to him, “If the men come to call you, rise up, go with them. But only the word which I shall say to you, that you shall do.”
20. And Balaam rose up in the morning and saddled his donkey, and went with the rulers of Moab.
21. And God’s anger was kindled because he went. And the angel of the LORD stood in the way as an enemy against him. And as he was riding upon his donkey, and his two servants with him,
22. Then the donkey saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand. And the donkey turned aside out of the way and went into the field. And Balaam struck the donkey, to turn her back into the way.
23. But the angel of the LORD stood in a path of the vineyards, a wall on this side, and a wall on that side.
24. And when the donkey saw the angel of the LORD, she fell down under Balaam’s foot against the wall. And he struck her again.
25. And the angel of the LORD went further and stood in a narrow place, where there was no way to turn either to the right hand or to the left.
26. And when the donkey saw the angel of the LORD, she fell down under Balaam. And Balaam’s anger was kindled, and he struck the donkey with a staff.
27. And the angel of the LORD said to Balaam, “What have I done to you that you have beaten me these three times?”
28. And Balaam said to the angel of the LORD, “Because you have mocked me. I wish there were a sword in my hand, for now I would kill you.”
29. And the donkey said to Balaam, “Am I not your donkey upon which you have ridden ever since I was yours to this day? Was I ever known to do so to you?” And he said, “No.”
30. Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand. And he bowed down his head and fell on his face.
31. And the angel of the LORD said to him, “Why have you beaten your donkey these three times? Behold, I came out to withstand you because your way is perverse before me.
32. And the donkey saw me and turned from me these three times. Unless she had turned from me, surely now I also would have killed you and saved her alive.”
33. And Balaam said to the angel of the LORD, “I have sinned, for I did not know that you stood in the way against me. Now therefore, if it displeases you, I will go back again.”
34. And the angel of the LORD said to Balaam, “Go with the men. But only the word that I shall speak to you, that you shall speak.”
35. And Balaam went with the men. But only the word that I shall speak to you, that you shall speak.”
36. And when Balak heard that Balaam came, he went out to meet him, at the city of Moab on the border of Arnon, which is in the outermost border.
37. And Balaam said to Balak, “Did I not earnestly send to you to call you? Why did you not come to me? Am I not able indeed to lift you up to honor?”
38. And Balaam said to Balak, “Lo, I have come to you. Have I now any power at all to say anything? The word that God puts in my mouth, that I shall speak.”
39. And Balaam went with Balak, and they came to Kirjath Huzoth.
40. And Balak sacrificed oxen and sheep, and sent to Balaam and to the leaders that were with him.
41. And it came to pass on the next day, Balak took Balaam and brought him up... into the high places of Baal so that from there he might see the extent of the people.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. And Balaam said to Balak, “Build me here seven altars, and prepare here seven oxen and seven rams for me.”
2. And Balak did as Balaam had spoken. And Balak and Balaam offered on every altar a bull and a ram.
3. And Balaam said to Balak, “Stand by your burnt offering, and I will go. Perhaps the LORD will come to meet me. And whatever He reveals to me I will tell you.” And he went to a high place.
4. And God met Balaam. And he said to Him, “I have prepared seven altars, and I have offered upon every altar a bull and a ram.”
5. And the LORD put a word in Balaam’s mouth and said, “Return to Balak, and thus you shall speak.”
6. And he returned to him. And lo, he stood by his burnt sacrifice, he and all the leaders of Moab.
7. And he took up his parable, and said, “Balak, the king of Moab, has brought me from Aram, out of the mountains of the east, saying, ‘Come, curse Jacob for me, and come, defy Israel.’
8. How shall I curse whom God has not cursed? Or how shall I defy whom the LORD has not defied?
9. For from the top of the rocks I see him, and from the hills I see him. Behold, the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be counted among the nations.
10. Who can count the dust of Jacob and the number of the fourth part of Israel? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!”
11. And Balak said to Balaam, “What have you done to me? I took you to curse my enemies, and behold, you have kept on blessing them!”
12. And he answered and said, “Must I not be careful to speak that which the LORD has put in my mouth?”
13. And Balak said to him, “Please come with me to another place from where you may see them. You shall see only the nearest of them, and shall not see them all. And curse them from there for me.”
14. And he brought him into the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars and offered a bull and a ram on every altar.
15. And he said to Balak, “Stand here by your burnt offering while I meet Him yonder.”
16. And the LORD met Balaam and put a word in his mouth, and said, “Go again to Balak and say this.”
17. And when he came to him, behold, he stood by his burnt offering, and the leaders of Moab were with him. And Balak said to him, “What has the LORD spoken?”
18. And he took up his parable and said, “Rise up, Balak, and hear. Listen to me, son of Zipper.
19. God is not a man that He should lie, neither the son of man that He should repent. Has He said, and shall He not do it? Or has He spoken, and shall He not fulfill it?
20. Behold, I have received word to bless. And He has blessed, and I cannot reverse it.
21. He has not seen iniquity in Jacob, neither has He seen perverseness in Israel. The LORD his God is with him, and the shout of a King among them.
22. God brought them out of Egypt. He has, as it were, the strength of an ox.
23. Surely, there is no enchantment against Jacob, nor any divination against Israel. According to this time it shall be said of Jacob and of Israel, ‘What God has worked!’
24. Behold, the people shall rise up like a great lion, and lift up himself like a young lion. He shall not lie down until he eats of the prey and drinks the blood of the slain.”
25. And Balaam said to Balak, “Neither curse them at all nor bless them at all.”
26. But Balaam answered and said to Balak, “Did I not tell you, saying, ‘All that the LORD speaks, that I must do’?”
27. And Balak said to Balaam, “Please, come. I will bring you into another place. Perhaps it will please God that you will curse them for me from there.
28. And Balak brought Balaam to the top of Peor that looks toward Jeshimon.
29. And Balaam said to Balak, “Build seven altars here for me, and prepare seven bulls and seven rams here for me.”
30. And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bull and a ram on every altar.
CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. And Balaam saw that it pleased the LORD to bless Israel, and he did not go, as at other times, to seek for enchantments, but he set his face toward the wilderness.
2. And Balaam lifted up his eyes, and he saw Israel pitched, according to their tribes. And the Spirit of God came upon him.
3. And he took up his parable, and said, “Balaam the son of Beor has said, and the man whose eyes are open has said;
4. He has said; he who heard the words of God, who saw the vision of the Almighty, falling down but having his eyes open:
5. How goodly are your tents, O Jacob, your tabernacles, O Israel!
6. They are spread forth like the valleys, like gardens by the river’s side, like trees of aloes which the LORD has planted, like cedar trees beside the waters.
7. He shall pour the water out of his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters. And his king shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted.
8. God brought him forth out of Egypt. Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted.
9. He crouched. He lay down as a lion, and as a great lion. Who shall stir him up? Blessed is he who blesses you, and cursed is he who curses you.”
10. And Balak’s anger was kindled against Balaam. And he struck his hands together. And Balaam said to Balak, “I called you to curse my enemies, and behold, you have kept on blessing them these three times.
11. Therefore now flee to your place. I thought to lift you up to great honor, but behold, the LORD has kept you back from honor.”
12. And Balaam said to Balak, “Did I not speak also to your messengers whom you sent to me, saying,
13. ‘If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the LORD, to do good or evil of my own mind. What the LORD said, that I will speak’?”
14. And now, behold, I go to my people. Come! I will make known to you what this people shall do to your people in the latter days.”
15. And he took up his parable, and said, “Balaam, the son of Beor, has said, and the man whose eyes are open has said;
16. He has said, he who heard the words of God and knew the knowledge of the Most High, who sees the vision of the Almighty, falling down but having his eyes open:
17. I shall see Him, but not now. I shall behold Him, but not near. There shall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter shall rise out of Israel, and shall smash the corners of Moab, and destroy all the sons of tumult.
18. And Edom shall be a possession. Seir also shall be a possession for his enemies. And Israel shall do valiantly.
19. Out of Jacob shall come He Who shall have dominion and shall destroy him who remains of the city.”
20. And when he looked on Amalek, he took up his parable and said, “Amalek was the first of the nations. But his latter end is to destruction.”
21. And he looked on the Kenites, and took up his parable and said, “Strong is your dwelling place, and you put your nest in a rock.
22. But the Kenites shall be wasted when Assyria shall carry you away captive.”
23. And he took up his parable and said, “Alas, who shall remain alive when God has condemned?
24. And ships shall come from the coast of Cyprus, and shall afflict Assyria and shall afflict Eber, and he also shall come to destruction.”
25. And Balaam rose up, and went and returned to his place. And Balak also went his way.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

1. And Israel dwelt in Acacia Grove, and the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab.
2. And they called the people to the sacrifices of their gods. And the people ate and bowed down to their gods.
3. And Israel joined himself to Baal Peor. And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel.
4. And the LORD said to Moses, “Take all the heads of the people and impale them before the LORD facing the sun, so that the fierce anger of the LORD may be turned away from Israel.”
5. And Moses said to the judges of Israel, “Every one of you kill his men who were joined to Baal Peor.”
6. And behold, a man of the children of Israel came and brought to his brethren a woman of Midian, in the sight of Moses, and in the sight of all the congregation of the children of Israel, who were weeping before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
7. And when Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, saw it, he rose up from among the congregation and took a spear in his hand.
8. And he went after the man of Israel into the tent, and pierced both of them through, the man of Israel, and the woman, through her belly. So the plague was stayed from the children of Israel.
9. And those that died in the plague were twenty-four thousand.
10. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
11. “Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, has turned My wrath away from the children of Israel in that he was zealous for My sake among them, so that I did not destroy the children of Israel in My jealousy.
12. Therefore say, ‘Behold, I give him My covenant of peace.
13. And he shall have it, and his seed after him, the covenant of an everlasting priesthood because he was zealous for his God and made an atonement for the children of Israel.’ ”
14. And the name of the Israelite who was killed, he who was struck with the woman of Midian, was Zimri, the son of Salu, leader of a chief house of the Simeonites.
15. And the Midianite woman’s name who was killed was Cozbi, the daughter of Zur. He was head over a people, and of a chief house in Midian.
16. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
17. “Attack the Midianites and strike them.
18. For they trouble you with their lies, with which they have deceived you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi the daughter of a ruler of Midian, their sister, who was stricken in the day of the plague because of Peor.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

1. Then came the daughters of Zelophehad, the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of Manasseh, the son of Joseph. And these are the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah.

2. And they stood before Moses and before Eleazar the priest, and before the leaders and all the congregation, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,

3. “Our father died in the wilderness, and he was not in the company of those who gathered themselves against the LORD in the company of Korah, but died in his own sin and had no sons.

4. Why should the name of our father be taken away from among his family because he has no son? Therefore give us a possession among the brothers of our father.”

5. And Moses brought their cause before the LORD.

6. And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying,

7. “It is right what the daughters of Zelophehad speak. You shall surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father’s brothers. And you shall cause the inheritance of their father to pass to them.

8. And you shall speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘When a man dies and has no son, then you shall cause his inheritance to pass to his daughter.

9. And if he has no daughter, then you shall give his inheritance to his brothers.

10. And if he has no brothers, then you shall give his inheritance to his father’s brothers.

11. And if his father has no brothers, then you shall give his inheritance to his nearest relative of his family, and he shall possess it. And it shall be to the children of Israel a statute of judgment as the LORD commanded Moses.”
12. And the LORD said to Moses, “Get up into this Mount Abarim and see the land which I have given to the children of Israel.
13. And after you have seen it, you also shall be gathered to your people as Aaron your brother was gathered.
14. For you rebelled against My command in the desert of Zin, in the strife of the congregation, to sanctify Me at the water before their eyes; they were the Waters of Strife in Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.”
15. And Moses spoke to the LORD, saying,
16. “Let the LORD, the God of the spirits of all flesh, set a man over the congregation.
17. Who may go out before them, and who may go in before them, and who may lead them out, and who may bring them in, so that the congregation of the LORD may not be as sheep which have no shepherd.”
18. And the LORD said to Moses, “Take Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the Spirit, and lay your hand upon him.
19. And set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation, and you shall commission him in their sight.
20. And you shall put of your honor on him, and before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation, and you shall commission him in their sight.
21. And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall ask for him according to the judgment of Urim before the LORD.
22. And Moses did as the LORD commanded him. And he took Joshua and set him before Eleazar the priest and before all the congregation.
23. And he laid his hands upon him and commissioned him, even as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

3. And you shall say to them, ‘This is the offering made by fire which you shall offer to the LORD: two lambs of the first year without blemish day by day, a continual burnt offering.
4. The one lamb you shall offer at sunrise, and the other lamb you shall offer between the two evenings.
5. And a tenth of an ephah of flour for a grain offering, mixed with the fourth of a hin of beaten oil.
6. It is a continual burnt offering which was ordained in Mount Sinai for a sweet savor, an offering made by fire to the LORD.
7. And its drink offering shall be the fourth of a hin for the one lamb. Pour a drink offering of strong wine to the LORD in the holy place.
8. And the other lamb you shall offer between the two evenings, even as the grain offering of the morning, and as its drink offering, you shall offer it, an offering made by fire, a sweet savor to the LORD.
9. And on the Sabbath day two lambs of the first year without blemish, and two tenth parts of flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, and its drink offering;
10. This is the burnt offering of every Sabbath, besides the continual burnt offering, and its drink offering.

15. And one kid of the goats for a sin offering to the LORD shall be prepared, besides the continual burnt offering and its drink offering.
16. And in the fourteenth day of the first month is the Passover of the LORD.

20. And their grain offering shall be of flour mixed with oil: three tenth parts to a bull, two tenth parts for a ram.
21. You shall prepare one tenth part for the one lamb, and for the seven lambs;
22. And one goat, a sin offering to make an atonement for you.
23. You shall prepare these besides the burnt offering at sunrise, which is for a continual burnt offering.
24. In this way you shall offer daily, seven days, the bread of the sacrifice made by fire for a sweet savor to the LORD. It shall be offered besides the continual burnt offering and its drink offering.
25. And on the seventh day you shall have a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work.
26. And in the day of the firstfruits, when you bring a new grain offering to the LORD after your weeks have been counted, you shall have a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

1. “And in the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall have a holy convocation. You shall do no servile work. It is a day of blowing the trumpets★ to you.
2. And you shall prepare a burnt offering for a sweet savor to the LORD: one young bull, one ram and seven lambs of the first year without blemish.
3. And their grain offering shall be flour mixed with oil, three tenth parts for a bull, two tenth parts for a ram,

7. And you shall have a holy convocation on the tenth day of this seventh month. And you shall afflict your souls. You shall not do any work therein.
8. But you shall offer a burnt offering to the LORD for a sweet savor: one young bull, one ram and seven lambs of the first year. They shall be to you without blemish.
9. And their grain offering shall be flour mixed with oil, three tenth parts to a bull, two tenth parts to one ram,

20. And on the third day eleven bulls, two rams and fourteen lambs of the first year without blemish.

23. And on the fourth day ten bulls, two rams and fourteen lambs of the first year without blemish.
24. Their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs shall be according to their number, according to the ordinance;

34. And one goat for a sin offering, besides the continual burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
35. On the eighth day you shall have a solemn assembly. You shall do no servile work.
36. But you shall offer a burnt offering, a sacrifice made by fire of a sweet savor to the LORD: one bull, one ram and seven lambs of the first year without blemish;
37. Their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bull, for the ram, and for the lambs, according to their number, according to the ordinance;

39. You shall prepare these to the LORD in your appointed feasts, besides your vows and your freewill offerings, for your burnt offerings, and for your grain offerings, and for your drink offerings, and for your peace offerings.’ ”
40. And Moses told the children of Israel according to all that the LORD commanded Moses.

CHAPTER THIRTY

1. And Moses spoke to the heads of the tribes concerning the children of Israel, saying, “This is the thing which the LORD has commanded:
2. If a man vows a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself with a bond, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that comes out of his mouth.
3. If a woman also vows a vow to the LORD, and binds herself by a bond, being in her father’s house in her youth, and if her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.
4. And if her father hears her vow and her bond with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

5. But if her father does not allow her vow in the day that he hears of it, none of her vows or her bonds with which she has bound herself shall stand. And the LORD shall forgive her because her father did not allow her.
6. And if she had a husband when she vowed, or if she said anything rash out of her mind.

7. And when a woman does vow a vow, or binds herself by a bond, and her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

8. But if her father does not allow her vow, or if he does not hear her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

9. If a man vows a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself with a bond, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that comes out of his mouth.

10. If a woman also vows a vow to the LORD, and binds herself by a bond, being in her father’s house in her youth, and if her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

11. But if her father does not allow her vow in the day that he hears of it, none of her vows or her bonds with which she has bound herself shall stand. And the LORD shall forgive her because her father did not allow her.

12. And if she had a husband when she vowed, or if she said anything rash out of her mind.

13. And when a woman does vow a vow, or binds herself by a bond, and her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

14. But if her father does not allow her vow, or if he does not hear her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

15. If a man vows a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself with a bond, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that comes out of his mouth.

16. If a woman also vows a vow to the LORD, and binds herself by a bond, being in her father’s house in her youth, and if her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

17. But if her father does not allow her vow in the day that he hears of it, none of her vows or her bonds with which she has bound herself shall stand. And the LORD shall forgive her because her father did not allow her.

18. And if she had a husband when she vowed, or if she said anything rash out of her mind.

19. And when a woman does vow a vow, or binds herself by a bond, and her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

20. But if her father does not allow her vow, or if he does not hear her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

21. If a man vows a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself with a bond, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that comes out of his mouth.

22. If a woman also vows a vow to the LORD, and binds herself by a bond, being in her father’s house in her youth, and if her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

23. But if her father does not allow her vow in the day that he hears of it, none of her vows or her bonds with which she has bound herself shall stand. And the LORD shall forgive her because her father did not allow her.

24. And if she had a husband when she vowed, or if she said anything rash out of her mind.

25. And when a woman does vow a vow, or binds herself by a bond, and her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

26. But if her father does not allow her vow, or if he does not hear her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

27. If a man vows a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself with a bond, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that comes out of his mouth.

28. If a woman also vows a vow to the LORD, and binds herself by a bond, being in her father’s house in her youth, and if her father hears her vow and her bonds with which she has bound herself, and if her father is silent as to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she has bound herself shall stand.

29. But if her father does not allow her vow in the day that he hears of it, none of her vows or her bonds with which she has bound herself shall stand. And the LORD shall forgive her because her father did not allow her.

30. And if she had a husband when she vowed, or if she said anything rash out of her mind.
her lips with which she bound herself,
7. And if her husband heard and is silent as to her in the day that he heard, then her vows shall stand, and her bonds with which she bound herself shall stand.
8. But if her husband did not allow her on the day that he heard it, then he shall make her vow which she vowed, and that which she uttered with her lips, with which she bound herself, of no effect. And the LORD shall forgive her.
9. But every vow of a widow and of her who is divorced, all which she has bound on herself shall stand against her.
10. And if she vowed in her husband’s house, or bound herself by a bond with an oath,
11. And if her husband heard and is silent as to her, and did not forbid her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond with which she bound herself shall stand.
12. But if her husband has certainly nullified them on the day he heard, whatever comes out of her lips concerning her vows or concerning the bond of herself, shall not stand. Her husband has nullified them. And the LORD shall forgive her.
13. Every vow and every binding oath to afflict herself, her husband may establish it, or her husband may nullify it.
14. But if her husband is altogether silent as to her from day to day, then he establishes all her vows or all her bonds which are on her. He confirms them because he was silent as to her in the day that he heard.
15. But if he at all nullifies them after he has heard, then he has borne her iniquity.”
16. These are the statutes which the LORD commanded Moses, between a man and his wife, between the father and his daughter in her youth in her father’s house.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE
1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
2. “Avenge the children of Israel of the Midianites. Afterward you shall be gathered to your people.”
3. And Moses spoke to the people saying, “Arm some of yourselves for the war, and let them go against the Midianites, and avenge the LORD on Midian.
4. You shall send to the war a thousand from every tribe throughout all the tribes of Israel.”

5. So there were delivered out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand of every tribe, twelve thousand armed for war.
6. And Moses sent them to the war, a thousand of every tribe. He sent them, and Phinehas, the son of Eleazar the priest, to the war with the holy instruments and the silver trumpets to blow in his hand.
7. And they warred against the Midianites as the LORD commanded Moses. And they killed all the males.
8. And they killed the kings of Midian, besides the rest of their slain: Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian. They also killed Balaam, the son of Beor, with the sword.
9. And the children of Israel took all the women of Midian captive, and their little ones, and the spoil of all their livestock, and all their flocks, and all their goods.
10 And they burned with fire all their cities, their homes, and all their towers.
11. And they took all the spoil and all the prey of men and animals.
12. And they brought the captives, and the prey, and the spoil to Moses and to Eleazar the priest, and to the congregation of the children of Israel, to the camp at the plains of Moab which are beside Jordan, at Jericho.
13. And Moses and Eleazar the priest, and all the leaders of the congregation, went forth to meet them outside the camp.
14. And Moses was angry with the officers of the army, the captains over thousands and captains over hundreds, who came from the battle.
15. And Moses said to them, “Have you saved all the women alive?
16. Behold, these caused the children of Israel, through the counsel of Balaam, to commit sin against the LORD in the matter of Peor, and the plague was on the congregation of Peor, and the plague was on the congregation of the LORD.
17. And now kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman that has not known a man by lying with him.
18. But all the female children that have not known a man by lying with him, keep alive for yourselves.
19. And stay outside the camp seven days. Whosoever has killed any person, and whoever has touched any dead one, purify yourselves and your captives on the third day and on the seventh day.
And purify all clothing, and all that is made of skin, and all work of goats' hair, and all things made of wood."
21. And Eleazar the priest said to the men of war who went to battle, "This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD commanded Moses.
22. Only the gold and the silver, the bronze, the iron, the tin, and the lead,
23. Everything that can stand the fire, you shall make go through the fire, and it shall be clean. Nevertheless it shall be purified with the water of cleansing. And all that cannot stand the fire you shall make go through the water.
24. And you shall wash your clothes on the seventh day, and you shall be clean, and afterwards you shall come into the camp."
25. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
26. "Count the prey that was taken of man and of animal, you and Eleazar the priest and the heads of the fathers of the congregation.
27. And divide the prey into two parts: between those skilled in the battle who went out to war and between all the congregation.
28. And levy a tax for the LORD from the men of war who went out to battle: one person out of five hundred, of the persons and of the beef cattle, and of the donkeys, and of the flock.
29. Take from their half and give it to Eleazar the priest, a heave offering to the LORD.
30. And from the children of Israel's half, which Moses divided from the men who warred;
31. Even the congregation's half was three hundred thirty-seven thousand, five hundred sheep,
32. And thirty-six thousand beef cattle,
33. And thirty thousand and five hundred donkeys,
34. And sixteen thousand persons;
35. Even of the children of Israel's half, Moses took one portion in fifty, of man and of animal, and gave them to the Levites who kept the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD—even as the LORD commanded Moses.
36. And the commanders who were over thousands of the army, over the captains of thousands and captains of hundreds, came near Moses.
37. And they said to Moses, "Your servants have counted the men of war who are under our charge, and there is not one man of us lacking.
38. And we bring an offering for the LORD, what every man has found, of jewels, of gold, chains and bracelets, rings, earrings and tablets to make an atonement for our souls before the LORD."
39. And Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold from them, all crafted things.
40. And all the gold of the offering that they offered up to the LORD, of the captains of thousands, and of the captains of hundreds, was sixteen thousand, seven hundred and fifty shekels,
41. For the men of war had taken spoil, every man for himself.
42. And Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold from the captains of thousands and of hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for a memorial for the children of Israel before the LORD.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

1. And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad had a very great multitude of livestock. And when they saw the land of Jazer, and the land of Gilead, behold, the place was a place for livestock.

2. And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben came and spake to Moses and to Eleazar the priest, and to the rulers of the congregation, saying,

3. "Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon,

4. The land which the LORD struck before the congregation of Israel is a land for livestock, and your servants have livestock."

5. And they said, "If we have found grace in your sight, let this land be given to your servants for a possession; do not bring us over Jordan."

6. And Moses said to the children of Gad and to the children of Reuben, "Shall your brothers go to war, and shall you sit here?"

7. And why do you discourage the heart of the children of Israel from going over into the land which the LORD has given them?

8. Thus did your fathers when I sent them from Kadesh Barnea to see the land.

9. For when they went up into the valley of Eshcol and saw the land, they discouraged the hearts of the children of Israel, so that they would not go into the land which the LORD had given them.

10. And the LORD'S anger was kindled at the same time, and He swore, saying,

11. 'Surely, none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and up, shall see the land which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob because they have not fully followed Me.

12. Except Caleb the son of Jephunneh, the Kenizzite, and Joshua the son of Nun, for they have fully followed the LORD.'

13. And the LORD'S anger was kindled against Israel, and He made them wander in the wilderness forty years until all that generation which had done evil in the sight of the LORD was destroyed.

14. And behold, you are risen up in your fathers' stead, an increase of sinful men, to add still more to the fierce anger of the LORD toward Israel.

15. For if you turn away from following Him, He will yet again leave them in the wilderness. And you shall destroy all this people."

16. And they came near to him and said, "We will build sheepfolds here for our livestock, and cities for our little ones.

17. But we ourselves will go ready armed before the children of Israel until we have brought them to their place. And our little ones shall live in the fenced cities because of those who live in the land.

18. We will not return to our houses until the children of Israel have inherited every man his inheritance.

19. For we will not inherit with them on the other side of Jordan, or forward, because our inheritance has fallen to us on this side of Jordan, eastward."

20. And Moses said to them, "If you will do this thing, if you will go armed before the LORD to war,

21. And all of you will go armed over Jordan before the LORD until He has driven out His enemies from before Him.

22. And the land is subdued before the LORD, then afterwards you shall return and be guiltless before the LORD and before Israel. And this land shall be your possession before the LORD.

23. But if you will not do so, behold, you have sinned against the LORD. And be sure your sin will find you out.

24. Build cities for your little ones and folds for your sheep, and do that which has come out of your mouth.

25. And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben spoke to Moses saying, "Your servants will do as my lord commands.

26. Our little ones, our wives, our flocks, and all our livestock shall be there in the cities of Gilead.

27. But your servants will go over, every man armed for war, before the LORD to battle as my lord says."

28. So regarding them Moses commanded Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel.

29. And Moses said to them, "If the children of Gad and the children of Reuben will go with you over Jordan, each armed to battle before the LORD, and the land shall be subdued before you, then you shall give them the land of Gilead for a possession.

30. But if they will not go over with you armed, they shall have possessions among you in the land of Canaan.”

31. And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben answered, saying, “As the LORD has said to your servants, so we will do.

32. We will go over armed before the LORD into the land of Canaan so that the possession of our inheritance on this side of the Jordan may be ours.”

33. And Moses gave to them, to the children of Gad and to the children of Reuben, and to half the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land with its cities in the borders, the cities of the land all around.

34. And the children of Gad built Dibon and Ataroth and Aroer,
35. And Atroth, Shophan, and Jaazer, and Jogbehah,
36. And Beth Nimrah, and Beth Haran, fortified cities. And they built folds for sheep.
37. And the children of Reuben built Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Kirjathaim,
38. And Nebo, and Baal Meon (their names being changed) and Sibmah,
39. And compared with the number of their journeys according to their starting places.
40. And Moses gave Gilead to Machir the son of Manasseh.
41. And Jair the son of Manasseh went to Gilead and took it, and put out the Amorite who was in it.
42. And Moses gave Gilead to Machir the son of Manasseh, and he lived in it.
43. And Jair the son of Manasseh went and took the small towns of it, and called them Havoth Jair.

44. And Nobah went and took Kenath and its villages, and called it Nobah after his own name.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

1. These are the journeys of the children of Israel, who went forth out of the land of Egypt with their armies under the hand of Moses and Aaron.
2. And Moses wrote their goings out according to their journeys by the command of the LORD. And these are their journeys according to their starting places.
3. And they set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month. On the next day after the Passover day, the children of Israel went out with a high hand in the sight of all the Egyptians.
4. While the Egyptians were still burying all their firstborn whom the LORD had stricken among them. The LORD also executed judgments upon their gods.

14. And they set out from Alush and pitched at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink.
15. And they set out from Rephidim and pitched in the wilderness of Sinai.
16. And they set out from the wilderness of Sinai and pitched at The Graves of Lust.
17. And they set out from The Graves of Lust and pitched at Hazereth.
18. And they set out from Hazereth and pitched in Rithmah.
19. And they set out from Rithmah and pitched at Rimmon Perez.

23. And they set out from the Meeting Place and pitched in Mount Shapher.
24. And they set out from Mount Shapher and pitched in Haradah.
25. And they set out from Haradah and pitched in Makelhoth.
26. And they set out from Makelhoth and pitched at Tahath.
27. And they set out from Tahath and pitched at Tarah.
28. And they set out from Tarah and pitched in Mithcah.
29. And they set out from Mithcah and pitched in Hashmonah.
30. And they set out from Hashmonah and pitched at Ezion Geber.
31. And they set out from Ezion Geber and pitched in Bene Jaakan.
32. And they set out from Bene Jaakan and pitched in the Hole of the Cleft.
33. And they set out from the Hole of the Cleft and pitched in Jotbathah.
34. And they set out from Jotbathah and pitched at Ebronah.
35. And they set out from Ebronah and pitched in Kadesh.
36. And they set out from Kadesh and pitched in Mount Hor.
37. And they set out from Mount Hor at the command of the LORD.
38. And Aaron the priest went up to Mount Hor and died there, in the fortieth year after the children of Israel had come up out of the land of Egypt, in the first day of the fifth month.
39. And Aaron was a hundred and twenty-three years old when he died in Mount Hor.
40. And King Arad the Canaanite, who lived in the south in the land of Canaan, heard of the coming of the children of Israel.
41. And they pulled up from Mount Hor and pitched in Zalmonah.
42. And they pulled up from Zalmonah and pitched in Punon.
43. And they pulled up from Punon and pitched in Oboth.
44. And they pulled up from Oboth and pitched in Ije Abarim, on the border of Moab.
45. And they pulled up from Ije Abarim and pitched in Dibon Gad.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

1. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
   2. “Command the children of Israel and say to them, ‘When you come into the land of Canaan, this is the land that shall fall to you for an inheritance, the land of Canaan with its borders.
   3. And your south quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin along by the border of Edom, and your south border shall be the furthest end of the Salt Sea eastward.
   4. And your border shall turn from the south to the ascent of Akraabim and pass on to Zin. And its limit shall be from the south to Kadesh Barnea, and shall go on to Hazar Addar, and pass on to Azmon.
5. And the border shall turn from Azmon to the river of Egypt, and the end of it shall be at the sea.
6. And for the western border, you shall even have the Great Sea for a border. This shall be your west border.
7. And this shall be your northern border. From the Great Sea you shall point out for you Mount Hor.
8. From Mount Hor you shall point your border to the entrance of Hamath. And the end of the border shall be at Zedad.
9. And the border shall go on to Ziphron, and the end of it shall be at Hazar Enan. This shall be your north border.
10. And you shall point out your east border from Hazar Enan to Shepham.
11. And the border shall go down from Shepham to Riblah, on the east side of Ain. And the border shall go down, and shall reach to the side of the Sea of Chinnereth eastward.
12. And the border shall go down to Jordan, and the end of it shall be at the Salt Sea. This shall be your land with the borders of it all around.
13. And Moses commanded the children of Israel saying, “This is the land which you shall inherit by lot, which the LORD commanded to give to the nine tribes and to the half tribe.
14. For the tribe of the children of Reuben according to the house of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad according to the house of their fathers, have received their inheritance. And half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance.
15. The two tribes and the half tribe have received their inheritance on this side of the Jordan at Jericho, eastward, toward the sunrise.”
16. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
17. “These are the names of the men who shall divide the land to you: Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun.
18. And you shall take one leader from every tribe to divide the land by inheritance.
19. And the names of the men are these: Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
20. And of the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the son of Ammihud.
21. And of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chislon.
22. And the leader of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the son of Jogli.
23. The leader of the tribe of Joseph, for the tribe of the children of Manasseh, Hanniel the son of Ephod.
24. And the leader of the tribe of the children of Ephraim, Kemuel the son of Shiphtan.
25. And the leader of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, Elizaphan the son of Parnach.
26. And the leader of the tribe of the children of Issachar, Paltiel, the son of Azzan.
27. And the leader of the tribe of the children of Asher, Ahihud the son of Shelomi.
28. And the leader of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, Pedahel the son of Ammihud.
29. These are the ones to whom the LORD commanded to divide the inheritance to the children of Israel in the land of Canaan.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE
1. And the LORD spoke to Moses on the plains of Moab beside Jordan, at Jericho, saying,
2. “Command the children of Israel that they give to the Levites cities to live in from the land of their inheritance. And you shall give to the Levites suburbs all around the cities.
3. And they shall have the cities to live in. And their open lands shall be for their livestock, and for their goods, and for all their animals.
4. And the open lands of the cities which you shall give to the Levites shall reach from the wall of the city and outward a thousand cubits all around.
5. And you shall measure from outside the city on the east side two thousand cubits, and on the south side two thousand cubits, and on the west side two thousand cubits, and on the north side two thousand cubits. And the city shall be in the middle. This shall be to them the open land of the cities.
6. And among the cities which you shall give to the Levites, there shall be six cities for refuge, which you shall appoint for the manslayer, so that he may flee there. And you shall add forty-two cities to them.
7. All the cities which you shall give to the Levites shall be forty-eight cities.
You shall give them with their open land.
8. And the cities which you shall give shall be of the possessions of the children of Israel. You shall give many from those who have many. But from those who have few you shall give few. Everyone shall give of his cities to the Levites according to his inheritance which he inherits."
9. And the LORD spoke to Moses saying,
10. "Speak to the children of Israel and say to them, 'When you have come over Jordan into the land of Canaan,
11. Then you shall choose cities to be cities of refuge for you so that the slayer who kills any person through error may flee there.
12. And they shall be to you cities for refuge from the avenger so that the man who kills any person through error may flee there.
13. And the cities which you shall choose shall be six cities for refuge.
14. You shall give three cities on this side of the Jordan, and you shall give three cities in the land of Canaan to be cities of refuge.
15. These six cities shall be a refuge for the children of Israel, and for the stranger, and for anyone who stays among them, so that everyone who kills any person through error may flee there.
16. And if he strikes him with an instrument of iron so that he dies, he is a murderer. The murderer shall surely be put to death.
17. And if he strikes him by throwing a stone with which he may die, and if he dies, he is a murderer. The murderer shall surely be put to death.
18. Or if he strikes him with a hand weapon of wood with which he may die, and if he dies, he is a murderer. The murderer shall surely be put to death.
19. The revenger of blood himself shall kill the murderer. When he meets him, he shall kill him.
20. And if he stabs him from hatred, or hurls at him by lying in wait, so that he dies,
21. Or in hatred strikes him with his hand so that he dies, he who struck him shall surely he put to death. He is a murderer.
The revenger of blood will kill the murderer when he meets him.
22. But if he thrusts him suddenly without hatred, or has thrown something on him without lying in wait,
23. Or with any stone with which a man may die if he does not see, and throws it upon him so that he dies, and was not his enemy, neither sought his harm,
24. Then the congregation shall judge between the one who kills and the revenger of blood according to these judgments.
25. And the congregation shall deliver the one who kills out of the hand of the revenger of blood. And the congregation shall send him back to the city of his refuge to which he had fled. And he shall stay in it until the death of the high priest who was anointed with the holy oil.
26. But if the one who killed shall at any time come outside the border of the city of his refuge to which he had fled,
27. And if the avenger of blood finds him outside the borders of the city of his refuge, and if the avenger of blood kills the slayer, he shall not be guilty of blood.
28. Because he should have remained in the city of his refuge until the death of the high priest. But after the death of the high priest, the one who killed shall return to the land of his possession.
29. So these things shall be for a statute of judgment to you throughout your generations in all your dwellings.
30. Whoever kills any person, the murderer shall be put to death by the mouth of witnesses. But one witness shall not testify against any person to cause him to die.
31. And you shall take no ransom for the life of a murderer who is guilty of death. But he shall surely be put to death.
32. And you shall take no ransom for him who has fled to the city of his refuge to return to live in the land until the death of the high priest.
33. So you shall not defile the land in which you are. For blood defiles the land. And the land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed in it, except by the blood of him that shed it.
34. So do not defile the land which you shall inhabit, in which I dwell. For I the LORD dwell among the children of Israel.' "
1. And the chief fathers of the families of the children of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of the sons of Joseph, came near and spoke before Moses, and before the rulers, the chief fathers of the children of Israel.

2. And they said, “The L ORD commanded my lord to give the land for an inheritance by lot to the children of Israel. And my lord was commanded by the L ORD to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother to his daughters.

3. And if they are married to any of the sons of the tribes of the children of Israel, then shall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers and shall be put to the inheritance of the tribe to which they are received. So it shall be taken from the lot of our inheritance.

4. And when the jubilee of the children of Israel shall come, then their inheritance shall be put to the inheritance of the tribe into which they are received. So their inheritance shall be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

5. And Moses commanded the children of Israel according to the word of the L ORD saying, “The tribe of the sons of Joseph has said well.

6. This is the thing which the L ORD commands concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, ‘Let them marry to whom they think best. Only they shall marry into the family of the tribe of their father.’

7. So the inheritance of the children of Israel shall not be moved from tribe to tribe. For every one of the children of Israel shall keep himself to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8. And every daughter that possesses an inheritance in any tribe of the children of Israel shall become a wife to one of the family of the tribe of her father, so that the children of Israel may each one enjoy the inheritance of his fathers.

9. And the inheritance shall not move from one tribe to another tribe. But every one of the tribes of the children of Israel shall keep himself to his own inheritance.”

10. Even as the L ORD commanded Moses, so the daughters of Zelophehad did.

11. For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married to their father’s brothers’ sons.

12. They were married into the families of the sons of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father.

13. These are the commandments and the judgments which the L ORD commanded by the hand of Moses to the children of Israel on the plains of Moab beside Jordan at Jericho.
CHAPTER ONE

1. These are the words which Moses spoke to all Israel beyond Jordan in the wilderness, on the plain opposite Suph, between Paran and Tophel and Laban and Hazeroth and Dizahab, 2. Eleven days from Horeb by way of Mount Seir to Kadesh Barnea. 3. And it came to pass, in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, Moses spoke to the children of Israel according to all that the LORD had given him in commandment to them; 4. After he had smitten Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth in Edrei, 5. Beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses began to explain this law, saying, 6. “The LORD our God spoke to us in Horeb, saying, ‘You have had enough of dwelling in this mountain. 7. Turn and take your journey, and enter Horeb, saying, ‘You have had enough of your problems and your burden and your strife?’ 8. Behold, the LORD your God has set before you the land. Go in and possess the land which the LORD our God has given unto us. 9. And I spoke to you at that time, saying, ‘I am not able to bear you by myself. 10. The LORD your God has multiplied you, and behold, today you are as the stars of heaven for multitude.

11. May the LORD, the God of your fathers, make you a thousand times more than you are, and bless you as He has promised you! 12. How can I by myself bear the weight of your problems and your burden and your strife? 13. Choose wise and understanding men, and those known to your tribes, and I will appoint them leaders over you.’ 14. And you answered me and said, ‘The thing which you have spoken is good to do.’ 15. And I took the heads of your tribes, wise and experienced men, and made them leaders over you, leaders over thousands, and leaders over hundreds, and leaders over fifties, and leaders over tens, and officers among your tribes. 16. And I commanded your judges at that time saying, ‘Hear the causes between your brethren, and judge righteously between a man and his brother, and the stranger with him. 17. You shall not respect persons in judgment. You shall hear the small as well as the great. You shall not be afraid of the face of man, for the judgment is God’s. And the cause that is too hard for you, bring to me, and I will hear it.’ 18. And I commanded you at that time all the things which you should do. 19. And when we set out from Horeb, we went through all that great and terrible wilderness which you saw by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as the LORD our God commanded us. And we came to Kadesh Barnea. 20. And I said to you, ‘You have come to the mountain of the Amorites which the LORD our God has given unto us. 21. Behold, the LORD your God has set the land before you. Go up and take possession of it, even as the LORD God of your fathers has said to you. Do not fear, neither be discouraged.’ 22. And you came near to me, every one of you, and said, ‘We will send men before us, and they shall search out the land and bring us word again by what way we must go up, and into what cities we shall come.’ 23. And the saying pleased me very much. And I took twelve men of you, one of a tribe. 24. And they turned and went up into the mountain and came to the valley of Eshcol, and searched it out. 25. And they took of the fruit of the land in their hands, and brought it down to us, and brought us word again and said, ‘It is a good land which the LORD our God gives us.’ 26. Yet you would not go up, but rebelled against the commandment of the LORD your God.
27. And you murmured in your tents and said, 'Because the LORD hates us, He has brought us forth out of the land of Egypt to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites to destroy us.
28. Where shall we go? Our brethren have broken our hearts, saying, “We have seen there a people greater and taller than we are. The cities are great and walled up to heaven, also the sons of the giants are there.”
29. Then I said to you, ‘Do not dread them nor be afraid of them.
30. The LORD your God Who goes before you shall fight for you, according to all that He did for you in Egypt before your eyes,
31. And in the wilderness where you have seen how the LORD your God carried you, as a man carries his son, in all the way that you went until you came into this place.’
32. Yet in this thing you did not believe the LORD your God,
33. Who went in the way before you to search you out a place to pitch your tents, in fire by night, to show you by what way you should go, and in a cloud by day.
34. And the LORD heard the voice of your words, and was angry and swore, saying,
35. ‘Surely there shall not one of these men of this evil generation see that good land which I swore to give to your fathers,
36. Except Caleb the son of Jephunneh; he shall see it, and to him I will give the land that he has trodden upon, and to his sons because he has fully followed the LORD.’
37. Also the LORD was angry with me for your sakes, saying, ‘You also shall not go in there.
38. Joshua the son of Nun, who stands before you, he shall go in there. Make him strong, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it.
39. And your little ones, who you said would be a prey, and your children who in that day had no knowledge between good and evil, they shall go in there. And I will give it to them, and they shall possess it.
40. But you turn and take your journey back into the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea.’
41. And you answered and said to me, ‘We have sinned against the LORD; we will go up and fight according to all that the LORD our God commanded us.’ And when each one of you had buckled on his weapons of war, you were ready to go up into the hill.
42. But the LORD said to me, ‘Say to them, “Do not go up, nor fight, for I am not among you, you will be beaten by your enemies.”
43. So I spoke to you. And you would not hear, but rebelled against the commandment of the LORD, and went presumptuously up into the hill.
44. And the Amorites who lived in that mountain came out against you and chased you, even as bees do, and destroyed you in Seir, to Hormah.
45. And you returned and wept before the LORD. But the LORD would not hearken to your voice, nor give ear to you.
46. So you stayed in Kadesh many days, according to the days that you remained there.’

CHAPTER TWO

1. “Then we turned and took our journey into the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea, as the LORD spoke to me. And we went around Mount Seir many days.
2. And the LORD spoke to me, saying, 3. ‘You have gone around this mountain long enough. Turn northward.
4. And command the people saying, “You are to pass through the border of your brothers, the sons of Esau, who dwell in Seir. And they shall be afraid of you. Therefore be careful.
5. Do not meddle with them, for I will not give you of their land, no, not so much as a foot breadth because I have given Mount Seir to Esau for a possession.
6. You shall buy food from them for silver so that you may eat. And you shall also buy water from them for silver so that you may drink.
7. For the LORD your God has blessed you in all the works of your hand. He knows your walking through this great wilderness. The LORD your God has been with you these forty years. You have lacked nothing.’
8. And when we left our brothers the sons of Esau who lived in Seir, through the way of the Arabah from Elath, and from Ezion Geber, we turned and went in the direction of the wilderness of Moab.
9. And the LORD said to me, ‘Do not besiege Moab, nor fight with them in battle, for I will not give you any of their land for a possession because I have given Ar to the children of Lot for a possession.’ ”
10. (The Emim lived there in times past, a great people, who were many and tall like the Anakim.
11. And they were also known as giants, like the sons of Anak, but the Moabites called them Emim.
12. The Horim also lived in Seir in times past. But the children of Esau took their place when they had destroyed them from before them, and lived in their place; as Israel did to the land of his possession which the LORD gave to them.)
13. “ ‘Now rise up and cross over the brook Zered.’ And we went over the brook Zered.
14. And the days in which we came from Kadesh Barnea until we had come over the brook Zered were thirty-eight years, until the entire generation had perished and the men of war were destroyed from the camp, as the LORD swore to them.
15. And the hand of the LORD was against them, to destroy them from the camp until they were consumed.
16. And so it came to pass, when all the men of war from among the people had finished dying,
17. The LORD spoke to me, saying,
18. ‘Today you are passing over the border of Moab, even Ar.
19. And when you come near, across from the children of Ammon, do not trouble them nor be stirred up against them. For I will not give you any possessions from the land of the children of Ammon because I have given it to the children of Lot for a possession.’ ”
20. (It was also known to be a land of giants. Giants lived there in past times. And the Ammonites called them Zamzumim.
21. A great and plentiful people, and tall like the sons of Anak, but the LORD destroyed them before them. And they expelled them and lived in their place,
22. As He did to the children of Esau who lived in Seir when he destroyed the Horim from before them. And they expelled them and lived in their place even to this day.
23. And the Avim who dwelt in villages as far as Gaza—the Caphtorim, who came forth out of Caphtor, destroyed them and dwelt in their place.)
24. “ ‘Rise up, set out and cross over the river Arnon. Behold, I have given into your hand Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin to possess, and fight against him in battle.
25. Today, I will begin to put the dread of you and the fear of you upon the nations under the whole heavens who shall hear the report of you, and shall tremble and be in anguish because of you.’
26. And I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemoth to Sihon king of Heshbon with words of peace, saying,
27. ‘Let me pass through your land. I will go along by the highway. I will neither turn to the right hand nor to the left.
28. You shall sell me food for silver so that I may eat, and give me water for silver so that I may drink. Only let me pass through on foot,
29. As the children of Esau who dwell in Seir, and the Moabites who live in Ar, did to me until I shall cross over Jordan into the land which the LORD our God gives us.’
30. But Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him. For the LORD your God hardened his spirit and made his heart stubborn so that He might deliver him into your hand, as it is this day.
31. And the LORD said to me, ‘Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before you. Begin to possess it so that you may inherit his land.’
32. Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to fight at Jahaz.
33. And the LORD our God delivered him before us. And we struck him and his sons and all his people.
34. And we took all his cities at that time and completely destroyed the men and the women and the little ones of every city. We left none to remain.
35. Only we plundered the livestock for ourselves, and we took the spoil of the cities.
36. From Aroer, by the brink of the river of Arnon, and the city by the river, even unto Gilead, there was not one city too strong for us. The LORD our God delivered all to us.
37. Only to the land of the children of Ammon you did not come, neither to any place along the river Jabbok, nor to the cities in the mountains, nor to whatever the LORD our God denied us.”

CHAPTER THREE

1. “And we turned and went up the way to Bashan. And Og the king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei.

2. And the LORD said to me, ‘Do not fear him, for I will deliver him and all his people, and his land, into your hand. And you shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites who lived at Heshbon.’

3. So the LORD our God delivered Og into our hands also, the king of Bashan, and all his people. And we struck him until none was left remaining to him.

4. And we took all his cities at that time. There was not a city which we did not take from them, sixty cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan.

5. All these cities were fortified with high walls, gates, and bars; besides a good many unwalled towns.

6. And we completely destroyed them as we did to Sihon king of Heshbon, completely destroying the men, women and children of every city.

7. But we took the livestock and the spoil of the cities as plunder for ourselves.

8. And we took at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites the land on this side of the Jordan, from the river of Arnon to Mount Hermon, 9. (The Hermon which the Sidonians call Sirion, and the Amorites call it Senir).

10. All the cities of the plain, and all Gilead, and all Bashan, and Salcah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan were taken.

11. For only Og king of Bashan remained of the rest of the giants. Behold, his bedstead was a bedstead of iron. Is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? Nine cubits was its length, and four cubits its width, according to the cubit of a man.

12. And this is the land which we possessed at that time, from Aror by the river Arnon, and half of Mount Gilead, and its cities; I gave it to the men of Reuben and of Gad.

13. And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, I gave to the half tribe of Manasseh, all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, which was called the land of giants.

14. Jair the son of Manasseh took all the country of Argob, as far as the border of the Geshurites and the Maachathites. And he called them after his own name, Bashan (Towns of Jair) to this day.

15. And I gave Gilead to Machir.

16. And to the Reubenites and to the Gadites I gave from Gilead even to the river Arnon, half the valley, and the border even to the river Jabbok, the border of the children of Ammon.

17. The plain also, and Jordan, and its border, from Chinnereth even to the sea of the plain, the Salt Sea, under The Slopes of Pisgah eastward.

18. And I commanded you at that time saying, ‘The LORD your God has given you this land to possess it. You shall pass over armed before your brethren the children of Israel, all the sons of might.

19. But your wives and your little ones, and your livestock, (I know that you have much livestock), shall stay in your cities which I have given you.

20. Until the LORD has given rest to your brethren, as well as to you, and they also possess the land which the LORD your God has given them beyond Jordan. And then you shall each one return to his possessions which I have given you.’

21. And I commanded Joshua at that time saying, ‘Your eyes have seen all that the LORD your God has done to these two kings. So the LORD shall do to all the kingdoms where you pass.

22. You shall not fear them, for the LORD your God shall fight for you.’

23. And I pleaded with the LORD at that time saying,

24. ‘O, LORD God, You have begun to show Your servant Your greatness, and Your mighty hand. For what god is there in heaven or in earth who can do according to Your works and according to Your might?

25. I pray you, let me go over and see the good land beyond Jordan, this good hill-country and Lebanon.’

26. But the LORD was angry with me because of you and would not hear me. And the LORD said to me, ‘Let it be enough for you. Speak no more to Me of this matter.
27. Go up into the top of Pisgah and lift up your eyes westward and northward and southward and eastward, and behold it with your eyes. For you shall not go over this Jordan.
28. But charge Joshua, and encourage him, and strengthen him. For he shall go over before this people, and he shall cause them to inherit the land which you shall see.
29. So we stayed in the valley over against Beth Peor.”

CHAPTER FOUR

1. “And now, O Israel, hearken to the statutes and to the judgments which I teach you, in order to do them, so that you may live and go in and possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers gives to you.
2. You shall not add to the word which I command you; neither shall you take away from it, so that you may keep the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you.
3. Your eyes have seen what the LORD did because of Baal Peor. For the LORD your God has destroyed from among you all the men that followed Baal Peor.
4. And you who held fast to the LORD your God are alive, every one of you, this day.
5. Behold, I have taught you statutes and judgments, even as the LORD my God commanded me, so that you should do so in the land where you go to possess it.
6. And you shall keep and do them, for this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations, which shall hear all these statutes and say, ‘Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.’
7. For what nation is so great whose God is so near to them, as the LORD our God is, whenever we call upon Him?
8. And what great nation has statutes and judgments that are so righteous as all this law which I set before you today?
9. Only take heed to yourself and diligently keep yourself, lest you forget the things which your eyes have seen, and lest they depart from your heart all the days of your life. But teach them to your children, and your children’s children,
23. Take heed to yourselves, lest you forget the covenant of the LORD your God, which He made with you, and make you a graven image, a likeness of anything which the LORD your God has forbidden you.

24. For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

25. When you shall beget children and grandchildren, and when you shall have remained long in the land and have dealt corruptly by making a graven image, the likeness of anything, and shall do evil in the sight of the LORD your God to provoke Him to anger,

26. I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day that you shall soon utterly perish from off the land which you are crossing over Jordan to possess.

27. And the LORD shall scatter you but shall utterly destroy you, as you have heard and live?

28. And there you shall serve gods, the work of men’s hands, wood and stone, which neither see nor hear nor eat nor smell.

29. But if you shall seek the LORD your God from there, you shall find Him, if you seek Him with all your heart and with all your soul.

30. When you are in trouble and when all these things have come upon you in the latter days, then you shall return to the LORD your God and shall be obedient to His voice.

31. For the LORD your God is a merciful God. He will not forsake you, nor destroy you, nor forget the covenant of your fathers which He swore to them;

32. For ask now of the days past which were before you, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and from the one end of the heavens to the other end of the heavens, where there has been any thing as great as this, or has been heard any thing like it.

33. Did any people ever hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire as you have heard and live?

34. Or has any god attempted to go and take a nation for himself from the midst of another nation by trials, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by an outstretched arm, and by great awe-inspiring terrors, according to all that the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

35. It was shown to you so that you might know that the LORD is God, and there is none other beside Him.

36. He made you hear His voice out of heaven so that He might teach you. And He showed you His great fire upon the earth. And you heard His words out of the midst of the fire.

37. And because He loved your fathers, therefore He chose their seed after them, and brought you out in His sight with His great power out of Egypt;

38. In order to drive out from before you nations greater and mightier than you, to bring you in, to give you their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

39. Therefore, know this day and fix it in your heart that the LORD is God in heaven above and on the earth beneath. There is none other.

40. Therefore, you shall keep His statutes and His commandments which I command you this day, so that it may go well with you and with your children after you, and so that you may prolong your days upon the earth which the LORD your God gives you forever.”

41. Then Moses separated three cities on this side of Jordan toward the rising of the sun,

42. So that the slayer might flee there, he who may accidentally kill his neighbor through error and who did not hate him in times past, and he who flees to one of these cities might live.

43. They were Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain country, of the Reubenites; and Ramoth in Gilead of the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan, for the Manassites.

44. And this is the law which Moses set before the children of Israel.

45. These are the testimonies and the statutes and the judgments which Moses spoke to the children of Israel after they came forth out of Egypt.

46. Beyond Jordan, in the valley over against Beth Peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel killed after they had come forth out of Egypt.

47. And they possessed his land, and the land of Og king of Bashan, two kings of the Amorites, who were on this side of the Jordan toward the rising of the sun.
48. From Aroer on the edge of the river Arnon, even to Mount Zion, which is Hermon,
49. And all the plain on this side of the Jordan eastward, even to the sea of the plain, under the Slopes of Pisgah.

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And Moses called all Israel and said to them, “Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments which I speak in your ears this day so that you may learn them and keep and do them.
2. The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb.
3. The LORD did not make this covenant with our fathers, but with us, even all of us here, alive today.
4. The LORD talked with you face to face in the mountain out of the midst of the fire:
5. (I stood between the LORD and you at that time to show you the word of the LORD, for you were afraid because of the fire, and did not go up into the mountain,) saying,
6. 'I am the LORD your God Who brought you out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage.
7. You shall have no other gods before Me.
8. You shall not make a graven image for yourself of any likeness of anything that is in the heavens above, or on the earth beneath, or in the waters beneath the earth.
9. You shall not bow yourself down to them, nor serve them. For I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me,
10. But showing steadfast love to thousands of those who love Me and keep My commandments.
11. You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain, for the LORD will not hold the one guiltless who takes His name in vain.
12. Keep the Sabbath day to sanctify it as the LORD your God has commanded you.
13. Six days you shall labor and do all your work.
14. But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD your God. In it you shall not do any work, you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your manservant, nor your maidservant, nor your ox, nor your donkey, nor any of your livestock, nor your stranger within your gates, so that your manservant and your maidservant may rest as well as you.
15. And remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God brought you out from there with a mighty hand and with an outstretched arm. Therefore the LORD your God commanded you to keep the Sabbath day.
16. Honor your father and your mother as the LORD your God has commanded you, so that your days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with you in the land which the LORD your God gives you.
17. You shall not murder.
18. And you shall not commit adultery.
19. And you shall not steal.
20. And you shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.
21. And you shall not covet your neighbor’s wife, nor shall you covet your neighbor’s house, his field, or his manservant, or his maidservant, his ox, or his donkey, or any thing that is your neighbor’s.’
22. The LORD spoke these words to all your assembly in the mountain out of the midst of the fire of the cloud and of the thick darkness with a great voice. And He added no more.★ And He wrote them on two tablets of stone and delivered them to me.
23. And it came to pass when you heard the voice out of the midst of the darkness, for the mountain burned with fire, you came near me, all the heads of your tribes and your elders.
24. And you said, ‘Behold, the LORD our God has revealed His glory and His greatness, and we have heard His voice out of the midst of the fire. We have seen today that God talks with man yet he still lives.
25. Now therefore why should we die? For this great fire will consume us. If we hear the voice of the LORD our God any more, then we shall die.
26. For who of all flesh has heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as we have, and lived?
27. You go near and hear all that the LORD your God shall say. And you speak to us all that the LORD our God shall speak to you, and we will hear it, and do it.
28. And the LORD heard the voice of your words when you spoke to me. And the LORD said to me, 'I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have spoken to you. They have well said all that they have spoken.
29. Oh, that there were such a heart in them that they would fear Me and keep all My commandments always, so that it might be well with them and with their children forever!
30. Go say to them, “Go into your tents again.”
31. But as for you, you stand here by Me, and I will speak to you all the commandments always, so that it might be well with them and with their children forever!
32. And you shall be careful to do as the LORD your God has commanded you. You shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.
33. You shall walk in all the ways which the LORD your God has commanded you so that you may live and that it may be well with you, and you may prolong your days in the land which you shall possess.”

CHAPTER SIX

1. “Now these are the commandments, the statutes, and the judgments which the LORD our God commanded to teach you so that you might do them in the land where you go to possess it.
2. That you might fear the LORD your God, to keep all His statutes and His commandments which I command you, you, and your son, and your son’s son, all the days of your life, and so that your days may be prolonged.
3. Hear therefore, O Israel, and be diligent to observe it, so that it may be well with you, and that you may greatly multiply, as the LORD God of our fathers has promised you, in the land that flows with milk and honey.
4. Hear, O Israel. Our one God is the LORD, the LORD.
5. And you shall love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might.
6. And these words which I command you this day shall be in your heart.
7. And you shall diligently teach them to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise up.
8. And you shall bind them for a sign upon your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes.
9. And you shall write them upon the posts of your house and on your gates.
10. And it shall be when the LORD your God has brought you into the land which He swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob, to give you great and goodly cities which you did not build,
11. And houses full of every good thing which you did not fill, and wells which are dug, which you did not dig; vineyards and olive trees which you did not plant, and you shall eat and be full;
12. Then beware lest you forget the LORD Who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage.
13. You shall fear the LORD your God and serve Him, and shall swear by His name.
14. You shall not go after other gods, of the gods of the people who are all around you,
15. For the LORD your God is a jealous God among you, lest the anger of the LORD your God be kindled against you and destroy you from off the face of the earth.
16. You shall not tempt the LORD your God as you tempted Him in Massah.
17. You shall diligently keep the commandments of the LORD your God, and His testimonies, and His statutes which He has commanded you.
18. And you shall do that which is right and good in the sight of the LORD, so that it may be well with you, and so that you may go in and possess the good land which the LORD swore to your fathers.
19. To cast out all your enemies from before you as the LORD has spoken.
20. When your son asks you in time to come, saying, ‘What are the testimonies and the statutes and the judgments which the LORD our God has commanded you?’
21. Then you shall say to your son, ‘We were Pharaoh’s slaves in Egypt, and the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

22. And the LORD showed signs and wonders, great and grievous, upon Egypt, upon Pharaoh and upon all his household, before our eyes.
23. And He brought us out from there so that He might bring us in to give us the land which He swore to our fathers.
24. And the LORD commanded us to do all these statutes—to fear the LORD our God for our good always so that He might preserve us alive, as it is today.
25. And it shall be righteousness for us if we observe to do all these commandments before the LORD our God as He has commanded us.' ”

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. “When the LORD your God shall bring you into the land where you go to possess it and has cast out many nations before you—the Hittites, and the Girgasites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations greater and mightier than you—
2. And the LORD your God shall deliver them up to you, you shall crush them, and utterly destroy them. You shall make no covenant with them nor show mercy to them.
3. Nor shall you make marriages with them. You shall not give your daughter to his son, nor shall you take his daughter to your son,
4. For they will turn away your sons from following Me so that they may serve other gods. Then the anger of the LORD will be kindled against you and will destroy you suddenly.
5. But you shall deal with them in this way: you shall destroy their altars and smash in pieces their standing pillars,* and cut to shards their groves and burn their graven images with fire,
6. For you are a holy people to the LORD your God. The LORD your God has chosen you to be a special people to Himself above all people that are upon the face of the earth.
7. The LORD did not set His love upon you nor choose you because you were more in number than any people, for you were the fewest of all people.

8. But because the LORD loved you and because He would keep the oath which He had sworn to your fathers, the LORD has brought you out with a mighty hand and redeemed you out of the house of bondage from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.
9. Therefore, know that the LORD your God, He is God, the faithful God Who keeps covenant and mercy with them that love Him and keep His commandments, to a thousand generations.
10. And He repays those who hate Him to their face, to destroy them. He will not be slow to repay him who hates Him. He will repay him to his face.
11. You shall therefore keep the commandments and the statutes and the judgments which I command you today to do them.
12. And it shall come to pass, if you hearken to these judgments to keep and practice them, then the LORD your God shall keep with you the covenant and the mercy which He swore to your fathers.
13. And He will love you and bless you and multiply you. He will also bless the fruit of your womb, and the fruit of your land, your grain, and your wine, and your oil, the increase of your cattle and the flocks of your sheep, in the land which He swore to your fathers to give you.
14. You shall be blessed above all people. There shall not be male or female barren among you or among your livestock.
15. And the LORD will take away from you all sickness and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which you know, upon you. But He will lay them upon all who hate you.
16. And you shall destroy all the people which the LORD your God shall deliver up to you. Your eye shall have no pity upon them; neither shall you serve their gods, for they will be a snare to you.
17. If you shall say in your heart, ‘These nations are more than I; how can I dispossess them?’
18. You shall not be afraid of them, but shall well remember what the LORD your God did to Pharaoh and to all Egypt.
19. Remember the great temptations which your eyes saw, and the signs, and the wonders, and the mighty hand, and the outstretched arm by which the LORD your God brought you out. So shall the LORD your God do to all the people of whom you are afraid.
20. And the LORD your God will send the hornet among them until the ones who are left, and hide themselves from you, are destroyed.
21. You shall not be afraid of them, for the LORD your God is among you, a mighty and awesome God.
22. And the LORD your God will put out those nations before you little by little. You may not destroy them at once, lest the beasts of the field increase upon you.
23. And the LORD your God shall deliver them to you, and shall destroy them with a mighty destruction until they are destroyed.
24. And He shall deliver their kings into your hand, and you shall destroy their name from under the heavens. No man shall be able to stand before you until you have destroyed them.
25. You shall burn the graven images of their gods with fire. You shall not desire the silver or gold that is on them, nor take it for yourself, so that you may not be snared in it, for it is an abomination to the LORD your God.
26. And you shall not bring an abomination into your house, lest you become a cursed thing like it. You shall utterly hate it, and you shall utterly despise it, for it is a cursed thing.”

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. “All the commandments which I command you this day shall you be diligent to observe and to do that you may live and multiply and go in and possess the land which the LORD swore to your fathers.
2. And you shall remember all the way which the LORD your God led you these forty years in the wilderness in order to humble you, to prove you, to know what is in your heart, whether you would keep His commandments or not.
3. And He humbled you and allowed you to hunger, and then He fed you with manna which you did not know, neither did your fathers know it, so that He might make you know that man does not live by bread alone; but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of the LORD does man live.
4. Your clothing did not wear out on you, nor did your foot swell these forty years.
5. And you shall consider in your heart that as a man chastens his son, so the LORD your God chastens you.
6. And you shall keep the commandments of the LORD your God to walk in His ways and to fear Him,
7. For the LORD your God brings you into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depths that spring out of valleys and hills,
8. A land of wheat and barley and vines and fig trees and pomegranates, a land of olive oil and honey,
9. A land in which you shall eat bread without scarceness. You shall not lack any thing in it. It is a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills you may dig copper.
10. When you have eaten and are full, then you shall bless the LORD your God for the good land which He has given you.
11. Beware that you do not forget the LORD your God by not keeping His commandments, and His judgments, and His statutes, which I command you today,
12. Lest when you have eaten and are full and have built goodly houses and lived in them,
13. And when your herds and your flocks multiply, and your silver and your gold is multiplied, and all that you have is multiplied,
14. Then you become haughty of heart,★ and you forget the LORD your God Who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage,
15. Who led you through the great and terrible wilderness with fiery serpents and scorpions and thirsty ground where there was no water, Who brought forth water for you out of the rock of flint,
16. Who fed you in the wilderness with manna which your fathers did not know, so that He might humble you and that He might prove you to do you good in your latter end.
17. Beware lest you say in your heart, ‘My power and the might of my hand has gotten me this wealth.’
18. But you shall remember the LORD your God, for it is He Who gives you power to get wealth, so that He may confirm His covenant which He has sworn to your fathers as it is this very day.
19. And it shall be if you do at all forget the LORD your God and walk after other gods serving them and worshiping them,
I testify against you this day that you shall surely perish—yes, perish.
20. As the nations whom the LORD destroys before your face, so you shall perish because you would not obey the voice of the LORD your God."

CHAPTER NINE

1. “Hear, O Israel! You are to pass over Jordan today to go in to expel nations greater and mightier than you, cities great and fenced up to heaven,
2. A people great and tall, the sons of the giants, whom you know and have heard it said, ‘Who can stand before the sons of Anak!’
3. Therefore, understand this day that the LORD your God is He Who goes over before you. Like a consuming fire, He shall destroy them, and He shall bring them down before your face. So you shall drive them out and destroy them quickly as the LORD has said to you.
4. Do not speak in your heart after the LORD your God, saying, ‘I have seen this people, and, because they are greater and mightier than I, I am not able to go up to the place of battle; neither am I fit to go up among this people.’
5. Not for your righteousness, or for the uprightness of your heart, do you go to possess their land, but for the wickedness of these nations, the LORD your God drives them out from before you.
6. Therefore, understand that the LORD your God does not give you this good land to possess it for your righteousness, for you are a stiff-necked people.
7. Remember, and do not forget, how you provoked the LORD your God to wrath in the wilderness. From the day you departed out of the land of Egypt, until you came to this place, you have been rebellious against the LORD.
8. Also in Horeb you provoked the LORD to wrath so that the LORD was angry with you that He would have destroyed you.
9. When I had gone up into the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant which the LORD made with you, then I stayed in the mountain forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water.
10. And the LORD delivered to me two tablets of stone written with the finger of God, and on them was written according to all the words which the LORD spoke with you in the mountain out of the midst of the fire in the day of the assembly.
11. And it came to pass, at the end of forty days and forty nights, the LORD gave me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant.
12. And the LORD said to me, ‘Arise! Get down quickly from here, for your people whom you have brought forth out of Egypt have corrupted themselves. They have quickly turned aside out of the way which I commanded them. They have made them a molten image.’
13. Furthermore the LORD spoke to me saying, ‘I have seen this people, and, behold, it is a stiff-necked people.
14. Let Me alone so that I may destroy them and blot out their name from under the heavens. And I will make of you a nation mightier and greater than they.’
15. So I turned and came down from the mountain, and the mountain burned with fire. And the two tablets of the covenant were in my two hands.
16. And I looked, and behold, you had sinned against the LORD your God, and had made you a molten calf! You had turned aside quickly out of the way which the LORD had commanded you.
17. And I took the two tablets and threw them out of my hands and broke them before your eyes.
18. And again I prostrated myself before the LORD, as at the first, forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water because of all your sins which you sinned in doing wickedly in the sight of the LORD to provoke Him to anger.
19. For I was afraid of the anger and fury with which the LORD was angry against you to destroy you. But the LORD hearkened to me at that time also.
20. And the LORD was very angry with Aaron to have destroyed him. And I prayed for Aaron also at the same time.
21. And I took your sin, the calf which you had made, and burned it with fire, and stamped it, grinding it very small, until it was as fine as dust. And I threw the dust of it into the brook that descended out of the mountain.
22. And at Taberah, and at Massah, and at the Graves of Lust, you provoked the LORD to anger.
23. And when the LORD sent you from Kadesh Barnea, saying, ‘Go up and possess the land which I have given you,’ then you rebelled against the commandment of the LORD your God, and you did not believe Him, nor hearkened to His voice.
24. You have been rebellious against the LORD from the day that I knew you.
25. So again I lay prostrate before the LORD forty days and forty nights, as I had lay prostrate at the first because the LORD said He would destroy you.
26. I prayed therefore to the LORD and said, ‘O, Lord GOD, do not destroy Your people and Your inheritance which You have redeemed through Your greatness, which You have brought forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand.
27. Remember Your servants, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Do not look to the stubbornness of this people, nor to their wickedness, nor to their sin,
28. Lest the people of the land from which You have brought them out to kill them in the wilderness.’
29. Yet they are Your people and Your inheritance which You brought out by Your mighty power and by Your outstretched arm.’ ”

CHAPTER TEN

1. “At that time the LORD said to me, ‘Cut out two tablets of stone like the first, and come up to Me into the mountain, and make for yourself an ark of wood.
2. And I will write on the tablets the words that were in the first tablets which you broke, and you shall put them in the ark.’
3. And I made an ark of acacia wood, and cut out two tablets of stone like the first, and went up into the mountain, having the two tablets in my hand.
4. And He wrote on the tablets, according to the first writing, the Ten Commandments which the LORD spoke to you in the mountain out of the midst of the fire in the day of the assembly. And the LORD gave them to me.
5. And I turned myself and came down from the mountain, and put the tablets in the ark which I had made. And there they are as the LORD commanded me.”
6. And the children of Israel set out from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan to Mosera. There Aaron died, and there he was buried. And Eleazar his son ministered in the priest’s office in his place.
7. From there they journeyed to Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah to Jobath, a land of streams of water.
8. At that time the LORD separated the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD, to stand before the LORD to minister to Him, and to bless in His name until this day.
9. Therefore Levi has no part nor inheritance with his brethren. The LORD is his inheritance, according as the LORD your God promised him.
10. “And I stayed in the mountain, according to the first time, forty days and forty nights. And the LORD hearkened to me at that time also. The LORD was not willing to destroy you.
11. And the LORD said to me, ‘Arise, go on your journey ahead of the people, causing them to go in and possess the land which I swore to their fathers to give to them.’
12. And now, Israel, what does the LORD your God require of you, but to fear the LORD your God, to walk in all His ways, and to love Him, and to serve the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul,
13. To keep the commandments of the LORD, and His statutes which I command you today for your good?
14. Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens belong to the LORD your God, the earth also, with all that is in it.
15. Only the LORD had a delight in your fathers to love them, and He chose their seed after them, you above all people, as it is today.
16. Therefore, circumcise the foreskin of your heart, and be no longer stiff-necked.
17. For the LORD your God is God of gods, and Lord of lords, a great God, the mighty and awesome God Who does not respect persons nor take a bribe.
18. He executes justice for the fatherless and widow, and loves the stranger in giving him food and clothing.
19. Therefore love the stranger, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt. 20. You shall fear the LORD your God, You shall serve Him, and you shall hold fast to Him, and swear by His name. 21. He is your praise, and He is your God, Who has done for you these great and awesome things which your eyes have seen. 22. Your fathers went down into Egypt with seventy persons. And now the LORD your God has made you as the stars of the heavens for multitude.”

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. “Therefore you shall love the LORD your God, and keep His charge and His statutes and His judgments and His commandments always. 2. And consider this day that I do not speak with your children who have not known and who have not seen the chastisement of the LORD your God, His greatness, His mighty hand, and His outstretched arm, 3. And His miracles, and His acts which He did in the midst of Egypt to Pharaoh the king of Egypt and to all his land. 4. And you know what He did to the army of Egypt, to their horses and to their chariots, how He made the water of the Red Sea to overflow them as they pursued after you, and the LORD has destroyed them until this day. 5. And you know what He did to you in the wilderness until you came into this place, 6. And what He did to Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, the son of Reuben, how the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, and their households, and their tents, and all the substance in their possession in the midst of all Israel. 7. But your eyes have seen all the great deeds of the LORD which He did. 8. Therefore you shall keep all the commandments which I command you this day, so that you may be strong and go in and possess the land where you go to possess it, 9. And so that you may prolong your days in the land which the LORD swore to your fathers to give to them and to their seed, ‘a land that flows with milk and honey.’ 10. For the land into which you go to possess it, is not as the land of Egypt from which you came out where you sowed your seed and watered it by foot, like a garden of vegetables. 11. But the land which you are entering to possess, it is a land of hills and valleys that drink water from the rain of heaven. 12. It is a land which the LORD your God cares for. The eyes of the LORD your God are always upon it from the beginning of the year even to the end of the year. 13. ‘And it will be, if you will hearken diligently to My commandments which I command you today, to love the LORD your God and to serve Him with all your heart and with all your soul, 14. Then I will give the rain of your land in its due season, the first rain and the latter rain, that you may gather in your grain and your wine and your oil. 15. And I will send grass in your fields for your livestock so that you may eat and be full.’ 16. Take heed to yourselves that your heart may not be deceived, and you turn aside and serve other gods, and worship them, 17. And the LORD’S wrath be kindled against you, and He shut up the heavens so that there will be no rain, and so that the land will not yield her fruit, and you perish quickly from off the good land which the LORD gives you. 18. Therefore you shall lay up these My words in your hearts and in your souls, and bind them for a sign upon your hands so that they may be as frontlets between your eyes. 19. And you shall teach them to your children, speaking of them when you sit between your eyes, and bind them for a sign upon your hands so that they may be as frontlets between your eyes. 20. And you shall write them upon the doorposts of your house, and upon your gates, 21. So that your days and the days of your children may be multiplied in the land which the LORD swore to give to your fathers, like the days of heaven above the earth. 22. For if you shall diligently keep all these commandments which I command you to do—to love the LORD your God, to walk in all His ways, and to hold fast to Him,
23. Then the LORD will drive out all these nations from before you, and you shall possess greater and mightier nations than you.
24. Every place on which the soles of your feet shall tread shall be yours, from the wilderness and Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates, even to the western sea shall your border be.
25. There shall no man stand before you, for the LORD your God shall lay the fear of you and the dread of you upon all the land that you shall tread upon as He has said to you.
26. Behold, I set before you today a blessing and a curse:
27. A blessing, if you obey the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you this day:
28. And a curse, if you will not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but will turn aside out of the way which I command you this day to go after other gods which you have not known.
29. And it will be when the LORD your God has brought you into the land where you go to possess it, you shall set the blessing upon Mount Gerizim and the curse upon Mount Ebal.
30. Are they not on the other side of the Jordan, by the way of the sunset, in the land of the Canaanites who dwell in the plain across from Gilgal beside the plains of Moreh?
31. For you shall pass over Jordan to go in to possess the land which the LORD your God gives you, and you shall possess it and dwell in it.
32. And you shall be careful to do all the statutes and judgments which I set before you this day.”

CHAPTER TWELVE
1. “These are the statutes and judgments which you shall be careful to do in the land which the LORD God of your fathers gives you to possess it, all the days that you live upon the earth.
2. You shall utterly destroy all the sacred places where the nations which you shall possess have served their gods—on the high mountains and on the hills and under every green tree.
3. And you shall demolish their altars and smash their standing pillars, and burn their Asherim, with fire. And you shall cut to shards the carved images of their gods, and destroy their names out of that place.
4. You shall not do so to the LORD your God.
5. But you shall seek to the place which the LORD your God shall choose out of all your tribes to put His name there, even to His dwelling place you shall seek, and there you shall come.
6. And there you shall bring your burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, and your tithes, and heave offering of your hand, and your vows, and your freewill offerings, and the firstborn of your herds and of your flocks.
7. And there you shall eat before the LORD your God, and you shall rejoice in all that you put your hand to, you and your households, in which the LORD your God has blessed you.
8. You shall not do according to all that we do here today, each doing whatever is right in his own eyes.
9. For you have not yet come to the resting place and to the inheritance which the LORD your God gives you.
10. But when you go over Jordan and live in the land which the LORD your God gives you to inherit, and He gives you rest from all your enemies all around, so that you live in safety,
11. Then there shall be a place which the LORD your God shall choose to cause His name to dwell there. There you shall bring all that I command you—your burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, your tithes, and the heave offering of your hand, and all your choice vows which you vow to the LORD.
12. And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God, you, your sons, your daughters, your menservants, your maidservants, and the Levite that is within your gates (because he has no part nor inheritance with you).
13. Take heed to yourself that you do not offer your burnt offerings in every place that you see.
14. But in the place which the LORD shall choose out of one of your tribes, there shall you offer your burnt offerings, and there you shall do all that I command you.
15. However, as much as you desire, you may slaughter and eat flesh in all your gates, according to the blessing of the LORD your God which He has given you, the one who is clean and the one who is unclean may eat, as of the gazelle, and as of the deer.
16. Only you shall not eat the blood. You shall pour it on the earth like water.
17. You may not eat within your gates whatever your soul desires. You may eat flesh, whatever your soul desires.
18. But you must eat them before the LORD your God in the place which the LORD shall choose.
19. Take heed to yourself that you do not forsake the Levite as long as you live on the earth.
20. When the LORD your God shall enlarge your border, as He has promised you, and you shall say, ‘I will eat flesh’ because your soul longs to eat flesh; you may eat flesh, whatever your soul desires.
21. If the place which the LORD your God has chosen to put His name there is too far from you, then you shall slaughter animals of your herd and of your flock which the LORD has given you, as I have commanded you, and you shall eat in your gates whatever your soul desires.
22. Even as the gazelle and the deer is eaten, so you shall eat them. The one who is unclean and the one who is clean shall eat of them alike.
23. Only be sure that you do not eat the blood, for the blood is the life. And you may not eat the life with the flesh.
24. You shall not eat it. You shall pour it on the earth like water.
25. You shall not eat it, so that it may go on the earth like water.
26. Only your holy things which you have, and your vows, you shall take and go to the place which the LORD shall choose.
27. And you shall offer your burnt offerings, the flesh and the blood, upon the altar of the LORD your God. And the blood of your sacrifices shall be poured out at the base of the altar of the LORD your God, and you shall eat the flesh.
28. Be careful to observe and obey all these words which I command you, so that it may go well with you and with your children after you forever when you do that which is good and right in the sight of the LORD your God.
29. When the LORD your God shall cut off the nations before you, where you go to possess them, and you take their place and dwell in their land,
30. Take heed to yourself that you do not become ensnared by following them, after they are destroyed from before you, and that you do not ask about their gods, saying, ‘How did these nations serve their gods that I may also do likewise?’
31. You shall not do so to the LORD your God, for every abomination to the LORD, which He hates, they have done to their gods; even their sons and their daughters they have burned in the fire to their gods.
32. Whatever thing that I command you, be careful to do it. You shall not add to it, nor take away from it.”

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. “If a prophet rises among you, or a dreamer of dreams, and gives you a sign or a wonder,
2. And the sign or the wonder which he foretold to you comes to pass, saying, ‘Let us go after other gods, which you have not known, and let us serve them,’
3. You shall not hearken to the words of that prophet or that dreamer of dreams, for the LORD your God is testing you to know whether you love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul.
4. You shall walk after the LORD your God and fear Him, and keep His commandments, and obey His voice, and you shall serve Him and hold fast to Him.
5. And that prophet or that dreamer of dreams shall be put to death because he has spoken to turn you against the LORD your God, Who brought you out of the land of Egypt and redeemed you out of the house of slaves, to thrust you out of the way in which the LORD your God commanded you to walk. So you shall put the evil away from the midst of you.
6. If your brother, the son of your mother, or your son, or your daughter, or the wife of your bosom, or your friend who is like your own soul, lures you secretly, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods’—which you have not known, you nor your fathers,
7. That is, of the gods of the people who are around you, near you or far off from you, from the one end of the earth even to the other end of the earth—
8. You shall not consent to him nor hearken to him. Nor shall your eye pity him, nor shall you spare, nor shall you conceal him.
9. But you shall surely kill him. Your hand shall be first on him to put him to death, and afterwards the hand of all the people.
10. And you shall stone him with stones so that he dies because he has sought to drive you away from the LORD your God Who brought you out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage.
11. And all Israel shall hear, and fear, and shall do no more any such wickedness as this among you.
12. If, in one of your cities which the LORD your God has given you to dwell in, you shall hear one saying,
13. ‘Certain men, the sons of worthlessness, have gone out from among you and have drawn away those who live in their city, saying, “Let us go and serve other gods”’—which you have not known—
14. Then you shall inquire and make search and ask diligently. And behold, if it is true, and the thing is certain, that such an abomination is done among you,
15. You shall surely strike down those who live in that city with the edge of the sword, destroying it completely, and all that is in it, and all the livestock of it, with the edge of the sword.
16. And you shall gather all its spoil into the middle of its street, and shall burn the city with fire, and all its spoil, every bit of it, as a whole burnt offering to the LORD your God. And it shall be a heap forever. It shall not be built again.
17. And let nothing of the cursed thing cling to your hand so that the LORD may turn from the fierceness of His anger and show you mercy, and have compassion upon you, and multiply you as He has sworn to your fathers,
18. When you hearken to the voice of the LORD your God, to keep all His commandments which I command you today, to do that which is right in the eyes of the LORD your God.”

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. “You are the children of the LORD your God. You shall not cut yourselves nor make any baldness between your eyes for the dead,
2. For you are a holy people to the LORD your God, and the LORD has chosen you to be a specially treasured people to Himself, above all the nations that are on the earth.
3. You shall not eat any abominable thing.
4. These are the animals which you shall eat: the ox, the sheep, and the goat,
5. The deer, and the gazelle, and the roe deer, and the wild goat, and the mountain goat, and the wild ox, and the mountain-sheep.
6. And every animal that divides the hoof, and divides it into two hooves, and chews the cud among the animals, that you shall eat.
7. But these you shall not eat, of those which chew the cud, or of those that divide the cloven hoof: the camel, and the hare, and the rock badger, for they chew the cud, but do not divide the hoof. They are unclean to you.
8. And the swine because it divides the hoof but does not chew the cud; it is unclean to you. You shall not eat of their flesh nor touch their dead body.
9. These you shall eat of all that are in the waters: all that have fins and scales you shall eat.
10. And whatever does not have fins and scales you shall not eat. It is unclean to you.
11. You shall eat all clean birds.
12. But you shall not eat of these: the eagle, and the ossifrage, and the osprey,
13. And the hawk, and the falcon, and the vulture after its kind,
14. And every raven after its kind,
15. And the owl, and the night hawk, and the sea gull, and the hawk after its kind,
16. The little owl, and the great owl, and the white owl,
17. And the pelican, and the carrion vulture, and the cormorant,
18. And the stork, and the heron after its kind, and the hoopoe, and the bat.
19. And every creeping thing that flies is unclean to you. They shall not be eaten.
20. You may eat all clean fowls.

21. You shall not eat anything that dies of itself. You shall give it to the stranger that is in your gates, so that he may eat it. Or you may sell it to a stranger, for you are a holy people to the LORD your God. You shall not boil a kid in its mother’s milk.

22. You shall truly tithe all the increase of your seed that the field brings forth year by year.
23. And you shall eat before the LORD your God in the place which He shall choose to set His name there, when the LORD your God chooses it, that you may learn to fear the LORD your God always.
24. And if the way is too long for you so that you are not able to carry it, or if the place is too far from you, which the LORD your God has blessed you, then you shall turn it into money and bind up the money in your hand, and shall go to the place which the LORD your God shall choose.
25. Then you shall turn it into money and give to him because for this thing the LORD your God shall choose to set His name there, when the LORD your God has blessed you,
26. And you shall spend the money for whatever your soul desires, for oxen, or for sheep, or for wine, or for strong drink, or for whatever your soul desires.
27. And you shall eat there before the LORD your God, and you shall rejoice, you and your household,
28. And the Levite within your gates, you shall not forsake him, for he has no part nor inheritance with you.
29. And the Levite, because he has no part nor inheritance with you, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, who are inside your gates, shall come, and shall eat and be satisfied so that the LORD your God may bless you in all the work of your hand which you do.”

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. “At the end of every seven years you shall make a release.
2. And this is the manner of the release:
3. You may exact it from a foreigner, but your hand shall release that which is yours with your brother,
4. Except when there shall be no poor among you. For the LORD shall greatly bless you in the land which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance to possess it,
5. Only if you diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God to be careful to observe all these commandments which I command you today.
6. For the LORD your God blesses you as He promised you. And you shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow. And you shall reign over many nations, but they shall not reign over you.
7. If there is among you a poor man of one of your brothers inside any of your gates in your land which the LORD your God gives you, you shall not harden your heart nor shut your hand from your poor brother.
8. But you shall open your hand wide to him, and shall surely lend him enough for his need, that which he lacks.
9. Beware that there is not a thought in your wicked heart, saying, ‘The seventh year, the year of release, is at hand,’ and your eye may be evil against your poor brother, and you give him nothing. And he may cry to the LORD against you, and it is sin to you.
10. You shall surely give to him, and your heart shall not be grieved when you give to him because for this thing the LORD your God shall bless you in all your works, and in all that you put your hand to,
11. For the poor shall never cease out of the land. Therefore, I command you saying, ‘You shall open your hand wide to your brother, to your poor, and to your needy, in your land.’
12. If your brother, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, is sold to you and serves you six years, then in the seventh year you shall let him go free from you.
13. And when you send him out free from you, you shall not let him go away empty.
14. You shall liberally bestow upon him from your flock, and from your grain floor, and from your winepress; with what the LORD your God has blessed you, you shall give to him.

15. And you shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God redeemed you. Therefore I command you this word today.

16. And if he says to you, ‘I will not go away from you’ because he loves you and your house since it has been good for him with you;

17. Then you shall take an awl and put it through his ear to the door, and he shall be your servant forever. And also to your female servant you shall do so.

18. It shall not seem hard to you when you send him away from you free, for he has been worth a double hired servant in serving you six years. And the LORD your God shall bless you in all that you do.

19. All the firstborn males that come from your herd and from your flock, you shall set apart to the LORD your God. And you shall eat it inside your gates.

20. You shall eat before the LORD your God offering in the first day at sunset, at the going down of the sun, at the time that you came out of the land of Egypt.

21. Then you shall rejoice before the LORD your God in the place which the LORD shall choose, you and your son, and your daughter, and your male servants, and your female servants, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, those among you, in all your borders for seven days.

22. You shall keep the Feast of Tabernacles seven days, after you have gathered in from your threshing floor and your wine press. You shall do no work.

23. And you shall keep the Feast of Weeks to the LORD your God according to the sufficiency of a freewill offering from your hand, which you shall give according as the LORD your God has blessed you.

11. And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male servant, and your female servant, and the Levite inside your gates, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, those among you, in the place which the LORD your God has chosen to place His name there.

12. And you shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt. And you shall be careful to do these statutes.

13. You shall keep the Feast of Tabernacles seven days, after you have gathered in from your threshing floor and your wine press.

14. And you shall rejoice in your feast, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male servants, and your female servants, and the Levite, the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow within your gates.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. “Keep the month of Abib, and observe the Passover to the LORD your God. For in the month of Abib, the LORD your God brought you forth out of the land of Egypt by night.

2. And you shall therefore sacrifice the Passover offering to the LORD your God, of the flock and the herd, in the place which the LORD shall choose to place His name there.

3. You shall eat no leavened bread with it. Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread with it, the bread of affliction, for you came forth out of the land of Egypt in haste, so that you may remember the day that you came forth out of the land of Egypt all the days of your life.

4. And there shall be no leaven seen with you in all your borders for seven days. Nor shall any of the flesh which you sacrificed in the first day at sunset remain all night until the morning.

5. You may not sacrifice the Passover offering within any of your gates which the LORD your God gives you,

6. But at the place which the LORD your God shall choose to place His name in, there you shall sacrifice the Passover offering at sunset, at the going down of the sun, at the time that you came out of Egypt.

7. And you shall boil and eat it in the place which the LORD your God shall choose. And in the morning you shall turn and go to your tents.

8. Six days you shall eat unleavened bread. And on the seventh day shall be a solemn assembly to the LORD your God. You shall do no work.

9. You shall count seven weeks to yourselves. Begin to count the seven weeks from the time you first began to put the sickle to the grain.

10. And you shall keep the Feast of Weeks to the LORD your God according to the sufficiency of a freewill offering from your hand, which you shall give according as the LORD your God has blessed you.

11. And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male servant, and your female servant, and the Levite inside your gates, and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, those among you, in the place which the LORD your God has chosen to place His name there.

12. And you shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt. And you shall be careful to do these statutes.

13. You shall keep the Feast of Tabernacles seven days, after you have gathered in from your threshing floor and your wine press.

14. And you shall rejoice in your feast, you, and your son, and your daughter, and your male servants, and your female servants, and the Levite, the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow within your gates.
15. Seven days you shall keep a solemn feast to the LORD your God in the place which the LORD shall choose. Because the LORD your God shall bless you in all your increase, and in all the works of your hands, therefore you shall surely rejoice.

16. Three times in a year shall all your males appear before the LORD your God in the place which He shall choose: in the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and in the Feast of Weeks, and in the Feast of Tabernacles. And they shall not appear before the LORD empty, 17. Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the LORD your God, which He has given you.

18. You shall appoint judges and officers for yourself in all your gates which the LORD your God gives you, tribe by tribe. And they shall judge the people with righteous judgment.

19. You shall not pervert judgment; you shall not respect persons, nor take a bribe, for a bribe blinds the eyes of the wise and perverts the words of the righteous.

20. You shall follow that which is altogether just so that you may live and inherit the land which the LORD your God gives you.

21. You shall not set up for yourself pillars of any trees near the altar of the LORD your God which you shall make for yourself.

22. Nor shall you set up any image which thing the LORD your God hates.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. “You shall not sacrifice to the LORD your God any bull or sheep in which there is a blemish, or any evil thing for that is an abomination to the LORD your God.

2. If there is found among you, inside any of your gates which the LORD your God gives you, a man or woman who does what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God, in breaking His covenant.

3. And has gone and served other gods and worshiped them, either the sun, or moon, or any of the forces of heaven, which I have forbidden,

4. And if it is told you, and you have heard and inquired diligently, and, behold, it is true and the thing is certain, that such abomination is done in Israel;

5. Then you shall bring forth that man or that woman who has committed that evil thing to your gates, even that man or that woman, and shall stone them with stones until they die.

6. At the mouth of two witnesses or three witnesses shall he that is worthy of death be put to death. At the mouth of one witness he shall not be put to death.

7. The hands of the witnesses shall be the first on him to put him to death, and afterwards the hands of all the people. So you shall put the evil away from among you.

8. If a matter is too hard for you in judgment, between blood and blood, between plea and plea, and between stroke and stroke, being matters of strife within your gates, then you shall arise and go up to the place which the LORD your God shall choose.

9. And you shall come to the priests, the Levites, and to the judge that shall be in those days, and ask. And they shall declare to you the sentence of judgment.

10. And you shall do according to the sentence which they declare to you from that place which the LORD shall choose.

11. According to the sentence of the law which they shall teach you and according to the judgment which they shall tell you, you shall do. You shall not turn aside from the sentence which they shall show you, to the right hand or the left.

12. And the man that acts presumptuously and will not hearken to the priest who stands to minister there before the LORD your God, or to the judge, even that man shall die. And you shall put away the evil from Israel.

13. And all the people shall hear and fear, and do no more presumptuously.

14. When you come to the land which the LORD your God gives you, and shall possess it and shall live in it and shall say, ‘I will set a king over me, like all the nations that are around me.’

15. You shall surely set a king over you, whom the LORD your God shall choose. You shall set a king over you from among your brethren. You may not set a stranger over you who is not your brother.

16. Only he shall not multiply horses to himself, nor cause the people to return to Egypt, so as to multiply horses because the LORD has said to you, ‘You shall not return that way again.’
17. Nor shall he multiply wives to himself, so that his heart does not turn away. Nor shall he greatly multiply silver and gold to himself.
18. And it shall be, when he sits on the throne of his kingdom, he shall write for himself a copy of this law in a book from that which is in the custody of the priests the Levites.
19. And it shall be with him, and he shall read it all the days of his life, so that he may learn to fear the LORD his God, to keep all the words of this law and these statutes, to do them
20. So that his heart may not be lifted up above his brethren, and that he does not turn aside from the commandment, to the right or the left, to the end that he may prolong his days in his kingdom, he and his children, in the midst of Israel.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. “The priests, the Levites, all the tribe of Levi, shall have no part nor inheritance with Israel. They shall eat the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and his rightful dues.
2. Therefore they shall have no inheritance among their brethren. The LORD is their inheritance as He has said to them.
3. And this shall be the priest’s due from the people, from those that offer a sacrifice, whether ox or sheep. And they shall give to the priest the shoulder and the two cheeks, and the maw.
4. You shall give him the firstfruit of your grain, of your wine, and of your oil, and the first of the fleece of your sheep, 5. For the LORD your God has chosen him out of all your tribes to stand to minister in the name of the LORD, him and his sons forever.
6. And if a Levite comes from any of your gates out of all Israel, where he lived, and comes with all the desire of his heart to the place which the LORD shall choose,
7. Then he shall minister in the name of the LORD his God, as all his brethren the Levites who do stand there before the LORD.
8. They shall have the same portions to eat, besides monetary offerings received from his patrimony.

9. When you come to the land which the LORD your God gives you, you shall not learn to do according to the abominations of those nations.
10. There shall not be found among you anyone who makes his son or his daughter pass through the fire, or that uses divination, or an observer of times, or a fortuneteller, or a witch,
11. Or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or one who seeks oracles from the dead.
12. For all that do these things are an abomination to the LORD. And because of these abominations, the LORD your God drives them out from before you.
13. You shall be blameless before the LORD your God.
14. For these nations whom you shall possess hearkened to observers of times and to diviners; but as for you, the LORD your God has not allowed you to do so.
15. The LORD your God will raise up unto you a Prophet from the midst of you, of your brethren, One like me. To Him you shall hearken,
16. According to all that you desired of the LORD your God in Horeb in the day of the assembly, saying, ‘Let me not hear again the voice of the LORD my God, neither let me see this great fire any more, so that I do not die.’
17. And the LORD said to me, ‘They have spoken well what they have spoken.
18. I will raise them up a Prophet from among your brethren, One like you, and will put My words in His mouth. And He shall speak to them all that I shall command Him.
19. And it shall come to pass, whatever man will not hearken to My words which He shall speak in My name, I will require it of him.
20. But the prophet who shall presume to speak a word in My name which I have not commanded him to speak or who shall speak in the name of other gods, even that prophet shall die.’
21. And if you say in your heart, ‘How shall we know the word which the LORD has not spoken?’
22. When a prophet speaks in the name of the LORD, if the thing does not follow nor come to pass, that is the thing which the LORD has not spoken. The prophet has spoken it presumptuously. You shall not be afraid of him.”
CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. “When the LORD your God has cut off the nations whose land the LORD your God gives you, and when you take their place and live in their cities and in their houses, you shall separate three cities for you in the middle of your land, which the LORD your God gives you to possess it. You shall prepare you a way, and divide the borders of your land which the LORD your God gives you to inherit into three parts so that any manslayer may flee there. And this is the case of the manslayer who shall flee there that he may live: whoever in error kills his neighbor whom he did not hate in time past, even he who goes into the woods with his neighbor to cut wood, and his hand brings a stroke with the axe to cut down the tree, and the head slips from the wood and lights on his neighbor so that he dies; he shall flee to one of those cities and live.

2. So that the avenger of the blood may not pursue the manslayer while his heart is hot, and overtake him because the way is long and kill him, though the man is not worthy of death, for he did not hate him in time past.

3. Therefore I command you, saying, ‘You shall separate three cities for you.’ And if the LORD your God makes your days long as he promised to your fathers, and gives you all the land which He promised to give to your fathers, and gives you all the land which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance and guilt of bloodshed may not be on you.

4. But if a man hates his neighbor and lies in wait for him and attacks him and strikes him mortally so that he dies, and flees to one of these cities, then the elders of his city shall send and bring him away from there and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood so that he may die.

5. Your eye shall not pity him, but you shall put away the guilt of innocent blood from Israel so that it may go well with you.

6. You shall separate three cities for you in the middle of your land, which the LORD your God gives you to possess it. You shall prepare you a way, and divide the borders of your land which the LORD your God gives you to inherit into three parts so that any manslayer may flee there. And this is the case of the manslayer who shall flee there that he may live: whoever in error kills his neighbor whom he did not hate in time past, even he who goes into the woods with his neighbor to cut wood, and his hand brings a stroke with the axe to cut down the tree, and the head slips from the wood and lights on his neighbor so that he dies; he shall flee to one of those cities and live.

7. Therefore I command you, saying, ‘You shall separate three cities for you.’ And if the LORD your God makes your days long as he promised to your fathers, and gives you all the land which He promised to give to your fathers, and gives you all the land which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance and guilt of bloodshed may not be on you.

8. But if a man hates his neighbor and lies in wait for him and attacks him and strikes him mortally so that he dies, and flees to one of these cities, then the elders of his city shall send and bring him away from there and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood so that he may die.

9. Your eye shall not pity him, but you shall put away the guilt of innocent blood from Israel so that it may go well with you.

10. You may not remove your neighbor’s landmark, which those in the past have set in your inheritance, which you shall inherit in the land which the LORD your God gives you to possess it.

11. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sins. At the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be made sure.

12. If a false witness rises up purposing to do harm against any man to accuse him of wrongdoing, then both the men who are disagreeing shall stand before the LORD, before the priests and the judges which shall be in those days.

13. And the judges shall make careful inquiry. And behold, if the witness is a false witness and has testified falsely against his brother,

14. Then you shall do to him as he had thought to have done to his brother. So you shall put the evil away from among you.

15. And those who remain shall hear and fear, and shall not commit again any such evil among you.

16. And your eye shall not pity. Life shall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.”

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. “When you go out to battle against your enemies and see horses and chariots, a people more than you, do not be afraid of them; for the LORD your God is with you Who brought you up out of the land of Egypt.

2. And it shall be, when you come near to the battle, the priest shall go up and speak to the people.

3. And shall say to them, ‘Hear, O Israel, today you go up to battle against your enemies. Do not let your hearts faint, do not fear, and do not tremble, neither be terrified before their faces;

4. For the LORD your God is He Who goes with you to fight for you against your enemies to save you.’

5. And the officers shall speak to the people saying, ‘Who is the man that has built a new house and has not dedicated it? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man dedicate it.
Deuteronomy 20 - 21

6. And who is the man that has planted a vineyard and has not used its fruits? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man use its fruits.

7. And who is the man that has become engaged to a wife and has not taken her? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man take her.'

8. And the officers shall speak further to the people, and they shall say, ‘Who is the man that is fearful and fainthearted? Let him go and return to his house, lest his brethren’s heart faint as well as his heart.’

9. And it shall be, when the officers have made an end of speaking to the people, they shall make captains of the armies to lead the people.

10. When you come near a city to fight against it, then proclaim peace to it.

11. And it shall be, if it makes the answer of peace and opens to you, then all the people found in it shall be forced laborers to you, and they shall serve you.

12. But if it will make no peace with you, but will make war against you, then you shall besiege it.

13. And when the LORD your God has delivered it into your hands, you shall strike every male of it with the edge of the sword.

14. But the women, and the little ones, and the animals, and all that is in the city, all the spoil of it, you shall take to yourself. And you shall eat the spoil of your enemies, which the LORD your God has given you.

15. So you shall do to all the cities which are very far off from you, which are not of the cities of these nations.

16. But of the cities of these people, which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance, you shall save alive nothing that breathes.

17. But you shall utterly destroy them: the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites; as the LORD your God has commanded you,

18. So that they may not teach you to do according to all their abominations which they have done to their gods. So you would sin against the LORD your God.

19. When you shall besiege a city a long time in making war against it to take it, you shall not destroy its trees by forcing an axe against them. For you may eat of them, and you shall not cut them down. For is the tree of the field a man that it should go before you to lay siege?

20. Only the trees which you know that they are not trees for food, you shall destroy and cut them down. And you shall build bulwarks against the city that makes war with you until it is subdued.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. “If one is found dead in the land which the LORD your God gives you to possess, lying in the field, and it is not known who has killed him,

2. Then your elders and your judges shall come forth. And they shall measure to the cities which are around him who is dead.

3. And it shall be, the city nearest to the slain one, even the elders of that city shall take a heifer which has not been worked with, which has not drawn in the yoke.

4. And the elders of that city shall bring down the heifer to an ever flowing stream, which is neither plowed nor sown, and shall strike off the heifer’s neck there in the stream.

5. And the priests, the sons of Levi, shall come near. For the LORD your God has chosen them to minister to Him, and to bless in the name of the LORD, and by their word shall every controversy and every stroke be tried.

6. And all the elders of that city nearest to the slain one, shall wash their hands over the heifer that has been beheaded in the stream.

7. And they shall answer and say, ‘Our hands have not shed this blood, neither have our eyes seen.

8. Be merciful, O LORD, to Your people Israel, whom You have redeemed, and do not lay innocent blood to the charge of Your people Israel.’ And the blood shall be forgiven them.

9. So you shall put away innocent blood from among you when you do that which is right in the sight of the LORD.

10. When you go forth to war against your enemies, and the LORD your God has delivered them into your hands.
and you have taken them captive,
11. And see among the captives a beautiful woman, and have a desire unto her that you would take her for your wife,
12. Then you shall bring her home to your house. And she shall shave her head and trim her nails.
13. And she shall put off the clothing of her captivity, and shall remain in your house, and shall mourn for her father and her mother a full month. And after that you shall go in to her and be her husband, and she shall be your wife.
14. And it shall be, if you have no delight in her, then you shall let her go where she desires. But you shall not sell her at all for silver, you shall not make a slave of her because you have humbled her.
15. If a man has two wives, one beloved of her because you have humbled her.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. “You shall not see your brother’s ox or his sheep go astray and hide yourself from them. You shall surely bring them again to your brother.
2. And if your brother is not near you, or if you do not know him, then you shall bring it into your own house, and it shall be with you until your brother seeks after it, and you shall give it back to him again.
3. In the same way you shall do with his donkey. And so shall you do with his clothing. And with any lost thing of your brother’s, which he has lost and you have found, you shall do the same. You may not hide yourself.
4. You shall not see your brother’s donkey or his ox fall down by the way, and hide yourself from them. You shall surely help him to lift it up again.
5. Anything that pertains to a man shall not be worn by a woman, neither shall a garment of different kinds, except a man put a woman’s garment on. For all that do so are abominable to the LORD your God.
6. If a bird’s nest happens to be before you in the way in any tree, or on the ground, with young ones or eggs, and the mother sitting on the young or on the eggs, you shall not take the mother with the young.
7. You shall in every case let the mother go and take the young for yourself, so that it may be well with you, and you may make your days longer.
8. When you build a new house, then you shall make a guard rail for your roof, so that you do not bring blood on your house if one falls from it.
9. You shall not sow your vineyard with different kinds of seeds, lest the fruit of your seed which you have sown and the fruit of your vineyard be defiled.
10. You shall not plow with an ox and a donkey together.
11. You shall not wear a garment of different kinds, as of wool and linen together.
12. You shall make for yourself tassels on the four corners of your cloak with which you cover yourself.
13. If any man takes a wife and goes in to her and hates her,
14. And makes shameful charges against her, and brings up an evil name on her, and says, ‘I took this woman, and when I came to her, I did not find in her the tokens of virginity.’
15. Then shall the father of the girl, and her mother, take and bring the tokens of the girl’s virginity to the elders of the city in the gate.
16. And the girl’s father shall say to the elders, ‘I gave my daughter to this man to wife, and he hates her.
17. And, lo, he has made shameful charges against her, saying, “I have not found in your daughter the tokens of virginity.”’ And yet these are the tokens of my daughter’s virginity.’ And they shall spread the cloth before the elders of the city.
18. And the elders of that city shall take that man and punish him.
19. And they shall fine him a hundred shekels of silver and give them to the father of the girl because he has brought an evil name on a virgin of Israel. And she shall be his wife. He may not put her away all his days.
20. But if this thing is true and tokens of virginity are not found for the girl,
21. Then they shall bring the girl out to the door of her father’s house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones so that she dies because she has done foolishness in Israel to play the harlot in her father’s house. So you shall put evil away from among you.
22. If a man is found lying with a woman married to a husband, then they shall both of them die, the man that lay with the woman, and the woman. So you shall put away evil from Israel.
23. If a girl who is a virgin is engaged to a husband, and a man finds her in the city and lies with her,
24. Then you shall bring them both out to the gate of that city, and you shall stone them with stones that they die; the girl because she did not cry out in the city, and the man because he has humbled his neighbor’s wife. So you shall put away evil from among you.
25. But if a man finds an engaged girl in the field, and the man forces her and lies with her, then only the man that lay with her shall die.
26. But you shall do nothing to the girl. No sin worthy of death is in the girl; for as when a man rises against his neighbor and slays him, even so is this matter.
27. For he found her in the field, the engaged girl cried out, but there was none to save her.
28. If a man finds a girl, a virgin not engaged, and lays hold on her, and lies with her, and they are found,
29. Then the man who lay with her shall give to the girl’s father fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife; because he has humbled her, he may not put her away all his days.
30. A man shall not take his father’s wife, nor uncover his father’s skirt.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. “He who is wounded, crushed, or who has his male member cut off, shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD.
2. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD. Even to his tenth generation he shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD.
3. An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD. Even to their tenth generation they shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD forever.
4. Because they did not meet you with bread and with water in the way when you came forth out of Egypt and because they hired against you Balaam the son of Beor, of Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse you.
5. Nevertheless, the LORD your God would not hearken to Balaam, but the LORD your God turned the curse into a blessing for you because the LORD your God loved you.
6. You shall not seek their peace nor their prosperity all your days forever.
7. You shall not despise an Edomite, for he is your brother. You shall not despise an Egyptian because you were a stranger in his land.
8. The children that are born to them shall enter into the congregation of the LORD in their third generation.
9. When the army goes forth against your enemies, then keep yourself from every wicked thing.
10. If there is among you any man who is not clean because of an accident at night,★ then he shall go outside the camp. He shall not come inside the camp.
★ A nocturnal emission of semen

315
11. And it shall be toward the turn of sunset, he shall wash with water. And when the sun is down, he shall come into the midst of the camp.
12. You shall also have a place outside the camp where you shall go forth.
13. And you shall have a paddle on your weapon. And it shall be, when you sit down outside, you shall dig with it, and shall turn back and cover that which comes from you.
14. For the LORD your God walks in the midst of your camp to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you. Therefore your camp shall be holy so that He may see no unclean thing among you and turn away from you.
15. You shall not deliver to his master the servant who has escaped from his master to you.
16. He shall live with you, among you, in that place which he shall choose in one of your gates, where it seems good to him. You shall not oppress him.
17. There shall be no harlot of the daughters of Israel, nor a sodomite of the children of Israel.
18. You shall not bring the hire of a harlot, or the price of a dog into the house of the LORD your God for any vow, for even both these are an abomination to the LORD your God.
19. You shall not lend for interest to your brother, interest of anything that is loaned on interest.
20. You may lend on interest to a stranger, but you shall not lend on interest to your brother, so that the LORD your God may bless you in all that you set your hand to in the land where you go to possess it.
21. When you shall vow a vow to the LORD your God, you shall not be slack to pay it, for the LORD your God will surely require it of you, and it would be sin in you.
22. But if you shall refrain from vowsing, it shall be no sin in you.
23. That which has gone out of your lips you shall keep and perform, even a free-will offering, according as you have vowed to the LORD your God, which you have promised with your mouth.
24. When you come into your neighbor’s vineyard, then you may eat grapes to your fill at your own pleasure, but you shall not put any in your vessel.
25. When you come into the standing grain of your neighbor, then you may pluck the heads with your hand, but you shall not move a sickle into your neighbor’s standing grain.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. “When a man has taken a wife and married her, and it comes to pass that she finds no favor in his eyes because he has found some uncleanness in her, then let him write her a bill of divorce and put it in her hand, and send her out of his house.
2. And when she has departed from his house, she goes and becomes another man’s;
3. And the latter husband hates her and writes her a bill of divorce and puts it in her hand and sends her out of his house; or if the latter husband dies, the one who took her to be his wife.
4. Her former husband, who sent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, for that is an abomination before the LORD. And you shall not cause the land to sin which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance.
5. When a man has taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any duty. He shall be free at home one year and shall cheer up his wife whom he has taken.
6. No man shall seize the lower or the upper millstone for payment of a pledge, for he takes a man’s life to pledge.
7. If a man is found stealing a person of his brethren, the children of Israel, and makes a slave of him, or sells him, then that thief shall die. And you shall put evil away from among you.
8. Be careful regarding the plague of leprosy that you observe diligently and do according to all that the priests the Levites shall teach you. As I commanded them, you shall observe to do.
9. Remember what the LORD your God did to Miriam by the wayside after you had come forth out of Egypt.
10. When you loan a loan of any kind to your brother, you shall not go into his house to bring forth his pledge.
11. You shall stand outside, and the man to whom you made the loan shall bring the pledge outside to you.
12. And if the man is poor, you shall not sleep with his pledge.
13. You shall certainly give back to him the pledge at sundown that he may sleep in his own clothing and bless you. And it shall be righteousness to you before the LORD your God.
14. You shall not oppress a hired servant who is poor and needy, of your brethren or of your strangers that are in your land within your gates.
15. On his payday you shall give him his hire; neither shall the sun go down on it, for he is poor and sets his heart on it; lest he cry against you to the LORD, and it shall be sin to you.
16. The fathers shall not be put to death for the children; neither shall the children be put to death for the fathers. Every man shall be put to death for his own sin.
17. You shall not pervert the rightful judgment of the stranger nor of the fatherless; nor take a widow’s clothing as a pledge.
18. But you shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt, and the LORD your God redeemed you from there. Therefore I command you to do this thing.
19. When you cut down your harvest in your field and have forgotten a sheaf in the field, you shall not go again to bring it. It shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow so that the LORD your God may bless you in all the work of your hand.
20. When you beat your olive tree, you shall not go over the boughs again. It shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow.
21. When you gather the grapes from your vineyard, you shall not glean afterward. It shall be for the stranger, for the fatherless, and for the widow.
22. And you shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt. Therefore I command you to do this thing.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

1. “If there is a controversy between men, and they come to judgment, and they have been judged, and the righteous one is declared righteous, and the wrongdoer declared guilty,
2. Then it shall be, if the wrongdoer is worthy to be beaten, the judge shall cause him to lie down. And one shall strike him in his presence, enough for his wrong, by a certain number.
3. He may give him forty stripes, no more, lest he should exceed and beat him above that number with many more stripes, then your brother be degraded in your sight.
4. You shall not muzzle an ox when he threshes the grain.
5. If brothers live together and one of them dies and has no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry outside to a stranger. Her husband’s brother shall go in to her and take her as a wife for himself, and perform the duty of a husband’s brother to her.
6. And it shall be, the firstborn whom she bears, shall succeed in the name of his dead brother so that his name may not be put out of Israel.
7. And if the man does not want to take his brother’s wife, then let his brother’s wife go up to the gate to the elders and say, ‘My husband’s brother refuses to raise up a name in Israel to his brother. He will not perform the duty of my husband’s brother.’
8. Then the elders of his city shall call him and speak to him. And if he stands and says, ‘I do not desire to take her,’
9. Then his brother’s wife shall come to him in the presence of his elders, and take off his shoe from his foot, and spit in his face, and shall answer and say, ‘So shall it be done to that man who will not build up his brother’s house.’
10. And his name shall be called in Israel, ‘The house of him who has his shoe taken off.’
11. When men strive together with one another, and the wife of the one draws near to deliver her husband out of the hand of him who strikes him, and puts forth her hand and takes him by the private parts,
12. Then you shall cut off her hand. Your eye shall not pity.
13. You shall not have in your bag two kinds of weights, a large and a small.
14. You shall not have in your house two kinds of measures, a large and a small.
15. You shall have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure you shall have, so that your days may be lengthened in the land which the LORD your God gives you;
16. For all who do such things, all who are dishonest, are an abomination to the LORD your God.
17. Remember what Amalek did to you by the way when you came forth out of Egypt.
18. How he met you by the way and struck those of you who lagged behind and all the feeble behind you when you were faint and weary. And he did not fear God.
19. And it shall be when the LORD your God has given you rest from all your enemies all around in the land which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance to possess it, you shall blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven. You shall not forget.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

1. “And it shall be when you come into the land which the LORD your God gives you for an inheritance, and possess it, and live in it,
2. You shall take of the first of all the fruit of the earth which you shall bring of the land which the LORD your God gives you, and you shall put it in a basket, and shall go to the place which the LORD your God shall choose to place His name there.
3. And you shall go to the priest in those days, and say to him, ‘I profess today to the LORD your God that I have come into the land which the LORD swore to our fathers to give us.’
4. And the priest shall take the basket out of your hand and set it down before the altar of the LORD your God.
5. And you shall declare and say before the LORD your God, ‘My father was a Syrian ready to perish. And he went down to Egypt, and sojourned there with a few, and became there a nation, great, mighty, and many.
6. And the Egyptians ill-treated us, and afflicted us, and laid hard bondage on us.
7. And when we cried to the LORD God of our fathers, the LORD heard our voice and looked on our afflictions and our labor and our oppression.
8. And the LORD brought us forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with awesome might, and with signs and with wonders.
9. And He has brought us into this place, and has given us this land, a land that flows with milk and honey.
10. And now, behold, I have brought the firstfruits of the land which You, O LORD, have given me.’ And you shall set it before the LORD your God, and worship before the LORD your God.
11. And you shall rejoice in all the good which the LORD your God has given to you, and to your house; you, and the Levite, and the stranger in your midst.
12. When you have made an end of tithing all the tithes of your increase the third year, which is the year of tithing, and have given it to the Levite, the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow (that they may eat inside your gates and be filled),
13. Then you shall say before the LORD your God, ‘I have brought away the holy things out of my house, and also have given them to the Levite, and to the stranger, to the fatherless, and to the widow, according to all Your commandments which You have commanded me.
14. I have not broken Your commandments, neither have I forgotten them.
15. I have not eaten of it in my mourning, neither have I put any of it away for unclean use, nor have I given of it for the dead. I have hearkened to the voice of the LORD my God, and have done according to all that You have commanded me.
16. Look down from Your holy dwelling, from Heaven, and bless Your people Israel and the land which You have given us as You swore to our fathers, a land that flows with milk and honey.’
17. Today the LORD your God has commanded you to observe these laws and judgments. You therefore shall keep and observe them with all your heart and with all your soul.
18. You have declared today that the LORD is your God, and that you would walk in His ways, and keep His statutes and His commandments and His judgments, and obey His voice.
19. And the LORD has taken you today to be His specially treasured people, as He has promised you, and to keep all His commandments,
20. And to make you high above all nations which He has made in praise and in name and in honor, and that you may be a holy people to the LORD your God, even as He has spoken.”

318
CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

1. And Moses with the elders of Israel commanded the people saying, “Keep all the commandments which I command you today.
2. And it will be, on the day when you shall pass over Jordan to the land which the LORD your God gives you, you shall set up great stones and coat them with lime concrete.
3. And you shall engrave upon them all the words of this law when you have passed over so that you may go in to the land which the LORD your God gives you, a land that flows with milk and honey, as the LORD God of your fathers has promised you.
4. Therefore it shall be when you have gone over Jordan, you shall set up these stones which I command you today in Mount Ebal. And you shall coat them with lime concrete.
5. And you shall build an altar there to the LORD your God, an altar of stones. You shall not lift up any iron tool on them.
6. You shall build the altar of the LORD your God of uncut stones, and you shall offer burnt offerings upon it to the LORD your God.
7. And you shall offer peace offerings, and shall eat there, and rejoice before the LORD your God to observe His commandments and His statutes which I command you today.
8. And you shall write all the words of this law very plainly upon the stones.”
9. And Moses and the priests the Levites spoke to all Israel, saying, “Take heed and hearken, O Israel. Today you have become the people of the LORD your God.
10. You shall therefore obey the voice of the LORD your God and do His commandments and His statutes which I command you today.”
11. And Moses charged the people the same day, saying,
12. “These shall stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people when you have come over Jordan: Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Joseph, and Benjamin.
13. And these shall stand on Mount Ebal to curse: Reuben, Gad, and Asher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.
14. And the Levites shall solemnly pronounce and say to all the men of Israel with a loud voice,
15. ‘Cursed is the man that makes any graven or molten image, an abomination to the LORD, the work of the hands of the craftsman, and puts it in a secret place.’
16. And all the people shall answer and say, ‘Amen.’
17. ‘Cursed is he who dishonors his father or his mother.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
18. ‘Cursed is he who makes the blind to wander out of the way.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
19. ‘Cursed is he who perverts the judgment of the stranger, fatherless, and widow.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
20. ‘Cursed is he who lies with his father’s wife because he uncovers his father’s skirt.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
21. ‘Cursed is he who lies with any kind of animal.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
22. ‘Cursed is he who lies with his sister, the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
23. ‘Cursed is he who lies with his mother-in-law.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
24. ‘Cursed is he who strikes his neighbor secretly.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
25. ‘Cursed is he who takes a bribe to kill an innocent person.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’
26. ‘Cursed is he who does not confirm all the words of this law to do them.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’”

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

1. “And it shall come to pass, if you shall hearken diligently unto the voice of the LORD your God to observe and to do all His commandments which I command you today, the LORD your God will set you on high above all nations of the earth.
2. And all these blessings shall come upon you and overtake you if you will obey the voice of the LORD your God.
3. Blessed shall you be in the city, and blessed shall you be in the field.
4. Blessed shall be the fruit of your body, and the fruit of your ground, and the fruit of your livestock, the increase of your cattle, and the flocks of your sheep.
5. Blessed shall be your basket and your store.
6. Blessed shall you be when you come in, and blessed shall you be when you go out.
7. The LORD shall cause your enemies that rise up against you to be stricken before your face. They shall come out against you one way, and flee before you seven ways.
8. The LORD shall command the blessing upon you in your storehouses, and all that you set your hand to. And He shall bless you in the land which the LORD your God gives you.
9. The LORD shall establish you a holy people to Himself, as He has sworn to you, if you shall keep the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you today, to observe and to do them.
10. And it shall come to pass, if you will not hearken to the voice of the LORD your God to observe and to do all His commandments and His statutes which I command you today, all these curses shall come upon you and overtake you.
11. And the LORD shall make you the head, and not the tail. And you shall be always above, and you shall not be beneath, if you obey the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you today, to observe and to do them.
12. And you shall not go aside from any of the words which I command you today, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.
13. And it shall come to pass, if you will not hearken to the voice of the LORD your God to observe and to do all His commandments and His statutes which I command you today, all these curses shall come upon you and overtake you.
14. Cursed shall you be in the city, and cursed shall you be in the field.
15. Cursed shall be your basket and your store.
16. Cursed shall you be in the city, and cursed shall you be in the field.
Deuteronomy 28

31. Your ox shall be slain before your eyes, and you shall not eat of it. Your donkey shall be violently taken away from before your face, and shall not be restored to you, your sheep shall be given to your enemies, and you shall have none to rescue them.

32. Your sons and your daughters shall be given to another people, and your eyes shall look and fail for them all the day long. And there shall be no power in your hand.

33. The fruit of your land and all your labors shall be eaten up by a nation which you do not know. And you shall only be oppressed and crushed always.

34. And you shall be driven mad because of that which you shall see with the sight of your eyes.

35. The LORD shall strike you in the knees and in the legs with an evil ulcer that cannot be healed, from the sole of your foot to the top of your head.

36. The LORD shall bring you, and your king which you shall set over you, to a nation which neither you nor your fathers have known. And there you shall serve other gods, wood and stone.

37. And you shall become an astonishment, a proverb, and a byword among all nations where the LORD shall lead you.

38. You shall carry much seed out into the field and shall gather little in, for the worm shall eat it.

39. You shall plant vineyards and dress them, but shall neither drink the wine nor gather, for the worm shall eat them.

40. You shall have olive trees throughout all your coasts, but you shall not anoint yourself with the oil, for your olive tree shall drop off its fruit.

41. You shall beget sons and daughters, but you shall not enjoy them, for they shall go into captivity.

42. All your trees and the fruit of your land the locust shall possess.

43. The stranger dwelling among you shall get up above you very high, and you shall come down very low.

44. He shall loan to you, and you shall not loan to him. He shall be the head, and you shall be the tail.

45. And all these curses shall come on you, and shall pursue you and overtake you, until you are destroyed because you did not obey the voice of the LORD your God to keep His commandments and His statutes which He commanded you.

46. And they shall be on you for a sign and for a wonder, and on your seed forever.

47. Because you did not serve the LORD your God with joyfulness and with gladness of heart for the abundance of all things,

48. Therefore you shall serve your enemies which the LORD shall send against you in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in the want of all things. And he shall put a yoke of iron on your neck until he has destroyed you.

49. The LORD shall bring a nation against you from afar, from the end of the earth as the eagle flies, a nation whose language you shall not understand,

50. A nation fierce of countenance which shall not regard the person of the old, nor show favor to the young.

51. And he shall eat the fruit of your livestock and the fruit of your land, until you are destroyed. He shall not leave you grain, wine, or oil, neither the increase of your livestock, or flocks of your sheep until he has destroyed you.

52. And he shall besiege you within all your gates until your high and fortified walls in which you trusted come down throughout all the land. And he shall besiege you within all your gates throughout all your land which the LORD your God has given you.

53. And you shall eat the fruit of your own body, the flesh of your sons and of your daughters, which the LORD your God has given you, in the siege and in the anguish with which your enemies shall distress you.

54. The man that is tender among you and very delicate, even his eye also shall be evil toward his brother and toward the wife of his bosom, and toward the rest of his children which he has left;

55. So that he will not give to any of them the flesh of his children whom he shall eat because he has nothing left to him in the siege and in the anguish with which your enemies shall distress you.

56. The tender and delicate woman among you, who would not have ventured to set the sole of her foot on the ground for delicateness and tender-ness, her eye shall be evil toward the husband of her bosom, and toward her son, and toward her daughter, 57. And toward her young one who comes out from between her feet, and toward her children whom she shall bear; for she shall eat them secretly for lack of all things in the siege and anguish with which your enemies shall distress you within your gates.
58. If you will not observe to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that you may fear this glorious and awesome name, The LORD YOUR GOD,
59. Then the LORD will make your plagues extraordinary, and the plagues of your seed great and persistent plagues with evil and long-lasting sicknesses.
60. Also, He will bring on you all the diseases of Egypt of which you were afraid. And they shall cling to you.
61. Also, every sickness and every plague which is not written in the book of this law, the LORD will bring them upon you until you are destroyed.
62. And you shall be left few in number, whereas you were as the stars of the heavens for multitude, because you would not obey the voice of the LORD your God.
63. And it shall come to pass as the LORD rejoiced over you to do you good and to multiply you, so the LORD will rejoice over you to destroy you and to bring you to nothing. And you shall be plucked from off the land where you go to possess it.
64. And the LORD shall scatter you among all people from the one end of the earth even to the other, and you shall serve other gods there, wood and stone, which neither you nor your fathers have known.
65. And among these nations you shall find no ease; neither shall the sole of your foot have rest. But the LORD shall give you there a trembling heart and failing of eyes and sorrow of mind.
66. And your life shall hang in doubt before you, and you shall fear day and night, and shall have no assurance of your life.
67. In the morning you shall say, ‘Oh that it were evening!’ And at evening you shall say, ‘Oh that it were morning!
for the fear of your heart with which you shall fear, and for the sight of your eyes which you shall see.
68. And the LORD shall bring you into Egypt again with ships by the way of which I said to you, ‘You shall see it no more again.’ And there you shall be sold to your enemies for menslaves and womenslaves, and no man shall buy you.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

1. These are the words of the covenant which the LORD commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab, besides the covenant which He made with them in Horeb.
2. And Moses called to all Israel and said to them, “You have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land.
3. Your eyes have seen the great trials, the signs, and those great miracles.
4. Yet the LORD has not given you a heart to perceive, and eyes to see, and ears to hear, unto this day.
5. And I have led you forty years in the wilderness. Your clothes have not become old on you, and your shoe has not become old on your foot.
6. You have not eaten bread, neither have you drunk wine or strong drink, so that you might know that I am the LORD your God.
7. And when you came to this place, Sihon the king of Heshbon and Og the king of Bashan came out against us to battle, and we struck them.
8. And we took their land and gave it for an inheritance to the Reubenites and to the Gadites and to the half tribe of Manasseh.
9. Therefore, keep the words of this covenant and do them so that you may prosper in all that you do.
10. You stand today, all of you, before the LORD your God: your captains of your tribes, your elders, and your officers, all the men of Israel.
11. Your little ones, your wives, and your stranger that is in your camp, from the cutter of your wood to the drawer of your water;
12. So that you should enter into covenant with the LORD your God and into His oath which the LORD your God makes with you today;
13. That He may establish you today for a people to Himself, and that He may be your God as He has said to you and as He has sworn to your fathers—to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.
14. Nor do I make this covenant and this oath with you only,
15. But with him who stands here with us today before the LORD our God, and also with him that is not here with us today.
16. (For you know how we have lived in the land of Egypt and how we came through the nations which you passed.
17. And you have seen their abominations and their idols, wood and stone, silver and gold, which were among them) 18. Lest there should be among you man, or woman, or family, or tribe, whose heart turns away today from the LORD our God to go serve the gods of these nations; lest there should be among you a root that bears gall and wormwood,
19. And it shall come to pass when he hears the words of this curse that he shall bless himself in his heart, saying, ‘I shall have peace, though I walk in the stubbornness of my heart,’ to the sweeping away of the watered and the parched,
20. Then the LORD will not be willing to forgive him, but the anger of the LORD and His jealousy shall smoke against that man, and all the curses that are written in this book shall lie upon him, and the L ORD shall blot out his name from under heaven.
21. And the L ORD shall separate him unto evil out of all the tribes of Israel, according to all the curses of the covenant that are written in this book of the law;
22. So that the generation to come of your children that shall rise up after you, and the stranger that shall come from a far land, shall say (when they see the plagues of that land and the sickenesses which the L ORD has laid on it)
23. ‘The whole land shall be burned with brimstone and salt; it shall not be sown; nor shall it sprout; nor shall there be any grass in it. It shall be like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboim, which the L ORD overthrew in His anger, and in His wrath,’
24. Even all nations shall say, ‘Why has the L ORD done this to this land? For what is the meaning of the heat of this great anger?’
25. Then men shall say, ‘Because they have forsaken the covenant of the L ORD God of their fathers which He made with them when He brought them forth out of the land of Egypt,
26. For they went and served other gods and worshiped them, gods whom they did not know and that He had not allotted to them.
27. And the anger of the L ORD was kindled against this land to bring on it all the curses that are written in this book.
28. And the L ORD rooted them out of their land in anger and wrath, and in great indignation, and cast them into another land, as it is today.’
29. The secret things belong to the L ORD our God, but the things which are revealed belong to us and to our children forever so that we may do all the words of this law.’

CHAPTER THIRTY

1. “And it shall be when all these things have come upon you, the blessing and the curse which I have set before you, and when you shall call them to mind among all the nations where the L ORD your God has driven you,
2. And shall return to the L ORD your God and shall obey His voice according to all that I command you today, you and your children, with all your heart and with all your soul,
3. Then the L ORD your God will turn away your captivity. And He will have compassion on you, and will return and gather you from all the nations where the L ORD your God has scattered you.
4. If you are driven out into the outermost parts of the heavens, the L ORD your God will gather you from there, and He will bring you from there.
5. And the L ORD your God will bring you into the land which your fathers possessed, and you shall possess it. And He will do you good and multiply you above your fathers.
6. And the L ORD your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your seed, to love the L ORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, so that you may live.
7. And the L ORD your God will put all these curses upon your enemies, and upon those that hate you, who persecuted you.
8. And you shall return and obey the voice of the L ORD, and do all His commandments which I command you today.
9. And the LORD your God will make you abundantly prosperous in every work of your hand, in the fruit of your body, and in the fruit of your livestock, and in the fruit of your land, for good, for the LORD will again rejoice over you for good as He rejoiced over your fathers;
10. If you shall obey the voice of the LORD your God to keep His commandments and His statutes which are written in this book of the law, and if you turn to the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul;
11. For this commandment which I command you today is not hidden from you, neither is it far off.
12. It is not in heaven that you should say, ‘Who shall go up for us, and bring it to us, so that we may hear it and do it?’
13. Neither is it beyond the sea that you should say, ‘Who shall go over the sea for us to bring it to us, so that we may hear it and do it?’
14. But the word is very near you, in your mouth and in your heart, so that you may do it.
15. Behold, I have set before you this day life and good, and death and evil,
16. In that I command you this day to love the LORD your God, to walk in His ways, and to keep His commandments and His statutes and His judgments so that you may live and multiply. And the LORD your God shall bless you in the land where you go to possess it.
17. But if your heart turn away so that you will not hear, but shall be drawn away and worship other gods and serve them,
18. I denounce to you this day that you shall surely perish; you shall not prolong your days in the land where you pass over Jordan to go to possess it.
19. I call heaven and earth to record this day against you that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing. Therefore, choose life, so that both you and your seed may live,
20. That you may love the LORD your God, and may obey His voice, and may cleave to Him; for He is your life and the length of your days, so that you may dwell in the land which the LORD swore to your fathers—to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob—to give it to them.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

1. And Moses went and spoke these words to all Israel.
2. And he said to them, “I am a hundred twenty years old today. I can no more go out and come in. Also the LORD has said to me, ‘You shall not go over this Jordan.’
3. The LORD your God will cross over before you. He will destroy these nations from before you, and you shall possess them, and Joshua will cross over before you as the LORD has said.
4. And the LORD shall give them up before you. He did to Sihon and to Og, kings of the Amorites, and to the land of those whom He destroyed.
5. And the LORD shall give them up before your face, so that you may do to them according to all the commandments which I have commanded you.
6. Be strong and of a good courage. Do not fear nor be afraid of them, for the LORD your God is He Who goes with you. He will not fail you nor forsake you.”
7. And Moses called to Joshua and said to him in the sight of all Israel, “Be strong and of a good courage, “At the end of seven years, at the set time of the year of release, in the Feast of Tabernacles,
11. When all Israel has come to appear before the LORD your God in the place which He shall choose, you shall read this law before all Israel in their hearing.
12. Gather the people, men and women and the little ones, and your stranger who is within your gates so that they may hear and that they may learn and fear the LORD your God, and be careful to do all the words of this law,
13. And that their children who have not known may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as you live in the land where you go over Jordan to possess it.”
14. And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, your days are coming near to die. Call Joshua and present yourselves in the tabernacle of the congregation that I may command him.” And Moses and Joshua went. And they presented themselves in the tabernacle of the congregation.
15. And the LORD appeared in the tabernacle in a pillar of a cloud. And the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of the tabernacle.
16. And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, you shall sleep with your fathers. And this people shall rise up and go lusting after the gods of the strangers of the land into which they are going, into their midst. And they will forsake Me and break My covenant which I made with them.
17. Then My anger shall be kindled against them in that day, and I will forsake them. And I will hide My face from them, and they shall be devoured, and they shall have eaten and others, the land that flows into the land which I swore to their fathers of the land into which they are going, as the showers on the grass, and as the small rain on the tender plant, and my speech shall drop down as the dew, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of My mouth.
18. And I will surely hide My face in that day for all the evils which they have done, for they shall turn to other gods.
19. Now, therefore, write this song for yourself, and teach it to the children of Israel. Put it in their mouths so that this song may be a witness for Me against the children of Israel,
20. For when I shall have brought them into the land which I swore to their fathers, the land that flows with milk and honey, and they shall have eaten and have filled themselves, and become fat, then they will turn to other gods and serve them, and provoke Me and break My covenant.
21. And it shall be when many evils and troubles they are confronted with, that this song shall testify against them as a witness; for it shall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their seed, for I know their imagination which they do, even now, before I have brought them into the land which I swore.”
22. And Moses wrote this song the same day and taught it to the children of Israel.
23. And He commanded Joshua the son of Nun and said, “Be strong and of a good courage, for you shall bring the children of Israel into the land which I swore to them, and I will be with you.”
24. And it came to pass when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book until they were finished, 25. Then Moses commanded the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, saying,
26. “Take this book of the law, and put it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, so that it may be there for a witness against you,
27. For I know your rebellion and your stiff neck. Behold, while I am still alive with you today, you have been rebellious against the LORD. And how much more after my death?
28. Gather to me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, so that I may speak these words in their ears, and call heaven and earth to record against them,
29. For I know that after my death you will become utterly corrupt, and turn aside from the way which I have commanded you. And evil will befall you in the latter days because you will do evil in the sight of the LORD to provoke Him to anger through the work of your hands.”
30. And Moses spoke in the ears of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song until they were finished.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

1. “Give ear, O heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth.
2. My teachings shall drop as the rain; my speech shall drop down as the dew, as the small rain on the tender plant, and as the showers on the grass.
3. Because I will proclaim the name of the LORD, and ascribe greatness to our God.
4. He is the Rock; His work is perfect for all His ways are just, a God of faithfulness, and without iniquity; just and upright is He.
5. They have corrupted themselves: they are not His children; it is their blemish; they are a crooked and perverse generation.
6. Is this the way you pay back to the LORD, O foolish and unwise people? Is He not your Father Who bought you? Has He not made you and established you?

7. Remember the days of old; consider the years of many generations. Ask your father, and he will show you; your elders, and they will tell you.

8. When the Most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when He separated the sons of Adam, He set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel.

9. For the LORD's portion is His people. Jacob is the lot of His inheritance.

10. He found him in a desert land, and in the waste of a howling wilderness. He led him about, He cared for him, He kept him as the apple of His eye.

11. As an eagle stirs up her nest, flutters over her young, spreads abroad her wings, takes them and bears them on her wings,

12. The LORD alone led him, and there was no strange god with him.

13. He made him ride on the high places of the earth so that he might eat the increase of the fields. And He made him suck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock.

14. Butter from cows, and milk from sheep, with fat of lambs, and rams of the sons of Bashan, and goats, with the finest wheat. And you drank wine, the blood of the grape.

15. But Jeshurun grew fat and kicked. You grew fat, thick, and satisfied. Then he forsook God Who made him and lightly esteemed the Rock of his salvation.

16. They provoked Him to jealousy with strange gods; with abominations they provoked Him to anger.

17. They sacrificed to demons, not to God: to gods whom they knew not, to new ones newly come up, whom your fathers did not fear.

18. You forgot the Rock Who brought you forth and have forgotten the God Who formed you.

19. And the LORD saw and despised them because of the provoking of His sons and of His daughters.

20. And He said, 'I will hide My face from them; I will see what their end shall be, for they are a very perverse generation, children in whom is no faithfulness.

21. They have moved Me to jealousy with that which is not God. They have provoked Me to anger with their vanities. And I will move them to jealousy with those which are not a people. I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation, for a fire is kindled in My anger, and shall burn to the grave beneath, and shall consume the earth with its increase, and set on fire the foundations of the mountains.

22. I will heap up evils upon them. I will spend My arrows on them.

23. I will move them to jealousy with a foolish nation, and shall burn to the grave beneath, and shall consume the earth with its increase, and set on fire the foundations of the mountains.

24. I will heap up evils upon them. I will spend My arrows on them.

25. The sword outside, and the terror inside, shall destroy both the young man and the virgin, the suckling also with the man of grey hairs.

26. I said I would dash them to pieces; I would make the memory of them to cease from among men.

27. Had not I feared the provocation by an enemy lest their adversaries should misconstrue; lest they should say, "Our hand is high and the LORD has not done all this."

28. For they are a nation without wisdom; neither is there any understanding in them.

29. If they were wise, they would understand this; they would consider their latter end!

30. How shall one chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight, unless their Rock had sold them and the LORD had shut them up?

31. For their rock is not as our Rock, even our enemies themselves being judges.

32. For their vine is of the vine of Sodom and of the fields of Gomorrah. Their grapes are grapes of gall. Their clusters are bitter.

33. Their wine is the poison of serpents and the cruel venom of asps.

34. ‘Is not this laid up in store with Me and sealed up among My treasures?’

35. Vengeance and retribution belong to Me. Their foot shall slide in time, for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that shall come on them make haste.'
servants, for He sees that their power is gone, and only their imprisoned and abandoned remain.

37. And He shall say, ‘Where are their gods, their rock in whom they trusted?’
38. Who ate the fat of their sacrifices and drank the wine of their drink offerings? Let them rise up and help you; let it be your hiding place.
39. See now that I, even I am He, and there is no god besides Me. I kill, and I make alive; I wound and I heal. Neither is there any that can deliver out of My hand,
40. For I lift up My hand to heaven and say, “I live forever!
41. If I sharpen My glittering sword, and if My hand takes hold in judgment, I will give vengeance to My enemies and will reward those that hate Me.
42. I will make My arrows drunk with blood, and My sword shall devour flesh, with the blood of the slain and of the captives, from the hairy scalp of the enemy.’”

43. Rejoice, O, nations, with His people; for He will avenge the blood of His servants, and will render vengeance to His foes and will be merciful to His land, to His people.”
44. And Moses came and spoke all the words of this song in the ears of the people, he and Joshua the son of Nun.
45. And Moses made an end of speaking all these words to all Israel.
46. And he said to them, “Set your hearts to all the words which I testify among you today, which you shall command your children to observe and to do, all the words of this law.
47. For it is no vain thing for you because it is your life. And by this word you shall prolong your days in the land where you go over Jordan, there to possess it.”
48. And the LORD spoke to Moses that same day, saying,
49. “Go up into the mountains of Abarim, to Mount Nebo in the land of Moab, which is opposite Jericho; and behold the land of Canaan which I am giving to the children of Israel for a possession.
50. And die on the mountain where you ascend, and be gathered to your people, as Aaron your brother died in Mount Hor and was gathered to his people,
51. Because you sinned against Me among the children of Israel at the Waters of Strife in Kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin, because you did not sanctify Me in the midst of the children of Israel.
52. Yet you shall see the land before you, but you shall not go there to the land which I am giving to the children of Israel.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE
1. And this is the blessing with which Moses the man of God blessed the children of Israel before his death.
2. And he said, “The LORD came from Sinai and rose up from Seir to them. He shone forth from Mount Paran, and He came with ten thousands of saints. From His right hand went a fiery law for them.
3. Yea, He loved the people. All His holy ones are in Your hand, and they followed in Your footsteps receiving Your words.
4. Moses commanded us a law, as a possession of the congregation of Jacob.
5. And He was king in Jeshurun when the heads of the people and the tribes of Israel were gathered.
6. Let Reuben live and not die, and let his men be few.”
7. And this he said for Judah, “Hear, LORD, the voice of Judah, and bring him to his people. Let his hands be sufficient for him, and You shall be a help to him from his enemies.”
8. And of Levi he said, “Let Your Thummim and Your Urim be with Your holy one whom You proved at Massah; You strove with him at the Waters of Strife, 9. Who said to his father and to his mother, I have not seen him; and he has not acknowledged his brothers, nor knew his own son, for they have observed Your word and kept Your covenant.
10. Let them teach Jacob Your judgments, and Israel Your law. Let them put incense before You and whole burnt sacrifice on Your altar.
11. O, LORD, bless his strength, and accept the work of his hands. Strike through the loins of those who rise against him, and of those who hate him, that they should not rise again.”
12. Of Benjamin he said, “The beloved of the LORD shall live in safety beside Him and shall cover him all the day long. Yea, he shall dwell between His shoulders.”
13. And of Joseph he said, “Blessed of the LORD be his land, with the precious things of the heavens, for the dew, and for the deep that couches beneath,
14. And for the precious things of the fruits of the sun, and with the precious things of the yield of the months.
15. And with the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the everlasting hills,
16. And for the precious things of the earth and fullness of it, and for the good will of Him Who dwelt in the bush. Let the blessing come on the head of Joseph, and on the top of the head of him who was separated from his brothers.
17. His glory is like the firstborn of his bull, and his horns are like the horns of the wild ox. With them he shall push the people together to the ends of the earth. And they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.”
18. And of Zebulun he said, “Rejoice, Zebulun, in your going out, and Issachar in your tents.
19. They shall call the people to the mountain. There they shall offer sacrifices of righteousness, for they shall suck the bounty of the seas and treasures hidden in the sand.”
20. And of Gad he said, “Blessed is he who makes Gad greater. He lives as a lion and tears the arm and the crown of the head.
21. And he selected the best for himself because there was the portion of the ruler reserved there. And he came with the heads of the people. He executed the justice of the LORD, and His judgments with Israel.”
22. And of Dan he said, “Dan is a lion’s whelp. He shall leap from Bashan.”
23. And of Naphtali he said, “O Naphtali, satisfied with favor, and filled with the blessings of the LORD, possess the west and the south.”
24. And of Asher he said, “Asher shall be blessed with children, let him be pleasing to his brothers, and let him dip his foot in oil.
25. Your shoes shall be iron and bronze. And as your days, so shall your strength be.
26. There is none like the God of Jeshurun Who rides on the heavens to your help in His majesty in the skies.
27. The eternal God is your refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms. And He shall throw the enemy out from before you and shall say, ‘Destroy!’
28. And Israel shall dwell in safety alone, the fountain of Jacob in a land of grain and wine; yea, his heavens shall drop down dew.
29. Blessed are you, O Israel! Who is like you, O people saved by the LORD, your helping shield, and Who is your majestic sword! And your enemies shall come fawning to you, and you shall tread on their high places.”

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

1. And Moses went up from the plains of Moab to the mountain of Nebo, to the top of Pisgah that is opposite Jericho. And the LORD showed him all the land of Gilead, to Dan,
2. And all Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah, to the furthest sea,
3. And the south, and the plain of the valley of Jericho, the city of palm trees, to Zoar.
4. And the LORD said to him, “This is the land which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, ‘I will give it to your seed.’ I have caused you to see it with your eyes, but you shall not go over there.”
5. And Moses the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the LORD.
6. And He buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, opposite Beth Peor. But no man knows of his grave to this day.
7. And Moses was a hundred and twenty years old when he died. His eye was not dim, nor any of his natural strength abated.
8. And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days. Then the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended.
9. And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the Spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands on him. And the children of Israel hearkened to him, and did as the LORD commanded Moses.
10. And there has not arisen a prophet like Moses since then in Israel, whom the LORD knew face to face,
11. In all the signs and the wonders which the LORD sent him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to all his land,
12. And in all that mighty hand, and in all the great terror which Moses showed in the sight of all Israel.

CHAPTER ONE

1. And it came to pass after the death of Moses, the servant of the LORD, that the LORD spoke to Joshua the son of Nun, Moses’ minister, saying,
2. “My servant Moses is dead. Now, therefore, arise, go over this Jordan, you and all this people to the land which I give to them, to the children of Israel.
3. Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, I have given that unto you, as I said to Moses.
4. From the wilderness and this Lebanon even to the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and to the Great Sea toward the going down of the sun, shall be your border.
5. No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life. As I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not fail you nor forsake you.
6. Be strong and of good courage, for you shall divide for an inheritance to this people the land which I swore to their fathers to give it to them.
7. Only be strong and very courageous so that you may observe to do according to all the law which My servant Moses commanded you. Do not turn from it to the right hand or to the left, so that you may prosper wherever you go.
8. This book of the law shall not depart out of your mouth, but you shall meditate therein day and night, so that you may observe to do according to all that is written in it, for then you shall make your way prosperous, and then you shall have good success.
9. Have I not commanded you? Be strong and of good courage. Do not be afraid, neither be dismayed, for the LORD your God is with you in all places where you go.”
10. Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people saying,
11. “Pass through the host, and command the people, saying, ‘Prepare food for yourselves, for within three days you are crossing over this Jordan to go in to possess the land which the LORD your God is giving you to possess it.’ ”
12. And Joshua spoke to the Reubenites and to the Gadites and to half the tribe of Manasseh, saying:
13. “Remember the word which Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you saying, ‘The LORD your God has given you rest and has given you this land.’
14. Your wives, your little ones, and your cattle shall remain in the land which Moses gave you on this side of Jordan. But you shall go armed before your brethren, all the mighty men of valor, and help them,
15. Until the LORD has given your brethren rest, even as you, and they also have possessed the land which the LORD your God gives them; and you shall return to the land of your possession and enjoy it, which Moses the LORD’S servant gave you on this side of Jordan, towards the sunrise.”
16. And they answered Joshua, saying: “We will do all that you command us, and wherever you send us we will go.
17. Just as we hearkened to Moses in all things, so we will hearken to you. Only may the LORD your God be with you as He was with Moses.
18. Whoever rebels against your command and will not hearken to your words in all that you command him, he shall be put to death. Only be strong and of a good courage.”

CHAPTER TWO

1. And Joshua the son of Nun sent out of Shittim two men to spy secretly, saying, “Go look over the land, even Jericho.” And they went and came to the house of a harlot named Rahab. And they stayed there.
2. And the king of Jericho was told about it, saying, “Behold, men from the children of Israel came in here tonight to search out the country.”
3. And the king of Jericho sent to Rahab, saying, “Bring out the men that have come to you, those who have entered into your house, for they have come to search out all the country.”
4. And the woman took the two men and hid them. And she said, “Two men came to me, but I did not know from where they came.
5. And it came to pass when it was dark, at the time of shutting the gate, the men went out. Where the men went I do not know. Go after them quickly, for you shall overtake them.”

6. But she had brought them up on the roof, and had hidden them with the stalks of flax which she had laid in order upon the roof.

7. And the men went after them on the way to Jordan to the fords. And when those who pursued them had gone out, they shut the gate.

8. And before they had laid down, she came up to them upon the roof.

9. And she said to the men, “I know that the LORD has given you the land, and that your terror has fallen upon us, and that all those who live in the land faint because of you.

10. For we have heard how the LORD dried up the water of the Red Sea for you when you came out of Egypt, and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites that were on the other side of Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom you utterly destroyed.

11. And we had heard, and our hearts melted, nor did any more spirit remain in any man because of you, for the LORD your God, He is God in heaven above and in earth beneath.

12. Now therefore, I pray you, swear to me by the LORD, since I have dealt with you in kindness, that you will also deal with kindness to my father’s house. And give me a true token,

13. And shall save alive my father and my mother, and my brothers and my sisters, and all that they have, and deliver our lives from death.”

14. And the men answered her, “Our life shall be for yours if you do not tell our business. And when the LORD has given us the land, we will deal kindly and truly with you.”

15. Then she let them go down by a cord through the window, for her house was upon the town wall, and she lived upon the wall.

16. And she said to them, “Get up into the mountain lest the pursuers meet you. And hide yourselves there three days until the pursuers have returned. And afterward you may go your way.”

17. And the men said to her, “We will be blameless of this oath to you which you have made us swear.

18. Behold, when we come into the land, you shall set this line of scarlet thread in the window from which you let us down. And you shall bring your father and your mother, and your brothers, and all your father’s household, home to you.

19. And it shall be, whoever shall go out of the doors of your house, his blood shall be upon his head, and we will be blameless. And whoever shall be with you in the house, his blood shall be on our head if a hand is upon him.

20. And if you tell our business, then we will be free of the oath which you have made us swear to you.”

21. And she said, “Let it be according to your word.” And she sent them away, and they departed. And she set the scarlet line in the window.

22. And they went and came to the mountain, and stayed there three days until the pursuers had returned. And the pursuers looked for them throughout all the way, but did not find them.

23. And the two men returned and came down from the mountain, and passed over, and came to Joshua the son of Nun. And they told him all that happened to them.

24. And they said to Joshua, “Truly the LORD has delivered all the land into our hands, for even all those who live in the country faint because of us.”

CHAPTER THREE

1. And Joshua rose early in the morning. And they moved from Shittim and came to Jordan, he and all the children of Israel, and lodged there before they passed over.

2. And it came to pass after three days the officers went through the host.

3. And they commanded the people saying, “When you see the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, and the priests the Levites bearing it, then you shall move from your place and go after it.

4. Yet keep a space between you and it, about two thousand cubits by measure. Do not come near it so that you may know the way by which you must go, for you have not passed this way before now.”

5. And Joshua said to the people, “Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the
And Joshua spoke to the priests saying, “Take up the ark of the covenant and pass over before the people.” And they took up the ark of the covenant and went before the people.

And the LORD said to Joshua, “Today, I will begin to magnify you in the sight of all Israel so that they may know that I will be with you, as I was with Moses.

And you shall command the priests that carry the ark of the covenant, saying, ‘When you have come to the brink of the water of Jordan, you shall stand still in Jordan.’ ”

And Joshua called the twelve men whom he had prepared from the children of Israel, out of every tribe, a man.

And he said to them, “Pass over in front of the ark of the LORD your God into the middle of the Jordan. And every man take a stone on his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, 12. And now take yourselves twelve men out of the tribes of Israel, out of every tribe a man.

And it shall be, as soon as the soles of the priests that carry the ark of the LORD, the Lord of all the earth, shall rest in the waters of Jordan, the waters of Jordan shall be cut off from the waters that come down from above. And they shall stand all in a heap.”

And it came to pass, when the people moved from their tents to pass over Jordan, and as the priests carried the ark of the covenant before the people, 13. And as those who bore the ark had come to Jordan, and the feet of the priests that bore the ark were dipped in the edge of the water (for Jordan overflows all its banks throughout the time of harvest):

That the waters which came down from above stopped and rose up all in a heap, very far from the city Adam that is beside Zaretan. And those that came down toward the sea of the plain, the Salt Sea, were completely cut off. And the people passed over across from Jericho.

And the priests who bore the ark of the covenant of the LORD stood firm on dry ground in the middle of Jordan. And all Israel passed over on dry ground, until all the people had passed completely over Jordan.

CHAPTER FOUR

And it came to pass when all the people had completely passed over the Jordan, the LORD spoke to Joshua saying, 2. “Take twelve men for you out of the people, a man out of every tribe,

And command them saying, ‘Take twelve stones from here, out of the middle of Jordan, out of the place where the priests’ feet stood firm. And you shall carry them over with you, and leave them in the place where you shall stay tonight.’ ”

Then Joshua called the twelve men whom he had prepared from the children of Israel, a man out of every tribe.

And Joshua said to them, “Pass over in front of the ark of the LORD your God into the middle of the Jordan. And every man take a stone on his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Israel,

So that this may be a sign to you when your children ask in time to come, saying, ‘What do you mean by these stones?’

Then you shall answer them, ‘The waters of Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the LORD. When it passed over Jordan, the waters of Jordan were cut off, and these stones shall be for a memorial to the children of Israel forever.’ ”

The children of Israel did as Joshua commanded. And they took up twelve stones out of the middle of the Jordan, as the LORD spoke to Joshua, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, and carried them over with them to the place where they stayed, and laid them down there;

Even the twelve stones Joshua lifted up in the middle of Jordan, in the place where the feet of the priests who carried the ark of the covenant, stood. And they are there to this day;

For the priests who bore the ark stood in the middle of the Jordan until everything was finished, all that the LORD commanded Joshua to speak to the people, according to all that Moses commanded Joshua. And the people hurried and passed over.

11. And it came to pass, when all the people had finished passing over, the ark of the LORD and the priests passed over before the people.

12. And the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh, passed over armed in front of the children of Israel, as Moses spoke to them;

13. About forty thousand armed men of the army passed over before the LORD to battle to the plains of Jericho.

14. On that day the LORD made Joshua great in the sight of all Israel. And they feared him, even as they feared Moses, all the days of his life.

15. And the LORD spoke to Joshua, saying,

16. “Command the priests who bear the ark of the testimony that they come up out of the Jordan.”

17. Joshua, therefore, commanded the priests saying, “Come up out of the Jordan.”

18. And it came to pass, when the priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD had come up out of the midst of the Jordan, the soles of the feet of the priests were lifted up to the dry land, the waters of the Jordan returned to their place and flowed over all its banks as before.

19. And the people came up out of the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month and camped in Gilgal on the east border of Jericho.

20. And those twelve stones, which they took out of the Jordan, were raised by Joshua in Gilgal.

21. And he spoke to the children of Israel saying, “When your children shall ask their fathers in time to come, saying, ‘What do these stones mean?’

22. Then you shall let your children know, saying, ‘Israel came over this Jordan on dry land.’

23. For the LORD your God dried up the waters of Jordan from before you until you had passed over, even as the LORD your God did to the Red Sea which He dried up from before us until we had gone over;

24. So that all the people of the earth might know the hand of the LORD, that it is mighty and so that you might fear the LORD your God forever.”

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And it came to pass, when all the kings of the Amorites who were on the west side of the Jordan and all the kings of the Canaanites who were by the sea, heard that the LORD had dried up the waters of Jordan in front of the children of Israel until we had passed over, that their hearts melted. Neither was there spirit in them any more because of the children of Israel.

2. At that time the LORD said to Joshua, “Make sharp knives for yourselves and circumcise the children of Israel again, the second time.”

3. And Joshua made sharp knives and circumcised the children of Israel at the hill of the foreskins.

4. And this is the reason why Joshua had them circumcised. All the people that came out of Egypt, the males, all the men of war, died in the wilderness by the wayside after they came out of Egypt.

5. For all the people who came out were circumcised. But all the people born in the wilderness by the wayside, as they came forth out of Egypt, had not been circumcised.

6. For the children of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness until all the people, the men of war who came out of Egypt, were destroyed because they did not obey the voice of the LORD. To them the LORD swore that He would not show them the land which the LORD swore to their fathers that He would give us, a land that flows with milk and honey.

7. And Joshua circumcised their sons whom He raised up in their place, for they were not circumcised because they had not been circumcised by the way.

8. And it came to pass when they had finished circumcising all the people, they stayed in their places in the camp until they were whole.

9. And the LORD said to Joshua, “Today I have rolled away the reproach of Egypt from you.” Therefore, the name of the place is called Gilgal to this day.

10. And the children of Israel camped in Gilgal and kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the month at evening in the plains of Jericho.
1. And Jericho was completely shut up because of the children of Israel. None went out and none came in.

2. And the LORD said to Joshua, “See, I went out and none came in because of the children of Israel. None stood off your feet for the place on which you stand. And the gathering army said to Joshua, “Take your shoes off your feet for the place on which you stand is holy.” And Joshua did so.

CHAPTER SIX

1. And Jericho was completely shut up because of the children of Israel. None went out and none came in.
2. And the LORD said to Joshua, “See, I have given Jericho into your hand, and its king, and the mighty men of war.
3. You shall go around the city, all the men of war. Go around the city once. So you shall do for six days.
4. And seven priests shall bear seven trumpets of ram’s horns in front of the ark. And the seventh day you shall go around the city seven times, and the priests shall blow with the trumpets.★
5. And it shall be when they make a long blast with the ram’s horn, and when you hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with a great shout. The wall of the city shall fall down flat, and the people shall go up, each man straight before him.” ★
6. And Joshua the son of Nun called the priests and said to them, “Take up the ark of the covenant, and let seven priests carry seven ram’s horns in front of the ark of the LORD.”★ 7. And he said to the people, “Pass on, and go around the city. And let him who is armed pass on in front of the ark of the LORD.”★
8. And it came to pass when Joshua had spoken to the people, the seven priests bearing the seven ram’s horns passed on before the LORD and blew the ram’s horns. And the ark of the covenant of the LORD followed them.
9. And the armed men went before the priests who blew with the ram’s horns. And the gathering army came after the ark as the priests were going on and blowing with the ram’s horns.
10. And Joshua had commanded the people saying, “You shall not shout nor make any noise with your voice, neither shall any word come out of your mouth until the day I tell you to shout. Then you shall shout.”★ 11. And the ark of the LORD went around the city, going around it once. And they came into the camp and stayed in the camp.
12. And Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the LORD.
13. And seven priests carrying seven ram’s horns before the ark of the LORD went on without stopping and blew with the ram’s horns. And the armed men went in front of them. But the rear guard came after the ark of the LORD as the priests were going on and blowing with the ram’s horns.
14. And the second day they went around the city once and returned to the camp. So they did six days.
15. And it came to pass on the seventh day they rose early, at the dawning of the day, and circled the city in the same way seven times. Only on that day they went around the city seven times.
16. And it came to pass, at the seventh time, when the priest blew with the ram’s horns, Joshua said to the people, “Shout, for the LORD has given you the city!
17. And the city shall be devoted to the LORD, it and all that is in it. Only Rahab the harlot shall live, she and all with her in the house because she hid the messengers that we sent.
18. And you surely shall keep clear of the cursed thing, lest you make yourselves cursed when you take of the cursed things, and make the camp of Israel a curse, and trouble it.
19. But all the silver and gold, and vessels of bronze and iron, are devoted to the LORD. They shall come into the treasury of the LORD.”

20. And the people shouted when the priests blew with the ram’s horns. And it came to pass when the people heard the sound of the ram’s horns, and the people shouted with a great shout, the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, each man straight before him. And they took the city.

21. And they completely destroyed all in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox and sheep and donkey, with the edge of the sword.

22. And Joshua had said to the two men who had spied out the country, “Go into the harlot’s house and bring the woman out from there, and all that she has, as you swore to her.”

23. And the young men who were spies went in and brought Rahab out, and her father and her mother, and her brothers, and all that she had. And they brought out all her kindred and set them outside the camp of Israel.

24. And they burned the city with fire, and all that was in it. Only the silver and the gold, and the vessels of bronze and iron, they put into the treasury of the house of the LORD.

25. And Joshua saved Rahab the harlot alive, and her father’s household, and all that she had. And she lives in Israel to this day because she hid the messengers whom Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

26. And Joshua charged them at that time, saying, “Cursed before the LORD is the man who rises up and builds this city of Jericho. He shall lay the foundation of it in his firstborn, and in his youngest son he shall set up the gates of it.”

27. And the LORD was with Joshua. And his fame went throughout all the country.

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. But the children of Israel committed a sin in the cursed thing, for Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of the thing which was cursed. And the anger of the LORD was kindled against the children of Israel.

2. And Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is beside Beth Aven on the east side of Bethel. And he spoke to them, saying, “Go up and look over the country.” And the men went up and spied out Ai.

3. And they returned to Joshua and said to him, “Let not all the people go up. But let about two or three thousand men go up and strike Ai. Do not make all the people labor there, for they are few.”

4. And about three thousand men of the people went up there. And they fled before the men of Ai.

5. And the men of Ai killed about thirty-six men of them, for they chased them from before the gate to Shebarim and attacked them on the road going down. Therefore the hearts of the people melted and became as water.

6. And Joshua tore his clothes and fell to the earth upon his face before the ark of the LORD until the eventide, he and the elders of Israel, and put dust upon their heads.

7. And Joshua said, “Alas, O Lord GOD, why have You at all brought this people over Jordan to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites, to destroy us? And, oh that we had been content and lived on the other side of Jordan!

8. O LORD, what shall I say when Israel turns their backs before their enemies?

9. For the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land shall hear, and shall surround us, and shall cut off our name from the earth. And what will You do for Your great name?”

10. And the LORD said to Joshua, “Get up! Why do you lie upon your face this way?

11. Israel has sinned, and they have also broken My covenant which I commanded them, and have even taken of the cursed things, and have also stolen and pretended falsely. And they have even put it among their own things.

12. Therefore the children of Israel could not stand before their enemies. They will turn their backs before their enemies because they have become cursed. I will not be with you again unless you destroy the one who is cursed from among you.

13. Up! Sanctify the people and say, “Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, for thus says the LORD God of Israel, “A cursed thing is in the midst of you, O Israel. You cannot stand before your enemies until you take away the cursed thing from among you.””
14. And in the morning, you shall be brought according to your tribes. And it shall be the tribe which the LORD takes shall come, according to its families. And the family which the LORD shall take shall come by households. And the household which the LORD shall take shall come by man.
15. And it shall be he who is taken with the cursed thing shall be burned with fire, he and all he has because he has broken the covenant of the LORD and because he has done wickedness in Israel.'
16. And Joshua rose up early in the morning and brought Israel by their tribes. And the tribe of Judah was taken.
17. And he brought the families of Judah. And he took the family of the Zerahites. And he took the family of the Zerahites man by man. And Zabdi was taken.
18. And he took the household man by man. And Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken.
19. And Joshua said to Achan, “My son, I pray you, give glory to the LORD God of Israel, and this I have done.
20. And Achan answered Joshua and said, “Indeed I have sinned against the LORD God of Israel, and this I have done.
21. And Achan said: “I had a goodly robe of Shinar, and two hundred shekels weight, I coveted them and took them. And behold, they are hidden in the earth in the middle of my tent, and the silver under it.”
22. And Joshua sent messengers, and they ran into the tent. And behold, it was hidden in his tent, and the silver under it.
23. And they took them out of the middle of the tent, and brought them to Joshua and to all the children of Israel. And they laid them out before the LORD.
24. And Joshua, and all Israel with him, took Achan the son of Zerah, and the silver, and the garment, and the wedge of gold, and his sons, and his daughters, and his oxen, and his donkeys, and his sheep, and his tent, and all that he had. And they brought them to the valley of Achor.
25. And Joshua said, “Why have you troubled us? The LORD shall trouble you this day.” And all Israel stoned him with stones, and burned them with fire, after they had stoned them with stones.
26. And they raised over him a great heap of stones to this day. And the LORD turned from His burning anger. Therefore, the name of that valley is called The Valley of Grief to this day.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And the LORD said to Joshua, “Do not fear, nor be dismayed. Take all the people of war with you and arise; go up to Ai. See, I have given into your hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land.
2. And you shall do to Ai and its king as you did to Jericho and its king. Only its spoil and its livestock you shall take for a prize for yourselves. Lay an ambush for the city behind it.”
3. So Joshua and all the people of war arose to go up against Ai. And Joshua chose out thirty thousand men, mighty warriors, and sent them away by night.
4. And he commanded them, saying, “Behold, you will be an ambush against the city, behind the city. You shall not go very far from the city, but all of you be ready.
5. And I, and all the people with me, shall go toward the city. And it shall be, when they come out against us, as at the first, we will flee before them,
6. For they will come out after us, until we have drawn them out of the city, for they will say, ‘They flee before us, even as at the first.’ And we will flee before them.
7. Then you shall rise up from the ambush and seize upon the city, for the LORD your God will deliver it into your hand.
8. And it shall be, when you have taken the city, you shall set the city on fire, according to the command of the LORD you shall do. See, I have commanded you.”
9. And Joshua sent them out. And they went to lie in ambush and stayed between Bethel and Ai on the west side of Ai. But Joshua stayed that night among the people.
10. And Joshua rose up early in the morning and called up the people. And they went up, he and the elders of Israel, in the sight of the people of Ai.
11. And all the people of war with him went up and drew near. And they came before the city and pitched on the north side of Ai. And a valley was between them and Ai.
12. And he took about five thousand men and set them to lie in ambush between Bethel and Ai on the west side of the city.
13. And when they had set the people, all the army that was on the north of the city and its rear ambush on the west of the city, Joshua went that night into the middle of the valley.
14. And it came to pass, when the king of Ai saw it, they hurried and rose up early. And the men of the city went out to do battle against Israel, he and all his people, at the time appointed before the plain. But he did not know that there were some lying in ambush against him behind the city.
15. And Joshua and all Israel acted as if they were beaten before them and fled by the way of the wilderness.
16. And all the people in Ai were called together to run after them. And they ran after Joshua and were drawn away from the city.
17. And there was not a man left in Ai or Bethel who did not go after Israel. They left the city open and ran after Israel.
18. And the LORD said to Joshua, “Stretch out the spear in your hand toward Ai, for I will give it into your hand.” And Joshua stretched out the spear in his hand toward the city.
19. And the ambushers arose quickly out of their place and ran as soon as he had stretched out his hand. And they entered into the city, took it, and hurried and set the city on fire.
20. And the men of Ai looked behind them and saw. And, behold, the smoke of the city went up into the sky, and they had no power to flee this way or that way. And the people who fled to the wilderness turned back against the pursuers.
21. And when Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had taken the city, and that the smoke of the city went up, then they turned again and killed the men of Ai.
22. And the others came out of the city against them. Thus they were in the middle of Israel, some on this side, and some on that side. And they struck them so that they let none of them remain or escape.
23. But they took the king of Ai and brought him alive to Joshua.
24. And it came to pass when Israel had made an end of killing all those who lived in Ai, in the field and in the wilderness where they chased them, and when they had all fallen on the edge of the sword until they were gone, all the Israelites returned to Ai and struck it with the edge of the sword.
25. And all who fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thousand, all the men of Ai.
26. For Joshua did not draw his hand back, with which he stretched out the spear, until he had utterly destroyed all the people of Ai.
27. Only, Israel took the spoil of the livestock and that city for a prize for themselves, according to the word of the LORD which He commanded Joshua.
28. And Joshua burned Ai and made it a heap forever, a ruin to this day.
29. And he hanged the king of Ai on a tree until evening. And as soon as the sun was down, Joshua commanded that they should take his body down from the tree and throw it down at the entrance to the gate of the city, and raise on it a great heap of stones, still standing to this day.
30. Then Joshua built an altar to the LORD God of Israel in Mount Ebal,
31. As Moses the servant of the LORD commanded the children of Israel, as it is written in the book of the law of Moses, an altar of whole stones over which no man has lifted any iron. And they offered on it burnt offerings to the LORD and sacrificed peace offerings.
32. And he wrote there upon the stones written in the book of the law of Moses, as it is commanded the children of Israel, as it is written in the book of the law of Moses, an altar of whole stones over which no man has lifted any iron. And they offered on it burnt offerings to the LORD and sacrificed peace offerings.
33. And all Israel, and their elders and officers, and their judges, stood on this side of the ark, and on that side before the priests, the Levites, who bore the ark of the covenant of the LORD, the stranger as well as the homeborn among them, half of them over against Mount Gerizim and half of them over against Mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded before that they should bless all the people of Israel.
34. And afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessings and cursings, according to all that is written in the book of the law.

35. There was not a word of all that Moses commanded which Joshua did not read before all the congregation of Israel, with the women and the little ones, and the strangers that walked among them.

CHAPTER NINE

1. And it came to pass when all the kings who were on this side of Jordan, in the hills and in the valleys, and in all the coast of the great sea over against Lebanon heard of it, the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite,

2. They all with one mind, gathered themselves to fight with Joshua and with Israel.

3. And when those who lived in Gibeon heard what Joshua had done to Jericho and to Ai,

4. They worked slyly, for they came and acted as if they were ambassadors. And they took old sacks upon their donkeys, and old and torn and bound up wineskins,

5. And old and patched sandals upon their feet, and old clothes upon them. And all the bread they had taken was dry and moldy.

6. And they went to Joshua to the camp at Gilgal, and said to him and to the men of Israel, “We have come from a far country. Now therefore, make a treaty with us.”

7. And the men of Israel said to the Hivites, “Perhaps you are living among us, so how shall we make a treaty with you?”

8. And they said to Joshua, “We are your servants.” And Joshua said to them, “Who are you and from where do you come?”

9. And they said to him, “Your servants have come from a very far country because of the name of the LORD your God, for we have heard of His fame and all that He did in Egypt.

10. And all that He did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heshbon, and to Og king of Bashan, who was at Ashtaroth.

11. And our elders and all those who live in our country spoke to us saying, ‘Take provisions with you for the journey, and go to meet them. Say to them, ‘We are your servants.’ Therefore now, make a treaty with us.’”

12. We took this bread hot for our provisions out of our houses on the day we came out to go to you. But now, see, it is dry, and it is moldy.

13. And these wineskins which we filled were new. And, see, they are torn. And these clothes and shoes of ours have become old because of the very long journey.’

14. And they received the men because of their provisions, and did not ask at the mouth of the LORD.

15. And Joshua made peace with them, and made a treaty with them, to let them live. And the rulers of the congregation swore to them.

16. And it came to pass at the end of three days after they had made a treaty with them, they heard that they were their neighbors and that they lived among them.

17. And the children of Israel journeyed and came to their cities on the third day. Now their cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, and Kirjath Jearim.

18. And the children of Israel did not strike them because the rulers of the congregation had sworn to them by the LORD God of Israel. And all the congregation murmured against the rulers.

19. But all the rulers said to the congregation, “We have sworn to them by the LORD God of Israel. Now, therefore, we may not touch them.

20. This we will do to them. We will even let them live, lest wrath be upon us because of the oath which we swore to them.”

21. And the rulers said to them, “Let them live, but let them be woodcutters and drawers of water to all the congregation as the rulers had promised them.”

22. And Joshua called for them, and he spoke to them, saying, “Why have you deceived us saying, ‘We are very far from you,’ when you dwell among us?

23. And now you are cursed, and there shall none of you be freed from being slaves and woodcutters and drawers of water for the house of my God.”

24. And they answered Joshua and said,
“Because it was certainly told your servants how the LORD your God commanded His servant Moses to give you all the land, and to destroy all those who lived in the land from before you; therefore, we were very much afraid of our lives because of you, and have done this thing.
25. And now, behold, we are in your hand. As it seems good and right to you, do to us, so do it."
26. And so he did to them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Israel, so that they did not kill them.
27. And Joshua made them that day woodcutters and drawers of water for the congregation, and for the altar of the LORD, even to this day, in the place which He should choose.

CHAPTER TEN

1. And it came to pass when Adoni-Zedek king of Jerusalem had heard how Joshua had taken Ai and had utterly destroyed it (as he had done to Jericho and its king, so he had done to Ai and its king) and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel and were among them,
2. They feared greatly because Gibeon was a great city, like one of the royal cities, and because it was greater than Ai, and all of its men were mighty.
3. And Adoni-Zedek king of Jerusalem sent to Hoham king of Hebron, and to Piram king of Jarmuth, and to Japhia king of Lachish, and to Debir king of Eglon, saying,
4. “Come up to me and help me so that we may strike Gibeon, for it has made peace with Joshua and with the children of Israel.”
5. And the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon, gathered themselves. And they went up, they and all their armies, and camped before Gibeon and made war against it.
6. And the men of Gibeon sent to Joshua to the camp to Gilgal, saying, “Do not withhold your hand from your servants. Come up to us quickly, and save us, and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites who dwell in the mountains have gathered against us.”
7. So Joshua went up from Gilgal, he and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of war.
8. And the LORD said to Joshua, “Do not fear them, for I have delivered them into your hands. There shall not a man of them stand before you.”
9. And Joshua came to them suddenly, coming up from Gilgal all night.
10. And the LORD troubled them before Israel, and killed them with a great slaughter at Gibeon, and chased them along the way that goes up to Beth Horon, and struck them to Azekah and to Makkedah.
11. And it came to pass, as they fled from before Israel and were in the descent of Beth Horon, the LORD cast down great hailstones from the heavens upon them to Azekah, and they died. The many who died from hailstones were more than the children of Israel killed with the sword.
12. Then Joshua spoke to the LORD in the day when the LORD delivered up the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, “Sun! Stand still upon Gibeon! And, moon, stand still in the valley of Aijalon!”
13. And the sun stood still and the moon stood still until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies. Is this not written in the Book of Jasher? And the sun stood still in the midst of the heavens and did not hasten to go down about a whole day.
14. And there was no day like that before it or after it that the LORD listened to the voice of a man, for the LORD fought for Israel.
15. And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp to Gilgal.
16. But these five kings fled and hid themselves in a cave at Makkedah.
17. And it was told to Joshua, saying, “The five kings have been found hidden in a cave at Makkedah.”
18. And Joshua said, “Roll great stones upon the mouth of the cave and set men by it in order to keep them.
19. And do not stay. Pursue your enemies and strike the ones who are behind. Do not allow them to enter into their cities, for the LORD your God has delivered them into your hand.”
20. And it came to pass, when Joshua and the children of Israel had made an end of killing them with a very great slaughter until they were gone, the rest of the
And all the people returned in peace to the camp to Joshua at Makkedah. None moved his tongue against any of the children of Israel.

22. And Joshua said, “Open the mouth of the cave, and bring those five kings out of the cave to me.”

23. And they did so, and brought those five kings out of the cave to him: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon.

24. And it came to pass, when they brought out those kings to Joshua, Joshua called for all the men of Israel. And he said to the commanders of the men of war who had gone with him, “Draw near, set your feet upon the necks of these kings.” And they drew near and put their feet upon their necks.

25. And Joshua said to them, “Do not fear nor be dismayed. Be strong and of good courage, for so shall the LORD do to all your enemies against whom you fight.”

26. And afterward Joshua struck them and killed them, and hanged them on five trees. And they were hanging upon the trees until the evening.

27. And it came to pass at the time of the going down of the sun, Joshua commanded, and they took them down off the trees and threw them into the cave in which they had been hidden, and laid great stones in the cave’s mouth which remain until this very day.

28. And that day Joshua took Makkedah and struck it with the edge of the sword, and its king, and every living person in it. He let none remain. And he did to the king of Makkedah as he did to the king of Jericho.

29. And Joshua passed from Makkedah, and all Israel with him, to Libnah and fought against it.

30. And the LORD delivered it also, and its king, and all its cities, and every soul in it. He left none remaining, according to all that he had done to Libnah.

31. And Joshua passed from Libnah, and all Israel with him, to Lachish, and they fought against it.

32. And the LORD delivered Lachish into the hand of Israel, who took it on the second day and struck it with the edge of the sword, and every soul in it, according to all that he had done to Libnah.

33. Then Horam, king of Gezer, came up to help Lachish. And Joshua struck him and his people until he had left him none remaining.

34. And from Lachish Joshua passed to Eglon, and all Israel with him. And they camped against it and fought against it.

35. And they took it in that day and struck it with the edge of the sword, and every soul in it he completely destroyed that day, according to all that he had done to Lachish.

36. And Joshua went on from Eglon, and all Israel with him, to Hebron. And they fought against it.

37. And they took it and struck it with the edge of the sword, and its king, and all its cities, and every soul in it he completely destroyed that day, according to all that he had done to Eglon.

38. And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to Debir, and they fought against it.

39. And he took it, and its king, and all its cities. And they struck them with the edge of the sword, and destroyed every soul in it, according to all that he had done to Hebron.

40. And Joshua struck all the land, the hills, and the south, and the valley, and the springs, and all their kings. He left none remaining, but destroyed all that breathed as the LORD God of Israel commanded.

41. And Joshua took all these kings and their land at one time because the LORD God of Israel fought for Israel.

42. And Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And it came to pass when Jabin, king of Hazor, had heard those things, he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achshaph, and to the king of Hazor, who were on the north of the mountains, and on the plains south of Chimeroth, and in the valley, and in the borders of Dor on the west,

2. Then the five kings of the Canaanites, the king of the Hittites, the king of the Perizzites, the king of the Jebusites, and the king of the Girgashites, went to battle in the Valley of Calderon.
3. And to the Canaanite on the east and on the west, and the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Jebusite in the mountains, and to the Hivite under Hermon, in the land of Mizpeh.
4. And they went out, they and all their armies with them, many people, even as the sand upon the seashore in multitude, with very many horses and chariots.
5. And when all these kings had met together, they came and pitched together at the waters of Merom to fight against Israel.
6. And the LORD said to Joshua, “Do not be afraid because of them, for tomorrow about this time I will deliver them up, all killed before Israel. You shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots with fire.”
7. And Joshua came suddenly, and all the people of war with him, against them by the waters of Merom. And they fell upon them.
8. And the LORD delivered them into the hand of Israel who struck them and chased them to great Sidon, and to the salt pits, and to the valley of Mizpeh eastward. And they struck them until they left them none remaining.
9. And Joshua did to them as the LORD commanded. He hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots with fire.
10. And Joshua at that time turned back and took Hazor, and struck its king with the sword, for Hazor formerly was the head of all those kingdoms.
11. And they struck every soul in it with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying them. And he left none breathing. And he burned Hazor with fire.
12. And Joshua took all the cities of those kings, and all the kings of them. And he struck them with the edge of the sword. He utterly destroyed them as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded.
13. But as for the cities that stood on their mounds, Israel burned none of them, except Hazor only. Joshua did burn that one.
14. And all the spoil of these cities and the livestock the children of Israel took for a prize to themselves. But they struck every man with the edge of the sword until they had destroyed them. They left none breathing.
15. As the LORD commanded Moses His servant, so did Moses command Joshua, and so Joshua did. He left nothing undone of all that the LORD commanded Moses.
16. So Joshua took all that land, the hills, and all the south country, and all the land of Goshen, and the valley, and the plain, and the mountains of Israel, and its lowlands,
17. From Mount Halak that goes up to Seir, even to Baal Gad in the valley of Lebanon under Mount Hermon. And he took all their kings and struck them down and killed them.
18. Joshua made war a long time with all those kings.
19. There was not a city that made peace with the children of Israel, except the Hivites, the inhabitants of Gibeon. All others they took in battle.
20. For it was of the LORD to harden their hearts so that they should come against Israel in battle, so that they might be destroyed, so that they might have no favor, but that He might destroy them as the LORD commanded Moses.
21. At that time Joshua came and cut off the Anakim from the mountains, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the mountains of Judah, and from all the mountains of Israel. Joshua utterly destroyed them with their cities.
22. There were none of the Anakim left in the land of the children of Israel; only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod there remained some.
23. And Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the LORD commanded Moses. And Joshua gave it for an inheritance to Israel according to their divisions by their tribes. And the land rested from war.

CHAPTER TWELVE
1. And these are the kings of the land whom the children of Israel struck and whose land they possessed on the other side of Jordan toward the rising of the sun, from the river Arnon to Mount Hermon, and all the plain on the east:
2. Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon and ruled from Aroer, which is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and from the middle of the river, and from half Gilead, even to the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;

3. And from the plain to the sea of Chinneroth on the east, and to the sea of the plain, the Salt Sea on the east, the way to Beth Jeshimoth, and from the south, under The Slopes of Pisgah.

4. And they struck the coast of Og king of Bashan, of the rest of the giants, who lived at Ashtaroth and at Edrei,

5. And reigned in Mount Hermon and in Salcah, and in all Bashan, to the border of the Geshurites and the Maachathites, and half Gilead, the border of Sihon king of Heshbon.

6. Moses the servant of the LORD and the children of Israel struck them. And Moses the servant of the LORD gave it for a possession to the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh.

7. And these are the kings of the land which Joshua and the children of Israel struck on this side of Jordan, on the west from Baal Gad in the valley of Lebanon even to the Mount Halak that goes up to Seir, which Joshua gave to the tribes of Israel for a possession according to their divisions;

8. In the mountains, and in the valleys, and in the plains, and in the springs, and in the wilderness, and in the south country—the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites:

9. The king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beside Bethel, one;

10. The king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Hebron, one;

11. The king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Lachish, one;

12. The king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachish, one;

13. The king of Hec란, one; the king of Gezer, one;

14. The king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one;

15. The king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one;

16. The king of Makkedah, one; the king of Bethel, one;

17. The king of Tappuah, one; the king of Heper, one;

18. The king of Aphek, one; the king of Lasharon, one;

19. The king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one;

20. The king of Shimron Meron, one; the king of Achshaph, one;

21. The king of Taanach, one; the king of Megiddo, one;

22. The king of Kedesh, one; the king of Jokneam of Carmel, one;

23. The king of Dor in the coast of Dor, one; the king of the nations of Gilgal, one;

24. The king of Tirzah, one. All the kings were thirty-one.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. Now Joshua was old, advanced in years. And the LORD said to him, “You are old and advanced in years, and there remains yet very much land to be possessed.

2. This is the land that still remains: all the borders of the Philistines, and all Ge-shur

3. From Sihor, which is before Egypt, even to the borders of Ekron northward, which is counted to the Canaanite, five lords of the Philistines: of Gaza, of Ashdod, of Ashkelon, of Gath, and of Ekron; also the Avim

4. From the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah which belongs to the Sidonians, to Aphek, to the borders of the Amorites.

5. And the land of the Gebalites, and all Lebanon, toward the sunrise, from Baal Gad under Mount Hermon to the border of Hamath,

6. All the inhabitants from the hills, from Lebanon to the Burning Waters, and all the Sidonians. I will expel them before the children of Israel. Only you divide it by lot to the Israelites for an inheritance as I have commanded you.

7. And, therefore, divide this land for an inheritance to the nine tribes and the half tribe of Manasseh,”

8. With whom the Reubenites and the Gadites have received their inheritance which Moses gave them beyond Jordan eastward, as Moses the servant of the LORD gave them,

9. From Aroer upon the bank of the river Arnon, and the city in the midst of the river, and all the plain of Medeba, to Dibon;

10. And all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, to the border of the children of Ammon.
11. And Gilead, and the border of the Geshurites and Maachathites, and all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan to Salmon,
12. All the kingdom of Og in Bashan (who reigned in Ashtaroth and in Edrei; he remained of the remnant of the giants), even Moses struck them and expelled them.
13. But the children of Israel did not put out the Geshurites and the Maachathites, but the Geshurites and the Maachathites dwell among the Israelites until this day.
14. Only, he gave no inheritance to the tribe of Levi. The sacrifices of the LORD God of Israel made by fire are their inheritance, as He said to them.
15. And Moses gave to the tribe of the children of Reuben inheritance according to their families.
16. And their coast was from Aroer on the bank of the river Arnon, and the city in the midst of the river, and all the plain by Medeba.
17. He gave them Heshbon and all its cities in the plain, Dibon, and Bamoth Baal, and Beth Baal Meon,
18. And Jahazah, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath,
19. And Kirjathaim, and Sibmah, and Zareth Shahar in the mountain of the valley,
20. And Beth Peor, and Ashdoth Pisgah, and Beth Jeshimoth,
21. And all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon (whom Moses struck with the rulers of Midian, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, rulers of Sihon, the inhabitants of the land).
22. The children of Israel also killed Balaam the son of Beor, the diviner, with the sword, among their slain.
23. And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan and its bank. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben according to their families, the cities and its villages.
24. And Moses gave inheritance to the tribe of Gad, to the children of Gad according to their families.
25. And their coast was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon, to Aroer before Rabbah,
26. And from Heshbon to Ramoth Mizpeh, and Betonim, and from Mahanaim to the border of Debir.
27. And in the valley he gave them Beth Haram, and Beth Nimrah, and Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon, Jordan and its bank, even to the edge of the Sea of Chinnereth on the east side of Jordan eastward.
28. This is the inheritance of the children of Gad according to their families, the cities, and their villages.
29. And Moses gave inheritance to the half tribe of Manasseh, and this was of the half tribe of the children of Manasseh by their families.
30. And their border was from Mahanaim, all Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the towns of Jair, which are in Bashan, sixty cities.
31. And half Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, were given to the children of Machir the son of Manasseh, even to their half of the children of Machir by their families.
32. These are they whom Moses caused to inherit in the plains of Moab, on the other side of Jordan by Jericho eastward.
33. But to the tribe of Levi Moses gave no inheritance. The LORD God of Israel was their inheritance, as He said to them.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. And these are they of the children of Israel who inhabited in the land of Canaan, whom Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, gave out for inheritance to them.
2. Their inheritance was by lot, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses, for the nine tribes and for the half tribe,
3. For Moses had given the inheritance of two tribes and a half tribe on the other side of Jordan. But to the Levites he gave no inheritance among them,
4. For the children of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. And they gave no part to the Levites in the land, except cities to live in with their suburbs for their cattle and for their substance.
5. As the LORD commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did, and they divided the land.
6. Then the children of Judah came to...
Joshua in Gilgal. And Caleb, the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, said to him, “You know the thing that the LORD said to Moses the man of God in Kadesh Barnea regarding you and me. 7. I was forty years old when Moses the servant of the LORD sent me from Kadesh Barnea to spy out the land. And I brought him word again as it was in my heart. 8. Nevertheless, my brethren that went up with me made the heart of the people melt, yet I fully followed the LORD my God.

9. And Moses swore on that day, saying, ‘Surely the land on which your feet have trodden shall be your inheritance, and your children’s forever because you have wholly followed the LORD my God.’

10. And now, behold, the LORD has kept me alive these forty-five years as He said, even since the LORD spoke this word to Moses, while Israel wandered in the wilderness. And now, lo, I am eighty-five years old today.

11. As yet I am as strong today as I was in the day that Moses sent me. As my strength was then, even so is my strength now, for war, both to go out and to come in.

12. And now give me this mountain of which the LORD spoke on that day, for you heard in that day how the Anakim were there, and that the cities were great and fortified. If the LORD will be with me, then I will be able to drive them out, as the LORD said.’

13. And Joshua blessed him, and gave Hebron to Caleb the son of Jephunneh for an inheritance.

14. And Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb, the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, to this day because he fully followed the LORD God of Israel.

15. And the name of Hebron before was Kirjath Arba; that one was a great man among the Anakim. And the land had rest from war.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. This then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah by their families: to the border of Edom, the wilderness of Zin southward, in the extreme south.

2. And their south border was from the end of the Salt Sea, from the bay that looks southward.

3. And it went out southward to the as-

4. And passed on to Azmon, and went out by the river of Egypt. And the boundary line was at the Sea. This shall be your south border.

5. And the east border, the Salt Sea to the end of Jordan, and their border in the north quarter was from the bay of the sea at the uttermost part of Jordan.

6. And the border went up to Beth Hoglah and passed along by the north of Beth Arabah. And the border went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben;

7. And the border went up toward Debir from the valley of Achor, and so northward, looking toward Gilgal, before the going up to Adummim, which is on the south side of the river. And the border passed toward the waters of En Shemesh, and its boundary was at En Rogel.

8. And the border went up by the valley of the son of Himnom to the south side of the Jebusite. It is Jerusalem. And the border went up to the top of the mountain that lies before the valley of Hinnom westward, at the end of the Valley of the Giants northward.

9. And the border was drawn from the top of the hill to the fountain of the water of Nephtoah and went out to the cities of Mount Ephron. And the border was drawn to Baalah. It is Kirjath Jearim.

10. And the border went around from Baalah westward to Mount Seir and passed along to the side of Mount Jearim. It is Chesalon, on the north side, and went down to Beth Shemesh, and passed on to Timnah.

11. And the border went to the side of Ekron northward, and the border was drawn to Shicron and passed along to Mount Baalah, and went out to Jabneel. And the boundary line was at the Sea.

12. And the west border was to the Great Sea and the coast. This is the border of the children of Judah all around according to their families.

13. And he gave a part among the children of Judah to Caleb the son of Jephunneh, according to the command of the LORD to Joshua, even the city of Kirjath Arba the father of Anak; it is Hebron.

14. And Caleb drove out from there the three sons of Anak, Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, the sons of Anak.

15. And he went up from there to those who lived in Debir. And the name of Debir before was Kirjath Sepher.

16. And Caleb said, “He who smites Kirjath Sepher, and takes it, I will give my daughter Achsah to him for a wife.”

17. And Othniel the son of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb, took it. And he gave him Achsah his daughter for a wife.

18. And it came to pass as she came, she moved him to ask a field from her father. And she dismounted from the donkey. And Caleb said to her, “What do you desire?”

19. She answered, “Give me a blessing, for you have given me a south land. Give me also springs of water.” And he gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

20. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah according to their families.

21. And the furthest cities of the tribe of the children of Judah toward the coast of Edom southward were Kabzeel, and Eder, and Jagur,

22. And Kinah, and Dimonah, and Adadah,

23. And Kedesh, and Hazor, and Ithnan,

24. Ziph, and Telem, and Bealoth,

25. And Hazor, Hadattah, and Kerioth Hezron, which is Hazor,

30. And Eltolad, and Chesil, and Hormah,

31. And Ziklag, and Madmannah, and Sansannah,

32. And Lebaoth, and Shilhim, and Ain, and Rimmon. All the cities are twenty-nine, with their villages.

33. In the low country were Eshtaol, and Zorah, and Ashnah,

34. And Zanoah, and En Gannim, Tappuah, and Enam,

35. Jarmuth, and Adullam, Soco, and Azekah,

36. And Sharaim, and Adithaim, and Gederah, and Gederothaim; fourteen cities with their villages—

37. Zenan, and Hadassah, and Migdal Gad,

38. And Dilean, and Mizpeh, and Joktheel,

39. Lachish, and Bozkath, and Eglon,

40. And Cabbon, and Lahmam, and Kithlish,

42. Libnah, and Ether, and Ashan,

43. And Jiphtah, and Ashnah, and Nezib,

44. And Keilah, and Achzib, and Maresah; nine cities and their villages;

47. Ashdod with its towns and its villages; Gaza with its towns and its villages, to the river of Egypt, and the Great Sea, and its coast.

48. And in the mountains, Shamir, and Jattir, and Socoh,

49. And Dannah, and Kirjath Sannah (which is Debir);

50. And Anab, and Eshtemoh, and Anim,

51. And Goshen, and Holon, and Giloh—eleven cities and their villages;

52. Arab, and Dumah, and Eshean,

59. And Maarath, and Beth Anoth, and Eltekah—six cities and their villages;

60. Kirjath Baal, which is Kirjath Jearim, and Rabbah—two cities and their villages;

61. In the wilderness, Beth Arabah, Middin, and Secacah,

62. And Nibshan, and the city of Salt, and En Gedi—six cities and their villages.

63. As for the Jebusites, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the children of Judah could not drive them out. But the Jebusites live with the children of Judah at Jerusalem to this day.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. And the lot of the children of Joseph fell from Jordan by Jericho to the water of Jericho on the east, to the wilderness that goes up from Jericho through Mount Bethel,
2. And goes out from Bethel to Luz and passes along to the borders of the Archites, to Ataroth;
3. And it goes down westward to the border of the Japhletites, to the border of Beth Horon the lower and to Gezer. And its boundary was at the sea.
4. And the children of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, took their inheritance.
5. And the border of the children of Ephraim by their families: the border of their inheritance on the east side was Ataroth Addar, to upper Beth Horon.
6. And the border went out toward the sea to Michmethah on the north side. And the border went about eastward to Taanath Shiloh and passed by it on the east to Janohah.
7. And it went down from Janohah to Ataroth, and to Naarath, and came again to Jericho and went out at Jordan.
8. The border went out from Tappuah westward to the River Kanah. And the boundary was at the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.
9. And the separate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasseh, all the cities with their villages.
10. And they did not drive out the Canaanites who lived in Gezer. But the Canaanites live among the Ephraimites until this day and serve under tribute.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. There was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh (for he was the firstborn of Joseph), for Machir, the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, because he was a man of war; therefore, he had Gilead and Bashan.
2. There was also a lot for the rest of the children of Manasseh by their families: for the children of Abiezer, and for the children of Helek, and for the children of Asriel, and for the children of Shechem, and for the children of Hepher, and for the children of Shemida; these were the children of Manasseh the son of Joseph, by their families.
3. But Zelophehad the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, but daughters. And these were the names of his daughters: Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

4. And they came near before Eleazar the priest and before Joshua the son of Nun, and before the rulers, saying, “The LORD commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our brothers.” And according to the command of the LORD, he gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.
5. And there fell ten portions to Manasseh, besides the land of Gilead and Bashan, which were on the other side of Jordan.
6. Because the daughters of Manasseh had an inheritance among his sons. And the rest of Manasseh’s sons had the land of Gilead.
7. And the border of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethah before Shechem. And the border went up to the right hand to the inhabitants of En Tappuah.
8. Manasseh had the land of Tappuah, but Tappuah on the border of Manasseh belonged to the children of Ephraim.
9. And the border went down to the River Kanah, southward of the river. These cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manasseh. And the border of Manasseh was on the north of the river, and the boundary was at the sea.
10. Southward it was Ephraim’s, and northward it was Manasseh’s. And the sea is its border. And they met together in Asher on the north and in Issachar on the east.
11. And Manasseh had in Issachar and in Asher Beth Shean and its towns, and Ibleam and its towns, and those who lived in Megiddo and its towns, and those who lived in En Dor and its towns, and those who lived in Taanach and its towns, and those who lived in Megiddo and its towns, even three regions.
12. Yet the children of Manasseh were not able to occupy these cities, but the Canaanites wanted to live in that land.
13. And it came to pass when the children of Israel had become strong, they put the Canaanites to tribute. But they did not completely drive them out.
14. The children of Joseph spoke to Joshua saying, “Why have you given me but one lot and one portion to inherit, since I am a great people because the LORD has blessed me until now?”

15. And Joshua answered them, “If you are a great people, and if mount Ephraim is too narrow for you, get up to the forest and cut down more for yourself there in the land of the Perizzites and of the giants.”
16. And the children of Joseph said, “The hill is not enough for us. And all the Canaanites who live in the land of the valley have chariots of iron, those who are of Beth Shean and its towns, and those who are of the valley of Jezreel.”
17. And Joshua spoke to the house of Joseph, even to Ephraim and to Manasseh, saying, “You are a great people and have great power. You shall not have one lot.
18. But the mountain shall be yours, for it is a forest, and you shall cut it down. And the outer limits of it shall be yours, for you shall drive out the Canaanites, even though they have iron chariots and though they are strong.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. And all the congregation of the children of Israel gathered at Shiloh and set up the tabernacle of the congregation there. And the land was subdued before them.
2. And there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes which had not yet received their inheritance.
3. And Joshua said to the children of Israel, “How long will you fail to go in to possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers has given you?
4. Give from among you three men from each tribe. And I will send them, and they shall rise and go through the land and map it according to the inheritance of them. And they shall come to me.
5. And they shall divide it into seven parts. Judah shall stay within their border on the south, and the house of Joseph shall stay within their borders on the north.
6. And you shall map the land into seven parts and bring it here to me, so that I may cast lots here for you before the LORD our God.
7. But the Levites have no part among you, for the priesthood of the LORD is their inheritance. And Gad and Reuben and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave them.”
8. And the men arose and went away. And Joshua charged those who went to map the land, saying, “Go and walk through the land, and map it, and come again to me so that I may here cast lots for you before the LORD in Shiloh.”
9. And the men went and passed through the land, and mapped it by cities into seven parts in a book, and they came again to Joshua, to the host at Shiloh.
10. And Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh before the LORD. And Joshua divided the land to the children of Israel there, according to their divisions.
11. And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came up according to their families. And the border of their lot came forth between the children of Judah and the children of Joseph.
12. And their border on the north side was from Jordan. And the border went up to the side of Jericho on the north side, and went up through the mountains westward. And their boundary was at the wilderness of Beth Aven.
13. And the border went over from there toward Luz to the side of Luz, which is Bethel, southward. And the border went down to Ataroth Adar, near the hill that lies on the south side of the lower Beth Horon.
14. And the border was drawn from there, and went around the corner of the sea southward, from the hill that is in front of Beth Horon southward. And its boundary was at Kirjath Baal; it is Kirjath Jearim, a city of the children of Judah. This was the west quarter.
15. And the south quarter was from the end of Kirjath Jearim; and the border went out westward, and went out to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah;
16. And the border went down to the end of the mountain that is before the valley of the sons of Hinnom, which is the Valley of the Giants northward, and went down the valley of Hinnom to the side of the Jebusite on the south, and went down to En Rogel.
17. And it was drawn from the north and went out to En Shemesh, and went out toward Geliloth, which is across from the ascent of Adummim, and went down to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben,
18. And passed along toward the side over against Arabah northward, and went down to the Arabah.
19. And the border passed along to the side of Beth Hoglah northward. And the boundary was at the north tongue of the Salt Sea, at the south end of Jordan. This was the south border.
20. And Jordan was the border of it on the east side. This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to its borders all around, according to their families.
21. And the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin according to their families were Jericho, and Beth Hoglah, and the valley of Keziz,
22. And Beth Arabah, and Zemaraim, and Bethel,
23. And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,
24. And Chephar Haammoni, and Ophni, and Gaba—twelve cities and their villages;
25. Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth,
26. And Mizpeh, and Chephirah, and Mozah,
27. And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah,
28. And Zelah, Eleph, and Jebusi, which is Jerusalem, Gibeath, Kirjath—fourteen cities and their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin according to their families.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. And the second lot came forth to Simeon, for the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families. And their inheritance was inside the inheritance of the children of Judah.
2. And they had in their inheritance Beersheba, or Sheba, and Moladah,
3. And Hazar Shual, and Balah, and Azem,
4. And Eltolad, and Bethul, and Hormah,
5. And Ziklag, and Beth Marcaboth, and Hazar Susah,
6. And Beth Lebaoth, and Sharuhen—thirteen cities and their villages;
7. Ain, Remmon, and Ether, and Ashan—four cities and their villages,
8. And all the villages that were around these cities to Baalah Beer, Ramah of the south. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families.
9. The inheritance of the children of Simeon was out of the portion of the children of Judah, for the part of the children of Judah was too much for them; therefore, the children of Simeon had their inheritance within their inheritance.
10. And the third lot came up for the children of Zebulun according to their families. And the border of their inheritance was to Sarid.
11. And their border went up toward the sea and Maralah, and reached to Dabbasheth, and reached to the river that is before Jokneam,
12. And turned from Sarid eastward toward the sunrise to the border of The Flames of Tabor, and then goes out to Daberath, and goes up to Japhia,
13. And from there it passes on along on the east to Gath Hepher, to Eth Kázin, and goes out to Rimmon Methoar, to Neah.
14. And the border compasses it on the north side to Hannathon. And its edges were in the valley of Jiphtah El,
15. And Kattath, and Nahallal, and Shimon, and Idalah, and Bethlehem—twelve cities with their villages.
16. This is the inheritance of the children of Zebulun according to their families, these cities with their villages.
17. The fourth lot came out to Issachar, for the children of Issachar according to their families.
18. And their border was toward Jezreel, and Chesulloth, and Shunem,
19. And Hapharaim, and Shion, and Anaharth,
20. And Rabbith, and Kishion, and Abez,
21. And Remeth, and En Gannim, and En Haddah, and Beth Pazzez.
22. And the border reaches to Tabor, and Shahazimah, and Beth Shemesh. And the edges of their border were at Jordan—sixteen cities with their villages.
23. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar according to their families, the cities and their villages.
24. And the fifth lot came out for the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families.
25. And their border was Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achshaph,
26. And Alammelech, and Amad, and Mishah; and reaches to Carmel westward, and to Shihor Libnah;
27. And turns toward the sunrising to Beth Dagon, and reaches to Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphthah El toward the north of Beth Emek, and Neiel, and goes out to Cabul on the left hand.

28. And Hebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, to great Sidon; and the border turns to Ramah, and to the strong city Tyre. And the border turns to Hosah, and the boundaries of it are at the sea from the line to Achzib, 29. And Ummah, and Aphek, and Rehob—twenty-two cities and their villages.

30. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families, these cities with their villages.

31. The sixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali, for the children of Naphtali according to their families.

32. And their border was from Heleph, from Allon to Zaanannim, and Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel, to Lakum. And its boundaries were at Jordan.

33. And the border turns west toward Aznoth Tabor, and goes out from there to Hukkok, and reaches to Zebulun on the south side, and reaches to Asher on the west side, and to Judah upon Jordan toward the sunrise.

34. And the fortified cities are Ziddim, Zer, and Hammath, Rakkath, and Chinnereth,

35. And Adamah, and Ramah, and Hazor,

36. And Kedesh, and Edrei, and En Hazor,

37. And Iron, and Migdal El, Horem, and Beth Anath, and Beth Shemeshe—nineteen cities and their villages.

38. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali according to their families.

39. The seventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families.

40. And the border of their inheritance was Zorah, and Eshtaol, and Ir Shemeshe,

41. And Shaalabbin, and Ajalon, and Jethlah,

42. And Elon, and Timnah, and Ekron,

43. And Eltekeh, and Gibbethon, and Baalath,

44. And Jehud, and Bene Berak, and Gath Rimmon,

45. And Me Jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border before Japho.

46. And the border of the children of Dan came out too little for them. And the children of Dan went up to fight against Leshem, and took it, and struck it with the edge of the sword, and possessed it, and lived in it. And they called Leshem Dan after the name of their father Dan.

47. This is the inheritance of the tribe of Dan, by their families, these cities and their villages.

48. When they had made an end of dividing the land for inheritance by their borders, the children of Israel gave an inheritance to Joshua the son of Nun among them.

49. According to the command of the LORD they gave him the city which he asked, Timnath Serah on Mount Ephraim. And he built the city and lived in it.

50. These are the inheritances which Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel divided for an inheritance by lot in Shiloh before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. And they finished dividing the land.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. And the LORD spoke to Joshua, saying,

2. “Speak to the children of Israel, saying, ‘Appoint cities of refuge for you, as I have spoken to you by the hand of Moses;

3. That the manslayer who in innocence strikes anyone mortally, without knowing, may flee there. And they shall be your refuge from the avenger of blood.

4. And he shall flee to one of those cities, and shall stand at the entrance of the gate of the city, and shall declare his cause in the ears of the elders of that city. And they shall take him into the city to themselves and make him a place, and he shall live with them.

5. And if the avenger of blood pursues him, then they shall not deliver the manslayer into his hand, for he has struck his neighbor without knowing, and did not hate him in past time.

6. And he shall live in that city until he stands before the congregation for judgment, until the death of the high priest who is in those days. Then the manslayer shall return and come to his city, and to his house, to the city from where he fled.’"
7. And they set apart Kadesh in Galilee, in the hills of Naphtali; and Shechem in the hills of Ephraim; and Kirjath Arba, which is Hebron, in the hills of Judah.
8. And beyond the Jordan, at Jericho eastward, they gave Bezer in the wilderness, upon the tableland out of the tribe of Reuben; and Ramoth in Gilead out of the tribe of Gad; and Golan in Bashan out of the tribe of Manasseh.
9. These were the appointed cities for all the children of Israel, and for the stranger who was living in their midst, that he might flee there and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he stood before the congregation.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. And the heads of the fathers of the Levites came near to Eleazar the priest, and to Joshua the son of Nun, and to the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel.
2. And they spoke to them in Shiloh, in the land of Canaan, saying, “The LORD commanded by the hand of Moses to give cities to us to live in, and their open lands for our cattle.”
3. And the children of Israel gave to the Levites out of their inheritance these cities and their open lands, at the command of the LORD:
4. And the lot came out for the families of the Kohathites. And the children of Aaron the priest, of the Levites, had by lot out of the tribe of Judah, and out of the tribe of Simeon, and out of the tribe of Benjamin, thirteen cities.
5. And the rest of the children of Kohath had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim, and out of the tribe of Dan, and of the half tribe of Manasseh, ten cities.
6. And the children of Gershon had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the half tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.
7. The children of Merari by their families had out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.
8. And the children of Israel gave by lot to the Levites these cities with their open lands as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.
9. And they gave out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, these cities which are called by name, which the children of Aaron had, being of the families of the Kohathites, who were of the children of Levi, for theirs was the first lot.
10. And to the children of Aaron the priest, they gave Hebron and its open lands as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Libnah and its open lands, Anathoth and its open lands, and Almon and its open lands—nine cities from these two tribes.
11. And they gave them the city of Kirjath Arba and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh for his own.
12. But the fields of the city of Kirjath Arba and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh for his own.
13. And the children of Aaron the priest, they gave Hebron and its open lands as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Libnah and its open lands, Anathoth and its open lands, and Juttah and its open lands, and Beth Shemesh and its open lands—nine cities from these two tribes.
14. And to the children of Aaron the priest, they gave Hebron and its open lands as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Libnah and its open lands, Anathoth and its open lands, and Almon and its open lands—four cities and their open lands.
15. And Holon and its open lands, and Debir and its open lands, Ain and its open lands, and Juttah and its open lands, and Beth Shemesh and its open lands—nine cities from these two tribes.
16. And Holon and its open lands, and Juttah and its open lands, and Beth Shemesh and its open lands—nine cities from these two tribes.
17. And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon and its open lands, Geba and its open lands, Anathoth and its open lands, and Almon and its open lands—four cities and their open lands.
18. And all the cities of the children of Aaron the priest were thirteen cities.
19. And the families of the children of Kohath, the Levites who were of the children of Kohath, even they had the cities of their lot out of the tribe Ephraim.
20. And the families of the children of Kohath, the Levites who were of the children of Kohath, even they had the cities of their lot out of the tribe Ephraim.
21. And they gave them Shechem and its open lands on Mount Ephraim as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Gezer and its open lands.
22. And Kibzaim and its open lands, and Beth Horon and its open lands—four cities.
24. And out of the half tribe of Manasseh, Tanach and its open lands, and Gath Rimmon and its open lands—two cities.
26. All the cities were ten, and their open lands, for the families of the children of Kohath that were left.
27. And to the children of Gershon, of the families of the Levites, from the half tribe of Manasseh: Golan in Bashan and its open lands as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Be Eshterah and its open lands—two cities.
28. And from the tribe of Issachar, Kishon and its open lands, and Daberath and its open lands,
30. And out of the tribe of Asher, Mishal and its open lands, and Abdon and its open lands,
32. And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee and its open lands as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Hammoth Dor and its open lands, and Kartah and its open lands—three cities.
33. All the cities of the Gershonites according to their families were thirteen cities and their open lands.
34. And to the families of the children of Merari, the rest of the Levites, out of the tribe of Zebulun: Jokneam and its open lands, and Kartah and its open lands,
35. Dimnah and its open lands, Nahalal and its open lands—four cities.
36 And out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer and its open lands, and Jahaz and its open lands,
38. And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead and its open lands as a city of refuge for the manslayer, and Mahanaim and its open lands,
39. Heshbon and its open lands, Jazer and its open lands—four cities in all.
40. All the cities for the children of Merari by their families which were left of the families of the Levites, were by their lot twelve cities.
41. All the cities of the Levites within the possession of the children of Israel were forty-eight cities and their open lands.
42. These cities were each one with their open lands around them. So it was to all these cities.
43. And the LORD gave to Israel all the land which He swore to give to their fathers. And they possessed it and lived in it.
44. And the LORD gave them rest round about, according to all that He swore to their fathers. And not a man of all their enemies stood before them. The LORD delivered all their enemies into their hand.
45. Not a word failed from any good thing which the LORD had spoken to the house of Israel. All came to pass.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. Then Joshua called for the Reubenites and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh,
2. And said to them, “You have done all that which Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you. And you have hearkened to my voice, to all that I have commanded you.
3. You have not left your brethren these many days until today and have kept the observance of the command of the LORD your God.
4. And now the LORD your God has given rest to your brethren, as He spoke to them. And now turn and go to your tents, to the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the LORD has given to you beyond the Jordan.
5. Only, diligently take heed to do the commandment and the law which Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, to love the LORD your God, and to walk in all His ways, and to keep His commandments, and to cleave to Him, and to serve Him with all your heart and with all your soul.”
6. And Joshua blessed them and sent them away. And they went to their tents.
7. And to the half tribe of Manasseh, Moses had given possession in Bashan. And to its other half Joshua had given possession with their brothers beyond the Jordan westward. And also when Joshua had sent them away to their tents, then he blessed them.
8. And he spoke to them, saying, “You are returning to your tents with your great treasures, and with very much livestock, with silver, and with gold, and with bronze, and with iron, and with very much clothing. Divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren.”

9. And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh returned. And they departed from the children of Israel out of Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go to the land of Gilead, to the land of their possession, of which they had obtained, according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

10. And when they came to the borders of Jordan in the land of Canaan, the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh built an altar of grand appearance there by Jordan.

11. And the children of Israel heard, “Behold, the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh have built an altar opposite the borders of Jordan, at the passage of the children of Israel.”

12. And when the children of Israel heard, the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered themselves at Shiloh to go to war against them.

13. And the children of Israel sent Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest to the half tribe of Manasseh, to the land of Gilead, to the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and to the chief of the house of their fathers among the tribes of Israel.

14. And with him ten rulers, a ruler from each of the chief houses throughout all the tribes of Israel. And each one was a head of the house of their fathers among the thousands of Israel.

15. And they came to the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh, to the land of Gilead, and they spoke with them saying,

16. “Thus says all the congregation of the LORD: ‘What trespass is this that you have committed against the God of Israel, to turn away today from following the LORD, in that you have built an altar for yourselves besides the altar of the LORD?’

17. Is the iniquity of Peor too little for us from which we have not been made clean until today? Yea, a plague came upon the congregation of the LORD!

18. But must you turn away today from following the LORD? It shall be that you rebel today against the LORD, and tomorrow He will be angry with all the congregation of Israel.

19. But surely if the land of your possession is unclean, pass over to the land of the possession of the LORD in which the LORD’s tabernacle dwells, and take possession among us. Do not rebel against the LORD, nor rebel against us in building an altar for yourselves besides the altar of the LORD our God.

20. Did not Achan the son of Zerah commit a sin in the cursed thing, and did not wrath fall on all the congregation of Israel? And that man did not perish alone in his iniquity.’”

21. And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh answered and said to the heads of the thousands of Israel,

22. “The LORD God of gods, the LORD God of gods shall know, and Israel shall know if it is in rebellion or in transgression against the LORD (then you shall not save us alive today),

23. That we have built us an altar to turn from following the LORD, or if we have built an altar to offer on it burnt offering or grain offering, or if to offer peace offerings on it, let the LORD Himself require it.

24. And if we have not done it for fear of this thing, saying, ‘In time to come your children might speak to our children, saying, ‘What have you to do with the LORD God of Israel?’

25. For the LORD has made Jordan a border between us and you, children of Reuben and children of Gad. You have no part in the LORD.” And your children shall make our children stop fearing the LORD.’

26. And we said, ‘Let us now prepare to build us an altar, not for burnt offering, nor for sacrifice,

27. But it shall be a witness between us and you, children of Reuben and children of Gad. You have no part in the LORD.’

28. And we said that when they should say so to us or to our generations in time to come, that we may say, ‘Behold the pattern of the altar of the LORD which our fathers made, not for burnt offerings nor for sacrifices, but it is a witness between us and you.’
29. Far be it from us that we should rebel against the LORD and turn this day from following the LORD, to build an altar for burnt offerings, for grain offerings, or for sacrifices, besides the altar of the LORD our God that is before His tabernacle!

30. And Phinehas the priest, and the rulers of the congregation and heads of the thousands of Israel with him, heard the words that the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the children of Manasseh spoke. And it was good in their eyes.

31. And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest said to the children of Reuben and to the children of Gad and to the half tribe of Manasseh, “Today we see that the LORD has done to all these nations to which the children of Gad and the children of Manasseh spoke. And it was good in their eyes.

32. And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, and the rulers, returned from the children of Reuben and from the children of Gad, out of the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan, to the children of Israel, and brought them word again.

33. And the thing pleased the children of Israel. And the children of Israel blessed God and gave them no more of going up against them in battle, to destroy the land in which the children of Reuben and Gad lived.

34. And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad proclaimed regarding the altar, that it was a witness between us that the LORD is God.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. And it came to pass many days after the LORD had given rest to Israel from all their enemies all around, Joshua became old, advanced in age.

2. And Joshua called for all Israel, for their elders and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers, and said to them, “I am old, advanced in age.

3. And you have seen all that the LORD your God has done to all these nations because of you, for the LORD your God is He Who has fought for you.

4. Behold, I have divided to you by lot these nations that are left to be an inheritance for your tribes, from Jordan, with all the nations that I have cut off, even to the Great Sea westward.

5. And the LORD your God shall put them out from before you, and drive them out of your sight. And you shall possess their land as the LORD your God has promised to you.

6. And be very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, so that you do not turn aside from it to the right or to the left.

7. So that you do not mix with these nations, these that remain among you. Neither make mention of the name of their gods, nor cause to swear by them. Neither serve them, nor bow yourselves to them.

8. But cleave to the LORD your God, as you have done to this day.

9. For the LORD has driven out from before you great and strong nations. But as for you, no one has been able to stand before you to this day.

10. One man of you shall chase a thousand, for the LORD your God is He Who fights for you, as He has promised you.

11. Therefore take good heed to yourselves to love the LORD your God.

12. Otherwise, if you go back in any way, and cleave to those left of these nations that remain among you, and shall marry them and go in to them and they to you,

13. Know for a certainty that the LORD your God will not continue to drive out these nations from before you. But they shall be snares and traps to you, and whips in your sides, and thorns in your eyes until you perish from off this good land which the LORD your God has given you.

14. And behold, today I am going the way of all the earth. And you know in all your hearts and in all your souls that not one thing has failed of all the good things which the LORD your God spoke concerning you. All have come to pass to you. Not one thing of it has failed.

15. But just as all the good things concerning you which the LORD your God has spoken to you have been fulfilled, so shall the LORD bring upon you every evil thing until He has destroyed you from off this good land which the LORD your God has given you.

16. When you have transgressed the covenant of the LORD your God, which He commanded you, and have gone and served other gods, and bowed yourselves...
And when they cried to the LORD, He heard them, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies. And the people served the LORD with all their heart.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. And Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel to Shechem and called for the elders of Israel, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers. And they presented themselves before God. 2. And Joshua said to all the people, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘Your fathers dwelt on the other side of the River★ in old times, Terah the father of Abraham, and the father of Nahor, and they served other gods.

3. And I took your father Abraham from beyond the River★, and led him throughout all the land of Canaan, and multiplied his seed and gave him Isaac. 4. And I gave to Isaac Jacob and Esau. And I gave Esau Mount Seir for his own, but Jacob and his sons went down to Egypt.

5. I sent Moses also, and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt, according to that which I did among them. And afterward I brought you out.

6. And I brought your fathers out of Egypt. And you came to the sea, and the Egyptians followed after your fathers, and you came to the sea, and the sea covered them. And your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt. And you lived in the wilderness a long time.

7. And when they cried to the LORD, He put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them and covered them. And your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt. And you lived in the wilderness a long time.

8. And I brought you into the land of the Amorites who lived on the other side of Jordan. And they fought with you, and I gave them into your hand so that you might possess their land. And I destroyed them from before you.

9. Then Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and warred against Israel, and sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you. 10. But I would not listen to Balaam. And he still blessed you. And I delivered you out of his hand.

11. And you went over Jordan and came to Jericho. And the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. And I delivered them into your hand.

12. And I sent the hornet before you, which drove them out from before you, the two kings of the Amorites, not with your sword, nor with your bow.

13. And I have given you a land for which you did not labor, and cities which you did not build, and you live in them. You now eat of the vineyards and oliveyards which you did not plant.

14. Now, therefore, fear the LORD, and serve Him in sincerity and truth. And put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the River, and in Egypt, and serve the LORD.

15. And if it seems evil to you to serve the LORD, choose this day whom you will serve, whether the gods which your fathers served beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you live. But as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD.”

16. And the people answered and said, “Far be it from us to forsake the LORD to serve other gods.

17. For the LORD our God is He Who brought us and our fathers up out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage. And He did those great wonders in our sight, and kept us in all our way in which we went and among all the people through whom we passed.

18. And the LORD drove out from before us all the people, even the Amorites who lived in the land. We will also serve the LORD, for He is our God.”

19. And Joshua said to the people, “You cannot serve the LORD, for He is a holy God. He is a jealous God. He will not forgive your transgressions nor your sins.

20. If you forsake the LORD and serve strange gods. Then He will turn and do you harm, and destroy you after He has done you good.”

21. And the people said to Joshua, “No, but we will serve the LORD.”

22. And Joshua said to the people, “You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the LORD, to serve Him.” And they said, “We are witnesses.”

23. “And now put away the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart to the LORD God of Israel.”

24. And the people said to Joshua, “The...”
Joshua 24

1. And it came to pass after the death of Joshua, the children of Israel asked the LORD, saying, “Who shall go up first for us against the Canaanites to fight against them?”

2. And the LORD said, “Judah shall go up. Behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.”

3. And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, “Come up with me into my assigned lot so that we may fight against the Canaanites. And I likewise will go with you into your assigned lot.” So Simeon went with him.

4. And Judah went up. And the LORD delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand. And they killed ten thousand men of them in Bezek.

5. And they found Adoni-Bezek in Bezek. Then they fought against him, and they killed the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

6. And Adoni-Bezek fled. So they ran after him and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his big toes.

7. And Adoni-Bezek said, “Seventy kings with their thumbs and big toes cut off have gathered under my table. As I have done, so God has requited me.” And they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died there.

8. And the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it, and had struck it with the edge of the sword, and had set the city on fire.

9. And afterward the children of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites who lived in the hill country, and in the south, and in the valley.

10. And Judah went against the Canaanites who lived in Hebron; (and the name of Hebron before was Kirjath Arba). And they killed Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.

11. And from there he went against those who lived in Debir. And the name of Debir before was Kirjath Sepher.

12. And Caleb said, “He who strikes...
Kirjath Sepher and takes it, I will give Achsah my daughter to him for a wife.”
13. And Othniel, the son of Caleb’s younger brother Kenaz, took it. And he gave him Achsah his daughter for a wife.
14. And it came to pass when she came, she moved him to ask for a field from her father. And she dismounted from the donkey. And Caleb said to her, “What do you desire?”
15. And she said to him, “Give me a blessing, for you have given me a south land. Give me also springs of water.” And Caleb gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.
16. And the children of the Kenite, Moses’ father-in-law, went up out of the city of palm trees with the children of Judah into the wilderness of Judah, which is in the south of Arad. And they went and lived among the people.
17. And Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they killed the Canaanites who lived in Zephath and destroyed it. And the name of the city was called Hormah.
18. Also Judah took Gaza with its territory, and Ashkelon with its territory, and Ekron with its territory.
19. And the LORD was with Judah. And he took possession of the mountain, but he could not drive out those who lived in the valley because they had chariots of iron.
20. And they gave Hebron to Caleb as Moses said. And he expelled the three sons of Anak from there.
21. And the children of Benjamin did not expel the Jebusites who lived in Jerusalem, so the Jebusites live with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem to this day.
22. And the house of Joseph also went up against Bethel, and the LORD was with them.
23. And the house of Joseph sent to spy out Bethel. And the name of the city before was Luz.
24. And the spies saw a man come forth out of the city, and they said to him, “Please show us the gate into the city, and we will show you mercy.”
25. And when he showed them the gate into the city, they struck the city with the edge of the sword. But they let the man and all his family go.
26. And the man went into the land of the Hittites and built a city, and called the name of it Luz, which is the name of it to this day.
27. And Manasseh had not taken possession of Beth Shean and its villages, nor Taanach and its villages, nor Sirach the inhabitants of Dor and its villages, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam and its villages, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and its villages, for the Canaanites were determined to live in that land.
28. And it came to pass when Israel became strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor and did not completely expel them.
29. And Ephraim did not expel the Canaanites who lived in Gezer, but the Canaanites lived in Gezer among them.
30. And Zebulun did not expel those who lived in Kitron, nor those who lived in Nahalol, so the Canaanites lived among them and became subject to forced labor.
31. And Asher did not expel those who lived in Acco, and the inhabitants of Sidon, and Ahlab, and Achzib, and Helbah, and Aphik, and Rehob.
32. Thus the Asherites lived among the Canaanites, those who lived in the land, for they did not expel them.
33. And Naphtali did not expel those who lived in Beth Shemesh, and the inhabitants of Beth Anath, and they lived among the Canaanites, those who lived in the land. But those who lived in Beth Shemesh and Beth Anath became subject to forced labor.
34. And the Amorites forced the children of Dan on to the mountain, for they would not allow them to come down to the valley.
35. But the Amorites desired to stay in Mount Heres in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim, but the hand of the house of Joseph was heavy so that they became forced laborers to them.
36. And the border of the Amorites was from the going up to Akkribim, from the rock and upward.

CHAPTER TWO

1. And the angel of the LORD came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said, “I made you go up out of Egypt, and have brought you into the land which I swore to your fathers. And I said, ‘I will never break My covenant with you.”
2. And you shall make no treaty with those who live in this land. You shall throw down their altars.’ But you have not obeyed My voice. What is this that you have done?

3. And I also said, ‘I will not drive them out from before you, but they shall be thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare to you.’

4. And it came to pass when the angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, the people lifted up their voices and wept.

5. And they called the name of that place The Place of Weeping. And they sacrificed there to the LORD.

6. And when Joshua had let the people go, the children of Israel left, each man to his inheritance, to possess the land.

7. And the people served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great works of the LORD that He did for Israel.

8. And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died, being a hundred and ten years old.

9. And they buried him on the border of his inheritance in Timnath Heres, in Mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill Gaash.

10. And also all that generation were gathered to their fathers. And there arose another generation after them who did not know the LORD, nor even the works which He had done for Israel.

11. And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim.

12. And they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, Who brought them out of the land of Egypt. And they followed other gods, even the gods of the people who were around them, and bowed themselves to them, and provoked the LORD to anger.

13. And they forsook the LORD and served Baal and Ashtaroth.

14. And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and He delivered them into the hand of spoilers who spoiled them. And He sold them into the hand of their enemies all around, so that they could not any longer stand before their enemies.

15. Wherever they went out, the hand of the LORD was against them for evil, as the LORD had said, and as the LORD had sworn to them. And they were greatly distressed.

16. Nevertheless, the LORD raised up judges who delivered them out of the hand of those who spoiled them.

17. And yet they would not listen to their judges, but they went lusting after other gods, and bowed themselves to them. They turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, for they had obeyed the commandments of the LORD; these however did not do so.

18. And when the LORD raised judges up for them, then the LORD was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge, for the LORD took pity because of their groanings by reason of their oppressors and their crushers.

19. And it came to pass when the judge was dead, they returned and made themselves more corrupt than their fathers in following other gods to serve them, and to bow down to them. They did not cease from their own doings nor from their stubborn way.

20. And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel. And He said, “Because this nation has transgressed My covenant which I commanded their fathers, and has not obeyed My voice, 21. Also from now on, I will not expel from before them any of the nations that Joshua left when he died;

22. So that by them I may prove Israel, whether they will take care to walk in the way of the LORD, to go in it as their fathers did, or not.”

23. And the LORD left those nations without driving them out quickly. And He did not deliver them into the hand of Joshua.

CHAPTER THREE

1. And these are the nations which the LORD left, to prove Israel by them, as many as had not known all the wars of Canaan,

2. Only so that the generations of the children of Israel might know, to teach them war, at the least those who before knew nothing of it:

3. Five lords of the Philistines, and all the Canaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hivites that lived in Mount Lebanon, from Mount Baal Hermon to the border of Hamath.
4. And they were to prove Israel by them, to know whether they would obey the commands of the LORD, which He commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. 5. And the children of Israel lived among the Canaanites, and Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Hivites, and Jebusites. 6. And they took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons, and served their gods. 7. And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and forgot the LORD their God, and served Baalim and the Asherim. 8. And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and He sold them into the hand of Chushan-Rishathaim, king of Mesopotamia. And the children of Israel served Chushan-Rishathaim eight years. 9. And when the children of Israel cried to the LORD, the LORD raised them up a deliverer, Ehud the son of Gera, a Benjamite, a left-handed man. And the children of Israel sent a present to Eglon the king of Moab by him, 10. And the Spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he judged Israel and went out to war. And the LORD delivered Chushan-Rishathaim, king of Mesopotamia, into his hand. And his hand prevailed against Chushan-Rishathaim. 11. And the land had rest forty years. And Othniel the son of Kenaz died. 12. And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD. And the LORD made Eglon the king of Moab strong against Israel because they had done evil in the sight of the LORD. 13. And he gathered to him the children of Ammon and Amalek. And he went forth and struck Israel, and took the city of palm trees. 14. So the children of Israel served Eglon, the king of Moab, eighteen years. 15. But when the children of Israel cried to the LORD, the LORD raised them up a deliverer, Ehud the son of Gera, a Benjamite, a left-handed man. And the children of Israel sent a present to Eglon the king of Moab by him, 16. So Ehud made himself a dagger which had two edges, a cubit long. And he tied it under his clothing upon his right thigh. 17. And he brought the present to Eglon, king of Moab. And Eglon was a very fat man. 18. And when he had finished offering the present to the king, he sent away the people who carried the present. 19. But he himself turned back at the graven images near Gilgal, and said, “I have a secret message for you, O king.” And he said, “Keep silence.” And all that stood by him went out from him. 20. And Ehud came to him. And he was sitting in the cool roof room which he had for himself alone. And Ehud said, “I have a message from God for you.” And he rose out of his seat. 21. And Ehud put forth his left hand and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly. 22. And the hilt also went in after the blade. And the fat closed upon the blade, so that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly. And the dung came out. 23. Then Ehud went forth through the porch, and shut the doors of the room upon him, and locked them. 24. And when he had gone out, his servants came. And they looked, and, behold, the doors of the room were locked, they said, “Surely he is covering his feet in his cool roof room.” 25. And they waited until they were ashamed. And, behold, he did not open the doors of the room. And they took a key and opened them. And behold, their lord had fallen down dead on the floor. 26. And Ehud escaped while they waited, and passed beyond the graven images, and escaped to Seirath. 27. And it came to pass when he arrived, he blew a ram’s horn on the mountain of Ephraim, and the children of Israel went down with him from the mountain, and he went in front of them. 28. And he said to them, “Follow after me, for the LORD has delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand.” And they went down after him and took the fords of Jordan toward Moab, and did not allow a man to pass over. 29. And they killed about ten thousand of the men of Moab at that time, all strong, and all men of might. And there did not escape a man. 30. So Moab was subdued under the hand of Israel that day. And the land had rest eighty years. 31. And after him was Shamgar the son of Anath, who killed six hundred men of the Philistines with an ox goad. And he also delivered Israel.
CHAPTER FOUR

1. And the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the LORD when Ehud was dead.
2. And the LORD sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, who ruled in Hazor. The captain of his host was Sisera who lived in Harosheth of the nations.
3. And the children of Israel cried to the LORD, for he had nine hundred chariots of iron. And he mightily oppressed the children of Israel twenty years.
4. And Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, judged Israel at that time.
5. And she lived under the palm tree of Deborah between Ramah and Bethel in Mount Ephraim. And the children of Israel came up to her for judgment.
6. And she sent and called for Barak the son of Abinoam out of Kedesh in Naphtali, and said to him, “Has not the LORD God of Israel commanded, saying, ‘Go and draw toward Mount Tabor, and take with you ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali and of the children of Zebulun?’
7. And I will draw Sisera to you, the captain of Jabin’s army, at the river Kishon, together with his chariots and his multitude. And I will deliver him into your hands.’ ”
8. And Barak said to her, “If you will go with me, then I will go. But if you will not go with me, I will not go.”
9. And she said, “I will surely go with you. But the journey that you take shall not be for your honor, for the LORD shall sell Sisera into the hand of a woman.” And Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kedesh.
10. And Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh. And he went up with ten thousand men at his feet. And Deborah went up with him.
11. And Heber the Kenite, of the children of Hobab the father-in-law of Moses, had separated himself from the Kenites and pitched his tent toward the plain of Zaanaim, near Kedesh.
12. And they told Sisera that Barak the son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor.
13. And Sisera gathered all his chariots, nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people with him, from Harosheth of the nations to the river of Kishon.
14. And Deborah said to Barak, “Up! For this is the day in which the LORD has delivered Sisera into your hand. Has not the LORD gone out before you?” So Barak went down from Mount Tabor and ten thousand men after him.
15. And the LORD struck Sisera, and all the chariots, and all the army, with the edge of the sword in front of Barak, so that Sisera got down from the chariot and fled on his feet.
16. But Barak pursued after the chariots and the army, to Harosheth of the nations. And all the army of Sisera fell by the edge of the sword. There was not a man left.
17. And Sisera fled on his feet to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite.
18. And Jael went out to meet Sisera and said to him, “Turn in my lord, turn in to me. Do not fear.” When he had turned aside to her into the tent, she covered him with a rug.
19. And he said to her, “Please give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty.” And she opened a skin of milk and gave him a drink, and covered him.
20. Again he said to her, “Stand in the door of the tent, and it shall be when any man comes asking of you, saying, ‘Is there any man here?’ You shall say, ‘No.’ ”
21. Then Jael, Heber’s wife, took a peg of the tent and put a hammer in her hand, and went softly to him, and struck the peg into his temple, and beat it into the ground, for he was fast asleep and weary. So he died.
22. And behold, as Barak followed Sisera, Jael came out to meet him and said to him, “Come and I will show you the man whom you seek.” And when he came into her tent, behold, Sisera lay dead, and the peg was in his temple.
23. And on that day God subdued Jabin the king of Canaan before the children of Israel.
24. And the hand of the children of Israel went on, and pressed hard against Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had destroyed Jabin king of Canaan.
CHAPTER FIVE

1. Then Deborah and Barak the son of Abinoam sang on that day, saying,
2. “Praise the LORD for the avenging of Israel when the people willingly offered themselves.
3. Hear, O kings. Give ear, O princes. I, even I, will sing to the LORD; I will sing to the LORD God of Israel.
4. LORD, when You went out of Seir, when You marched out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled and the heavens dropped, the clouds also dropped water.
5. The mountains quaked from before the LORD, even that Sinai from before the LORD God of Israel.
6. In the days of Shamgar the son of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were empty, and the travelers walked through crooked ways.
7. The leaders ceased in Israel, they ceased until I, Deborah, arose; until I arose, a mother in Israel.
8. They chose new gods; then war was in the gates. Was there a shield or spear seen among forty thousand in Israel?
9. My heart is toward the lawgivers of Israel who offered themselves willingly among the people. Bless the LORD.
10. Speak, you who ride on white donkeys, you who sit in judgment and walk by the way.
11. Louder than the voice of archers at the watering places, there shall they tell again the righteous acts of the LORD, the righteous acts of His leaders in Israel. Then shall the people of the LORD go down to the gates.
13. Then He made me tread on the remnant of the nobles among the people. The LORD made me have dominion over the mighty.
14. Out of Ephraim there was a root of them against Amalek, following you, Benjamin, with your peoples. Out of Machir came down commanders, and out of Zebulun came they who handle the pen of the writer.
15. And the rulers of Issachar were with Deborah, even Issachar, and also Barak. He was sent on foot into the valley. There were great searchings of heart for the divisions of Reuben.
16. Why did you stay among the sheepfolds to hear the bleating of the flocks? For in the divisions of Reuben there were great searchings of heart.
17. Gilead stayed beyond Jordan. And why did Dan remain in ships? Asher continued on the seashore and remained in his havens.
18. Zebulun and Naphtali were a people who put their lives in danger of death in the high places of the field.
19. Kings came and fought. Then the kings of Canaan fought in Taanach by the waters of Megiddo. They took no gain of silver.
20. They fought from heaven; the stars in their courses fought against Sisera.
21. The river of Kishon swept them away, that ancient river, the river Kishon. O my soul, march on in strength.
22. Then did the hooves of horses beat against the galloping, the galloping of their mighty ones.
23. ‘Curse Meroz,’ said the angel of the LORD; ‘Curse the people of it bitterly because they did not come to the help of the LORD, to the help of the LORD against the mighty.’
24. Blessed among women shall Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite be. She shall be blessed above women in the tent.
25. He asked for water, and she gave him milk. She brought forth butter in a lordly dish.
26. She put her hand to the peg and her right hand to the workman’s hammer. She hammered Sisera; she smashed his head; she pierced and struck through his temple.
27. He bowed between her feet, he fell, he lay down. Between her feet he bowed; he fell. Where he bowed, there he fell down dead.
28. The mother of Sisera looked out a window and cried through the lattice, ‘Why is his chariot so long in coming? Why do the wheels of his chariot wait?’
29. Her wise ladies answered her, Yea, she returned an answer to herself.
30. ‘Do they not find and divide the spoil? A woman, two women for every man, for Sisera a prize of dyed garments, a prize of embroidered dyed garments for the necks of those that take the spoil.’
31. So let all Your enemies perish, O LORD. But let them that love Him be like the sun going forth in its glory.” And the land had rest forty years.

CHAPTER SIX

1. And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD. And the LORD delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years.
2. And the hand of Midian was strong against Israel. Because of the Midianites, the children of Israel made themselves dens in the mountains and caves and strongholds.
3. And so it was, when Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up and the Amalekites, and the children of the east, even they came up against them.
4. And they camped against them and destroyed the increase of the earth, until you come to Gaza. And they left no food for Israel, neither sheep nor ox nor donkey.
5. For they came up with their livestock and their tents, and they came as locusts for multitude, both they and their camels were without number. And they entered into the land to destroy it.
6. And Israel was made very poor because of the Midianites. And the children of Israel cried to the LORD.
7. And it came to pass, when the children of Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east, even they came up against them.
8. The LORD sent a man, a prophet to the children of Israel, who said to them, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘I brought you up from Egypt and brought you forth out of the house of bondage.’
9. And I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all who oppressed you, and drove them out from before you and gave you their land.
10. And I said to you, ‘I am the LORD your God. Do not fear the gods of the Amorites in whose land you live.’ But you have not obeyed My voice.’”
11. And the angel of the LORD came and sat under an oak which was in Ophrah, which belonged to Joash the Abiezrite. And his son Gideon threshed wheat by the winepress to hide it from the Midianites.
12. And the angel of the LORD appeared to him, and said to him, “The LORD is with you, mighty warrior.”
13. And Gideon said to Him, “O, my lord, if the LORD is with us, why then has all this happened to us? And where are all His miracles which our fathers told us of, saying, ‘Did not the LORD bring us up from Egypt?’ But now the LORD has forsaken us and delivered us into the hands of the Midianites.”
14. And the LORD looked upon him and said, “Go in your might, and you shall save Israel from the hand of the Midianites. Have I not sent you?”
15. And he said to him, “O, my LORD, with what shall I save Israel? Behold, my family is poor in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father’s house.”
16. And the LORD said to him, “Surely, I will be with you, and you shall strike the Midianites as one man.”
17. And he said to Him, “If now I have found grace in Your sight, then show me a sign that You talk with me.
18. Do not depart from here, I pray, until I come to You, and bring forth my grain offering and set it before You.” And He said, “I will stay until you come again.”
19. And Gideon went in and made ready a kid and unleavened cakes of an ephah of flour. He put the flesh in a basket, and he put the broth in a pot, and brought it out to Him to the oak, and offered it.
20. And the angel of God said to him, “Take the flesh and the unleavened cakes and lay them upon this rock, and pour out the broth.” And he did so.
21. Then the angel of the LORD put forth the end of the staff that was in his hand and touched the flesh and the unleavened cakes. And there rose up fire out of the rock and burned up the flesh and the unleavened cakes. Then the angel of the LORD went away out of his sight.
22. And when Gideon perceived that he was the angel of the LORD, Gideon said, “Alas, O Lord God! For I have seen the angel of the LORD face to face.”
23. And the LORD said to him, “Peace to you. Do not fear. You shall not die.”
24. Then Gideon built an altar there to the LORD, and called it Jehovah Shalom. It is yet in Ophrah of the Abiezrites to this day.
25. And it came to pass on that night the LORD said to him, “Take your father’s young bull, even the second bull of seven years, and destroy the altar of Baal which your father has, and cut down the grove by it.
26. And build an altar to the LORD your God upon the top of this rock in an orderly manner, and take the second bull and offer a burnt sacrifice with the wood of the grove which you shall cut down.”

27. Then Gideon took ten men of his servants, and did as the LORD had said to him. And so it was because he feared his father’s household and the men of the city, that he could not do it by day. So he did it by night.

28. And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was destroyed, and the grove which was by it was cut down, and the second bull had been offered upon the altar that was built.

29. And they said to one another, “Who has done this thing?” And when they inquired and asked, they said, “Gideon the son of Joash has done this thing.”

30. Then the men of the city said to Joash, “Bring out your son so that he may die because he has destroyed the altar of Baal, and because he has cut down the grove by it.”

31. And Joash said to all that stood against him, “Will you plead for Baal? Will you save him? He who contends for him shall be killed by the morning. If he is a god, let him plead for himself because one has destroyed his altar.”

32. And on that day he called him Jerubbaal, saying, “Let Baal contend against him because he has destroyed his altar.”

33. Then all the Midianites and the Amalekites, and the children of the east were gathered together, and went over and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

34. But the Spirit of the LORD came to Gideon, and he blew a ram’s horn. And he called the Abiezrites after him.

35. And he sent messengers throughout all Manasseh, who also were gathered after him. And he sent messengers to Asher, and to Zebulun, and to Naphtali. And they came up to meet them.

36. And Gideon said to God, “If You will save Israel by my hand, as You have said.

37. Behold, I will put a fleece of wool on the grain-floor. And if the dew is on the fleece only, and dry upon all the ground, then I shall know that You will save Israel by my hand, as You have said.”

38. And it was so, for he rose up early in the morning, and gathered the fleece together, and wrung the dew out of the fleece, a bowl full of water.

39. And Gideon said to God, “Let not Your anger be hot against me, and I will speak but this once. I pray You, let me test but this one more time with the fleece. Let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew.”

40. And God did so that night, for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. And Jerubbaal (he is Gideon) and all the people that were with him, rose up early and pitched beside the well of Harod, so that the army of the Midianites was on the north side of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

2. And the LORD said to Gideon, “The people are still too many for Me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel boast themselves against Me, saying, ‘My own hand has saved me.’

3. Now, therefore, speak in the ears of the people, saying, ‘Whoever is fearful and afraid, let him return and go away early from Mount Gilead.’ ” And twenty-two thousand of the people returned. And there remained ten thousand.

4. And the LORD said to Gideon, “The people are still too many. Bring them down to the water, and I will test them for you there. It shall be that of whom I say to you, ‘This shall go with you,’ the same shall go with you. And of whomsoever I say to you, ‘This shall not go with you,’ the same shall not go.”

5. And he brought down the people to the water. And the LORD said to Gideon, “Everyone who laps the water with his tongue, as a dog laps, you shall set him apart; also everyone who bows down upon his knees to drink.”

6. And the number of them who lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, was three hundred men. But all the rest of the people bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

7. And the LORD said to Gideon, “I will save you by the three hundred men who lapped, and will deliver the Midianites into your hand. And let all the other people go, each man to his place.”

8. And the people took provisions in their hand, and their ram’s horns. And he sent away all the rest of Israel, each man to his tent, and kept only those three hundred men. And the army of Midian was below him in the valley.

9. And it came to pass on that night, the LORD said to him, “Arise, go down to the army, for I have delivered it into your hand.

10. But if you fear to go down alone, go down with Purah your servant to the army.

11. And you shall hear what they shall say. And afterward your hands shall be strengthened to go down against the army.” Then he went down with Purah his servant to the edge of the ranks in the army.

12. And the Midianites and the Amalekites, and all the children of the east lay along in the valley like locusts for multitude, and their camels without number, like the sand by the seaside for multitude.

13. And when Gideon had come, behold, a Midianite man told a dream to his fellow, and said, “Behold, I dreamed a dream, and lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled into the host of Midian, and came to a tent, and struck it so that it fell, and overturned it, so that the tent lay flat.”

14. And his fellow answered and said, “This is nothing else except the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel, for into his hand God has delivered Midian and all the army.”

15. And it came to pass, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream and the meaning of it, he worshiped. And he returned to the army of Israel and said, “Arise, for the LORD has delivered the host of Midian into your hand!”

16. And he divided the three hundred men into three companies. And he put a ram’s horn in every man’s hand with empty pitchers and torches inside the pitchers.

17. And he said to them, “Look at me, and do likewise. And, behold, when I come to the edge of the camp, it shall be that, as I do, so you shall do.

18. When I blow with a ram’s horn, I and all who are with me, then you blow the ram’s horns also all around the camp, and shout, ‘For the LORD and for Gideon!’ ”

19. So Gideon and the hundred men with him came to the edge of the camp in the beginning of the middle watch. And they had but newly set the watch. And they blew the ram’s horns and broke the pitchers that were in their hands.

20. And the three companies blew the ram’s horns and broke the pitchers and held the torches in their left hands and the ram’s horns in their right hands to blow. And they cried, “A sword for the LORD and for Gideon!”

21. And they stood, each man in his place, all around the camp. And all the army ran, and cried out, and fled.

22. And the three hundred blew the ram’s horns. And the LORD set every man’s sword against his fellow, even throughout all the army. And the army fled to Beth Shittah in Zererath, to the border of Abel Meholah, to Tabbath.

23. And the men of Israel were called out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, and ran after the Midianites.

24. And Gideon sent messengers throughout all Mount Ephraim, saying, “Come down against the Midianites, and take from them the watering places of Beth Barah and Jordan.” Then all the men of Ephraim gathered themselves. And they captured the watering places of Beth Barah and Jordan.

25. Then they took two princes of the Midianites, Oreb and Zeeb. And they killed Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and they killed Zeeb at the winepress of Zeeb. And they pursued Midian and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other side of Jordan.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And the men of Ephraim said to him, “What is this thing you have done to us, not to call us when you went to fight with the Midianites?” And they rebuked him sharply.

2. And he said to them, “What have I done now in comparison to you? Is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer?

3. God has delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. And they killed Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and they killed Zeeb at the winepress of Zeeb. And they pursued Midian and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other side of Jordan.

4. And Gideon came to Jordan, crossing over, he and the three hundred men with him were faint, yet pursuing them.

5. And he said to the men of Succoth, “I pray you, give loaves of bread to the people who follow me, for they are tired, and I am chasing after Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.”

6. And the rulers of Succoth said, “Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, so that we should give bread to your army?”

7. And Gideon said, “Therefore, when the LORD has delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, then I will tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with briers.”

8. And he went up from there to Penuel, and spoke to them likewise. And the men of Penuel answered him like the men of Succoth had answered.

9. Then he spoke also to the men of Penuel, saying, “When I come again in peace, I will break down this tower.”

10. And Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their armies with them, about fifteen thousand, all who were left of all the armies of the children of the east; for a hundred and twenty thousand men that drew the sword fell.

11. And Gideon went up by the way of those who lived in tents on the east of Nobah and Jogbeah, and struck the army, for the army was at ease.

12. And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he pursued them and took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and destroyed all the army.

13. And Gideon the son of Joash turned back from battle before Mount Heres.

14. And he caught a young man of the men of Succoth and asked of him. And he described to him the rulers of Succoth, and its elders, seventy-seven men.

15. And he came to the men of Succoth and said, “Behold, Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom you rebuked me, saying, ‘Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand so that we should give bread to your men who are weary?’”

16. And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderness and briers, and with them he taught the men of Succoth.

17. And he beat down the tower of Penuel and killed the men of the city.

18. And he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, “How were the men whom you killed in Tabor?” And they answered, “As you are, so are they. Each one resembled the sons of a king.”

19. And he said, “They were my brethren, the sons of my mother. As the LORD lives, if you had saved them alive, I would not kill you.”

20. And he said to Jether his firstborn, “Up! Kill them!” But the youth did not draw his sword, for he feared because he was still a youth.

21. And Zebah and Zalmunna said, “Rise and fall upon us, for as the man is, so is his strength.” And Gideon arose and killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and took away the ornaments on their camels’ necks.

22. And the men of Israel said to Gideon, “Rule over us, both you and your son, and your son’s son also, for you have delivered us from the hand of Midian.”

23. And Gideon said to them, “I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you. The LORD shall rule over you.”

24. And Gideon said to them, “I would desire a favor of you, that each man of you would give me the earrings of his prey.” (For they had golden earrings because they were Ishmaelites.)

25. And they answered, “We will gladly give.” And they spread a cloth, and each man threw the earrings of his prey in it.

26. And the weight of the golden earrings which he asked for was seventeen hundred shekels of gold, besides ornaments, and pendants, and purple clothing that was on the kings of Midian, and besides the chains around their camels’ necks.

27. And Gideon made an ephod of it, and put it in his city, in Ophrah. And all Israel went there lusting after it, which thing became a snare to Gideon and to his house.

28. And Midian was subdued before the children of Israel, so that they lifted up their heads no more. And the land had rest forty years in the days of Gideon.

29. And Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and lived in his own house.

30. And Gideon had seventy sons, born of his body, for he had many wives.

31. And his concubine, who was in Shechem, also bore him a son whose name he called Abimelech.

32. And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age, and was buried in the tomb of Joash his father, in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

33. And it came to pass as soon as Gideon was dead, the children of Israel turned again and went lustling after Baalim, and made Baal-Berith their god.

34. And the children of Israel did not remember the LORD their God, Who had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side.

35. Neither did they show kindness to the house of Jerubbaal, namely Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shown to Israel.

CHAPTER NINE

1. And Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, to his mother’s brothers. And he talked with them and with all the family of the house of his mother’s father, saying,

2. “I pray you, speak in the ears of all the men of Shechem: ‘Which is better for you, either that all the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy persons, reign over you or that one reign over you?’ Remember also that I am your bone and your flesh.’

3. And his mother’s brothers spoke of him in the ears of all the men of Shechem with all these words. And their hearts were bent toward Abimelech, for they said, “He is our brother.”

4. And they gave him seventy pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-Berith, with which Abimelech hired worthless and reckless persons who followed him.

5. And he went to his father’s house at Ophrah and killed his brothers, the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy persons, upon one stone. But Jotham, the youngest son of Jerubbaal, was still left, for he hid himself.

6. And all the leaders of Shechem gathered together, and all the house of Millo. And they came and made Abimelech king beside the plain of the pillar in Shechem.

7. And when they told Jotham, he went and stood in the top of Mount Gerizim. And he lifted up his voice and cried, and said to them, “Listen to me, leaders of Shechem, so that God may listen to you.

8. The trees went forth to anoint a king over them. And they said to the olive tree, ‘Reign over us.’

9. But the olive tree said to them, ‘Should I leave my fatness with which they honor God and man by me, and go to be promoted over the trees?’

10. And the trees said to the fig tree, ‘You come and reign over us.’

11. But the fig tree said to them, ‘Should I forsake my sweetness and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?’

12. Then the trees said to the vine, ‘You come and reign over us.’

13. And the vine said to them, ‘Should I leave my wine, which cheers God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?’

14. Then all the trees said to the bramble-bush, ‘You come and reign over us.’

15. And the bramble-bush said to the trees, ‘If you truly anoint me king over you, come put your trust in my shadow. And if not, let fire come out of the bramble and burn up the cedars of Lebanon.’

16. And now, if you have done truly and sincerely in that you have made Abimelech king, and if you have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house, and have done to him according to what his hands did,

17. In which my father fought for you and much endangered his life, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian;

18. And you have risen up against my father’s house today, and have killed his sons, seventy persons, upon one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his female servant, king over the men of Shechem because he is your brother—

19. If then you have dealt truly and sincerely in that you have made Abimelech king, and if you have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house, and have done to him according to what his hands did,

20. But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech and burn up the men of Shechem and the house of Millo; and let fire come out from the men of Shechem, and from the house of Millo, and burn up Abimelech.”

21. And Jotham ran away and fled, and went to Beer, and lived there for fear of Abimelech his brother.

22. And Abimelech reigned three years over Israel.

23. And God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and the men of Shechem. And the men of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech,

24. So that the cruelty to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid upon Abimelech their brother, who killed them, and upon the men of Shechem who helped him in the killing of his brothers.

25. And the men of Shechem set men lying in wait for him in the top of the mountains, and they robbed all that passed by. And it was told to Abimelech.

26. And Gaal the son of Ebed came with his brothers and went over to Shechem. And the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

27. And they went out into the fields and gathered their vineyards and trod the grapes, and made merry, and went into the house of their god, and ate and drank, and cursed Abimelech.

28. And Gaal the son of Ebed said, “Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubbaal, and Zebul his officer? Serve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem: for why should we serve him?

29. And I wish this people were under my hand! Then I would remove Abimelech.” And he said to Abimelech, “Increase your army, and come out!”

30. And Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, and his anger was kindled.

31. And he sent messengers to Abimelech secretly, saying, “Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed and his brothers have come to Shechem. And behold, they fortify the city against you.

32. And now come up by night, you and the people with you, and lie in wait in the field.

33. And it shall be in the morning, as soon as the sun is up, it shall be that you shall rise early and set upon the city. And behold, when he and the people who are with him come out against you, you may do to them as you desire.”

34. And Abimelech rose up by night, and all the people with him, and they lay in wait against Shechem in four companies.

35. And Gaal the son of Ebed went out and stood in the entrance of the gate of the city. And Abimelech rose up, and the people with him, from lying in wait.

36. And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, “Behold, people are coming down from the top of the mountains.” And Zebul said to him, “You are seeing the shadows of the mountains as if they were men.”
And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD; therefore the LORD delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years. And the children of Israel cried out to the LORD, and the LORD delivered them into the hand of Oreb the Midianite, and into the hand of Zeeb his brother. And they killed Oreb and Zeeb; and theMidianites were in great fear.

And the children of Israel said to God, "We have sinned against You, in that we turned and served the Baalim and Ashtaroth. And we have forsaken You and served the Baalim and Ashtaroth. And we have sinned against You."

And the LORD said to the children of Israel, "I have delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Amalek, and out of the hand of the children of Ammon, and out of the hand of the Philistines, and have brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, and have delivered you."

Then Jephthah the Gileadite said to the LORD, "Lord, I have dreamed a dream, and behold, my vine is in bloom, and my grapes are in bunches, when I was going to check on it; and behold, a young rooster is coming out of it."

And Jephthah said to the LORD, "If You indeed deliver me out of the hand of my enemies, and have brought me back again to Jephtha, I will offer sacrifice to You of the young rooster that came out of the vine; and I will offer it for a burnt offering."

Then Jephthah went out of the camp of the children of Israel, and took his ass, and went to the sons of Ammon.

And Jephthah said to the sons of Ammon, "I am Jephthah the son of Jedidiah, the son of Gilead. And Gilead's wife bore him sons. And Jair, a Gileadite, had thirty sons who rode on donkey colts, and they had thirty cities which are called Havoth Jair to this day in the land of Gilead.

And the children of Ammon said to Jephthah, "Will you deliver our land into the hand of your son? Will you not return our land into the hand of us?"

Then Jephthah said to the sons of Ammon, "I will return your land into your hand, if you come out from before me; and I will drive out the children of Ammon from before you."

And the sons of Ammon said to Jephthah, "The land is insufficient for us to dwell there. Will you therefore deliver us into the hand of your son? We will pay you tribute." And Jephthah said to the sons of Ammon, "I will make tribute for you out of my hand, only you must give me one city in the land of Gilead, that I may get my son again." And the sons of Ammon gave Jephthah one city, and Jephthah gave the sons of Ammon tribute every year. And Jephthah left the sons of Ammon.

But the children of Ammon were not willing to give the city to Jephthah; therefore Jephthah called the name of the city Jedidjah: for he gave up the daughters of Israel to the children of Ammon, that they might not give up the city to Jephthah.

And Jephthah judged Israel six years. And Jephthah was sixty years old when he judged Israel.

And Jephthah took to wife the daughter of a harlot, and she was his wife and gave birth to him sons and daughters. And when his wife died, he took another wife, a virgin; and she bore him sons. And when the sons of his first wife grew up, they hated their half-brothers the sons of the daughter of the harlot. And they said to their father, "Give us our inheritance."

And their father said to them, "The inheritance which came from among the children of Israel, which I have received from the LORD, I gave to you as a lot. And now I am old and going to be dead."

And they said, "The inheritance which came from among the children of Israel, which our father has received from the LORD, give us as a lot." And Jephthah said to them, "I will give you the inheritance of your father as a lot. Art thou greater than my brother? If thou art greater than my brother, give me my inheritance as a lot; but if thou art not greater than my brother, give me my inheritance as a lot."

And they said, "Give us the inheritance as a lot." And Jephthah divided the inheritance among his brothers. And the name of his younger brother was Gilead.

And Jephthah judged Israel seven years. And Jephthah was seventy years old when he judged Israel.

And Jephthah judged Israel thirty years. And Jephthah took to wife the daughter of a harlot. And she was his wife and gave birth to him sons and daughters. And when his wife died, he took another wife, a virgin; and she bore him sons. And when the sons of his first wife grew up, they hated their half-brothers the sons of the daughter of the harlot. And they said to their father, "Give us our inheritance."

And their father said to them, "The inheritance which came from among the children of Israel, which I have received from the LORD, I gave to you as a lot. And now I am old and going to be dead."

And they said, "The inheritance which came from among the children of Israel, which our father has received from the LORD, give us as a lot." And Jephthah said to them, "I will give you the inheritance of your father as a lot. Art thou greater than my brother? If thou art greater than my brother, give me my inheritance as a lot; but if thou art not greater than my brother, give me my inheritance as a lot."

And they said, "Give us the inheritance as a lot." And Jephthah divided the inheritance among his brothers. And the name of his younger brother was Gilead.

And Jephthah judged Israel seven years. And Jephthah was seventy years old when he judged Israel.

And Jephthah judged Israel seven years. And Jephthah was seventy years old when he judged Israel.
his wife’s sons grew up, and they threw Jephthah out and said to him, “You shall not inherit in our father’s house, for you are the son of another woman.”

3. Then Jephthah fled from his brothers and lived in the land of Tob. And worthless men were gathered to Jephthah, and went out with him.

4. And it came to pass after some time that the children of Ammon made war against Israel.

5. And when the children of Ammon made war against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to bring Jephthah out of the land of Tob.

6. And they said to Jephthah, “Come and be our commander, so that we may fight against the children of Ammon.”

7. And Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, “Have you not hated me and thrown me out of my father’s house? Why have you come to me now when you are in trouble?”

8. And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, “For this reason we turn again to you now, so that you may go with us and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the people of Gilead.”

9. And Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, “If you bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivers them before me, shall I indeed be your head?”

10. And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, “The LORD is witness between us if we do not do so according to your word.”

11. And Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and commander over them. And Jephthah uttered all his words before the LORD in Mizpeh.

12. And Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the children of Ammon, saying, “What have you to do with me, that you have come against me to fight in my land?”

13. And the king of the children of Ammon answered to the messengers of Jephthah, “Because Israel took away my land when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even to Jabbok and to Jordan. Now therefore restore those lands peaceably.”

14. And Jephthah sent messengers again to the king of the children of Ammon.

15. And he said to him, “So says Jephthah, ‘Israel did not take away the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon.

16. But when they came up from Egypt, Israel walked through the wilderness to the Red Sea and came to Kadesh.

17. And Israel sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, “I pray you, let me pass through your land.” But the king of Edom would not listen. And in the same way they sent to the king of Moab, but he would not consent. And Israel stayed in Kadesh.

18. And they went along through the wilderness, and went around the land of Edom and the land of Moab, and came by the east side of the land of Moab and pitched on the other side of Arnon, but they did not come within the border of Moab; for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19. And Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon. And Israel said to him, “We pray you, let us pass through your land to my place.”

20. But Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his border, so Sihon gathered all his people together and pitched in Jahaz, and fought against Israel.

21. And the LORD God of Israel delivered Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they struck them. So Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, who lived in that country.

22. And they possessed all the borders of the Amorites from Arnon even to Jabbok and from the wilderness even to Jordan.

23. So now the LORD God of Israel has put out the Amorites before His people Israel, and should you possess it?

24. Will you not possess that which Chemosh your god gives you to possess? So whomever the LORD our God shall drive out from before us, we will possess them.

25. And now are you any better than Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever strive against Israel, or did he ever fight against them?

26. When Israel lived in Heshbon and its villages, and Arroer and its villages, and in all the cities which are along by the borders of Arnon, for three hundred years? Why then did you not deliver them in that time?
27. Therefore, I have not sinned against you, but you do me wrong to war against me. The LORD, the Judge, will judge this day between the children of Israel and the children of Ammon.’”

28. And the king of the children of Ammon did not hearken to the words of Jephthah which he sent to him.

29. Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah, and he passed over Gilead and Manasseh, and passed over Mizpeh of Gilead, and from Mizpeh of Gilead passed over to to the children of Ammon.

30. And Jephthah vowed a vow to the LORD, and said, “If You will indeed give the children of Ammon into my hand,

31. Then it shall be that whatever comes out from the doors of my house to meet me when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, surely it shall belong to the LORD, or I will offer it up instead of a burnt offering.”

32. And Jephthah passed over to the children of Ammon to fight against them. And the LORD delivered them into his hand.

33. And he struck them from Aroer even until you come to Minnith, twenty cities, and to the meadow of the vineyards, with a very great slaughter. So were the children of Ammon subdued before the children of Israel.

34. And Jephthah came to Mizpeh to his house, and, behold, his daughter came out to meet him with drums and with dances. And she was his only child. Besides her he had neither son nor daughter.

35. And it came to pass when he saw her, he tore his clothes and said, “Alas, my daughter! You have brought me very low, and you are one of those who trouble me, for I have opened my mouth to the LORD, and I cannot go back.”

36. And she said to him, “My father, if you have opened your mouth to the LORD, do to me according to that which has come out of your mouth because the LORD has taken vengeance for you upon your enemies, even of the children of Ammon.”

37. And she said to her father, “Let this thing be done for me. Let me alone two months, so that I may go up and down upon the mountains and weep for my virginity, I and my companions.”

38. And he said, “Go.” And he sent her away for two months. And she went with her companions and wept for her virginity upon the mountains.

39. And it came to pass at the end of two months she returned to her father, who did to her his vow which he had vowed. And she knew no man. And it is a custom in Israel,

40. That the daughters of Israel went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four days in a year.

CHAPTER TWELVE

1. And the men of Ephraim were called together and went northward, and said to Jephthah, “Why did you go over to fight against the children of Ammon, and did not call us to go with you? We will burn your house upon you with fire.”

2. And Jephthah said to them, “My people and I were at great strife with the children of Ammon. And when I called you, you did not deliver me out of their hands.

3. When I saw that you did not deliver me, I took my life in my hand and passed over against the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivered them into my hand, and why have you come up against me, to fight against me today?”

4. And Jephthah called up all the men of Gilead and fought with Ephraim. And the men of Gilead struck Ephraim because they said, “You Gileadites are fugitives among the Ephraimites and among the Manassites.”

5. And the Gileadites took the fords of Jordan before the Ephraimites. And it came to pass that when one of those Ephraimites who had escaped said, “Let me go over,” the men of Gilead said to him, “Are you an Ephraimite?” And he said, “No.”

6. And they said to him, “Please say Shibboleth.” And he said, “Sibboleth,” for he could not manage to pronounce it right. Then they took him and killed him at the passages of Jordan. And there fell at that time forty-two thousand of the Ephraimites.

7. And Jephthah judged Israel six years. And Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8. And after him Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel.

9. And he had thirty sons and thirty daughters whom he sent abroad, and took in thirty daughters from abroad for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.
10. And then Ibzan died and was buried at Bethlehem.
11. And after him Elon, a Zebulonite, judged Israel. And he judged Israel ten years.
12. And Elon the Zebulonite died and was buried in Aijalon, in the land of Zebulun.
13. And after him Abdon the son of Hillel, a Pirathonite, judged Israel.
14. And he had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy donkey colts. And he judged Israel eight years.
15. And Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died, and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD. And the LORD delivered them into the hands of the Philistines forty years.
2. And there was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whose name was Manoah. And his wife was barren and did not bear.
3. And the angel of the LORD appeared to the woman and said to her, “Behold now, you are barren and have not borne children. But you shall conceive and bear a son.
4. And now therefore, please take heed, and do not drink wine nor strong drink, and do not eat any unclean thing.
5. For lo, you shall conceive and bear a son. And no razor shall come upon his head, for the child shall be a Nazarite to God from the womb to the day of his death.”
6. And the woman came and told her husband, saying, “A man of God came to me, and his face was like the face of an angel of God, very terrifying. But I did not ask him where he came from, neither did he tell me his name.
7. But he said to me, ‘Behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. And now drink no wine nor strong drink; neither eat any unclean thing, for the boy shall be a Nazarite to God from the womb to the day of his death.’”
8. And Manoah prayed to the LORD and said, “O, my LORD, let the man of God who You sent come again to us and teach us what we shall do to the boy that shall be born.”
9. And God hearkened to the voice of Manoah, and the angel of God came again to the woman as she sat in the field. But Manoah her husband was not with her.
10. And the woman hurried and ran, and told her husband, and said to him, “Behold, the man has appeared to me, the one who came to me the other day.”
11. And Manoah arose and went after his wife, and came to the man, and said to him, “Are you the man who spoke to this woman?” And he said, “I am.”
12. And Manoah said, “Now let your words come to pass. How shall we order the child, and what shall we do to him?”
13. And the angel of the LORD said to Manoah, “Of all that I said to the woman let her be careful.
14. She may not eat of anything that comes from the vine; neither let her drink wine nor strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing. Let her do all that I commanded her.”
15. And Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, “I pray you, let us keep you until we have made a kid ready for you.”
16. And the angel of the LORD said to Manoah, “Though you keep me, I will not eat of your bread. And if you will offer a burnt offering, you must offer it to the LORD,” for Manoah did not know that he was the angel of the LORD.
17. And Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, “What is your name, so that when your sayings come to pass we may do you honor?”
18. And the angel of the LORD said to him, “Why do you ask after my name in this way? Yea, it is wonderful.”
19. And Manoah took a kid with a grain offering, and offered it upon a rock to the LORD, and the angel did wonderfully. And Manoah and his wife looked on it and fell on their faces to the ground.
20. For it came to pass when the flame went up toward heaven from off the altar, the angel of the LORD went up in the flame of the altar. And Manoah and his wife looked on it and fell on their faces to the ground.
21. But the angel of the LORD did not appear any more to Manoah and to his wife. Then Manoah knew that he was an angel of the LORD.
22. And Manoah said to his wife, “We shall surely die because we have seen God.”
23. But his wife said to him, “If the LORD were pleased to kill us, He would not have received a burnt offering and a grain offering at our hands neither would He have showed us all these things, nor have told us such things as these at this time.”
24. And the woman bore a son and called his name Samson. And the child grew, and the LORD blessed him.
25. And the Spirit of the LORD began to move him at times in the camp of Dan between Zorah and Eshtaol.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN
1. And Samson went down to Timnath, and saw a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines.
2. And he came up and told his father and his mother, and said, “I have seen a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines. And now get her for me for a wife.”
3. And his father and his mother said to him, “Is there no woman among the daughters of your brethren, or among all my people, that you go to take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?” And Samson said to his father, “Get her for me, for she pleases me very much.”
4. But his father and his mother did not know that it was from the LORD, that He was looking for an occasion against the Philistines, for at that time the Philistines had the rule over Israel.
5. And Samson and his father and his mother went down to Timnath. And they came to the vineyards of Timnath. And, behold, a young lion roared to meet him.
6. And the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and he tore it as he would have torn a kid; and nothing was in his hand. But he did not tell his father or his mother what he had done.
7. And he went down and talked with the woman. And she pleased Samson very much.
8. And after a time he returned to take her, and he turned aside to see the dead body of the lion. And behold, a swarm of bees and honey was in the dead body of the lion.
9. And he took some of it in his hands, and went on his way eating, and came to his father and mother. And he gave some to them, and they ate. But he did not tell them that he had taken the honey out of the dead body of the lion.
10. And his father went down to the woman. And Samson made a feast there, for so the young men used to do.
11. And it came to pass when they saw him, they brought thirty companions to be with him.
12. And Samson said to them, “I will now put forth a riddle to you. If you certainly tell it to me within the seven days of the feast, and you discover its meaning, then I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty changes of clothes.
13. But if you cannot tell me, then you shall give me thirty linen garments and thirty changes of clothes.” And they said to him, “Put forth your riddle so that we may hear it.”
14. And he said to them, “Out of the eater came forth food, and out of the strong came forth sweetness.” And in three days they were not able to declare the meaning of the riddle.
15. And it came to pass, on the seventh day they said to Samson’s wife, “Lure your husband so that he may tell the riddle to us, lest we burn you and your father’s house with fire. Have you called us to take what we have? Is it not so?”
16. And Samson’s wife wept before him, and said, “You only hate me, and do not love me. You have put forth a riddle to the children of my people, and have not told it to me.” And he said to her, “Behold, I have not told my father nor my mother, and shall I tell you?”
17. And she wept before him the seven days while their feast lasted. And on the seventh day he told her because she pressed hard upon him. And she told the riddle to the children of her people.
18. And the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before the sun went down, “What is sweeter than honey, and what is stronger than a lion?” And he said to them, “If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would not have found out my riddle.”
19. And the Spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he went down to Ashkelon and killed thirty men of them, and took their spoil, and gave changes of garments to them who told what the riddle meant. And his anger was kindled, and he went up to his father’s house.

20. But Samson’s wife was given to his companion, who had served as his friend.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. And afterward it came to pass, in the days of the wheat harvest, Samson visited his wife with a kid. And he said, “I will go in to my wife into the room.” But her father would not allow him to go in.

2. And her father said, “I truly thought that you utterly hated her, and I gave her to your companion. Is not her younger sister fairer than she is? Please, let her be for you instead.”

3. And Samson said of them, “Now I shall be blameless concerning the Philistines in the evil I do to them.”

4. And Samson went and caught three hundred foxes and took fire brands, and turned the foxes tail to tail, and put a fire brand in the middle between the two tails.

5. And when he set the brands on fire, he let them go into the standing grain of the Philistines, and burned up both the shocks and also the standing grain, with the vineyards and olives.

6. And the Philistines said, “Who has done this?” And they answered, “Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he had taken his wife and given her to his companion.” And the Philistines came up and burned her and her father with fire.

7. And Samson said to them, “Though you have done this, yet I will be avenged of the Philistines in the evil I do to them.”

8. And he struck them hip and thigh with a great slaughter. And he went down and lived on the top of the rock of Etam.

9. And the Philistines went up and pitched in Judah, and spread themselves in Lehi.

10. And the men of Judah said, “Why have you come up against us?” And they answered, “We have come up to bind Samson, to do to him as he has done to us.”

11. Then three thousand men of Judah went to the top of the rock of Etam, and said to Samson, “Do you not know that the Philistines are rulers over us? What have you done to us?” And he said to them, “As they have done to me, so I have done to them.”

12. And they said to him, “We have come to bind you so that we may deliver you into the hands of the Philistines.” And Samson said to them, “Swear to me that you will not fall upon me yourselves.”

13. And they spoke to him, saying, “No, but we will tie you up and deliver you into their hand. But surely we will not kill you.” And they bound him with two new cords and brought him up from the rock.

14. He came to Lehi, and the Philistines shouted against him. And the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and the cords upon his arms became as flax that has been burned with fire, and his bands loosed from off his hands.

15. And he found a new jawbone of a donkey, and put forth his hand and took it, and killed a thousand men with it.

16. And Samson said, “With the jawbone of a donkey, heaps upon heaps, with the jawbone of a donkey I have killed a thousand men.”

17. And it came to pass when he had made an end of speaking, he threw away the jawbone out of his hand, and called that place Hill of the Jawbone.

18. And he was very thirsty and called upon the LORD and said, “You have given this great deliverance into the hand of Your servant. And now shall I die with thirst, and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?”

19. But God cut open a hollow place and water came out there. And he drank, and his spirit came again, and he revived. Therefore, its name is called Fountain of the Praying One, which is in Lehi to this day.

20. And he judged Israel in the days of the Philistines twenty years.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. Then Samson went to Gaza. And he saw a harlot there, and went in to her.

2. The Gazites were told, saying, “Samson has come here.” And they surrounded him and laid wait for him all night at the gate of the city, and were quiet all the night, saying, “Until the light of the morning, then we shall kill him.”
3. And Samson lay till midnight, and arose at midnight, and took hold of the doors of the gate of the city and the two posts, and picked them up, with the bar, and put them upon his shoulders and carried them up to the top of a hill that is before Hebron.

4. And afterwards it came to pass, he loved a woman in the valley of Sorek, whose name was Delilah.

5. And the lords of the Philistines came up to her, and said to her, “Lure him and see where his great strength lies, and by what means we may prevail against him, so that we may tie him to afflict him. And each one of us will give you eleven hundred pieces of silver.”

6. And Delilah said to Samson, “Please tell me where your great strength lies, and with what you may be bound to afflict you.”

7. And Samson said to her, “If they bind me with seven green cords that were never dried, then I shall be weak and be as another man.”

8. Then the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven green cords which had not been dried, and she bound him with them.

9. And the ambush was waiting with her in the inner room. And she said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And he broke the cords like a thread of flax when it touches fire. And the secret of his strength was not known.

10. And Delilah said to Samson, “Behold, you have mocked me and told me lies. Now, please, tell me with what you may be bound.”

11. And he said to her, “If they bind me fast with new ropes that have never been used, then I shall be weak and be as another man.”

12. And Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them, and said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And he broke them from off his arms like a thread.

13. And Delilah said to Samson, “You have mocked me until now, and told me lies. Tell me with what you may be bound.” And he said to her, “If you weave the seven locks of my head with the web.”

14. And she fastened it with the pin, and said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And he awakened out of his sleep, and pulled out the pin, the handloom and the web.

15. And she said to him, “How can you say, ‘I love you,’ and your heart is not with me? You have mocked me these three times, and have not told me in what your great strength lies.”

16. And it came to pass because she distressed him with her words daily and urged him, his soul was grieved to death.

17. And he told her all his heart, and said to her, “A razor has not come upon my hair, for I am a Nazarite to God from my mother’s womb. If I am shaven, then my strength will go from me, and I will become weak and be like any man.

18. And when Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent and called for the lords of the Philistines, saying, “Come this once, for he has showed me all his heart.” Then the lords of the Philistines came up to her and brought silver in their hands.

19. And she made him sleep upon her knees. And she called for a man, and she caused him to shave off the seven locks of his head. And she began to afflict him, and his strength went from him.

20. And she said, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And he awoke out of his sleep and said, “I will go out as at other times before, and shake myself free.” But he did not know that the LORD had departed from him.

21. And the Philistines took him and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of brass. And he did grind grain in the prison house.

22. However, the hair of his head began to grow again after he had been shaven.

23. Then the lords of the Philistines gathered in order to offer a great sacrifice to Dagon their god, and to rejoice, for they said, “Our god has delivered Samson our enemy into our hand.”

24. And the people saw him and praised their god, for they said, “Our god has delivered our enemy into our hand, and the destroyer of our country, who killed many of us.”

25. And when their hearts were merry, it came to pass that they said, “Call for Samson and he will make sport for us.” And they called for Samson out of the prison.
house. And he made sport for them, and they set him between the pillars.

26. And Samson said to the lad who held him by the hand, “Allow me to feel the pillars upon which the house stands, so that I may lean upon them.”

27. Now the house was full of men and women. And all the lords of the Philistines were there. And upon the roof were about three thousand men and women who watched while Samson made sport.

28. And he gave the money back to his mother, his mother said, “I had wholly given the silver to the Lord from my hand for my son to make a graven image and a molten image. And now I am giving it to you.”

And his mother took two hundred shekels of silver and gave them to a refiner, who made of it an engraved image and a molten image. And they were in the house of Micah.

5. And the man Micah had a house of gods, and made an ephod and household gods, and anointed one of his sons who became his priest.

6. In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

7. And there was a young man out of Bethlehem in Judah, of the family of Judah, and he was a Levite. And he sojourned there.

8. And the young man went out of the city from Bethlehem in Judah to live where he could find a place. And as he journeyed, he came to Mount Ephraim to the house of Micah.

9. And Micah said to him, “Where do you come from?” And he said to him, “I am a Levite of Bethlehem in Judah, and I go to live where I may find a place.”

10. And Micah said to him, “Live with me and be a father and a priest to me, and I will give you ten shekels of silver by the year, and a suit of clothes, and your food.” And the Levite went in.

11. And the Levite was content to live with the man, and the young man was to him as one of his sons.

12. And Micah consecrated the Levite. And the young man became his priest and was in the house of Micah.

13. Then Micah said, “Now I know that the Lord will do me good since I have a Levite as my priest.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. In those days no king was in Israel. And in those days the tribe of the Danites looked for an inheritance for them to live in, for to that day their inheritance had not yet fallen to them among the tribes of Israel.

2. And the children of Dan sent from their family five men from their borders, men of war, from Zorah and from Eshtaol, to spy out the land and to search it. And they said to them, “Go, search the land.” And when they came to Mount Ephraim to the house of Micah, they stayed there.

3. When they were at the house of Micah, they recognized the voice of the young man, the Levite. And they turned in there, and said to him, “Who brought you here? And what are you doing in this place? And what have you here?”

4. And he said to them, “This is how Micah deals with me, and has hired me, and I am his priest.”

5. And they said to him, “We pray you, ask counsel of God so that we may know whether our way which we go shall be prosperous.”

6. And the priest said to them, “Go in peace. Your way in which you go is before the LORD.”

7. And the five men departed and came to Laish, and saw the people in it, how they lived securely, as the Sidonians do, quiet and secure. And there was no judge in the land who might put them to shame in anything. And they were far from the Sidonians and had no business with any man.

8. And they came to their brothers, to Zorah and Eshtaol. And their brothers said to them, “What do you say?”

9. And they said, “Arise, so that we may go up against them, for we have seen the land, and, behold, it is very good. And will you sit quietly? Do not be too lazy to go; enter to possess the land.

10. When you go, you shall come to a people feeling secure and to a large land, for God has given it into your hands, a place where there is no lack of anything in the earth.”

11. And six hundred men of the family of the Danites moved from there, out of Zorah and out of Eshtaol, girded with weapons of war.

12. And they went up and pitched in Kirjath Jearim in Judah. Therefore, they called that place a Camp of Dan to this day. Behold, it is behind Kirjath Jearim.

13. And they passed from there to Mount Ephraim and came to the house of Micah.

14. Then the five men who went to spy out the country of Laish answered and said to their brethren, “Did you know that there is in these houses an ephod, and household gods, and an engraved image and a molten image? And now consider what you have to do.”

15. And they turned in that way, and came to the house of the young man, the Levite, to the house of Micah, and greeted him.

16. And the six hundred men of the children of Dan, girded with their weapons of war, stood by the entrance of the gate.

17. And the five men who went up to spy out the land came in there, and took the engraved image and the ephod and the household gods, and the molten image. And the priest stood at the entrance of the gate with the six hundred men who were dressed with weapons of war.

18. And these went into Micah’s house and brought out the carved image, the ephod, and the household gods, and the molten image. And the priest said to them, “What are you doing?”

19. And they said to him, “Be quiet, lay your hand upon your mouth and go with us, and be to us a father and a priest. Is it better for you to be a priest to the house of one man, or that you be a priest to a tribe and a family in Israel?”

20. And the priest’s heart was glad, and he took the ephod, and the household gods, and the carved image, and went in the midst of the people.

21. And they turned and departed, and put the little ones and the cattle and the valuates before them.

22. When they had gone far away from the house of Micah, then the men in the houses near Micah’s house were called together and they caught up with the children of Dan.

23. And they cried to the children of Dan. And they turned their faces and said to Micah, “What ails you that you have been called together?”

24. And he said, “You have taken away my gods which I made and the priest, and you have gone away. And what more do I have? And what is this you say to me, ‘What ails you?’ ”

25. And the children of Dan said to him, “Do not let your voice be heard among us, lest angry fellows run upon you and you lose your life with the lives of your household.”

26. And the children of Dan went their way. And when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned and went back to his house.

27. And they took the things which Micah had made, and the priest whom he had, and came to Laish, to a people who were quiet and secure. And they struck them with the edge of the sword and burned the city with fire.

28. And there was no deliverer because it was far from Sidon, and they had no business with any man. And it was in the valley that lies by Beth Rehob. And they built a city and lived in it.

29. And they called the name of the city Dan after the name of Dan their father, who was born to Israel. However the name of the city was Laish at the first.

30. And the children of Dan set up the engraved image. And Jonathan, the son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh, he and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan until the day of the captivity of the land.

31. And they set up Micah's engraved image for themselves, the image which he made, all the time that the house of God was in Shiloh.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. And it came to pass in those days, when there was no king in Israel, that there was a certain Levite residing on the far side of Mount Ephraim, who took to him a concubine out of Bethlehem in Judah.

2. And his concubine played the harlot against him, and went away from him to her father's house to Bethlehem in Judah, and was there four whole months.

3. And her husband arose and went after her to speak kindly to her, to bring her again, having his servant with him and a couple of donkeys. And she brought him into her father's house. And when the father of the girl saw him, he rejoiced to meet him.

4. And his father-in-law, the girl's father, kept him. And he stayed with him three days. So they ate and drank and stayed there.

5. And it came to pass on the fourth day when they arose early in the morning, he rose up to leave. And the girl's father said to his son-in-law, "Comfort your heart with a piece of bread, and afterward go your way."

6. And they sat down and ate and drank, both of them together, for the girl's father had said to the man, "Please be content, and stay all night, and let your heart be merry."

7. And when the man rose up to leave, his father-in-law urged him, and he stayed there again.

8. And he rose early in the morning on the fifth day to leave. And the girl's father said, "Please comfort your heart." And they stayed till afternoon, and both of them ate.

9. And when the man rose up to leave, he and his concubine, and his servant, his father-in-law, the girl's father said to him, "Behold, now the day draws toward evening. Please stay all night. Behold, the day grows to an end. Stay here so that your heart may be merry. And tomorrow go early on your way, so that you may go to your tent."

10. But the man would not stay that night, but he rose up and left, and came over opposite Jebus, which is Jerusalem. And there were with him two saddled donkeys. His concubine also was with him.

11. They were near Jebus, and the day was far gone. And the servant said to his master, "Please come, and let us turn in to this city of the Jebusites and stay in it."

12. And his master said to him, "We will not turn aside here into the city of a stranger that is not of the children of Israel. We will pass over to Gibeah."

13. And he said to his servant, "Come and let us draw near one of these places to stay all night, in Gibeah or in Ramah."

14. And they passed on and went their way. And the sun went down upon them near Gibeah, which is of Benjamin.

15. And they turned aside there to go in and lodge in Gibeah. And he went in and sat down in a street of the city, for no man took them into his house to stay the night.

16. And behold, there came an old man from his work out of the field at evening who was also from Mount Ephraim. And he lived in Gibeah, but the men of the place were of Benjamin.

17. And when he had lifted up his eyes, he saw a traveler in the streets of the city. And the old man said, "Where do you go, and where do you come from?"

18. And he said to him, "We are passing from Bethlehem in Judah to the side of Mount Ephraim. I am from there, and I went to Bethlehem in Judah, but I am going to the house of the LORD. And there is no man who receives me into his house.

19. Yet here is both straw and food for our donkeys. And there is bread and wine also for me, and for your female servant, and for the young man who is with your servants. There is no lack of anything.”
20. And the old man said, “Peace be with you. Yet all that you lack shall be upon me. Only do not stay in the street.”
21. And he brought him into his house and mixed fodder for the donkeys. And they washed their feet, and ate and drank.
22. They were making their hearts merry. And, behold, the men of the city, certain perverted men, set upon the house all around and beat at the door and spoke to the master of the house, the old man, saying, “Bring out the man that came to your house so that we may have sex with him.”
23. And the man, the master of the house, went out to them and said to them, “No, my brethren, I pray you, do not listen to the voice of your hearts. Do not do this foolish sin.
24. Behold, my daughter, a virgin, and his concubine. I will bring them out now, and you humble them and do with them what seems good to you. But do not do so vile a thing to this man.”
25. But the men would not listen to him. And the man took his concubine and brought her out to them. And they knew her and abused her all night until the morning. And they sent her away at the dawning of the day.
26. And the woman came, in the dawning of the day, and fell down at the door of the man’s house where her lord was until it was light.
27. And her lord rose up in the morning and opened the doors of the house and went out to go his way. And behold, the woman, his concubine, had fallen down at the door of the house, and her hands were upon the threshold.
28. And he said to her, “Up, and let us be going.” But there was no answer. Then the man took her upon a donkey, and the man rose up and went to his place.
29. And when he came into his house, he took a knife and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, with her bones, into twelve pieces and sent her into all the borders of Israel.
30. And it was so that all that saw it said, “There was no such deed done nor seen from the day that the children of Israel came up out of the land of Egypt to this day. Think of it, take advice and speak your minds.”

CHAPTER TWENTY
1. Then all the children of Israel went out, and the congregation was gathered together as one man, from Dan to Beersheba, with the land of Gilead, to the LORD in Mizpeh.
2. And the leaders of all the people, of all the tribes of Israel, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand footmen that drew the sword.
3. And the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel had gone up to Mizpeh. And the children of Israel said, “Speak. How did this evil happen?”
4. And the Levite, the husband of the woman who was slain, answered and said, “I came into Gibeah of Benjamin to stay the night, my concubine and I.
5. And the men of Gibeah rose up against me and set upon the house all around me at night. They intended to kill me. And they raped my concubine, and she is dead.
6. And I took my concubine and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the land of the inheritance of Israel, for they have committed evil and folly in Israel.
7. Behold, you are all children of Israel. Give here your advice and counsel.”
8. And all the people rose as one man, saying, “Let no man go to his tent, and do not let any of us turn to his house.
9. And now this is the thing which we will do to Gibeah, going against it by lot.
10. And we will take ten men of a hundred of all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to bring food for the people, so that when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, they may recompense all the folly which they have done in Israel.”
11. And every man of Israel was gathered against the city, all together as one man.
12. And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin saying, “What wickedness is this that is done among you?
13. Now, therefore, deliver the men, the perverted men, who are in Gibeah, so that we may put them to death and put away evil from Israel.” But Benjamin would not listen to the voice of their brethren, the children of Israel.
14. And the children of Benjamin gathered out of the cities to Gibeah to go out to battle against the children of Israel.
15. And the children of Benjamin were numbered on that day out of the cities twenty-six thousand men who drew sword, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah, who were numbered seven hundred chosen men.
16. Among all this people were seven hundred chosen men, left-handed. Every one could sling stones at a hair’s breadth, and not miss.
17. And the men of Israel, besides Benjamin, were numbered four hundred thousand men who drew the sword. All these were men of war.
18. And the children of Israel rose and went up to the house of God and asked counsel of God, and said, “Which of us shall go up first to the battle against the children of Benjamin?” And the LORD said, “Judah first.”
19. And the children of Israel rose up early in the morning and camped against Gibeah.
20. And the men of Israel went up against Benjamin. And the men of Israel put themselves in order, ready to fight against them at Gibeah
21. And the children of Benjamin came forth out of Gibeah and destroyed to the earth twenty-two thousand men of the Israelites that day.
22. And the people, the men of Israel, encouraged themselves and set their battle in order again in the place where they put themselves in order the first day.
23. And the children of Israel went up and wept before the LORD until evening, and asked counsel from the LORD saying, “Shall I yet again go out to battle against the children of Benjamin my brother, or shall I stop? And the LORD said, “Go up, for tomorrow I will deliver them into your hand.”
24. And the children of Israel came near against the children of Benjamin the second day.
25. And Benjamin went forth to meet them again from Gibeah the second day and again destroyed to the earth eighteen thousand men of the children of Israel. All these drew the sword.
26. And all the children of Israel, and all the people, went up and came to the house of God and wept, and sat there before the LORD and fasted that day until evening, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD.
39. And when the men of Israel retired in the battle, Benjamin began to strike and kill of the men of Israel about thirty persons, for they said, “Surely they are stricken down before us as in the first battle.”

40. And the rising of a pillar of smoke began to go up out of the city. And Benjamin turned behind them, and behold, the whole city had gone up toward the heavens.

41. And the men of Israel turned again, and the men of Benjamin were amazed, for they saw that evil had touched them.

42. And they turned their backs on the men of Israel, to the way of the wilderness. But the battle overtook them. And those who came out of the cities they destroyed in the midst of them.

43. They encircled Benjamin and they chased them without rest, and trod them down until they were against Gibeah toward the sunrise.

44. And there fell from Benjamin eighteen thousand. All these were men of war.

45. And they turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of Rimmon. And they gleaned of them in the highways five thousand men, and pursued hard after them to Gidom and killed two thousand men of them.

46. So that all who fell that day of Benjamin were twenty-five thousand men who drew the sword. All of these were men of war.

47. But six hundred men turned and fled to the wilderness to the rock Rimmon, and they stayed in the rock Rimmon four months.

48. And the children of Israel turned again to the children of Benjamin and struck them with the edge of the sword, from the entire city to livestock, to all that was found. Also they set on fire all the cities that they came to.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. And the men of Israel had sworn in Mizpeh, saying, “Not one of us shall give his daughter to Benjamin for a wife.”

2. And the people came to the house of God and stayed there until evening before God, and lifted up their voice and wept grievously.

3. And said, “O, LORD God of Israel, why has this came to pass in Israel, that there should be today one tribe lacking in Israel?”

4. And it came to pass on the next day the people rose early and built there an altar, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings.

5. And the children of Israel said, “Who is there among all the tribes of Israel that did not come up with the congregation to the LORD?” For they had made a great oath concerning him who did not come up to the LORD to Mizpeh, saying, “He shall surely be put to death.”

6. And the children of Israel repented themselves for Benjamin their brother, and said, “There is one tribe cut off from Israel this day.

7. What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since we have sworn by the LORD that we will not give them of our daughters for wives?”

8. And they said, “What one is there of the tribes of Israel that did not come up to Mizpeh to the LORD?” And, behold, there came none to the camp from Jabesh Gilead to the assembly,

9. For the people were numbered, and behold, none of the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead were there.

10. And the congregation sent there twelve thousand men of the most valiant, and commanded them, saying, “Go, and you shall strike the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead with the sword, with the women and the children.

11. And this is the thing that you shall do. You shall utterly destroy every male and every woman who has lain with man.”

12. And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead four hundred young virgins who had known no man by lying with any male. And they brought them to the camp to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13. And the whole congregation sent to speak to the children of Benjamin who were at the rock of Rimmon and to call peaceably to them.

14. And Benjamin came again at that time. And they gave them wives of whom they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh Gilead. And yet so they were not enough for them.

15. And the people repented themselves for Benjamin because the LORD had made a break in the tribes of Israel.
16. And the elders of the congregation said, “What shall we do for wives for those who are left since the women are destroyed out of Benjamin?
17. And they said, “There must be an inheritance for those of Benjamin who have escaped, so that a tribe may not be destroyed out of Israel.
18. However, we may not give them wives of our daughters, for the children of Israel have sworn, saying, ‘Cursed is he who gives a wife to Benjamin.’ ”
19. Then they said, “Behold, there is a feast of the L ORD in Shiloh yearly on the north side of Bethel, on the east side of the highway that goes up from Bethel to Shechem, and on the south of Lebonah.”
20. And they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying, “Go and lie in wait in the vineyards,
21. And see, and behold, if the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then you come out of the vineyards and catch you a wife for every man from the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin.
22. And it shall be, when their fathers or their brothers come to us to complain, we will say to them, ‘Be favorable to them for our sakes because we did not reserve each man a wife in the war, for if you did not give to them at this time, you would be guilty.’ ”
23. And the children of Benjamin did so, and took wives according to their number, from those that danced whom they caught. And they went and returned to their inheritance, and repaired the cities and lived in them.
24. And the children of Israel departed from there at that time, each man to his inheritance.
25. In those days there was no king in Israel. Every man did what was right in his own eyes.

I Samuel

CHAPTER ONE

1. And there was a certain man of Ramathaim Zophim from the hills of Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephrathite.
2. And he had two wives, the name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the second, Peninnah. And Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.
3. And this man went up out of his city from year to year to worship and to sacrifice to the L ORD of hosts in Shiloh. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the priests of the L ORD, were there.
4. And the time came that Elkanah offered, he gave portions to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and her daughters.
5. But to Hannah he gave one double portion, for he loved Hannah. However, the L ORD had shut up her womb.
6. And her foe also provoked her grievously, in order to frustrate her because the L ORD had shut up her womb.
7. And as he did so year by year, when she went up to the house of the L ORD, so she provoked her. And she wept and did not eat.
8. And Elkanah her husband said to her, “Hannah, why do you weep? And why do you not eat? And why is your heart grieved? Am I not better to you than ten sons?”
9. And Hannah rose up after they had eaten in Shiloh and after they had drunk. And Eli the priest sat upon the seat by the side post of the temple of the L ORD.
10. And she was in bitterness of soul, and prayed to the L ORD, and wept sorely.
11. And she vowed a vow and said, “O, L ORD of hosts, if You will indeed look upon the affliction of Your handmaid and remember me, and not forget Your handmaid, but will give to Your handmaid a manchild, then I will give him to His service forever.”
12. And Eli said to her, “Go in peace; and may the L ORD do according to all that He has spoken.
13. And it came about when she rose up to depart, that Eli the priest said, “Hannah, I have heard your prayer, your supplication, and your vow.
14. Go in peace, and may the L ORD keep the oath which He has sworn to you.”
15. And she said, “Let your servant find favor in your eyes.”

16. In those days there was no king in Israel. Every man did what was right in his own eyes.
the LORD all the days of his life, and there shall no razor come upon his head.”
12. And it came to pass as she continued praying before the LORD, Eli noticed her mouth.
13. Now Hannah spoke in her heart, only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard. And Eli thought she had become drunk.
14. And Eli said to her, “How long will you be drunken? Put away your wine from you!”
15. And Hannah answered, “No, my lord, I am a woman of a sorrowful spirit. I have neither drunk wine nor strong drink, but have poured out my soul before the LORD.
16. Do not count your handmaid for a daughter of wickedness, for out of the abundance of my anxiety and grief I have spoken until now.”
17. And Eli answered and said, “Go in peace, and the God of Israel grant to you your petition that you have asked of Him.”
18. And she said, “Let your handmaid find grace in your sight.” So the woman went her way and ate, and her face was no longer sad.
19. And they rose up early in the morning, and worshiped before the LORD, and returned, and came to their house to Ramah. And Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and the LORD remembered her.
20. And it came to pass when the time had come, Hannah conceived and bore a son and called his name Samuel, saying, “Because I have asked of the LORD.”
21. And the man Elkanah and all his house went up to offer to the LORD the yearly sacrifice and his vow.
22. But Hannah did not go up, for she said to her husband, “Until the child is weaned, and then I will bring him so that he may appear before the LORD and stay there forever.”
23. And Elkanah her husband said to her, “Do what seems good to you. Stay until you have weaned him. Only may the LORD establish His word.” So the woman stayed and gave her son suck until she weaned him.
24. And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, with three bulls and one ephah of flour, and a skin of wine, and brought him to the house of the LORD in Shiloh. And the child was young.
25. And they killed a bull, and brought the child to Eli.
26. And she said, “O, my lord, as your soul lives, my lord, I am the woman who stood by you here, praying to the LORD; for this boy I prayed, and the LORD has given me my petition which I asked of Him.
27. And I have returned him to the LORD. As long as he lives, he shall be given to the LORD.” And he worshiped the LORD there.

CHAPTER TWO

1. And Hannah prayed and said, “My heart rejoices in the LORD, my horn is exalted in the LORD. My mouth is enlarged over my enemies because I rejoice in Your salvation.
2. There is none holy as the LORD, for there is none beside You. Neither is there any rock like our God.
3. Talk no more so very proudly. Remove arrogance out of your mouth, for the LORD is a God of knowledge, and by Him actions are weighed.
4. The bows of the mighty are broken, and they that stumbled are girded with strength.
5. They that were full have hired themselves out for bread, and they that were hungry have ceased to hunger; yea, while even the barren has borne seven, and she who had many sons has languished.
6. The LORD kills and makes alive. He brings down to the grave and brings up.
7. The LORD takes away, and He gives riches; He brings low; yea, He lifts up high.
8. He raises up the poor out of the dust; He lifts up the needy from the dunghill to set them among princes; yea, He causes them to inherit a throne of honor, for to the LORD belong the pillars of the earth; and He sets the habitable world upon them.
9. He keeps the feet of His saints, and the wicked are silenced in darkness; for by strength shall no man prevail.
10. The foes of the LORD shall be broken to pieces. He thunders in the heavens upon them. The LORD shall judge the ends of the earth. And He shall give strength to His king, and exalts the horn of His anointed.”
11. And Elkanah went to Ramah to his house. And the child served the LORD before Eli the priest.
12. And the sons of Eli were worthless men. They did not know the LORD.
13. And the priests’ custom with the people was: If any man offered sacrifice, the priest’s servant came while the flesh was boiling, with a fleshhook of three prongs in his hand.
14. And he stuck it into the pan or pot or caldron or pot. All that the fleshhook brought up the priest took for himself. So they did in Shiloh to all the Israelites that came there.
15. Yea, before they burned the fat, the priest’s servant came and said to the man who sacrificed, “Give flesh to roast for the priest, for he will not have boiled flesh from you, but raw!”
16. And if any man said to him, “Let them not fail to burn the fat at once, and then take as your soul desires,” then he would answer him, “No! But you shall give now! And if not, I will take it by force.”
17. And the sin of the young men was very great before the LORD, for men despised the offering of the LORD.
18. And Samuel served before the LORD, a child girded with a linen ephod.
19. And his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice.
20. And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, “May the LORD give you seed of this woman for the loan which is loaned to the LORD.” And they went to their own home.
21. And the LORD visited Hannah so that she conceived, and she bore three sons and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the LORD.
22. And Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did to all Israel, and how they lay with the women who gathered at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
23. And he said to them, “Why do you do such things? For I hear of your evil dealings by all the people.
24. No, my sons, for it is no good report that I hear. You make the LORD’S people to transgress.
25. If one man sins against another, the judge shall judge him. But if a man sins against the LORD, who shall plead for him?” But they did not hearken to the voice of their father because the LORD desired to slay them.
26. And the child Samuel continued to grow in stature and in favor, both with the LORD and also with men.
27. And there came a man of God to Eli, and said to him, “Thus says the LORD: ‘Did I plainly appear to the house of your father when they were in Egypt in Pharaoah’s house?’
28. And did I not choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be My priest, to offer upon My altar, to burn incense, to wear an ephod before Me? And did I not give to the house of your father all the offerings made by fire from the children of Israel?
29. Why do you kick at My sacrifice and My offering, which I have commanded in My house? Why do you honor your sons above Me, to make yourselves fat with the best of all the offerings of Israel My people?”
30. Wherefore the LORD God of Israel says, ‘I said indeed that your house and the house of your father should walk before Me forever.’ But now the LORD says, ‘Far be it from Me! For those who honor Me I will honor, and those that think little of Me shall be lightly regarded.
31. Behold, the days come when I will cut off your arm and the arm of your father’s house, so that no old man shall be in your house.
32. And you shall see with an envious eye, a rival in My house in all the good which he does with Israel. And there shall not be an old man in your house forever.
33. And that man of yours whom I shall not cut off from My altar shall be left in order to make your eyes fail and to grieve your heart. And all the increase of your house shall die young men.
34. And this shall be a sign to you, which shall come upon your two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day both of them shall die.
35. And I will raise up a faithful priest to Myself, one who shall do according to what is in My heart and in My mind. And I will build him a sure house, and he shall walk before My anointed forever.
36. And it shall be that everyone who is left in your house shall come and bow down to him for a piece of silver and a piece of bread. And they shall say,
“Please put me into one of the priests’ offices so that I may eat a piece of bread.”

CHAPTER THREE

1. And the child Samuel served the LORD before Eli. And the word of the LORD was precious in those days. There was no open vision.

2. And it came to pass at that time, when Eli was lying down in his place and his eyes began to become dim, that he could not see,

3. And the lamp of God had not yet gone out. And Samuel was lying down in the temple of the LORD where the ark of God was.

4. That the LORD called Samuel. And he answered, “Here am I.”

5. And he ran to Eli, and said, “Here am I, for you called me.” And he said, “I did not call. Go and lie down again.” And he went to lie down.

6. And the LORD called again, “Samuel!” And Samuel arose and went to Eli and said, “Here am I, for you called me.” And he answered, “I did not call, my son. Go back and lie down.”

7. And Samuel did not yet know the LORD, and the word of the LORD had not yet been revealed to him.

8. And the LORD called Samuel again, the third time. And he arose and went to Eli and said, “Here am I, for you called me.” And Eli perceived that the LORD had called the child.

9. And Eli said to Samuel, “Go and lie down; and it shall be, if One calls you, you shall say, ‘Speak, LORD, for Your servant hears.’” And Samuel went to lie down in his place.

10. And the LORD came and stood, and called as at other times, “Samuel, Samuel!” Then Samuel answered, “Speak, for Your servant hears.”

11. And the LORD said to Samuel, “Behold, I will do a thing in Israel at which both the ears of everyone who hears it shall tingle.

12. In that day I will confirm to Eli all that which I have spoken concerning his house, and when I begin I will also make an end.

13. For I have told him that I will judge his house forever for the iniquity which he knows because his sons made themselves vile and he did not restrain them.

14. And therefore I have sworn to the house of Eli that the iniquity of Eli’s house shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering forever.”

15. And Samuel lay until morning, and opened the doors of the house of the LORD. And Samuel feared to show Eli the vision.

16. And Eli called Samuel and said, “Samuel, my son.” And he answered, “Here am I.”

17. And he said, “What is the word which He has said to you? Please do not hide it from me. God do so to you, and more also, if you hide a thing from me of all the words that He said to you.”

18. And Samuel told him all the words, and hid nothing from him. And he said, “It is the LORD; let Him do what seems good to Him.”

19. And Samuel grew, and the LORD was with him and let none of his words fall to the ground.

20. And all Israel, from Dan even to Beersheba, knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the LORD.

21. And the LORD appeared again in Shiloh, for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the LORD.

CHAPTER FOUR

1. And the word of Samuel was revealed to all Israel. And Israel went out against the Philistines to battle and pitched beside Ebenezer. And the Philistines pitched in Aphek.

2. And the Philistines put themselves in order against Israel. And when the battle commenced Israel was beaten before the Philistines. And they killed about four thousand men of the army in the field.

3. And when the people had come to the camp, the elders of Israel said, “Why has the LORD beaten us today before the Philistines? Let us bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of Shiloh to us, so that when it comes among us it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.”

4. And the people sent to Shiloh in order to bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts from there, the ark which dwells between the cherubim. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.
5. And it came to pass when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth rang again.

6. And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, “What is the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews?” And they saw that the ark of the LORD had come into the camp.

7. And the Philistines were afraid, for they said, “God has come into the camp.” And they said, “Woe to us, for there has not been a thing like this before!

8. Woe to us! Who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty gods? These are the gods that struck the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness.

9. Be strong and fight like men, O, Philistines, so that you may not be servants to the Hebrews as they have been to you. Be men and fight!”

10. And the Philistines fought, and Israel was beaten, and each one of them fled into his tent. And there was a very great slaughter, for there fell thirty thousand footmen of Israel.

11. And the ark of God was taken. And Hophni and Phinehas, the two sons of Eli, were slain.

12. And a man of Benjamin ran out of the army. And he came to Shiloh the same day with his clothes torn and with dirt upon his head.

13. And he came in, and behold, Eli sat upon a seat by the wayside watching, for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city and told it, all the city cried out.

14. And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, “What is the noise of this tumult?” And the man hurried in and told Eli.

15. And Eli was ninety-eight years old, and his eyes were so that he could not see.

16. And the man said to Eli, “I am he who came out of the army, and I fled today from the battle.” And he said, “How did the matter go, my son?”

17. And the messenger answered and said, “Israel has fled before the Philistines, and also there has been a great slaughter among the people. And also your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God has been captured.”

18. And it came to pass when he spoke of the ark of God, Eli fell backward off the seat by the side of the gate. And his neck broke, and he died, for he was an old man and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years.

19. And his daughter-in-law, Phinehas’ wife, was with child, ready to be delivered. And when she heard the report that the ark of God was taken, and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she bowed herself and travailed, for her pains came upon her.

20. And about the time of her death the women that stood by her said to her, “Do not fear, for you have borne a son.” But she did not answer, nor set her heart upon it.

21. And she named the child Ichabod, saying, “The glory has departed from Israel,” because the ark of God had been captured, and because of her father-in-law and her husband.

22. And she said, “The glory has departed from Israel, for the ark of God is taken.”

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And the Philistines took the ark of God and brought it from Ebenezer to Ashdod.

2. And the Philistines took the ark of God and brought it into the temple of Dagon, and set it beside Dagon.

3. And when those of Ashdod arose early on the next day, behold, Dagon had fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. And they took Dagon and set him in his place again.

4. And when they arose early on the next morning, behold, Dagon had fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. And the head of Dagon, and both the palms of his hands, were cut off upon the threshold. Only the stump of Dagon was left to him.

5. And neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon’s house, tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod this day.

6. And the hand of the LORD was heavy upon the people of Ashdod, and He destroyed them and struck them with hemorrhoids, Ashdod and its borders.

7. And the men of Ashdod saw that it was so. And they said, “The ark of the God of Israel shall not stay with us, for His hand is heavy upon us and upon Dagon our god.”
8. And they sent and gathered all the lords of the Philistines to them. And they said, “What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?” And they answered, “Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried around to Gath.” And they carried the ark of the God of Israel around.
9. And it came to pass after they had carried it around, the hand of God was very heavy there.
10. And it came to pass that they sent the ark of God to Ekron. And it came to pass as the ark of God came to Ekron, the Ekronites cried out, saying, “They have brought around the ark of the God of Israel to us in order to kill us and our people.”
11. And they sent and gathered all the lords of the Philistines, and said, “Send away the ark of God to its own place, so that it does not kill us and our people,” for there was a deadly destruction throughout all the city. The hand of God was very heavy there.
12. And the men that did not die were stricken with the hemorrhoids. And the cry of the city went up to heaven.

CHAPTER SIX

1. And the ark of the LORD was in the field of the Philistines seven months.
2. And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying, “What shall we do to the ark of the LORD? Tell us, what shall we send with it to its place.”
3. And they said, “If you send away the ark of the God of Israel, do not send it empty; for you shall certainly send a guilt offering to Him. Then you shall be healed, and it shall be known to you why His hand is not removed from you.”
4. And they said, “What shall be the guilt offering which we shall return to Him?” And they answered, “Five golden hemorrhoids, and five golden mice, for the number of the lords of the Philistines, for one plague was on you all, and on your lords.
5. And you shall make images of your hemorrhoids and images of your mice which ravage the land. And you shall give glory to the God of Israel. Perhaps He will lighten His hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land.
6. And why do you harden your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? When He had worked awesomely among them, did they not let the people go, and did they not depart?
7. And now make a new cart, and take two milk cows on which there has come no yoke, and tie the cows to the cart, and bring their calves home from them.
8. And take the ark of the LORD and lay it upon the cart. And put the jewels of gold which you return to Him for a trespass offering in a box by its side. And send it away so that it may go.
9. And watch. If it goes up by the way of its own border to Beth Shemesh, He has done us this great evil. But if not, then we shall know that it is not His hand that struck us. It was a chance that happened to us.”
10. And the men did so. And they took two milk cows and tied them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home.
11. And they laid the ark of the LORD upon the cart, and the box with the mice of gold and the images of their hemorrhoids.
12. And the cows went the straight way to the way of Beth Shemesh, going along the highway, lowing as they went. And they did not turn aside to the right or to the left. And the lords of the Philistines went after them to the border of Beth Shemesh.
13. And the people of Beth Shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley. And they lifted up their eyes and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it.
14. And the cart came into the field of Joshua, of Beth Shemesh, and stood there and there was a great stone. And they cut the wood of the cart and offered the cows as a burnt offering to the LORD.
15. And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD and put it upon the cart, and the box beside it, in which the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great stone. And the men of Beth Shemesh offered burnt offerings and sacrifice the same day to the LORD.
16. And when the five lords of the Philistines had seen this, they returned to Ekron on that day.
17. And these are the golden hemorrhoids which the Philistines returned for a guilt offering to the LORD: for Ashdod, one; for Gaza, one; for Askelon one; for Gath, one; for Ekron, one.
18. And the golden mice were according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines for the five lords, of fortified cities and of country villages, even to the great meadow on which they set down the ark of the LORD to this day in the field of Joshua of Beth Shemesh.
19. And He struck the men of Beth Shemesh because they had looked into the ark of the LORD. He even struck seventy among the people, including fifty chief men. And the people lamented because the LORD had struck the people throughout Israel in Mizpeh.
20. And the men of Beth Shemesh said, "Who is able to stand before this holy LORD God? And to whom shall He go up away from us?"
21. And they sent messengers to the peodle of Kirjath Jearim, saying, "The Philistines have brought again the ark of the LORD. Come down and bring it up to yourselves."

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. And the men of Kirjath Jearim came and brought up the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the house of Abinadab in the hill. And they sanctified Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the LORD.
2. And it came to pass from the day the ark began to dwell in Kirjath Jearim, the days became many; yea, they were twenty years. And all the house of Israel yearned after the LORD.
3. And Samuel spoke to all the house of Israel saying, "If you return to the LORD with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts to the LORD, and serve Him only, that He will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines."
4. And the children of Israel put away the Baalim and the Ashtaroth, and served the LORD only.
5. And Samuel said, "Gather all Israel to Mizpah, and I will pray for you to the LORD."
6. And they were gathered to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured out before the LORD, and fasted on that day, and said there, "We have sinned against the LORD." And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpah.
7. And the Philistines heard that the children of Israel had come together to Miz-peh. And the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And the children of Israel heard, and they were afraid of the Philistines.
8. And the children of Israel said to Samuel, "Do not cease from crying out to the LORD our God for us, so that He will save us out of the hand of the Philistines."
9. And Samuel took a suckling lamb, and offered a whole burnt offering to the LORD. And Samuel cried out to the LORD for Israel, and the LORD answered him.
10. And it came to pass as Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel.
But the LORD thundereous with a great noise on that day against the Philistines, and troubled them. And they were beaten before Israel.
11. And the men of Israel went out of Mizpah, and pursued the Philistines, and struck them as far as below Beth Car.
12. And Samuel took a stone and set it between Mizpah and Shen, and called the name of it Ebenezer, saying, "The LORD has helped us until now."
13. And the Philistines were beaten, and they did not come any more into the border of Israel. And the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.
14. And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were given back to Israel, from Ekron even to Gath. And Israel delivered its borders out of the hand of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.
15. And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life.
16. And he went from year to year in a circuit to Bethel and Gilgal and Mizpeh, and judged Israel in all those places.
17. And his return was to Ramah, for his house was there. And he judged Israel there. And he built an altar there to the LORD.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And it came to pass when Samuel was old, he made his sons judges over Israel.
2. And the name of his firstborn was
Joel, and the name of his second was Abiaiah, judges in Beersheba.
3. Yet his sons did not walk in his ways, but turned aside after dishonest gain and took bribes and perverted judgment.
4. And all the elders of Israel gathered themselves and came to Samuel to Ramah.
5. And they said to him, “Behold, you are old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.”
6. But the thing was evil in the eyes of Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.
7. And the LORD said to Samuel, “Hearken to the voice of the people in all that they say to you, for they have not rejected you, but they have rejected Me, that I should not reign over them.
8. According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt even until this day—works with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods—so they do also to you.
9. And now hearken to their voice. Only, you shall surely protest solemnly to them, and show them the kind of king whom they shall reign over them.”
10. And Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked a king of him.
11. And he said, “This will be the manner of the king who shall reign over you. He shall take your sons and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and his horsemen. And they shall run before his chariots.
12. And he will appoint commanders over thousands, and commanders over fifties, and some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and make his weapons of war and weapons for his chariots.
13. And he will take your daughters to be perfumers and cooks and bakers.
14. And he will take your fields and your vineyards and your oliveyards, even the best of them, and give them to his servants.
15. And he will take a tenth of your seed and of your vineyards, and give it to his officers and to his servants.
16. And he will take your male slaves and your slave-girls, and your finest young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work.
17. He will take a tenth of your sheep, and you shall be his servants.
18. And you shall cry out in that day because of your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, and the LORD will not answer you in that day.”
19. But the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel. And they said, “No, but we will have a king over us.
20. And we shall be, also we, like all the nations, so that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles.”
21. And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he repeated them in the ears of the LORD.
22. And the LORD said to Samuel, “Hearken to their voice, and make them a king.” And Samuel said to the men of Israel, “Every man go to his city.”

CHAPTER NINE

1. And there was a man of Benjamin, and his name was Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Becorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a mighty man of power.
2. And he had a son named Saul, young and handsome. And there was not a man among the children of Israel more handsome than he, being taller than any of the people from his shoulder and upward.
3. And the donkeys of Kish, Saul’s father, were lost. And Kish said to Saul his son, “Please take one of the servants with you and arise, and go look for the donkeys.”
4. And he passed through Mount Ephraim, and passed through the land of Shalisha, but they did not find them. And they passed through the land of Shaalim, and found nothing there. And he passed through the land of Benjamin, but they did not find them.
5. And they came to the land of Zuph, and Saul said to his servant who was with him, “Come and let us return lest my father quit caring for the donkeys, and be anxious about us.”
6. And he said to him, “Behold now, in this city is a man of God, and an honorable man. All that he says surely comes to pass. Now let us go there. Perhaps he can declare our way to us, how to go.”
7. Then Saul said to his young man, “But behold, if we go, what shall we bring the man? For the bread in our vessels is gone, and there is no present to bring to the man of God. What do we have?"
8. And the young man answered Saul again, and said, "Behold, I have found the fourth of a shekel of silver. I will give it to the man of God to tell us our way."
9. (In the old days in Israel, when a man went to inquire of God, he said this: "Come, let us go to the seer," for the prophet of today was formerly called a seer.)
10. And Saul said to his young man, "Your word is good. Come, let us go." So they went into the city where the man of God was.
11. As they went up the hill to the city, they found young women going out to draw water, and said to them, "Is the seer here?"
12. And they answered them and said, "He is. Behold, he is straight ahead of you. Hurry now, for he came today to the city, for there is a feast of the people today in the high place.
13. As you come to the city, you shall immediately find him before he goes up to the high place to eat, for the people will not eat until he comes because he blesses the feast. Afterwards those who have been invited, eat. And now go up, for about this time you shall find him."
14. And they went up into the city. When they had come into the middle of the city, behold, Samuel came out to meet them to go up to the high place.
15. And the Lord had told Samuel in his ear one day before Saul came, saying,
16. "Tomorrow about this time I will send you a man out of the land of Benjamin. And you shall anoint him to be prince over My people Israel, so that he may save My people out of the hand of the Philistines, for I have looked upon My people because their cry has come to Me."
17. And when Samuel saw Saul, the Lord said to him, "Behold the man of whom I spoke to you! This one shall reign over My people."
18. And Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate and said, "Please tell me where the seer's house is."
19. And Samuel answered Saul and said, "I am the seer. Go up before me to the high place, for you shall eat with me today, and tomorrow I will let you go, and will tell you all that is in your heart.
20. And as to the donkeys which were lost to you three days ago, do not set your mind on them, for they are found. And on whom is all the desire of Israel? Is it not on you and on all your father's house?"
21. And Saul answered and said, "Am I not a Benjamite, of the smallest of the tribes of Israel? And is not my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then do you speak so to me?"
22. And Samuel took Saul and his young man and brought them into the room, and gave them a place at the head of the invited ones, about thirty persons.
23. And Samuel said to the cook, "Bring that part which I gave you, of which I said to you, 'Set it beside you.' "
24. And the cook took up the shoulder and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, "Behold that which is reserved! Set it before you and eat, for until this set time it has been kept for you, since I said, 'I have invited the people.' " And Saul ate with Samuel that day.
25. And they came down from the high place into the city, and he spoke with Saul upon the top of the house.
26. And they arose early. And it came to pass about the break of dawn that Samuel called Saul to the top of the house, saying, "Up, so that I may send you away." And Saul arose, and both of them went out, he and Samuel outside.
27. When they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the servant to pass on before us." And he passed on. "And you stand still awhile, so that I may cause you to hear the word of God."

CHAPTER TEN
1. And Samuel took a vial of oil and poured it upon his head, and kissed him, and said, "Is it not because the Lord has anointed you for a prince over His inheritance?
2. When you have departed from me today, then you shall find two men by Rachel's tomb in the border of Benjamin at Zelzah. And they will say to you, "The
And Saul's uncle said to him and to his young man, "Where did you go?" And he said, "To look for the donkeys. And when we saw that they were nowhere, we came to Samuel." And Saul's uncle said, "Please tell me what Samuel said to you."

And Saul said to his uncle, "He told us plainly that the donkeys were found." But he did not tell him of the matter of the kingdom of which Samuel spoke.

And Samuel called the people together to the LORD to Mizpeh.

And he said to the children of Israel, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all kingdoms of those who oppressed you. And you have this day rejected your God Who Himself saved you out of all your calamities and your tribulations. And you have said to Him, 'But set a king over us.' And now present yourselves before the LORD by your tribes and by your thousands.'"

And when Samuel had caused all the tribes of Israel to come near, the tribe of Benjamin was taken.

When he had caused the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri was taken, and Saul the son of Kish was taken. And they looked for him, but he could not be found.

And they inquired of the LORD further, "Has the man yet come here?" And the LORD answered, "Behold, he is hiding himself among the baggage."

And they ran and brought him from there. And when he stood among the people, he was taller than all of the people from the shoulders and upward.

And Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see him whom the LORD has chosen, that there is none like him among all the people?" And all the people shouted, and said, "Long live the king!"

Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book and laid it up before the LORD. And Samuel sent all the people away, each to his house.

And Saul also went home to Gibeah. And a band of men went with him whose hearts God had touched.

But certain base men said, "How shall this man save us?" And they despised him... and brought him no present. But he was silent.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And Nahash the Ammonite came up and camped against Jabesh Gilead. And all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, “Make a covenant with us, and we will serve you.”
2. And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, “With this condition I will make a covenant with you—when all your right eyes are dug out, thus bringing a reproach upon all Israel.”
3. And the elders of Jabesh said to him, “Bear with us seven days, so that we may send messengers to all the territory of Israel. And then if there is no man to save us, we will come out to you.”
4. Then the messengers came to Gibeah of Saul, and told the news in the ears of the people. And all the people lifted up their voices and wept.
5. And, behold, Saul came after the herd out of the field. And Saul said, “What is wrong with the people that they weep?” And they told him the words of the men of Jabesh.
6. And the Spirit of God came powerfully upon Saul when he heard those words, and his anger was greatly kindled.
7. And he took a yoke of oxen and cut them in pieces, and sent throughout all the territory of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, “Whoever does not come out after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen.” And the fear of the LORD fell on the people, and they came out as one man.
8. And when he numbered them in Bezek, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand.
9. And they said to the messengers that came, “Thus shall you say to the men of Jabesh Gilead, ‘Tomorrow by the time the sun is hot, you shall have help.’ ” And the messengers came and told the men of Jabesh, and they were glad.
10. And the men of Jabesh said, “Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you shall do with us all that seems good to you.”
11. And it was so on the next day, Saul put the people in three companies, and they came into the middle of the army at the morning watch. And they killed the Ammonites until the heat of the day. And the ones who remained were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.
12. And the people said to Samuel, “Who is he that said, ‘Shall Saul reign over us?’ Bring the men so that we may put them to death.”
13. And Saul said, “There shall not a man be put to death this day, for today the LORD has worked salvation in Israel.”
14. Then Samuel said to the people, “Come and let us go to Gilgal and renew the kingdom there.”
15. And all the people went to Gilgal, and made Saul king before the LORD in Gilgal, and there they sacrificed peace offerings before the LORD. And there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

CHAPTER TWELVE

1. And Samuel said to all Israel, “Behold, I have listened to your voice in all that you said to me, and have made a king over you.
2. And now, behold, the king walks before you. And I am old and grayheaded, and, behold, my sons are with you. And I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.
3. Behold, here I am. Witness against me before the LORD and before His anointed. Whose ox have I taken? Or whose donkey have I taken? Or whom have I defrauded? Whom have I oppressed? Or from whose hand have I received a bribe to blind my eyes with it? And I will restore it to you.”
4. And they said, “You have not defrauded us nor oppressed us, neither have you taken from any man’s hand.”
5. And he said to them, “The LORD is witness against you, and His anointed is witness this day, that you have not found anything in my hand.” And they answered, “He is witness.”
6. And Samuel said to the people, “It is the LORD Who appointed Moses and Aaron, and Who brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt.
7. And now stand still, so that I may plead with you before the LORD concerning all the righteous acts of the LORD which He did to you and to your fathers.
8. When Jacob had come into Egypt, and your fathers cried to the LORD, then the LORD sent Moses and Aaron, who brought your fathers out of Egypt and made them live in this place.
9. And they forgot the LORD their God. And He sold them into the hand of Sisera, captain of the army of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab, and they fought against them.
10. And they cried to the LORD, and said, ‘We have sinned because we have forsaken the LORD, and have served the Baalim and Ashtoreths. But now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will serve You.’
11. And the LORD sent Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and you lived safely.
12. And when you saw that Nahash the king of the sons of Ammon came against you, you said to me, ‘No, but a king shall reign over us,’ even though the LORD your God was your King.
13. And now, behold the king whom you have chosen, whom you have desired! And behold, the LORD has set a king over us, even though the LORD was to deliver us from the hand of our enemies.
14. If you will fear the LORD, and serve Him, and listen to His voice, and not rebel against the commandments of the LORD, then both you and also the king will be swept away.
15. But if you will not hearken to the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the command of the LORD, then the hand of the LORD shall be against you as it was against your fathers.
16. Also, now stand and see this great thing which the LORD shall do before your eyes.
17. Is it not the wheat harvest today? I will call to the LORD, and He shall send thunder and rain, so that you may perceive and see that your wickedness is great, that which you have done in the sight of the LORD, in asking a king for you.”
18. And Samuel called to the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day. And all the people greatly feared the LORD and Samuel.
19. And all the people said to Samuel, “Pray for your servants to the LORD your God so that we will not die, for we have added evil to all our sins to ask a king for us.”
20. And Samuel said to the people, “Do not fear. You have done all this wickedness. Yet do not turn aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart.
21. And do not turn aside to go after vanities which cannot profit nor deliver, for they are vain,
22. Then the LORD will not forsake His people for His great name’s sake because it has pleased the LORD to make you His people.
23. Also, I, far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD from ceasing to pray for you. But I will teach you the good and the right way.
24. Only fear the LORD, and serve Him in truth with all your heart, for consider what great things He has done for you.
25. But if you shall still do wickedly, both you and your king will be swept away.”

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. Saul reigned one year, and when he had reigned two more years over Israel,
2. Then Saul chose for himself three thousand from Israel. Two thousand of these were with Saul in Michmash and in Mount Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin. And of the rest of the people he sent each man to his tent.
3. And Jonathan struck the garrison of the Philistines in Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. And Saul blew the ram’s horn throughout all the land, saying, “Let the Hebrews hear.”
4. And all Israel heard, saying, “Saul has struck a garrison of the Philistines, and also Israel has made himself an abomination to the Philistines.” And the people were called to Saul at Gilgal.
5. And the Philistines gathered to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and people like the sand on the seashore in multitude. And they came up and pitched in Michmash, eastward from Beth Aven.
6. And the men of Israel saw that they were in a tight place (for the people were distressed). And the people hid themselves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in high places, and in pits.
7. And the Hebrews went over Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead. And Saul was still in Gilgal, and all the people followed him, trembling.
8. And he waited seven days, according to the set time with Samuel, but Samuel did not come to Gilgal. And the people were scattered from him.
9. And Saul said, “Bring a burnt offering here to me and peace offerings.” And he offered the burnt offering.
10. And it came to pass as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, behold, Samuel came. And Saul went out to meet him and to kneel to him.
11. And Samuel said, “What have you done?” And Saul said, “Because I saw that the people were scattered from me, and you did not come in the days appointed, and the Philistines gathered themselves at Michmash,
12. And I said, ‘The Philistines will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not made supplication to the LORD.’ And I forced myself and offered a burnt offering.”
13. And Samuel said to Saul, “You have done foolishly. You have not kept the commandment of the LORD your God which He commanded you; for now the LORD would have established your kingdom upon Israel forever.
14. But now your kingdom shall not stand. The LORD has sought Him a man after His own heart, and the LORD has appointed him to be prince over His people because you have not kept what the LORD commanded you.”
15. And Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people present with him, about six hundred men.
16. And Saul, and his son Jonathan, and the people present with them, stayed in Gibeah of Benjamin. But the Philistines camped in Michmash.
17. And the spoilers came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies. One company turned to the way to Ophrah, to the land of Shual.
18. And another company turned the way to Beth Horon. And one company turned the way of the border that looks toward the valley of Zeboim toward the wilderness.
19. And there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said, “Lest the Hebrews make swords or spears.”
20. But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines, each man to sharpen his plowshare, and his mattock, and his axe, and his coulter.
21. And there was the charge of two-thirds of a shekel for the plowshares, and for the mattocks, and for the three-pronged forks, and for the axes, and to sharpen the plowshares.
22. And it came to pass in the day of battle there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people with Saul and Jonathan. But with Saul and with his son Jonathan there was found sword and spear.
23. And the garrison of the Philistines went out to the passage of Michmash.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. And the day came that Jonathan the son of Saul said to the young man who bore his armor, “Come and let us go over to the Philistines’ garrison which is on the other side.” But he did not tell his father.
2. And Saul stayed in the edge of Gibeah under the pomegranate tree in Mignon. And the people who were with him were about six hundred men.
3. And Ahiah, the son of Ahitub, Ichabod’s brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the LORD’S priest in Shiloh, was wearing an ephod. And the people did not know that Jonathan was gone.
4. And between the passages by which Jonathan sought to go over to the Philistines’ garrison there was a rocky crag on the one side and a rocky crag on the other side. And the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.
5. The one crag was a pillar on the north in front of Michmash, and the other southward in front of Gibeah.
6. And Jonathan said to the young man who bore his armor, “Come, and let us go over to the garrison of these uncircumcised ones. It may be that the LORD will work for us, for there is no restraint to the LORD, to save by many or by few.”
7. And his armor-bearer said to him, “Do all that is in your heart. Turn, for behold, I am with you according to your heart.”
8. And Jonathan said, “Behold, we will go over to these men, and we will show ourselves to them.
9. If they say this to us, ‘Stand still until we come to you,’ then we will stand still in our place and will not go up to them.
10. But if they say this, ‘Come up to us,’ then we will go up, for the LORD has delivered them up into our hand. And this shall be a sign to us.”
11. And both of them showed themselves to the garrison of the Philistines. And the Philistines said, “Behold, the Hebrews come out of the holes where they have hidden themselves.”
12. And the men of the garrison answered Jonathan and his armor-bearer and said, “Come up to us, and we will teach you a thing.” And Jonathan said to his armor-bearer, “Come up after me, for the LORD has delivered them into the hand of Israel.”
13. And Jonathan climbed up on his hands and feet, and his armor-bearer after him. And they fell before Jonathan, and his armor-bearer killed some after him.
14. And this was the first blow, when Jonathan and his armor-bearer struck about twenty men in about half of a furrow of an acre of a field.
15. And there was trembling in the army, in the field, and among all the people. The garrison and the spoilers also trembled, and the earth quaked, and it was a very great trembling.
16. And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and behold, the multitude had melted away and went here and there.
17. And Saul said to the people with him, “Number now and see who is gone from us.” And when they had counted, behold, Jonathan and his armor-bearer were not there.
18. And Saul said to Ahiah, “Bring the ark of God here,” for the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel.
19. And it came to pass, while Saul talked to the priest, the noise in the army of the Philistines went on and grew greater. And Saul said to the priest, “Withdraw your hand.”
20. And Saul and all the people with him gathered, and they went to the battle. And, behold, every man’s sword was against his fellow, a very great panic.
21. And the Hebrews that were with the Philistines before, who had gone up with them into the camp all around, even they also turned to be with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan.
22. And all the men of Israel who had hidden themselves in Mount Ephraim heard that the Philistines had fled, even they also followed them in the battle.
23. And the LORD saved Israel that day, and the battle passed over to Beth Aven.
24. And the men of Israel were distressed on that day, for Saul had commanded the people, saying, “Cursed is the man that eats food until evening, so that I may be avenged on my enemies.” So none of the people tasted any food.
25. And all the men of Israel with the Philistines before, who had gone up with them into the camp all around, even they also followed them in the battle.
26. And when the people had come into the woods, behold, a flow of honey! But no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oath.
27. But Jonathan did not hear when his father made the people swear. And he put forth the end of the rod in his hand and dipped it into a honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth. And his eyes were enlightened.
28. And one from the people answered and said, “Your father strictly charged the people with an oath, saying, ‘Cursed is the man that eats food this day.’ ” And the people were weary.
29. Then Jonathan said, “My father has troubled the land. Please see how my eyes have been enlightened because I tasted a little of this honey.
30. How much more if the people had happened to eat freely today of the spoil of their enemies which they found? For would not there have been a much greater slaughter among the Philistines?”
31. And they struck the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon, and the people were very faint.
32. And the people flew upon the spoil, and took sheep and oxen and calves, and killed them on the ground. And the people ate with the blood.
33. And they told Saul, saying, “Behold, the people sin against the LORD in that they eat with the blood.” And he said, “You have transgressed. Roll a great stone to me today.”
34. And Saul said, “Disperse yourselves among the people and say to them, ‘Let
And Saul said, “Cast B by night and kill them there.

The same was the first altar that he built to the LORD.

Then he said to all Israel, “You be on one side, and Jonathan my son and I will be on the other side.” And the people said to Saul, “Do what seems good to you.”

And Saul asked counsel of God: “Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver them into the hand of the L ORD?” But He answered him not that day.

And Saul said, “Let us go down after the Philistines by night and spoil them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them.” And they said, “Do all that seems good to you.” Then the priest said, “Let us draw near here to God.”

And Saul asked counsel of God: “Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver them into the hand of the LORD?” But He answered him not that day.

And Saul said to the LORD God of Israel, “Give a perfect lot.” And Saul and Jonathan were taken, but the people es-

The same was the first altar that he built to the LORD.

47. And Saul took over the kingdom of Israel and fought against all his enemies on every side, with Moab, and with the sons of Ammon, and with Edom, and with the kings of Zobah, and with the Philistines. And wherever he turned himself, he troubled them.

48. And he gathered an army and struck the Amalekites, and delivered Israel out of the hands of those who spoiled them.

49. And the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui, and Melchishua. And the names of his two daughters: the first-born’s name was Merab, and the name of the younger, Michal.

50. And the name of Saul’s wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of the commander of his army was Abner, the son of Ner, Saul’s uncle.

51. And Kish was the father of Saul. And Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.

52. And the war was heavy against the Philistines all the days of Saul. And when Saul saw any strong man, or any brave man, he took him to himself.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. And Samuel said to Saul, “The LORD sent me to anoint you to be king over His people, over Israel. And now listen to the voice of the words of the LORD.

2. Thus says the LORD of hosts, ‘I will punish Amalek for that which he did to Israel, how he set against him in the way when he came up from Egypt.

3. Now go and strike Amalek, and completely destroy all that they have, and do not spare them. But kill both man and woman, infant and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.’ ”

4. And Saul gathered the people together and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen and ten thousand men of Judah.

5. And Saul came to a city of Amalek and lay in wait in the valley.

6. And Saul said to the Kenites, “Go! Depart! Get down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them, for you showed kindness to all the children of Israel when they came up out of Egypt.” So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7. And Saul struck the Amalekites from each one bring his ox here, and each man his sheep, and kill them here, and eat. But do not sin against the LORD in eating with the blood.’ ” And each man of all the people brought his ox to his hand that night, and killed them there.

35. And Saul built an altar to the LORD. The same was the first altar that he built to the LORD.

36. And Saul said, “Let us go down after the Philistines. And the Philistines all the days of Saul. And wherever he turned himself, he troubled them.

37. And Saul asked counsel of God: “Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver them into the hand of the LORD?” But He answered him not that day.

38. And Saul said, “Draw near here, all the chief of the people, and know and see what this sin has been today, as what this sin has been today, for you showed kindness to all the children of Israel. Depart! Get down from among the Amalekites.

39. For, as the LORD lives, He Who saves Israel, though it is in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die.” But there was not a man among all the people who answered.

40. Then he said to all Israel, “You be on one side, and Jonathan my son and I will be on the other side.” And the people said to Saul, “Do what seems good to you.”

41. And Saul said to the LORD God of Israel, “Give a perfect lot.” And Saul and Jonathan were taken, but the people escaped.

42. And Saul said, “Cast lots between me and my son Jonathan.” And Jonathan was taken.

43. Then Saul said to Jonathan, “Tell me what you have done.” And Jonathan told him and said, “I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod in my hand. Behold, I must die.”

44. And Saul answered, “God do so and more also, for you shall surely die, Jonathan.”

45. And the people said to Saul, “Shall Jonathan die who has worked out this great salvation in Israel? Far be it! As the LORD lives, not one hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for he has worked with God this day.” Thus the people rescued Jonathan, so that he did not die.

46. Then Saul went up from following the Philistines. And the Philistines went to their own place.

47. And Saul took over the kingdom of Israel and fought against all his enemies on every side, with Moab, and with the sons of Ammon, and with Edom, and with the kings of Zobah, and with the Philistines. And wherever he turned himself, he troubled them.

48. And he gathered an army and struck the Amalekites, and delivered Israel out of the hands of those who spoiled them.

49. And the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui, and Melchishua. And the names of his two daughters: the first-born’s name was Merab, and the name of the younger, Michal.

50. And the name of Saul’s wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of the commander of his army was Abner, the son of Ner, Saul’s uncle.

51. And Kish was the father of Saul. And Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.

52. And the war was heavy against the Philistines all the days of Saul. And when Saul saw any strong man, or any brave man, he took him to himself.
Havilah, as you come to Shur, which is over across from Egypt.
8. And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive. And he completely destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.
9. But Saul and the people spared Agag and the best of the sheep and of the oxen and of the fatlings and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not completely destroy them. But everything that was vile and feeble they completely destroyed.
10. And the word of the LORD came to Samuel saying,
11. “It repents Me that I have set up Saul to be king, for he has turned back from following Me and has not performed My commandments.” And it grieved Samuel, and he cried out to the LORD all night.
12. And when Samuel rose up early in the morning to meet Saul, it was told to Samuel, saying, “Saul came to Carmel, and behold, he set up a place for himself, and has gone around and passed on and gone down to Gilgal.”
13. And Samuel came to Saul. And Saul said to him, “You are blessed of the LORD. I have performed the commandment of the LORD.”
14. And Samuel said, “What then is the sound of the herd which I hear?”
15. And Saul said, “They have brought them from the Amalekites, for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen to sacrifice to the LORD your God. And the rest we have completely destroyed.”
16. And Samuel said to Saul, “Stay and I will tell you what the LORD has said to me tonight.” And he said to him, “Speak on.”
17. And Samuel said, “When you were little in your own sight, did you not become the head of the tribes of Israel? And the LORD anointed you king over Israel.
18. And the LORD sent you on the way and said, ‘Go and completely destroy the sinners, the Amalekites, and fight against them until you destroy them.’
19. Why then did you not obey the voice of the LORD? Why did you fly upon the spoil and do evil in the sight of the LORD?”
20. And Saul said to Samuel, “Yes, I have obeyed the voice of the LORD, and have gone the way which the LORD sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have completely destroyed the Amalekites.
21. But the people took from the spoil, of the flock and herd, the best of the things devoted to destruction, to sacrifice to the LORD your God in Gilgal.”
22. And Samuel said, “Does the LORD have as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice! To hearken is better than the fat of rams, 23. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because you have rejected the word of the LORD, He has also rejected you from being king!”
24. And Saul said to Samuel, “I have sinned, for I have disobeyed the commandment of the LORD and your word because I feared the people and obeyed their voice.
25. And now please pardon my sin and turn again with me so that I may worship the LORD.”
26. And Samuel said to Saul, “I will not return with you, for you have rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD has rejected you from being king over Israel.”
27. And as Samuel turned around to go, Saul laid hold upon the skirt of his robe, and it tore.
28. And Samuel said to him, “The LORD has torn the kingdom of Israel from you this day, and has given it to a neighbor of yours who is better than you.
29. And also the Glory of Israel will not lie nor repent, for He is not a man that He should repent.”
30. Then he said, “I have sinned. Please honor me now before the elders of my people and before Israel, and turn again with me. And I shall worship the LORD your God.”
31. And Samuel turned again after Saul, and Saul worshiped the LORD.
32. And Samuel said, “Bring here to me Agag the king of the Amalekites.” And Agag came to him cautiously. And Agag said, “Surely the bitterness of death is at hand.”
33. And Samuel said, “As your sword has made women childless, so shall your mother be childless among women.” And Samuel cut Agag in pieces before the LORD in Gilgal.

34. And Samuel went to Ramah. And Saul went up to his house to Gibeah of Saul.

35. And Samuel never again saw Saul until the day of his death, for Samuel mourned for Saul. And the LORD repented that he had made Saul king over Israel.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. And the LORD said to Samuel, “How long will you mourn for Saul since I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and go. I will send you to Jesse of Bethlehem, for I have seen a king for Me among his sons.”

2. And Samuel said, “How can I go? If Saul hears, he will kill me.” And the LORD said, “Take a heifer of the herd in which you are loaded and go to Mt. Gilgal.

3. And call Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show you what you shall do. And you shall anoint for Me whomever I name to you.”

4. And Samuel did what the LORD said and came to Bethlehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming and said, “Do you come peaceably?”

5. And he said, “Peaceably. I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. Sanctify yourselves and come with me to the sacrifice.” And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.

6. And it came to pass as they came in, he saw Eliab and said, “Surely the L ORD’s anointed is before the L ORD.”

7. But the L ORD said to Samuel, “Do not look on his face, nor on his height because I have refused him, for the L ORD does not see as man sees; for man looks on the outward appearance, but the L ORD looks on the heart.”

8. And Jesse called Abinadab, and he passed him before Samuel, but he said, “Also the L ORD has not chosen this one.”

9. And Jesse passed Shammaiah by, but he said, “Also the L ORD has not chosen this one.”

10. And Jesse passed seven of his sons before Samuel, but Samuel said to Jesse, “The L ORD has not chosen these.”

11. And Samuel said to Jesse, “Are all your children here?” And he said, “There remains yet the youngest, and behold, he keeps the sheep.” And Samuel said to Jesse, “Send and bring him, for we will not sit down until he comes here.”

12. And he sent and brought him in. And he was ruddy with beautiful countenance and good form. And the L ORD said, “Arise, anoint him, for this is he.”

13. And Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers. And the Spirit of the L ORD came upon David from that day forward. And Samuel rose up and went to Ramah.

14. But the Spirit of the L ORD departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the L ORD terrified him.

15. And Saul’s servants said to him, “Behold now, an evil spirit from God terrifies you.

16. Let our lord now command his servants which are before you to seek out a man who knows how to play on a lyre. And it shall be, when the evil spirit from God is upon you, then he shall play with his hand, and it shall be well with you.”

17. And Saul said to his servants, “Now look for me a man who can play well, and bring him to me.”

18. And one of the servants answered and said, “Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite who is skillful in playing, and a mighty warrior and a man of battle, and prudent in speech. And he is a person of good form, and the L ORD is with him.”

19. And Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said, “Send me your son David, who is with the sheep.”

20. And Jesse took a donkey loaded with bread and a skin of wine and a kid goat, and sent them by David his son to Saul.

21. And David came to Saul and stood before him. And he loved him greatly, and he became his armor-bearer.

22. And Saul sent to Jesse saying, “Please let David stand before me, for he has found favor in my sight.”

23. And it came to pass when the spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took a lyre and played with his hand. And there was relief for Saul, and it was well with him, and the evil spirit departed from him.
CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. And the Philistines assembled their armies for battle, and they were gathered at Socoh of Judah, and pitched between Socoh and Azekah in Ephes Dammim.

2. And Saul and the men of Israel had gathered and pitched by the valley of Elah, and set the battle in order against the Philistines.

3. And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side. And there was a valley between them.

4. And a champion named Goliath came out of the Philistine’s camp; he was from Gath. His height was six cubits and a span.

5. And a bronze helmet was upon his head, and he was armed with scaled armor. And the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of bronze.

6. And greaves of bronze were upon his legs, and a bronze javelin slung from his shoulders.

7. And the staff of his spear was like a weaver’s beam. And his spear’s head weighed six hundred shekels of iron. And the shield bearer went in front of him.

8. And he stood and cried to the armies of Israel, and said to them, “Why have you come out to set your battle in order? Am I not a Philistine, and are you not servants to Saul? Choose a man for you, and let him come down to me.

9. If he is able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your slaves. But if I prevail against him and kill him, then you shall be our slaves and serve us.”

10. And the Philistine said, “I defy the armies of Israel this day. Give me a man, and we will fight together.”

11. And Saul and all Israel heard those words of the Philistine, and they were dismayed and greatly afraid.

12. And David was the son of an Ephraimite of Bethlehem Judah named Jesse. And to him were eight sons. And the man was old among men in the days of Saul.

13. And the three oldest sons of Jesse went out, and followed Saul to the battle. And the names of his three sons that went to the battle were Eliab the first-born; and his second, Abinadab; and the third Shammah.

14. And David was the youngest. And the three oldest followed Saul.

15. And David went and returned from Saul to feed his father’s sheep at Bethlehem.

16. And the Philistine drew near morning and evening, and presented himself forty days.

17. And Jesse said to his son David, “Please take for your brothers an ephah of this parched grain, and these ten loaves, and run to the camp to your brothers.

18. And carry these ten cuttings of cheeses to the commander of their thousand, and see how your brothers are faring, and bring some token from them for me.”

19. And Saul, and they, and all the men of Israel, were in the valley of Elah fighting with the Philistines.

20. And David rose up early in the morning and left the sheep with a keeper, and got up and went as Jesse had commanded him. And he came to the barricade, and to the army which was going out to fight, shouting a battle cry.

21. For Israel and the Philistines had put the battle in order, rank to rank.

22. And David left his baggage in the hand of the keeper of the baggage and ran into the army, and came and greeted his brothers.

23. And he was speaking with them. Then, behold, the champion man, named Goliath, the Philistine of Gath, came up out of the ranks of the Philistines, and spoke according to these words. And David heard.

24. And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, they ran from him and were very much afraid.

25. And the men of Israel said, “Have you seen this man that has come up? Surely he has come up to defy Israel. And it shall be that the king will enrich the man who kills him with great riches, and will give him his daughter, and make his father’s house free in Israel.”

26. And David spoke to the men who stood by him, saying, “What shall be done to the man who kills this Philistine and takes away this shame from Israel, for who is this uncircumcised Philistine that he should defy the armies of the living God?”

27. And the people answered him in this way, saying, “So shall it be done to the man who kills him.”
28. And his oldest brother Eliab heard when he spoke to the men. And Eliab’s anger was kindled against David. And he said, “Why have you come down? And with whom have you left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your pride and the naughtiness of your heart, for you have come down to see the battle.”

29. And David said, “What have I done now? Was it not only a question?”

30. And he turned from him toward another and spoke according to this word. And the people answered him again in the same way.

31. And the words which David spoke were heard. And they were told before Saul. And he sent for him.

32. And David said to Saul, “Let no man’s heart fail because of him. Your servant will go and fight with this Philistine.”

33. And Saul said to David, “You are not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him, for you are but a youth, and he is a man of war from his youth.”

34. And David said to Saul, “Your servant kept his father’s sheep, and there came a lion and a bear, and took a lamb out of the flock.

35. And I went out after it and struck it, and delivered the lamb out of its mouth. And when it rose against me, I caught it by the beard, and struck it and killed it.

36. Your servant killed both the lion and the bear. And this uncircumcised Philistine shall be like one of them, since he has defied the armies of the living God.”

37. And David said, “The LORD Who has delivered me out of the paw of the lion and out of the paw of the bear, He will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine.” And Saul said to David, “Go, and may the LORD be with you.”

38. And Saul armed David with his armor, and he put a helmet of bronze upon his head. He also armed him with scaled armor.

39. And David girded his sword upon his armor, and he tried to go. But he had not tested them. And David said to Saul, “I cannot go with these, for I have not tested them.” And David put them off himself.

40. And he took his staff in his hand, and chose five smooth stones out of the brook for himself, and put them in a shepherd’s vessel which he had, even in a bag. And his sling was in his hand. And he drew near the Philistine.

41. And the Philistine came on and drew near David. And the man who bore the shield was before him.

42. And the Philistine looked and saw David, and disdained him, for he was only a youth, and ruddy with a handsome appearance.

43. And the Philistine said to David, “Am I a dog that you come to me with sticks?” And the Philistine cursed David by his gods.

44. And the Philistine said to David, “Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of the air and to the beasts of the field.”

45. And David said to the Philistine, “You come to me with a sword and with a spear and with a javelin. But I come to you in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, Whom you have defied.

46. The LORD will deliver you into my hand today, and I will strike you and take your head from you and give the bodies of the army of the Philistines to the birds of the air today, and to the wild beasts of the earth, so that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel.

47. And all this multitude shall know that the LORD does not save with sword and spear; for the battle is the LORD’S, and He will give you into our hands.”

48. And it came to pass when the Philistine rose and went near to meet David, David hurried and ran toward the ranks to meet the Philistine.

49. And David put his hand into his bag and took a stone from there, and slung it and struck the Philistine in his forehead, so that the stone sank into his forehead. And he fell upon his face to the earth.

50. And David was stronger with a sling and with a stone than the Philistine. And he struck the Philistine and killed him. But no sword was in the hand of David.

51. And David ran and stood upon the Philistine, and took out his sword and drew it out of its sheath, and killed him, and cut off his head with it. And when the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled.

52. And the men of Israel rose up and shouted, and Judah pursued the Philistines until they came to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron. And the wounded of the Philistines fell down by the way to Shaaraim, even to Gath and to Ekron.
53. And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and they plundered their tents.
54. And David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem, but he put his armor in his tent.
55. And when Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said to Abner, the captain of the army, “Abner, whose son is this young man?” And Abner said, “As your soul lives, O king, I cannot tell.”
56. And the king said, “You go ask whose son the young man is.”
57. And as David returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him and brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistine in his hand.
58. And Saul said to him, “Whose son are you, young man?” And David answered, “I am the son of your servant Jesse of Bethlehem.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. And it came to pass when he had finished speaking to Saul, the soul of Jonathan was joined with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as he did his own soul.
2. And Saul took him that day and would not let him go home to his father’s house any more.
3. And Jonathan and David made a covenant because he loved him as his own soul.
4. And Jonathan stripped off the robe that was upon him and gave it to David, and his apparel, even to his sword and to his bow and to his girdle.
5. And David went out wherever Saul sent him, behaving himself wisely. And Saul set him over the men of war, and it was good in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul’s servants.
6. And it came to pass as they came in, when David returned from striking the Philistines, the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet King Saul with tabrets, with songs of joy, and with instruments of music.
7. And the women answered as they played, and said, “Saul has slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.”
8. And Saul was very angry, and this thing was evil in his eyes. And he said, “They have given David ten thousands, and to me they have given only thousands. And what more can he have but the kingdom?”
9. And Saul eyed David from that day and forward.
10. And it came to pass on the next day the evil spirit from God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of the house. And David played with his hand, as at other times. And a spear was in Saul’s hand.
11. And Saul threw the spear, for he said, “I will strike David even to the wall.” And David drew back out of his presence twice.
12. And Saul was afraid of David because the LORD was with him and had departed from Saul.
13. And Saul moved him away from himself and made him his commander over a thousand. And he went out and came in before the people.
14. And David behaved himself wisely in all his ways. And the LORD was with him.
15. And when Saul saw that he behaved himself very wisely, he was afraid of him.
16. But all Israel and Judah loved David because he went out and came in before them.
17. And Saul said to David, “Behold I will give you my older daughter Merab for a wife. Only you be a brave son for me and fight the LORD’S battles.” But Saul thought, “Let not my hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philistines be upon him.”
18. And David said to Saul, “Who am I, and what is my life, or my father’s family in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?”
19. And it came to pass at the time when Merab, Saul’s daughter should have been given to David, she was given to Adriel the Meholathite to be his wife.
20. And Saul’s daughter Michal loved David. And they told Saul, and the thing pleased him.
21. And Saul said, “I will give her to him, so that she may be a trap to him and so that the hand of the Philistines may be against him.” And Saul said to David a second time, “Today you shall be my son-in-law.”
And Jonathan spoke good of David to Saul, saying, “My father Saul seeks to kill you. And now therefore, I beg you to be careful until morning, and stay in a secret place, and hide yourself. And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will talk about you with my father. And I will tell you what I see.”

2. But Jonathan, Saul’s son, loved David very much. And Jonathan told David, saying, “My father Saul seeks to kill you. And now therefore, I beg you to be careful until morning, and stay in a secret place, and hide yourself. And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will talk about you with my father. And I will tell you what I see.”

3. And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will talk about you with my father. And I will tell you what I see.”

4. And Jonathan spoke good of David to Saul his father, and said to him, “Do not let the king sin against his servant, against David, because he has not sinned against you, and because his works are very good toward you; 5. For he took his life in his hand and killed the Philistine, and the LORD worked out a great salvation for all Israel. You saw and rejoiced! Why then will you sin against innocent blood, to kill David without a cause?”

6. And Saul listened to the voice of Jonathan. And Saul swore, “As the LORD lives, he shall not die.”

7. And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan showed him all those things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as in times past.

8. And there was war again. And David went out and fought with the Philistines, and killed them with a great slaughter. And they fled from him.

9. And the evil spirit from the LORD was upon Saul as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand. And David played music with his hand.

10. And Saul thought to strike David even to the wall with the spear, but he burst forth from Saul’s presence, so that he struck the spear into the wall. And David fled and escaped that night.

11. Saul also sent messengers to David’s house to watch him and to kill him in the morning. But David’s wife Michal told him saying, “If you do not save your life tonight, tomorrow you shall be killed.”

12. And Michal let David down through a window. And he left and hurried away, and escaped.

13. And Michal took an image and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow of goats’ hair at its head, and covered it with a cloth.

14. And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, “He is sick.”

15. And Saul sent the messengers to see David, saying, “Bring him up to me in the bed so that I may kill him.”

16. And the messengers came in, and behold, the image was in the bed with a pillow of goats’ hair for his head.

17. And Saul said to Michal, “Why have you deceived me so, and sent away my enemy so that he has escaped?” And Michal answered Saul, “He said to me, ‘Let me go; why should I kill you?’”

18. And David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuel, to Ramah, and told him.

CHAP. 19
all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and lived in Naioth.
19. And it was told to Saul, saying, “Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah.”
20. And Saul sent messengers to take David. And when they saw the company of the prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as appointed over them, the Spirit of God came upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied.
21. And they told Saul, and he sent other messengers, and they also prophesied. And Saul sent messengers the third time, and they prophesied also.
22. Then he also went to Ramah, and came to a great well in Sechu. And he asked and said, “Where are Samuel and David?” And one said, “Behold, at Naioth in Ramah.”
23. And he went there to Naioth in Ramah. And the Spirit of God was upon him also, and going on he went and prophesied, until he came to Naioth in Ramah.
24. And he stripped off his clothes also, and prophesied before Samuel, even he.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. And David fled from Naioth in Ramah and came and said to Jonathan, “What have I done? What and came and said to Jonathan, “What have I done? What is my iniquity, and what is my sin before your father that he seeks my life?”
2. And he said to him, “Far from it, you shall not die! Behold, my father will do nothing either great or small that he will not show to me. And why should my father hide this thing from me? It is not so.”
3. And David swore again and said, “Your father certainly knows that I have found grace in your eyes. And he has said, ‘Do not let Jonathan know this, lest he be full of sorrow.’ But truly as the LORD lives and as your soul lives, there is only a step between me and death.”
4. And Jonathan said to David, “Whatever your soul desires, I will even do for you.”
5. And David said to Jonathan, “Behold, tomorrow is the new moon and I should not fail to sit to eat with the king. But let me go so that I may hide myself in the field until the third day at evening.
6. If your father misses me at all, then say, ‘David earnestly asked me that he might run to his city Bethlehem, for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the family.’
7. If he says so, ‘It is well,’ peace will be to your servant, but if he is very angry, be sure that evil is determined by him.
8. And you shall deal kindly with your servant, for you have brought your servant into a covenant of the LORD with you. But if there is any iniquity in me, kill me yourself, for why should you bring me to your father?”
9. And Jonathan said, “Far be it from you, for if I knew of a certainty that evil was determined by my father to come upon you, then would I not tell you?”
10. Then David said to Jonathan, “Who shall tell me? Or what if your father answers you roughly?”
11. And Jonathan said to David, “Come, and let us go into the field.” And both of them went out into the field.
12. And Jonathan said to David, “By the LORD, the God of Israel, when I inquire of my father about this time tomorrow or the third day, behold, if there is good toward David, then shall I not send to you and reveal it in your ear?
13. So may the LORD do to Jonathan and more if it seem good to my father to do evil, then I will reveal it in your ear and send you away, and you may go in peace. And may the LORD be with you, as He was with my father.
14. And you shall not only show me the kindness of the LORD while I still live, so that I do not die, but you shall not cut off your kindness from my house forever, no, not when the LORD has cut off the enemies of David, every one, from the face of the earth.”
16. So Jonathan covenanted with the house of David, saying, “Let the LORD even require it at the hand of David’s enemies.”
17. And Jonathan caused David to swear again because he loved him, for he loved him as he loved his own soul.
18. And Jonathan said to David, “Tomorrow is the new moon. And you shall be missed because your seat will be empty.
19. And on the third day you shall quickly come down and shall come there to the place where you were hidden in the day of the deed. And you shall remain near the stone Ezel.

20. And I will shoot three arrows on the side as though I shot at a mark.

21. And behold, I will send a lad, saying, ‘Go find the arrows.’ If I carefully say to the lad, ‘Behold, the arrows are on this side of you, take them,’ then you may come, for there is peace to you, and no hurt, as the LORD lives.

22. But if I say this to the lad, ‘Behold, the arrows are beyond you.’ Then you shall go your way, for the LORD has sent you away.

23. And as to the matter which you and I have spoken of, behold, may the LORD be between you and me forever.”

24. And David hid himself in the field.

25. And when the new moon had come, the king sat down to eat food.

26. And Saul did not speak anything that day, for he thought, “Something has happened to him; he is not clean. Surely he is not clean.”

27. And it came to pass on the next day, the second day of the month, David’s place was empty. And Saul said to his son Jonathan, “Why does the son of Jesse not come to the meal, neither yesterday nor today?”

28. And Jonathan answered Saul, “David earnestly asked of me to go to Bethlehem,

29. And he said, ‘Please send me away, for we have a family sacrifice in the city. And my brother commanded me to be there. And now, if I have found favor in your eyes, I pray you let me get away and see my brothers.’ And he does not come to the king’s table.”

30. And Saul’s anger was kindled against Jonathan, and he said to him, “You son of a perverse, rebellious woman, do I not know that you have chosen the son of Jesse to your own confusion and to the shame of your mother’s nakedness?

31. For as long as the son of Jesse lives upon the earth, you shall not be established, nor your kingdom. And now send and bring him to me, for he shall surely die.”

32. And Jonathan answered Saul his father and said to him, “Why shall he be killed? What has he done?”

33. And Saul threw a spear at him to strike him, and by this Jonathan knew that his father was determined to kill David.

34. And Jonathan rose from the table in fierce anger and did not eat food on the second day of the month, for he was grieved for David because his father had put him to shame.

35. And it came to pass, in the morning Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David. And a little lad was with him.

36. And he said to this lad, “Run now, find the arrows which I shoot.” As the lad ran, he shot an arrow, causing it to pass over him.

37. And when the lad had come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried out to the lad and said, “Is not the arrow beyond you?”

38. And Jonathan cried after the lad, “Hurry, make haste, do not stand.” And Jonathan’s lad gathered the arrow and came to his master.

39. But the lad did not know anything. Only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40. And Jonathan gave his weapons to his lad and said to him, “Go in peace because we have both sworn in the name of the LORD, saying, ‘The LORD shall be between me and you, and between my seed and your seed, forever.’ ” And he rose and went away. And Jonathan went into the city.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. And David came to Nob, to Ahimelech the priest. And Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David, and said to him, “Why are you alone, and no man with you?”

2. And David said to Ahimelech the priest, “The king has commanded me a business and has said to me, ‘Let no man know anything of the business about which I send you, and what I have commanded you.' And I have sent servants to such and such a place.
3. And therefore, what do you have on hand? Give me five loaves of bread, or what there is to be found."
4. And the priest answered David and said, "There is no common bread on hand, but there is holy bread if the young men have kept themselves at least from women."
5. And David answered the priest and said to him, "Truly women have been kept from us for about three days, since I came out, and the vessels of the young men are holy, even when it is a common journey. How much more today when there is holy bread in their vessels?"
6. And the priest gave him holy bread, for there was no bread there but the showbread that was taken from before the LORD, in order to put hot bread in the day when it was taken away.
7. And a man from the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the gate and let his spittle fall down upon their hands, and marked on the doors of them, and pretended himself to be mad in the valley of Elah, behold, it is the son of Jesse. And the chief of Saul's herdsmen.
8. And David said to Ahimelech, "And is there not here a spear or a sword on hand? For I have not brought my sword nor my weapons with me because the king's business needed haste."
9. And the priest said, "The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you killed in the valley of Elah, behold, it is wrapped in a cloth under the ephod, if you will take it, take it for yourself, for there is none other here except that one." And David said, "There is none like that. Give it to me."
10. And David arose and fled that day for fear of Saul, and went to Achish the king of Gath.
11. And the servants of Achish said to him, "Is not this David the king of the land? Did they not sing to one another of him in dances, saying, 'Saul has slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands'?
12. And David laid up these words in his heart, and was very much afraid of Achish the king of Gath.
13. And he changed his behavior before them, and pretended himself to be mad in their hands, and marked on the doors of the gate and let his spittle fall down upon his beard.
14. Then Achish said to his servants, "Lo, you see the man is mad. Why have you brought him to me?"
15. Do I have need of mad men that you have brought this one to show madness in my presence? Shall this one come into my house?"

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. And David left there and escaped to the cave Adullam. And when his brothers and all his father's house heard, they went down there to him.
2. And every man in distress, and every man who had a creditor, and every man bitter of soul, gathered themselves to him. And he became commander over them. And about four hundred men were with him.
3. And David went from there to Mizpeh of Moab. And he said to the king of Moab, "Please let my father and my mother come forth and be with you until I know what God will do for me."
4. And he brought them before the king of Moab. And they lived with him all the time that David was in the stronghold.
5. And the prophet Gad said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold. Leave and go into the land of Judah." And David left and came into the forest of Hareth.
6. And Saul heard that David and the men with him had been discovered. And Saul was staying in Gibeah under the tamarisk tree in Ramah, with his spear in his hand. And all his servants were standing about him.
7. And Saul said to his servants standing by him, "Hear now, Benjamites, will the son of Jesse give to any of you fields and vineyards, and make you all commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds?
8. But all of you have conspired against me, and none of you was revealing in my ear when my son made a covenant with the son of Jesse. And not one of you is sorry for me, even to reveal in my ear that my son has stirred up my servant against me, to lie in wait, as today."
9. And answered Doeg the Edomite, who was set over the servants of Saul, and said, "I saw the son of Jesse coming to Nob, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitub.
10. And he asked of the LORD for him and gave him food and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine.

11. And the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father’s house, the priests in Nob. And they came, all of them, to the king.

12. And Saul said, “Hear now, you son of Ahitub.” And he answered, “Here I am, my lord.”

13. And Saul said to him, “Why have you conspired against me, you and the son of Jesse, in that you have given him bread and a sword, and have asked of God for him, that he should rise against me to lie in wait, as at this day?”

14. And Ahimelech answered the king and said, “Now who is so faithful among all your servants as David, who is the king’s son-in-law and who goes at your bidding, and who is honorable in your house?

15. Have I today begun to ask of God for him? Far be it from me. Do not let the king charge a thing to his servant, nor to all the house of my father, more or less.”

16. And the king said, “Ahimelech, you shall surely die, you and all your father’s house.”

17. And the king said to the guards that stood around him, “Turn and kill the priests of the LORD because their hand also is with David, and because they knew when he fled and did not reveal it to me.” But the servants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the priests of the LORD.

18. And the king said to Doeg, “You turn and fall upon the priests.” And Doeg the Edomite turned and fell upon the priests. And on that day he killed eighty-five persons who wore a linen ephod.

19. And he struck Nob, the city of the priests, with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and babes, and oxen, and donkeys, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.

20. And one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped and fled after David.

21. And Abiathar told David that Saul had slain the LORD’S priests.

22. And David said to Abiathar, “I knew that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. I have caused the death of all the persons of your father’s house.

23. Stay with me, and do not fear, for he who seeks my life seeks your life. But you shall be in safekeeping with me.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. And they told David, saying, “Behold, the Philistines fight against Keilah, and they rob the threshing floors.”

2. And David asked of the LORD, saying, “Shall I go? And shall I strike these Philistines?” And the LORD said to David, “Go and strike the Philistines, and save Keilah.”

3. And David’s men said to him, “Behold, we are afraid here in Judah. How much more then if we come to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?”

4. And David inquired of the LORD once again. And the LORD answered him and said, “Arise, go down to Keilah, for I will deliver the Philistines into your hand.”

5. And David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines. And they led away their livestock and struck them with a great slaughter. And David saved the people of Keilah.

6. And it came to pass when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah, he came down with an ephod in his hand.

7. And it was told Saul that David had come to Keilah. And Saul said, “God has delivered him into my hands, for he is shut in by entering into a town that has gates and bars.”

8. And Saul called all the people together to war, to go down to Keilah to besiege David and his men.

9. And David knew that Saul secretly planned evil against him. And he said to Abiathar the priest, “Bring the ephod here.”

10. And David said, “O LORD God of Israel, Your servant has surely heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah to destroy the city for my sake.

11. Will the men of Keilah deliver me up into his hand? Will Saul come down as Your servant has heard? O LORD God of Israel, I beg of You, tell Your servant.” And the LORD said, “He will come down.”
12. And David said, “Will the men of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul?” And the LORD said, “They will deliver you up.”

13. Then David and his men, about six hundred, arose and departed out of Keilah and went wherever they could go. And it was told to Saul that David had escaped from Keilah. And he did not go forth.

14. And David stayed in the wilderness in strongholds, and remained in the stronghold in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul looked for him every day, but God did not deliver him into his hand.

15. And David saw that Saul had come out to seek his life. And David was in the wilderness of Ziph in a woods.

16. Now Jonathan, Saul’s son, arose and went to David into the woods, and strengthened his hand in God.

17. And he said to him, “Do not fear, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find you. And you shall be king over Israel, and I shall be next to you. And my father Saul knows that also.”

18. And the two of them made a covenant before the LORD. And David stayed in the forest, and Jonathan went to his house.

19. And the men of Ziph came up to Saul, to Gibeah, saying, “Does not David hide himself with us in strongholds in the forest, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the south of the wilderness?

20. And now, O king, come down according to all the desire of your soul. Come down and it is for us to shut him up into the king’s hand.”

21. And Saul said, “Blessed are you from the LORD, for you have pity on me.

22. Please go, make more sure, and know and see the place where his hideout is. Who has seen him there? For I am told that he is very subtle.

23. And see and know of all the hiding places where he hides himself there, and return to me with the certainty of the matter. And then I will go with you. And it shall be, if he is in the land, I will search him out throughout all the thousands of Judah.”

24. And they arose and went to Ziph before Saul, but David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the plain, on the south of the desert.

25. Saul and his men also went to look for him—but they told David. And he came down from the rock and stayed in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard, he followed after David in the wilderness of Maon.

26. And Saul went on one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain. And David hurried to get away before Saul, for Saul and his men were encircling David and his men, to take them.

27. And a messenger came to Saul, saying, “Hurry and come, for the Philistines have invaded the land!”

28. And Saul returned from pursuing David and went against the Philistines. Therefore they called that place, The Rock of the Division.

29. And David went up from there and stayed in strongholds at En Gedi.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. And it came to pass when Saul had returned from following the Philistines, they told him, saying, “Behold, David is in the wilderness of En Gedi.”

2. And Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel and went to seek David and his men upon the front of the rocks of the wild goats.

3. And he came to the folds of the flock on the way where there was a cave. And Saul went in to cover his feet. And David and his men remained in the side chambers of the cave.

4. And the men of David said to him, “Behold, this is the day of which the LORD said to you, ‘Behold, I will deliver your enemy into your hand so that you may do to him as it shall seem good to you.’ ” And David arose and cut off the skirt of Saul’s robe secretly.

5. And it came to pass afterward that David’s heart struck him because he had cut off Saul’s skirt.

6. And he said to his men, “Far be it from me, by the LORD, if I will do this thing to my lord, the LORD’S anointed, to stretch forth my hand against him, since he is the anointed of the LORD.”

7. And David held back his men with these words and did not allow them to rise against Saul. And Saul rose up out of the cave and went on his way.

8. Then David arose afterward and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, “My lord the king!” And Saul looked behind him. And David bowed his face to the earth and prostrated himself.

9. And David said to Saul, “Why do you hear man’s words, saying, ‘Behold, David seeks to do you evil’?

10. Behold, your eyes have seen this day how the LORD had delivered you today into my hand in the cave. And one said to kill you. But I had pity on you. And I said, ‘I will not put forth my hand against my lord, for he is the LORD’S anointed.’

11. And, my father, behold! Yes, see the skirt of your robe in my hand; for in that I cut off the skirt of your robe and did not kill you, know and see that there is neither evil nor transgression in my hand, and I have not sinned against you. Yet you hunt my life to take it.

12. May the LORD judge between me and you, and may the LORD avenge me of you. But my hand shall not be upon you.

13. As the ancient proverb says, ‘Wickedness proceeds from the wicked.’ But my hand shall not be upon you.

14. After whom has the king of Israel come out? After whom do you pursue? After a dead dog? After a flea?

15. May the LORD therefore be judge, and judge between you and me, and see, and plead my cause, and deliver me out of your hand.”

16. And it came to pass when David had made an end of speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, “Is this your voice, my son David?” And Saul lifted up his voice and wept.

17. And he said to David, “You are more righteous than I, for you have rewarded me with good, but I have rewarded you evil.

18. And you have shown this day how you have dealt well with me because when the LORD shut me up into your hand, you did not kill me;

19. For if a man finds his enemy, will he let him go completely away? And may the LORD reward good for what you have done to me this day.

20. And now, behold, I know well that you shall surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in your hand.

21. And swear therefore to me before the LORD that you will not cut off my seed after me, and that you will not destroy my name out of my father’s house.”

22. And David swore to Saul. And Saul went home, but David and his men went up into the stronghold.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

1. And Samuel died. And all the Israelites were gathered, and lamented him and buried him at his home at Ramah. And David arose and went down to the wilderness of Paran.

2. And a certain man was in Maon, and his work was in Carmel. And the man was very great, and had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. And he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.

3. And the man’s name was Nabal and his wife’s name was Abigail. Now she was a woman of good understanding and of a beautiful form. But the man was cruel and evil in his dealings. And he was of Caleb.

4. And David heard in the wilderness that Nabal was shearing his sheep.

5. And David sent out ten young men. And David said to the young men, “Go up to Carmel and go to Nabal, and greet him in my name.

6. And you shall say this, ‘Long life and peace be to you, and peace to your house, and peace to all that you have.

7. And now I have heard that you have shepherds. And we did not hurt your shepherds who were with us; neither was there anything missing to them all the while they were in Carmel.

8. Ask your young men, and they will tell you. And let these young men find favor in your eyes, for we come in a good day. Please give whatever comes to your hand to your servants and to your son David.’ ”

9. When David’s young men came, they spoke to Nabal according to all these words in the name of David, and stopped.

10. And Nabal answered David’s servants and said, “Who is David? And who is the son of Jesse? The servants who have broken away, each man from his master, have multiplied.

11. Shall I then take my bread and my water and my meat that I have killed for my shepherds, and give it to men about whom I know not where they come from?”
12. And David’s young men turned their way and went again, and came and told him all those things.

13. And David said to his men, “Let each man gird on his sword.” And they each one girded on his sword, and David also girded on his sword. And about four hundred men went up with David and two hundred stayed by the provisions.

14. And one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal’s wife, saying, “Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to greet our master, and he screamed at them!”

15. But the men were very good to us and we were not hurt. Neither did we miss anything as long as we were going to and fro among them, when we were in the fields.

16. They were a wall to us both by night and day all the while we were with them keeping the sheep.

17. And now know and consider what you will do, for evil is determined against our master and against all his household, for he is a son of worthlessness, so that none can speak to him.”

18. And Abigail made haste and took two hundred loaves, and two skins of wine, and five sheep ready dressed, and two hundred clusters of raisins and laid them on donkeys.

19. And she said to her servants, “Go on before me. Behold, I am coming after you.” But she did not tell her husband Nabal.

20. And it came to pass, she was riding on the donkey and came down under cover of the hill. And behold, David and his men came down toward her. And she met them.

21. Now David had said, “Surely in vain I have kept all that belongs to this fellow in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that was his. And he has returned me evil for good.

22. So and more also may God do to the enemies of David, if I leave any of all that is his until morning—even one who pisses against the wall.”

23. And Abigail saw David and hurried and dismounted from the donkey, and fell before David on her face, and bowed herself to the ground.

24. And she fell at his feet and said, “Upon me, my lord, upon me let this iniquity be. And please let your handmaid speak in your ears and hear the words of your handmaid.

25. Please do not let my lord regard this man of worthlessness, Nabal, for as his name is, so he is. Nabal is his name, and foolishness is with him. And I, your handmaid, did not see the young men of my lord, whom you sent.

26. And now, my lord, as the LORD lives and as your soul lives, since the LORD has withheld you from coming to shed blood, and from avenging yourself with your own hand, now let your enemies, and those that seek to do evil to my lord, be as Nabal.

27. And now this blessing which your handmaid has brought to my lord, let it even be given to the young men who follow my lord.

28. Please forgive the trespass of your handmaid, for the LORD will certainly make a sure house for my lord because my lord fights the battles of the LORD, and evil has not been found in you all your days.

29. Yet a man has risen to pursue you and to seek your soul. But the soul of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of life with the LORD your God. And the souls of your enemies, He shall sling them from the hollow of a sling.

30. And it shall be, when the LORD has done to my lord according to all the good that He has spoken concerning you, and commanded you to be ruler over Israel,

31. This shall be no stumbling to you, nor offense of heart to my lord, either that you have shed blood for nothing, or that my lord has delivered himself. And may the LORD deal well with my lord, and you remember your handmaid.”

32. And David said to Abigail, “Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, Who sent you today to meet me.

33. And blessed is your advice, and blessed are you who have kept me from coming to shed blood today, and from avenging myself with my own hand.

34. Now truly, as the LORD God of Israel lives, Who has kept me back from doing evil to you, for unless you had hurried and come to meet me, surely there would not have been left to Nabal by the morning light even one who pisses against the wall.”

35. And David received from her hand that which she had brought him, and said to her, “Go up in peace to your house. See, I have listened to your voice and have accepted your person.”

36. And Abigail came to Nabal. And behold, he held a feast in his house like the feast of a king. And Nabal’s heart was merry within him, for he was very drunk. And she did not tell him anything, little or much, until the morning light.

37. And it came to pass in the morning, when the wine had gone out of Nabal and his wife had told him these things, his heart died within him and he became like a stone.

38. And it came to pass about ten days afterward the LORD struck Nabal so that he died.

39. And David heard that Nabal had died, and he said, “Blessed is the LORD Who has pleaded the cause of my reproach from the hand of Nabal, and has kept His servant from evil, for the LORD has returned the wickedness of Nabal upon his own head.” And David sent and spoke with Abigail to take her to him for a wife.

40. And David’s servants came to Abigail at Carmel, and spoke to her, saying, “David sent us to you to take you to him as his wife.”

41. And she arose and bowed herself on her face to the earth, and said, “Behold, let your handmaid be a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord.”

42. And Abigail hurried and arose, and rode upon a donkey, with five of her maidens who went after her. And she said to her servants, “Go on before me, and see if the young man is at home, and if he has made his bed ready for me.”

43. David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel. And they became, both of them, his wives.

44. And Saul gave his daughter Michal, David’s wife, to Phalti the son of Laish, who was of Gallim.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

1. And the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, “Is not David hiding himself in the hill of Hachilah, on the edge of the desert?”

2. And Saul arose and went down to the wilderness of Ziph to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him.
not a man? And who is like you in Israel? But why have you not watched over your lord the king? For one of the people came in to destroy your lord the king.

16. This thing that you have done is not good. As the LORD lives because you have not watched over your master, the LORD'S anointed, you also are worthy to die. And now look where the king's spear is, and the cruse of water that was at his head."

17. And Saul knew David's voice and said, "Is this your voice, my son David?" And David said, "It is my voice, my lord, O king."

18. And he said, "Why does my lord pursue after his servant this way? For what have I done? Or what evil is in my hand?"

19. And now, please let my lord the king hear the words of his servant. If the LORD has stirred you up against me, let Him accept an offering. But if it is the sons of men, they are cursed before the LORD, for they have driven me out today from joining myself with the inheritance of the LORD, saying, 'Go, serve other gods.'

20. And now, let not my blood fall to the earth before the face of the LORD, for the king of Israel has come out to seek a flea, as when one hunts a partridge in the mountains."

21. And Saul said, "I have sinned. Return, my son David, for I will never do you harm any more because my life was precious in your eyes this day. Behold, I have acted foolishly, and have greatly erred."

22. And David answered and said, "Behold the king's spear! And let one of the young men come over and get it.

23. May the LORD repay each man for his righteousness and his faithfulness, for the LORD delivered you into my hand today, but I would not stretch forth my hand against the LORD'S anointed.

24. And behold, as your life was precious in my eyes this day, so let my life be precious in the eyes of the LORD, and let Him deliver me out of all tribulation."

25. And Saul said to David, "Blessed are you, my son David. You shall both do great things and also shall still prevail." So David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

1. And David said in his heart, "I shall now perish one day by the hand of Saul. Nothing is better for me than that I should speedily escape into the land of the Philistines. And Saul shall despair of me, to seek me any more in any border of Israel, and so I shall escape out of his hand."

2. And David arose and passed over, he and the six hundred men with him to Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath.

3. And David lived with Achish of Gath, he and his men, each one with his household—David with his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel, and Abigail of Carmel, Nabal's former wife.

4. And Saul was told that David had fled to Gath. And he never again looked for him.

5. And David said to Achish, "If I have now found grace in your eyes, let them give me a place in some town in the country so that I may live there, for why should your servant live in the royal city with you?"

6. And Achish gave him Ziklag that day. And Ziklag belongs to the kings of Judah to this day.

7. And the number of days that David lived in the field of the Philistines was a year and four months.

8. And David and his men went up and invaded the Geshurites, and the Gezrites, and the Amalekites, for they were the inhabitants of the land from the past days, as one comes into Shur, even into the land of Egypt.

9. And David struck the land, and did not keep alive man nor woman, and took away the sheep and the oxen and the donkeys and the camels and the clothing, and returned and came to Achish.

10. And Achish said, "Where have you made a raid today?" And David said, "Against the south of Judah, and against the south of the Jerahmeelites, and against the south of the Kenites."

11. And David did not keep alive man or woman to bring news to Gath, saying, "Lest they should tell on us, saying, 'So David did,' " and so has been his custom all the days he lived in the fields of the Philistines.

12. And Achish believed David, saying, "He has made himself to be hated among his people Israel, and has become my servant forever."

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

1. And in those days it came to pass that the Philistines gathered their armies for war to fight with Israel. And Achish said to David, “You surely know that you shall go with me to battle, you and your men.”

2. And David said to Achish, “Surely you shall know what your servant can do.” And Achish said to David, “And I will make you my bodyguard forever."

3. And Samuel was dead, and all Israel had mourned for him and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city. And Saul had put away those who divined by spirits and the wizards out of the land.

4. And the Philistines gathered themselves and came and pitched in Shunem. And Saul gathered all Israel and they pitched in Gilboa.

5. And Saul saw the army of the Philistines and he was afraid, and his heart greatly trembled.

6. And when Saul inquired of the LORD, the LORD did not answer him, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets.

7. And Saul said to his servants, “Seek me a woman who divines by spirits, so that I may go to her and inquire of her.” And his servants said to him, “Behold, there is a woman who is a witch at En Dor.”

8. And Saul disguised himself and put on other clothing. Then he went and two men went with him. And they came to the woman by night. And he said, “Please divine for me and call up the dead, and bring me up the man whom I shall name to you.”

9. And the woman said to him, “Behold, you know what Saul has done, how he has cut off diviners and the spirit-knowers out of the land. Why then do you lay a snare for my life to cause me to die?”

10. And Saul swore to her by the LORD, saying, “As the LORD lives, there shall no punishment happen to you for this thing.”

11. And the woman said, “Whom shall I bring up to you?” And he said, “Bring me up Samuel.”

12. And when the woman saw Samuel, she cried with a loud voice. And the woman spoke to Saul, saying, “Why have you deceived me? For you are Saul!”

13. And the king said to her, “Do not be afraid, for what did you see?” And the woman said to Saul, “I saw a spirit coming up out of the earth.”

14. And he said to her, “What is his form?” And she said, “An old man comes up, and he is covered with a cloak.” And Saul saw that it was Samuel, and he bowed his face to the ground and prostrated himself.

15. And Samuel said to Saul, “Why have you disturbed me to bring me up?” And Saul answered, “I am grievously distressed, for the Philistines are warring against me. And God has left me and does not answer me any more, neither by prophets nor by dreams. Now I have called you so that you may make known to me what I should do.”

16. And Samuel said, “Why then do you ask me since the LORD has left you and has become your enemy?”

17. And the LORD has done for Himself as He spoke by me, for the LORD has torn the kingdom out of your hand and is giving it to your neighbor, even to David.

18. Because you did not obey the voice of the LORD, nor execute his fierce wrath upon Amalek; therefore, the LORD has done this thing unto you now.

19. And the LORD will also deliver Israel with you into the hand of the Philistines. And tomorrow you and your sons shall be with me. The LORD also shall deliver the army of Israel into the hand of the Philistines.”

20. And Saul immediately fell headlong on the earth, and was sorely afraid because of the words of Samuel. And there was no strength in him, for he had eaten no bread all day nor all night.

21. And the woman came to Saul and saw that he was sorely troubled, and said to him, “Behold, your handmaid has obeyed your voice, and I have put my life in my hand, and have listened to your words which you spoke to me.

22. And now please listen also to the voice of your handmaid, and let me set a bit of bread before you and eat, so that you may have strength when you go on your way.”

23. But he refused, and said, “I will not eat.” But his servants compelled him, and the woman also. And he listened to their voices and arose from the earth and sat upon the bed.

24. And the woman had a fat calf at the house. And she hurried and killed it, and took flour and kneaded it, and baked unleavened bread with it.

25. And she brought it before Saul and before his servants. And they ate, and rose up and went away that night.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

1. And the Philistines gathered all their armies to Aphek. And the Israelites pitched by a fountain in Jezreel.

2. Then the lords of the Philistines passed on by hundreds and by thousands. But David and his men passed on in the rear with Achish.

3. And the rulers of the Philistines said, “Is this not David the servant of Saul the king of Israel, who has been with me these days, or these years. And I have not found anything evil in him from the day he fell away until today.”

4. And the rulers of the Philistines were angry with him. And the Philistine rulers said to him, “Send the man back, and he shall return to his place where you have appointed him. And he shall not go down with us to battle. And he shall not become an enemy to us in battle; for with what should he reconcile himself to his master? Should it not be with the heads of these men?

5. Is not this David of whom they sang to the L ORD his God.

6. And Achish called David and said to him, “Surely, as the L ORD lives, you have been upright, and your going out and your coming in with me in the army is good in my sight, for I have not found evil in you since the day of your coming to me until today. But you are not good in the eyes of the lords.

7. And now return, and go in peace so that you do not displease the lords of the Philistines.”

8. And David said to Achish, “But what have I done? And what have you found in your servant so long as I have been with you to this day, that I may not go fight against the enemies of my lord the king?”

9. And Achish answered and said to David, “I know that you are good in my sight, like an angel of God. But the princes of the Philistines have said, ‘He shall not go up with us to the battle.’

10. And now, rise up early in the morning with your master’s servants who have come with you. And as soon as you have light, depart.”

11. And David and his men rose up early to leave in the morning to return into the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

CHAPTER THIRTY

1. And it came to pass when David and his men had come to Ziklag on the third day, the Amalekites had invaded the south and Ziklag, and had struck Ziklag, and burned it with fire.

2. And they had seized the women in it. They did not kill any, either small or great, but carried them away and went on their way.

3. And David and his men came to the city, and behold, it was burned with fire, and their wives and their sons and their daughters had been taken captives.

4. Then David and the people with him lifted up their voice and wept, until they had no more power to weep.

5. And David’s two wives had been seized, Ahinoam of Jezreel, and Abigail, the former wife of Nabal of Carmel.

6. And it greatly distressed David, for the people spoke of stoning him because the soul of all the people was grieved, each one for his sons and for his daughters. But David encouraged himself in the L ORD his God.

7. And David said to Abiathar the priest, Ahimelech’s son, “Please bring the ephod here to me.” And Abiathar brought the ephod there to David.

8. And David inquired of the L ORD, saying, “Shall I go after this troop? Shall I overtake them?” And He answered him, “Go! For you shall surely overtake and will without fail recover all.”

9. So David went, he and the six hundred men that were with him, and came to the brook Besor, where those who were left behind stayed.

10. But David pursued, he and four hundred men, for two hundred stayed behind, who were too exhausted to go over the brook Besor. 11. And they found an Egyptian in the field and brought him to David and gave him bread, and he ate. And they made him drink water. 12. And they gave him a piece of a cake of figs and two clusters of raisins. Now when he had eaten, his spirit came again to him, for he had eaten no bread nor drunk water for three days and three nights. 13. And David said to him, “To whom do you belong? And where do you come from?” And he said, “I am an Egyptian youth, servant to an Amalekite. And my master left me because three days ago I fell sick. 14. We raided the area south of the Cherethites, in the territory belonging to Judah, and upon the south of Caleb. And we burned Ziklag with fire.” 15. And David said to him, “Can you bring me down to this company?” And he said, “Swear to me by God that you will neither kill me nor deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring you down to this company.” 16. And when he had brought him down, behold, they were spread abroad upon all the earth, eating and drinking and dancing because of all the great spoil that they had taken out of the land of the Philistines and out of the land of Judah. 17. And David struck them from the twilight until the evening of the next day. And not a man of them escaped, except four hundred young men who rode upon camels and fled. 18. And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away. And David rescued his two wives. 19. And nothing was lacking to them, from the small to the great, even to sons and daughters, and from the spoil, even to all that they had taken to themselves. David recovered all. 20. And David took all the flock, and the herd. They drove on before those cattle. And they said, “This is David’s spoil.” 21. And David came to the two hundred who were too exhausted to follow David, whom they had made also to stay at the brook Besor. And they went out to meet David, and to meet the people with him. And when David came up to the people, he greeted them. 22. And every evil and worthless man of the men who went with David answered and said, “Because they did not go with us, we will not give them any thing from the spoil that we have seized, except to every man his wife and his sons. Let them take them, and go.” 23. And David said, “My brothers, you shall not do so with that which the Lord has given us, for He has protected us and has delivered into our hand the company that came against us; 24. For who will listen to you in this matter? But as his part is that goes down to the battle, so shall be his part that stays by the provisions. They shall divide alike.” 25. And it was so, from that day forward he made it a statute and an ordinance for Israel to this day. 26. And David came to Ziklag, and sent some of the spoil to the elders of Judah, to his friends, saying, “Behold, a present for you from the spoil of the enemies of the Lord”: 27. To the ones in Bethel, and to the ones in Ramoth of the south, and to the ones in Jattir; 28. And to the ones in Aroer, and to the ones in Siphmoth, and to the ones in Eshtemoa, 29. And to the ones in Rachal, and to the ones in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to the ones in the cities of the Kenites, 30. And to the ones in Hormah, and to the ones in Chorashan, and to the ones in Athach, 31. And to the ones in Hebron, and to all the places where David had gone up and down, he and his men.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

1. And the Philistines fought against Israel. And the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down wounded in Mount Gilboa. 2. And the Philistines followed Saul and his sons. And the Philistines killed Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchishua, Saul’s sons. 3. And the battle went hard against Saul. Then the archers hit him, and he was sorely wounded by the archers. 4. And Saul said to his armor-bearer, “Draw your sword and thrust me through with it, lest these uncircumcised ones come and thrust me through, and abuse me.” But his armor-bearer would not, for he was very much afraid. So Saul took a sword and fell upon it.

5. And when his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell upon his sword and died with him.

6. And Saul died, and his three sons, and his armor-bearer, and all his men, that same day together.

7. And the men of Israel beyond the valley, and who were on the other side of the Jordan, saw that the men of Israel fled and that Saul and his sons had died. And they abandoned the cities and fled. And the Philistines came and lived in them.

8. And it came to pass on the next day, the Philistines came to strip the slain, and they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa.

9. And they cut off his head and stripped off his armor, and sent into the land of the Philistines all around, to publish it in the house of their idols and among the people.

10. And they put his armor in the temple of the Ashtoreths, and they fastened his body to the wall of Beth Shan.

11. And when the people of Jabesh Gilead heard about what the Philistines had done to Saul, 12. Then all the brave men arose, and they traveled all night. And they took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth Shan, and came to Jabesh, and burned them there.

13. And they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree at Jabesh. And they fasted seven days.

And, lo, the chariots and horsemen followed hard after him.

7. And when he looked behind him, he saw me, and called to me. And I answered, ‘Here am I.’

8. And he said to me, ‘Who are you?’ And I answered him, ‘I am an Amalekite.’

9. He said to me again, ‘Please stand over me and kill me, for anguish has come upon me because all my life is still in me.’

10. And I stood over him and killed him because I was sure that he could not live after he had fallen. And I took the crown upon his head, and the bracelet on his arm, and have brought them here to my lord.’

11. And David took hold on his own garments and tore them. And likewise all the men with him did so.

12. And they mourned and wept and fasted until evening, for Saul, and for his son Jonathan, and for the people of the LORD, and for the house of Israel because they had fallen by the sword.
13. And David said to the young man who told him, “From where are you?” And he answered, “I am the son of a stranger, an Amalekite.”
14. And David said, “Why were you not afraid to stretch forth your hand to destroy the LORD’S anointed?”
15. And David called one of the young men and said, “Go near and fall upon him.” And he struck him so that he died.
16. And David said to him, “Your blood be upon your head, for your mouth has testified against you, saying, ‘I have slain the LORD’S anointed,’ ”
17. And David lamented with this lamentation over Saul and over his son Jonathan.
18. And he said to teach the children of Judah The Song of the Bow. Behold, it is written in the Book of Jasher:
19. “The beauty of Israel is slain upon your high places! How are the mighty fallen!
20. Tell it not in Gath, do not let it be known in the streets of Askelon, lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph.
21. Mountains of Gilboa, let not dew or rain be upon you, nor fields of offerings, for there the shield of the mighty has been vilely cast away, the shield of Saul not being anointed with oil.
22. From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan did not turn back and the sword of Saul did not return empty.
23. Saul and Jonathan were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided. They were swifter than eagles, they were stronger than lions.
24. Daughters of Israel weep over Saul, who clothed you in scarlet and with delights, who put ornaments of gold on your clothes.
25. How are the mighty fallen in the midst of the battle! Jonathan is slain upon your high places.
26. I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan. Very pleasant you have been to me. Your love to me was wonderful, more than the love of women.
27. How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war perished!”

CHAPTER TWO
1. And it came to pass after this, David inquired of the LORD, saying, “Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah?” And the LORD said to him, “Go up!” And David said, “Where shall I go?” And He said, “To Hebron.”
2. And David went up there, and his two wives also, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail of Carmel, Nabal’s former wife.
3. And David brought up his men with him, each man with his household. And they lived in the cities of Hebron.
4. And the men of Judah came, and they anointed David king over the house of Judah there. And they told David, saying, “The men of Jabesh Gilead buried Saul.”
5. And David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh Gilead. And he said to them, “Blessed are you of the LORD that you have shown this kindness to your lord, to Saul, and have buried him.
6. And now may the LORD do kindness and truth to you. And I will also do good to you because you have done this thing.
7. And now let your hands be strengthened and be brave, for your master Saul is dead, and also the house of Judah has anointed me king over them.”
8. But Abner the son of Ner, commander of Saul’s army, took Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim.
9. And he made him king over Gilead, and over the Ashurites, and over Jezreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over all Israel.
10. Ishbosheth, Saul’s son, was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and reigned two years. But the house of Judah followed David.
11. And it came to pass, the number of days that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.
12. And Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ishbosheth, the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon.
13. And Joab, the son of Zeruiah and the servants of David went out and met by the pool of Gibeon and sat down, the one on the one side of the pool, and the other on the other side of the pool.
14. And Abner said to Joab, “Let the young men now arise and compete before us.” And Joab said, “Let them arise.”
15. And they arose and went over by number, twelve for Benjamin and for Ishbosheth the son of Saul; and twelve of the servants of David.

16. And each one lay hold on the head of his opponent and thrust his sword in his opponent’s side, so that they fell together. And one called that place The Field of Swords, which is in Gibeon.

17. And there was a very grievous battle that day. And Abner and the men of Israel were beaten before the servants of David.

18. And there were three sons of Zeruiah there: Joab and Abishai and Asahel. And Asahel was swift with his feet, like one of the gazelles in the field.

19. And Asahel ran after Abner, and in going he did not turn to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner.

20. And Abner looked behind him and said, “Are you Asahel?” And he answered, “I am.”

21. And Abner said to him, “Turn aside from following me. Why should I strike you to the ground? How then should I hold up my face to Joab your brother?”

22. And Abner said again to Asahel, “Turn aside from following me. Why should I strike you to the ground? How then should I hold up my face to Joab your brother?”

23. However he refused to turn aside. Therefore Abner struck him with the blunt end of the spear in the belly, and the spear came out behind him. And he fell down there, and died in the same place. And it came to pass that everyone who came to the place where Asahel fell down and died, stood still.

24. And Joab and Abishai ran after Abner. And the sun went down when they had come to the hill of Ammah, which lies before Giah by the way of the wilderness of Gibeon.

25. And the sons of Benjamin gathered themselves together after Abner, and became one troop, and stood on the top of a hill.

26. Then Abner called to Joab and said, “Shall the sword devour forever? Do you not know that it will be bitter in the end? How long shall it be then before you command the people to return from chasing their brothers?”

27. And Joab said, “As God lives, unless you had spoken, the people would have continued pursuing their brothers until morning.”

28. And Joab blew a ram’s horn, and all the people stood still and did not pursue after Israel any more, nor did they fight any more.

29. And Abner and his men went all that night through the plain and passed over Jordan, and went through all Bithron and came to Mahanaim.

30. And Joab returned from following Abner. And when he had gathered all the people together, nineteen men and Asahel were missing from David’s servants.

31. But the servants of David had stricken three hundred and sixty men of Benjamin and of Abner’s men who died.

32. And they took up Asahel and buried him in the tomb of his father, which was in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men went all night, and they came to Hebron at the break of day.

CHAPTER THREE

1. And there was a long war between the house of Saul and the house of David. But David became stronger and stronger, and the house of Saul became weaker and weaker.

2. And sons were born to David in Hebron. And his firstborn was Amnon, the son of Ahinoam of Jezreel.

3. And his second was Chileab, of Abigail of Carmel, the former wife of Nabal. And the third was Absalom, the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur.

4. And the fourth was Adonijah, the son of Haggith. And the fifth was Shephatiah, the son of Abital.

5. And the sixth was Ithream, by Eglah, David’s wife. These were born to David in Hebron.

6. And it came to pass, while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner made himself strong for the house of Saul.

7. And Saul had a concubine whose name was Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ishbosheth said to Abner, “Why have you gone in to my father’s concubine?”

8. And Abner was very angry over the words of Ishbosheth, and said, “Am I a... dog’s head of Judah? I show kindness this day to the house of Saul your father, to his brothers, and to his friends and have not delivered you into the hand of David. Am I a dog’s head, that you charge me today with a fault concerning this woman?

9. So may God do to Abner, and more also, if I do not do to David as the LORD has sworn,

10. To transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and to set up the throne of David in times past.

11. And he could not answer Abner a word again because he feared him.

12. And Abner sent messengers to David on his behalf, saying, “Whose charge me today with a fault concerning this woman?”

13. And David said, “Good! I will make a covenant with you, but one thing I ask of you: You shall not see my face unless you first bring Michal, Saul’s daughter, to me when you come to see my face.”

14. And David sent messengers to Ishboseth, Saul’s son, saying, “Deliver my wife Michal, whom I betrothed to me for a hundred foreskins of the Philistines.”

15. And Ishboseth sent and took her from her husband, from Phaltiel the son of Laish.

16. And her husband went along with her, weeping behind her, to Bahurim. And Abner said to him, “Go, return!” And he returned.

17. The word of Abner was with the elders of Israel, saying, “You sought for David in times past to be king over you. And then do it, for the LORD has spoken of David, saying, ‘By the hand of My servant David I will save My people Israel out of the hand of the Philistines, and out of the hand of all their enemies.’”

18. And Abner also spoke in the ears of Benjamin. And Abner went also to speak in the ears of David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel and all that seemed good to the whole house of Benjamin.

19. And Abner came to David at Hebron, and twenty men came with him. And David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him.

20. And Abner said to David, “I will arise and go, and will gather all Israel to my lord the king, so that they may make a covenant with you, and so that you may reign over all that your heart desires.” And David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

21. And Abner returned to Hebron. And Joab took him aside in the gate to speak with him privately. And Abner said to him, “Go, return!” And he returned.

22. And behold, the servants of David and Joab came from pursuing a troop, and brought in a great spoil with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace.

23. And Joab and all the army with him came, and they told Joab, saying, “Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he has sent him away and he has gone in peace.”

24. And Joab came to the king and said, “What have you done? Behold, Abner came to you. Why is this, that you have sent him away and he has already gone?”

25. You know Abner the son of Ner, that he came to deceive you, and to know your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you do.”

26. And Joab left David and sent messengers after Abner, who brought him again from the well of Sirah. But David did not know it.

27. And Abner returned to Hebron. And Joab took him aside in the gate to speak with him privately. And he struck him there in the belly, and he died, for the blood of Asahel his brother.

28. And afterward David heard, and said, “My kingdom and I are guiltless before the LORD forever from the blood of Abner the son of Ner.

29. Let it whirl about the head of Joab, and on all his father’s house. And let there not fail from the house of Joab one who has an issue, or who is a leper, or who leans on a staff, or who falls on the sword, or who lacks bread.”

30. And Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner because he had slain their brother Asahel at Gibeon in the battle.

31. And David said to Joab and to all the people with him, “Tear your clothes and gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn before Abner.” And King David followed the bier.

32. Then they buried Abner in Hebron. And the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner. And all the people wept.
33. And the king mourned over Abner, and said, “Did Abner die like a fool dies? 34. Your hands were not bound, nor your feet put into fetters; as a man falls before wicked men, so you fell.” And all the people wept again over him.

35. And all the people came to cause David to eat food while it was still day; David swore, saying, “So let God do to me, and more also, if I taste bread or anything else until the sun is down.”

36. And all the people took notice, and it pleased them, as whatever the king did pleased all the people,

37. For all the people and all Israel understood that day that it was not of the king to kill Abner the son of Ner.

38. And the king said to his servants, “Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel?

39. And I am weak this day, though anointed king. And these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are too hard for me. The LORD shall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedness.”

CHAPTER FOUR

1. And Saul’s son heard that Abner was dead in Hebron. And his hands were feeble, and all the Israelites were troubled.

2. And Saul’s son had two men that were captains of bands. The name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other was Rechab, the sons of Rimmon of Beeroth, of the sons of Benjamin. For Beeroth also was counted to Benjamin;

3. And the men of Beeroth fled to Gittaim and were strangers there until this day.

4. And Jonathan, Saul’s son, had a son who was lame in his feet. He was five years old when the news of Saul and Jonathan came out of Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled. And as she made haste to flee he fell and became lame. And his name was Mephibosheth.

5. And the sons of Rimmon of Beeroth, Rechab and Baanah, came at the heat of the day to the house of Ishbosheth. And he was lying on his bed at noon.

6. And they came to the midst of the house, bringing wheat. And they struck him in the belly. And Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped.

7. For when they came into the house, he lay in his bed in his bedroom. And they struck him and killed him, and beheaded him and took his head and got away through the plain all night.

8. And they brought the head of Ishboseth to David at Hebron and said to the king, “Behold the head of Ishboseth the son of Saul, your enemy who sought your life. And the LORD has avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and of his seed.”

9. And David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon of Beeroth, and said to them, “As the LORD lives Who has redeemed my soul out of all adversity,

10. When one told me, saying, ‘Behold, Saul is dead’—thinking to have brought good news—I took hold of him and slew him in Ziklag. I gave that to him as a reward.

11. Indeed when wicked men have slain a righteous person in his own house upon his bed, shall I not therefore now require his blood of your hand, and take you away from the earth?”

12. And David commanded his young men and they killed them, and cut off their hands and their feet, and hanged them up over the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ishboseth and buried it in the tomb of Abner in Hebron.

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And all the tribes of Israel came to David, to Hebron, and spoke, saying, “Behold, we are your bone and your flesh.

2. Also in time past, when Saul was king over us, you were he who led Israel out and brought them in. And the LORD said to you, ‘You shall feed My people Israel, and you shall be a shepherd over Israel.’ ”

3. And all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron. And King David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel.

4. David was thirty years old when he began to reign. He reigned forty years.

5. In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.

6. The king and his troops then marched on Jerusalem against the people of Jebus, the natives of the territory. They however, announced to David, “You shall not get in here; the blind and the lame can turn you back!”, assuming, “David cannot gain access here.”

7. But David did capture the fortress of Zion, which now is the City of David.

8. On that day David had given orders, “Whoever would strike down the men of Jebus, let him reach them by way of the water tunnel, even these ‘lame’ and ‘blind’ whom the soul of David hates!” From this comes the saying, “The blind and the lame cannot get into the house.”

9. And David lived in the fort and called it the city of David. And David built all around, from Millo and inward.

10. And David went on and became great, and the LORD God of hosts was with him.

11. And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers, and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons to David. And they built David a house.

12. And David saw that the LORD had established him king over Israel, and that He had made his kingdom sure for His people Israel’s sake.

13. And David took more concubines and wives out of Jerusalem after he had come from Hebron. And there were still more sons and daughters born to David.

14. These are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon,

15. And Ibhar, and Elishua, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

16. And Elishama, and Eliada, and Eliphalet.

17. And the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel. And all the Philistines came up to seek David. Then David heard and went down to the stronghold.

18. And the Philistines came and spread themselves in the Valley of the Giants.

19. And David inquired of the LORD, saying, “Shall I go up to the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hand?” And the LORD said to David, “Go up! For I will surely deliver the Philistines into your hand.”

20. And David came to Baal Perazim, and David struck them there, and said, “The LORD has broken forth upon my enemies before me, like the breaking forth of waters.” Therefore he called the name of that place The Breaking of Baal.

21. And they left their images there, and David and his men took them away.

22. And the Philistines came up again and spread themselves in the Valley of the Giants.

23. And David inquired of the LORD, and He said, “You shall not go up, but go around behind them and come upon them over across from the aspen trees.

24. And it shall be, when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the aspen trees, then you shall strike; for then the LORD shall go out before you to strike the army of the Philistines.”

25. And David did so, as the LORD had commanded him. And he struck the Philistines from Geba until you come to Gezer.

CHAPTER SIX

1. Again David gathered every chosen one in Israel, thirty thousand.

2. And David arose and went with all the people with him from beyond Baale of Judah to bring up the ark of God from there, which is called by the name, the name of the LORD of hosts Who dwells above the cherubim.

3. And they set the ark of God upon a new cart. And they brought it out of the house of Abinadab in Gibeah. And Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drove the new cart.

4. And they brought it out of the house of Abinadab at Gibeah, going with the ark of God. And Ahio went before the ark.

5. And David and all the house of Israel played before the LORD on all instruments of fir wood, with lyres and with harps, and with drums, and with sistrams, and with cymbals.

6. And when they came to Nachon’s threshing floor, Uzzah reached out to the ark of God and took hold of it; for the oxen upset it.

7. And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzzah. And God struck him there for the error. And he died there by the ark of God.

8. And David was displeased because the LORD had broken forth upon Uzzah. And he called the name of the place The Break of Uzzah to this day.

9. And David was afraid of the LORD that day, and said, “How shall the ark of the LORD come to me?”

418
1. And it came to pass when the king dwelt in his house, and when the LORD had given him rest round about from all his enemies,
2. The king said to Nathan the prophet, “See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells within curtains.”
3. Then Nathan said to the king, “Go, do all that is in your heart, for the LORD is with you.”
4. And it came to pass that night the word of the LORD came to Nathan saying,
5. “Go and tell My servant David, ‘Thus says the LORD, ‘Shall you build Me a house of cedars?’ ‘There is no man able to set up a house for My dwelling;’”
6. For I have not dwelt in a house since the day that I brought up the children of Israel out of Egypt until this day, but have walked in a tent, and in a tabernacle.
7. In all places in which I have walked with all the children of Israel, did I speak a word with any of the tribes of Israel, those whom I commanded to feed My people Israel, saying, ‘Why do you not build Me a house of cedars?’”
8. Now therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, “Thus says the LORD of hosts: ‘I took you from the sheepcote, from following the sheep, to be prince over My people, over Israel.
9. And I was with you wherever you went and have cut off all your enemies out of your sight, and have made you a great name like the name of the great ones in the earth.
10. Moreover I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will plant them so that they may dwell in a place of their own, and move no more. Neither shall the sons of wickedness afflict them any more, as before.
11. And even from the time that I commanded judges to be over My people of your father, and before all his house, to appoint me prince over the people of the LORD, over Israel. And I danced before the LORD.
12. And I will be still lower than this, and will be base in my own sight. And of the handmaids of whom you have spoken, with them I shall be had in honor.”
13. And Michal the daughter of Saul had no child by David to the day of her death.

CHAPTER SEVEN
Israel, so will I cause you to rest from all your enemies. Also, the LORD tells you that He will make you a house.

12. And when your days are fulfilled, and you shall sleep with your fathers, I will set up your seed after you who shall come forth from your loins. And I will make his kingdom sure.

13. He shall build a house for My name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.

14. I will be to him for a father, and he shall be to Me for a son. If he commits iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men, and with the stripes of the sons of men.

15. But My mercy shall not leave him, as I took it from Saul whom I put away before you.

16. And your house and your kingdom shall be made sure forever before you. Your throne shall be established forever.”’”

17. According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

18. Then King David went in and sat before the LORD. And he said, “Who am I, O Lord God? And what is my house, that You have brought me here?

19. And this was yet a small thing in that You have brought me here? For You, O Lord God, know Your servant.

20. And what can David say more to You? For You, O Lord God, know Your servant.

21. For Your word’s sake, and according to Your own heart, You have done all these great things to make Your servant know.

22. Therefore You are great, O Lord God. For there is none like You, neither is there any God besides You, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

23. And what one nation in the earth is like Your people, like Israel, whom God went to redeem for a people to Himself, and to make Him a name, and to do for You great things and awesome things, for Your land, before Your people, whom You have redeemed to You from Egypt, from the nations and their gods?

24. For You have established for Yourself your people Israel to be a people to You forever. And You, Lord, have become their God.

25. And now, O Lord God, the word that You have spoken concerning Your servant, and concerning his house: establish it forever, and do as You have said.

26. And let Your name be magnified forever, saying, ‘The Lord of hosts is the God over Israel.’ And let the house of Your servant David be established before You.

27. For You, O Lord God, have revealed to Your servant, saying, ‘I will build you a house.’ Therefore Your servant has found in his heart to pray this prayer to You.

28. And now, O Lord God, You are that God, and Your words are true, and You have promised this goodness to Your servant.

29. Therefore, now, let it please You to bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue forever before You. For You, O Lord God, have spoken. And with Your blessing let the house of Your servant be blessed forever.””

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. And after this it came to pass that David struck the Philistines and humbled them. And David took The Bridle of the Metropolis out of the hand of the Philistines.

2. And he struck Moab, and measured them with a line, casting them down to the ground. Even with two lines he measured those to put to death and with one full line those to keep alive. And the Moabites became David’s servants, bringing gifts.

3. David also struck Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to recover his border at the river Euphrates.

4. And David took from him seventeen hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen. And David hamstrung all the chariot horses but kept enough of them for a hundred chariots.

5. And when the Syrians of Damascus came to rescue Hadadezer king of Zobah, David killed twenty-two thousand men of the Syrians.

6. And David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus. And the Syrians became servants to David, bringing gifts. And the Lord preserved David wherever he went.

7. And David took the shields of gold... that were on the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.
8. And from Betah, and from Berothai, cities of Hadadezer, King David took very much bronze.
9. And Toi king of Hamath heard that David had struck all the army of Hadadezer.
10. Then Toi sent Joram his son to King David to greet him and bless him because he had fought against Hadadezer and had struck him, for Hadadezer had wars against Toi. And in his hand were silver articles, and golden articles, and bronze articles.
11. King David also dedicated them to the LORD, with the silver and gold that he had dedicated from all nations which he subdued:
13. And David made a name for himself when he returned from striking the Syrians in the Valley of Salt, eighteen thousand men.
14. And he put garrisons in Edom. He put garrisons throughout all Edom and all the men of Edom became David’s servants. And the LORD preserved David wherever he went.
15. And David reigned over all Israel. And David did judgment and justice to all his people.
16. And Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army. And Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder.
17. And Zadok the son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests. And Seraiah was the scribe.
18. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over both the Cherethites and the Pelethites. And David’s sons were chief rulers.

CHAPTER NINE

1. And David said, “Is there still any that is left from the house of Saul, that I may show him kindness for Jonathan’s sake?”
2. And there was of the house of Saul a servant whose name was Ziba. And they called him to David and the king said to him, “Are you Ziba?” And he said, “Your servant.”
3. And the king said, “Is there not still any of the house of Saul, so that I may show the kindness of God to him?” And Ziba said to the king, “Jonathan still has a son who is lame in his feet.”
4. And the king said to him, “Where is he?” And Ziba said to the king, “Behold, he is in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, in Lodebar.”
5. And King David sent and brought him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, from Lodebar.
6. And Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, came to David, and fell on his face and bowed to him. And David said, “Mephibosheth!” And he answered, “Behold your servant!”
7. And David said to him, “Do not fear, for I will surely show you kindness for Jonathan your father’s sake and will restore you all the land of Saul your father. And you shall eat bread at my table forever.”
8. And he bowed himself and said, “What is your servant that you should look upon such a dead dog as I?”
9. Then the king called to Ziba, Saul’s servant, and said to him, “I have given to your master’s son all that belonged to Saul and to all his house.
10. And you shall till the land for him, you and your sons and your servants. And you shall bring in the fruits so that your master’s son may have bread to eat. But Mephibosheth, your master’s son, shall eat bread always at my table.” And Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.
11. And Ziba said to the king, “According to all that my lord the king has commanded his servant, so shall your servant do.” “And Mephibosheth,” said the king, “he shall eat at my table, as one of the king’s sons.”
12. And Mephibosheth had a young son, whose name was Micah. And all that lived in the house of Ziba were servants to Mephibosheth.
13. And Mephibosheth lived in Jerusalem, for he always sat at the king’s table. And he was lame in both his feet.

CHAPTER TEN

1. And it came to pass after this, the king of the children of Ammon died, and his son Hanun reigned in his stead.
2. And David said, “I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father showed kindness to me.” And David sent to comfort him for his father by the hand of his servants. And David’s servants came into the land of the children of Ammon.

3. And the leaders of the children of Ammon said to Hanun their lord, “Do you think that David honors your father, that he has sent comforters to you? Has not David sent his servants to you to search the city, and to spy it out, and to overthrow it?”

4. And Hanun took David’s servants and shaved off half their beards and cut off their garments in the middle, to their buttocks, and sent them away.

5. And they told David and he sent to meet them because the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, “Stay at Jericho until your beards are grown, and return.”

6. And the children of Ammon saw that they had begun to be odious before David. And the children of Ammon sent and hired the Syrians of Beth Rehob, and the Syrians of Zobah, twenty thousand footmen, and from King Maacah a thousand men, and from Ish-Tob twelve thousand men.

7. And when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men.

8. And the children of Ammon came out and put the battle in order at the entering in of the gate. And the Syrians of Zobah, and of Rehob, and Ish-Tob, and Maacah, were by themselves in the field.

9. And Joab saw that the front of the battle was against him before and behind. And he selected from all the choice ones of Israel and put them in battle order against the Syrians.

10. And the rest of the people he delivered into the hand of Abishai his brother, so that he might set in battle order against the children of Ammon.

11. And he said, “If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me. But if the children of Ammon are too strong for you, then I will come and help you.

12. Be of good courage, and let us be strong men for our people and for the cities of our God. And may the LORD do that which seems good to Him.”

13. And Joab and the people with him drew near to the battle against the Syrians. And they fled before him.

14. And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians had fled, then they fled also before Abishai, and entered into the city. And Joab returned from the children of Ammon and came to Jerusalem.

15. And the Syrians saw that they were beaten before Israel, and they gathered together.

16. And Hadadezer sent and brought out the Syrians who were beyond the river. And they came to Helam. And Shobach the commander of the army of Hadadezer went before them.

17. When David was told this, he gathered all Israel and passed over Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Syrians set themselves in battle order to meet David and fought with him.

18. And the Syrians fled before Israel. And David killed the men of seven hundred chariots of the Syrians and forty thousand horsemen, and struck Shobach the captain of their army, who died there.

19. When all the kings, the servants of Hadadezer, saw that they were beaten before Israel, then they made peace with Israel and served them. And the Syrians feared to help the children of Ammon any more.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And it came to pass at the turn of the year, at the time kings go forth to war, David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel. And they destroyed the children of Ammon and circled Rab-bah. But David remained at Jerusalem.

2. And it came to pass one evening, David arose from his bed and walked upon the roof of the king’s house. And from the roof he saw a woman bathing. And the woman was very beautiful to look upon.

3. And David sent and asked about the woman. And one said, “Is not this Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?”

4. And David sent messengers and took her. And she came in to him and he lay with her. And when she had purified herself from her uncleanness, she returned to her house.

5. And the woman conceived, and sent and told David, and said, “I am with child.”

6. And David sent to Joab, saying, “Send me Uriah the Hittite.” And Joab sent Uriah to David.
7. And when Uriah had come to him, David asked how Joab did, and how the people did, and how the war went.
8. And David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet." And Uriah left the king’s house. And a gift from the king went out after him.
9. But Uriah slept at the door of the king’s house with all the servants of his lord and did not go down to his house.
10. And they told David, saying, "Uriah did not go to his house." And David said to Uriah, "Did you not come from a journey? Why have you not gone down to your house?"
11. And Uriah said to David, "The ark and Israel and Judah abide in tents. And my lord Joab, and the servants of my lord, are camped in the open fields. Shall I then go to my house to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? As you live, and as your soul lives, I will not do this thing."
12. And David said to Uriah, "Stay here today also, and tomorrow I will let you go." And Uriah stayed in Jerusalem that day and the next day.
13. And when David had called him, he ate and drank before him. And he made him drunk. And at evening he went out to lie on his bed with the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.
14. And it came to pass in the morning, David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah.
15. And he wrote in the letter, saying, "Set Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle, and draw back from him so that he may be stricken and die."
16. And it came to pass when Joab observed the city, he sent Uriah to a place where he knew brave men were.
17. And the men of the city went out and fought with Joab. And some of the people of the servants of David fell. And Uriah the Hittite also died.
18. Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war.
19. And he commanded the messenger saying, "When you have made an end of telling the matters of the war to the king,"
20. And if it be so that the king’s wrath arise, and he say to you, 'Why did you approach so near to the city when you fought? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall?"
21. Who struck Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? Did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from the wall so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall? And you shall say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.' ”
22. And the messenger departed, and came and told David all that Joab had sent him to tell.
23. And the messenger said to David, "Surely the men prevailed against us and came out to us to the field, and we were upon them even to the entering of the gate.
24. And the shooters shot from off the wall upon your servants, and some of the king’s servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also."
25. Then David said to the messenger, "So you shall say to Joab, 'Do not let this thing displease you, for the sword devours one as well as another. Make your battle stronger against the city and overthrow it. And you encourage him.' ”
26. And the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, and mourned for her husband.
27. And when her mourning was past, David sent and brought her to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done was evil in the eyes of the LORD.

CHAPTER TWELVE
1. And the LORD sent Nathan to David. When he came to him and said to him, “There were two men in one city, one rich and one poor.
2. The rich one had exceeding many flocks and herds,
3. But the poor one had nothing except one little ewe lamb which he had bought and nourished up. And it grew up together with him and with his children. It ate of his own food and drank from his own cup, and lay in his bosom and was to him like a daughter.
4. And there came a traveler to the rich man and he spared to take of his own flock and of his own herd to dress for the traveler that had come to him. But he took the poor man’s lamb and dressed it for the man who had come to him.”
5. And David’s anger was greatly kindled against the man. And he said to Nathan, “As the LORD lives, the man who has done this shall surely die.
6. And he shall restore the lamb fourfold because he did this thing, and because he had no pity.’
7. And Nathan said to David, “You are the man! Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘I anointed you king over Israel, and I delivered you out of the hand of Saul.
8. And I gave you your master's house and your master's wives into your bosom, and gave you the house of Israel and of Judah. And if that was too little, I would have given to you such and such things besides.
9. Why have you despised the word of the LORD to do evil in His sight? You would have given to you such and such things besides.
10. Now therefore, the sword shall never depart from your house because you have despised Me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife, and have killed him with the sword of the children of Ammon.
11. Thus says the LORD, ‘Behold, I will raise up evil against you out of your own bosom, and he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun, and your eyes and give them to your neighbor. And he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun.
12. For you did it secretly, but I will do this thing before all Israel and before the sun.”
13. And David said to Nathan, “I have sinned against the LORD.” And Nathan said to David, “The LORD also has put away your sin; you shall not die.
14. Only, because by this deed you have given great occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme, this child born to you shall surely die.”
15. And Nathan left to go to his house. And the LORD struck the child that Uriah’s wife bore to David, and it was very sick.
16. And David prayed to God for the child. Then David fasted and went in and lay all night upon the earth.
17. And the elders of his house rose up toward him to raise him up from the earth. But he would not, neither did he eat bread with them.
18. And it came to pass on the seventh day, the child died. And the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead, for they said, ‘Behold, while the child was still alive we spoke to him, and he would not hearken to our voice. How then will he trouble himself if we tell him that the child is dead?”
19. But David saw that his servants whispered. And David understood that the child was dead. And David said to his servants, “Is the boy dead?” And they said, “He is dead.”
20. And David arose from the earth and washed, and anointed himself, and changed his clothing, and came into the house of the LORD and worshiped. And he came to his house and commanded, and they brought bread before him and he ate.
21. Then his servants said to him, “What is this that you have done? You fasted and wept for the living boy, but when the child was dead you arose and ate bread!”
22. And he said, “While the child was still alive, I fasted and wept; for I said, ‘Who can tell if God will be gracious to me so that the child may live?’
23. But now he is dead; why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me.”
24. And David comforted his wife Bathsheba. And he went in to her and lay with her. And she bore a son. And he called his name Solomon. And the LORD loved him.
25. And He sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet and he called his name Jedidiah because of the LORD.
26. And Joab fought against Rabbah of the children of Ammon and took the royal city.
27. And Joab sent messengers to David and said, “I have fought against Rabbah, and have taken the city of waters.
28. And therefore gather the rest of the people together and camp against the city and take it, lest I take the city and it be called after my name.”
29. David gathered all the people and went to Rabbah and fought against it and took it.
30. Then he took the king’s crown from off his head, the weight of which was a talent of gold, and a precious stone was in it. And it was set on David’s head. And he brought forth the spoil of the city in great abundance.
31. And he brought forth the people that were in it, and put them under saws, and to sharpen tools of iron, and axes of iron, and he made those tools go through the brick-kiln. And so he did to all the cities of the children of Ammon. And David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. Now it came to pass after this Absalom the son of David had a beautiful sister whose name was Tamar. And Amnon the son of David loved her.
2. And Amnon was so distressed that he fell sick for his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin. And Amnon thought it hard for him to do anything to her.
3. And Amnon had a friend, whose name was Jonadab, the son of David's brother Shimeah. And Jonadab was a very crafty man.
4. And he said to him, “Why are you, the king’s son, becoming thinner from day to day? Will you not tell me?” And Amnon said to him, “I love Tamar, my brother Amnon’s sister.”
5. And Jonadab said to him, “Lay down on your bed and pretend to be sick. And when your father comes to see you, say to him, ‘Please let my sister Tamar come and give me food and prepare the food in my sight so that I may see her and eat it at her hand.’”
6. And Amnon lay down and pretended to be sick. And when the king had come to see him, Amnon said to the king, “Please let my sister Tamar come and make me a couple of cakes in my sight, so that I may eat at her hand.”
7. And David sent home to Tamar, saying, “Go now to your brother Amnon’s house and prepare food for him.”
8. And Tamar went to her brother Amnon’s house. And he was lying down. And she took flour and kneaded it, and made cakes in his sight and baked the cakes.
9. And she took a pan and poured them out before him. But he refused to eat. And Amnon said, “Make every man go out from me.” And every man went out from him.
10. And Amnon said to Tamar, “Bring the food into the room so that I may eat out of your hand.” And Tamar took the cakes which she had made, and brought them into the room to Amnon her brother.
11. And when she had brought them to him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, “Come lie with me, my sister.”
12. And she answered him, “No, my brother, do not humble me, for no such thing ought to be done in Israel. Do not do this folly.
13. And I, where shall I cause my shame to go? And as for you, you shall be as one of the fools in Israel. But now please speak to the king, for he will not withhold me from you.”
14. But he would not listen to her voice; but being stronger than she, he forced her and lay with her.
15. Then Amnon hated her with a great hatred. And the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. And Amnon said to her, “Get up and go.”
16. And she said to him, “No, because this evil in sending me away is greater than the other that you did to me.” But he would not hearken to her.
17. And he called his servant who waited on him and said, “And put this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.”
18. And she had a robe of many colors upon her, for the king’s virgin daughters were clothed with such robes. Now his servant brought her out and bolted the door after her.
19. And Tamar put ashes on her head and tore the robe of many colors that was on her, and laid her hand on her head, and went on, crying.
20. And Absalom her brother said to her, “Has Amnon your brother been with you? But now hold your peace, my sister. He is your brother. Do not take this thing to heart.” And Tamar remained desolate in the house of her brother Absalom.
21. Now when King David heard of all these things, he was very angry.
22. And Absalom did not speak to his brother Amnon, neither good nor bad, for Absalom hated Amnon because he had forced his sister Tamar.
23. And it came to pass after two full years Absalom had sheepshearers in Baal Hazor, beside Ephraim. And Absalom invited all the king’s sons.
24. And Absalom came to the king and said, “Behold now, your servant has shearsers. Please let the king and his servants go with your servant.”
25. And the king said to Absalom, “No, my son, let us not all go now, lest we be too heavy upon you.’ And he pressed him. However he would not go; but he blessed him.
26. Then Absalom said, ‘If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us.’ And the king said to him, ‘Why should he go with you?’
27. But Absalom pressed him, so that he let Amnon and all the king’s sons go with him.
28. And Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, ‘And watch when Am-non’s heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, ‘Strike Amnon,’ you shall kill him. Do not fear. Have I not commanded you? Be courageous and be brave.’
29. And the servants of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded.
And all the king’s sons arose. And they each got upon his mule and fled.
30. And it came to pass while they were on the way back, news came to David, saying, ‘Absalom has killed all the king’s sons, and there is not one of them left.’
31. And the king arose and tore his garmments, and lay on the earth. And all his servants stood by with their clothes torn.
32. And Jonadab, the son of David’s brother Shimeah answered and said, ‘Let not my lord think that they have killed all the young men, the king’s sons, for only Amnon is dead; for this has been determined by Absalom from the day that he humbled his sister Tamar.
33. And now do not let my lord the king take the thing to heart, to think that all the king’s sons are dead, for only Amnon is dead.’
34. But Absalom fled. And the young man that kept the watch lifted up his eyes and looked. Then, behold, many people came by the way of the hillside behind him.
35. And Jonadab said to the king, ‘Behold, the king’s sons come; as your servant said, so it is.’
36. And it came to pass as soon as he had made an end of speaking, behold, the king’s sons came. And they lifted up their voices and wept. And the king also and all his servants wept with a great weeping.
37. But Absalom fled and went to Tal-mai, the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son every day.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
1. Now Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king’s heart was toward Absalom.
2. And Joab sent to Tekoah and brought a wise woman from there. And he said to her, ‘Please pretend yourself to be a mourner and put on mourning clothes now, but do not anoint yourself with oil.
And be like a woman who has mourned for the dead a long time.
3. Then come to the king and speak in this way to him.” And Joab put the words in her mouth.
4. And when the woman of Tekoah spoke to the king, she fell on her face to the ground, and did obeisance, and said,
‘Help, O king!”
5. And the king said to her. “What ails you?” And she answered, “I am indeed a widow and my husband died.
6. And your handmaid had two sons, and the two of them fought together in the field. And there was no deliverer between them, but the one struck the other and killed him.
7. And behold, the whole family has risen against your handmaid. And they said, ‘Deliver him who struck his brother so that we may kill him for the life of his brother whom he killed. And we will quench my only remaining ember, and shall leave to my husband neither name
nor remnant upon the face of the earth.”
8. And the king said to the woman, “Go to your house, and I will give command concerning you.”
9. And the woman of Tekoah said to the king, “My lord, O king, may the iniquity be on me and on my father’s house. And may the king and his throne be without guilt.”
10. And the king said to the woman, “Go to your house, and I will give command
concerning you.”
11. Then she said, “Please let the king remember the LORD your God, that you would not allow the avengers of blood to destroy any more, lest they should destroy my son.” And he said, “As the LORD lives, there shall not one hair of your son fall to the earth.”
12. Then the woman said, “Please let your handmaid speak one more word to my lord the king.” And he said, “Say on!”
13. And the woman said, “Why then have you thought such a thing against the people of God? For the king speaks this thing as one who is at fault in that the king does not bring his banished one home again,
14. For we must all die, and we are as water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again. And God does not take a life, but has devised plans so that the outcast is not cast out from Him.
15. And now I have come to speak of this thing to my lord the king because the people have made me afraid. And your handmaid said, ‘I will now speak to the king. It may be that the king will do what his handmaid has asked,
16. For the king will hear, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man who would destroy me and my son together out of the inheritance of God.’
17. And your handmaid said, ‘The word of my lord the king shall now be comforting, for as an angel of God, so is my lord the king, to see what is good and evil. And the LORD your God will be with you.’ ”
18. And the king answered and said to the woman, “Please do not hide from me the thing that I shall ask you.” And the woman said, “Let my lord the king now speak.”
19. And the king said, “Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?” And the woman answered and said, “As your soul lives, my lord the king, none shall turn to the right hand or to the left from anything which my lord the king has spoken, for your servant Joab commanded me. And he put all these words in the mouth of your handmaid.
20. Your servant Joab has done this thing to change the face of the matter. And my lord is wise according to the wisdom of an angel of God to know all that is in the land.”
21. And the king said to Joab, “Behold now, I have done this thing. Go therefore and bring the young man Absalom again.”
22. And Joab fell to the ground on his face and bowed himself, and thanked the king. And Joab said, “Today your servant knows that I have found grace in your sight, my lord, O, king, in that the king has done what your servant has asked.”
23. And Joab arose and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.
24. And the king said, “Let him return to his own house, but let him not see my face.” And Absalom returned to his own house and did not see the king’s face.
25. But in all Israel there was not a man handsome like Absalom. From the sole of his foot even to the crown of his head, there was no blemish in him.
26. And when he sheared his head—for it was at every year’s end that he sheared it because it was heavy on him—and when he sheared it, then he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels, according to the king’s weight.
27. And there were born three sons to Absalom, and one daughter, whose name was Tamar. She was a woman with a beautiful face.
28. And Absalom lived two full years in Jerusalem and did not see the king’s face.
29. And Absalom sent to Joab to send him to the king. But he would not come to him. And when he sent again a second time, he would not come.
30. And he said to his servants, “See, Joab’s field is near mine and he has barley there. Go and set it on fire!” And Absalom’s servants set the field on fire.
31. Then Joab arose and came to Absalom’s house, and said to him, “Why have your servants set my field on fire?”
32. And Absalom answered Joab, “Behold, I sent to you, saying, ‘Come here so that I may send you to the king, to say, “Why have I come from Geshur? It was good for me to be there still.” ’ And now let me see the king’s face, and if there is iniquity in me, let him kill me.”
33. And Joab came to the king and told him. And when he had called for Absalom, he came to the king and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king. And the king kissed Absalom.
CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. Now it came to pass after this, Absalom prepared himself chariots and horses and fifty men to run before him.

2. And Absalom rose up early and stood beside the way of the gate. Now it was so, if any man had a suit to come before the king for judgment, then Absalom called to him and said, “What city are you from?” And he said, “Your servant is of one of the tribes of Israel.”

3. And Absalom said to him, “See! Your matters are good and right, but no one from the king will hear you.”

4. And Absalom said, “Oh, that I might be made judge in the land, so that every man who has any suit or cause might come to me, and I would do him justice!”

5. And it was so, when any man came near to bow down to him, he put forth his hand and took him and kissed him.

6. And in this way Absalom did to all Israel that came to the king for judgment. And Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7. Now it came to pass at the end of four years, Absalom said to the king, “Please let me go and pay my vow which I have vowed to the LORD in Hebron.

8. For your servant vowed a vow while I lived at Geshur in Syria, saying, ‘If the LORD will indeed bring me again to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD.’”

9. And the king said to him, “Go in peace.” And he arose and went to Hebron.

10. But Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, “As soon as you hear the sound of the ram’s horn, then you shall say, ‘Absalom reigns in Hebron!’”

11. And with Absalom went two hundred men invited out of Jerusalem. And they went in their innocence and did not know anything.

12. And Absalom sent for Ahithophel of Giloh, David’s counselor, from his city Giloh, while he offered sacrifices. And the conspiracy was strong, for the people with Absalom grew more and more.

13. And a messenger came to David saying, “The hearts of the men of Israel are after Absalom.”

14. And David said to all his servants with him at Jerusalem, “Arise, and let us flee! For otherwise we shall not escape from Absalom. Make haste to depart, lest he overtake us suddenly and bring evil upon us, and strike the city with the edge of the sword.”

15. And the king’s servants said to the king, “Behold, your servants will do whatever my lord the king shall choose.”

16. And the king went forth, and all his household after him. And the king left ten women, concubines, to keep the house.

17. Then the king went forth, and all the people after him and stayed in a place that was far off.

18. And all his servants passed on beside him. And all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, six hundred men who came after him from Gath, passed on before the king.

19. Then the king said to Ittai the Gittite, “Why do you also go with us? Return to your place, and stay with the king, for you are a stranger, and also an exile.

20. Since you came only yesterday, should I make you go up and down with us today? Since I am going wherever I may go, you may return and take back your brothers. May mercy and truth be with you.”

21. And Ittai answered the king and said, “As the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, surely in whatever place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also will your servant be.”

22. And David said to Ittai, “Go and pass over.” Then Ittai the Gittite passed over, and all his men, and all the little ones with him.

23. And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people passed over. The king himself also passed over the brook Kidron and all the people passed over toward the way of the wilderness.

24. And lo, Zadok came also, and all the Levites were with him, carrying the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God. And Abiathar went up until all the people had finished passing out of the city.

25. And the king said to Zadok, “Carry the ark of God back into the city. If I shall find favor in the eyes of the LORD, He will bring me again and show it to me, and its dwelling place also.

26. But if He says this, ‘I have no delight in you;’ behold me, and let Him do to me as seems good to Him.”
27. The king also said to Zadok the priest, “Are you a seer? Return to the city in peace, and your two sons with you. Ahimaaz your son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar.

28. Behold, I will wait in the plain of the wilderness until there comes word from you to tell me.”

29. And Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God again to Jerusalem. And they remained there.

30. And David went up by the ascent of Mount Olivet. And he wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and he went barefoot. And of all the people with him, each man covered his head. And they went up, weeping as they went.

31. And one told David, saying, “Ahithophel is among the conspirators withAbsalom.” And David said, “O LORD, I pray You, turn the advice of Ahithophel to foolishness.”

32. Now it came to pass when David had come to the top, where he worshiped God, behold, Hushai the Archite came to meet him with his coat torn and earth upon his head.

33. David said to him, “If you pass on with me, then you shall be a burden to me.

34. But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, ‘I will be your servant, O king; I have been your father’s servant until now, and now I also will be your servant,’ then you may defeat the advice of Ahithophel for me.

35. And do you not have there with you Zadok and Abiathar the priests? And it shall be, whatever you shall hear out of the king’s house, you shall tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests.

36. Behold, they have their two sons there with them, Ahimaaz, Zadok’s son, and Jonathan, Abiathar’s son. And you shall send to me everything that you hear by them.”

37. And David’s friend Hushai came to the city. And Absalom came into Jerusalem.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. And David had passed on a little from the top of the mount. And, behold, Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth met him with a couple of donkeys saddled, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, and a hundred bunches of raisins, and a hundred of summer fruits, and a bottle of wine.

2. And the king said to Ziba, “What are these to you?” And Ziba said, “The donkeys are for the king’s household to ride upon. And the bread and summer fruit are for the young men to eat. And the wine is so that the ones who are faint in the wilderness may drink.”

3. And the king said, “Now where is your master’s son?” And Ziba said to the king, “Behold, he remains at Jerusalem, for he said, ‘Today the house of Israel shall restore to me the kingdom of my father.’ ”

4. And the king said to Ziba, “Behold, all that belonged to Mephibosheth is yours.” And Ziba said, “I humbly beg you that I may find grace in your sight, my lord, O king.”

5. Then King David came to Bahurim. And, behold, a man of the house of Saul came out from there, whose name was Shimei, the son of Gera. He came out, and he came cursing.

6. And he threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David. And all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left.

7. And Shimei said this in his cursing, “Go out, O man of blood, O man of Belial.

8. The L ORD has returned upon you all the blood of the house of Saul in whose place you have reigned. And the L ORD has delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son. And behold, you are taken in your mischief because you are a man of blood!”

9. And Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, “Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Please let me go over and take off his head.”

10. Then the king said, “What have I to do with you, sons of Zeruiah? Let him curse because the L ORD has said to him, ‘Curse David.’ Who then shall say, ‘Why have you done so?’ ”

11. And David said to Abishai and to all his servants, “Behold, my son, who came forth from my loins, seeks my life; and how much more now this Benjamite? Let him alone and let him curse, for the L ORD has spoken to him.

12. It may be that the L ORD will look on my affliction, and that the L ORD will repay me with good for his cursing this day.”
13. And David and his men went by the highway. And Shimei went along on the hillside over across from him, and cursed as he went, and threw stones at him and threw dust.
14. And the king, and all the people with him arrived weary. And they refreshed themselves there.
15. And Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem. And Ahithophel went with him.
16. And it came to pass, when Hushai the Archite, David’s friend, had come to Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, “Let the king live, let the king live!”
17. And Absalom said to Hushai, “Is this your kindness to your friend? Why did you not go with your friend?”
19. And again, whom should I serve? As I have served in your father’s house, and I will stay with him.
20. And Absalom said to Ahithophel, “Give your advice. What shall we do?”
22. And they spread Absalom a tent upon the top of the house, and Absalom went in to his father’s concubines in the sight of all Israel.
23. And the advice of Ahithophel, which he advised in those days, was as if a man had inquired at the oracle of God. So was all the advice of Ahithophel, both with David and with Absalom.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. And Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Please let me choose out twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue after David tonight.
2. And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak-handed, and I will make him tremble. And all the people with him will flee. And I will strike the king by himself.

3. And I will bring back all the people to you, when all return, except the man whom you are seeking. All the people shall be in peace.”
4. And the saying pleased Absalom very much, and all the elders of Israel.
5. And Absalom said, “Please call Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise what is in his mouth.”
6. And Hushai came in to Absalom. And Absalom spoke to him saying, “Ahithophel has spoken in this way. Shall we do his word? If not, you speak.”
7. And Hushai said to Absalom, “The advice which Ahithophel has given is not good at this time.
8. “For,” Hushai said, “you know your father and his men, that they are mighty men, and they are bitter of soul, like a bear robbed of her cubs in the field. And your father is a man of war and will not stay the night with the people.
9. Behold, he is hidden now in some pit, or in some other place. And it shall be, when some of them are overthrown at the first, whoever hears will say, ‘There is a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.’
10. And also he, the son of valor, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, shall utterly melt, for all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man and those who are with him are mighty men.
11. Therefore I advise that all Israel be generally gathered to you, from Dan even to Beersheba, like the sand that is by the sea for multitude. And you yourself shall go into battle.
12. And we shall come upon him in some place where he shall be found, and we will light upon him like the dew falls upon the ground. And of all the men that are with him, not even one shall be left.
13. And if he has gotten into a city, then all Israel shall bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river until there is not one small stone found there.”
14. And Absalom and all the men of Israel said, “The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel,” for the LORD had appointed to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring evil upon Absalom.
15. And Hushai said to Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, “This and this Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel, and this and this I have advised.

16. And now send quickly and tell David, saying, 'Do not stay in the plains of the wilderness tonight, but speedily pass over, lest the king be swallowed up, and all the people with him.'

17. And Jonathan and Ahimaaz stayed by En Rogel, for there they might not be seen to come into the city. And a slave-girl went and told them, and they went and told King David.

18. But a lad saw them and told Absalom, but both of them went away quickly, and came to a man's house in Bahurim, who had a well in his court into which they went down.

19. And the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground grain on it, and the thing was not known.

20. And when Absalom's servants came to the woman, to the house, they said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" And the woman said to them, "They have gone over the brook of water." And when they had searched and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21. Then it came to pass after they had departed, they came up out of the well, and went and told King David. And they said to David, "Arise and pass quickly over the waters, for this is what Ahithophel has advised against you."

22. Then David and all the people with him arose. And they passed over Jordan. By the morning light there was not one of them that had not gone over Jordan.

23. And when Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, even he saddled the donkey and arose, and went home to his house, to his city, and put his household in order. And he hanged himself and died, and was buried in the tomb of his father.

24. And David came to Mahanaim. And Absalom passed over Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him.

25. Then Absalom made Amasa captain of the army instead of Joab. This Amasa was the son of a man named Ithra, an Israelite, who went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zeruiah, Joab's mother.

26. And Israel and Absalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27. And it came to pass when David came to Mahanaim, Shobi the son of Nahash of Rabbah, of the sons of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel of Lodebar, and Barzillai the Gileadite of Rogelim,

28. Brought beds and basins and earthen vessels, and wheat and barley and flour and roasted grain, and beans and lentils and other roasted food,

29. And honey and butter and sheep and cheese from cows for David and for the people with him to eat, for they said, "The people are hungry and weary and thirsty in the wilderness."

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. Then David numbered the people who were with him, and set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them.

2. And David sent forth a third of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and a third under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the people, "I will also surely go forth with you myself."

3. But the people answered, "You shall not go forth, for if we run away, they will not set their heart on us, even if half of us die; for now you are worth ten thousand of us. And now it is better that you remain to help us from the city."

4. And the king said to them, "I will do what is good in your eyes." And the king stood by the side of the gate, and all the people came out by hundreds and by thousands.

5. And the king commanded Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, "For my sake be gentle with the young man, with Absalom." And all the people heard when the king gave all the commanders charge concerning Absalom.

6. And the people went out into the field against Israel. And the battle was in the forest of Ephraim.

7. And the people of Israel were killed there before the servants of David. And there was a great slaughter that day of twenty thousand,

8. For the battle was scattered there over the face of all the country. And the forest devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

9. Then Absalom met the servants of
And Absalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak. And his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up hanging between the heaven and the earth. And the mule under him went away.

10. And a certain man saw and told Joab, and said, "Behold, I saw Absalom hanging in an oak."

11. And Joab said to the man who told him, "Now, behold, you saw him, and why did you not strike him there to the ground? And I would have given you ten shekels of silver and a girdle."

12. Then the man said to Joab, "Though I should receive a thousand silverlings in my hand, yet I would not put forth my hand against the king's son, for in our ears the king charged you and Abishai and Ittai, saying, 'Beware you who go against the young man, against Absalom.'"

13. Or I would have dealt falsely with my own life, for there is no matter hidden from the king, and you yourself would have set yourself against me."

14. And Joab said, "I cannot remain here with you." Then he took three spears in his hand and thrust them through the heart of Absalom while he was still alive in the midst of the oak.

15. And ten young men who bore Joab's armor surrounded and struck Absalom, and killed him.

16. Then Joab blew the ram's horn, and the people returned from pursuing Israel, for Joab held back the people.

17. And they took Absalom and threw him into a great pit in the forest. And they laid a very great heap of stones upon him. And all Israel fled, each one to his tent.

18. Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and reared up for himself a pillar, which is in the King's Valley, for he said, "I have no son to keep my name in remembrance." And he called the pillar after his own name. And it is called Absalom's monument until this day.

19. Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, "And let me run and bear the news to the king, how the LORD has avenged him of his enemies."

20. And Joab said to him, "You shall not bear news today, but you shall bear good news some other day. But today you shall bear no tidings because the king's son is dead."

21. And Joab said to Cushi, "Go tell the king what you have seen." And Cushi bowed himself to Joab and ran.

22. And Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said yet again to Joab, "Yet whatever happens, please let me also run after the Cushite." And Joab said, "Why will you run, my son, since you have no good news ready?"

23. But he said, "Yet whatever happens, let me run!" And he said to him, "Run." And Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain, and ran past the Cushite.

24. And David sat between the two gates. And the watchman went up to the roof over the gate to the wall, and lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, a man was running alone.

25. And the watchman cried and told the king. And the king said, "If he is alone, there is news in his mouth." And he came quickly and drew near.

26. Then the watchman saw another man running. And the watchman called to the porter and said, "Behold, another man is running alone." And the king said, "He also brings news."

27. And the watchman said, "I see the running of the first is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok." And the king said, "He is a good man, and comes with good news."

28. And Ahimaaz called and said to the king, "Peace!" And he fell down upon his face before the king, and said, "Blessed be the LORD your God, Who has delivered up the men who lifted up their hand against my lord the king."

29. And the king said, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" And Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab sent the king's servant, and your servant, I saw a great uproar, but I did not know what it was."

30. And the king said, "Turn aside, stand here." And he turned aside and stood still.

31. And, behold, Cushi came. And Cushi said, "Good news, my lord the king, for the LORD has avenged you this day of all those who rose up against you."

32. And the king said to Cushi, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" And Cushi answered, "May the enemies of my lord the king and all who rise against you to do you hurt, be as the young man."
33. And the king was much moved, and went up to the room over the gate and wept. And as he went, he said this, “O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! Would God I had died for you, O Absalom, my son, my son!”

CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. Now it was told to Joab, “Behold, the king weeps and mourns for Absalom.”
2. Then the victory that day was turned into mourning to all the people, for the people heard it said that day how the king was grieved for his son.
3. And the people went up secretly into the city that day as people who are ashamed steal away when they flee in battle.
4. But the king covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, “O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!”
5. Then Joab came into the house to the king and said, “You have today shamed the faces of all your servants, for they have saved your life and the lives of your sons and your daughters today, the lives of your wives, and the lives of your concubines.
6. By loving your enemies and hating those who love you, you have declared today that there are neither commanders nor servants to you, for I know that today if Absalom had lived and all of us had died today, then it would have pleased you very much!
7. And now get up and go out. Speak to the heart of your servants, for I swear by the LORD if you do not go out, not a man shall stay with you tonight. Then it will be worse for you than all the evil which has come to you from your youth until now.”
8. Then the king arose and sat in the gate. And they told it to the people, saying, “Behold, the king sits in the gate!” And all the people came before the king. (For Israel had fled, every one to his tent.)
9. Now it came to pass, all the people quarreled throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, “The king saved us out of the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philistines. And now he has fled out of the land from Absalom.
10. And Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle. And now why do you not speak a word about bringing the king back?”

11. And King David sent to Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, saying, “Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, ‘Why are you the last to bring the king back to his house? For the word of all Israel has come to the king, even to his house.
12. You are my brothers and my flesh and my bone. Why then are you the last to bring back the king?’
13. And you say to Amasa, ‘Are you not of my bone and of my flesh? May God do so to me, and more also, if you are not commander of the army before me all the days instead of Joab.’ ”
14. And he bowed the heart of all the men of Judah, even as one man, so that they sent to the king, saying, “Return, you and all your servants.”
15. And the king returned and came to Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal to go to meet the king, to conduct the king over Jordan.
16. And Shimei the son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim, hurried and came down with the men of Judah to meet King David.
17. And a thousand men of Benjamin were with him, and Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him. And they went over Jordan before the king.
18. And they had crossed over the ford to carry over the king’s household and to do what he thought good. And Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king as he had come over Jordan.
19. But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said, “Shall not Shimei be put to death for this because he cursed the LORD’S anointed?”
20. And David said, “What do I have to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should be my foes today? Shall there be any man put to death today in Israel? For do I not know that I am king over Israel today?”
23. And the king said to Shimei, “You shall not die.” And the king swore to him.
24. And Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king. And he had neither dressed his feet, nor trimmed his moustache, nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until he came in peace.
25. And it came to pass when he had come to Jerusalem to meet the king, the king said to him, “Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?”
26. And he answered, “My lord, O, king, my servant deceived me, for your servant said, ‘I will saddle me a donkey so that I may ride on it and go to the king’ because your servant is lame.
27. And he spoke slander against your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is as an angel of God. And do what is good in your eyes,
28. For all my father’s house were but dead men before my lord the king. And you set your servant among those eating at your own table. What right then have I to cry to the king any more?”
29. And the king said to him, “Why do you speak any more of your matters? I have said, ‘You and Ziba divide the land.’ ”
30. And Mephibosheth said to the king, “Yes, let him take all because my lord the king has come in peace to his own house.”
31. And Barzillai of Gilead came down from Rogelim and went over Jordan with the king to conduct him over Jordan.
32. And Barzillai was a very aged man, eighty years old. And he had provided food for the king while he abode at Mahanaim, for he was a very great man.
33. And the king said to Barzillai, “Come over with me and I will sustain you with me in Jerusalem.”
34. And Barzillai said to the king, “How long do I have to live that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem?
35. I am eighty years old today, and can I discern between good and evil? Can your servant taste what I eat or what I drink? Can I any more hear the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant still be a burden to my lord the king?
36. Your servant will go a little way over Jordan with the king. And why should the king repay me with such a reward?
37. Please let your servant return so that I may die in my own city by the grave of my father and of my mother. But behold your servant Chimham, let him go over with my lord the king. Now do to him what shall seem good to you.”
38. And the king answered, “Chimham shall go over with me and I will do to him that which shall seem good to you. And whatever you shall ask of me, that I will do for you.”
39. And all the people went over Jordan. And when the king had come over, the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him. And he returned to his place.
40. And the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him. And all the people of Judah were bringing the king, and also half the people of Israel.
41. And, behold, all the men of Israel came to the king, and said to the king, “Why have our brothers, the men of Judah stolen you away and have brought the king and his household, and all David’s men with him, over Jordan?”
42. And all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, “Because the king is near to us. Why then are you angry for this matter? Have we eaten at all at the king’s cost? Or has he given us any gift?”
43. And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah and said, “We have ten parts in the king, therefore we also have more right in David than you. Why then did you despise us, so that our advice should not be sought first in bringing back our king?” And the words of the men of Judah were more fierce than the words of the men of Israel.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. Now there came to be there a base fellow named Sheba, the son of Bichri, a Benjamite. And he blew a ram’s horn and said, “We have no part in David, neither do we have any inheritance in the son of Jesse. Every man to his tents, O, Israel!”
2. And every man of Israel left from following after David and followed Sheba the son of Bichri. But the men of Judah remained loyal to their king, from Jordan even to Jerusalem.
3. And David came to his house at Jerusalem. Then the king took the ten women, his concubines, whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in a ward and fed them but did not go in to them. And they were shut up till the day of their death, living in widowhood.
4. And the king said to Amasa, “Assemble to me the men of Judah within three days, and you be present here.”
5. And Amasa went to gather Judah. But he stayed longer than the set time which he had appointed him.
6. And David said to Abishai, “And Amasa the son of Bichri shall do us more harm than Absalom. You take your lord’s servants and pursue him, lest he get himself into fortified cities and escape us.”
7. Then Joab’s men went out after him, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men. And they went out of Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.
8. They were at the great stone which is in Gibeon, and Amasa had gone before them. And Joab was girded with his war armor as his clothing. And upon it was a girdle with a sword fastened upon his loins, in its sheath. And as he went forth, it fell out.
9. Then Joab said to Amasa, “Are you well, my brother?” And Joab took Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kiss him.
10. And Amasa was not on guard against the sword that was in Joab’s hand. And he struck him with it in the belly, and poured out his bowels to the ground. And he did not strike him again. And he died. And Joab and Abishai his brother pursued after Sheba the son of Bichri.
11. And one of Joab’s men stood by him and said, “He who favors Joab, and he who is for David, follow after Joab!”
12. And Amasa wallowed in blood in the middle of the highway. And the man saw that all the people stood still. And he moved Amasa out of the highway into the field, and threw a garment over him when he saw that everyone who came by him stood still.
13. When he was moved out of the highway, all the people went on after Joab, to pursue after Sheba the son of Bichri.
14. And he went through all the tribes of Israel to Abel, and to Beth Maachah, and to all the Berites. And they were assembled, and went after him too.
15. And they came and besieged him in Abel of Beth Maachah. And they threw up a siege mound against the city. And it stood against the wall. And all the people with Joab were undermining the wall to make it fall.
16. Then a wise woman cried out of the city, “Hear, hear! Please say to Joab, ‘Come near here so that I may speak with you.’”
17. And when he had come near her, the woman said, “Are you Joab?” And he answered, “I am.” And she said to him, “Hear the words of your handmaid.” And he answered, “I hear.”
18. Then she spoke, saying, “They spoke often in days gone by, saying, ‘Surely they will ask of Abel,’ and so they ended the matter.
19. I am peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city and a mother in Israel. Why will you swallow up the inheritance of the LORD?”
20. And Joab answered and said, “Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy.
21. The matter is not so. But a man of Mount Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, has lifted up his hand against the king, against David. Only deliver him, and I will depart from the city.” And the woman said to Joab, “Behold, his head shall be thrown to you over the wall.”
22. Then the woman went to all the people in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and threw it out to Joab. And he blew the ram’s horn, and they scattered from the city, each man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king.
23. And Joab was over all the army of Israel. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and over the Pelethites.
24. And Adoram was over the tribute. And Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder.
25. And Sheva was scribe. And Zadok and Abiathar were the priests.
26. And also Ira the Jairite was a chief ruler under David.
CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. And there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year. And David inquired of the LORD. And the LORD answered, "It is for Saul, and for his bloody house because he killed the Gibeonites."

2. And the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. (And the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but of the remnant of the Amorites. And the children of Israel had sworn to spare them. But Saul had sought to kill them in his zeal to the children of Israel and Judah.)

3. And David said to the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? And with what shall I atone for this, so that you may bless the inheritance of the LORD?"

4. And the Gibeonites said to him, "We will have no silver nor gold from Saul, nor from his house. Also, we will have no man in Israel put to death." And he said, "What you shall say, I will do for you."

5. And they answered the king, "The man who destroyed us and who devised against us, that we should be destroyed from remaining in any of the borders of Israel.

6. Let seven men of his sons be delivered to us and we will hang them up to the LORD in Gibeah of Saul, the chosen of the LORD." And the king said, "I will give them."

7. But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan the son of Saul because of the LORD'S oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul.

8. But the king took the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth, and the five sons of Merab the daughter of Saul, whom she bore to Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite.

9. And he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites. And they hanged them in the hill before the LORD. And they fell, seven together, and were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, in the beginning of barley harvest.

10. And Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself upon the rock, from the beginning of harvest until water dropped upon them out of heaven. And she did not allow either the birds of the air to rest on them by day, nor the beasts of the field by night.

11. And it was told David what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done.

12. And David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from the men of Jabesh Gilead, who had stolen them from the plaza of Beth Shan, where the Philistines had hanged them when the Philistines had slain Saul in Gilboa.

13. And he brought the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son up from there. And they gathered the bones of those who were hanged.

14. And they buried the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son in the land of Benjamin in Zelah, in the tomb of his father Kish. And they did all that the king commanded. And afterward God heeded prayer for the land.

15. And again the Philistines warred with Israel. And David went down, and his servants with him, and fought against the Philistines. And David became faint.

16. And Ishbi-Benob, who was of the sons of the giant (the weight of whose spear was three hundred shekels of bronze), being girded with a new sword, thought to kill David.

17. But Abishai the son of Zeruiah came to his aid and struck the Philistine, and killed him. Then the men of David swore to him, saying, "You shall not go out to battle with us any more, so that you do not put out the light of Israel."

18. Now it came to pass after this there was again a battle with the Philistines at Gob. Then Sibbechai the Hushathite killed Saph, who was of the sons of the giant.

19. And there was again a battle with the Philistines in Gob, where Elhanan of Bethlehem, the son of Jaare-Oregim, killed one of the sons of Goliath the Gittite, the staff of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

20. And there was yet again a battle in Gath. And there was a man of stature who had six fingers on each hand, and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number. And he also was born to the giant.

21. And when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimeah, the brother of David, killed him.

22. These four were born to the giant in Gath, and fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. And David spoke to the LORD the words of this song in the day the LORD had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul.
2. And he said, “The LORD is my Rock, my Fortress, and my Deliverer. He is my God, my Rock, in Him will I trust. He is my Shield, and the Horn of my salvation, my High Tower, and my Refuge, my Savior. You save me from violence.
3. The God Who is my Rock, in Him will I trust. He is my Shield, and the Horn of my salvation, my High Tower, and my Deliverer.
4. I will call upon the LORD, and He will hear me from heaven, and will save me from all my enemies, and from all those who hate me.
5. When the waves of death encircled me, the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.
6. The sorrows of the grave hemmed me in. The snares of death went in front of me.
7. In my distress I called upon the LORD and cried to my God. And He heard my voice out of His temple, and my cry entered into His ears.
8. Then the earth shook and trembled. The foundations of the heavens moved and shook because He was angry.
9. Smoke went up out of His nostrils, and fire out of His mouth devoured. Coals were kindled by it.
10. He bowed the heavens also, and came down. And darkness was under His feet.
11. And He rode upon a cherub and did fly. And He was seen upon the wings of the wind.
12. And He made darkness coverings around Him, dark waters, thick clouds of the skies.
13. From the brightness before Him were coals of fire kindled.
14. The LORD thundered from the heavens, and the Most High uttered His voice.
15. And He sent out arrows, and scattered them; lightning, and troubled them.
16. And the channels of the sea appeared, the foundations of the world were uncovered at the rebuking of the LORD, at the blast of the breath of His nostrils.
17. He sent from above, He took me. He drew me out of many waters.
18. He delivered me from my strong en-
40. For You have girded me with strength to battle. You have subdued under me those who rose up against me.
41. You have also given me the necks of my enemies that I might destroy them who hate me.
42. They looked, but there was none to save; even to the LORD, but He did not answer them.
43. Then I beat them as small as the dust of the earth, I stamped them like the mire of the streets and spread them out.
44. You have also delivered me from the strivings of my people, You have kept me the head of the nations. A people I knew not shall serve me.
45. Strangers shall submit themselves to me. As soon as they hear, they shall obey me.
46. Strangers shall fade away, and they shall be afraid out of their strongholds.
47. The LORD lives! And blessed shall be afraid out of their strongholds.
48. It is God Who avenges me and Who brings down the peoples under me,
49. And Who brings me forth from my enemies that I might destroy them who hate me.
50. Therefore, I will give thanks to You, O LORD, among the heathen, and I will sing praises to Your name.
51. He is the Tower of salvation for His king, and He shows mercy to His anointed, to David and to his seed, forevermore.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

1. And these are the last words of David. David the son of Jesse, and the man who was raised up on high, the anointed of the God of Jacob, and the sweet psalmist of Israel, said:
2. “The Spirit of the LORD spoke by me, and His word was on my tongue.
3. The God of Israel said, the Rock of Israel spoke to me, ‘He who rules over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God,
4. And he shall be as the light of the morning as the sun rises, a morning without clouds. The tender grass springs out of the earth through the sun’s clear shining after a rain.
5. Although my house is not so with God, yet He has made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things, and sure. For all my salvation and all my desire, will He not make it grow?
6. But the wicked, all of them, shall be like a thorn thrust away because they cannot be taken with hands.
7. But the man who shall touch them must be armed with iron and the staff of a spear. And they shall be utterly burned with fire in their place.’
8. These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Josheb-Basshebeth the Tachmonite, chief of the three; he was called Adino the Ezinite because of the eight hundred he killed at one time.
9. And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David when they defied the Philistines who were gathered there to battle; and the men of Israel had gone up;
10. He arose and struck the Philistines until his hand was weary, and until his hand clung to the sword. And the LORD worked a great victory that day. And the people returned after him only to plunder.
11. And next was Shammah the son of Agee the Hararite. And the Philistines were gathered together into a troop, where there was a piece of ground full of lentils. And the people fled from the Philistines.
12. But he stood in the middle of the ground and delivered it, and killed the Philistines. And the LORD worked a great victory.
13. And three of the thirty chief men went down and came to David in the harvest time into the cave of Adullam. And the troop of the Philistines pitched in the Valley of the Giants.
14. And David was then in a stronghold, and the fort of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem.
15. And David longed and said, “Oh that someone would give me a drink from the water of the well of Bethlehem by the gate!”
16. And the three mighty men broke through the army of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David. But he would not drink of it, but poured it out to the LORD.
17. But he said, “Far be it from me, O Lord, that I should do this. Is it not the blood of the men who went in danger of their lives?” And he would not drink it. These three mighty men did these things.

18. And Abishai the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief among three. And he lifted up his spear against three hundred and killed them, and had the name among three.

19. Surely he was honored more than the three. And he was their commander. However, he did not attain to the first three.

20. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada from Kabzeel, a son of a mighty man, great in deeds, killed two lion-like men of Moab. He went down also and killed a lion in the middle of a pit in time of snow.

21. And he killed an Egyptian, a man of impressive form. And the Egyptian had a spear in his hand, but he went down to him with a staff and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian’s hand, and killed him with his own spear.

22. These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and had the name among three mighty ones.

23. He was more honorable than the thirty, but he did not attain to the first three. And David set him over his guard.

24. Asahel the brother of Joab was of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Beth-lehem;

25. Shammah the Harodite; Elika the Harodite;

26. Helez the Paltite; Ira the son of Ik-kesh, the Tekoite;

27. Abiezer the Anathothite; Mebunnai the Hushathite;

28. Zalmon the Ahohite; Maharai the Netophathite;

29. Heleb the son of Baanah, a Netophathite; Ittai the son of Ribai out of Gibeah, of the sons of Benjamin;

30. Benaiah the Pirathonite; Hiddai of the brooks of Gaash;

31. Abialbon the Arbathite; Azmaveth the Barhumite;

32. Eliahuha the Shaalbonite, of the sons of Jashen; Jonathan;

33. Shammas the Hararite; Ahiam the son of Sharer, the Hararite;

34. Eliphelet the son of Ahasbai, the son of the Maachathite; Eliam the son of Ahithophel, the Gilonite;

35. Hezrai the Carmelite; Paarai the Arbite;

36. Igal the son of Nathan of Zobah; Bani the Gadite;

37. Zelek the Ammonite; Naharai the Beerothite, armor-bearer to Joab the son of Zeruiah;

38. Ira, an Ithrite; Gareb, an Ithrite;

39. Uriah the Hittite—thirty-seven in all.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

1. And again the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and He incited David against them to say, “Go count Israel and Judah.”

2. So the king said to Joab the commander of the army, who was with him, “Go through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and count the people so that I may know the number of the people.”

3. And Joab said to the king, “And may the Lord your God add to the people however many they be, a hundred times as many, and may the eyes of my lord the king see it. But why does my lord the king delight in this thing?”

4. But the king’s word prevailed against Joab and against the commanders of the army. And Joab and the commanders of the army went out from the presence of the king to number the people of Israel.

5. Then they passed over Jordan and pitched in Aroer, on the right side of the city that is in the middle of the Valley of Gad, and to Jazer.

6. And they came to Gilead, and to the land of Tahtim Hodshi. And they came to Dan Jaan, and around to Sidon.

7. And they came to the stronghold of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Hivites and of the Canaanites; and went out to the south of Judah, to Beersheba.

8. And they went to and fro through all the land, and came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

9. And Joab gave the sum of the people to the king. And there were in Israel eight hundred thousand strong men who drew the sword. And the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.

10. And David’s heart condemned him after he had numbered the people. And David said to the Lord, “I have sinned greatly in what I have done. And now, I beseech You, O LORD, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly.”

11. And David rose up in the morning, and the word of the LORD came to the prophet Gad, David’s seer, saying,

12. “Go and say to David, ‘Thus says the LORD, “I offer you three things. Choose one of them, so that I may do it to you.” ‘ ”

13. And Gad came to David, and told him, and said to him, “Shall seven years of famine come upon you and on your land? Or will you flee three months before your enemies while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days’ plague in your land? Now advise, and see what answer I shall return to Him who sent me.”

14. And David said to Gad, “I am in great distress. Let us fall now into the hand of the LORD for His mercies are great. And do not let me fall into the hand of man.”

15. And the LORD sent a plague upon Israel from the morning even till the time appointed. And there died from the people, from Dan to Beersheba, seventy thousand men.

16. And when the angel stretched out his hand upon Jerusalem to destroy it, the LORD turned from the evil, and said to the angel who destroyed the people, “Enough! And stay your hand.” And the angel of the LORD was by the threshing place of Araunah the Jebusite.

17. And David spoke to the LORD when he saw the angel who struck the people, and said, “Lo, I have sinned, and I have done wickedly. But these sheep, what have they done? I pray You, let Your hand be against me and against my father’s house.”

18. And Gad came that day to David, and said to him, “Go up! Raise up an altar to the LORD in the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.”

19. And David went up, according to the saying of Gad, as the LORD commanded.

20. And Araunah looked and saw the king and his servants coming on toward him. And Araunah went out and bowed before the king, his face to the ground.

21. And Araunah said, “Why has my lord the king come to his servant?” And David said, “To buy the threshing floor from you, to build an altar to the LORD, so that the plague may be stayed from the people.”

22. And Araunah said to David, “Let my lord the king take and offer up what seems good to him. Behold, oxen for burnt sacrifice, and threshing instruments, and instruments of the oxen for wood.”

23. All these Araunah, as a king, gave to the king. And Araunah said to the king, “May the LORD your God accept you.”

24. And the king said to Araunah, “No, but I will surely buy from you at a price. And I will not offer burnt offerings to the LORD my God of that which costs me nothing.” And David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver.

25. And David built there an altar to the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. And the LORD was entreated for the land, and the plague was stayed from Israel.
1. Now King David was old, advanced in years. And they covered him with clothes, but he did not get warm.

2. And his servants said to him, “Let there be sought for my lord the king a young virgin. And let her stand before the king, and let her nurse him, and let her lie in your bosom, so that my lord the king may get warm.”

3. And they sought out a beautiful girl throughout all the borders of Israel, and found Abishag, a Shunammite. And they brought her to the king.

4. And the girl was very beautiful. And she nursed the king and served him. But the king did not know her.

5. And Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, “I will be king.” Then he prepared for himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him.

6. And his father had not displeased him at any time, saying, “Why have you done so?” And he also was very good of form, and his mother bore him after Absalom.

7. And he talked with Joab the son of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar the priest. And they helped Adonijah, following him.

8. But Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and David’s mighty men, were not with Adonijah.

9. And Adonijah killed sheep and oxen and fat cattle by the Stone of Serpents, which is by En Rogel, and called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army. But he has not called your servant Solomon.

10. Now you, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon you that you should tell them who shall sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him.

11. And it will be, when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, my son Solomon and I shall be offenders.”

12. And now come, please let me give you counsel, and save your own life and the life of your son Solomon.

13. Go up and go in to King David, and say to him, ‘My lord, O king, did you not swear to your handmaid, saying, “Surely your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne?” Why then does Adonijah reign?’

14. Behold, while you are still talking with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm your words.”

15. And Bathsheba went in to the king in the room. And the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite served the king.

16. And Bathsheba bowed and knelt before the king. And the king said, “What shall I do for you?”

17. And she said to him, “My lord, you have sworn by the LORD your God to your handmaid, saying, ‘Surely your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne.’

18. And now, behold, Adonijah reigns. And now, my lord, you do not know it.

19. And he has slain oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and has called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army. But he has not called your servant Solomon.

20. Now you, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon you that you should tell them who shall sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him.

21. And it will be, when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, my son Solomon and I shall be offenders.”

22. And lo, she was still talking with the king, and Nathan the prophet came in.

23. Then they told the king, saying, “Behold, Nathan the prophet.” And he came in before the king and bowed before the king with his face to the ground.

24. And Nathan said, “My lord, O king, have you said, ‘Adonijah shall reign after me and he shall sit upon my throne’? For he has gone down this day, and has killed a great many of oxen and fat cattle and sheep and has called all the king’s sons and the commanders of the army, and Abiathar the priest. And behold, they eat and drink before him, and say, ‘Long live King Adonijah.’

25. But he has not called me, your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiaada, and your servant Solomon.

26. Is this thing done by my lord the

27. And he shall sit upon my throne?” Why then does Adonijah reign?”

28. And the king said, “What shall I do for you?”

29. And Bathsheba bowed and knelt before the king. And the king said, “What shall I do for you?”

30. And she said to him, “My lord, you have sworn by the LORD your God to your handmaid, saying, ‘Surely your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne.’

31. And now, behold, Adonijah reigns. And now, my lord, you do not know it.

32. And he has slain oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and has called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army. But he has not called your servant Solomon.

33. Now you, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon you that you should tell them who shall sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him.

34. And it will be, when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, my son Solomon and I shall be offenders.”

35. And lo, she was still talking with the king, and Nathan the prophet came in.

36. Then they told the king, saying, “Behold, Nathan the prophet.” And he came in before the king and bowed before the king with his face to the ground.

37. And Nathan said, “My lord, O king, have you said, ‘Adonijah shall reign after me and he shall sit upon my throne’? For he has gone down this day, and has killed a great many of oxen and fat cattle and sheep and has called all the king’s sons and the commanders of the army, and Abiathar the priest. And behold, they eat and drink before him, and say, ‘Long live King Adonijah.’

38. But he has not called me, your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiaada, and your servant Solomon.

39. Is this thing done by my lord the king, and have you not shown your servant who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?"
28. Then David answered and said, “Call Bathsheba.” And she came into the king’s presence, and stood before the king.
29. And the king swore, and said, "As the LORD lives, Who has redeemed my soul out of all distress,
30. Surely as I swore to you by the LORD God of Israel, saying, ‘Surely Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my place,’
31. And Bathsheba bowed her face to the earth, even kneeling to the king, and said, “Let my lord King David live forever.”
32. And King David said, “Call Zadok the priest to me, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada.” Then they came before the king.
33. The king also said to them, “Take with you the servants of your lord, and cause Solomon my son to ride upon my own mule, and bring him down to Gihon.
34. And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him king over Israel there. And blow with the ram’s horn, and say, ‘Let King Solomon live.’
35. And you shall come up after him, and let him come and sit upon my throne for he shall reign in my place. And I have appointed him to be prince over Israel and over Judah.”
36. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, “Amen. May the LORD God of my lord the king say so.
37. As the LORD has been with my lord the king, even so may He be with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David.”
38. Then Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, went down and caused Solomon to ride upon King David’s mule, and brought him to Gihon.
39. And Zadok the priest took a horn of oil out of the tabernacle and anointed Solomon. Then they blew the ram’s horn, and all the people said, “Long live King Solomon!”
40. And all the people came up after him, and the people were playing on flutes and rejoicing with great joy, so that the earth vibrated with their sound.
41. Then Adonijah heard, and all the invited guests with him. Then they stopped eating. And Joab heard the sound of the ram’s horn, and said, “What is this noise roaring from the city?”
42. While he was still speaking, behold, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came. And Adonijah said to him, “Come in, for you are a mighty man and you bring good news.”
43. And Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, “Truly our lord King David has made Solomon king.
44. And the king has sent with him Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride upon the king’s mule.
45. And Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king in Gihon. And they have come up from there rejoicing, so that the city is in an uproar. This is the noise that you have heard.
46. And also Solomon sits on the throne of the kingdom.
47. And furthermore the king’s servants came to bless our lord King David, saying, ‘May God make the name of Solomon better than your name and make his throne greater than your throne.’ And the king bowed himself upon the bed.
48. And also the king said, ‘Blessed is the LORD God of Israel, Who has given one to sit on my throne today, my eyes even seeing it.’ ”
49. And all those who were invited by Adonijah trembled and arose and left, each to his way.
50. And Adonijah was afraid because of Solomon, and arose and went and caught hold of the horns of the altar.
51. And it was told to Solomon, saying, “Behold, Adonijah fears King Solomon, for, lo, he has caught hold of the horns of the altar, saying, ‘Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not kill his servant with the sword.’ ”
52. And Solomon said, “If he proves himself to be a son of virtue, not a hair of his head shall fall to the earth, but if wickedness shall be found in him, then he shall die.”
53. And King Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and bowed himself to King Solomon. And Solomon said to him, “Go to your house.”

CHAPTER TWO

1. And the days of David drew near for him to die. And he charged Solomon his son, saying,
2. “I go the way of all the earth. Be strong therefore, and show yourself a man.
3. And keep the charge of the LORD your God, to walk in His ways, to keep His statutes, and His commandments, and His judgments, and His testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses, so that you may prosper in all that you do and wherever you turn yourself.
4. That the LORD may establish His word which He spoke concerning me, saying, ‘If your sons take heed to their way, to walk before Me in truth with all their heart and with all their soul, then there shall not be a man of yours cut off from the throne of Israel.’
5. And also you know what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, what he did to the two commanders of the armies of Israel, to Abner the son of Ner, and to Amasa the son of Jether, that he murdered them. He also shed the blood of war in peace, and put the blood of war upon his girdle and his shoes on his feet.
6. And you shall do according to your wisdom and shall not let his gray head go down to the grave in peace.
7. But show kindness to the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite and let them be of those that eat at your table, for so they came to me when I fled because of Absalom your brother.
8. Now behold, with you is Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite of Bahurim, who cursed me with a grievous curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim. But he came down to meet me at Jordan, and I swore to him by the LORD, saying, ‘I will not put you to death with the sword.’
9. Now therefore, do not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man and you know what you ought to do to him. But bring his gray head down to the grave with blood.”
10. Then David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.
11. And the days that David reigned over Israel were forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron, and he reigned thirty-three years in Jerusalem.
12. And Solomon sat upon the throne of David his father. And his kingdom was firmly established.
13. And Adonijah the son of Hagith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. And she said, “Do you come peacefully?” And he said, “Peaceably.”
14. And he said, “I have a word to say to you.” And she said, “Speak.”
15. And he said, “You know that the kingdom was mine and that all Israel set their faces on me that I should reign. However, the kingdom is turned around and has become my brother’s, for it was his from the LORD.
16. And now I ask one favor of you; do not turn away your face.” And she said to him, “Speak.”
17. And he said, “Please speak to Solomon the king, for he will not turn away your face, that he give me Abishag the Shunammite for my wife.”
18. And Bathsheba said, “Very well; I will speak for you to the king.”
19. Then Bathsheba came in to King Solomon to speak to him for Adonijah. And the king rose up to meet her, and bowed himself to her, and sat on his throne and caused a throne to be set for the king’s mother. And she sat on his right hand.
20. And she said, “I desire one small favor of you. Do not refuse me.” And the king said to her, “Ask on, my mother, for I will not refuse you.”
21. And she said, “Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to your brother Adonijah for a wife.”
22. And King Solomon answered and said to his mother, “Now why do you ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Ask the kingdom also for him. For he is my older brother! And you ask for him, and for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zeruiah!”
23. And King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, “May God do so to me, and more He shall do, if Adonijah has not spoken this word against his life.
24. And now, as the LORD lives, Who has established me and set me on the throne of David my father, and Who has made me a house, as He spoke, Adonijah shall be put to death today.”
25. Then King Solomon sent by the hand... of Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. And he fell upon him so that he died.
26. And the king said to Abiathar the priest, “Go to Anathoth, to your fields, for you are worthy of death. But I will not put you to death at this time because you carried the ark of the Lord GOD before David my father, and because you have been afflicted in all that in which my father was afflicted.”
27. And Solomon thrust out Abiathar from being priest to the LORD, so that he might fulfill the word of the LORD which He spoke concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.
28. And the king came to Joab. For Joab had turned after Adonijah, though he did not turn after Absalom. And Joab fled to the tabernacle of the LORD, and caught hold of the horns of the altar.
29. And it was told King Solomon that Joab had fled to the tabernacle of the LORD, and, behold, he was by the altar. And Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, “Go fall upon him.”
30. And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the LORD, and said to him, “Thus says the king, come forth!” And he said, “No, but I will die here.” And Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, “Thus said Joab, and so he answered me.”
31. And the king said to him, “Do as he has said and fall upon him, and bury him, so that you may take away from me and from the house of my father the innocent blood which Joab shed.
32. And the LORD shall return his blood upon his own head, who fell upon two men more righteous and better than he, and killed them with the sword, and my father David not knowing of it: Abner the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah.
33. Yes, He shall turn back their blood upon the head of Joab and upon the head of his seed forever. But upon David and upon his seed and upon his house and upon his throne, there shall be peace forever from the LORD.”
34. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and fell upon him and killed him. And he was buried in his own house in the wilderness.
35. And the king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada over the army in his place. And the king put Zadok the priest in the place of Abiathar.
36. And the king sent and called for Shimei, and said to him, “Build a house at Jerusalem and live there, but do not go forth from there anywhere,
37. For it shall be, on the day you go out and pass over the brook Kidron, you shall know for certain that you shall surely die. Your blood shall be upon your own head.”
38. And Shimei said to the king, “Your saying is good. As my lord the king has said, so will your servant do.” And Shimei lived in Jerusalem many days.
39. Now it came to pass at the end of three years, two of the servants of Shimei ran away to Achish son of Maachah, king of Gath. And they told Shimei, saying, “Behold, your servants are in Gath.”
40. Then Shimei arose and saddled his donkey and went to Gath to Achish to seek his servants. And Shimei went and brought his servants from Gath.
41. Now it was told Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and had come again.
42. And the king sent and called for Shimei and said to him, “Did I not make you swear by the LORD, and warn you, saying, ‘In the day you go out, and you have gone anywhere, you certainly shall know that you shall surely die?’ And you said to me, ‘The word I have heard is good.’
43. Why then have you not kept the oath of the LORD and the command that I have charged you with?”
44. And the king said to Shimei, “You know all the wickedness that your own heart secretly knows, what you did to David my father. Now the LORD shall return your wickedness upon your own head.
45. And King Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever.”
46. Then the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he went out and fell upon him so that he died. And the kingdom was made sure in the hand of Solomon.

CHAPTER THREE

1. And Solomon made an alliance by marriage with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and took Pharaoh’s daughter and brought her into the city of David until he finished building his own house and the house of the LORD and the wall around Jerusalem.
2. Only the people sacrificed in high places because there was no house built to the name of the LORD until those days.
3. And Solomon loved the LORD, walking in the statutes of David his father.
Only he sacrificed and burnt incense in high places.
4. And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the great high place. Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings upon that altar.
5. In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream by night. And God said,
"Ask what I shall give you!"
6. And Solomon said, “You have shown your mercy, according as he walked before You in truth and in righteousness and in uprightness of heart with You. And You have kept this great kindness for him, that You have given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is today.
7. And now, O LORD my God, You have made Your servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before You in truth and in righteousness and in uprightness of heart with You. And You have kept this great kindness for him, that You have given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is today.
8. And Your servant is in the midst of Your people whom You have chosen, a numerous people who cannot be numbered nor counted for multitude.
9. Now therefore, give to Your servant an understanding heart to judge Your people, to discern between good and evil, for who is able to judge this, Your great people?”
10. And the word was good in the eyes of the LORD that Solomon had asked this thing.
11. And God said to him, “Because you have asked this thing and have not asked for yourself long life and have not asked the riches for yourself, nor have asked the life of your enemies, but have asked for yourself understanding to judge justly, 12. Behold, I have done according to your words. Lo, I have given you a wise and an understanding heart, so that there was none like you before you and after you none shall arise like you.
13. And I also have given you that which you have not asked, both riches and honor, so that there shall not be any among the kings like you all your days, 14. Therefore, if you will walk in My ways, to keep My statutes and My commandments, as your father David walked, then I will lengthen your days.”
15. And Solomon awoke, and, behold, it was a dream. Then he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD and offered up burnt offerings, and offered peace offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.
16. Then there came two women, harlots, to the king and stood before him.
17. And the one woman said, “O my lord, this woman and I live in one house.
And I gave birth to a child with her in the house.
18. And it came to pass the third day after I gave birth, this woman also gave birth to a child. And we were together;
19. Then this woman's child died in the night because she laid it on her bosom.
20. And she arose at midnight and took my son from beside me, while your servant was sleeping, and laid it in her bosom.
21. When I arose in the morning to give my child suck, behold, it was dead. And when I had looked at it in the morning, behold, it was not my son whom I bore.
22. And the other woman said, “No, but the living is my son, and the dead is your son.” And this one said, “No, but the dead is your son, and the living is my son.” So they spoke before the king.
23. And the king said, ‘The one says, ‘This is my son who lives, and your son is the dead.’ And the other says, ‘No, but your son is the dead, and my son is the living.’ ”
24. And the king said, “Bring me a sword.” And they brought a sword before the king.
25. And the king said, “Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one and half to the other.”
26. And the woman whose son was the living child said to the king, for her womb yearned over her son. And she said, “O my lord, give her the living child, and in no way kill it.” But the other said, “Let it be neither mine nor yours; divide it!”
27. Then the king answered and said, “Give her the living child, and in no way kill it. She is the mother of it.”
28. And all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had judged. And they feared the king, for they saw that the wisdom of God was in him to do judgment.

CHAPTER FOUR

1. So King Solomon was king over all Israel.
2. And these were the rulers which he had: Azariah the son of Zadok the priest, Elihoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha were the scribes. Jehoshaphat the son of Nathan was over the officers, and Zabud the son of Solomon was a wife to him; and Zadok and Abiathar were priests.
3. And Ahishar was over the household. And Adoniram the son of Abda was over the forced labor.
4. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the army. And Zadok and Abiathar were his friends.
5. And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers, and Zabud the son of Solomon was the minister and the king’s friend.
6. And Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household. Each man had his month in a year to provide food.
7. And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the officers, and Zabud the son of Solomon was a wife to him; and Zadok and Abiathar were priests.
8. These are their names: the son of Hur in Mount Ephraim;
9. The son of Dekar in Makaz and in Shaalbim, and Beth Shemesh, and Elon Beth Hanan;
10. The son of Hesed, in Arubboth; to him was Sochoh and all the land of Hepher;
11. The son of Abinadab in all the height of Dor, Taphath the daughter of Solomon was a wife to him;
12. Baana the son of Ahilud to whom was Taanach and Megiddo, and all Beth Shean, which is by Zaretan below Jezreel, from Beth Shean to Abel Meholah to the place that is beyond Jokneam;
13. The son of Geber in Ramoth Gilead; to him were the towns of Jair, Manasseh’s son, which are in Gilead; to him was the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, sixty great cities with walls and bronze bars;
14. Ahinadab the son of Iddo had Mahanim;
15. Ahimaaz was in Naphtali; he also took Basemath the daughter of Solomon for a wife;
16. Baanaah the son of Hushai was in Asher and in Aloth;
17. Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah was in Issachar;
18. Shimei the son of Elah was in Benjamin;
19. Geber the son of Uri was in the land of Gilead, the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan; and he was the only officer in the land;
20. Judah and Israel were many, as the sand by the sea in multitude, eating and drinking and making merry.
21. And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms from the River to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. They brought presents and served Solomon all the days of his life.
22. And Solomon’s food for one day was thirty measures of fine flour and sixty measures of meal,
23. Ten fat oxen and twenty oxen out of the pastures, and a hundred sheep, besides harts and roebucks, and fallow deer, and fattened fowl;
24. For he had the rule over all on this side of the River, from Tiphshah even to Gaza, over all the kings on this side of the River. And he had peace on all sides all around him.
25. And Judah and Israel lived safely, every man under his vine and under his fig tree, from Dan even to Beersheba, all the days of Solomon.
26. And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen.
27. And those officers provided food for King Solomon and for all who came to King Solomon’s table, every man in his month. They did not lack anything.
28. They also brought barley and straw for the horses and mules to the place where the officers were, every man according to his charge.
29. And God gave Solomon exceeding great wisdom and understanding, and largeness of heart, even as the sand that is on the seashore.
30. And Solomon’s wisdom was greater than the wisdom of all the sons of the east and all the wisdom of Egypt.
31. For he was wiser than all men: than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol. And his fame spread to all nations all around.
32. And he spoke three thousand proverbs, and his songs were a thousand and five.
33. And he spoke of trees, from the cedar tree in Lebanon even to the hyssop that springs out of the wall. He spoke also of beasts and of birds, and of creeping things, and of fish.

34. And there came from all the people to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

CHAPTER FIVE

1. And Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon since he had heard that they had anointed him king instead of his father, for Hiram was always a friend of David.

2. And Solomon sent to Hiram, saying, “You know how David my father could not build a house to the name of the LORD his God because of the wars that were around him on every side until the LORD put his enemies under the soles of his feet.

3. But now the LORD my God has given me rest all around. Now there is no adversary nor misfortune.

4. And behold, I purpose to build a house to the name of the LORD my God, as the anniversary nor misfortune.

5. And against the wall of the house he built floors all around, and against the walls he built the house.

6. And Solomon prepared the timber and the stones to lay the foundation of the house.

7. And the king commanded, and they brought great stones, costly stones, cut stones, to lay the foundation of the house.

8. Besides the chief of Solomon’s over-seers who were over the work, thirty-three hundred, who ruled over the people that labored in the work.

9. And the king commanded, and they brought great stones, costly stones, cut stones, to lay the foundation of the house.

10. And Hiram gave Solomon cedar trees and fir trees, all his desire.

11. And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat for food for his household and twenty measures of pure oil. So Solomon gave to Hiram year by year.

12. And the LORD gave Solomon wisdom as He promised him. And there was peace between Hiram and Solomon. And the two of them made a treaty together.

13. And King Solomon raised a levy out of all Israel. And the labor force was thirty thousand men.

14. And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month, by courses. They were a month in Lebanon, and two months at home. And Adoniram was over the labor force.

15. And Solomon had seventy thousand who bore burdens and eighty thousand woodcutters in the mountains.

16. Besides the chief of Solomon’s overseers who were over the work, thirty-three hundred, who ruled over the people that labored in the work.

17. And the king commanded, and they brought great stones, costly stones, cut stones, to lay the foundation of the house.

18. And Solomon’s builders and Hiram’s builders and the Gebalites cut out and prepared the timber and the stones to build the house.

CHAPTER SIX

1. And it came to pass in the four hundred and eightieth year after the children of Israel had come out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon’s reign over Israel, in the month Zif, which is the second month, he began to build the house of the LORD.

2. And the house which King Solomon built for the LORD, its length was sixty cubits and its breadth twenty cubits, and its height thirty cubits.

3. And the porch before the temple of the house was twenty cubits in length, according to the breadth of the house. Ten cubits was its breadth on the front of the house.

4. And for the house he made windows of narrow frames.

5. And against the wall of the house he built floors all around, against the walls... of the house all around, of the temple and of the sanctuary. And he made rooms all around.

6. The lowest story was five cubits broad, and the middle was six cubits broad, and the third was seven cubits broad, for around the outside of the house he made narrowed ledges for the house all around, that the beams should not be fastened in the walls of the house.

7. And when it was being built, the house was built of stone made ready beforehand. And there was not heard in the house a hammer or an axe, or any iron tool, while it was being built.

8. The door for the middle story was in the right side of the house. And they went up with winding stairs into the middle story and out of the middle story into the third.

9. And he built the house and finished it. And he covered the house with beams and rows of cedar.

10. And he built the side stories on all the house, five cubits high. And they rested on the house with timbers of cedar.

11. And the word of the LORD came to Solomon saying,

12. “As to this house which you are building, if you will walk in My statutes and keep all My commandments to walk in them, then I will perform My work with you which I spoke to David your father.

13. And I will live among the children of Israel and will not forsake My people Israel.”

14. And Solomon built the house and finished it.

15. And he built the walls of the house inside with boards of cedar from the floor of the house and the walls of the ceiling. He covered them on the inside with wood and covered the floor of the house with planks of fir.

16. And he built twenty cubits on the sides of the house, both the floor and the walls with boards of cedar. He even built them for it inside for the sanctuary, for the Holy of Holies.

17. And the house, that is, the temple before it, was forty cubits.

18. And the cedar of the house inside was carved with ornamental buds and open flowers. All was cedar; there was no stone seen.

19. And he prepared the Holy of Holies in the house inside, to set there the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

20. And the Holy of Holies in the front part was twenty cubits in length and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in height. And he overlaid it with pure gold and covered the altar of cedar.

21. And Solomon overlaid the house inside with pure gold. And he drew chains of gold across in front of the Holy of Holies. And he overlaid it with gold.

22. And he overlaid the whole house with gold until he had finished all the house. Also all of the altar that belonged to the Holy of Holies, he overlaid with gold.

23. And inside the Holy of Holies he made two cherubim of olive wood, ten cubits high.

24. And one wing of the cherub was five cubits, and the other wing of the cherub was five cubits; ten cubits from the ends of its wings even to the ends of its wings.

25. And the other cherub was ten cubits. Both the cherubim were of one measure and one size.

26. The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other cherub.

27. And he set the cherubim inside the inner house. And they stretched forth the wings of the cherub so that the wing of the one touched the one wall and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall. And their wings touched one another in the midst of the house.

28. And he overlaid the cherubim with gold.

29. And he carved all the walls of the house all around with carved figures of cherubim and palm trees and open flowers, inside and out.

30. And the floor of the house was overlaid with gold inside and out.

31. As to the entrance of the holy place, he made doors of olive wood. The lintel and side posts were a fifth part of the wall.

32. And the two doors were of olive wood. And he carved upon them carvings of cherubim and palm trees and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold and spread gold upon the cherubim and upon the palm trees.

33. So also he made side posts for the entrance of the temple from the olive tree, a fourth part of the wall.
34. And the two doors were of fir tree. The two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding.
35. And he carved on them cherubim and palm trees and open flowers. And he covered them with gold fitted upon the carved work.
36. And he built the inner court with three rows of cut stone and a row of cedar beams.
37. In the fourth year, in the month Zif, the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.
38. And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished according to all its parts, and according to all its plans. So he was seven years in building it.

CHAPTER SEVEN
1. And Solomon was thirteen years building his own house. And he finished all his house.
2. And he built the house of the forest of Lebanon. Its length was a hundred cubits, and its breadth fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits, upon four rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams upon the pillars.
3. And it was covered with cedar above upon the beams that lay on forty-five pillars, fifteen in a row.
4. And windows were in three rows, and window was against window in three rows.
5. And all the doors and posts were square with the windows. And the front of a window was against a window in three rows.
6. And he made a porch of pillars. Its length was fifty cubits, and its breadth thirty cubits. And the porch was before them, and the pillars and the roof were over them.
7. And he made a porch of the throne where he judged, the porch of judgment. And it was covered with cedar from floor to floor.
8. As to his house where he lived, the other court was within the porch, as this work was. Solomon also made a house for Pharaoh’s daughter, whom he had taken, like this porch.
9. All these were of costly stones, according to the measures of hewn stones, sawed with saws, inside and out, even from the foundation to the coping, and so on the outside toward the great court.
10. And the foundation was of costly stones, huge stones, stones of ten cubits, and stones of eight cubits.
11. And above were costly stones, according to the measures of hewn stone and cedar.
12. And the great court all around was with three rows of hewn stone, and a row of cedar beams, both for the inner court of the house of the LORD, and for the porch of the house.
13. And King Solomon sent and brought Hiram out of Tyre.
14. He was the son of a widow of the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in bronze. And he was filled with wisdom and understanding, and cunning to work all works in bronze. And he came to King Solomon and did all his work.
15. For he cast two pillars of bronze, eighteen cubits was the height of the one pillar. And a line of twelve cubits went around the second pillar.
16. And he made two capitals of molten bronze to set upon the tops of the pillars. The height of the one capital was five cubits, and the height of the other capital five cubits.
17. He made grids, a network of grids with twisted threads of chain-work for the capitals upon the top of the pillars: seven for the one capital, and seven for the other capital.
18. And he made the pillars. And two rows were all around upon the one grating to cover the capitals upon the top with the pomegranates. And so he did for the other capital.
19. And the capitals upon the top of the pillars in the porch were lily-work, four cubits.
20. And the capitals on the two pillars had pomegranates upon the upper part, over against the belly which was by the grating; and the pomegranates were two hundred in rows all around upon the other capital.
21. And he set up the pillars in the porch of the temple. And he set up the right pillar and called its name Jachin. And he set up the left pillar and called its name Boaz.
22. And upon the top of the pillars was Jachin and Boaz.
lily-work. So the work of the pillars was finished.

23. And he made a molten sea, ten cubits from brim to brim, all around it. And its height was five cubits, and a line of thirty cubits went around it.

24. And under its brim were ornamental buds, going around it, ten in a cubit, going all around the sea. The ornamental buds were cast in two rows when it was cast.

25. It stood upon twelve oxen, three facing the north, and three facing the west, and three facing the south, and three facing the east. The sea was set on top of them, and all their back parts were pointed inward.

26. And it was a handbreadth thick, and its brim was fashioned like the brim of a cup with a bud of a lily. It contained two thousand baths.

27. And he made ten bases of bronze, four cubits the length of the one base, and four cubits its breadth, and three cubits its height.

28. And the work of the bases was this way: they had borders, and the borders were between the stays.

29. And on the borders that were between the ledges were lions, oxen, and cherubim. And a pedestal was upon the stays above. And beneath the lions and oxen were wreaths of hanging-work.

30. And the one base had four bronze wheels and axles of bronze. And its four feet were supports to them; under the basin were cast supports with wreaths at each side.

31. And its mouth within and above the capital was a cubit. And its mouth was round like the work of a pedestal, a cubit and half of a cubit. And also upon the opening were carvings; and their borders were square, not round.

32. And under the borders were four wheels. And the axles of the wheels were in the base. And the height of a wheel was a cubit and a half.

33. And the work of the wheels was like the work of a chariot wheel: their axles, and their rims, and their hub, and their spokes were all cast.

34. And there were four supports to the four corners of one base, and the supports were of the very base itself.

35. And in the top of the base was a round compass of a half a cubit high.

36. And he engraved cherubim, lions, and palm trees on the plates of its sides, and on its borders, as the place of each, with wreaths all around.

37. So he made the ten bases, one casting, one measure, one form was to them all.

38. And he made ten basins of bronze. One basin contained forty baths. The one basin was four cubits, one basin upon the one base, and so for the ten bases.

39. And he put five bases on the right side of the house and five on the left side of the house. And he set the sea on the right side of the house, toward the southeast.

40. And Hiram made the basins and the shovels and the bowls. So Hiram finished doing all the work that he did for King Solomon for the house of the LORD:

41. Two pillars, and the bowls of the capitals on the top of the two pillars, and the two gratings to cover the two bowls of the capitals upon the top of the pillars.

42. And the four hundred pomegranates for the two gratings; two rows of pomegranates for each grating, to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were upon the face of the pillars.

43. And the ten bases, and ten basins on the bases,

44. And one sea, and twelve oxen under the sea,

45. And the pots, and the shovels, and the basins. All these vessels which Hiram made for King Solomon for the house of the LORD were of burnished bronze.

46. The king cast them in the plain of Jordan, in the thick soil of the ground between Succoth and Zarethan.

47. And Solomon left all the vessels unweighed because they were exceeding many; the weight of the bronze was not measured.

48. And Solomon made all the vessels in the house of the LORD: the altar of gold and the table of gold upon which was the Bread of the Presence;

49. And the lampstands of pure gold, five on the right and five on the left, in front of the Holy of Holies, with the flowers and the lamps and the tongs of gold;

50. And the bowls and the snuffers and the basins and the spoons and the firepans of pure gold, and the hinges of gold for the doors of the inner house, the Holy of Holies, and for the doors of the house, the temple.

51. So all the work that King Solomon made for the house of the LORD was finished. And Solomon brought in the things which David his father had dedicated: the silver and the gold and the vessels he had put into the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Israel, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, so that they might bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the city of David, which is Zion.

2. And all the men of Israel were gathered to King Solomon at the feast in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month.

3. And all the elders of Israel came in, and the priests took up the ark.

4. And they brought up the ark of the LORD and the tabernacle of the congregation and all the holy vessels which were in the tabernacle—even those the priests and the Levites brought up.

5. And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, who had assembled to him were before the ark sacrificing sheep and oxen which could not be counted nor numbered for multitude.

6. And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD into its place, into the holy place of the house, into the Holy of Holies under the wings of the cherubim.

7. For the cherubim spread forth their two wings over the place of the ark. And the cherubim covered the ark and the staves of it above.

8. And they drew out the staves, so that the ends of the staves were seen out in the holy place in front of the Holy of Holies, but they were not seen outside. And there they are to this day.

9. There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets of stone which Moses put there at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10. Then it came to pass when the priests had come out of the Holy of Holies, the cloud filled the house of the LORD.

11. And the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD.

12. And Solomon said, “The LORD said that He would dwell in the thick darkness.

13. I have surely built an exalted house for You, a settled place for You to abide in forever.”

14. And the king turned his face around and blessed all the congregation of Israel. And all the congregation of Israel stood.

15. And he said, “Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, Who spoke with His mouth to David my father and has fulfilled it by His hand, saying,

16. ‘From the day that I brought forth My people Israel out of Egypt, I did not choose any city out of all the tribes of Israel to build a house, so that My name might be in it. But I chose David to be over My people Israel.’

17. And it was in the heart of my father David to build a house for the name of the LORD God of Israel.

18. But the LORD said to my father David, ‘Because it was in your heart to build a house, so that My name might be in it. But I chose David to be over My people Israel.’

19. Only, you shall not build the house, but your son who shall come out of your loins, he shall build the house for My name.’

20. And the LORD has performed His word which He spoke, and I have risen up instead of my father David. And I sit on the throne of Israel as the LORD promised. And I have built a house for the name of the LORD God of Israel.

21. And I have set there a place for the ark in which is the covenant of the LORD which He made with our fathers when He brought them out of the land of Egypt.”

22. And Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the congregation of Israel and spread forth his hands toward the heavens.

23. And he said, “LORD God of Israel, there is no god like You, in heaven above or on earth beneath, Who keeps covenant and mercy with Your servants who walk before You with all their heart,

24. Who has kept with Your servant David my father what You promised him. You also spoke with Your mouth and have fulfilled with Your hand, as it is today.
25. Therefore now, LORD God of Israel, keep with Your servant David, my father, what You promised him, saying, ‘There shall not be cut off from you a man in My sight to sit on the throne of Israel—if your sons take heed to their way so that they walk before Me;’
26. And now, O LORD my God, I pray You, let Your word be proved to be true, the word which You spoke to Your servant David my father.
27. But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, the heavens and the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. How much less this house which I have built?
28. Yet, O LORD my God, You have rebuilt? How much less this house which I have given to Your people Israel, and I have given to Your people for an inheritance.
29. If there is famine in the land, if there is plague, blasting, mildew, locusts; if there are stripping locusts; if their enemy encircles them in the land of their cities, whatever plague, whatever sickness,
30. Any prayer, any supplication from any man of all Your people Israel, who shall each know the plague of his own heart, and shall spread forth his hands toward this house,
31. If any man sins against his neighbor, and if an oath is laid upon him to cause him to swear, and if the oath comes before Your altar in this house, then hear in heaven Your dwelling place, and when You hear, forgive!
32. Then hear in heaven, and do, and judge Your servants, to declare the wicked to be wicked, to bring his way upon his head, and to justify the righteous, to give him according to his righteousness.
33. When Your people Israel are crushed before the enemy because they have sinned against You, and shall turn again to You and confess Your name, and pray, and cry to You in this house,
34. Then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them again into the land which You gave to their fathers.
35. When the heavens are restrained, and there is no rain because they have sinned against You, if they pray toward this place and confess Your name, and turn from their sin when You afflict them,
36. Then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of Your servants, and of Your people Israel, for You shall teach them the good way in which they should walk, and give rain upon Your land which You have given to Your people for an inheritance.
37. If there is a famine in the land, and if there is plague, blasting, mildew, locusts; if there are stripping locusts; if their enemy encircles them in the land of their cities, whatever plague, whatever sickness,
38. Any prayer, any supplication from any man of all Your people Israel, who shall each know the plague of his own heart, and shall spread forth his hands toward this house,
39. Then hear in heaven Your dwelling place and forgive, and do, and give to everyone man according to all his ways, whose heart You know; for You, You only, know the hearts of all the children of men.
40. Do this so that they may fear You all the days that they live in the land which You have given to our fathers.
41. And concerning a stranger who is not of Your people Israel, but who comes out of a far country for Your name’s sake;
42. For they shall hear of Your great name and of Your strong hand and of Your stretched out arm; and if he shall come and pray toward this house,
43. Hear in heaven Your dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calls to You for, so that all the people of the earth may know Your name, to fear You as Your people Israel do, and that they may know that this house which I have built is called by Your name.
44. If Your people go out to battle against their enemy, wherever You shall send them, and shall pray to the LORD toward the city which You have chosen, and the house that I have built for Your name,
45. Then hear in heaven their prayer and their cry, and maintain their cause.
46. If they sin against You (for there is no man who does not sin), and if You are angry with them and have delivered them up before the enemy and they have been led away captive to the land of the enemy, far or near,
47. Yet if they shall think within themselves in the land where they are carried captives, and repent, and pray to You in the land of their captors saying, ‘We have sinned and have done perversely, we have done wickedly.’

48. And so return to You with all their heart and with all their soul, in the land of their enemies who led them away captive, and if they pray to You toward their land which You gave to their fathers, to the city which You have chosen, and the house which I have built for Your name, 49. Then hear their prayer and their cry in heaven Your dwelling place, and maintain their cause.

50. And forgive Your people who have sinned against You, even all their sins which they have done against You, and give them compassion before their captors, so that they may have compassion on them;

51. For they are Your people, and Your inheritance, which You brought out of Egypt from the middle of the furnace of iron;

52. For Your eyes shall be open to the prayer of Your servant, and to the prayer of Your people Israel, to hearken to them whenever they call to You;

53. For You have separated them from among all the people of the earth to be Your people, and Your inheritance, which You brought out of Egypt, O Lord GOD.

54. Now it came to pass as Solomon finished praying all this prayer and petition to the LORD, he rose from before the altar of the LORD, from kneeling on his knees with his hands spread up to heaven.

55. Then he stood and blessed all the congregation of Israel with a loud voice, saying,

56. “Blessed be the LORD, Who has given rest to His people Israel, according to all that He promised. There has not failed one word of all His good promises which He promised by the hand of Moses His servant.

57. May the LORD our God be with us as He was with our fathers. Let Him not leave us nor forsake us,

58. To incline our hearts to Himself, to walk in all His ways and to keep His commandments and His statutes and His judgments which He commanded our fathers.

59. And let these my words, with which I have made suplications before the LORD, be near the LORD our God day and night, so that He may maintain the cause of His servant and the cause of His people Israel at all times as the matter requires,

60. That all the people of the earth may know that the LORD is God; there is no other.

61. And let your heart be perfect with the LORD our God: to walk in His statutes and to keep His commandments, as at this day.”

62. And the king and all Israel with him, offered sacrifice before the LORD.

63. And Solomon offered a sacrifice of peace offerings which he offered to the LORD: twenty-two thousand oxen, and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD.

64. On that day the king sanctified the middle of the court before the house of the LORD, for there he had offered the burnt offering, and the grain offering, and the fat of the peace offerings because the bronze altar before the LORD was too small to contain the burnt offering, and the grain offering, and the fat of the peace offerings.

65. And at that time Solomon held a feast and all Israel with him, a great congregation—from the entering in of Hamath to the river of Egypt—before the LORD our God, seven days and seven days, even fourteen days.

66. On the eighth day he sent the people away. And they blessed the king and went to their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the good that the LORD had done for David His servant and for Israel His people.

CHAPTER NINE

1. And it came to pass as Solomon finished the building of the house of the LORD, and the king’s house, and all Solomon’s desire which he was pleased to do,

2. The LORD appeared to Solomon the second time, as He had appeared to him at Gibeon.

3. And the LORD said to him, “I have heard your prayer and your cry which you have made before Me. I have made holy this house which you have built to put My name there forever. And My eyes and My heart shall be there perpetually.

4. Now if you will walk before Me as David your father walked, in integrity of heart and in uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded you; and if you will keep My statutes and My judgments, 5. Then I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever as I promised to David your father, saying, ‘There shall not be cut off from you a man upon the throne of Israel.’ 6. If you shall at all turn from following Me, you or your children, and will not keep My commandments and My statutes which I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, 7. Then I will cut off Israel from the face of the land which I have given them. And this house which I have made holy for My name I will cast out of My sight. And Israel shall be a proverb and a byword among all people. 8. As to this house which now is exalted, then everyone who passes by it shall be amazed and shall hiss. And they shall say, ‘Why has the LORD done this to this land and to this house?’ 9. And they shall answer, ‘Because they have taken hold of other gods and have worshiped them and served them. On the account of this the LORD has brought upon them all this evil.’ ” 10. And it came to pass at the end of twenty years, Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the LORD and the king’s house. 11. Hiram the king of Tyre had furnished Solomon with cedar trees and fir trees, and with gold, according to all his desires. Then King Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. 12. And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him. And they did not please him. 13. Therefore he said, “What cities are these which you have given me, my brother?” So they are called the land of Cabul to this day. 14. And Hiram sent to the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold. 15. And this is the reason for the labor force which King Solomon raised: to build the house of the LORD and his own house, and Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer, 16. For Pharaoh, king of Egypt, had gone up and had taken Gezer and had burned it with fire, and had slain the Canaanites who lived in the city. And he had given it for a present to his daughter, Solomon’s wife. 17. And Solomon built Gezer, and Beth Horon the lower, 18. And Baalath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, in the land. 19. And he built all the store cities which Solomon had, and cities for his chariots, and cities for his horsemen, and that which Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion. 20. And all the people who were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of the children of Israel, 21. Their children who were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel also were not able to destroy completely, upon those Solomon laid a tribute of bond service to this day. 22. But Solomon did not make any slaves out of the children of Israel. But they were men of war, and his servants, and his rulers, and his commanders, and rulers of his chariots, and his horsemen. 23. These were the chief of the officers who were over Solomon’s work, five hundred and fifty who ruled over the people who labored in the work. 24. But Pharaoh’s daughter came up from the city of David to her house which Solomon had built for her. And then he built Millo. 25. And three times in a year Solomon offered burnt offerings and peace offerings upon the altar which he had built to the LORD, and he burned incense upon the altar which was before the LORD. And he finished the house. 26. And King Solomon made a navy of ships in Ezion Geber, which is beside Edom, on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. 27. And Hiram sent with the navy his servants, shipmen who had knowledge of the sea, with the servants of Solomon. 28. And they came to Ophir, and brought gold from there, four hundred and twenty talents, and brought it to King Solomon.

CHAPTER TEN

1. And the queen of Sheba heard of Solomon’s fame concerning the name of the LORD, and she came to prove him with hard questions.
2. And she came to Jerusalem with a very great train, with camels that bore spices and very much gold and precious stones. And she came to Solomon, and she told him all that was in her heart.
3. And Solomon answered all her questions for her. There was not a thing hidden from the king which he did not tell her.
4. And when the queen of Sheba had seen all of Solomon’s wisdom, and the house which he had built,
5. And the food of his table, and the siting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their clothing, and his cupbearers, and his burnt offering that he offered up to the house of the LORD, there was no more spirit in her.
6. Then she said to the king, “It was a true report which I heard in my own land, and blessings are more than the fame which I heard.
7. And I did not believe the words until I came and my eyes had seen. And behold, the half was not told me. Your wisdom and blessings are more than the fame which I heard.
8. Happy are your men, happy are these who are your servants, who stand always before you, and who hear your wisdom.
9. Blessed is the LORD your God, Who delighted in you, to set you on the throne of Israel. Because the LORD loved Israel forever, therefore He made you king to do judgment and justice.”
10. And she gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, a very great store of spices, and precious stones. No spices like that ever came again in such abundance that the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.
11. And also the navy of Hiram which brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir great abundance of almug trees and precious stones.
12. And the king made of the almug trees supports for the house of the LORD, and for the king’s house, also lyres and harps for singers. No such almug wood has come or been seen to this day.
13. And King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire, whatever she asked, besides what Solomon gave her of his royal bounty. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.
14. And the weight of gold which came to Solomon in one year was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold,
15. In addition to that which came from the merchant men and from the traffic of the traders and from all the kings of Arabia and from the governors of the lands.
16. And King Solomon made two hundred shields of beaten gold; six hundred shekels of gold went into one shield.
17. And he made three hundred shields of beaten gold; three minas of gold went into one shield. And the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.
18. And the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with the best gold.
19. The throne had six steps and the top of the throne was round at the back. And there were arm rests on either side of the seat, and two lions stood beside the arm rests:
20. And two lions were standing upon the six steps, on one side and on the other side. There was nothing like it in any other kingdom.
21. And all King Solomon’s drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. None were of silver; it was counted as nothing in the days of Solomon.
22. For the king had at sea a navy of Tarshish with the navy of Hiram. Once in three years the navy of Tarshish came bringing gold and silver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.
23. And King Solomon was greater than all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom.
24. And all the earth sought Solomon to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart.
25. And every man brought his presents, vessels of silver and vessels of gold, and clothing and armor, and spices, horses and mules, at a rate year by year.
26. And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen. And he had fourteen hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed in the cities for chariots and with the king at Jerusalem.
27. And the king made silver like stones in Jerusalem, and he made cedars like the sycamore trees in the valley for abundance.
28. And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt and out of Kue. The king’s merchants received linen yarn from Kue at a price.
29. And a chariot was imported from Egypt for six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty. And so to all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, they were exported to them through their hands.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And King Solomon loved many foreign women, even the daughter of Pharaoh, Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Sidonians, Hittites;

2. Of the nations which the LORD had said to the children of Israel, “You shall not go in to them, and they shall not go in to you; surely they will turn away your heart after their gods.” But Solomon clung to these in love.

3. And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines. And his wives turned away his heart,

4. For it came to pass when Solomon was old, his wives turned away his heart after other gods. And his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God as was the heart of David his father,

5. For Solomon went after Ashtoreth, the goddess of the Sidonians, and after Milcom, the abomination of the Ammonites;

6. And Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD and did not keep that which the LORD commanded.

7. Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, in the hill which is before Jerusalem, and for Molech, the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8. And likewise he did for all his foreign wives, and burned incense and sacrificed to their gods.

9. And the LORD was angry with Solomon because his heart was turned from the LORD God of Israel Who had appeared to him twice

10. And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods; and he did not keep that which the LORD commanded.

11. And the LORD said to Solomon, “Since this has been done by you, and since you have not kept My covenant and My statutes which I have commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom from you and will give it to your servant.

12. But I will not do it in your days, for David your father’s sake, for I will tear it out of the hand of your son.

13. Only, I will not tear away all the kingdom, but I will give one tribe to your son for David My servant’s sake, and for Jerusalem’s sake which I have chosen.”

14. And it came to pass the LORD stirred up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite. He was of the king’s seed in Edom,

15. For it came to pass when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army had gone up to bury the slain after he had stricken every male in Edom—

16. For Joab remained there six months with all Israel, until he had cut off every male in Edom—

17. However Hadad fled, he and certain Edomites of his father’s servants with him, to go to Egypt, when Hadad was still a little child.

18. And they arose out of Midian and came to Paran. And they took men with them out of Paran and they came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house and appointed food for him and gave him land.

19. And Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him the sister of his own wife to be his wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen.

20. And the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh’s house. And Genubath was in Pharaoh’s household among the sons of Pharaoh.

21. And when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, then Hadad said to Pharaoh, “Let me depart so that I may go to my own land.”

22. And Pharaoh said to him, “But what have you lacked with me, that behold, you seek to go to your land?” And he answered, “Nothing. However, you shall certainly send me away.”

23. And God stirred up another adversary, Rezon the son of Eliadah, who fled from his lord Hadadezer king of Zobah.

24. And he gathered men to himself and became head over a marauding band after the slaughter by David. And they went to Damascus and dwelt there and reigned in Damascus.

25. Now he was an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon, besides the mischievous, which Hadad did. And he hated Israel and reigned over Syria.

26. And Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite of Zereda, Solomon’s servant, whose mother’s name was Zeruah, a widow, he too lifted up his hand against the king.

27. And this was the cause that he lifted up his hand against the king. Solomon built Millo and repaired the breaks of the city of David his father.

28. And the man Jeroboam was a mighty man of war. And Solomon, seeing that the young man was industrious, he made him ruler over all the charge of the house of Joseph.

29. Now it came to pass at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, the prophet Ahijah from Shiloh found him on the way. And he had clothed himself with a new garment. And the two of them were alone in the field.

30. And Ahijah caught hold of the new garment that was on him, and tore it in twelve pieces.

31. And he said to Jeroboam, “Take ten pieces for yourself. For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Behold, I will tear the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon and will give ten tribes to you.’

32. But he shall have one tribe for My servant David’s sake and for Jerusalem’s sake, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel.

33. Because they have forsaken Me, and have worshiped Ashthoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the goddess of the children of Ammon, and have not walked in My ways, to do what is right in My eyes, and to keep My statutes and My judgments, as David his father did.

34. But I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand, but I will make him ruler all the days of his life for the sake of David My servant, whom I chose because he kept My commandments and My statutes.

35. But I will take the kingdom out of his son’s hand and will give it to you, ten tribes.

36. And to his son I will give one tribe, so that David My servant may have a light always before me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen for Me to put My name there.

37. And I will take you, and you shall reign according to all that your soul desires, and shall be king over Israel.

38. And if you will hearken to all that I command you and will walk in My ways, and do what is right in My sight to keep My statutes and My commandments, as David My servant did, then I will be with you and build you a sure house, as I built for David, and will give Israel to you.

39. And for this I will afflict the seed of David, but not forever.’”

40. And Solomon sought to kill Jeroboam. And Jeroboam arose and fled to Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

41. And the rest of the acts of Solomon, and all that he did and his wisdom, are they not written in the Book of the Acts of Solomon?

42. And the days that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel were forty years.

43. And Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam reigned in his place.

CHAPTER TWELVE

1. And Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king.

2. And it came to pass when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard this, he was still in Egypt; for he had fled from the presence of King Solomon, and Jeroboam lived in Egypt.

3. They sent and called him. And Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying,

4. “Your father made our yoke hard. And now lighten the hard service of your father and the heavy yoke which he put upon us, and we will serve you.”

5. And he said to them, “Go; yet in three days come back to me.” And the people went away.

6. And King Rehoboam talked with the old men who had stood before Solomon his father while he still lived, and said, “What counsel do you give me to answer this people?”

7. And they spoke to him, saying, “If you will be a servant to this people today, and will serve them and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be your servants forever.”

8. But he forsook the counsel of the old men which they had advised him, and talked with the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him.

457

9. And he said to them, “What advice do you give that we may answer this people who have spoken to me, saying, ‘Lighten the yoke which your father put upon us?’ ”

10. And the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, “So shall you speak to this people who spoke to you, saying, ‘Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter for us,’ so you shall say to them, ‘My little finger shall be thicker than my father’s loins.’

11. And now my father laid upon you a heavy yoke, and I will add to your yoke. My father has whipped you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.’ ”

12. And they came, Jeroboam and all the people to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, “Come to me again the third day.”

13. And the king answered the people roughly, and spurned the old men’s advice which they advised him,

14. And spoke to them according to the advice which they advised him,

15. And the king did not hearken to the advice of the young men, saying, “My father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter for us,” so you shall say to them, ‘My little finger shall be thicker than my father’s loins.

16. And all Israel saw that the king did not hearken to them, and the people answered the king, saying, “What part do we have in David? Yea, there is no inheritance in the son of Jesse. To your tents, O Israel! Now see to your own house, O David!” And Israel went to its tents.

17. As for the children of Israel, those living in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18. And King Rehoboam sent Adoram who was over the tribute. And all Israel stoned him with stones so that he died. And King Rehoboam made haste to get up to his chariot to flee to Jerusalem.

19. And Israel has rebelled against the house of David to this day.

20. And it came to pass when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had come back, they sent and called him to the congregation, and made him king over all Israel. There was none who followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.

21. And when Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, then he gathered all the house of Judah with the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand warriors to fight against the house of Israel, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the son of Solomon.

22. But the word of God came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

23. “Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, saying,

24. ‘Thus says the LORD, “You shall not go up, nor fight against your brothers the children of Israel. Each man return to his house, for this thing is from Me.” ’ ” And they hearkened therefore to the word of the LORD and returned, according to the word of the LORD.

25. And Jeroboam built Shechem on Mount Ephraim and lived on it, and went from there and built Penuel.

26. And Jeroboam said in his heart, “Now the kingdom may well return to the house of David!

27. If this people go up to do sacrifice in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then shall the heart of this people turn again to their lord, to Rehoboam king of Judah, and they shall kill me and return again to Rehoboam king of Judah.”

28. Then the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold and said to them, “It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem. Behold your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!”

29. And he set the one in Bethel, and he put the other in Dan.

30. And this thing became a sin, for the people went to worship before the one, even to Dan.

31. And he made houses of worship on the high places and made priests of the lowest of the people, who were not the sons of Levi.

32. And Jeroboam ordered a feast in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like the feast that is in Judah. And he offered upon the altar. So he did in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves that he had made. And he placed in Bethel the priests of the high places which he had made.
33. And he offered upon the altar which he had made in Bethel on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in the month which he had devised out of his own heart. And he ordained a feast for the children of Israel. And he offered upon the altar and burned incense.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. And behold, a man of God came out of Judah by the word of the LORD, to Bethel. And Jeroboam stood by the altar to burn incense.
2. And he cried against the altar by the word of the LORD and said, “O, altar, altar, thus says the LORD. ‘Behold, a son shall be born to the house of David, Josiah by name, and upon you he shall offer the priests of the high places who burn incense upon you, and men’s bones shall be burned upon you.’ ”
3. And he gave a sign the same day, saying, “This is the sign which the LORD has spoken. ‘Behold, the altar shall be torn apart, and the ashes that are upon it shall be poured out.’ ”
4. Then it came to pass when King Jeroboam heard the saying of the man of God who had cried against the altar in Bethel, he put forth his hand from the altar, saying, “Lay hold on him!” And his hand, which he put forth against him withered up so that he could not pull it in again to himself.
5. The altar also was split asunder and the ashes poured out from the altar according to the sign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD. And the king answered and said to the man of God, “Seek now the face of the LORD your God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me again.” And the man of God prayed to the LORD, and the king’s hand was restored to him again and became as at the beginning.
6. And the king said to the man of God, “Come home with me and refresh yourself, and I will give you a reward.”
7. And the man of God said to the king, “If you will give me half your house, I will not go in with you, nor will I eat bread nor drink water in this place,
8. For so was it commanded me by the word of the LORD, saying, ‘Eat no bread nor drink water, nor return again by the same way that you came.’ ”
9. Then he went another way and did not return by the way he came to Bethel.
10. And a certain old prophet was living in Bethel, and his sons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel. The words which he had spoken to the king they also told to their father.
11. And their father said to them, “Where is this man? What way did he go?” For his sons had seen what way the man of God had gone, who came from Judah.
12. And he said to his sons, “Saddle me the donkey.” And they saddled the donkey for him, and he rode on it,
13. And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak. And he said to him, “Are you the man of God who came from Judah?” And he said, “I am.”
14. And he said to him, “Come home with me and eat bread.”
15. And he said, “I may not return with you nor go in with you, nor will I eat bread or drink water with you in this place,
16. For a word was given to me by the word of the LORD, ‘You shall eat no bread nor drink water there, nor return again by the way that you came.’ ”
17. But he lied to him.
18. So he went back with him and ate bread in his house, and drank water.
19. Then it came to pass as they sat at the table, the word of the LORD came to the prophet who brought him back.
20. And he cried to the man of God who came from Judah, saying, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Because you have not obeyed the mouth of the LORD and have not kept the commandment which the LORD your God commanded you,
21. But came back and have eaten bread and have drunk water in the place which He said to you, “You shall not eat bread nor drink water,” your corpse shall not be buried in the tomb of your fathers.’ ”
22. Now it came to pass, after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk that he saddled the donkey for him, for the prophet whom he had brought back.

24. Then he left, and a lion met him by the way and killed him. And his dead body was thrown on the highway, and the donkey stood by it, and the lion also stood by the body.

25. And behold, men passed by and saw the body thrown in the highway, and the donkey stood by it, and the lion standing by the body. And they came and told it in the city where the old prophet lived.

26. And when the prophet who brought him back from the way heard it, he said, “It is the man of God who did not obey the word of the LORD. And the LORD has delivered him to the lion which has torn him and killed him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke to him.”

27. And he spoke to his sons, saying, “Saddle the donkey for me.” And they saddled it.

28. And he went and found his body thrown in the highway, and the donkey and the lion standing by the body. The lion had not eaten the body nor torn the body was thrown on the highway, and the donkey saddled it.

29. And the prophet took up the dead body of the man of God, and laid it upon the donkey.

30. And he laid his body in his own grave. And they mourned over him, saying, “Alas, my brother!”

31. And it came to pass after he had buried him, he spoke to his sons, saying, “When I am dead, then bury me in the grave. And they mourned over him, saying, ‘Alas, my brother!’

32. Then Jeroboam said to his wife, “Arise, please, and disguise yourself so that you will not be known to be the wife of Jeroboam. Now go to Shiloh. Behold, there is Ahijah the prophet, who told me about being king over this people.

33. And take ten loaves, and cakes, and a jar of honey with you, and go to him. And he will tell you what shall become of the boy.”

34. And Jeroboam’s wife did so and arose and went to Shiloh. And she came to the house of Ahijah. And Ahijah could not see, for his eyes were dim because of his age.

35. And the LORD said to Ahijah, “Behold, the wife of Jeroboam comes to ask a thing of you for her son, for he is sick. Thus and such you shall say to her, for when she comes in, she shall act as a stranger.”

36. Now it came to pass when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet as she came in at the door, he said, “Come in, wife of Jeroboam! Why are you acting as a stranger? For I am sent to you with bad news.

37. Go tell Jeroboam, ‘Thus says the LORD God of Israel, “I lifted you up from among the people, and made you ruler over My people Israel,

38. And tore the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you. And you have not been as My servant David who kept My commandments, and who followed Me with all his heart, to do only what was right in My eyes.

39. But you have done evil above all who were before you, for you have gone and made yourself other gods and molten images to provoke Me to anger, and have cast Me behind your back;

40. Therefore, behold, I will bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam everyone who pisses against the wall, bond and free in Israel, and will sweep away the rest of the house of Jeroboam as a man sweeps away the dung until it is all gone.

41. Those of Jeroboam who die in the city, the dogs shall eat. And those who die in the field, the fowls of the air shall eat, for the LORD has spoken it.’”

42. Now arise, go down to your own house. When your feet enter into the city, the boy shall die.
13. And all Israel shall mourn for him and bury him, for he only of Jeroboam shall come down to the grave because in him there is found some good thing toward the LORD God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.
14. And the LORD shall raise up a king over Israel for Himself, a king who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam in that day, beginning henceforth.
15. For the LORD shall strike Israel as the beginning henceforth.

16. And He shall give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam who sinned, and because he made Israel to sin."
17. And Jeroboam's wife arose, and left, and came to Tirzah. When she came to the threshold of the door, the boy died.
18. And they buried him, and all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke by the hand of His servant Ahijah the prophet.
19. And the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred and how he reigned, be they written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
20. And the days which Jeroboam reigned were twenty-two years. And he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his place.
21. And Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD chose out of all the tribes of Israel to put His name there. And his mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess.
22. And Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked Him to jealousy with their sins which they had committed, above all that their fathers had done,
23. For they also built high places for themselves, and images and Asherim, on every high hill and under every green tree.
24. And also the sodomites were in the land. They did according to all the hateful things of the nations which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.
25. And it came to pass in the fifth year of King Rehoboam that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem.
26. And he took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king’s house. He took all of it away. And he took away all the shields of gold which Solomon had made.
27. And King Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the guard, who kept the door of the king’s house.
28. And it came to pass when the king went into the house of the LORD, the guard carried them and brought them back into the guard chamber.
29. And the rest of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
30. And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days.
31. And Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And his mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess. And his son Abijam reigned in his place.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. And in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Abijam reigned over Judah.
2. He reigned three years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom.
3. And he walked in all the sins of his father which he had done before him. And his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God as the heart of David his father.
4. But for David’s sake the LORD his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem to set up his son after him and to establish Jerusalem.
5. Because David did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, and did not turn aside from all that He commanded him all the days of his life, except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite.
6. And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life.
7. And the rest of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.
1 Kings 15

8. And Abijam slept with his fathers and they buried him in the city of David. And his son Asa reigned in his place.
9. And in the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa reigned over Judah.
10. And he reigned in Jerusalem forty-one years. And his grandmother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom.
11. And Asa did what was right in the eyes of the LORD as David his father did.
12. And he took away the sodomites out of the land and removed all the idols that his fathers had made.
13. And also he even removed his mother Maachah from being queen because she had made an idol in a grove. And Asa destroyed her idol and burned it by the brook Kidron.
14. But the high places were not removed. Nevertheless Asa's heart was perfect with the LORD all his days.
15. And he brought in the things which his father had dedicated, and the things which he himself had dedicated, into the house of the LORD, silver and gold and vessels.
16. And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.
17. And Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and built Ramah, so that he might not allow any to go out or come in to Asa king of Judah.
18. And Asa took all the silver and the gold left in the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house, and delivered them into the hand of his servants. And King Asa sent them to Ben-Hadad, the son of Tabrimon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, who lived at Damascus, saying,
19. "There is a treaty between you and me, between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent to you a present of silver and gold. Come and break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, so that he may depart from me."
20. And Ben-Hadad hearkened to King Asa, and sent the commanders of the armies which he had against the cities of Israel, and struck Ijon, and Dan, and Abel Beth Maachah, and all Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.
21. And it came to pass when Baasha heard, he left off building Ramah and lived in Tirzah.
22. And King Asa made a proclamation throughout all Judah. None was free from it. And they took away the stones of Ramah, and its timber with which Baasha had built. And King Asa built Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah with them.
23. The rest of all the acts of Asa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? But in the time of his old age he was diseased in his feet.
24. And Asa slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. And his son Jehoshaphat reigned in his place.
25. And Nadab the son of Jeroboam began to reign over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah and reigned over Israel two years.
26. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin with which he made Israel to sin.
27. And Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him. And Baasha struck him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, for Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon.
28. And in the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha killed him and reigned in his place.
29. And it came to pass when he reigned, he struck all the house of Jeroboam. He did not leave to Jeroboam any who breathed until he had destroyed him, according to the saying of the LORD which He spoke by His servant Ahijah the man of Shiloh.
30. Because of the sins of Jeroboam which he sinned, and which he made Israel to sin.
31. And the rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
32. And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.
33. In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah began to reign over all Israel in Tirzah and reigned twenty-four years.
34. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin with which he made Israel to sin.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. And the word of the LORD came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying,
2. “Since I exalted you out of the dust, and made you ruler over My people Israel, and since you have walked in the way of Jeroboam, and have made My people Israel to sin to provoke Me to anger with their sins,
3. Behold, I will utterly sweep away Baasha and his house. And I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.
4. Those of Baasha who die in the city shall the dogs eat. And those who die in the fields, the birds of the air shall eat.”
5. And the rest of the acts of Baasha and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
6. And Baasha lay with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah. And Elah his son reigned in his place.
7. And also by the hand of the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani came the word of the LORD against Baasha and against his house, even for all the evil that he did in the sight of the LORD in provoking Him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, for he destroyed it.
8. In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah the son of Baasha began to reign over Israel in Tirzah, and he reigned two years.
9. And his servant Zimri, commander of half his chariots, plotted against him; and he was in Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza the steward of his house in Tirzah.
10. And Zimri went in and struck him, and killed him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place.
11. Then it came to pass when he began to reign, as soon as he sat on his throne, he killed all the house of Baasha. He did not leave him one who pissed against a wall, nor of his kinsmen, nor of his friends.
12. And Zimri destroyed all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke against Baasha by Jehu the prophet,
13. For all the sins of Baasha, and the sins of Elah his son, by which they sinned and that they made Israel to sin in provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their vanities.
14. And the rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
15. In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days in Tirzah. And the people were camped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines.
16. And the people that were camped heard it said that Zimri had plotted and had also slain the king. Then all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that day in the camp.
17. And Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they laid siege to Tirzah.
18. Now it came to pass when Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the palace of the king’s house and burned the king’s house over him with fire, and died,
19. For his sins which he sinned in doing evil in the sight of the LORD, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he did to make Israel sin.
20. And the rest of the acts of Zimri, and his treason which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
21. And the people of Israel were divided into two parts. Half the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath to make him king. And half followed Omri.
22. But the people who followed Omri were stronger than the people who followed Tibni the son of Ginath. And Tibni died and Omri reigned.
23. In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri began to reign over Israel. He reigned twelve years, six years in Tirzah.
24. And he bought the hill Samaria of Shemer for two talents of silver, and built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built after the name of Shemer, the owner of the hill, Samaria.
25. And Omri did evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worse than all who were before him, 26. For he walked in all the ways of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sin with which he made Israel to sin to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger with their vanities.
27. And the rest of the acts of Omri which he did, and his might that he showed, are they not written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
28. And Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. And Ahab his son reigned in his place.
29. And in the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, Ahab the son of Omri began to reign over Israel. And Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years.
30. And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD above all who were before him.
31. And as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, he also took Jezebel, the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Sido-nians, for a wife. And he went and served Baal, and worshiped him.
32. And he reared up an altar for Baal in the house of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.
33. And Ahab made a wooden image.
And Ahab did more to provoke the LORD
God of Israel than all the kings of Israel who were before him.
34. In his days Hiel the man of Bethel built Jericho. He laid the foundation of it at the cost of Abiram his firstborn, and set up the gates of it at the cost of his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke by Joshua the son of Nun.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. And Elijah the Tishbite, of the sojourners of Gilead, said to Ahab, "As the LORD God of Israel lives, before Whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, except according to my word."
2. And the word of the LORD came to him, saying,
3. "Go away from here and turn eastward, and hide yourself by the brook
Cherith, before Jordan.
4. And it shall be, you shall drink of the brook. And I have commanded the ravens to feed you there."
5. So he went and did according to the word of the LORD, for he went and lived by the brook Cherith, before Jordan.
6. And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening; and he drank of the brook.
7. And it came to pass after a while, the brook dried up because there had been no rain in the land.
8. And the word of the LORD came to him, saying,
9. "Arise, go to Zarephath which belongs to Sidon, and live there. Behold, I have commanded a widow to keep you there."
10. Then he arose and went to Zarephath, and came in to the entrance of the city, and, behold, the widow was gathering sticks. And he called to her and said,
"Please, bring me a little water in a vessel so that I may drink."
11. And she said to him, "As the LORD your God lives, I do not have a cake, but only a handful of meal in a pitcher and a little oil in a jar. Now see, I am gathering two sticks, so that I may go in and dress it for me and my son, so that we may eat it and die."
12. And Elijah said to her, "Do not fear, go. Do as you have said. But first make me a little cake of it, and bring it to me.
And then make for you and for your son,
13. For thus says the LORD God of Israel,
'The pitcher of meal shall not be emptied, nor shall the jar of oil fail until the day that the LORD sends rain upon the earth.'"
14. And she said to him, "Do not fear,
go. Do as you have said. But first make me a little cake of it, and bring it to me.
And then make for you and for your son,
15. And she went and did according to the saying of Elijah. And she and he and her house ate many days;
16. The pitcher of meal was not consumed, and the jar of oil did not fail, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke by Elijah.
17. And it came to pass that after these things, the son of the woman, who was the mistress of the house, that he fell sick. And his sickness was so severe that there was no breath left in him.
18. And she said to Elijah, "What do I have to do with you, O man of God?
Have you come to me to call my sin to remembrance and to kill my son?"
19. And he said to her, “Give me your son.” And he took him out of her bosom and carried him up into a loft, where he stayed, and laid him upon his own bed.

20. And he cried to the LORD, and said, “O LORD my God, have You also brought evil upon the widow with whom I sojourn by slaying her son?”

21. And he stretched himself upon the child three times, and cried to the LORD, “O LORD my God, have You also brought evil upon the widow with whom I sojourn by slaying her son?”

22. And the LORD heard the voice of this child’s life come to him again.”

23. And Elijah took the child and laid him on his own bed. And he stretched himself upon the child three times, and cried to the LORD, “O LORD, my God, please let this child’s life come to him again.”

24. And the woman said to Elijah, “Now by this I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in your mouth is truth.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. And it came to pass after many days the word of the LORD came to Elijah in the third year saying, “Go, show yourself to Ahab. And I will send rain upon the earth.”

2. Then Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. And I will send rain upon the earth.”

3. And Ahab called for Obadiah, who was over the house. (And Obadiah feared the LORD greatly; for he said, “What have I sinned that you should take such a life upon me?”)

4. For it came to pass when Jezebel killed the prophets of the LORD, Obadiah hid a hundred men of the LORD’s prophets by fifty in a cave and fed them with bread and water.

5. And Ahab said to Obadiah, “Go into the land, to all the fountains of water, and to all the brooks. Perhaps we may find grass to save the horses and mules alive, so that we may not lose all the animals.”

6. And they divided the land between them to pass throughout it. Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.

7. And as Obadiah was on the way, behold, Elijah met him. And he knew him, and fell on his face, and said, “Are you my lord Elijah?”

8. And he answered him, “I am. Go, tell your lord, ‘Behold, Elijah is here.’ ”

9. And he said, “What have I sinned that you would deliver your servant into the hand of Ahab to kill me?

10. As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation nor kingdom where my lord has not sent to seek you. And when they said, ‘He is not there,’ he took an oath of the kingdom and nation that they did not find you.

11. But now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here!”’

12. And it will be as soon as I have gone from you, the Spirit of the LORD shall carry you where I know not. And when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find you, he will kill me. But I, your servant, have feared the LORD from my youth.

13. Was it not told my lord what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of the LORD, how I hid a hundred men of the LORD’s prophets by fifty in a cave and fed them with bread and water?

14. And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here!”’ And then he will kill me!”

15. And Elijah said, “As the LORD of hosts lives, before Whom I stand, I will surely be seen by him today.”

16. And Obadiah went to meet Ahab and told him. And Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17. And it came to pass when Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him, “Are you he that troubles Israel?”

18. And he answered, “I have not troubled Israel, but you and your father’s house have in that you have forsaken the commandments of the LORD, and you have followed Baalim.

19. Now therefore, send and gather to me all Israel to Mount Carmel, and four hundred and fifty of the prophets of Baal, and four hundred of the prophets of Asherah who eat at Jezebel’s table.”

20. Then Ahab sent to all the children of Israel and gathered the prophets together to Mount Carmel.

21. And Elijah came to all the people and said, “How long will you vacillate between two different opinions? If the LORD is God, follow Him. But if Baal is God, then follow him.” And the people did not answer him a word.

22. And Elijah said to the people, “I, I alone, remain a prophet of the LORD. But Baal’s prophets are four hundred and fifty men.

23. Now let them give us two bulls, and
And he said, “Do it the second time.” And they did it the second time. And he said, “Do it the third time.” And they did it the third time.

35. And the water ran all around the altar. And he filled the trench also with water.

36. Now it came to pass at the time of the offering of the oblation, Elijah the prophet came near and said, “LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that You are God in Israel, and that I am Your servant, and that I have done all these things at Your word.

37. Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that You are the LORD God, and that You have turned their heart back again.”

38. Then the fire of the LORD fell and burned up the burnt sacrifice and the wood, and the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench.

39. And when all the people saw, they fell on their faces. And they said, “The LORD, He is the God! The LORD, He is the God!”

40. And Elijah said to them, “Take the prophets of Baal. Do not let one of them escape.” And they took them. And Elijah brought them down to the brook Kishon and killed them there.

41. And Elijah said to Ahab, “Go up, eat and drink because of the sound of plenty of rain.”

42. So Ahab went up to eat and to drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel. And he threw himself down upon the earth and put his face between his knees. And he said, “Go up now, look toward the sea.” And he went up and looked and said, “Nothing.” And he said, “Go again seven times.”

43. Then he said to his servant, “Go up now, look toward the sea.” And he went up and looked and said, “Nothing.” And he said, “Go again seven times.”

44. And it came to pass at the seventh time, he said, “Behold, there arises a little cloud out of the sea, like a man’s hand.” And he said, “Go up and say to Ahab, ‘Prepare your chariot and go down before the rain stops you.’ ”

45. And it came to pass in the meantime the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rose and went to Jezreel.

46. And the hand of the LORD was on Elijah. And he girded up his loins and ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.
CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. Then Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and all whom he had killed, all the prophets with the sword.
2. And Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah saying, “So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I do not make your life like the life of one of them by tomorrow about this time.”
3. And when he saw that, he rose and ran for his life, and came to Beersheba of Judah, and left his servant there.
4. Then he himself went a day’s journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a broom tree. And he begged for his life, that he might die. And he went in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights to Horeb, the mount of God.
5. And as he lay and slept under a broom tree, behold, then an angel touched him, and he said to him, “Arise, eat.”
6. And he looked, and, behold, a cake was baked on the coals, and a jug of water at his head. And he ate and drank, and was strengthened in the strength of that food.
7. And the angel of the LORD came to him the second time and touched him, and said, “Arise, eat, because the journey is too great for you.”
8. And he arose, and ate and drank, and went in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights to Horeb, the mount of God.
9. And he came there to a cave and stayed there. And behold, the word of the LORD came to him, and He said to him, “What are you doing here, Elijah?”
10. And he said, “I have been very zealous for the LORD, the God of Hosts, for the children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, thrown down Your altars, and have slain Your prophets with the sword. And I, I alone, am left. And they seek to take my life away.”
11. And the LORD said to him, “Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus. And when you come, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria.
12. And you shall anoint Jehu the son of Nimshi to be king over Israel. And Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel Meholah you shall anoint to be prophet in your place.
13. And it will be whoever escapes the sword of Hazael, Jehu will kill. And whoever escapes from the sword of Jehu, Elisha will kill.
14. Yet I have left seven thousand in Israel for Me, all who have not bowed the knees to Baal, and every mouth that has not kissed him.”
15. And he left there and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, and he was plowing; twelve pairs of oxen were before him, and he was with the twelfth. And Elijah passed by him and threw his mantle upon him.
16. So he left the oxen and ran after Elijah, and said, “Please, let me kiss my father and my mother, and I will follow you.” And he said to him, “Go back again, for what have I done to you?”
17. Then he turned back from him, and took a yoke of oxen and killed them, and boiled their flesh with the instruments of the oxen, and gave it to the people, and they ate. And he arose and went after Elijah, and ministered to him.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. And Ben-Hadad the king of Syria gathered all his army together. And thirty-two kings were with him, and horses and chariots. And he went up and laid siege to Samaria, and warred against it.
2. And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel, and to the city, and said to him, “Thus says Ben-Hadad,
3. ‘Your silver and your gold are mine, your wives also and your sons, the best of them are mine.’ “

4. And the king of Israel answered and said, “My lord, O king, according to your saying I am yours and all that I have.”

5. And the messengers came again and said, “Ben-Hadad speaks in this way, saying, ‘Although I have sent to you saying, “You shall deliver me your silver and your gold and your wives and your sons,”

6. Yet I will send my servants to you tomorrow about this time, and they shall search your house and the houses of your servants. And it shall be, whatever is pleasant in your eyes, they will put it in their hand and take it away.’ ”

7. And the king of Israel called all the elders of the land and said, “Please note and see how this one seeks mischief, for he sent to me for my wives and for my sons, and for my silver and for my gold. And I did not keep them back from him.”

8. And all the elders and all the people said to him, “Do not listen nor consent!”

9. And he said to the messengers of Ben-Hadad, “Tell my lord the king, ‘All that you sent for to your servant at the first I will do, but this thing I may not do.’ ” And the messengers left and brought him word again.

10. And Ben-Hadad sent to him and said, “If they have come out for peace, take them alive; or if they have come out for war, take them alive.”

11. And the king of Israel answered and said to him, “Go, strengthen yourself, and take note and see what you need to do, for in the spring of the year the king of Syria will come up against you.”

12. Now it came to pass in the spring of the year, Ben-Hadad numbered the Syrians that went up to Aphek to fight against Israel.
goats. And the Syrians filled the country.
28. And a man of God came near and spoke to the king of Israel, and said, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because the Syrians have said, "The LORD is God of the hills, but He is not God of the valleys," therefore I will deliver all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.'"
29. And they pitched opposite one another seven days. Then it came to pass on the seventh day that the battle commenced. And the children of Israel struck Syria, a hundred thousand footmen in one day.
30. But the rest fled to Aphek, into the city. And there a wall fell upon twenty-seven thousand of those remaining. And Ben-Hadad fled and came into the city, into an inner room.
31. And his servants said to him, "Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings. Please let us put sackcloth on our loins and ropes upon our heads, and go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will save your life."
32. And they bound sackcloth on their loins and ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-Hadad says, 'Please let me live.'" And he said, "Is he still alive? He is my brother."
33. And the men carefully observed, and quickly picked up on his word, and they said, "Your brother Ben-Hadad." And he said, "Go and bring him." And Ben-Hadad came out to him, and he caused him to come up into the chariot.
34. Then Ben-Hadad said to him, "The cities which my father took from your father, I will restore. And you shall make streets for yourself in Damascus as my father made in Samaria." And Ahab said, "I will send you away with this covenant." So he made a covenant with him and sent him away.
35. And a certain man of the sons of the prophets said to his neighbor, "By the word of the LORD, please strike me!" And the man refused to strike him.
36. And he said to him, "Because you have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as you have departed from me, a lion shall kill you." And as soon as he had departed from him, a lion found him and killed him.
37. And he found another man and said, "Please strike me." And the man struck him, so that he wounded him in striking him.
38. And the prophet went and waited for the king by the wayside, and disguised himself with ashes upon his face.
39. And as the king passed by, it came to pass he cried to the king. And he said, "Your servant went out into the middle of the battle, and, behold, a man turned aside and brought a man to me and said, 'Keep this man. If he is missing by any means, then your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent of silver.'"
40. Then it came to pass as your servant was busy here and there, he was gone!" And the king of Israel said to him, "So shall your judgment be; you yourself have decided it."
41. And he hurried and took the ashes away from his face. And the king of Israel saw that he was one of the prophets.
42. And he said to him, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because you have let go out of your hand a man whom I devoted to destruction, therefore your life shall be for his life, and your people for his people.'"
43. And the king of Israel went to his house heavy and displeased, and came to Samaria.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

1. Now it came to pass after these things, Naboth of Jezreel had a vineyard in Jezreel, near the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.
2. And Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying, "Give me your vineyard so that I may have it for a garden of herbs because it is near my house. And I will give you a better vineyard than it. Or, if it seems good to you, I will give you the worth of it in silver."
3. And Naboth said to Ahab, "Far be it from me, by the LORD, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers to you."
4. And Ahab came to his house heavy and displeased because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him, for he had said, "I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers." And he lay upon his bed and turned away his face, and would not eat food.
5. So his wife Jezebel came to him and said to him, "Why is your spirit so sad that you are not eating food?"
6. And he said to her, “Because I spoke to Naboth of Jezreel and said to him, ‘Give me your vineyard for silver. Or else, if it pleases you, I will give you another vineyard for it.’ And he answered, ‘I will not give you my vineyard.’

7. And his wife Jezebel said to him, “Do you now rule over Israel? Rise up, eat food, and let your heart be good. I will give you the vineyard of Naboth of Jezreel.”

8. And she wrote letters in Ahab’s name, and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters to the elders and to the nobles in his city, dwelling with Naboth.

9. And she wrote in the letter, saying, “Proclaim a fast and set Naboth on high among the people.

10. And set two men, sons of Belial, before him to bear witness against him, saying, ‘You blasphemed God and the king.’ Then carry him out and stone him so that he may die.”

11. And the men of his city, the elders and the nobles who lived in his city did as Jezebel had sent to them, as it was written in the letters which she had sent to them.

12. They proclaimed a fast and set Naboth on high among the people.

13. And there came in two men, base fellows, and sat before him. And the base men witnessed against him, against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, “Naboth blasphemed God and the king.” And they carried him out of the city and stoned him with stones so that he died.

14. And they sent to Jezebel, saying, “Naboth is stoned and is dead.”

15. Now it came to pass when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned and was dead, Jezebel said to Ahab, “Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth of Jezreel, which he refused to give you for silver, for Naboth is not alive, but dead.”

16. And it came to pass when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab rose up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth of Jezreel to take possession of it.

17. And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

18. “Arise, go down to meet Ahab the king of Israel in Samaria. Behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth where he has gone to possess it.

19. And you shall speak to him, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Have you killed and also taken possession?”’ And you shall speak to him saying, ‘Thus says the LORD, “In the place where the dogs licked the blood of Naboth, dogs shall lick your blood, even yours.”’

20. And Ahab said to Elijah, “Have you found me, O my enemy?” And he answered, “I have found you because you have sold yourself to work evil in the sight of the LORD.

21. ‘Behold, I will bring evil upon you and will utterly sweep you away, and will cut off from Ahab him who pisses against the wall, both bond and free in Israel.

22. And I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the provocation with which you have provoked Me to anger, and made Israel to sin.’

23. And the LORD also spoke of Jezebel saying, ‘The dogs shall eat Jezebel by the wall of Jezreel.’

24. He who dies of Ahab in the city, the dogs shall eat. And he who dies in the field, the birds of the air shall eat.”

25. But there was none like Ahab, who sold himself to work wickedness in the sight of the L ORD, whom Jezebel his wife stirred up.

26. And he did very abominably in following idols, according to all that the Amorites did, whom the L ORD cast out before the children of Israel.

27. Then it came to pass when Ahab heard these words, he tore his clothes and put sackcloth upon his flesh, and fasted, and lay in sackcloth and walked softly.

28. And the word of the L ORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

29. “Do you see how Ahab humbles himself before Me? Because he humbles himself before Me, I will not bring the evil in his days. But in his son’s days I will bring the evil upon his house.”

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. And they continued three years; there was no war between Syria and Israel.

2. Now it came to pass in the third year, Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to see the king of Israel.

3. And the king of Israel said to his servants, “Do you not know that Ramoth in Gilead is ours, and we are quiet and do not take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?"

4. And he said to Jehoshaphat, “Will you go with me to battle to Ramoth in Gilead?” And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “I am as you; my people as your people, my horses as your horses.”

5. And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Please inquire at the word of the LORD today.”

6. And the king of Israel gathered the prophets, about four hundred men, and said to them, “Shall I go against Ramoth in Gilead to battle, or shall I hold back?” And they said, “Go up! For the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.”

7. And Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not here a prophet of the LORD besides that we might inquire of Him?”

8. And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is still one man, Micaiah the son of Imlah, by whom we may inquire of the LORD. But I hate him, for he does not prophesy good concerning me, but evil.” And Jehoshaphat said, “Let not the king say so.”

9. And the king of Israel called an officer and said, “Hurry and bring Micaiah the son of Imlah.”

10. And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah each sat on his throne, having put on their robes on a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria. And all the prophets prophesied before them.

11. And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made horns of iron for himself. And he said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘With these you shall push the Syrians until you have crushed them.’ ”

12. And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, “Go up to Ramoth in Gilead and prosper, for the LORD shall deliver it into the king’s hands.”

13. And the messenger that had gone to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying, “Behold now, the words of the prophets are good to the king with one mouth. Please let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak good.”

14. And Micaiah said, “As the LORD lives, what the LORD says to me, that I will speak.”

15. So he came to the king. And the king said to him, “Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth in Gilead to battle, or shall we hold off?” And he answered him, “Go and prosper, for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.”

16. And the king said to him, “How many times shall I adjure you that you tell me nothing but what is true in the name of the LORD?”

17. And he said, “I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, like sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said, ‘These have no master. Let each man return to his house in peace.’ ”

18. And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Did I not tell you that he would prophesy no good concerning me, but evil?”

19. And he said, “Hear therefore the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, and all the host of heaven standing by Him on His right hand and on His left.

20. And the LORD said, ‘Who shall entice Ahab that he may go up and fall at Ramoth in Gilead?’ And one said this way, and another said that way.

21. And there came forth a spirit and stood before the LORD and said, ‘I will entice him.’

22. And the LORD said to him, ‘With what?’ And he said, ‘I will go forth and will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ And He said, ‘You shall entice him and succeed also. Go forth and do so.’

23. And now, behold, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets, and the LORD has spoken evil concerning you.”

24. But Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, “Which way did the Spirit of the LORD go from me to speak to you?”

25. And Micaiah said, “Behold, you shall see in that day when you shall go into an inner room to hide yourself.”

26. And the king of Israel said, “Take Micaiah and carry him back to Amon the governor of the city, and to Joash the king’s son,

27. And say, ‘Thus says the king, “Put this one in the prison and feed him with the bread of affliction and the water of affliction, until I come in peace.”’ ”

28. And Micaiah said, “If you return at all in peace, the LORD has not spoken by
I Kings 22

29. And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth in Gilead.
30. And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will disguise myself and enter into the battle, but you put on your robes.” And the king of Israel disguised himself and went into the battle.
31. But the king of Syria commanded his thirty-two commanders of the chariots, saying, “Do not fight with the small nor great ones, but with the king of Israel.”
32. And it came to pass when the commanders of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, “Surely it is the king of Israel.” And they turned aside to fight against him, but Jehoshaphat cried out.
33. Then it came to pass when the commanders of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him.
34. And a man drew a bow at random and struck the king of Israel between the joints of the breastplate. And he said to the driver of his chariot, “Turn your hand and carry me out of the battle, for I am wounded.”
35. And the battle increased that day. And the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Syrians, and died at evening. And the blood ran out of the wound into the midst of the chariot.
36. And there went a cry throughout the army when the sun was going down, saying, “Each to his city, and each to his land.”
37. And the king died and came to Samaria. And they buried the king in Samaria.
38. Then as one washed the chariot in the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood, and they washed his armor, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke.
39. And the rest of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory house which he built, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
40. And Ahab lay with his fathers. And his son Ahaziah reigned in his place.
41. And Jehoshaphat, the son of Asa, began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel.
42. Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he began to reign. And he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi.
43. And he walked in all the ways of Asa his father. He did not turn aside from it, doing right in the eyes of the LORD, but the high places were not taken away, for the people offered and burned incense yet in the high places.
44. And Jehoshaphat made peace with the kings of Israel.
45. And the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might which he showed, and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
46. And the rest of the sodomites which remained in the days of his father Asa, he took out of the land.
47. There was then no king in Edom; only a deputy was king.
48. Jehoshaphat had ten ships of Tarshish to go to Ophir for gold, but they did not go, for the ships were wrecked at Ezion Geber.
49. And Ahaziah the son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, “Let my servants go with your servants in the ships.” But Jehoshaphat would not.
50. And Jehoshaphat lay with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. And his son Jehoram reigned in his place.
51. Ahaziah the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah. And he reigned two years over Israel.
52. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
53. For he served Baal and worshiped him, and provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger, according to all that his father had done.
CHAPTER ONE

1. Then Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab.
2. And Ahaziah fell down through a lattice in his upper room in Samaria, and was sick. And he sent messengers and said to them, “Go, ask of Baal-Zebub the god of Ekron whether I shall recover of this disease.”
3. But the angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, “Arise! Go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria and say to them, ‘Is it because there is no God in Israel that you go to ask of Baal-Zebub the god of Ekron?’
4. And therefore thus says the LORD, ‘You shall not come from that bed on which you have gone up, but shall surely die.’ And Elijah left.
5. Then the messengers went back to the king. And he said, “Why have you now come back?”
6. And they said to him, “A man came up to meet us and said to us, ‘Go, return again to the king who sent you, and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, ‘Is it because there is no God in Israel that you go to ask of Baal-Zebub the god of Ekron? Therefore, you shall not come down from that bed on which you have gone up, but shall surely die.’’” And Elijah left.
7. And he said to them, “What kind of man was he who came up to meet you and told you these words?”
8. And they answered him, “He was a hairy man and was bound with a girdle of leather around his loins.” And he said, “He is Elijah the Tishbite.”
9. So he sent to him a commander of fifty with his fifty. And he went up to him. Then, behold, he sat on the top of a hill. And he spoke to him, “Man of God! The king has said, ‘Come down.’”
10. And Elijah answered and said to the commander of fifty, “If I am a man of God, let fire come down from the heavens and burn up you and your fifty.” And the fire of God came down from the heavens and burned up him and his fifty.
11. Finally he sent again a third commander of fifty and his fifty. And the third commander of fifty came up and fell on his knees before Elijah, and begged him, and said to him, “Man of God, I pray you, let my life and the life of these fifty, your servants, be precious in your sight.
12. Behold, fire has come down from the heavens and burned up the first two commanders of fifty with their fifties. Therefore now let my life be precious in your sight.”
13. And he died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. And Jehoram reigned in his place, in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, because he had no son.
14. And the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

CHAPTER TWO

1. And it came to pass when the LORD was about to take Elijah up into heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah went with Elisha from Gilgal.
2. And Elijah said to Elisha, “Please stay here, for the LORD has sent me to Bethel.” And Elisha said, “As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you.” So they went down to Bethel.
3. And the sons of the prophets at Bethel came out to meet Elisha and said to him,
“Do you know that the LORD will take away your master from being your head today?” And he said, “Yes, I know. Keep silent.”
4. And Elijah said to him, “Elisha, please stay here, for the LORD has sent me to Jericho.” And he said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you.” So they went to Jericho.
5. And the sons of the prophets at Jericho came to Elisha and said to him, “Do you know that the LORD will take your master from being your head today?” And he answered, “Yes, I know. Keep silent.”
6. And Elijah said to him, “Please stay here, for the LORD has sent me to Jordan.” And he said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you.” And the two of them went on.
7. And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went on and stood afar off across from them. And both of them stood by the Jordan.
8. And Elijah took his mantle and rolled it up, and struck the waters. And they were divided to the one side and to the other side, so that both of them crossed over on dry ground.
9. And it came to pass when they had gone over, Elijah said to Elisha, “Ask what I shall do for you before I am taken away from you.” And Elisha said, “Please, let a double portion of your Spirit be upon me.”
10. And he said, “You have asked a hard thing, but if you see me taken from you, it shall be so to you; but if not, it shall not be.”
11. Then it came to pass as they went on and talked, behold, a chariot of fire and horses of fire came, and they separated between them both. And Elijah went up in a tempest into heaven.
12. And Elisha saw, and he cried, “My father, my father, the chariot of Israel and its horsemen!” And he saw him no more. And he took hold of his clothes and tore them in two pieces.
13. He also took up the mantle of Elijah which had fallen from him, and went back and stood by the bank of Jordan.
14. And he took the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him, and struck the waters, and said, “Where is the LORD God of Elijah, even He?” When he also hit the waters, then they parted to the one side and to the other side. And Elisha went over.
15. And when the sons of the prophets across in Jericho saw him, they said, “The Spirit of Elijah rests upon Elisha!” And they came to meet him and bowed to the ground before him.
16. And they said to him, “Behold now, there are with your servants fifty strong men. Please let them go and seek your master, lest the Spirit of the LORD has taken him up and cast him upon some mountain, or into some valley.” And he said, “You shall not send.”
17. But when they urged him until he was ashamed, he said, “Send.” And they sent fifty men. And they looked for three days, but did not find him.
18. And they returned to him, and he was staying in Jericho. And he said to them, “Did I not say to you, ‘Do not go?’ ”
19. And the men of the city said to Elisha, “Behold, please, the location of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees. But the waters are bad, and the ground is barren.”
20. And he said, “Bring me a new jar and put salt in it.” And they brought it to him.
21. And he went forth to the spring of the waters and threw the salt in there, and said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘I have healed these waters. There shall not be any more death or barrenness from there.’ ”
22. And the waters were healed, even to this day, according to the saying of Elisha which he spoke.
23. And he went up from there to Bethel. And while he was going up on the highway, a gang of youths came out from the city and mocked him, and said to him, “Go up, bald head! Go up, bald head!”
24. So he turned around and declared them vile in the name of the LORD. Then two she-bears came out of the woods and tore forty-two of them.
25. And he went from there to Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

CHAPTER THREE

1. And Jehoram the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years.
2. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, but not like his father and his mother; for he put away the image of Baal that his father had made.
3. But he clung to the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat who made Israel to sin. He did not depart from them.
4. And Meshal king of Moab was a sheepmaster, and paid to the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs, and a hundred thousand rams with the wool.
5. Now it came to pass when Ahab was dead, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.
6. And King Jehoram went out of Samaria at the same time and assembled all Israel.
7. And he went and sent to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, saying, “The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me against Moab to battle?” And he said, “I will go up. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses.”
8. And he said, “Which way shall we go up?” And he answered, “The way through the wilderness of Edom.”
9. And the king of Israel and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom went. And they went a roundabout way for seven days’ journey, but there was no water for the army, and for the livestock that followed them.
10. And the king of Israel said, “Alas! that the LORD has called these three kings together to deliver them into the hand of Moab!”
11. And Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not here a prophet of the LORD that we may ask of the LORD by him?” And one of the king of Israel’s servants answered and said, “Here is Elisha the son of Shaphat who poured water on the hands of Elijah.”
12. And Jehoshaphat said, “The word of the LORD is with him.” And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went down to him.
13. And Elisha said to the king of Israel, “What do I have to do with you? Go to the prophets of your father and to the prophets of your mother.” And the king of Israel said to him, “No, for the LORD has called these three kings together to deliver them into the hand of Moab.”
14. And Elisha said, “As the LORD of hosts lives, before Whom I stand, surely if it were not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, I would not look toward you nor see you.
15. And now bring me a minstrel.” And it came to pass when the minstrel played, the hand of the LORD came upon him.
16. And he said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Make this valley full of ditches,’
17. For thus says the LORD, ‘You shall not see wind, nor shall you see rain. Still that valley shall be filled with water, so that you may drink, both you and your cattle, and your animals.’
18. And this is a light thing in the sight of the LORD. He will also deliver the Moabites into your hand.
19. And you shall strike every fortified city and every choice city. And you shall cut down every good tree and stop all wells of water, and mar every good piece of land with stones.”
20. Now it came to pass in the morning when the grain offering was offered, behold, water came by the way of Edom, and the country was filled with water.
21. When they rose up early in the morning, and the sun shone upon the water, the Moabites saw the water on the other side red like blood.
22. And they said, “This is blood. The kings are surely slain, and they have stricken one another. And now, Moab, to the spoil!”
23. And they came to the camp of Israel, and the Israelites rose up and struck the Moabites, so that they fled before them. And they entered their land and struck Moab.
24. And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too strong for him, he took with him seven hundred men who drew swords in order to break through to the king of Edom, but they could not.
25. And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too strong for him, he took with him seven hundred men who drew swords in order to break through to the king of Edom, but they could not.
26. And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too strong for him, he took with him seven hundred men who drew swords in order to break through to the king of Edom, but they could not.
27. So he took his oldest son, who would have reigned in his place, and offered him for a burnt offering upon the wall. And there was great anger against Israel. And they left him, and returned to the land.
CHAPTER FOUR

1. And a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets cried to Elisha, saying, “Your servant my husband is dead. And you know that your servant feared the LORD. And the lender has come to take my two children to himself for slaves.”

2. And Elisha said to her, “What shall I do for you? Tell me, what do you have in the house?” And she said, “Your handmaid has not a thing in the house except a pot of oil.”

3. And he said, “Go, borrow vessels for yourself from your neighbors, empty vessels. Do not let them be few.

4. And you shall go in and shut the door upon you and your sons. And you shall pour out all those vessels. And you shall set aside the full ones.”

5. And she went from him and shut the door upon her and upon her sons. They brought vessels to her, and she poured out.

6. And it came to pass when the vessels were full, she said to her son, “Bring me another vessel.” And he said to her, “There is not a vessel left.” And the oil stopped.

7. Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, “Go, sell the oil and pay your debt, and you and your sons shall live on the rest.”

8. And the day came when Elisha passed over to Shunem. And a wealthy woman was there. And she persuaded him to eat bread. So whenever he passed by that way, he turned in there to eat bread.

9. And she said to her husband, “Behold now, I see that this is a holy man of God who passes by us continually.

10. Please, let us make a small room in the upper chamber. And let us set a bed for him there, and a table, and a stool, and a lampstand. So whenever he comes to us, he can go in there.”

11. Now the day came when he came there, and he turned into the room and lay there.

12. And he said to Gehazi his servant, “Call this Shunammite.” And he called her, and she stood before him.

13. And he said to him, “Now speak to her and say, ‘Behold, you have been thoughtful for us with all this care. What is to be done for you? Do you want me to speak to the king or to the commander of the army?’” And she answered, “I dwell among my own people.”

14. And he said, “What then is to be done for her?” And Gehazi answered, “Truly, she has no child, and her husband is old.”

15. And he said, “Call her!” And he called her, and she stood in the door.

16. And he said, “At this time, according to the time of life, you shall embrace a son.” And she said, “No, my lord, O man of God, do not lie to your handmaid.”

17. So the woman conceived and bore a son at that time that Elisha had said to her, according to the time of life.

18. And the boy grew, and the day came that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19. And he said to his father, “My head, my head!” And he said to a servant, “Carry him to his mother.”

20. And he carried him and brought him to his mother. And he sat on her knees until noon and died.

21. And she went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him and went out.

22. And she called to her husband and said, “Please send me one of the young men and one of the donkeys so that I may run to the man of God and return again.”

23. And she said, “Did I desire a son to-day? It is neither new moon nor Sabbath.” And she said, “It is well.”

24. And she saddled a donkey and said to her servant, “Drive and go forward! Do not hold back your riding for me unless I tell you.”

25. And she went and came to the man of God to the hill, and she caught him by the feet. And Gehazi came near to push her away. And the man of God said, “Let her alone, for her soul is troubled within her. And the LORD has hidden it from me and has not told me.”

26. And she said, “Did I desire a son from my lord? Did I not say, ‘Do not deceive me?’”

29. Then he said to Gehazi, “Bind up your loins and take my staff in your hand, and go. If you meet any man, do not greet him, but if any greet you, do not answer him again. And lay my staff upon the face of the child.”

30. And the mother of the child said, “As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you.” And he arose and followed her.

31. And Gehazi passed on before them and laid the staff upon the face of the child. But there was no voice nor hearing. And he turned back to meet him and told him, saying, “The boy has not awakened.”

32. And Elisha had come to the house. And behold, the boy was dead, and laid him, saying, “The boy has not awakened.”

33. And Gehazi passed on before them and beheld, the boy was dead, and laid out upon his bed.

34. And he went up and lay upon the boy. And the flesh of the boy became warm.

35. And he returned and walked in the house to and fro. And he went up and lay upon the boy, and put his mouth upon his mouth and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands. And he stretched himself upon the boy. And the flesh of the boy became warm.

36. And he called Gehazi and said, “Call this Shunammite.” And he called her, and she came in to him. And he said, “Take up your son!”

37. And she went in and fell at his feet and bowed to the ground, and took up her son, and went out.

38. And Elisha came again to Gilgal. And there was a famine in the land. And the sons of the prophets were sitting before him. And he said to his servant, “Put on the great pot and boil pottage for the sons of the prophets.”

39. And one went out into the field to gather herbs. And he found a wild vine of the field and gathered gourds from it in the field. And with the lap of his garment full, he came in and shredded them into the pot of pottage, for they did not know what they were.

40. So they poured out for the men to eat. And it came to pass as they were eating of the pottage, they cried out and said, “O man of God, death is in the pot!” And they could not eat.

41. And he said, “Then bring meal.” And he cast it into the pot. And he said, “Pour out for the people, and they may eat.” And there was no evil thing in the pot.

42. And a man came from Baal Shalisha and brought the man of God bread from the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley and full ears of grain in his sack. And he said, “Give to the people that they may eat.”

43. And his servant said, “What? Should I set this before a hundred men?” He said again, “Give to the people so that they may eat, for thus says the LORD, ‘They shall eat and have some of it left over.’”

44. And he set it before them, and they ate, and had some of it left over, according to the word of the LORD.

CHAPTER FIVE

1. Now Naaman, commander of the army of the king of Syria, was a great and exalted man with his master because the LORD had given deliverance to Syria by him. He was also a mighty man, but a leper.

2. And the Syrians had gone out by companies and captured a young girl out of the land of Israel. And she waited on Naaman’s wife.

3. And she said to her mistress, “I wish my lord were with the prophet in Samaria, for he would heal him of his leprosy!”

4. When Naaman came in, he told his lord, saying, “Thus and so said the girl from the land of Israel.”

5. And the king of Syria said, “Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel.” And he departed and took with him ten talents of silver and six thousand shekels of gold, and ten changes of clothing.

6. And he came in with the letter to the king of Israel, saying, “And now when this letter has come to you, behold, I have sent Naaman my servant to you. And you shall heal him of his leprosy.”

7. And it came to pass when the king of Israel read the letter, he tore his clothes and said, “Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man sends to me to recover a man from his leprosy? For consider now, and see, for he is seeking a quarrel with me.”

8. Now it came to pass when Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his clothes, he sent to the king, saying, "Why have you torn your clothes? Let him now come to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel."

9. And Naaman came with his horses and with his chariot, and stood at the door of the house of Elisha.

10. Then Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, "Go and wash in Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored to you, and you shall be clean."

11. But Naaman was angry, and went away. And he said, "Behold, I said within myself, 'He will surely come out to me and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God and strike his hand over the place and heal the leper.'

12. Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? May I not wash in them, and be clean?" And he turned and went away in a rage.

13. Then his servants came near and spoke to him and said, "My father, if the prophet had told you to do a great thing, would you not have done it? How much rather then, when he says to you, 'Wash and be clean'?

14. Then he went down and dipped seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God. And his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little boy, and he was clean.

15. And he returned to the man of God, he and all his company. And he came and stood before him. And he said, "Behold, now I know that there is no God on all the earth, but in Israel. So accept now a present from your servant."

16. But he said, "As the LORD lives, before Whom I stand, I will receive none." And he urged him to take it, but he refused.

17. And Naaman said, "Please, shall there not then be given to your servant two mules' burden of earth? For your servant will from now on offer neither burnt offering nor sacrifice to other gods, but to the LORD.

18. In this thing may the LORD pardon your servant, that when my master goes to the house of Rimmon to worship there, and he is supported by my hand, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, may the LORD pardon your servant in this thing."

19. And he said to him, "Go in peace." And he went away from him a little way.

20. And Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, "Behold, my master has spared Naaman the Syrian in not receiving at his hand that which he brought. But, as the LORD lives, I will run after him and take something from him."

21. And Gehazi followed after Naaman. And Naaman saw him running after him, and descended down from the chariot to meet him. And he said, "Is all well?"

22. And he said, "All is well. My master has sent me, saying, 'Behold this now, two young men from Mount Ephraim of the sons of the prophets have come to me. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of clothing.'"

23. And Naaman said, "Be content, take two talents." And he urged him and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of clothing. And he laid them upon two of his servants. And they carried them before him.

24. And he came to the hill, and he took the things from their hand and stowed them in the house. And he let the men go, and they departed.

25. And he went in and stood before his master. And Elisha said to him, "From where did you come, Gehazi?" And he said, "Your servant did not go here or there."

26. And he said to him, "Did not my heart go with you when the man turned again from his chariot to meet you? Is it a time to receive silver and to receive clothing and olive yards and vineyards and sheep and oxen and menservants and maidservants?

27. Now the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your seed forever." And he went out from his presence as leprous as snow.

CHAPTER SIX

1. And the sons of the prophets said to Elisha, "Behold now, the place where we live with you is too small for us.

2. Please let us go to Jordan. And let each man take a beam from there. And let us make a place where we may dwell.” And he answered, “Go.”
3. And one said, “Be content, please, and go with your servants.” And he answered them, “I will go.”
4. And he went with them. And they came to Jordan, and they cut down trees.
5. Now it came to pass as one was felling a log, the ax head fell into the water. And he cried and said, “Alas, master, for it was borrowed!”
6. And the man of God said, “Where did it fall?” And he showed him the place. And he cut down a stick and threw it in there, and made the iron float.
7. Then he said, “Take it up to yourself.” And he put out his hand and took it.
8. And the king of Syria warred against Israel and took counsel with his servants, saying, “In such and such a place shall be my camp.”
9. And the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying, “Beware that you do not pass such a place, for the Syrians have come down there.”
10. Then the king of Israel sent to the place of which the man of God told him and warned him, and saved himself there, not once nor twice.
11. So the heart of the king of Syria was enraged for this thing. And he called his servants and said to them, “Will you not show me which of us is on the side of the king of Israel?”
12. And one of his servants said, “None, my lord, O king, but Elisha the prophet, who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom.”
13. And he said, “Go and spy where he is so that I may send and bring him.” And it was told him, saying, “Behold, he is in Dothan.”
14. And he sent there horses and chariots and a great army. And they came by night and surrounded the city.
15. And the servant of the man of God arose early and went out. And, behold, an army surrounded the city, and horses and chariots. And his servant said to him, “Alas, my master! What shall we do?”
16. And he answered, “Do not fear, for those with us are more than those with them.”
17. And Elisha prayed and said, “I pray You, LORD, open his eyes so that he may see.” And the LORD opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw. And behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha.
18. And when the Syrians came down to him Elisha prayed to the LORD and said, “I pray You, strike this people with blindness.” And He struck them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.
19. And Elisha said to them, “This is not the way, nor is this the city. Follow me and I will bring you to the man whom you seek.” But he led them to Samaria.
20. And it came to pass when they came into Samaria, Elisha said, “LORD, open the eyes of these men so that they may see.” And the LORD opened their eyes, and they saw. And behold, they were in the middle of Samaria.
21. And when he saw them, the king of Israel said to Elisha, “My father, shall I strike them? Shall I strike them?”
22. And he answered, “You shall not strike them. Would you strike those whom you have taken captive with your sword and with your bow? Set bread and water before them so that they may eat and drink, and go to their master.”
23. And he prepared a great feast for them. And when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. And the bands of Syria came no more into the land of Israel.
24. And it came to pass after this Ben-Hadad king of Syria gathered all his army and went up and lay siege to Samaria.
25. And there was a great famine in Samaria. And, behold, they sieged it until a donkey’s head was sold for eighty pieces of silver, and the fourth part of a cab of dove’s dung for five silver pieces.
26. And as the king of Israel was passing by upon the wall, a woman cried to him, saying, “Help, my lord, O king!”
27. And he said, “If the LORD does not help you from where shall I help you? Out of the barn floor, or out of the wine-press?”
28. And the king said to her, “What ills you?” And she said, “This woman said to me, ‘Give your son so that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.’”
29. And we boiled my son and ate him. And I said to her on the other day, ‘Give your son so that we may eat him.’ And she has hidden her son.”
30. And it came to pass when the king heard the words of the woman, he tore his clothes. And he passed by upon the wall, and the people looked, and, behold, he had sackcloth inside upon his flesh.

31. And he said, “May God do so, and more also to me if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat shall stand on him this day,”

32. But Elisha sat in his house, and the elders sat with him. And the king sent a man from before him. But before the messenger came to Elisha, he said to the elders, “Do you see how this son of a murderer has sent to take away my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door and hold him fast at the door. Is not the sound of his master’s feet behind him?”

33. While he still talked with them, behold, the messenger came down to him, for the king said, “Behold, this evil is from the LORD. Why should I wait for the LORD any longer?”

CHAPTER SEVEN

1. Then Elisha said, “Hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the LORD, ‘Tomorrow about this time a measure of fine flour will be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.’”

2. And the third officer on whose hand the king leaned answered the man of God, and said, “Behold, if the LORD would make windows in heaven, then this thing might be.” And he said, “Behold, you shall see with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

3. And four men, lepers, were at the gate entrance. And they said to one another, “Why do we sit here until we die?

4. If we say, ‘We will enter into the city,’ then the famine is in the city, and we shall die there. And if we still sit here, we also shall die. Now therefore come and let us fall to the army of the Syrians. If they save us alive, then we shall live. And if they kill us, we shall only die.”

5. So they rose up in the twilight to go to the camp of the Syrians. And when they had come to the outermost part of the camp of Syria, behold, no man was there!

6. For the LORD had made the army of the Syrians to hear a noise of chariots and a noise of horses, the noise of a great army. And they said to one another, “Lo, the king of Israel has hired the kings of the Hittites and the kings of the Egyptians against us to come upon us.”

7. Therefore they arose and fled in the twilight and left their tents and their horses and their donkeys and the camp, as it was, and fled for their lives.

8. And when these lepers came to the outermost part of the camp, they went into one tent and ate and drank, and carried silver and gold and clothing from there, and went and hid it. And they came again and entered into another tent and carried from there, and went and hid it.

9. And they said to one another, “We are not doing right. This day is a day of good news, and we hold our peace. If we stay until the morning light, some punishment will come upon us. Now therefore come, so that we may go and tell the king’s household.”

10. And they came and called to the porter of the city. And they told them, saying, “We came to the camp of the Syrians, and, behold, no man was there, neither voice of man, but horses tied, and donkeys tied, and the tents as they were.”

11. And he called the porters. And they told it to the king’s household.

12. And the king arose in the night and said to his servants, “I will now show you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we are hungry, and they have gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, ‘When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive and get into the city.’”

13. And one of his servants answered and said, “Please let some take five of the horses which remain, which are left in the city; behold, they are already like all the multitude of Israel that are left in it; behold, they are even now as all the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed. So we will send and see.”

14. And they took two chariots with horses. And the king sent after the army of the Syrians, saying, “Go and see.”

15. And they went after them to Jordan. And, lo, all the way was full of clothing and vessels which the Syrians had thrown away in their haste. And the messengers returned and told the king.

16. Then the people went out and plundered the tents of the Syrians. Now it came to pass, a measure of fine flour was... sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the LORD.

17. And the king appointed the third officer over the gate, the one on whose hand he had leaned. And the people trampled upon him at the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, who spoke when the king came down to him.

18. So it came to pass according to the saying of the man of God to the king, saying, “Two measures of barley for a shekel, and a measure of fine flour for a shekel: This shall be tomorrow about this time in the gate of Samaria.”

19. And the third officer had answered the man of God and said, “Behold, if the LORD should make windows in heaven, then such a thing might be.” And he said, “Behold, you shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

20. And it happened to him because the people trampled upon him at the gate, and he died.

CHAPTER EIGHT

1. Now Elisha spoke to the woman whose son he had restored to life, saying, “Arise and go, you and your household, and live wherever you can live, for the LORD has called for a famine. And it shall also come upon the land seven years.”

2. And the woman arose and did according to the word of the man of God. And she went with her household, and lived in the land of the Philistines seven years.

3. Then it came to pass at the end of seven years, the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines. And she went forth to cry to the king for her house and for her land.

4. And the king was talking with Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying, “Please tell me all the great things which Elisha has done.”

5. And it came to pass as he was telling the king how he had restored a dead body to life, behold, the woman whose son he had restored to life cried to the king for the house and for her land. And Gehazi said, “My lord, O, king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.”

6. And when the king asked the woman, she told him, so the king appointed to her a certain official saying, “Restore all that was hers, and all the fruits of the field since the day when she left the land, even until now.”

7. And Elisha came to Damascus. And Ben-Hadad the king of Syria was sick. And they told him, saying, “The man of God has come here.”

8. And the king said to Hazael, “Take a present in your hand and go to meet the man of God and ask of the LORD by him, saying, ‘Shall I recover of this disease?’ ”

9. And Hazael went to meet him and took a present with him, even of every good thing of Damascus, forty camels’ burden, and came and stood before him, and said, “Your servant Ben-Hadad, king of Syria, has sent me to you, saying, ‘Shall I recover from this disease?’ ”

10. And Elisha said to him, “Go and say to him, ‘You shall certainly recover.’ But the LORD has shown me that he shall surely die.”

11. And he set his face steadfastly on him until he was ashamed. And the man of God wept.

12. And Hazael said, “Why does my lord weep?” And he answered, “Because I know the evil that you will do to the children of Israel. You will set their strongholds on fire, and you will kill their young men with the sword, and will dash their children, and rip up their women with child.”

13. And Hazael said, “What! Is your servant a dog that he should do this great thing?” And Elisha answered, “The LORD has shown me that you shall be king over Syria.”

14. And he departed from Elisha and came to his master, who said to him, “What did Elisha say to you?” And he answered, “He told me you would surely recover.”

15. And it came to pass on the next day he took a thick cloth and dipped it in water, and spread it on his face so that he died. And Hazael reigned in his place.

16. And in the fifth year of Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel, Jehoshaphat being then king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah began to reign.

17. And he was thirty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

18. And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab did, for the daughter of Ahab was his wife. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD.

19. Yet the LORD would not destroy Judah for David His servant’s sake as He promised him to give him a light to his children forever.

20. In his days Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah and made a king over themselves.

21. And Jehoram went up to Jezreel to the house of Ahijah, where was Joram the son of Ahab sick.

22. And the sons of the prophets and said to him, “Bind up your loins and take this box of oil in your hand, and go to Ramoth in Gilead.

23. And Elisha the prophet called one of the sons of the prophets and said to him, ‘Hear what the LORD says,’ and he said, ‘What shall I say?’

24. He said to him, ‘You shall hear but say not.’

25. And the young man went, the servant of the prophet, to Ramoth in Gilead.

26. And when the commander of the army heard say, ‘Thus says the LORD, “I have anointed you king over Israel.”’

27. And he said, “For which of us?” And he said, “For you, commander.”

28. And he arose and went into the house. And he poured the oil on his head and said to him, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘I have anointed you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel.’

29. And you shall strike the house of Ahab your master so that I may avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD at the hand of Jezebel,

30. For the whole house of Ahab shall perish. And I will cut off from Ahab everyone that pisses against the wall, both bond and free.

31. And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah.

32. And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the vicinity of Jezreel, and none shall be buried there to bury her.’ ”

33. And he opened the door, and fled, and shall not wait.”

34. And he came in, and, behold, the commanders of the army were sitting. And he said, “I have a message for you, commander.” And Jehu said, “For which of us?” And he said, “For you, commander.”

35. And he arose and went into the house. And he poured the oil on his head and said to him, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘I have anointed you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel.’

36. And you shall strike the house of Ahab your master so that I may avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD at the hand of Jezebel,

37. For the whole house of Ahab shall perish. And I will cut off from Ahab everyone that pisses against the wall, both bond and free.

38. And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah.

39. And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the vicinity of Jezreel, and none shall be there to bury her.’ ”

40. And he opened the door and fled.

41. And he said to them, “You know the man and his babble.”

42. And they said, “It is false. Tell us now!” And he said, “Thus and so he spoke to me, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD, “I have anointed you king over Israel.”’ ”

43. And they hurried and each man took his garment and put it under him on the top of the stairs, and blew with ram’s horns, saying, “Jehu is king.”
14. And Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi plotted against Joram. And Joram was keeping watch at Ramoth in Gilead, he and all Israel before Hazael, king of Syria.

15. And King Joram returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him when he fought with Hazael the king of Syria. And Joram said, “If it is in your minds, then let no one leave or escape to go to tell it in Jezreel.”

16. And Jehu rode in the chariot and went to Jezreel, for Joram lay there. And Ahaziah king of Judah had come down to see Joram.

17. And a watchman stood on the tower in Jezreel. And he saw the company of Jehu as he came, and said, “I see a company.” And Joram said, “Take a horseman and send to meet them, and let him say, ‘Is it peace?’ ”

18. Then the rider on horseback went to meet him and said, “Thus says the king, ‘Is it peace?’ ” And Jehu said, “What do you have to do with peace? Turn behind me!” And the watchman reported, saying, “The messenger came to them, but he does not return.”

19. And he sent a second rider on horseback who came to them and said, “Thus says the king, ‘Is it peace?’ ” And Jehu said, “What do you have to do with peace? Turn behind me!”

20. And the watchman reported, saying, “He came up to them, but does not return. And the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he drives furiously.”

21. Then Joram said, “Make ready.” And his chariot was made ready. And Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his own chariot, and they went out against Jehu, and met him in the portion of Naboth of Jezreel.

22. Now it came to pass when Joram saw Jehu, he said, “Is it peace, Jehu?” And he answered, “What peace, so long as the harlotries of your mother Jezebel and her witchcrafts are so many?”

23. And Joram turned his hands and fled and said to Ahaziah, “Treachery, Ahaziah!”

24. And Jehu drew a bow and struck Joram between his arms, and the arrow went through his heart, and he sank down in his chariot.

25. And he said to Bidkar his commander, “Take him up and throw him in the portion of the field of Naboth of Jezreel; for, remember, you and I rode together after Ahab his father, and the LORD laid this burden upon him:

26. ‘Surely, yesterday I have seen the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons,’ says the LORD, ‘and I will repay you in this plot of ground,’ says the LORD. And now, take him and throw him onto the plot of ground, according to the word of the LORD.”

27. And when Ahaziah the king of Judah saw, he fled by the way of the garden house. And Jehu followed after him and said, “Strike him also in the chariot, at the going up to Gur that is near Ibleam.” And he fled to Megiddo and died there.

28. And his servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his father’s city of David.

29. And in the eleventh year of Joram the son of Ahab, Ahaziah began to reign over Judah.

30. And Jehu had come to Jezreel. And Jezebel heard this, and had painted her face and adorned her head, and looked out at a window.

31. And Jehu came to the gate. And she said, “Was there peace to Zimri, the slayer of his lord?”

32. And he lifted up his face to the window, and said, “Who is with me? Who?” And two or three officers looked out at him.

33. And he said, “Throw her down!” And they threw her down. And some of her blood was sprinkled on the wall and on the horses. And he trampled her.

34. And when he had come in, he ate and drank, and said, “Go, now see this cursed woman and bury her, for she is a king’s daughter.”

35. Then they went to bury her, but they found no more of her than the skull and the feet and the palms of her hands.

36. And they came again and told him. And he said, “This is the word of the LORD which He spoke by His servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, ‘In the vicinity of Jezreel the dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel.

37. And the dead body of Jezebel shall be as dung upon the face of the field in the vicinity of Jezreel, so that they shall not say, ‘This is Jezebel.’ ”
CHAPTER TEN

1. Now Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters and sent to Samaria to the rulers of Jezebel, to the elders, and to the supporters of Ahab, saying,

2. “And now as soon as this letter comes to you, since your master’s sons are with you, and chariots and horses are with you, also a fortified city and armor,

3. Even look for the best and fittest of your master’s sons, and set him on his father’s throne, and fight for your master’s house.”

4. And they were exceedingly afraid and said, “Behold, two kings did not stand before him; how then shall we stand?”

5. And he who was over the house, and he who was over the city, the elders also, and the guardians, sent to Jehu saying, “We are your servants and we will do all that you shall say to us; we will not make any king. Do what is good in your eyes.”

6. And he wrote a letter the second time to them, saying, “If you are mine, and will hearken to my voice, take the heads of the men, your master’s sons, and come to me to Jezebel by this time tomorrow.”

7. And the king’s sons, seventy persons, were with the great men of the city who brought them up.

8. And it came to pass when the letter came to them, they took the king’s sons and killed them, seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets and sent them to him in Jezebel.

9. Then a messenger came and told him, saying, “They have brought the heads of the king’s sons.” And he said, “Lay them in two heaps at the entering in of the gate until the morning.”

10. And it came to pass in the morning, he went out and stood, and said to all the people, “You are righteous. Behold, I plotted against my master and killed him. But who killed all these?

11. Now know that there shall fall to the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD spoke concerning the house of Ahab, for the LORD has done that which He spoke by His servant Elijah.”

12. And he arose and departed, and came to Samaria. He was at the shepherds’ shearing house which is along the way,

13. And Jehu met with the brothers of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, “Who are you?” And they answered, “The brothers of Ahaziah. And we are going down to greet the king’s sons and the queen’s sons.”

14. And he said, “Take them alive!” And they took them alive and killed them at the pit of the shearing house, forty-two men. And he left not a man of them.

15. And he departed from there and found Jehonadab the son of Rechab coming to meet him. And he greeted him and said to him, “Is your heart right, as my heart is with your heart?” And Jehonadab answered, “It is.” “If it is, give your hand.” And he gave his hand. And he took him up to him into the chariot.

16. And he said, “Come with me and see my zeal for the LORD.” And they made him ride in his chariot.

17. And he came to Samaria, and killed all that remained to Ahab in Samaria, until he had destroyed him, according to the saying of the LORD which he spoke to Elijah.

18. Then Jehu gathered all the people together, and said to them, ‘Ahab served Baal a little, but Jehu shall serve him much.

19. And now call to me all the prophets of Baal, all his servants and all his priests. Let no one be lacking, for I have a great sacrifice to Baal. Whoever shall be lacking, he shall not live.” But Jehu was acting with cunning to the end that he might destroy the worshipers of Baal.

20. And Jehu said, “Call a solemn feast to Baal.” And they called it.

21. And Jehu sent through all Israel. And all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was not a man left who did not come. And they came into the house of Baal. And the house of Baal was full from one end to the other.

22. And he said to him who was over the robe room, “Bring out robes for all the worshipers of Baal.” And he brought them out for them.

23. And Jehu went, and Jehonadab the son of Rechab, into the house of Baal. And he said to the servants of Baal, “Search and look that there may not be here with you any of the servants of the
24. And they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings. And Jehu had appointed eighty men outside, and said, “If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands escapes, your life shall be for the life of him.”

25. And it came to pass when he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, Jehu said to the guard and to the commanders, “Go in. Kill them! Do not let any come out!” And they struck them with the edge of the sword. And the guard and the commanders threw them out. And they went into the city, into the house of Baal.

26. And they brought forth the images out of the house of Baal and burned them.

27. And they demolished the image of Baal, and demolished the house of Baal and made it a sewer house until this day.

28. And Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.

29. Only, Jehu did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, going after the golden calves in Bethel and in Dan.

30. And the LORD said to him, “Jehu, because you have done well in doing what is right in My eyes, and have done to the house of Ahab according to all that was in My heart, your sons of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel.”

31. But Jehu did not care to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel with all his heart, for he did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin.

32. In those days the LORD began to cut off sections of Israel. And Hazael struck them in all the border of Israel,

33. From Jordan toward the rising of the sun, all the land of Gilead, the men of Gad and of Reuben and of Manasseh, from Aroer, by the river Arnon, even Gilead and Bashan.

34. And the rest of the acts of Jehu and all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

35. And Jehu slept with his fathers. And they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoahaz his son reigned in his place.

36. And the days that Jehu reigned over Israel and Samaria were twenty-eight years.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

1. And Athaliah was the mother of Ahaziah. Now when she saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the seed of the kingdom.

2. But Jehosheba the daughter of king Jehoram, sister of Ahaziah, took away Joash the son of Ahaziah and stole him from among the king’s sons before they were killed. And they hid him from Athaliah in the bedroom, him and his nurse, so that he was not killed.

3. And he was hidden with her in the house of the LORD six years. And Athaliah reigned over the land.

4. Now in the seventh year, Jehoiada sent and brought the rulers over hundreds, with the commanders and the guards, and brought them to him into the house of the LORD. And he made a covenant with them and took an oath from them in the house of the LORD, and revealed to them the king’s son.

5. And he commanded them, saying, “This is the thing that you shall do. A third part of you who enter in on the Sabbath shall be keepers of the watch of the house of the king.

6. And a third part shall be at the gate of Sur. And a third part at the gate behind the guard. And you shall keep the watch of the house, alternately.

7. And two parts of you, all who go forth on the Sabbath, even they shall keep the watch of the house of the LORD around the king.

8. And you shall surround the king, every man with his weapons in his hand. And he who comes inside the ranks, let him be killed. And they shall be with the king as he goes out and as he comes in.”

9. And the rulers of the hundreds did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. And each man took his men, going in on the Sabbath, with those going out on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.

10. And the priest gave King David’s spears and shields, which were in the temple of the LORD, to the rulers of the hundreds.

11. And the guard stood, each man with his weapons in his hand, all around the king, from the right corner of the temple to the left corner of the temple, by the altar and the temple.
12. And he brought forth the king’s son, and put the crown and the testimony upon him. And they made him king and anointed him, and clapped their hands and said, “Long live the king!”

13. Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the guard and of the people, she came to the people into the temple of the LORD.

14. And she looked, and behold, the king stood by a pillar as usually was done, and the rulers and the trumpeters were by the king. And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the priests blew with silver trumpets. And Athaliah tore her clothes, and cried, “Treason! Treason!”

15. And Jehoiada the priest commanded the rulers of the hundreds, those set over the army, and said to them, “Take her out between the ranks, and any one who follows her, kill with the sword,” for the priest had said, “Let her not be slain in the house of the LORD.”

16. And they laid hands on her, and when she came to the way which the horses enter the king’s house, she was killed there.

17. And Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD and the king and the people, that they should be the people of the LORD; also between the king and the people.

18. Now all the people of the land went into the house of Balal and demolished it. They broke his altars and his images completely in pieces. And they killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altar, and bored a hole in its lid. And he set it beside the altar, on the right side as one comes into the house of the LORD. And the priests who kept the door put in it all the silver brought into the house of the LORD.

19. And he took the rulers over hundreds, and the commanders, and the guard, and all the people of the land. And they brought the king down from the house of the LORD and came by the way of the gate of the guard to the king’s house. And he sat upon the throne of the kings.

20. And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet. And they killed Athaliah with the sword beside the king’s house.

21. Joash was seven years old when he began to reign.

CHAPTER TWELVE

1. Now in the seventh year of Jehu, Joash began to reign. And he reigned in Jerusalem forty years. And his mother’s name was Zibiah of Beersheba.

2. And Joash did what was right in the sight of the LORD all his days in which Jehoiada the priest instructed him.

3. But the high places were not taken away. The people still sacrificed and burned incense in the high places.

4. And Joash said to the priests, “All the silver from things dedicated to God, which is brought into the house of the LORD, the silver from each man, and the silver of his valuation, all the silver that comes into any man’s heart to bring to the house of the LORD, let it be given to the house of the LORD, the silver from each man, and the silver of his valuation, all the silver that comes into any man’s heart to bring to the house of the LORD, let it be given to the house of the LORD.

5. Let the priests take it to themselves, each man from those he knows. And let them repair the damage in the house, in all places where any damage shall be found.

6. And it came to pass in the twenty-third year of King Joash, the priests had not repaired the damage in the house.

7. Then King Joash called for Jehoiada the priest, and the priests, and said to them, “Why are you not repairing the damage in the house? And now take no more silver from those you know, but deliver it for the damage in the house.”

8. And the priests agreed to take no silver from the people, nor to repair the damage in the house.

9. But Jehoiada the priest took a chest and bored a hole in its lid. And he set it beside the altar, on the right side as one comes into the house of the LORD. And the priests who kept the door put in it all the silver brought into the house of the LORD.

10. Now it came to pass when they saw that much silver was in the chest, the king’s scribe and the high priest came up. And they bound and counted the silver that was found in the house of the LORD.

11. And they gave the silver which was counted into the hands of those who did the work, those overseeing the house of the LORD. And they paid it out to the carpenters and builders who worked upon the house of the LORD.

12. And to masons and cutters of stone, and to buy timber and cut stone to repair the damage in the house of the LORD, and for all that went forth for the house to repair it.

13. Only, there were no bowls of silver, snuffers, basins, silver trumpets, or any vessels of gold or vessels of silver, made for the house of the LORD from the silver which was brought into the house of the LORD,
14. For they gave it to the workmen, and repaired the house of the LORD with it.
15. And they did not make an accounting with the men into whose hands they gave the silver to be given to the workmen, for they dealt faithfully.
16. The trespass silver and sin silver was not brought into the house of the LORD. It was the priests’.
17. Then Hazael king of Syria went up and fought against Gath, and took it. And Hazael set his face to go up to Jerusalem.
18. And Joash king of Judah took all the holy things which Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah, his fathers, kings of Judah, had dedicated, and his own holy things, and all the gold found in the treasures of the house of the LORD, and in the king’s house, and sent it to Hazael king of Syria. And he went away from Jerusalem.
19. And the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
20. And his servants arose and made a plot. And they killed Joash in the house of Millo, which goes down to Silla.
21. For Jozachar the son of Shimeath, and Jehozabad the son of Shomer, his servants, struck him, and he died. And they buried him with his fathers in the city of David. And Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

1. In the twenty-third year of Joash the son of Ahaziah king of Judah, Jehoahaz the son of Jehu began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned seventeen years.
2. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and followed the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat who made Israel to sin, but walked in them. And also the grove in Samaria remained.
3. And Jehoahaz sought the LORD, and the LORD hearkened to him, for He saw the oppression of Israel because the king of Syria oppressed them.
4. And Jehoahaz sought the LORD, and the LORD hearkened to him, for He saw the oppression of Israel because the king of Syria oppressed them.
5. And the LORD gave Israel a deliverer, so that they went out from under the Syrians. And the children of Israel lived in their tents, as before.
6. But they did not depart from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin, but walked in them. And also the grove in Samaria remained.
7. Neither did he leave of the people for Jehoahaz but fifty horsemen and ten chariots and ten thousand footmen, for the king of Syria had destroyed them and had made them like the dust at threshing time.
8. And the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
9. And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers. And they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoash his son reigned in his place.
10. In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz began to reign over Israel in Samaria and reigned sixteen years.
11. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, but he walked in them.
12. And the rest of the acts of Jehoash, and all that he did, and his might which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
13. And Jehoash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat upon his throne. And Jehoash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.
14. Now Elisha had fallen sick with his illness in which he was to die. And Jehoash the king of Israel came down to him, and wept over his face. And he said, “O my father, my father, the chariot of Israel and the horsemen of it!”
15. And Elisha said to him, “Take bow and arrows.” And he took bow and arrows to himself.
16. And he said to the king of Israel, “Put your hand upon the bow.” And he placed his hand upon it, then Elisha put his hands upon the king’s hands.
17. And he said, “Open the window eastward.” And he opened. And Elisha said, “Shoot!” And he shot. And he said, “The arrow of the LORD’s deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance from Syria, for you shall strike the Syrians in Aphek until they are destroyed.”

18. And he said, “Take the arrows.” And he took them. And he said to the king of Israel, “Strike the ground.” And he struck it three times and stopped.

19. And the man of God was angry with him, and said, “You should have stricken five or six times then you would have stricken Syria until it was destroyed. But now you shall strike Syria three times.”

20. Then Elisha died, and they buried him. And the bands of the Moabites invaded the land at the first of the year.

21. Now it came to pass as they were burying a man, behold, they spied a band of men. And they threw the man into the grave of Elisha. And the man went down and touched the bones of Elisha, and he revived and stood up on his feet.

22. And Hazael, the king of Syria, oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.

23. And the LORD was gracious to them, and had pity on them, and had respect to them because of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. And He would not destroy them, nor cast them from His presence as yet.

24. And Hazael king of Syria died. And his son Ben-Hadad reigned in his place.

25. And Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz returned and took out of the hand of Ben-Hadad the son of Hazael the cities which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father by war. Jehoash struck him three times and recovered the cities of Israel.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

1. In the second year of Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz king of Israel, Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah reigned.

2. He was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem.

3. And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, yet not like David his father. He did according to all things that Joash his father did.

4. Only the high places were not taken away. The people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

5. Now it came to pass when the kingdom was confirmed in his hand, he killed his servants who had slain his father the king;

6. But he did not kill the sons of the servants, according to that which is written in the book of the law of Moses in which the LORD commanded, saying, “The fathers shall not be put to death for the sons, nor shall the sons be put to death for the fathers, but each shall be put to death for his own sin.”

7. He killed ten thousand of Edom in the Valley of Salt, and took Selah by war, and called the name of it Joktheel until this day.

8. Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, “Come, let us see one another face to face.”

9. And Jehoash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, “The thistle which was in Lebanon sent to the ceder in Lebanon, saying, ‘Give your daughter to my son for a wife.’ And a beast of the field in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle.

10. You have indeed struck Edom, and your heart has lifted you up. Rejoice and stay at home, for why should you meddle to your harm, so that you should fall, you and Judah with you?”

11. But Amaziah would not hear. And Jehoash king of Israel went up. And he and Amaziah king of Judah saw one another face to face at Beth Shemesh of Judah.

12. And Judah was beaten before Israel. And every man fled to his tent.

13. And Jehoash king of Israel took Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash the son of Ahaziah, at Beth Shemesh, and he came to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate, four hundred cubits.

14. And he took all the gold and silver, and all the vessels which were found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasures of the king’s house, and hostages, and returned to Samaria.

15. And the rest of the acts of Jehoash which he did, and his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

16. And Jehoash slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. And Jeroboam his son reigned in his place.

17. And Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel fifteen years.
18. And the rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
19. And they made a plot against him at Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish. And they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there.
20. And they brought him on horses, and he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David.
21. And all the people of Judah took Azariah who was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah.
22. He built Elath and restored it to Judah after the king slept with his fathers.
23. In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah, Jeroboam the son of Jehoash king of Israel began to reign in Samaria, forty-one years.
24. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
25. He restored the border of Israel from the entering of Hamath to the sea of the plain, according to the word of the LORD God of Israel which He spoke by the hand of his servant Jonah, the son of Amittai, the prophet, who was from Gath Hepher.
26. For the LORD had seen the affliction of Israel to be very bitter. And none were bound, yet none were free; and there was no helper for Israel.
27. And the LORD did not say that He would blot out the name of Israel from under heaven, but He saved them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Jehoash.
28. And the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did, and his might, how he warred, and how he recovered Damascus and Hamath, of Judah, for Israel, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
29. And Jeroboam slept with his fathers, with the kings of Israel. And his son Zachariah reigned in his place.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

1. In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Azariah the son of Amaziah king of Judah began to reign.
2. He was sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem.
3. And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done.
4. Only, the high places were not removed. The people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.
5. And the LORD struck the king so that he was a leper until the day of his death and lived in a separate house. And the king’s son, Jotham, was over the house, judging the people of the land.
6. And the rest of the acts of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
7. And Azariah slept with his fathers. And they buried him with his fathers in the city of David. And his son Jotham reigned in his place.
8. In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zachariah the son of Jeroboam reigned over Israel in Samaria, six months.
9. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD as his fathers had done. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.
10. And Shallum the son of Jabesh conspired against him. And he struck him before the people, and killed him, and reigned in his place.
11. And the rest of the acts of Zachariah, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
12. This was the word of the LORD which He spoke to Jehu, saying, “Your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel until the fourth generation.” And it was so.
13. Shallum the son of Jabesh began to reign in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah. And he reigned in Samaria a full month.
14. For Menahem the son of Gadi went up from Tirzah, and came to Samaria and struck Shallum the son of Jabesh in Samaria. And he killed him and reigned in his place.
15. And the rest of the acts of Shallum, and the conspiracy which he made, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
16. Then Menahem struck Tiphsah, and all in it, and its borders, from Tirzah. Because they did not open their gates to him, he struck it. He ripped up all its pregnant women.
17. In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem the son of Gadi began to reign over Israel, ten years in Samaria.
18. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat who made Israel to sin all his days.
19. Pul the king of Assyria came against the land. And Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver so that his hand might be with him to confirm the kingdom in his hand.
20. And Menahem took the silver from Israel, from all the mighty men of wealth (fifty shekels of silver from each man), to give it to the king of Assyria. And the king of Assyria turned back and did not stay there in the land.
21. And the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
22. And Menahem slept with his fathers. And Pekahiah his son reigned in his place.
23. In the fiftieth year of Uzziah king of Judah, Pekahiah the son of Menahem began to reign over Israel in Samaria two years.
24. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat who made Israel to sin.
25. But Pekah the son of Remaliah, a commander of his, conspired against him and struck him in Samaria in the palace of the king’s house with Argob and Arieh and fifty men of the Gileadites with him. And he killed him and reigned in his place.
26. And the rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?
27. In the fifty-second year of Uzziah king of Judah, Pekah the son of Remaliah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, twenty years.
28. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat who made Israel to sin.
29. In the days of Pekah king of Israel, Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria came and took Ijon, and Abel Beth Maachah, and Janoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and he deported them to Assyria.
30. And Hoshea the son of Elah made a plot against Pekah the son of Remaliah. And he struck him and killed him and reigned in his place in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah.
31. And the rest of the acts of Pekah, and all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
32. In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah king of Israel, Jotham the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, began to reign.
33. He was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Jerusha, the daughter of Zadok.
34. And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD. He did according to all that his father Uzziah had done.
35. Only the high places were not removed. The people still sacrificed and burned incense in the high places. He built the Upper Gate of the house of the LORD.
36. And the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
37. In those days the LORD began to send Rezin the king of Syria against Judah, and also Pekah the son of Remaliah.
38. And Jotham slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. And his son Ahaz reigned in his place.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

1. In the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, Ahaz the son of Jotham king of Judah began to reign.
2. Ahaz was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And he did not do what was right in the sight of the LORD his God, like David his father.
3. But he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel. Yea, and he made his son to pass through the fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD cast out from before the children of Israel.
4. And he sacrificed and burned incense in the high places and on the hills and under every green tree.
5. Then Rezin king of Syria and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel came up to Jerusalem for war. And they besieged Ahaz, but could not overcome him.
6. At that time Rezin king of Syria recovered Elath to Syria, and drove the Jews from Elath. And the Syrians came to Elath and lived there until this day.
7. And Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria, saying, “I am your servant and your son. Come up and save me out of the hand of the king of Syria and out of the hand of the king of Israel who rise up against me.”
8. And Ahaz took the silver and gold which was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasures of the king’s house, and sent a present to the king of Assyria.
9. And the king of Assyria hearkened to him, for the king of Assyria went up against Damascus and took it. And he carried the people of it away captive to Kir and killed Rezin.
10. And King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria at Damascus. And he saw an altar at Damascus. And King Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the form and the pattern of the altar according to all its workmanship.
11. And Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus. So Urijah the priest did until King Ahaz came in from Damascus.
12. And the king came in from Damascus, and the king saw the altar. And the king approached to the altar and offered on it.
13. And he offered his burnt offering and his grain offering, and poured his drink offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings, upon the altar.
14. And he also brought the bronze altar which was before the LORD from the forefront of the house—from between the new altar and the house of the LORD—and put it on the north side of the new altar.
15. And King Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, “Upon the great new altar burn the morning offering and the evening grain offering, and the king’s burnt sacrifice and his grain offering with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their grain offerings, and their drink offerings. And sprinkle all the blood of the burnt offerings upon it, and all the blood of the sacrifice. And the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by.
16. Then Urijah the priest did according to all that King Ahaz commanded.
17. And King Ahaz cut off the borders of the bases and removed the laver from them. And he took down the sea from off the bronze oxen under it and put it upon a pavement of stones.
18. And the covered way for the Sabbath which they had built in the house, and the king’s entry outside, he removed from the house of the LORD because of the king of Assyria.
19. And the rest of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
20. And Ahaz slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And his son Hezekiah reigned in his place.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

1. In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea the son of Elah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned nine years.
2. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, but not like the kings of Israel who were before him.
3. Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against him. And Hoshea became his servant and gave him taxes.
4. And the king of Assyria found treachery in Hoshea, for he had sent messengers to So, king of Egypt, and had brought no taxes to the king of Assyria as before, year by year. And the king of Assyria shut him up and bound him in prison.
5. And the king of Assyria went up into all the land. And he went up to Samaria and besieged it three years.
6. In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and carried Israel away into Assyria. And he placed them in Halah, and in Habor by the river Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.
7. Now it came to pass because the children of Israel had sinned against the LORD...
LORD their God, Who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods, 8. And walked in the statutes of the nations whom the LORD cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which the nations had made. 9. Now the children of Israel secretly did things that were not right against the LORD their God. And they built high places in all their cities for themselves from the Watch Tower to the fortified city. 10. And they set up images and groves for themselves in every high hill, and under every green tree. 11. And they burned incense in all the high places, like the nations whom the LORD had removed from before them, and they practiced evil things to provoke the LORD to anger. 12. For they served the idols of which the LORD had said to them, “You shall not do this thing.” 13. And the LORD testified against Israel and against Judah, by all the prophets, by all the seers, saying, “Turn from your evil ways and keep My commandments and My statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by My servants the prophets.” 14. Nevertheless they would not hear, but hardened their necks, like the neck of their fathers who did not believe in the LORD their God. 15. And they rejected His statutes and His covenant which He made with their fathers, and His warnings that He testified against them. And they went after vanity, and became vain, and went after the nations around them, concerning whom the LORD had charged them not to do like them. 16. And they left all the commandments of the LORD their God and made molten images, two calves for themselves. And they made a grove, and worshiped all the host of heaven, and served Baal. 17. And they caused their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire. And they used divination and sorceries, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 18. So the LORD was very angry with Israel and removed them out of His sight; not one was left, only the tribe of Judah by itself. 19. Also Judah did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the statutes which Israel made. 20. And the LORD rejected all the seed of Israel, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of spoilers until He had cast them out of His sight. 21. For He tore Israel from the house of David and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. And Jeroboam drove Israel away from following the LORD, and made them sin a great sin. 22. For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did. They did not depart from them 23. Until the LORD removed Israel out of His sight as He had said by all His servants the prophets. So Israel was carried away out of their own land to Assyria, as it is to this day. 24. And the king of Assyria brought men from Babylon and from Cuthah and from Ava and from Hamath and from Sepharvaim and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel. And they possessed Samaria and lived in its cities. 25. Now it came to pass at the beginning of their dwelling there that they did not fear the LORD. And the LORD sent lions among them which killed them. 26. And they spoke to the king of Assyria, saying, “The nations which you have removed and placed in the cities of Samaria do not know the manner of the God of the land. And He has sent lions among them, and, behold, they kill them because they do not know the way of the God of the land.” 27. Now the king of Assyria commanded, saying, “Cause one of the priests whom you removed from there to go there. And they shall go and live there, and he shall teach them the way of the God of the land.” 28. And one of the priests whom they had removed from Samaria came and lived in Bethel. And he taught them how they should fear the LORD. 29. And every nation made gods of their own and put them in the houses of the high places which the Samaritans had made, every nation in their cities in which they lived.
30. And the men of Babylon made Succoth Benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Anammelech the gods of Sepharvaim.
31. And the Avites made Nibhaz and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burned their children with fire to Adrammelech and Anammelech the gods of Sepharvaim.
32. So they feared the LORD, and made to themselves the lowest of them priests of the high places who sacrificed for them in the houses of the high places.
33. They feared the LORD, yet served their own gods, according to the custom of the nations whom they removed from there.
34. To this day they do according to their former ways. They do not fear the LORD, neither do they do according to their statutes, or according to their ordinances, or according to the law and commandment which the LORD commanded the children of Jacob whom He named Israel.
35. And the LORD had made a covenant and charged them, saying, “You shall not fear other gods, nor bow yourselves to them, nor serve them, nor sacrifice to them.
36. But the LORD, Who brought you up out of the land of Egypt with great power and an outstretched arm, you shall fear Him, and you shall worship Him, and you shall do sacrifice to Him.
37. And the statutes, and the ordinances, and the law, and the commandment, which He wrote for you, you shall observe to do forever. But you shall not fear other gods.
38. And the covenant that I have made with you, you shall not forget, and you shall fear other gods.
39. Now you shall fear the LORD your God and He shall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies.”
40. But they did not hearken, and they followed after their former way.
41. Now it came to pass these nations feared the LORD, yet they served their graven images, both their sons and their sons’ sons, as their fathers did; they do so to this day.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

1. Now it came to pass in the third year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, Hezekiah the son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.
silver, and thirty talents of gold.
15. And Hezekiah gave him all the silver which was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasures of the king’s house.
16. At that time Hezekiah cut off the gold from the doors of the temple of the LORD and from the pillars which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid. And he gave them to the king of Assyria.
17. And the king of Assyria sent Tartan, and the chief officer, and the chief field commander from Lachish, to King Hezekiah with a great army against Jerusalem. And they went up and came to Jerusalem. And when they had come up, they came and stood by the conduit of the upper pool, which is in the highway of the Fuller’s Field.
18. And they called to the king. And Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, went out to them.
19. And the chief field commander said to them, “Speak now to Hezekiah, ‘Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria, “What confidence is this in which you trust? Do you say that a mere word of the lips is wisdom and strength for the war? Now on whom do you trust that you rebel against me? Now, behold, you trust upon the staff of this bruised reed, upon Egypt, on which if a man leans, it will go into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust on him.
21. But if you say to me, ‘We trust in the LORD our God,’ is He not the one Whose high places and Whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and has said to Judah and Jerusalem, ‘You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem’?”’
22. And now, please give pledges to my lord the king of Assyria, and I will deliver two thousand horses to you if you are able to set riders upon them.
24. And how will you turn away the face of one commander of the least of my master’s servants, and put your trust in Egypt for chariots and for horsemen? Have I now come up against this place to destroy it without the LORD? The LORD said to me, ‘Go up against this land and destroy it.’”
26. Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joah said to the chief field commander, “Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for it we understand. And do not talk with us in the Jews’ language in the hearing of the people who are on the wall.”
27. And the chief field commander said to them, “Has my master sent me to your master and to you to speak these words, and not to the men who sit on the wall, who will eat their own dung and drink their own urine with you?”
28 And the chief field commander stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jews’ language, and spoke, saying, “Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria:
29. Thus says the king, ‘Do not let Hezekiah deceive you for he shall not be able to deliver you out of his hand.
30. And do not let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, “The LORD will deliver us, and this city shall not be delivered into the hands of the king of Assyria.”’
31. Do not hearken to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of Assyria, ‘Make peace with me by a present, and come out to me, and you each shall eat of his vine, and each of his fig tree, and you each shall drink of the waters of his own cistern until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive oil and of honey, that you may live, and not die. And do not listen to Hezekiah when he deceives you, saying, “The LORD will deliver us.”
33. Has any of the gods of the nations at all delivered their countries out of my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of my hand?’”
36. But the people kept silent and did not answer him a word, for the king’s command was, “Do not answer him.”
37. And Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn. And they told him the words of the chief field commander.
CHAPTER NINETEEN

1. Then it came to pass when King Hezekiah heard, he tore his clothes and covered himself with sackcloth. And he went into the house of the LORD.
2. And he sent Eliakim who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz.
3. And they said to him, “Thus says Hezekiah, ‘This is a day of trouble and of rebuke and contempt, for the children have come to the point of birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.
4. It may be the LORD your God will hear all the words of the chief field commander with which his master the king of Assyria has sent to reproach the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard. And you shall lift up prayer for the rest who are left.’ ”
5. And the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.
6. And Isaiah said to them, “You shall say to your master, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Do not be afraid of the words which you have heard with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me.
7. Behold, I will send a blast upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and shall return to his own land. And I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.’”
8. And the chief field commander returned and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah, for he had heard that he had departed from Lachish.
9. And when he heard it said of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, “Behold, he has come out to fight against you,” he sent messengers again to Hezekiah, saying,
10. “Thus you shall speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, ‘Do not let your God in Whom you trust deceive you, saying, “Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.”
11. Behold, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands by completely destroying them. And shall you be delivered?
12. Have the gods of the nations delivered them, nations which my fathers have destroyed, Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the sons of Eden in Telassar?
13. Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and of Ivah?’”
14. And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers and read it. And Hezekiah went up into the house of the LORD and spread it before the LORD.
15. And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said, “O LORD God of Israel, Who dwells between the cherubim, You are God Himself, You alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; You have made the heavens and the earth.
16. LORD, bow down Your ear and hear. O LORD, open Your eyes and see, and hear the words of Sennacherib which he has sent to reproach the living God.
17. Truly, LORD, the kings of Assyria have destroyed the nations and their lands,
18. And have thrown their gods into the fire; for they were no gods, but the work of men’s hands, wood and stone, and they have destroyed them.
19. And now, O, LORD our God, I beseech You, save us out of his hand, so that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that You are the LORD God, and You only.”
20. And Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘I have heard what you have prayed to Me against Sennacherib king of Assyria.’
21. This is the word that the LORD has spoken concerning him: ‘The virgin, the daughter of Zion, has despised you and laughed you to scorn. The daughter of Jerusalem has shaken her head at you.
22. Whom have you mocked and blasphemed? And against Whom have you exalted your voice and lifted up your eyes on high? Even against the Holy One of Israel!
23. You have mocked the LORD by your messengers, and have said, “With the multitude of my chariots I have come up to the height of the mountains, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut down its tall cedar trees, its choice fir trees. And I will enter into the lodgings of its borders, its densest forest;
24. I have dug and drunk foreign waters, and with the sole of my feet I have dried up all the rivers of Egypt.’”
25. Have you not heard it from afar, that I made it? From days of old, that I fashioned it! Now I have caused it to come to pass that you should make fortified cities desolate heaps of ruins.

26. Therefore their people had little power, they were fearful and put to shame. They were like the grass of the field, and the green herb, like the grass on the house tops, and like grain blasted before it was grown up.

27. But I know your sitting down, and your going out, and your coming in, and your rage against Me.

28. Because of your rage against Me, and because your arrogance has come up into My ears, even I will put My hook in your nose, and My bridle in your lips. And I will turn you back by the way in which you came.

29. And this shall be a sign to you: you shall eat this year such things as grow of themselves, and in the second year that which springs up of the same. And in the third year, sow and reap and plant vineyards and eat the fruits of them.

30. And the remnant that has escaped of Jerusalem shall yet again take root downward and bear fruit upward, the house of Judah shall yet again take hold of the stakes of house of Israel.

31. For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a root downward and bear fruit upward, which springs up of the same. And in the third year, sow and reap and plant vineyards and eat the fruits of them.

32. Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria. ‘He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor throw up a bank against it.

33. By the way that he came, by the same way he shall return, and shall not come into this city,’ says the LORD.

34. ‘For I will defend this city, to save it for My own sake and for My servant David’s sake.’"

35. And it came to pass that night, the angel of the LORD went out and struck a hundred and eighty-five thousand in the camp of the Assyrians. Now when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead bodies.

36. And Sennacherib king of Assyria departed. And he went and returned and lived at Nineveh.

37. And it came to pass as he was worshiping in the house of Nisroch his god, Adrammelech and Sharezer, his sons, struck him down with the sword. And they escaped into the land of Ararat. And Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

CHAPTER TWENTY

1. In those days Hezekiah was sick to death. And the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz came to him and said to him, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live.’”

2. And he turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, saying, “O LORD, 3. I pray, O LORD, remember now how I have walked before You in truth and with a sincere heart, and have done good in Your sight.” And Hezekiah wept with a great weeping.

4. And it came to pass, before Isaiah had even gone out into the middle of the court, the word of the LORD came to him saying, 5. “Return again and tell Hezekiah the prince of My people, ‘Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father, “I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears. Behold, I will heal you. On the third day you shall go up to the house of the LORD.

6. And I will add fifteen years to your days. And I will deliver you and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria. And I will defend this city for My own sake, and for My servant David’s sake.”’"

7. And Isaiah said, “Take a lump of figs.” And they took and laid it on the boil, and he recovered.

8. And Hezekiah said to Isaiah, “What shall be the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up into the house of the LORD the third day?”

9. And Isaiah said, “This will be the sign from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing which He has spoken. Shall the shadow go forward ten degrees, or go back ten degrees?”

10. And Hezekiah answered, “It is a light thing for the shadow to go down ten degrees. No, but let the shadow go backward ten degrees.”

11. And Isaiah the prophet cried to the LORD. And He brought the shadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down on the sundial of Ahaz.

12. At that time Berodach-Baladan, the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he had heard that Hezekiah had been sick.
1. And Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign. And he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Hephzibah.

2. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD after the abominations which the heathen whom the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.

3. For he built up again the high places which his father Hezekiah had destroyed. And he erected altars for Baal and made a grove as Ahab king of Israel did. And he worshiped all the host of heaven and served them.

4. And he built altars in the house of the LORD of which the LORD said, “In Jerusalem I will put My name.”

5. Then he built altars for all the host of the heavens in the two courts of the house of the LORD.

6. And he made his son pass through the fire and observed times and used witch-craft. And he dealt with familiar spirits and wizards. He worked much wickedness in the sight of the LORD to provoke Him to anger.

7. And he set a graven image of the grove which he had made in the house of which the LORD had said to David and to Solomon his son, “In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever.

8. And I will not again make the feet of Israel wander any more out of the land which I gave their fathers; only if they will observe to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that My servant Moses commanded them.”

9. But they did not hearken. And Manasseh seduced them to do more evil than the nations ever did whom the LORD destroyed before the children of Israel.

10. And the LORD spoke by His servants the prophets, saying,

11. “Because Manasseh king of Judah has done these abominations, doing more wickedly than all that the Amorites did, who were before him, and has made Judah also to sin with his idols,

12. Therefore, thus says the LORD God of Israel, ‘Behold, I am bringing evil upon Jerusalem and Judah, so that whoever hears of it both his ears shall tingle.

13. And I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria and the measuring line of the house of Ahab. And I will wipe Jerusalem as a dish is wiped, wiping and turning it upside down.

14. For I will forsake the remnant of My inheritance and deliver them into the hand of their enemies. And they shall become a prey and a spoil to all their enemies;

15. Because they have done what is evil in My sight, and have provoked Me to anger since the day their fathers came...
forth out of Egypt even until this day.’”
16. Furthermore, Manasseh also shed very much innocent blood until he had filled Jerusalem from one end to another; besides his sin with which he made Judah to sin in doing the evil in the sight of the LORD.
17. Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sin which he sinned, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
18. And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzza. And his son Amon reigned in his place.
19. Amon was twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Meshullemeth, the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.
20. And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD as his father Manasseh did.
21. And he walked in all the ways that his father walked, and served the idols which his father served, and worshiped them.
22. And he left the LORD God of his fathers and did not walk in the way of the LORD.
23. And the servants of Amon plotted against him and killed the king in his own house.
24. And the people of the land killed all those who had plotted against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.
25. And the rest of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
26. And he was buried in his tomb in the garden of Uzza. And his son Josiah reigned in his place.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

1. Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign. And he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Jedidah, the daughter of Adaiah of Boscath.
2. And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in all the ways of David his father, and did not turn aside to the right or to the left.
3. Now it came to pass in the eighteenth year of Josiah, the king sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam the scribe, to the house of the LORD, saying, 4. “Go up to Hilkiah the high priest so that he may count the silver which is brought into the house of the LORD, which the doorkeepers have gathered from the people.
5. And let them deliver it into the hand of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD. And let them give it to the workmen who have oversight of the house of the LORD in order to repair the ruins of the house.
6. To carpenters, and builders, and masons, and to buy timber and cut stone to repair the house.
7. But there was no accounting asked from them for the money given to them, for they dealt faithfully.”
8. And Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the scribe, “I have found the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD.”
9. And Shaphan the scribe read the king word again, and said, “Your servants have gathered the silver that was found in the house and have delivered it into the hand of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD.”
10. Then Shaphan the scribe showed the king, saying, “Hilkiah the priest has delivered me a book.”
11. Now it came to pass when the king had heard the words of the Book of the Law, he tore his clothes.
12. And the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Achbor the son of Michaiah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asahiah a servant of the king, saying,
13. “Go inquire of the LORD for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book which is found, for great is the wrath of the LORD which is kindled against us because our fathers have not hearkened to the words of this book to do according to all which is written concerning us.”
14. Then Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah, went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe. And she lived in Jerusalem in the second quarter. And they talked with her.
15. And she said to them, “Thus says the LORD God of Israel. Tell the man who sent you to me,
16. ‘Thus says the LORD, “Behold, I will bring evil upon this place and upon the people of it, all the words of the book which the king of Judah has read;
17. Because they have forsaken Me and have burned incense to other gods so that they might provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore My wrath shall be kindled against this place, and it shall not be quenched.”’
18. But to the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus you shall say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD God of Israel, “Regarding the words which you have heard,
